

'A veritable Madame Tussaud's of the vulgar language'
New Statesman

The Concise New Partridge Dictionary of

SLANG

and Unconventional English

Tom Dalzell (Senior Editor) and Terry Victor (Editor)

advertise verb 1 to signal your intention plainly US, 1931. 2 to dress or behave in a se manner; to pluck and pencil the eyebrows. 3 premise that it pays to advertise US, 1972. 3 manner that is intended to be caught, all in bluff US, 1949. 4 in gin, to discard in a mann lure a desired card from an opponent US, 19 siren and/or flashing lights of a police car U case noun 1 a promiscuous woman Au with a sexually transmitted infection US. 3 a n engage in a adulterous relationship ll no 1 cocaine US, 1953. 2 crack co 1980s a lesbian US. 5 a homosexual ma min make in a deck of play ies no 1 addiction US, 1962. 2 an yearning US, 1970. 3 heroin US, 1970. 4 the p paper noun 1 money US. 2 a cigarette pa personal identification papers US. 4 promot produced as part of a telephone sales swind a performance US. 6 a cheque US sniffer noun 1 the nose UK, 1858. 2 an am US. 3 a cocaine user US. 4 a device planted pipe to measure the pollutants in the emiss investigator of unemployment and other be computer program that surreptitiously reco and other log-in data US, 1994. 7 an outsider of the pornography industry US. 8 a handke

The Concise New Partridge Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English

The Concise New Partridge presents, for the first time, all the slang terms from the New Partridge Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English in a single volume.

With over 60,000 entries from around the English-speaking world, the Concise gives you the language of beats, hipsters, Teddy Boys, mods and rockers, hippies, pimps, druggies, whores, punks, skinheads, ravers, surfers, Valley girls, dudes, pill-popping truck drivers, hackers, rappers and more.

The Concise New Partridge is a spectacular resource infused with humour and learning – it's rude, it's delightful, and it's a prize for anyone with a love of language.

The Concise New Partridge Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English

Tom Dalzell (Senior Editor)

and

Terry Victor (Editor)

First published 2008 by Routledge
2 Park Square, Milton Park, Abingdon, Oxon OX14 4RN Simultaneously published in the USA and Canada by Routledge
270 Madison Ave, New York, NY 10016

This edition published in the Taylor & Francis e-Library, 2007.

“To purchase your own copy of this or any of Taylor & Francis or Routledge’s collection of thousands of eBooks please go to www.eBookstore.tandf.co.uk.”

Routledge is an imprint of the Taylor & Francis Group, an informa business

© 2006, 2008 new editorial matter and selection, Tom Dalzell and Terry Victor;
material taken from The Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English, 8th edition (first published 1984), E. Partridge and P. Beale estates

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reprinted or reproduced or utilised in any form or by any electronic, mechanical, or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, without permission in writing from the publishers.

British Library Cataloguing in Publication Data
A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library

Library of Congress Cataloging in Publication Data

Partridge, Eric, 1894–1979.

The concise new Partridge dictionary of slang and unconventional English/[edited by] Tom Dalzell, Terry Victor.
p. cm.

Rev. ed of: Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English, 8th ed., 1984, by E. Partridge and edited by P. Beale.

“2006 new editorial matter and selection, Tom Dalzell and Terry Victor;
material taken from The Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English, 8th edition (first published 1984), E. Partridge and P. Beale estates” – T.p. verso.

1. English language – Slang – Dictionaries. I. Dalzell, Tom, 1951– II. Victor, Terry. III. Partridge, Eric, 1894–1979. Dictionary of slang and unconventional English. IV. Title. V. Title: Dictionary of slang and unconventional English. VI. Title: New Partridge dictionary of slang and unconventional English.

PE3721.P3 2007
427'.09 – dc22
2007028776

ISBN 0-203-96211-7 Master e-book ISBN

ISBN10: 0-415-212-59-6 (hbk)
ISBN10: 0-203-96211-7 (ebk)

ISBN13: 978-0415-21259-5 (hbk)
ISBN13: 978-0203-96211-4 (ebk)

CONTENTS

List of contributors	vii
Preface	ix
Acknowledgements	xiii
Observations on slang and unconventional English	xv
Entries A to Z	1
Numeric slang	721

CONTRIBUTORS

Dr Richard Allsopp, a native of Guyana, is Director of the Caribbean Lexicography Project and former Reader in English Language and Linguistics, University of the West Indies, Cave Hill, Barbados. He edited the Dictionary of Caribbean English Usage.

Dr Dianne Bardsley is Manager of the New Zealand Dictionary Centre at Victoria University of Wellington. Her PhD involved the compilation and analysis of a rural New Zealand English lexicon from the years 1842–2002. She was contributing editor for the New Zealand Oxford Dictionary and is currently leading several New Zealand lexicography research projects.

James Lambert has worked primarily in Australian English, specialising in slang in general and Australian slang in particular. He was assistant editor of The Macquarie Dictionary of New Words and general editor of The Macquarie Book of Slang and The Macquarie Slang Dictionary.

John Loftus manages the online archive at www.hiberno-english.com. He was a senior research assistant on A Dictionary of Hiberno-English.

Lewis Poteet is a leading Canadian authority on slang and dialect. He has written extensively about language in Canada's maritime provinces and edited Car & Motorcycle Slang, Hockey Talk, Plane Talk, Car Talk and Cop Talk.

John Williams served as a consulting lexicographer on this project. He has been contributing to general language dictionaries, both monolingual and bilingual, for more than 20 years. He is the author of three children's dictionaries, as well as several articles on the practice of lexicography.

PREFACE

Eric Partridge made a deep and enduring contribution to the study and understanding of slang. In the eight editions of The Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English published between 1937 and 1984, Partridge recorded and defined the slang and unconventional English of Great Britain, and to a lesser extent her dominions, from the 1600s to the 1970s. For the years up to 1890, Partridge was by his own admission quite reliant on Farmer and Henley's Slang and its Analogues, which he used as an 'expandable framework'. When it came to the slang for the years 1890 to 1945, Partridge was original and brilliant, especially in his treatment of underworld and military slang. His attitude towards language was scholarly and fun-loving, scientific and idiosyncratic. His body of work, scholarship and dignity of approach led the way and set the standard for every other English-language slang lexicographer of the twentieth century.

Our respect for Partridge has not blinded us to the features of his work that have drawn criticism over the years. His protocol for alphabetising was quirky. His dating was often problematic. His etymologies at times strayed from the plausible to the fanciful. His classification by register (slang, cant, jocular, vulgar, coarse, high, low, etc.) was intensely subjective and not particularly useful. Furthermore, his early decision to exclude American slang created increasingly difficult problems for him as the years passed and the influence of American slang grew. Lastly, Partridge grew to lose the ability to relate to the vocabulary he was recording. In 1937, Partridge was a man of his time, but the same could no longer be said in 1960. There is a profound relationship between language and culture, and neither Partridge nor Paul Beale, editor of the 8th edition, seem to have assimilated the cultural changes that began at the end of World War 2. This left them without the cultural knowledge needed to understand the language that they were recording. Their lack of cultural understanding accelerated with time, and this is sadly reflected in the later entries. Beatniks and drug addicts, and their slang, baffled Partridge and Beale, who lacked either the personal experience or historical perspective needed to understand underlying countercultures.

Partridge himself observed, 'More than almost any other kind of book, a dictionary constantly needs to be revised; especially, of course, if it deals with the current form of a language and therefore has to be kept up to date'. With The New Partridge Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English we tried to do just that. We picked up where Partridge left off, recording the slang and unconventional English of the English-speaking world since World War 2 with the same scholarship and joy in language that characterised Partridge's work. We are not, and cannot be, Partridge: but we can strive to be proud heirs of Partridge and to speak with a voice that Partridge would recognise as an echo of his own. We have worked hard to continue the Partridge tradition, observing high standards of lexicography while producing an accessible work informed by, and infused with, the humour, mischief and energy that are endemic to slang. This Concise version of the New Partridge contains every entry in New Partridge as well as several hundred new words that have come into the slang lexicon since 2005. The Concise is presented without the hundreds of thousands of citations in the New Partridge, creating an affordable alternative to our update of Partridge. Lastly, we improved dating information given on hundreds of headwords.

Criteria for inclusion

We use three criteria for including a term or phrase in this dictionary. We include (1) slang and unconventional English, (2) used anywhere in the English-speaking world and (3) after 1945.

Rather than focus too intently on a precise definition of slang or on whether a given entry is slang, jargon or colloquial English, we take full advantage of the wide net cast by Partridge when he chose to record 'slang and unconventional English' instead of just slang, which is, after all, without any settled test of purity. We have considered for inclusion all unconventional English that has been used with the purpose or effect of either lowering the formality of communication and reducing solemnity and/or identifying status or group and putting oneself in tune with one's company. A term recorded here might be slang, slangy jargon, a colloquialism, an acronym, an initialism, a vulgarism or a catchphrase. In all instances, an entry imparts a message beyond the text and literal meaning. This approach is especially useful when dealing with world slang and unconventional English. A broader range has permitted inclusion of many Caribbean entries, for instance, which merit inclusion but might not meet a stringent pure-slang-only test. Our only real deviation from Partridge's inclusion criteria is a much diminished body of nicknames. The regiment nicknames that populate Partridge's work no longer fulfil the language function that they did in the United Kingdom of Partridge's day.

If there was a question as to whether a potential entry fell within the target register, we erred on the side of inclusion. We generally chose to include poorly attested words, presenting the entry and our evidence of usage to the reader who is free to determine if a candidate passes probation.

Partridge limited his dictionary to Great Britain and her dominions. We elected the broader universe of the English-speaking world. Globalisation has affected many facets of life, not the least of which is our language. There are words that are uniquely Australian, American or British, but it is impossible to ignore or deny the extent of cross-pollination that exists between cultures as regards slang. We were aided in our global gathering by indigenous contributors from Australia, Canada, the Caribbean, Ireland and New Zealand. We also include pidgin, Creolised English and borrowed foreign terms used by English-speakers in primarily English-language conversation. We include slang and unconventional English heard and used at any time after 1945. We chose the end of the war in 1945 as our starting point primarily because it marked the beginning of a series of profound cultural changes that produced the lexicon of modern and contemporary slang. The cultural transformations since 1945 are mind-boggling. Television, computers, drugs, music, unpopular wars, youth movements, changing racial sensitivities and attitudes towards sex and sexuality are all substantial factors that have shaped culture and language.

No term is excluded on the grounds that it might be considered offensive as a racial, ethnic, religious, sexual or any kind of slur. This dictionary contains many entries and citations that will, and should, offend. To exclude a term or citation because it is offensive is to deny the fact that it is used: we are not prescriptivists and this is simply not our job. At the same time, we try to avoid definitions or editorial comment that might offend.

We were tempted, but finally chose not to include an appendix of gestures, although many serve the same function as slang. Examples include the impudent middle finger, Ralph Cramden's Raccoon greeting and handshake, the elaborate mimes that signal 'jerk-off' or 'dickhead', Johnny Carson's golf swing, Vic Reeves' lascivious thigh rubbing and Arsenio Hall's finger-tip-touch greeting. Neither did we include an appendix of computer language such as emoticons or leet speak, although we have included throughout several of the more prominent examples of Internet and text messaging shorthand that have become known outside the small circle of initial users.

We tried but in the end decided not to include the word/word phenomenon ('Is she your friend friend or friend friend?') or the word/word/word construction ('The most important three things in real estate are location, location, location'). We could not include the obvious pregnant silence that suggests 'fuck' ('What the * do you think you're doing?'). We shied away from the lexicalised animal noises that often work their way into informal conversation, such as a cat noise when someone is behaving nastily. We similarly did not include musical phrases that have become part of our spoken vocabulary, such as the four-note theme of The Twilight Zone which is used to imply an uncanny weirdness in any coincidence, or melodramatic hummed violin music that serves as vocal commentary on any piteous tale.

Using The Concise New Partridge

We hope that our presentation is self-evident and that it requires little explanation. We use only a few abbreviations and none of the stylistic conceits near and dear to the hearts of lexicographers.

Headwords

We use indigenous spelling for headwords. This is especially relevant in the case of the UK arse and US ass. For Yiddish words, we use Leo Rosten's spelling, which favours 'sh-' over 'sch-'. An initialism is shown in upper case without full stops (for example, BLT), except that acronyms (pronounced like individual lexical items) are lower case (for example, snafu).

Including every variant spelling of a headword seemed neither practical nor helpful to the reader. For the spelling of headwords, we chose the form found in standard dictionaries or the most common forms, ignoring uncommon variants as well as common hyphenation variants of compounds and words ending in 'ie' or 'y'. For this reason, citations may show variant spellings not found in the headword.

Placement of phrases

As a general rule, phrases are placed under their first significant word. However, some invariant phrases are listed as headwords; for example, a stock greeting, stock reply or catchphrase. Terms that involve a single concept are grouped together as phrases under the common headword; for example, burn rubber, lay rubber and peel rubber are all listed as phrases under the headword rubber.

Definition

In dealing with slang from all seven continents, we encountered more than a few culture-specific terms. For such terms, we identify the domain or geographic location of the term's usage. We use conventional English in the definitions, turning to slang only when it is both substantially more economical than the use of conventional English and is readily understood by the average reader.

Gloss

The voice and tone of The New Partridge Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English is most obvious in the gloss: the brief explanations that Partridge used for 'editorial comment' or 'further elucidation'. Partridge warned against using the gloss to show what clever and learned fellows we are – a warning that we heed to the very limited extent it could apply to us. We chose to discontinue Partridge's classification by register.

Country of origin

As is the case with dating, further research will undoubtedly produce a shift in the country of origin for a number of entries. We resolutely avoided guesswork and informed opinion.

Dating

Even Beale, who as editor of the 8th edition was the direct inheritor of Partridge's trust, noted that Partridge's dating 'must be treated with caution'. We recognise that the accurate dating of slang is far more difficult than dating conventional language. Virtually every word in our lexicon is spoken before it is written, and this is especially true of unconventional terms. The recent proliferation of electronic databases and powerful search engines will undoubtedly permit the antedating of many of the entries. Individualised dating research, such as Allen Walker's hunt for the origin of 'OK' or Barry Popik's exhaustive work on terms such as 'hot dog', produces dramatic antedatings: we could not undertake this level of detailed research for every entry.

Conclusion

In the preface to his 1755 Dictionary of the English Language, Samuel Johnson noted that 'A large work is difficult because it is large,' and that 'Every writer of a long work commits errors'. In addition to improvements in our dating of terms and identification of the country of origin, it is inevitable that some of our definitions are incorrect or misleading, especially where the sense is subtle and fleeting, defying paraphrasing, or where kindred senses are interwoven. It is also inevitable that some quotations are included in a mistaken sense. For these errors, we apologise in advance.

We carry the flame for words that are usually judged only by the ill-regarded company they keep. Just as Partridge did for the sixteenth century beggars and rakes, for whores of the eighteenth century, and for the armed services of the two world wars, we try to do for the slang users of the last 60 years. We embrace the language of beats, hipsters, Teddy Boys, mods and rockers, hippies, pimps, druggies, whores, punks, skinheads, ravers, surfers, Valley Girls, dudes, pill-popping truck drivers, hackers, rappers and more. We have tried to do what Partridge saw as necessary, which was simply to keep up to date.

Tom Dalzell, Berkeley, California

Terry Victor, Caerwent, South Wales

Spring 2005

Re-edited for the Concise edition in the spring of 2007

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Our debt to Sophie Oliver defies description. With good humour and a saintly tolerance for our so-called wit and attempts to corrupt, she herded this project through from a glimmer in the eye to print on the page.

We bow to and thank the following who helped along the way: Mary Ann Kernan, who was charged with putting this project together in 1999 and 2000; John Williams, who must be credited for all that is right about our lexicography and excused for anything that is not; Robert Hay and Mike Tarry of Alden for their unending work on the database and cheerful handling of every problem we could throw at them; Claire L'Enfant; James Folan for rescuing us in the content edit phase; Louise Hake for her cheerful determination in the editing and production phases; our fine copy editors Sandra Anderson, Howard Sargeant and Laura Wedgeworth; and Aine Duffy for her enthusiastically scurrilous vision of the whole project as it developed.

Finally, we thank Oxford University Press for providing us with access to the 'Oxford English Dictionary Online', a brilliant online presentation of the Oxford English Dictionary, one of the leading sources for dating.

Tom Dalzell and Terry Victor

This dictionary would never have seen the light of day without the time and support given to me by my family – Cathy most notably, also Jake, Julia, Rosalie and Charlotte. I thank and owe you big-time, major league and humongously. Who knew it would take so much? In their own ways, and from a distance, my parents guided. Audrey, Emily and Reggae started the project with me but did not stay for the end.

I also thank: my slang mentors Paul Dickson and Madeline Kripke (and better mentors you could not hope for); Archie Green, who saved Peter Tamony's work for posterity and encouraged me throughout this project; Jesse Sheidlower, Jonathon Green and Susan Ford, slang lexicographers, friends and comrades in words; Dr Lisa Winer for her voluminous and fine work on the slang of Trinidad and Tobago; Jan Tent for his excellent collection of Fijian slang; Dr Jerry Zientara, the learned and helpful librarian at the Institute for Advanced Study of Human Sexuality in San Francisco, which kindly opened its incomparable library to me; Tom Miller, Bill Stolz, John Konzal and Patricia Walker, archivists at the Western Historical Manuscript Collection, University of Missouri at Columbia, for their help and insights during my work with the Peter Tamony archives; the Hon. Sir Colville Young for leading me to Richard Allsopp; Jim Holliday for his help on the slang of pornography; Jennifer Goldstein for her help on the slang of sex dancers; Richard Perlman for his patient and Zen-like technological help; Angela Jacobson, Elizabeth McInnis and Caitlan Perlman, who helped as readers; Mr Baldwin, Mr Muir, Mr Lee, Dr Robert Regan and Dr Gordon Kelly for the English and popular culture they taught me.

I thank my fellow language writers and lexicographers who were generous in their encouragement, advice and assistance: Reinhold Aman, a brave and brilliant pioneer, the late Robert Chapman, Gerald Cohen, Trevor Cralle, Jim Crotty, Connie Eble, Jonathan Lighter, Edward MacNeal, Geoffrey Nunberg, Judi Sanders, Leslie Savan and Oliver Trager.

Our Australian contributor, James Lambert, was given recourse to the various databases of the Macquarie Library Pty Ltd, who publish synchronic dictionaries for the Australian and Asian markets, and for these vast resources we are grateful.

Lastly, I acknowledge Terry Victor. The demands of this project have only strengthened our friendship.

Tom Dalzell

My wife, Liz, deserves a dictionary entry of her own as a definition of tolerance, patience and encouragement way beyond conventional expectations. In the wider world, my sister and family added to both my library and vocabulary; and my other family, now in Spain, even went so far as to put a christening on hold until a deadline had been met, as well as allowing me access to the playground language of our time. I must also thank Gerri Smith for her tolerant understanding that I could not be in two places at once.

Serendipity brought me to Tom Dalzell and through him I have had the advantage and benefit of all of the influences and providers of expertise that he names above, especially Jonathon Green. In addition to those named I am grateful for the knowledgeable encouragement of Michael Quinion and David Crystal; and, in matters polari, Paul Baker.

For particular contributions I would like to thank: Flight Lieutenant Andrew Resoli; Lisa and Tim Hale; David Morrison; some of the inmates at HMP High Down in the summer of 2002; Antonio Lillo for his work on rhyming slang; various magazine editors and journalists who addressed so many of my queries of modern usage; and, for a splendid collection of cocaine-related slang, a certain group of musicians (whose management would prefer that they remain anonymous). I also enjoyed the advantage of the correspondence that the Partridge and Beale 8th edition still attracts: I am grateful to all who wrote in, and I look forward to seeing more contributions at www.partridge-slang.com.

Above all, I must make mention of two people: Eric Partridge, who is my hero, and Tom Dalzell, who is my friend.

Terry Victor

OBSERVATIONS ON SLANG AND UNCONVENTIONAL ENGLISH

Some notes on the challenges of lexicography, drawn entirely from the writings of Eric Partridge (1894–1979)

Partridge wrote widely on matters concerning the English language. He did not, by any means, restrict his interest to matters slang and unconventional; however, it is his work in this area that had, and continues to have, the greatest impact, and on which his reputation is most celebrated. He wrote more than forty books in his lifetime, considering such diverse topics as abbreviations, American tramp and underworld slang, British and American English since 1900, comic alphabets, English and American Christian names, Shakespeare's bawdy, usage and abuse, and he contributed to many, many more. It is so substantial a body of work that any list short of a full bibliography will inevitably do his great achievement a disservice. He was a philologist, etymologist, lexicographer, essayist and dictionary-maker; he is a legend and an inspiration.

The flavour, and wisdom, of Partridge's work is gathered in the quotations that follow, loosely grouped by subject, and presented under sub-headings that make new use of a selection of his book and article titles.

Slang Today and Yesterday

From about 1850, slang has been the accepted term for 'illegitimate' colloquial speech: but since then, especially among the lower classes, 'lingo' has been a synonym, and so also, chiefly among the cultured and the pretentious, has 'argot'. Now 'argot', being merely the French for 'slang', has no business to be used thus – it can rightly be applied only to French slang of French cant: and 'lingo' properly means a simplified language that, like Beach-la-Mar and Pidgin-English, represents a distortion of (say) English by coloured peoples speaking English indeed but adapting it to their own phonetics and grammar. 'Jargon' – originally as in Chaucer, used of the warbling of birds – has long been employed loosely and synonymously for slang, but it should be reserved for the technicalities of science, the professions and the trades: though, for such technicalities, 'shop' is an equally good word.¹

[S]lang is much rather a spoken than a literary language. It originates, nearly always, in speech.¹

Slang is easy enough to use, but very hard to write about with the facile convincingness that a subject apparently so simple would, at first sight, seem to demand. But the simplest things are the hardest to define, certainly the hardest to discuss, for it is usually at first sight only that their simplicity is what strikes one the most forcibly. And slang, after all, is a peculiar kind of vagabond language, always hanging on the outskirts of legitimate speech, but continually straying or forcing its way into the most respectable company.²

Language in general and every kind of language belongs to everyone who wishes to use it.³

Slang, being the quintessence of colloquial speech, must always be related to convenience rather than scientific laws, grammatical rules and philosophical ideals. As it originates, so it flourishes best, in colloquial speech.⁴

Slang may and often does fill a gap in accepted language.¹

Words, Words, Words!

Every group or association, from a pair of lovers to a secret society however large, feels, at some time or other, the need to defend itself against outsiders, and therefore creates a slang designed to conceal its thoughts: and the greater the need for secrecy, the more extensive and complete is the slang.¹

The specialization that characterizes every vocation leads naturally to a specialized vocabulary, to the invention of new words or the re-charging of old words. Such special words and phrases become slang only when they are used outside their vocational group and then only if they change their meaning or are applied in other ways [...] But, whatever the source, personality and one's surroundings (social or occupational) are the two co-efficients, the two chief factors, the determining causes of the nature of slang, as they are of language in general and of style.¹

One kind of eyewash, the army's innumerable 'states' and 'returns' was known as bumf, short for bum-fodder: the abbreviation was common in English public schools from before 1900; the full term for toilet-paper dates back to the seventeenth century, when it was coined by Urquhart, the translator of Rabelais; Urquhart is one of the most prolific originators of the obscenities and vulgarities of our language, and with him rank Shakespeare and Burns.⁴

In English, the ideas most fertile in synonyms are those of drinking, drunkenness, money, and the sexual organs and act.¹

Many slang words, indeed, are drawn from pleasurable activities (games, sports, entertainments), from the joy of life, from a gay abandon: for this reason it has been wittily called 'language on a picnic'.¹

Common to – indeed, very common in – the jazzman's and the Beatnik's vocabulary is the noun pad, whence the entirely Beatnik pad me, a cat's invitation to a chick to share his room and bed. [...] The Beatniks got it from the jazzmen who got it from the American underworld who got it from the British underworld (pad, a bed) who got it from Standard English of the sixteenth–eighteenth centuries (pad, a bundle of straw to lie on).⁵

The metaphors and allusions [in slang] are generally connected with some temporary phase, some ephemeral vogue, some unimportant incident; if the origin is not nailed down at the time, it is rarely recoverable.¹

[B]orrowings from foreign languages produce slang; and every language borrows. Borrowings, indeed, have a way of seeming slangy or of being welcomed by slang before standard speech takes them into its sanctum.¹

War always produces a rich crop of slang.⁶

[W]ar (much as we may hate to admit the fact), because, in all wars, both soldiers and sailors and, since 1914, airmen and civilians as well, have imported or adopted or invented hundreds of words, terms, phrases, this linguistic aspect ranking as, if we except the unexceptionable 'climate of courage,' the only good result of war.⁷

Human characteristics, such as a love of mystery and a confidential air (a lazy freemasonry), vanity, the imp of perversity that lurks in every heart, the impulse to rebellion, and that irrepressible spirit of adventure which, when deprived of its proper outlook in action, perforce contents itself with verbal audacity (the adventure of speech): these and others are at the root of slang[.]¹

Here, There and Everywhere

When we come to slang and familiar speech generally, we come to that department of the vocabulary in which British and American differences are naturally greater than anywhere else, just as they are greater in the colloquial language generally than in the literary.⁸

American slang is more volatile than English and it tends, also, to have more synonyms, but a greater number of those synonyms are butterflies of a day; English synonyms are used more for variety than from weariness or a desire to startle. American slang is apt to be more brutal than English[.]¹

Canada also has an extensive and picturesque objective slang, but that slang is 80 per cent American, with the remainder rather more English than native-Canadian[...] it is linguistically unfair to condemn it for being so much indebted to its near and 'pushing' neighbour[.]¹

Australian speech and writing have, from the outset, tended to be unconventional [...] The unconventionality is linguistic.⁹

The truth is that South African slang, as distinct from indispensable Africanderisms, is not intrinsically so vivid, humorous, witty, or divinely earthy as Canadian and Australian slang, nor is it nearly so extensive, nor has it, except during the Boer War, succeeded in imposing itself upon English slang, much less upon Standard English[.]¹

New Zealand is like South Africa in that its population is too small to have much influenced the language of the mother country whether in Standard or in unconventional English.¹

Usage and Abusage

Some of the upstart qualities [of slang] and part of the aesthetic (as opposed to the moral) impropriety spring from the four features present in all slang, whatever the period and whatever the country: the search for novelty; volatility and light-headedness as well as light-heartedness; ephemerality; the sway of fashion. In the standard speech and still more in slang we note that the motive behind figurative expressions and all neologisms is the desire to escape from the old accepted phrase: the desire for novelty operates more freely, audaciously, and rapidly in slang – that is the only difference. [...] Of the numerous slang words taken up by the masses and the classes, most have only a short life, and that when they die, unhonoured and unsung, they are almost immediately replaced by novelties equally transitory: the word is dead, long live the word! [...] Slang, as to the greater part of its vocabulary and especially as to its cuckoo-calling phrases and its parrot-sayings, is evanescent; it is the residuum that, racy and expressive, makes the study of slang revelatory of the pulsing life of the language.¹

[S]lang is indicative not only of man's earthiness but of his indomitable spirit: it sets him in his proper place: relates a man to his fellows, to his world and the world, and to the universe.¹⁰

And slang is employed for one (or two or more) of thirteen reasons:

- 1 In sheer high spirits; 'just for the fun of the thing'.
- 2 As an exercise in wit or humour.
- 3 To be 'different' – to be novel.
- 4 To be picturesque.
- 5 To be startling; to startle.
- 6 To escape from cliché's and long-windedness.
- 7 To enrich the language.
- 8 To give solidity and concreteness to the abstract and the idealistic, and nearness to the

- distant scene or object.
- 9 To reduce solemnity, pain, tragedy.
 - 10 To put oneself in tune with one's company.
 - 11 To induce friendliness or intimacy.
 - 12 To show that one belongs to a certain school, trade or profession, intellectual set or social class. In short to be in the fashion – or to prove that someone else isn't.
 - 13 To be secret – not understood by those around one.¹¹

But no real stylist, no-one capable of good speaking or good writing, is likely to be harmed by the occasional employment of slang; provided that he is conscious of the fact, he can employ it both frequently and freely without stultifying his mind, impoverishing his vocabulary, or vitiating the taste and the skill that he brings to the using of that vocabulary. Except in formal and dignified writing and in professional speaking, a vivid and extensive slang is perhaps preferable to a jejune and meagre vocabulary of standard English; on the other hand, it will hardly be denied that, whether in writing or speech, a sound though restricted vocabulary of standard English is preferable to an equally small vocabulary of slang, however vivid may be that slang.¹

The Gentle Art of Lexicography

I began early in life: and it is the course of my life which, allied to a natural propensity to original sin, has made a lexicographer out of me.²

For most of us, a dictionary is hardly a book to read; a good dictionary, however, is a book to browse in. Some dictionaries are so well written that one just goes on and on. To write such a dictionary has always been my ambition.¹²

Slang [etymology/lexicography] demands a mind constantly on the qui vive; an ear constantly keyed to the nuances of everyday speech, whether among scholars or professional men or craftsmen or labourers; a very wide reading of all kinds of books.¹³

I have read much that is hopelessly inferior, hopelessly mediocre; and much that, although interesting, is yet devoid of literary value. But ever since my taste acquired a standard, I have been able to extract some profit from even the most trashy book.¹⁴

There is far more imagination and enthusiasm in the making of a good dictionary than in the average novel.¹⁵

Words at War: Words at Peace

For over a century, there have been protests against the use of slang and controversies on the relation of slang to the literary language or, as it is now usually called, Standard English. Purists have risen in their wrath and conservatives in their dignity to defend the Bastille of linguistic purity against the revolutionary rabble. The very vehemence of the attack and the very sturdiness of the defence have ensured that only the fittest survive to gain entrance to the citadel, there establish themselves, and then become conservatives and purists in their turn.¹⁶

Any term that prevents us from thinking, any term that we employ to spare us from searching for the right word, is a verbal narcotic. As though there weren't too many narcotics already...¹⁷

Words are very important things; at the lowest estimate, they are indispensable counters of communication.¹⁸

Notes/bibliography

- 1 Slang Today and Yesterday, 1933: George Routledge & Sons, London
- 2 Slang Today and Yesterday, 1933, quoting Greenough and Kittredge, Words and their Ways in English Speech, 1902: George Routledge & Sons, London
- 3 'The Lexicography of Cant', American Speech, Volume 26, Issue 2, May 1951: The American Dialect Society, Durham, North Carolina
- 4 'Byways of Soldier Slang' in A Martial Medley, 1931: Scholartis Press, London
- 5 'A Square Digs Beatnik', August 1959. Originally published for private circulation Christmas 1959/New Year 1960. Collected in A Charm of Words, 1960: Hamish Hamilton, London
- 6 'Words Get Their Wings', originally published in Chamber's Journal, July-August 1945. Collected in Words at War: Words at Peace, 1948: Frederick Muller, London
- 7 'Introduction' in Dictionary of New Words, Mary Reifer, 1957: Peter Owen, London
- 8 British and American English Since 1900, co-authored with John W. Clark, 1951: Andrew Dakers, London
- 9 'Australian English' in A Charm of Words, 1960: Hamish Hamilton, London
- 10 Usage & Abuse, 1947: Hamish Hamilton, London [originally published in the US in 1942]
- 11 The World of Words, 2nd edition, 1939: Hamish Hamilton, London [reduced by Eric Partridge from a fuller consideration in Slang Today and Yesterday, 1933, and based on the work of M. Alfredo Niceforo, Le Génie de l'Argot, 1912]
- 12 The Gentle Art of Lexicography, 1963: André Deutsch, London
- 13 Adventuring Among Words, 1961: André Deutsch, London
- 14 Journey to the Edge of Morning, ©1946, reprinted 1969: Books for Libraries Press, New York
- 15 As Corrie Denison, a pseudonymous epigraph to A Classical Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue by Captain Francis Grose (3rd edition, 1796), edited by Eric Partridge, 1931: Scholartis Press, London
- 16 Here, There and Everywhere, 1950: Hamish Hamilton, London
- 17 'Verbal Narcotics', originally published in Good Housekeeping magazine, June 1949. Collected in From Sanskrit to Brazil, 1952: Hamish Hamilton, London
- 18 'Words in Vogue: Words of Power', 1942: collected in Words at War: Words at Peace, 1948: Frederick Muller, London

Aa

A noun 1 amphetamine US, 1967. 2 LSD. An abbreviation of ACID US, 1977. 3 in a deck of playing cards, an ace US, 1988. ► get A into G; get your A into G to stop idling; to apply yourself to an activity; to start doing something useful. Euphemistic for GET YOUR ARSE IN GEAR NEW ZEALAND, 2002

A adjective 1 reserved for the best; the best US, 1945. 2 anal US, 1997 a2m noun a scene in a pornographic film in which an object or body part is withdrawn from a rectum and taken into a mouth without either washing or editing. Shorthand for 'ass-to-mouth' US, 1997

A3 anytime, anyplace, anywhere. An abbreviation used in text messaging UK, 2003

AAA noun an amphetamine tablet. In the US, the AAA is the national automobile club, which, like an amphetamine tablet, helps you get from one place to another US, 1993

A and A noun in the military, a leave for rest and recreation. A jocular abbreviation of 'ass and alcohol' US, 1966

A and B noun assault and battery US, 1986

aap; arp noun a marijuana cigarette. From Afrikaans for 'monkey' SOUTH AFRICA, 1946 aardvark noun an F-111 combat aircraft or any aircraft that is awkward-looking or difficult to fly. Vietnam war usage US, 1963 ab noun an abscess, especially as a result of injecting drugs US, 1952

AB noun 1 the Aryan Brotherhood, a white prison gang in the US US, 1990. 2 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. An abbreviation of 'Annie Brown' NEW ZEALAND, 1996

ABA noun a traveller's cheque US, 1985

abb adjective abnormal US, 1991 abba-dabba noun chatter, gossip. Undoubtedly originated with the song 'The Aba-Daba Honeymoon', written in 1913 and re-released with great success by Larry Clinton and His Orchestra in March 1948, in which 'abba-dabba' is the chatter of monkeys US, 1961 abba-dabba adjective dark-skinned, especially Arabic US, 1975

abbed adjective having well-defined abdominal muscles UK, 2002

abbey noun a swindler who impersonates a priest US, 1950. ► on the abbey engaged in a swindle involving clergy impersonation US, 1992 abbott noun a capsule of pentobarbital sodium (trade name Nembutal™), a central nervous system depressant. From the name of the manufacturer US, 1971

Abby Singer noun in television and film making, the next-to-last shot of the day. Singer was active in US television from the early 1950s until the late 1980s; his name became an eponym when he was an Assistant Director in the 1950s US, 1990

ABC noun 1 an American-born Chinese US, 1984. 2 in poker, the ace, two and three US, 1988

ABC adjective of a piece of chewing gum, already been chewed. Childish usage US, 2004

ABC ad noun a newspaper advertisement listing shows in alphabetical order US, 1973

ABC class noun the entry grade in a primary school TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

ABCing you used as a farewell. Intended as a clever variant of 'I'll be seeing you' US, 1947

ABC's noun underwear US, 1949

ABC-ya used as a farewell. Intended as a clever variant of 'I'll be seeing you' US, 2002 abdabs; habdabs; screaming abdabs noun a condition of anxiety, uneasiness, nervousness; also, but rarely, delirium tremens or a state of enraged frustration. Always following 'the', usually now phrased (to give someone) the screaming abdabs UK, 1946 abdicat verb to vacate a public toilet upon orders of a homosexual-rousting attendant. The royal imagery is derived from the homosexual as QUEEN US, 1941

Abdul noun 1 used as a term of address for any Turkish soldier. World War 1 coinage UK, 1925. 2 any male Arab. Gulf war usage US, 1991

Abe noun 1 a five-dollar note. An abbreviation of ABE LINCOLN US, 1945. 2 any Jewish male. Also variant 'Abie'. From the archetypal Jewish name: Abraham US, 1914

A bean noun a capsule of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003

Abe Lincoln noun a five-dollar note. The note bears an engraving of President Lincoln US, 1966

Aber nickname Aberdare, Abergavenny, Aberystwyth or any town so constructed. From Welsh for 'where two waters meet' UK: WALES, 2001 abercrombie noun 1 a person devoted to prep-school fashions and style US, 2004. 2 someone who strives at creating the impression of knowing all US, 1945

abfab adjective absolutely fabulous. Originally the slang of Australian teenagers. From early 1990s in the UK it has been the widely familiar short-form of popular television situation comedy Absolutely Fabulous AUSTRALIA, 1965

Abigail noun a staid, traditional, middle-aged homosexual man US, 1972 able adjective strong, capable, courageous. In general speech, this word is usually followed by 'to do [something]', but the Canadian use tends to follow the otherwise obsolete pattern of letting it stand alone or with an intensifier CANADA, 1980. ► can't spell able be unable to do what you are told to do BARBADOS, 1996

Able Dog noun the propeller-driven Douglas AD Skyraider. Based on the letters A and D in phonetic alphabet. The Skyraider was manufactured between 1946 and 1957; it saw service in Korea and Vietnam US, 1961 able Grable noun a sexually attractive girl US, 1945

abo noun an Australian Aboriginal. An abbreviation of 'aborigine' blended with the '-o' suffix. Now a strongly taboo word, formerly in frequent use by white people, and viewed by them as less marked than other terms such as 'boong' or 'coon'. It was even used in names for products, businesses, etc AUSTRALIA, 1906

abo adjective Australian Aboriginal; of, or pertaining to, Australian Aborigines AUSTRALIA, 1911

aboard adverb present, part of an enterprise US, 1957. ► go aboard of someone to act vigorously and aggressively, to attack, or scold vigorously CANADA, 1980

A-bomb; atom bomb noun marijuana combined in a cigarette with cocaine, heroin or opium. The addition of narcotic enhancements to a BOMB (a marijuana cigarette) is signified by the 'A' US, 1969

A-bombed adjective under the influence of amphetamines US, 1975

A-bone noun a Model A Ford car, first built in 1927 US, 1951 about preposition used as a humorous attempt to duplicate a Canadian saying 'about' US, 1995 abort verb to defecate after being the passive partner in anal sex US, 1972 abortion noun a misfortune; an ugly person or thing US, 1943 about-face noun a 180-degree turn executed while driving fast US, 1965 about it; 'bout it adjective in favour of something US, 2001 about right adjective correct, adequate UK, 1850 above board adjective entirely honest. From card playing UK, 1616 above par adjective 1 in excellent health or spirits. Originates from describing stocks and shares as above face value UK, 1937. 2 mildly drunk. By extension from the previous sense UK, 1984

abracadabra, please and thank you used as a humorous embellishment of 'please'. A signature line from the Captain Kangaroo children's television show (CBS, 1944–84). Repeated with referential humour US, 1944

Abraham Lincoln; Abie Lincoln adjective disgusting, contemptible. Glasgow rhyming slang for STINKING UK, 1988

Abrahampstead nickname Hampstead, an area of north London with a large Jewish population. A combination with the archetypal Jewish name Abraham UK, 1981 abs noun the abdominal muscles US, 1956 absobloodylutely adverb absolutely, utterly. First recorded as 'absoballylutely' UK, 1914 absolutelylutely adverb absolutely UK, 1921 absolutely! used for registering complete agreement UK, 1937

Absolutely, Mr Gallagher. Positively, Mr Shean. used for a humorous assent. From the Vaudeville team of Gallagher and Shean US, 1922 absotively; absitively adverb certainly. A jocular blend of 'positively' and 'absolutely' US, 1926

Abyssinian polo noun a game of dice US, 1962

Abyssinian tea noun khat, a natural stimulant grown in Kenya, Ethiopia and Somalia UK, 2004

Ac noun an Acura car US, 2002

AC/DC; AC-DC noun in gay society, a couple UK, 2002

AC/DC; AC-DC adjective bisexual. A pun on electricity's AC (alternating current) and DC (direct current) US, 1960

ACAB all coppers are bastards. An initialism, a philosophy, a tattoo UK, 1996 academy noun a jail or prison US, 1949

Academy Award noun recognition of excelling in a field US, 1958

Academy Award adjective 1 excellent US, 1958. 2 histrionic AUSTRALIA, 1966

Academy Award winning adjective histrionic AUSTRALIA, 1987

Acapulco noun marijuana from southwest Mexico. A shortened form of ACAPULCO GOLD US, 1970

Acapulco gold noun golden-leafed marijuana from southwest Mexico. A popular, well-known strain of cannabis. The song 'Acapulco Gold' by the Rainy Daze was released in 1967 and had just begun its climb on the pop charts when programme directors figured out what it was about and pulled it off play lists US, 1965 acca; acker noun an academic whose work serves the marketplace rather than the intellect; hence a particularly sterile piece of academic writing. An abbreviation punning on OCKER (a coarse Australian) AUSTRALIA, 1977 accelerator noun 1 an amphetamine tablet US, 1993. 2 an arsonist US, 1992 accessory noun a boyfriend or girlfriend US, 1992 accibounce noun a minor collision or accident TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 accident noun a murder that cannot be proved as such US, 1964 accidentally on purpose adverb apparently accidental yet deliberately done, especially with hidden malicious purpose US, 1887 accommodation arrest noun a pre-arranged, consensual raid of an illegal gambling operation, designed to give the appearance of strict enforcement of laws US, 1967 according to Hoyle adverb in keeping with established rules and norms. After Edmond Hoyle (1672–1769), who codified the rules for many games US, 1904 accordion act noun collapsing under pressure US, 1989 accordion war noun US tactics during the Korean war: accordion-like movements up and down Korea by land forces US, 1982 account executive noun a pimp who procures and profits from high-price prostitutes US, 1972 accrue verb ► accrue chocolate to behave towards officers in an obsequious, sycophantic manner. Royal Navy usage; a play on BROWN-NOSE (to behave obsequiously, etc.) UK, 1929 accumulator noun a type of bet where the amount won on one event becomes the stake for the next event; a bettor who operates in such a manner UK, 1889 ace noun 1 a very close friend US, 1932. 2 used as a form of address UK, 1919. 3 a good and reliable friend US, 1941. 4 one dollar US, 1900. 5 one hundred dollars US, 1974. 6 one-eighth of an ounce of a drug US, 1989. 7 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1981. 8 in dice games, a rolled one US, 1999. 9 an important or notable CB user. Citizens' band radio slang US, 1976. 10 a prison sentence of one year US, 1927. 11 in the theatre, a one-night engagement US, 1981. 12 in pool, the number one ball US, 1878. 13 a table for one at a restaurant US, 1961. 14 a single rotten fruit UK, 1963. 15 in lunch counter usage, a grilled cheese sandwich US, 1975. 16 the grade 'A' US, 1964. ► ace in the hole an undisclosed resource US, 1908. ► ace up your sleeve a resource that is yet to be revealed. From the popular belief that card cheats hide cards up their sleeves US, 1927. ► on your ace alone; by yourself AUSTRALIA, 1904 ace verb 1 to outsmart someone US, 1929. 2 to work your way somewhere, to engineer something US, 1929. 3 to do well in an examination US, 1957. 4 to kill someone US, 1975

ace adjective exceptional, expert, excellent US, 1930 ace boon coon; ace boon poon noun a very close friend US, 1958 ace boy noun a very good male friend BERMUDA, 1985

ace cool noun a very close and trusted friend US, 1988 ace-deuce noun 1 a fellow prisoner upon whom you rely without question US, 1989. 2 your best friend BELIZE, 1996 ace-deuce verb in craps, to sustain a heavy loss US, 1987 ace-deuce adjective 1 cross-eyed US, 1955. 2 riding a racehorse with the right stirrup higher than the left US, 1948 ace-deuce adverb on an angle, with one side higher than the other US, 1948 ace-douche noun in craps, a first roll of three. 'Douche' is an intentional corruption of 'deuce'; a come-out roll of three loses US, 1999 ace high; aces high adjective the very best. From poker US, 1896 ace in verb 1 to manipulate someone or something into a situation US, 1971. 2 to become associated with a group and work your way into it US, 1992 acelerante noun an amphetamine or central nervous system stimulant. Borrowed Spanish used by English-speakers US, 1992 ace man noun a youth gang's top fighter US, 1953 ace note noun a one-dollar note US, 1929 ace of spades noun the vulva US, 1960 ace on adjective skilled at BAHAMAS, 1982 ace out verb 1 to fool someone; to swindle someone US, 1933. 2 to exclude someone US, 1964. 3 in poker, to win a hand by bluffing while holding a relatively low-value hand US, 1983 ace over apex adverb head over heels US, 1960 aces noun in poker, a hand with a pair of aces US, 1987. ► aces in both places in craps, a roll of two US, 1999 aces adjective excellent US, 1901 acey-deucey noun 1 in backgammon, a variant rule under which the game is started in positions other than the standard layout US, 1944. 2 a bisexual. A probable elaboration of AC/DC US, 1980 acey-deucey verb (used of a jockey) to ride with the inside stirrup lower than the outside stirrup. A riding style popularised by legendary jockey Eddie Acaro US, 1948 acey-deucy noun in craps, a roll of a one and a two US, 1974 acey-deucy adjective bisexual. A probable elaboration of AC/DC US, 1972 achiever noun a devoted fan of the film The Big Lebowski. In the film, the rich Lebowski sponsors a programme named the 'Little Lebowski Urban Achievers' US, 2004

Achnard noun a taxi driver. New York police slang, corrupting 'Ahmed' as an allusion to the preponderance of immigrants among New York's taxi-driving workforce US, 1997 acid noun 1 LSD US, 1965. 2 rum BARBADOS, 1965. 3 by extension, any alcoholic beverage TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. 4 impudence, heavy sarcasm. Especially in the phrase 'come the old acid' UK, 1962.

► put the acid on 1 to pressure someone; to put someone to the test. From 'acid test' AUSTRALIA, 1906. 2 to pressure someone sexually AUSTRALIA, 1939 acid freak noun a habitual user of LSD US, 1966 acid funk noun a depression brought on by LSD use US, 1971 acid head noun a habitual user of LSD US, 1966 acid house noun a mesmeric dance music genre characterised by electronic 'squelching' sounds. An artistic and lexicographic extension of HOUSE (MUSIC) US, 1988 acid jazz noun a dance music genre UK, 1999 acid mung noun the sensation while under the influence of LSD of having an oily face US, 1971

acido noun LSD US, 1971

acid rock noun a genre of rock music. Folk etymology claims the music to be inspired by the altered states of consciousness induced by ACID (the hallucinogenic drug LSD); certainly this was a commercial style of music being marketed to the mass audience when high-profile musicians were experimenting with LSD US, 1966 acid test noun an event organised to maximise the hallucinatory experiences of LSD. Ken Kesey and the Merry Pranksters organised acid tests in Palo Alto, Portland (Oregon), Los Angeles and Mexico in 1966 US, 1966 acidy adjective psychedelic. From ACID (LSD) UK, 1988

acieeed!; acceed! called out to register a delight in, and identification with, club dance music. Three 'e's seem to be a constant in the various spellings that attempt to capture the fervour generated by early acid house culture UK, 1999

ack noun 1 a pimple US, 1968. 2 in computer programming, a message sent from one system or program to another, acknowledging receipt of a previous message UK, 1986

ack verb 1 to acknowledge a letter, etc. Clerical usage, originally Civil Service UK, 1984. 2 in computer programming, to acknowledge receipt of a message UK, 1986 ack-ack noun anti-aircraft artillery. An initialism, using the phonetic alphabet that was current until 1941. Usage survived the new alphabet rather than being amended to 'able able' US, 1926

ack-ack verb to shoot someone or something US, 1947 ackamarackus; ackamaracka noun fanciful speech intended to deceive US, 1933 ack emma noun the morning. Military origins, from the phonetic alphabet: ack (A) current 1904–41, emma (M) 1904–27 UK, 1890 acker; akka; ackers noun money in any form. Originally military usage for the (Egyptian) piastre, probably from Arabic fakka (small change) UK, 1937 ► see: ACCA

Acker Bilk noun milk. Rhyming slang, based on West Country jazz musician Acker Bilk (b.1929) UK, 1992

ackle verb to fit or function properly UK, 1961

ack Willy; ack Willie adjective absent without leave. In World War 2 military use; signalese for AWOL, the official abbreviation AUSTRALIA, 1942

acme wringer noun the finger. Glasgow rhyming slang UK, 1988 acne noun a rough road-surface US, 1976 acorn noun in a casino, a generous tipper US, 1984 acorns noun the testicles US, 1975 acorn shell noun a condom UK, 1990s acquire verb to steal something. Ironic use of the conventional sense UK, 1937 acre; acher noun the backside AUSTRALIA, 1938 across preposition ► across the bridge to Dartmouth mentally ill, institutionalised. In the twin cities of Halifax and Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, the Nova Scotia Hospital, the institution for the mentally unstable, is in the latter CANADA, 1999 across the board noun in horse racing, a bet that a horse will win, place (finish second), or show (finish third) US, 1964 across the ditch noun Australia NEW ZEALAND, 1998

across the pavement adverb (of criminal activity) in a street situation UK, 1977 act noun the disguise and staged personality assumed by an expert card counter playing blackjack in a casino in the hope of avoiding detection and ejection US, 1991. ► get in on the act; be in on the act to become, or be, involved in another's activity US, 1947. ► get into the act to take part. If not coined by, popularised as part of the catchphrase 'everybody wants to get into the act' by comedian Jimmy Durante on the radio in the 1940s US, 1946. ► get your act together; get it together to take control of your personal condition; to get your mind and emotions under control; to become organised. A variation of 'pull yourself together' US, 1973. ► hard act to follow; tough act to follow something or someone who cannot be easily outdone US, 1963. ► put on an act to give an exaggerated performance; to indulge in histrionics AUSTRALIA, 1944 act verb ► act as if in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, used as a slogan for new participants in the programme US, 1998. ► act cute to behave in an annoyingly adorable fashion SINGAPORE, 2002. ► act the angora to play the fool. The angora goat supplies this variation of ACT the GOAT AUSTRALIA, 1942. ► act the goat to play the fool AUSTRALIA, 1940. ► act the maggot to play the fool IRELAND, 2003. ► act your age not your shoesize to behave in a manner appropriate to your years. A humorous extension of 'act your age' US, 1986

act-ass noun a show-off, a braggart US, 1970

acting Jack noun 1 a lance sergeant. Korean war usage US, 1917. 2 a soldier temporarily appointed to higher rank, especially to serve as a platoon leader in basic training US, 1942 action noun 1 sexual activity US, 1956. 2 activity, especially of the kind to arouse interest or excitement. Often in the greetings 'where's the action?' and 'what's the action?' US, 1951. 3 betting, gambling US, 1885. 4 the amount that a gambler is willing to bet US, 1991. 5 in pool, a game played with wagers US, 1990. 6 in pool, spin imparted on the cue ball to affect the course of the object ball or the cue ball after striking the object ball US, 1913. 7 a political act, often confrontational or violent US, 1971. ► piece of the action; share of the action an involvement in an activity; a share in the profits of something US, 1957 action suffix used for emphasis of the noun to which it is suffixed, without change in meaning. For example, 'I'm ready for some Chinese food action' US, 1982 action beaver noun a film featuring full nudity and sexual activity short of intercourse US, 1974 action faction noun a subset of the political left that advocated forceful, confrontational tactics US, 1968 action player noun a gambler who bets heavily, frequently and flamboyantly US, 2003 action room noun 1 a poolhall where betting is common US, 1972. 2 a place where betting and gambling take place US, 1972 active citizens noun fleas, bedbugs or body lice US, 1949 actor noun 1 a liar, a bluffer. Criminal usage UK, 1950. 2 a troublemaker US, 1964 actor-proof adjective denoting a part in a play or performance so well written that no amount of bad acting can ruin it US, 1973 actor's Bible noun Variety magazine US, 1981 actor's reach noun a seemingly sincere effort to pay for your meal when eating in a group at a restaurant, masking a secret hope that someone else will pay. Based on the stereotype of the actor as starving artist, timing his reach for his wallet to produce a demur from someone else at the table who has already reached for their wallet to pay US, 1999 actual noun in the Vietnam war, a unit commander US, 1991

actuary noun in an illegal betting operation, an oddsmaker US, 1971

AD noun a drug addict. Either a straightforward abbreviation of 'addict' or, as has been seriously suggested, an initialism of 'drug addict' reversed to avoid confusion with a District Attorney US, 1970 adafookman! used in black criminal society as an all-purpose protestation of innocence, e.g. 'have I?', 'I didn't!'. A phonetic slovening of 'have I fuck, man!' UK, 2002

Ada from Decatur; Ada Ross, the Stable Hoss noun in a game of dice, a roll of eight. A homophonic evolution of 'eighter' US, 1918

Ad Alley nickname the advertising industry, especially that located in New York and commonly known in the US as 'Madison Avenue' after the New York street where many advertising agencies had their offices US, 1952

Adam noun 1 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. An anagram US, 1985. 2 a partner in a criminal enterprise UK, 1797. 3 a homosexual's first sexual partner. From Adam as the biblical first man US, 1972. ► not know someone from Adam to be ignorant about an identification UK, 1784

Adam and Eve noun a pill of MDEA and MDMA, the recreational drugs best known as ecstasy. A combination of ADAM (MDMA) and the obvious partner; note MADMAN and MADWOMAN as synonyms for MDMA and MDEA respectively UK, 1996

Adam and Eve; adam verb 1 to believe. Rhyming slang. Franklyn suggests it ante-dates 1914; the Oxford English Dictionary finds the earliest citation at 1925 UK. 2 to leave, especially in a hurried manner UK, 1998

Adam and Eve on a raft noun two eggs on toast. Restaurant slang US, 1909

Adam Ants noun pants. Rhyming slang for UK underwear not US trousers; formed on Adam Ant, the stage name of singer and actor Stuart Goddard (b.1954) UK, 2003

adamatical adjective naked. Without a conventional fig leaf UK, 1961

Adam's off-ox noun a complete stranger. Used in the expression 'he wouldn't know me from Adam's off-ox' US, 1983

adbuster noun in anticorporate activism, the non-specific description for those involved in cultural subversion CANADA, 1989

adbusting noun in anticorporate activism, the act of subverting brand advertising, usually by parody or mockery US, 2000 addick noun an addict. A misspelling that reflects pronunciation US, 1997 addict noun a victim of a confidence swindle who repeatedly invests in the crooked enterprise, hoping that his investment will pay off US, 1985. ► addict waiting to happen in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, used for describing the childhood of addicts of the future US, 1998 additood noun a confrontational manner. The English version of 'Americanised pronunciation, adopting the US slang sense of 'attitude' UK, 1990s addy noun an address US, 2002

A-deck noun a prison cell used for solitary confinement US, 1984

adger verb in computing, to make an avoidable mistake US, 1991 adidas noun a prison training instructor. From the similarity between the stripes on an instructor's uniform and the logo-styling on Adidas™ sports equipment UK, 1996 adios amoebas used as a humorous farewell. The 'amoebas' is an intentional butchering of amigos US, 1988 adios motherfucker used as a farewell. Jocular or defiant; sometimes abbreviated to AMF US, 1986

Adirondack steak; Adirondack goat noun game, especially venison, killed out of season US, 1954 adjectival adjective used as a euphemistic substitute for any intensifying adjective that may be considered unsuitable UK, 1910 adjuster noun a hammer US, 1990 adjust the stick! used as a humorous admonition to casino employees at a craps table when the players are losing US, 1983

ad-lib verb to date indiscriminately US, 1960

ad man noun 1 a prisoner who is friendly or aligned with the prison administration US, 1976. 2 a swindler who sells advertising space in a non-existent publication or a publication with whom he has no association US, 1992

Admiral Browning noun in the navy, human excrement UK, 1961 admiral's mate noun in the Royal Navy, a boasting know-all rating UK, 1962 admiral's watch noun a good night's sleep US, 1949 admiralty brown noun toilet paper. Originally Royal Australian Navy usage AUSTRALIA, 1961

admish noun the admission price of a performance US, 1981 a-double-scribble noun used as a euphemism for 'ass' in any of its senses US, 1996

Adrian Quist adjective drunk. Rhyming slang for PISSED; formed on the name of the Australian tennis player, 1913–91 AUSTRALIA, 1978

adrift adjective 1 absent without leave; missing. Originally nautical usage US, 1841. 2 confused UK, 1962 adult baby noun a person, often a prostitute's client, whose sexual needs are manifested in a desire to be dressed and treated as an infant UK, 1995 advance verb ► advance the spark to prepare US, 1945 advertise verb 1 to signal your intentions unwittingly but plainly US, 1931. 2 to dress or behave in a sexually provocative manner; to pluck and pencil the eyebrows. Gay use, on the premise that it pays to advertise US, 1972. 3 in poker, to bluff in a manner that is intended to be caught, all in anticipation of a later bluff US, 1949. 4 in gin, to discard in a manner that is designed to lure a desired card from an opponent US, 1971. 5 to activate the siren and/or flashing lights of a police car US, 1976 advertised noun ► on the advertised on the railways, on time US, 1975

adzine noun a single-interest fan magazine containing only advertising US, 1982 aerated; aeriated adjective excited, angry UK, 1984 aerial adjective used as a modifier for any sexual position where at least one participant is off the ground US, 1995

Aesop noun in poker, any player who tells stories while playing US, 1996

af; aff noun an African. Derogatory SOUTH AFRICA, 1976

A-factor noun the 'Antarctic factor', which explains any and all unexpected and added difficulties encountered ANTARCTICA, 1988

AFAIC used as shorthand in Internet discussion groups and text messages to mean 'as far as I'm concerned' US, 2002

AFF noun an attraction to South Asian females. An abbreviation of 'Asian female fetish' US, 1997 affirmative yes. Used with irony, mocking a military response US, 1976

affy bud noun a type of marijuana that originates in Afghanistan UK, 2004

afgay noun a homosexual. See: AGFAY US, 1972

Afghan noun any Afghan, Pakistani or other central Asian who immigrated to Australia in the C19 to work as camel-drivers in desert regions. Formerly generally regarded with suspicion and contempt by white Australians, which accounts for the fossilisation of the term in various derogatory phrases; the occupation has long since disappeared AUSTRALIA, 1869

Afghani noun hashish oil from Afghanistan. Although Afghanistan is best known for its heroin, hashish is a second important export US, 1992

Afghani black; Afghani pollen noun varieties of hashish from Afghanistan UK, 2003

AFK used as shorthand in Internet discussion groups and text messages to mean 'away from keyboard' US, 2002

Afkansastan noun Afghan marijuana grown in Kansas US, 2001 afloat adjective drunk US, 1809

AFO nickname the Arellano-Felix Organization, a criminal enterprise that functioned as a transportation subcontractor for the heroin trade into the US US, 1998 afoot or ahossback adjective unsure of the direction you are going to take US, 1895

A for effort noun praise for the work involved, if not for the result of the work. From a trend in US schools to grade children both on the basis of achievement and on the basis of effort expended. Faint praise as often as not US, 1948

Africa hot adjective extremely hot US, 1992

African noun 1 a manufactured cigarette (not hand-rolled) AUSTRALIA, 1959. 2 a type of marijuana claimed to have been grown in Africa UK, 2003. 3 in American casinos, a black betting chip worth $100 US, 1983

African black noun a potent type of marijuana, presumed to be from Africa, possibly Morocco US, 1970

African bush noun marijuana US, 1979

African dominoes noun dice US, 1919

African golf noun the game of craps US, 1919

African grape noun a watermelon. Based on the stereotypical association between rural black people and a love of watermelon US, 1980

African guff-guff noun a non-existent disease suffered by soldiers US, 1947

African plum noun a watermelon US, 1973

African queen noun a white homosexual man who finds black men attractive. Punning on the Bogart film US, 1979

African salad noun khat, a natural stimulant grown in Kenya, Ethiopia and Somalia UK, 2004

African toothache noun any sexually transmitted infection US, 1964

African Woodbine noun a marijuana cigarette. Woodbine™ was a well-known brand of cheaper cigarette UK, 1975

Afro noun a bushy, frizzy hairstyle embraced by black people as a gesture of resistance in the 1960s US, 1966

afromobile noun a wicker pedicab US, 1939

Afro pick noun a gap-toothed comb used for an Afro hairstyle US, 1986

afterbirth noun rhubarb AUSTRALIA, 1943

afterburner noun a linear amplifier for a citizens' band radio US, 1976

afterclaps noun consequences BELIZE, 1996

after-hours adjective open after bars and nightclubs close at 2am US, 1947

afterlater adverb later US, 1997 after-nine noun a black male homosexual who pretends to be heterosexual during working hours SOUTH AFRICA, 2000 afternoon noun the buttocks, especially large female buttocks BARBADOS, 1996 afternoon farmer noun a lazy and unsuccessful farmer CANADA, 1960 afters noun 1 the dessert course of a meal. Originally military usage UK, 1909. 2 drinks, or a session of drinking, served in a public house after licensing hours UK, 2000. 3 the after-effects of too much alcohol IRELAND, 1997. 4 further fighting after a fight appears to have ended UK, 1974

after tears noun a post-funeral celebration. Scamto youth street slang (South African townships) SOUTH AFRICA, 2005

afterthought noun an unplanned pregnancy; the child of an unplanned pregnancy UK, 1914 after you, Claude – no, after you, Cecil used to depict a lack of aggression or unnecessary good manners. A catchphrase regularly delivered by Jack Train and Horace Percival in the BBC radio comedy ITMA, 1939–49. Contemporary usage has been widely applied to sports such as cricket, hockey, football and motor-racing, and also to first-past-the-post electoral systems UK, 1939 after you with the trough! used in response to someone's belching. A subtle implication that the belcher is a pig who has eaten too much. Mainly northern England UK, 1977 ag adjective angry. An abbreviation of 'aggravated' US, 2000

AG adjective all good US, 1997

ag used as an all-purpose intensifier. Pronounced like the German ach. Can precede any sentence for various effects, such as the more neutral, 'Ag, I don't know'. Used by some people as a stand-alone expletive SOUTH AFRICA, 1833 ag; agg noun trouble; problems; a nuisance. A further reduction of AGGRO (aggravation) UK, 1996 again! used for expressing strong approval ANTIGUA AND BARBUDA, 1996

against the law adjective (used of a woman) extraordinarily beautiful US, 1997 against the wall adjective said of a confidence swindle which is perpetrated without a fake office, extras, props, etc US, 1940

A-game noun in a casino or cardroom, the poker game with the highest stakes US, 1949

Aga saga noun a genre of popular novel-writing, plotting comfortable, domestic and emotional middle-class lives. Based on Aga stoves which are recognised as an appropriate social symbol or aspiration UK, 1992 agate noun 1 a marble in the slang sense of sanity US, 1951. 2 a small penis US, 1967 agates noun the testicles US, 1941

A-gay noun a prominent, sought-after homosexual man US, 1982 age noun 1 length of service for an employer; seniority US, 1946. 2 in poker and other card games, the person to the immediate left of the dealer US, 1963

-age suffix used as an embellishment without meaning at the end of nouns. The suffix got a second wind with the US television series Buffy The Vampire Slayer US, 1981 ageable adjective very old TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 age before beauty used as a mock courtesy when allowing someone to precede you UK, 1977 age card noun proof of legal age US, 1968 agent noun 1 the operator of a rigged carnival game US, 1985. 2 in casino gambling, a confederate of a cheat US, 1996

Agent Scully noun oral sex. A reference to the name of the female lead in the X-Files television series, punning on her name and SKULL (oral sex) US, 2001

agfay noun a homosexual man. Pig Latin for FAG US, 1942

aggd adjective angry, aggravated US, 1998 aggie noun 1 an aggressive, domineering male. From the conventional 'aggressive' US, 1968. 2 during the Korean war, any young Korean US, 1951. 3 agoraphobia UK, 1980. 4 a farm tool, especially a hoe US, 1972 aggie adjective angry, agitated US, 2002 aggie overdrive noun in trucking, coasting in neutral gear US, 1976

Aggie Weston's; Aggie's nickname a hostel for sailors provided by the charity RSR (Dame Agnes Weston's Royal Sailors Rests). Co-founded in 1876 by Agnes Weston (1840–1918) to try and save sailors from 'booze and brothels' and still trying. Grateful sailors used to call Weston-Super-Mare in the southwest of England 'Aggie-on-horseback' UK, 1962 aggravation noun (of police or criminals) an act of harassment. Metropolitan Police slang UK, 1970 aggressive adjective used as a coded euphemism for 'dominant' in sadomasochistic sex US, 1986 aggro noun 1 trouble, strife; problems; a nuisance. Abbreviated from 'aggravation' UK, 1969. 2 aggression AUSTRALIA, 1982

aggro adjective aggressively angry AUSTRALIA, 1986

aginner noun a person morally opposed to carnivals and the circus US, 1981 agitate verb ► agitate the gravel to leave. Teen slang US, 1958 agitprop noun agitation and propaganda as an unfocused political tactic; a fashionable genre of theatre arts with a (usually) left-wing political agenda. Adopted from the name given to a department of the Central Committee of the Russian Communist Party responsible for agitation and propaganda on behalf of communist ideals; a conflation of agitatsiya and propaganda UK, 1934 aglish adjective nauseated; sick to one's stomach. Used around the Lunenburg area in Nova Scotia, where many German settlers still adapt old expressions CANADA, 1999

-a go-go suffix all over the place, in a mess; on the go. In the manner of go-go (a disco), hence dancing applied figuratively UK, 1986 agonies noun the physical and psychological pain suffered when withdrawing from drug addiction US, 1992 agonised button noun on military uniforms, an anodised aluminium (Staybrite) button. Anodised (electro-plated) aluminium replaced brass and white metal as the main metal for British Other Ranks military insignia from about 1950 onwards UK, 1984 agony noun ► pile on the agony; pile up the agony; put on the agony to exaggerate, to show-off. Originally theatrical usage US, 1837 agony aunt; agony auntie noun a newspaper or magazine columnist who advises readers on questions of a personal nature; hence an adviser or counsellor on intimate problems UK, 1975 agony column noun a newspaper or magazine feature of readers' letters seeking help for personal problems with replies from a columnist or agony aunt UK, 1975 a good craftsman never blames his tools used for dismissing an attempt by someone to blame a mistake on a piece of equipment or something within their control US, 1997 agricultural adjective in cricket, describes a simple, slogging shot off a sweeping bat UK, 1982

A-head noun 1 an amphetamine abuser US, 1971. 2 a frequent user of LSD US, 1971

ahhh, Rooshan used as a youth-to-youth greeting. A short-lived fad greeting associated with bebop jazz US, 1949 a-hole noun 1 the anus. A' as in ASS of ARSE US, 1942. 2 by extension, a despised person US, 1942

-aholic; -oholic; -holic suffix an addict of, or addicted to, the pre-fixed thing or activity. Usage may be literal or figurative. From 'alcoholic' (a person addicted to alcohol); the first widely recognised extended usage was 'workaholic' (1968) US, 1964

ai!; aiii! yes! Popularised in the UK in the late 1990s by Ali G (comedian Sacha Baron-Cohen) UK, 2002

AIF adjective deaf. Rhyming slang, from Australian Imperial Forces AUSTRALIA, 1973

a-ight used for expressing agreement or affirmation US, 1995 aim verb ► aim Archie at the armitage (of a male) to urinate. Armitage Shanks are manufacturers of toilet furniture AUSTRALIA, 1971

aimie noun an amphetamine UK, 2003 ain't; aint verb replaces am not, are not, is not, has not, have not. A widely used solecism UK, 1710 ain't buyin' it! I don't believe you US, 1990 ain't havin' it! it is not allowed US, 1990 ain't love grand! used for registering the pleasure of being in love or, ironically, the opposite US, 1977 ain't no joke! I am serious! US, 1990 ain't no shame in my game used for expressing a lack of shame when engaged in an activity that might shame others US, 2002 ain't no thang; ain't no big thang used for dismissing something as not problematic US, 1985 ain't that a bite! isn't that too bad! Teen slang US, 1951 ain't the beer cold! used for conveying that all is well in the world. Popularised by baseball radio announcer Chuck Thompson, who used the phrase as the title of his autobiography. Repeated with referential humour US, 1982 ain't with that I do not agree or consent US, 1990 ain't you got no couf? where are your manners, dress sense, etc? Military; a pun on 'uncouth' UK, 1984

AIO noun a college student who does not belong to a fraternity US, 1968

AIP noun heroin from Afghanistan, Iran and/or Pakistan US, 1982 air noun 1 a jump while snowboarding US, 1996. 2 in foot-propelled scootering, a jump UK, 2000. 3 air support, air power, bombing. Vietnam war usage US, 1991. 4 in the pornography industry, an ejaculation that cannot be seen leaving the penis and travelling through the air. In a situation which calls for visual proof of the ejaculation, air is not good US, 1995. 5 air brakes on a truck or railway carriage US, 1897. 6 the mood created by a person or persons. There is 'good air' and there is 'bad air' US, 1988. ► get air to be ignored UK, 2005. ► in the air (used of the flank of an army) unprotected by natural or man-made obstacles US, 1982. ► leave in the air to abandon someone without support UK, 1948. ► turn the air blue; make the air turn blue to use obscene or blasphemous language UK, 1890. ► up in the air (used of a pair in a game of poker) formed with help from the communal face-up cards US, 1992 air verb ► air your belly to vomit US, 2000 air artist noun a railway engineer skilled at the use of air brakes US, 1977

airbag noun a person who talks too much US, 2004

airbags noun the lungs US, 1945 air ball noun 1 in pinball, a ball that is lost out of play without having been flipped US, 1977. 2 in pool, a shot in which the cue ball does not hit any other ball US, 1993 air bandit noun a gambling cheat US, 1969 air barrel noun in pool, that which backs a bet made without money to back the bet. A BARREL is a betting unit; an 'air barrel' is thus an illusory betting unit US, 1990 air biscuit noun a fart US, 2001 air-conditioned adjective sexually frigid UK, 1983 air dance noun capital punishment by hanging. A specific dance name is sometimes substituted for 'dance', such as 'air polka' US, 1982 air-dash verb to travel in an aircraft (a degree of urgency is implied), 2001 airedale noun 1 a Wall Street gentleman. An extension of the symbol of the Airedale as an aristocratic dog US, 1925. 2 a navy pilot US, 1942. 3 a plane handler on an aircraft carrier US, 1943 air giver noun a railway brakeman US, 1977 air guitar noun an imagined guitar used to mimic a rock guitar player US, 1982 airhead noun 1 a person who is not inclined to think, not equipped to think, or both US, 1972 air hog noun in the language of hang gliding, the flier in a group who stays in the air longest US, 1992 airie noun an aeroplane. In Glasgow, a shortening of the local pronunciation 'airieplane' UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

airish adjective 1 cold US, 1985. 2 arrogant, showing off US, 1943 air jammer noun a railway worker who connects airhoses and air signals on a train US, 1977

Air Jesus; Air Hebrews noun sandals. Alluding to Nike Air Jordan™ sports shoes US, 1992

air junkie noun in the language of hang gliding, a devoted, obsessed flier US, 1992 air-kiss verb to go through the motions of kissing but deliberately fail to make contact with the person who would normally be kissed UK, 1985 airlock verb to speak. C. I. Macafee glosses as ‘from the cut-out in a diesel engine if air enters the fuel system’ in A Concise Ulster Dictionary, 1996 UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1996

airlocked adjective extremely drunk UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1996

airmail noun 1 rubbish thrown from the upper windows of a building to the courtyard below US, 1952. 2 objects thrown by prisoners down onto guards or other prisoners below US, 1992 airmail verb to throw rubbish from the upper windows of a building to the courtyard below US, 1968 air monkey noun a railway air-brake repairman US, 1946 air off verb to talk loudly TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1960 airplane noun 1 a device used for holding a marijuana cigarette that has burnt down to the stub. An abbreviation of the fuller JEFFERSON AIRPLANE US, 1970. 2 marijuana UK, 1998 airplane verb to inhale through the nose the smoke of the stub of a marijuana cigarette US, 1970 airplane blonde; aeroplane blonde noun a brunette, usually a woman, with dyed blonde hair. Jocular, implying the punchline ‘blonde up top but you know there’s a black box somewhere’ UK, 1999 airplane driver noun a fighter pilot. Gulf war usage US, 1992 airplane rule noun in computing, the belief that simplicity is a virtue US, 1991 air ride noun a car with pneumatic shock absorbers US, 1975 airs noun a pair of Nike Air Jordan™ trainers (sneakers) US, 1990 airs and graces noun braces; suspenders. Rhyming slang, surviving earlier senses ‘Epsom Races’ and ‘faces’ UK, 1960 air shot noun an act of sexual intercourse that stops short of orgasm. Royal Navy slang, from ‘torpedo drill’ UK, 1979 air sucker noun a jet aeroplane US, 1963 air-to-mud adjective (used of shots fired or bombs dropped) from the air to the ground US, 1991 air tragic noun air traffic control. In Royal Air Force use UK, 2002

airy adjective marijuana-intoxicated US, 1949 airy a none. As used in Nova Scotia’s South Shore, this expression is a form of the archaic ‘ne’er a’ or a short form of ‘never a’ CANADA, 1999

airy-fairy noun a member of the RNAS (Royal Naval Air Service) later the Fleet Air Arm UK, 1979

airy-fairy adjective delicate, fanciful; insubstantial, trivial UK, 1869

aitch noun 1 hell. A euphemism US, 1950. 2 heroin US, 1945 ai te guacho I’ll see you later. ‘Guacho’ pronounced ‘watch-o,’ a pure invention. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1950

AJ noun an ‘acting jack’, or an acting noncommissioned officer US, 1991

ajax noun 1 in hold ‘em poker, an ace and a jack as the first two cards dealt to a particular player. Punning on the brand name of a cleaning agent US, 1981. 2 any youth gang member under the age of 16. A borrowing from the slogan for Ajax™ cleaner – ‘comes out clean’ – and the fact that a juvenile offender will be treated far less harshly than an adult US, 1993 ajax adjective 1 nearby. Possibly derived from ‘adjacent’ UK, 2002. 2 clean. An allusion to the branded cleaning product US, 2002

AK noun 1 a sycophant US, 1939. 2 a mean and nasty old man. An abbreviation of the Yiddish ALTER KOCKER US, 1942. 3 an AK-47 semi-automatic rifle US, 1990

AK verb to curry favour by obsequious behaviour. An abbreviation of ‘ass-kiss’ US, 1939

AK47 noun a variety of marijuana. From the automatic weapon designed by Mikhail Kalashnikov, 2002

AKA noun an alias. An acronym of ‘also known as’; from police jargon US, 1955. ► go AKA to assume an alias US, 1983

AK amp noun an amputation at the knee. Vietnam war medic usage US, 1990

akey-okey adjective satisfactory US, 1960 aks verb to ask. A familiar mispronunciation, especially in black and youth usage UK, 2005

AL adjective not to be believed. An abbreviation of ‘always lying’ US, 1995 ala-ala’s noun the testicles. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981

Alabama wool noun cotton US, 1958

a-la-beff noun vaginal intercourse, the woman on hands and knees and the man entering her from behind. An allusion to the mating of cattle and the French boeuf TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1980

Aladdin’s cave noun the location of a successful thief’s ill-gotten gains. Metropolitan Police slang. After the tale of Aladdin in The Arabian Nights UK, 1970 alambrista noun a Mexican illegally present in the US. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans; from the Spanish for ‘wire’ US, 1974

Alameda noun in bar dice games, a roll that produces no points for the player. Alameda is an island city just west of Oakland. In Alameda, a worthless hand is called a ‘Milpitas’, alluding to a small and relatively poor city just north of San Jose US, 1971 alamo used for registering a strong sexual interest in someone. Derives from the initial letters of ‘lick me out’ UK, 2002

Alamo Hilton nickname a heavily fortified bunker beneath the Khe Sanh base in South Vietnam during the Vietnam war US, 1990

Alan Whickers; Alans noun knickers. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of reporter, broadcaster and television personality Alan Whicker (b.1925), who first came to prominence in the late 1950s UK, 2003

Alaska hand noun in hold ‘em poker, a king and a three as the first two cards dealt to a particular player. Built from the synonymous KING CRAB, which is found in Alaska US, 1981

Alaskamo noun an American Indian from Alaska US, 1963

Alaska strawberries noun beans US, 1991

Alaska time noun used for explaining tardiness US, 1976

Alaska turkey noun salmon US, 1948

Alaska tuxedo noun a wool work suit US, 1965

Alb noun an Albanian UK, 1945

albatross noun 1 a very sick, incurable hospital patient, lingering near death US, 1985. 2 a Grumman HU-16 amphibian aircraft, best known as a rescue aircraft during the Korean and Vietnam wars US, 1991. 3 cooked chicken. Royal Navy use; presumably inspired by Coleridge’s ‘The Rime of the Ancient Mariner’ UK, 1995

Alberta Clipper noun a cold weather system that blows from the Canadian Rocky Mountains eastward. A winter phenomenon, with wind and usually snow CANADA, 1999

Albert County tartan; Albert County dress tartan noun a plaid wool shirt, as used by woodsmen. Albert County is in the Moncton, New Brunswick, area CANADA, 1993

albino noun in pool, the white cue ball US, 1988 albino grass noun snow fallen on a Vancouver, British Columbia, lawn CANADA, 2002

Alcan nickname the Alaska-Canada Highway US, 1975

Al Capone noun heroin UK, 2002

alcho noun an alcoholic UK, 1996 alco; alko noun an alcoholic AUSTRALIA, 1965 alcoholidday noun a holiday or festive period that is spent drinking alcohol GUAYANA, 1975 alcohol rub noun a cocktail party US, 1968 alderman noun 1 in the circus and carnival, an office worker who informs on his fellow workers US, 1981. 2 a big paunch. Referring to the supposed physique and appetite of local elected officials US, 1933 al desk adverb (used of a meal) consumed at your desk at work. A play on al fresco US, 1981 alec; aleck; alick noun an idiot. Shortening of SMART ALEC AUSTRALIA, 1919

aled up adjective under the influence of beer UK, 1996 aletank noun a heavy drinker. A modern variant of the earlier, now obsolete 'alecan' (a heavy drinker) UK, 2002 a-levels noun anal sex, especially when advertised as a service offered by a prostitute. A play on the name given to 'advanced-level' examinations in the British education system UK, 2003

Alexander noun a telephone. From Alexander Graham Bell, 1847–1922, Scottish-born inventor of the telephone UK, 1999

Alf noun an ordinary uneducated, unsophisticated Australian male. Counterpart of the ROY AUSTRALIA, 1960

alfalfa noun 1 money. Circus and carnival usage US, 1917. 2 marijuana US, 1995 alias man noun a confidence swindler JAMAICA, 1961

alibi noun 1 in a rigged carnival game, the reason given by the game operator to disqualify a legitimate win US, 1985. 2 in sports, an excuse for not performing well. In 1914, sports writer Ring Lardner created the character Alibi Ike, who always had an excuse for not playing well US, 1914. 3 a weak excuse. A watered-down version of the conventional use US, 1899 alibi day noun payday. Used in logging camps, suggesting that loggers suddenly develop illnesses and injuries that prevent them from working when they have cash in hand US, 1958 alibi ghee noun a person who can be counted upon to provide an alibi for a criminal US, 1950 alibi Ike noun any criminal who regularly asserts alibis when questioned about a crime US, 1915

Alice noun 1 LSD. A phonetic pun on the first two letters of LSD, influenced by Lewis Carroll's Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, 1865, and Through the Looking-Glass and What Alice Found There, 1871, which were considered inspirational works by the hippy subculture of the late 1960s. The obvious reference, but not a citation of usage, is Jefferson Airplane's 'White Rabbit', 1969 US, 1972. 2 a military backpack US, 1988. ► to have Alice to experience the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1968

Alice nickname Alice Springs. Early use is always preceded by 'the' AUSTRALIA, 1901

Alice B. Toklas brownies noun chocolate brownies laced with marijuana or hashish. Toklas' original 1954 recipe, which was for fudge, not brownies, carried the caution: 'Should be eaten with care. Two pieces are quite sufficient' US, 1969 alickadoo noun a rugby club official or committee member. Possibly from a book by Alec Kadoo IRELAND, 1997 alien noun in casino gambling, a betting chip from another casino US, 1983

Alimony Gallery noun ex-wives of players at an exhibition game by celebrity filmmakers CANADA, 2002

A-list noun used for denoting all that is associated with the greatest contemporary fame and celebrity. In conventional media jargon the A-list is a notional social elite of those who are considered prestigious enough to add top-value to a guest list US, 1984 alive adjective 1 said of a multiple-race bet in horse racing in which the first or early legs of the bet have been won AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 in horse racing, said of a horse subject to heavy betting US, 1990

alize noun any alcoholic beverage US, 2002

alko noun ► see: ALCO alky; alkie noun 1 an alcoholic US, 1952. 2 alcohol, especially methyl alcohol US, 1844. 3 methanol used as fuel for racing cars US, 1970

alkyed adjective drunk US, 1970

alky tank noun a holding cell in a jail reserved for drunk prisoners US, 1962

all adverb 1 very, 1994. 2 so US, 1997 all ► be all used as a quotative device to report a conversation US, 1992

all about adjective 1 alert, efficient. Mostly Royal Navy use UK, 1946. 2 interested in US, 1999

all alone adjective in horse racing, leading a race by several lengths US, 1951

All-American nickname the 82nd Airborne Division. Taken from the two A's on the division's patch. There were many double-A variants, such as 'All-African', 'Alcoholics Anonymous', and 'Almost Airborne', but 'All-American' was the most common US, 1991

all-American drug noun cocaine US, 1998

all and everyone noun every single person TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1973

all a penny adjective inexpensive and plentiful BARBADOS, 1978

All Black nickname a member of the New Zealand international men's rugby team NEW ZEALAND, 1986

all chiefs and no Indians; too many chiefs and not enough Indians a situation in which too many people are giving orders and too few are available to obey; a top-heavy command structure. Military coinage, meaning all officers not other ranks. US, 1972 all-clear noun authorisation, official approval. From the earlier and continuing use as a signal that a danger has passed UK, 1936 all coppers are bastards; all coppers are cunts serves as a catchphrase among certain sections of society. From, or possibly the inspiration for, a chanted jingle: 'I'll sing you a song / And it won't take long (or: It's not very long) / All coppers are bastards.' UK, 1945 all dat noun everything. Popularised in the UK in the late 1990s by Ali G (comedian Sacha Baron-Cohen) UK, 2003

all day adjective 1 in bar dice games involving up to three rolls, taking all three rolls to make the player's hand US, 1976. 2 in craps, said of a bet that is in effect until the shooter rolls his point or a seven US, 1983

all day and night noun a life prison sentence US, 1976 all day from a quarter noun a jail sentence of 25 years to life US, 1992

all-day sucker noun a large lollipop that takes a long time to consume AUSTRALIA, 1939

all down the line adverb in every way, completely, at every opportunity UK, 1976 allergic adjective having a dislike for someone or something. Generally jocular usage UK, 1937 alley noun 1 a fictional place characterised by the preceding thing or activity US, 1954. 2 in horse racing, a stall in the starting barrier AUSTRALIA, 1982. 3 on the railways, the track visible ahead of a train US, 1975. 4 a walkway between rows of prison cells US, 1992. 5 a playing marble AUSTRALIA, 1934. ► make your alley good to improve your situation; to redeem yourself in the eyes of others AUSTRALIA, 1924. ► up your alley apt to your style or taste US, 1924 alley apple noun 1 a brick or cobblestone US, 1927. 2 horse manure; a piece of faeces; excrement US, 1960

alley bourbon noun strong, illegally manufactured whisky US, 1999 alley cat noun 1 a sexually promiscuous person, especially a woman UK, 1926. 2 a young person who idles on a street corner US, 1945. 3 a person who survives on begged or stolen pickings GUAYANA, 1996

alley cleaner noun a handgun US, 1957 alley craps noun a spontaneous, loosely organised, private game of craps, rarely played in an alley US, 1977 alley juice noun denatured alcohol (ethyl alcohol) to which a poisonous substance has been added to make it unfit for consumption US, 1992

alley-oop noun in snowboarding, a 360-degree turn in the direction of the back of the board CANADA, 1996 alley-scoring noun the recycling of food, furniture or anything else left in the rubbish US, 1997

alley up verb to pay off a debt NEW ZEALAND, 2002

alley-wise adjective sophisticated in the ways of the world US, 1974

allez-ooop! used to accompany the action when lifting a child, or boosting someone over or onto something. Originally used by circus acrobats. A combination of French allez (to go) with a Franglais version of 'up' UK, 1931 all fall down used for describing a catastrophe or chaos GRENADA, 1996

all fart and no shit adjective said of a person who makes empty promises UK, 1989 all-fired adjective used as an intensifier. Perhaps a euphemism for 'hell-fired', as are INFERNAL, DAMNED, etc US, 1845

all gas and gaiters adjective used as a derisory description of bishops and other church dignitaries; pompous nonsense. Originally 'All is gas and gaiters', Charles Dickens, Nicholas Nickleby, 1838–39. Repopularised as a useful catchphrase by the BBC situation comedy All Gas and Gaiters, 1967–71 UK, 1967

all get-out noun a high degree of something US, 1884

all gong and no dinner adjective all talk and no action UK, 1981

all hands adjective sexually aggressive US, 1963

all het up adjective ▶ see: HET UP

alligation noun the charring of burnt wood US, 1955 alligator noun 1 an enthusiastic fan of swing jazz US, 1936. 2 any unpleasant and difficult task US, 1990. 3 a circus performer's wife US, 1981. 4 in electric line work, an insulated line tool known formally as a 'tie stick' US, 1980. 5 in television and film making, a clamp used to attach lighting US, 1987

alligator verb (of a painting) to crack US, 1955 alligator see you later. Rhyming slang, inspired or influenced by 'See you later, alligator / In a while, crocodile.' (Bill Haley & the Comets, 'See you later, Alligator', 1956.) UK, 1960

Alligator Alley nickname Interstate Highway 75, which connects Naples and Fort Lauderdale, Florida. So named because it crosses the heart of what had been an impenetrable wilderness, the Florida Everglades. The name is thought to have been coined by the American Automobile Association in 1966 to express supreme disdain for what it considered to be an unsafe toll road US, 1966 alligator bait noun 1 a black person US, 1901. 2 bad food, especially fried liver US, 1926 alligator boot noun a railwayman's work-boot damaged by diesel oil so that the uppers have parted from the sides. From the appearance of the flapping leather UK, 1970

alligator burns noun charrings on burnt wood in the form of scales that resemble an alligator's hide US, 1981 alligator mouth noun a braggart; a verbal bully US, 1961

alligator skins noun paper money US, 1949 all in adjective 1 exhausted, tired out. A term coined in the Stock Exchange where it was used to describe a depressed market UK, 1903. 2 said of a poker player who has bet their entire remaining bankroll US, 1979 all jam and Jerusalem adjective applied derisively to the Women's Institute. A catchphrase, probably dating from the 1920s, that targets the two widely-known details of WI lore: jam-making and the anthemic use of William Blake's hymn 'Jerusalem' UK, 1977

all jokes and no tokens adjective used by casino employees to describe poor tipping by gamblers US, 1983

all like ▶ be all like used as a quotative device, combining two other devices for 'to say' US, 1997 all man jack noun everybody who is involved TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1973

all mouth adjective boastful; unable to back up words with deeds BARBADOS, 1996

all mouth and no trousers adjective all talk and no substance UK, 1977

all-nighter noun 1 an engagement between a prostitute and customer that lasts all night; a prostitute's client who pays to stay all night. Also known as an 'all-night' UK, 1960. 2 any task worked on all night long, especially to meet a deadline for the following day AUSTRALIA, 1966. 3 a person who stays in jail all night after being arrested US, 1992

all-night money noun a prostitute's charge for spending the night with a customer US, 1992

all of a doodah adjective nervous, dithering with excitement UK, 1952

all of a tiswas; all of a tizwas; all of a tizzy adjective in a state of panic or excited confusion. Probably a Royal Air Force coinage; from TIZZ, TIZZY (a state of panic), contriving what appears to be an etymology by amending the source-word to 'tiswas', a combination of 'it is' and 'was', suggesting a play on the earlier colloquial phrase 'not know whether you are coming or going' (to be in a state of confusion) UK, 1984

all on adjective prepared for violence NEW ZEALAND, 1999

all on top! that's untrue! Criminal use, probably from the 1920s or 30s; what's 'on top' is in addition to the truth UK, 1984

all-out adjective very drunk GUAYANA, 1952

all over bar the shouting adjective finished for all intents and purposes UK, 1842 all over it adjective in complete control US, 2002

all over the place like a madwoman's knitting adjective in chaos, in utter disarray. Several variants including 'all over the place like a madwoman's custard / lunch-box / shit'. An elaboration of conventional and unconventional senses of 'all over the place' AUSTRALIA, 1953

all over the shop adjective confused, in disarray, everywhere UK, 1874

all over you like a rash adjective making determined advances of an intimate or personal nature UK, 1999 allow verb to be lenient towards someone, to let someone off lightly. Predominantly black usage UK, 2002

all piss and wind adjective prone to boasting NEW ZEALAND, 2002

all pissed-up and nothing to show adjective used of someone who has spent or, more precisely, drunk all his wages or winnings. A variation, probably from the 1920s, in the manner of 'all dressed up and nowhere to go' UK, 1961

all quiet on the Western Front adjective used to describe a situation in which not much is happening. From a World War 1 communiqué that became a satirical catchphrase; now generalised, probably influenced by the 1929 novel by Erich Maria Remarque and the 1930 film so titled. In the US, the phrase replaced the Civil War-era 'all quiet on the Potomac' UK, 2003

all reet adjective good; all right US, 1946 all right adjective in possession of drugs US, 1971

all right used as a greeting among prisoners US, 1992

all right for some! used for registering envy of another's advantages or luck UK, 1969 all rooters and no shooters used at casino craps tables for encouraging a player to take a turn as a shooter US, 1983 all rootie used as an expression of agreement or satisfaction. Especially popular after Little Richard's 1955 hit song 'Tutti Frutti' US, 1957 all round the option adverb all over the place, everywhere UK, 1957

all show and no go adjective used for describing someone who cannot back appearances with action US, 2000

all singing all dancing adjective configured or equipped with all possible enhancements. Especially of financial and IT products, but originally from the advertising matter for Broadway Melody, 1929, the first Hollywood musical US, 1929 all star noun a drug user who abuses many different drugs US, 1992

all systems go noun a state of readiness. Often humorous; adopted from the jargon of space exploration US, 1974 all that noun sexual activity. A shortening of the conventional, already partially euphemistic 'all that sort of thing' UK, 1970 all that adjective superlative, very good US, 1991 all that and a bag of chips! noun used for expressing strong approval US, 1997 all that and then some noun everything US, 1998 all the best good bye. By ellipsis from conventional 'all the best of luck/fortune', etc UK, 1968 all the better for seeing you used as a 'witty' riposte to the greeting: 'How are you?'. A catchphrase UK, 1977 all the eighths noun a seven-eighths point movement in a stock price US, 1988 all the fives noun fifty-five. In Bingo, House or Tombola, the formula 'all the' announces a double number. Varies numerically, from 'all the twos' (22) to 'all the eights' (88). Recorded by Laurie Atkinson around 1950 UK, 1943 all the go adjective in the height of fashion UK, 1793 all there adjective 1 sane UK, 1864. 2 alert, aware, sharp UK, 1880 all the same khaki pants used for expressing the sentiment that there is no difference between the matters in question. Khaki trousers are the regular schoolboy uniform, eliminating personal, social or class difference TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1996 all the way adjective in the military, destined for leadership US, 1982 all the way adverb to a championship US, 1959 all the way live adjective excellent, superlative US, 1982

all the world and his dog noun everybody. A humorous variation of ALL THE WORLD AND HIS WIFE AUSTRALIA, 1984

all the world and his wife noun everybody. Generally with a sense of hyperbole UK, 1738 all-time adjective excellent US, 1964 all-timer's disease noun used by surfers humorously to describe a person's proclivity to exaggerate when recounting surf conditions or their accomplishments US, 1991 all tits and teeth adjective used for describing a woman who makes the most of a distracting smile and breasts UK, 1967 all to buggery adjective awry, bungled, utterly confused, unsatisfactory, mixed-up UK, 1984

all to cock adjective awry, bungled, utterly confused, unsatisfactory, mixed-up UK, 1948

all to hell adjective utterly ruined US, 1968

all two adjective both BARBADOS, 1975

all up adjective 1 (of things) exhausted, fruitless, ruined; (of people) bankrupt, defeated, doomed to die. Especially in the phrase 'all up with' UK, 1818. 2 (of betting) with the winnings of one bet forming the stake of the next AUSTRALIA, 1933

allus adverb always UK, 1852

all vanilla noun in poker, a spade flush US, 1948 all wind and piss; all wind and water adjective boastful; not backing up words with action UK, 1961 all wool and a yard wide adjective excellent, reliable US, 1882 alma mater noun a prison where a criminal has served time. From Latin for 'fostering mother'; adopted with obvious irony from its English school or university use, first recorded in 1718 US, 1949 almighty adjective great; impressive UK, 1824 almond rock noun 1 a frock, a dress. Rhyming slang UK, 1979. 2 the penis. Obsolete rhyming slang for rock. Also shortened to 'almond' UK, 1969 almond rocks; almonds; rocks noun socks. Rhyming slang, based on a confection popular from the mid-C19, can be presumed therefore to be late C19 in origin. In the mid-C20 it was popularly abbreviated to 'almonds'; later use seems to favour 'rocks', i.e. 'cotton rocks'. A specialised military variation arising during World War 1 was 'army rocks' UK, 1979

Aloha Airlines nickname an aviation unit attached to the 25th Infantry Division during the Vietnam war US, 1991 alone player noun a card cheat who works alone US, 1961

Al Pacino noun a cappuccino coffee. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the US film actor (b.1940) UK, 2003 alpha adjective used for intensifying a personal insult. From conventional usage indicating a premier example UK, 2005 alphabet city nickname an imprecisely defined area on the lower east side of Manhattan, near Avenues A, B, C and D US, 1980

Alphonse noun 1 a pimp. Rhyming slang for PONCE UK, 1943. 2 a homosexual. Rhyming slang for PONCE (an effeminate male) UK, 2003

alpine snow noun cocaine ingested off a woman's breasts UK, 2001 alpine stick noun an oversized frankfurter NEW ZEALAND, 1984

Alpo noun sausage topping for a pizza. An allusion to a branded dog food US, 1996 alrightnik noun a person who has succeeded in material terms US, 1968 alrighty! used for expressing agreement or satisfaction AUSTRALIA, 1997 also-ran noun anyone not performing very well. Originally applied in horse racing to any horse placed fourth or worse and thus not winning any money on the race US, 1896 altar noun a toilet US, 1962 altered adjective very drunk. A suggestion of a completely altered state of perception US, 1991 alter ego noun a false identification card that permits a minor to be served alcohol US, 1990 alter kocker; alte kaker noun a mean and nasty old man. Yiddish for German for 'old shitter' US, 1968 altogether noun ► the altogether complete nudity UK, 1894 alum; alumn noun an alumnus or alumna US, 1934 aluminium cookie noun a compact disc (CD) UK, 2002 aluminium crow nickname a CF-100 Canuck jet fighter aircraft. The aircraft first flew in 1950, and is also known as LEAD SLED and THE CLUNK CANADA, 1950 aluminum noun ► the aluminum in horse racing, the inside rail AUSTRALIA, 1989

aluminum overcast noun any very large military aircraft US, 1961

Alvin noun a naive, easily-cheated person. Circus and carnival usage US, 1949 always late in take off, always late in arrival nickname the Italian airline Alitalia. Most airlines seem to attract jocular nicknames. This is one of the more memorable. 2002

Alzheimer's avenue noun an area in a hospital or nursing home frequented by memory-impaired patients AUSTRALIA, 1987

am noun an amateur UK, 2000 amateur half-hour; amateur hour noun a poorly organised event US, 1939 amateur night noun 1 New Year's Eve. Just as amateur Christians attend church only twice a year, or amateur Jews attend services only twice a year, amateur drunks only drink to oblivion once a year US, 1977. 2 a night when the tips left by a restaurant's customers are low US, 1995. 3 sex with a chance acquaintance who is not a prostitute US, 1960

amazur machine; amazer noun in trucking, a police radar unit used for measuring vehicle speed US, 1976

Amazon noun a tall, strong, sexually attractive woman US, 1954

Amazon Annie nickname a cannon designed to fire atomic shells US, 1958 ambassador noun a representative of a drug dealer US, 1997 amber noun beer. In constructions such as 'quaff an amber' NEW ZEALAND, 1959

amber fluid noun beer AUSTRALIA, 1906

amber gambler noun a motorist who speeds up through a yellow light NEW ZEALAND, 1979

ambidextrous adjective bisexual. A pun on the ability to use either hand US, 1966 ambisexual adjective bisexual. A pun that puts sex in 'ambidextrous' US, 1926

Ambitious City nickname Hamilton, Ontario. Hamilton has thrived through steel and car assembly, benefiting by the Auto Pact between the US and Canada CANADA, 1965 ambo noun 1 an ambulance AUSTRALIA, 1996. 2 an ambulance driver. Commonly heard in New Zealand AUSTRALIA, 1998 ambo noun in prison use, the Association of Members of Boards of Visitors; a member of the association. An initialism UK, 1996 ambulance noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 ambulance chaser noun a disreputable solicitor, especially one who arrives or has an agent arrive at the scene of a disaster to seek clients from among the victims; in UK usage since the 1990s, solicitors who advertise on television for 'no-win no-fee' clients. From the image of following an ambulance to an accident US, 1896 ambush academy noun during the Vietnam war, training in jungle warfare, especially of the unconventional sort US, 1991 ambush alley nickname the section of Route 19 between An Keh and the base of the Mang Giang Pass, South Vietnam. So named by truckers after countless Vietcong ambushes, borrowed from the Korean war (1952) where the term was used for any dangerous road US, 1965 am dram adjective amateur dramatic; hence, exaggerated, unsubtle, histrionic UK, 1985

amebate verb to get drunk US, 1966 ameche noun a telephone. From actor Don Ameche's performance as Alexander Graham Bell in a 1939 film US, 1941

amen! used for expressing strong approval US, 1934

amen corner noun the front rows of pews in a church where the most devout sit, approving the words of the preacher with shouts of 'Amen!' US, 1860

Americalley nickname in Vietnam, the 23rd Infantry Division, which played a key role in the massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai. The 23rd was formally named the Americal Division. The 'calley' variant referred to a key participant in My Lai US, 1991

American Airlines noun in hold 'em poker, the ace of diamonds and ace of hearts as the first two cards dealt to a player. From the initials AA US, 1981

American taxpayer noun any violator of routine traffic laws. From the vociferous indignation voiced when stopped by a police officer US, 1962

American tweezers noun any specialty tool used by a burglar US, 1982

American Wake noun a farewell party for those emigrating to America in the late C19 and early C20 IRELAND, 1997

American way noun relatively peaceful co-existence by rival organised crime families US, 1992

Amerika; Amerikkka noun the United States. A spelling favoured by the political counterculture in the late 1960s and early 1970s; in the second form, 'kkk' signifies the white supremacist Ku Klux Klan. Rap artist Ice Cube's 1990 album 'Amerikkka's Most Wanted' gave the KKK spelling high-profile exposure US, 1969

Amerikan adjective American US, 1969

Amerikill nickname the 23rd Infantry Division. Derogatory US, 1991

AMF used as a farewell. From ADIOS MOTHERFUCKER US, 1963

amidships adverb (used of a blow to the abdomen) across the central area of the body. From the naval term for the middle of a ship UK, 1937 a mighty roar went up from the crowd used as a humorous comment on a lack of response to a joke or comment. Coined by Keith Olberman on ESPN 'to describe players or fans who do not seem to be as happy as they should be following a home run, touchdown, or victory' US, 1997 amigo noun used as a term of address. Spanish for 'friend' US, 1974

Amish golf noun croquet. An allusion to the perceived joy that the Amish people take in playing croquet US, 1969

Amityville; 'Ville nickname Detroit, Michigan, US. Coinage is claimed by rap-artist Eminem, after the 1979 film The Amityville Horror US, 2000

ammo noun 1 ammunition, actual or figurative US, 1911. 2 cash US, 2003 ammunition noun 1 a gambler's bankroll US, 1983. 2 a tampon or sanitary towel; tampons or sanitary towels UK, 1984

amoeba noun 1 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994. 2 a Commodore Amiga™ personal computer US, 1991

amonia noun pneumonia BAHAMAS, 1982

Amos and Andy noun brandy; shandy. Rhyming slang, based on a US radio comedy that ran from 1928–43 UK, 1974 amp noun 1 an ampoule (a glass vessel of drugs intended for hypodermic injection) UK, 1968. 2 an ampoule of methadone, used to break a heroin addiction UK, 1985. 3 amphetamine, 2004. 4 an amplifier, especially one for electric instruments US, 1967. 5 an amputation; an amputee. Medical slang US, 1942 amped adjective 1 under the influence of a central nervous system stimulant, usually amphetamines or methamphetamine US, 1972. 2 ready for anything, very excited, psyched up US, 1986. 3 (used of a music system) equipped with powerful amplifiers US, 1995. 4 silent US, 1993

amper noun an ampersand (&) US, 1991

amphet noun amphetamine US, 1982 amphoterrible nickname the antifungal drug Amphotericin B. A nickname based on the drug's severe side effects US, 1994 amp joint noun marijuana and amphetamine (or possibly another drug) mixed and rolled for smoking in a cigarette UK, 1998

Am Sam nickname American Samoa US, 1982

amscray verb to leave. Pig Latin version of 'scram' US, 1934

-amundo suffix used as a humorous mechanism to form a slang equivalent. Popularised by the Fonz (Henry Winkler) on the US television programme Happy Days, set in the 1950s, which aired from 1974 until 1984 US, 1992

AMW noun a vacuous female celebrity or hanger-on. An abbreviation of 'actress, model, whatever' US, 1988

amy; amie noun amyl nitrite; an ampoule of amyl nitrite US, 1966 amyl noun amyl nitrate or butyl nitrate, when taken recreationally or to enhance sexual arousal US, 1971

amyl house noun a dance music genre UK, 1996 anal noun anal sex. A brief search of the Internet reveals an overwhelming and mainly heterosexual use of 'anal' in this sense US, 2000 anal & oral noun anal sex and oral sex, when advertised as services offered by a prostitute UK, 2003 anal amigo noun a male homosexual UK, 2003 anal groundsman noun a homosexual man UK, 1983 analog adjective in computing, pertaining to the world outside the Internet. A figurative extension of a technical term US, 1997 anchor noun 1 a brake. Originally truck driver usage, and then widespread UK, 1936. 2 a younger brother or sister. A younger sibling is likely to hold you back or prevent you from going out with your friends UK, 2003. 3 an examination that has been postponed US, 1955.

4 a parachutist who hesitates before jumping UK, 1943. 5 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977. 6 a pick-axe UK, 1863 anchor verb 1 to stay put, to remain US, 1906. 2 to wait US, 1990. 3 to the apply the brakes of a car or truck US, 1946 anchored adjective married US, 1949 anchor ice noun ice formed along the bottom of bodies of water. This northern phenomenon is also known as 'ground ice' CANADA, 1945 anchor man noun in casino blackjack, the gambler immediately to the dealer's right US, 1985 ancient adjective unfashionable, out of style US, 2004 ancient Mary noun an AM radio US, 1976 and a half used for intensifying the preceding noun UK, 1832 and all that 1 used for intensifying US, 1992. 2 et cetera UK, 1931 and all that caper et cetera UK, 1964 and all that jazz and so on. From JAZZ (nonsense) US, 1959 and a merry Christmas to you too! used ironically in response to a disparagement or an insult UK, 1976 and and and and so on, etc UK, 1984 and away we go! used as a humorous signal that something has just started. A signature line of comedian Jackie Gleason US, 1954 and co and the rest of them (of people or things with something in common) UK, 1757

Anderson cart noun a cart made from a cut-down car and pulled by horses, during the 1930s depression; later, any car that ran out of petrol or broke down CANADA, 1987

Andes candy noun cocaine. A near reduplication based on the cocoa grown in the Andes Mountains US, 1990 and everything used for completing a list or a thought. If anything less sincere than synonymous et cetera UK, 1984 and like it! used in anticipation of a grousing reponse to an order. Naval use UK, 1943 and like that et cetera; and so on US, 1977 and monkeys might fly out of my butt used as a reflection of the high unlikelihood of something happening US, 1992

andro adjective androgynous US, 1999 android noun a patient with no normal laboratory values US, 1994 and so it goes used as an ironic affirmation. The signature sign-off of television journalist Linda Ellerbee, with homage to Kurt Vonnegut's use of 'so it goes'. Repeated with referential humour US, 1992 and that et cetera; and that sort of thing. Also widely used in Australia UK, 1821 and that ain't hay used for humorous assertion that the topic of discussion is no small thing. Both Abbot and Costello in the film It Ain't Hay and Mickey Rooney in Girl Crazy used the phrase in high-profile ways in 1943. It stayed popular for most of the decade US, 1943 and that's the truth! used as a humorous affirmation of what you have just said. A signature line of the Edith Ann character played by Lily Tomlin on the television comedy programme Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In (NBC, 1968–73). Repeated with referential humour US, 1968 and that's the way it is! used as a humorous affirmation. The signature sign-off of television newsmen Walter Cronkite, who ended his nightly newscast thus from 1962 until 1981. Repeated with referential humour, often imitating the lilt and bass of Cronkite's voice US, 1962 and then some and more; and much more. Probably an elaboration of C18 Scots 'and some' US, 1908 and there was much rejoicing used as a humorous comment on a favourable reaction. Popularised in the US by Keith Olberman of ESPN, borrowed from Monty Python and the Holy Grail US, 1975 and will! used for expressing a commitment to do something US, 1947

Andy Capp's Commandos nickname the Army Catering Corps, the ACC. A humorous elaboration of the official military abbreviation. Andy Capp is the workshy hero of a long-running cartoon strip UK, 1995

Andy Gump noun the surgical removal of the mandible in the treatment of jaw cancer. The post-operative patient looks like they have no chin, resembling the comic strip character US, 1980

Andy Gump chin noun a receding chin US, 1970

and you know that! used for expressing approval or praise US, 1992 and you too!; and you! used as a sharp rejoinder to an insult UK, 1961

Andy Pandey noun 1 an effeminate man, heterosexual or homosexual. From a BBC television puppet who first appeared in 1950 UK, 1983. 2 a brandy. Rhyming slang UK, 2000

Andy Rooney noun in poker, any player, usually short, who is inclined to complain. An allusion to the US television journalist's stature US, 1996

ANFO noun any nuisance of foreign origin. Acronym in use during the 1970s by the British Army in Northern Ireland, borrowing the initials from Ammonium Nitrate Fuel Oil, a type of explosive UK, 1984 angel noun 1 an outside investor, especially one who backs a theatrical production. Theatrical origins US, 1891. 2 a male homosexual. Originally referred to the passive partner, but later to any homosexual US, 1927. 3 a nurse. In the UK Angels was a BBC television drama series about nurses broadcast 1975–83 US, 1991.

4 cocaine AUSTRALIA, 1942. 5 in aviation, a 1000-foot increment of altitude UK, 1943. 6 in air combat, a misleading image or blind spot US, 1998

Angel noun 1 a member of the Hell's Angels motorcycle gang US, 1965

angel cake noun an attractive girl US, 1962 angel dust noun 1 phencyclidine, the recreational drug also known as PCP. Originally a veterinary anaesthetic, it became a popular recreational drug regarded as a cheaper substitute for other illicit drugs US, 1970. 2 money borrowed informally from a friend US, 1976

angel face noun an effeminate man US, 1949 angel food noun a member of the US Air Force as an object of homosexual desire US, 1988 angel gear noun neutral gear while coasting down a hill NEW ZEALAND, 1989

angel hair noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994 angelina sorority noun the world of the young homosexual male US, 1972 angel kiss noun a freckle US, 1972 angel mist noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994 angel puss noun used as an endearing term of address US, 1936

Angel's bible noun a Harley-Davidson motorcycle manual US, 1992

angels in a sky noun LSD UK, 2003

angel's kiss noun a night breeze. Korean war usage US, 1961 angel's seat noun the cupola on top of a brakevan (caboose) US, 1946 angel teat noun a whisky with a rich bouquet US, 1945 angel track noun an armoured personnel carrier used as an aid station US, 1971 angel with a dirty face noun a male homosexual who due to caution or fear has yet to act upon his desire. After the 1938 Warner Brothers film Angels With Dirty Faces US, 1941

Angie noun cocaine US, 1994

angishore noun ▷ see: HANGASHORE angle noun a scheme, especially an illegal one US, 1920

angle shooter noun a poker player who exploits other players by bending the rules of the game US, 1982

Anglo noun 1 a white person. The term was brought to the mainstream by Mexican-Americans in the southwestern US US, 1943. 2 an Anglo-Australian. Used as a derogatory term by people from a Mediterranean or Middle Eastern background, opposing the term 'wog' AUSTRALIA, 1982

Anglo adjective of or pertaining to Anglo-Australians AUSTRALIA, 1982

Anglo-Indian adjective of Anglo-Indian birth UK, 1984

Angola black; Angola noun a potent marijuana from East Africa US, 1982 angora noun in horse racing, the totalisator. Rhyming slang, from 'tote' to 'angora goat' to 'angora' AUSTRALIA, 1989 angry adjective (used of a penis) sexually aroused, erect US, 1970 angry nine nickname during the Korean war, an AN/GRC-9 radio US, 1994

angryphone noun an anglophone (a native English speaker in Quebec) CANADA, 2002 animal noun 1 a person displaying vulgar manners, attitudes, etc.; a despicable human being; a brute AUSTRALIA, 1892. 2 in American football, an extremely physical player US, 1978. 3 used among musicians as a nickname for a drummer. From the character/puppet/musician 'Animal' (legendarily, based on Keith Moon, 1946–78, the original drummer with The Who) who appeared in The Muppet Show, from 1976, and in subsequent film and television Muppet projects UK, 1976. 4 an aggressive approach to surfing AUSTRALIA, 1985. 5 in prison, a sex offender. Contemptuous UK, 1996. 6 a thing of a given sort UK, 1922. 7 LSD US, 1994. 8 amyl nitrate UK, 2002. 9 in the Vietnam war, a gang-rigged set of claymore mines US, 1983. 10 a furpiece US, 1959. ► go animal to act wildly, without inhibition US, 1968 animal! used for expressing approval UK, 2003 animal car noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1938 animal run noun the wild behaviour of some military personnel on shore leave UK, 1987

Animals of the Army nickname during the Vietnam war, used as a name for the Airborne Rangers US, 1984 animal trainer noun a person who engages in sexual activity with animals US, 1978 animal zoo noun a rowdy college fraternity US, 1967 anime noun a type of Japanese animation, often adapted to sexual themes JAPAN, 1991 ankle noun a woman US, 1942 ankle verb 1 to walk; to travel US, 1926. 2 in television and film making, to disassociate yourself from a project US, 1990. ► ankle a show to walk out of a performance US, 1973 ankle-biter noun 1 a petty, narrow-minded bureaucrat US, 1990. 2 a child. Also 'knee biter'. Humorous, not particularly kind to children US, 1963 ankle bracelets noun the < and > characters on a computer keyboard US, 1991 ankled adjective drunk. A Bristol usage UK, 2002 ankle express noun walking US, 1919 ankle-slapper noun a small wave US, 1991

anklets noun leg irons US, 1950

Annabel Giles; annabels noun haemorrhoids. Rhyming slang for 'piles', formed from the name of the UK television presenter (b.1960) UK, 2003

annex verb to steal US, 1845

Annie from Arkansas noun in craps, an eight US, 1993

Annie Rooney noun an outburst of bad temper UK, 1988

Annie's alley noun the vagina. Attested by a police matron at the San Francisco Women's Detention Center in April 1949; a woman prisoner was thought to be concealing $13.00 'in Annie's Alley' US, 1949 annihilated adjective drunk US, 1975 annish noun an anniversary issue of a single-interest fan magazine US, 1982 anoint verb to whip someone US, 1962 anorak noun 1 a studious and obsessive hobbyist widely characterised as boring and unfashionable. From the stereotypical wardrobe of certain groups of hobbyists such as trainspotters UK, 1991. 2 by extension, a person who is socially inept and therefore unable to be, or not interested in becoming, part of a peer group UK, 1999 anoraky adjective studious and obsessive UK, 2001

A N Other noun used in speech as an all-purpose formula for an unknown identity. A written convention that has taken on a life of its own UK, 2003 another country heard from used for humorously acknowledging that someone who had previously been silent has spoken up US, 1970 another day, another dollar a humorous expression of a day-by-day philosophy of life US, 1939 another noun another, especially another drink of beer AUSTRALIA, 1963

answer noun a rap artist's response to another's song US, 1995 answer verb to score soon after an opponent has scored US, 1979 answer record noun a rap song released in response to another song US, 1995

Antarctica monster noun fire ANTARCTICA, 1977

Antartic 10 noun any moderately good-looking person of the sex that attracts you. The humour lies in the fact that a 'ten' in Antarctica would be a 'five' anywhere else ANTARCTICA, 1991 ante noun the money required to begin a project US, 1895 anteater noun 1 in trucking, a short-nosed C-model Mack tractor US, 1971. 2 an uncircumcised penis US, 1970 antenna platoon noun during the Vietnam war, a platoon with an unusually large number of radios assigned to it US, 1989 ante up verb to provide money for a project US, 1865 anthem noun in contemporary dance music and club culture of the 1980s, 90s and on, any song that fills the dance floor and gets clubbers singing along UK, 2003 anti-frantic adjective calm, collected US, 1983 antifreeze noun 1 alcohol US, 1953. 2 heroin US, 1994 anti-proliferation device noun a condom UK, 1998

antique HP noun an old homosexual man. HP is an abbreviation of HOMEE-PALONE (a man) UK, 2002

antsy adjective agitated, anxious US, 1950 antwacky adjective old-fashioned, especially of clothes. Liverpool use; possibly from 'antiquey' UK, 2002 anus bandit noun a predatory male homosexual US, 1962 anxious adjective good US, 1944 anybody in there? do you have any intelligence? AUSTRALIA, 1995

anyhoo adverb anyhow. A deliberate mispronunciation US, 1946 any kine noun anything. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 any more for any more? does anyone want more food?; also used to announce a final opportunity to purchase something UK, 1977 any old how adverb 1 in an untidy or disordered state UK, 1933. 2 in any case, anyway UK, 1958 anyone can cook nickname the Army Catering Corps, the ACC. A humorous elaboration of the official military abbreviation UK, 1995 anyone for tennis? used for humorously suggesting an activity. Seen as quintessentially British and enormously witty in its many variant forms US, 1951 anyroad anyway. Also used as an adverb. Northern dialect, widely familiar from television programmes such as Coronation Street UK, 1896 anything for a laugh serves as a justification for doing something because you have no choice in the matter. Often rueful UK, 1969 anything for a quiet wife a catchphrase that means exactly what it says. A jocular perversion of the proverbial saying 'anything for a quiet life' UK, 1977 any-to-come noun in gambling, a type of conditional bet in which all or part of a winning is returned on another bet. May be abbreviated as ATC UK, 2001

Anytown USA; Anytown noun a notional American town that represents the appearance or values of stereotypical small-town America UK, 1992 anywhere adverb in possession of drugs US, 1946. ► not get anywhere to fail to reach your goal, to not succeed in achieving your object US, 1932

Anzac biscuit; Anzac noun a popular biscuit made with oats, sugar, flour and golden syrup AUSTRALIA, 1923

A-OK adjective completely acceptable. US Navy Captain Alan G. Shepard was widely credited for introducing the term to the general public during the first US space flight. Shepard later denied ever having said 'A-OK', insisting that he had been spelling out awkward – 'AWK' US, 1959

A-one; A-1 adjective excellent, first-class. Originally of ships, then of persons and things US, 1846

AOS used for suggesting that there are no good options in a particular situation. An abbreviation of 'all options suck' or 'all options stink' US, 2001 a over k adverb knocked upside down. An abbreviation of 'arse over kite' NEW ZEALAND, 1998

a over t adverb head over heels. An abbreviation of ARSE OVER TIT UK, 1984

Apache noun Fentanyl, a synthetic narcotic analgesic that is used as a recreational drug UK, 2004

Apache land noun a rough or dangerous urban area UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

apartment noun a prison cell US, 1949 apartment girl noun a prostitute who works out of her own apartment or comes to a customer's apartment US, 1992 apartment house noun in bar dice games, a roll from the cup in which some dice are stacked on top of others, invalidating the roll US, 1971

APB noun in police work, an all points bulletin, broadcast to all who are listening US, 1957

apcray noun nonsense; rubbish. A Pig Latin version of CRAP US, 1937 ape noun in the entertainment industry, a technical member of a film crew US, 1970 ape adjective crazed, frenzied, demonstrating rage or delight. Based on the behaviour of apes in films – not in real life US, 1955. ► go ape to lose control; to react unrestrainedly AUSTRALIA, 1988 ape bars noun high handlebars on a customised motorcycle US, 1966 ape drape noun a hair style in which the hair is worn short at the front and long at the back. Most commonly known as a 'mullet' US, 1995 ape hangers noun high handlebars on a customised motorcycle. A term based on the visual aspect, with the handlebars forcing an ape-like pose US, 1965 apeshit adjective ► go apeshit to lose control; to go crazy US, 1951

apeth noun ► see: HA'P'ORTH ape wagon noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 aphrodite noun a nightgown. Rhyming slang for 'nightie' NEW ZEALAND, 1875

A-pie noun apple pie US, 1967

A-plug noun a plug inserted in the rectum as part of a sadoomasochistic encounter. An abbreviation for 'ass-plug' US, 1979 apoplectic adjective behaving in a violently temperamental manner. From the symptoms of apoplexy UK, 1984 apostles noun ► the apostles in craps, a roll of twelve US, 1999

app noun an application UK, 1996 appalling adjective objectionable, ugly, etc. An example of overused society and middle-class hyperbole UK, 1937 apparatchik noun an office worker in a support role US, 1974

appie noun an appendectomy patient US, 1985 applause noun a sexually transmitted infection, especially gonorrhea. An excruciating pun on CLAP US, 1990 apple noun 1 a person. Usually heard with a qualifying adjective such as 'bad' or 'rotten' US, 1887. 2 the gullible victim of a confidence swindle US, 1992. 3 a native American Indian who carries favour with the white establishment by embracing white cultural values. A variation on a theme – red on the outside, white on the inside US, 1980. 4 a particular type of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Sometimes embellished to 'apple E' or 'green apple' UK, 1996. 5 a capsule of secobarbital sodium (trade name Seconal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1980. 6 a self-propelled barracks barge. From the ship's official designation as an 'APL' US, 1971. 7 the vagina US, 1980. 8 a one-hundred dollar note NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 9 the heart. An abbreviation of 'apple tart', and by rhyming slang to 'heart' NEW ZEALAND, 1989. 10 a citizens' band radio enthusiast of unlimited zeal US, 1976

Apple noun ► The Apple New York City US, 1938 ► see: BIG APPLE apple and pip verb 1 to sip. Rhyming slang UK, 1972. 2 to urinate. Rhyming slang, formed on back-slang 'sip/Piss'. Also used in a noun sense UK, 1960 apple box noun in the television and film industries, any device used to raise an actor or object to the desired height US, 1977

apple-catchers noun a type of roomy underpants AUSTRALIA, 1965 apple core; apple noun twenty pounds; in betting, odds of 20–1. Rhyming slang for SCORE UK, 1974 apple fritter; apple noun bitter (beer). Rhyming slang UK, 2002

applehead noun a dull, stupid person US, 1951

Apple Isle; Apple Island noun Tasmania. The island state is noted for its apple-growing industry AUSTRALIA, 1906 apple jacks noun pieces of crack cocaine. From a resemblance to a popular breakfast cereal US, 1994 apple-knocker noun 1 a rustic, especially a naive one US, 1919. 2 an outdoor toilet. From the image of apples dropping onto the outhouse roof US, 1975 apple orchard noun a location where police wait parked, certain that they will soon witness a driving infraction US, 1970 apple pie order noun complete and perfect order US, 1975 apple pips noun the lips. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 apple-polisher noun a person who shamelessly curries favour from those above him. Several variant forms are attested US, 1927 apples noun the female breasts US, 1942 apples adjective 1 satisfactory, good. Possibly rhyming slang for 'apples and rice', 'nice' AUSTRALIA, 1943. 2 in good shape or condition NEW ZEALAND, 1998 apples and pears; apples noun stairs. Rhyming slang UK, 1857 apple tart; apple noun a fart. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 apple up verb to become frightened US, 1966 apple z verb to undo something. A figurative use of the 'undo last command' function on an Apple Macintosh™ computer US, 2003 application noun ► take an application (used of a pimp) to probe the psyche of a woman who is a candidate to come to work for you US, 1972 apprentice noun in horse racing, a jockey who has ridden for less than a year US, 1947 appro noun ► on appro on approval UK, 1874 appropriate verb to steal something. Ironical military use US, 1960

appy noun an appendectomy US, 1994

apricots noun the testicles UK, 1985

April fool noun 1 a tool. Rhyming slang, originally meaning a burglar's tool then in more general use as a workman's tool UK, 1960. 2 a weapon such as a handgun, knife, etc. Rhyming slang; a narrower sense of the much earlier 'tool' UK, 2002. 3 a stool, usually a bar stool. Rhyming slang UK, 1960

April in Paris; April noun the backside, the buttocks. Rhyming slang for ARIS UK, 1998

April shower noun a flower. Rhyming slang UK, 1960

April showers noun beer by Flower & Sons, 'Flower's'. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 apron noun 1 a woman or wife US, 1970. 2 the gross daily receipts from a carnival concession US, 1990. ► out of the apron (used of gambling in a casino) using money borrowed from the casino US, 1982

aqua; acqua noun water. From and synonymous with Latin aqua via Italian acqua UK, 2002

aqua boot verb to vomit into the ocean US, 1991

A-rab noun an Arab. Not flattering, but more oafish than derogatory. The slang sense of the word is gained strictly through pronunciation – a long first 'A', two drawn out syllables, and a light twang with the second. In his 1962 rock/novelty record 'Ahab the Arab', Ray Stevens gave a loud public voice to this pronunciation US, 1972

Arab noun 1 used as a term of mild abuse. There is no racist intent in this term, deriving as it does from 'street Arab' an obsolete term for a homeless child UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 2 a dolt BERMUDA, 1985. 3 a street peddler selling fruit or vegetables. Originates from Baltimore US, 1935

Arab lover noun a driver who obeys the fifty-five miles an hour speed limit. A term coined during the Arab oil embargo of the early 1970s US, 1976 arbitrary adjective insignificant, unimportant. Nowhere near as popular as its conventional cousin RANDOM US, 1986 arc verb in computing, to archive something US, 1997 arc around verb to engage in enthusiastic and energetic, if meaningless and aimless, activity. US naval aviator usage US, 1986

ARC girl noun a female representative of the American Red Cross. Vietnam war usage US, 1968

Archbish noun an Archbishop UK, 1994

Archie noun 1 the notional cause of confusion. As in 'Archie buck them up' or 'Archie fuck them up'; from the late 1960s Jamaican hit record 'Archie Buck Them Up' by Lord Creator TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. 2 a young and untrained farm hand NEW ZEALAND, 1946 architect noun in poker, a player who bets heavily. So called because his betting builds the pool of bets US, 1988 arctic adjective 1 cold US, 1989. 2 in poker, said of a very poor hand or series of very poor hands US, 1996

Arctic explorer noun a user of heroin and/or cocaine US, 1959 arena rat noun 1 a young person who hangs around a skating arena CANADA, 1957. 2 a woman who invites sexual relations with professional wrestlers US, 1990 are you for real? used for humorously questioning a person's sincerity US, 1949 are you kidding? you must be joking!; are you serious? Derivative, ironic and more of an exclamation than a question. US, 1984 are you looking at me? used as a belligerent challenge to a stranger US, 1994 are you ready to throw down? used as a call soliciting a response ('yes, we are') at a party US, 2002 are you stupid or French? used for expressing a dim opinion of someone's intellectual firepower CANADA, 2002

arf noun half. Written as it's said UK, 1984 arg noun in computing, an argument US, 1981

Argentina noun ► do an Argentina to go missing presumed dead UK, 2003

Argie noun an Argentinian. This abbreviation is not recorded until the Anglo-Argentine conflict for the Falklands/Malvinas in 1982 UK, 1982 argle-bargle noun the sound made by seabirds. This Nova Scotia expression seems to imitate the sound it describes CANADA, 1988 argue verb ► argue the toss to argue over something already decided UK, 1925 argy-bargy noun an argument, quarrelling. Also sometimes known as 'argle-bargle' UK, 1887 argy-bargy verb to argue. From the noun UK, 1888

Aries noun heroin US, 1994

aris noun 1 the backside, the buttocks; the anus. Rhyming slang from ARISTOTLE – BOTTLE – BOTTLE AND GLASS – ARSE. Also variants 'arris' and 'harris' UK, 1979. 2 a bottle. Also variant form 'aras' AUSTRALIA, 1966

ari-stock-rat noun a Canadian person of mixed Indian and French ancestry. The pride behind the insult in 'aristocrat' has been justified by the honouring of Louis Riel, who led a Metis rebellion during the settling of the Canadian West CANADA, 1962

Aristotle noun a bottle. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1897

Aristotle's lantern noun a sea urchin CANADA, 1990

Arizona noun buttermilk. Because a waitress thinks any man drinking buttermilk ought to be in Arizona for his health US, 1946

Arizona stop noun a rolling stop at a traffic signal or stop sign US, 1962

Arizona Territory noun an area southwest of Da Nang, South Vietnam, with imprecise boundaries and a strong Vietcong presence US, 1991

arji noun marijuana US, 2001 ark noun a dance hall US, 1953

Arkansas credit card noun a hose used to syphon petrol from another car US, 1976

Arkansas fire extinguisher noun a chamberpot US, 1958

Arkansas flush noun in poker, a worthless hand consisting of four cards in one suit and a fifth in another US, 1950

Arkansas gravel; Arkansas pavement noun small trees used as a makeshift bridge over a mud hole US, 1954

Arkansas toad stabber noun a sharp knife US, 1994

Arkansas toothpick noun a hunting knife US, 1836

Arkansas traveler; Arkansas special noun any unimportant railway line US, 1950

Arkansas wedding cake noun cornbread US, 1958

Arky; Arkie noun a resident of Arkansas; an unsophisticated rustic from the south central US. Often used with contempt US, 1927 arm noun 1 a police officer US, 1956. 2 the penis US, 1972. ► off the arm in food and beverage servers' argot, served without a tray US, 1950. ► on the arm without charge US, 1926. ► put the arm on to pressurise with criminal intent, to extort, to blackmail, to threaten; to arrest US, 1943. ► under the arm no good, inferior; loathsome UK, 1958. ► up the arm in betting, odds of 11–8. From the TICK-TACK signal used by bookmakers UK, 1991 arm and a leg noun 1 a high cost UK, 1956. 2 a prison sentence of five to ten years US, 1991 arm candy noun 1 someone good-looking enough for you to be seen out with US, 1992. 2 recreational drugs that are injected into the arm UK, 2002 armchair adjective removed from the action; said of an observer who acts as if he is a participant US, 1955 armchair general noun a person whose opinions are entirely unsupported by experience US, 1960 armchair ride noun in horse racing, an easy victory US, 1976

Armenian chrome noun aluminium paint US, 1961 arm hole noun the armpit BAHAMAS, 1982

armo noun armed robbery. Prison slang NEW ZEALAND, 1999

armor noun a female's figure US, 1997. ► in the armor (used of beer) in a can US, 1967 armpiece noun an attractive woman chosen as a social companion for the impression she makes on others US, 1983 armpit noun 1 a highly undesirable town or place US, 1968. 2 an obnoxious, unfriendly person US, 1968 armpit of the world; armpit of the universe noun the worst place US, 1968 arms noun ► get your arms around to grasp the meaning of US, 1989 armshouse noun a gang fight. Urban youth slang, probably from a use of firearms in such conflicts UK, 2005 arm-stretcher noun a heavy suitcase US, 1992

armstrong adjective done by hand, necessitating arm strength rather than mechanical leverage CANADA, 1963

armstrong method noun the technique of using hand and arm strength to get a job done CANADA, 1987 arm trophy noun a stunning and sexually appealing companion, valued for the prestige attached to their presence US, 1994 army noun a large bankroll. Alluding to the green of currency and military uniforms US, 1990

army banjo noun a shovel or other entrenching tool US, 1991 army brat noun a person who grew up the child of a career member of the army US, 1931 army craps noun a game of craps in which the shooter serves as the banker US, 1984

Army Criminal Corps nickname the Army Catering Corps, the ACC. An elaboration of the official military abbreviation US, 1995 army game noun any game of chance played in an aggressive and/or dishonest fashion US, 1890 army marbles noun dice. From the view that soldiers are fond of dice games US, 1963 army odds noun in a dice game, the true odds, not approximate odds often used in street games US, 1962

Army Peace Corps noun the US Army Special Forces. Highly trained killers, so an ironic term US, 1990

army roll noun a controlled roll of the dice by a skilled cheat in a game of craps US, 1963

army tank noun an American serviceman. Rhyming slang for YANK. Recorded among Australian prisoners-of-war in the Far East AUSTRALIA, 1945

arnold noun pork JAMAICA, 1988

aroa job noun a job done out of friendship without charge or at reduced rates. From the Maori word for 'love' NEW ZEALAND, 1985 aroma noun amyl nitrite or butyl nitrite US, 1980 aroma of man noun an ampoule of amyl nitrite. Originally a brand name; later used generically US, 1992

-aroo suffix used as a festive if meaningless embellishment of a noun US, 1941

-arooni suffix used as a meaningless embellishment of a word. A highly affected style of speaking invented and marketed with limited success by jazz musician Slim Gaillard US, 1946 around the world noun 1 the oral stimulation of all parts of a partner's body US, 1951. 2 in Keno, a bet made on the numbers found in the eight corners of a Keno ticket – 1, 10, 31, 40, 41, 50, 71 and 80 US, 1969 arrest-me-red noun a bright red colour of paint on a car, bound to attract the attention and interest of law enforcement US, 1992 arrow noun an amphetamine tablet US, 1993. ► bust an arrow; blow an arrow in a carnival or small circus, to become lost when travelling from one town to another. In the past, advance men would paste arrows along the roadside to show the way to the next stop; if you missed an arrow, you got lost US, 1973. ► like an arrow in poker, said of a sequence of five cards conventionally known as a 'straight' US, 1988 arrow verb to assign a task to someone SINGAPORE, 2002 arrow of desire noun the penis. A poetic image drawn from William Blake's 'Jerusalem', 1808 UK, 2003

'Arry's gators Thank you. A play on Japanese arrigato (thank you) AUSTRALIA, 1958

arse noun 1 the posterior, the buttocks. In conventional usage from Old English until early C18, at which time it was deemed impolite language and began a celebrated existence in slang, rarely appearing in print with all four letters in place. It was not until 1860 that the American Ass appeared. The spelling in Australia is 'arse', but pronounced with a long 'a' and no 'r'. Since the 1980s there has been some encroachment of the American 'ass', but this is still strongly associated with the US UK, c1000. 2 the base, the bottom; the tail end; the seat of a pair of trousers AUSTRALIA, 1945. 3 yourself, your body or person UK, 1979. 4 a fool; a despicable person AUSTRALIA, 1944. 5 boldness, gall, gumption, impudence; hence, luck as a result of this AUSTRALIA, 1958. 6 dismissal, especially from a job; rejection. Generally with verbs 'give' and 'get' AUSTRALIA, 1955. ► ask me arse used when refusing to cooperate or when withholding information. Other variations used are: 'ask me bollix', 'ask me sack', 'ask me left one'. ('Me' is a common Hiberno-English pronunciation for 'my'.) IRELAND, 1991. ► get off your arse; get off your ass to start doing something. Often in the imperative UK, 1979. ► get your arse in gear to start making an effort UK, 2000. ► make an arse of to make a mess of something; to botch something UK, SCOTLAND, 1996. ► not know your arse from a hole in the ground to be completely ignorant (of a given subject) UK, 1982. ► not know your arse from your elbow to be ignorant UK, 1930. ► on your arse in dire straits, especially financial US, 1917. ► out on your arse ejected, evicted, expelled. A variation of 'out on your ear' UK, 1998. ► put on the arse bit to indignantly tell someone what you think of him or her AUSTRALIA, 1975. ► take it up the arse to submit to a more powerful force UK, 2000. ► the arse drops out of; the arse falls out of (of a financial venture) to fail dismally AUSTRALIA, 1969. ► up someone's arse very close behind, in close proximity UK, 1997. ► up your own arse very self-involved UK, 2000. ► you couldn't find your arse with both hands you are stupid UK, 1999. ► your arse is nippin buttons you are nervous, you are full of trepidation UK, SCOTLAND, 1988. ► your arse off to a great degree; vigorously. Used to intensify verb meanings, thus 'to work your arse off' means 'to work hard'; very common with the verb 'work' and the verb 'fuck' and its synonyms UK, 1972

arse verb 1 to make a mess of something, to botch something UK, SCOTLAND, 1996. 2 to eat something greedily, to consume something quickly UK, SCOTLAND, 1996. 3 of a vehicle, to reverse UK, 1959 arse adjective inferior, shoddy, valueless, unpleasant, disliked for whatever reason UK, 2002

arse about adjective back to front AUSTRALIA, 1979

arse about; arse around verb to idle, to fool about UK, 1664

arse about face adjective back to front UK, 1984

arse all noun nothing, nothing at all. On the model of FUCK ALL (nothing) UK, 2002

arse bandido noun a male homosexual, especially the active partner in anal sex. Derogatory UK, 2001

arse biscuit noun a fart. A variation of AIR BISCUIT UK, 2003

arse cleavage; arsehole cleavage noun the cleft between the buttocks when partially displayed above a slipped-down trouser waistband UK, 2002

arse crawler noun a sycophant. Often reduced to CRAWLER UK, 1937

arse cress noun the hair surrounding the anus UK, 2002 arsed adjective bothered; worried. Popularised since the mid-1990s by television situation comedy The Royle Family UK, 1999

-arsed; -arse suffix used to intensify a characteristic UK, 2000

arse end; a-end noun 1 the back or tail end AUSTRALIA, 1955. 2 the end, the final part UK, 1942

arse-first adverb back-to-front AUSTRALIA, 1962

arsefuck verb to engage in anal sex AUSTRALIA, 1998

arse fucker noun a male who takes the active role in anal sex AUSTRALIA, 1996

arse grapes noun haemorrhoids UK, 1997 arsehole noun 1 the anus. Literally the hole in the ARSE (buttocks, posterior); use ranges from the anatomically correct e.g. 'itchy arsehole' to the barely feasible or figurative suggestions associated with 'stick it up your arsehole' UK, 1400. 2 by extension, a despised person. Widely used in the UK and Australia, it is a stronger term than ASSHOLE, the US equivalent from which it derives UK, 1977. 3 courage, nerve UK, 2001. ► get the arsehole with someone; have the arsehole with someone to become, or be, annoyed with someone UK, 2002

arsehole verb 1 to dismiss someone, especially from employment; to reject someone AUSTRALIA, 1950. 2 to go, to leave UK, 1982 arsehole crawler noun a sycophant. An extension of ARSE CRAWLER, often reduced to CRAWLER UK, 1961

arsehole creeper noun a sycophant. A variation of ARSEHOLE CRAWLER UK, 1984

arseholed adjective very drunk UK, 1984

arsehole lucky adjective extremely lucky UK, 1999

arsehole mouth noun tightly pursed lips UK, 2005 arseholes noun ► give someone arseholes to attack someone with vigour NEW ZEALAND, 1968 arseholes! used as a general exclamation of rejection, frustration or criticism. Occasionally extended as 'arseholes to you!' UK, 1937 arsehole street noun an unpleasant place to be; serious trouble. You can be 'in' or 'up' arsehole street UK, 1984

arse-holing adjective used as an intensifier UK, 1966 arse in a sling noun a state of defeat or depression. Usually phrased 'have (get) your arse in a sling' or 'your arse is in a sling'. From the obsolete 'eye in a sling' UK, 1967 arse-lick verb to behave in a sycophantic manner UK, 1968

arse-licker noun a sycophant UK, 1938

arse-licking; ass-licking adjective obsequious UK, 1912

arse like a wizard's sleeve noun an unusually loose rectum and anus UK, 2002

arse luck noun very bad luck indeed SINGAPORE, 2002

Arsenal noun ► Arsenal are playing at home; Arsenal are at home the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. A euphemism based on the colour of blood. Arsenal, a London football team, play in red shirts; as other teams also play in red this is probably also a pun on arse 'n' all (the genitals) UK, 2000 arseness noun annoying stupidity TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1979

arsenut noun a small, hardened lump of excrement that clings to the hair around the anus UK, 2003

arse over bollocks adverb head over heels. A variation of ARSE OVER TIT UK, 1998

arse over head adverb head over heels AUSTRALIA, 1962

arse over tit adverb head over heels UK, 1922

arse over turtle adverb head over heels AUSTRALIA, 1955

arse paper noun any person or thing of limited use NEW ZEALAND, 1998

arse-polishing noun any office job. In military use UK, 1949 arsetronaut noun a male homosexual. An allusion to anal sex NEW ZEALAND, 2002 arse up verb to bungle something, to make a mess of something. First recorded in adjectival or adverbial form as 'arse up with care' in 1937 UK, 1937

arse-up adjective dead, finished, out of operation UK, 2001

arse-up adverb upside down AUSTRALIA, 1994

arse upwards adverb back to front; upside down UK, 1984

arseways adverb incorrectly done, wrongly positioned IRELAND, 1992

arsewise adjective absurd, foolish, mistaken, wrong UK, 1962

arsey adjective 1 lucky. From TIN ARSE AUSTRALIA, 1950. 2 moody. Also variant 'arsy' UK, 1997

arsey boo adjective chaotic, unorganised NEW ZEALAND, 1988

arsy-varsy; arsy-versy adverb back-to-front; upside-down; perversely UK, 1539 arsy-versy adjective homosexual. From ARSY-VARSY (perversely) playing on ARSE (the bottom) as a stereotypical object of homosexual attraction. The Sunday Times, 22nd August 1976, published a letter that preferred the use of GAY to 'arsy-versy' UK, 1976

Artful Dodger noun the penis. Rhyming slang for TODGER, formed from a light-fingered character in Charles Dickens' Oliver Twist UK, 2003

Artful Dodger nickname Roger Staubach (b 1942), a dominant quarterback at the college and professional levels in the 1960s and 70s. A two-for-one nickname, rhyming 'Dodger' with 'Roger' and alluding to the Dickens character US, 1963

Arthur noun arthritis. Used by North Sea trawlermen UK, 1974

Arthur Ashe; Arthur noun cash. Rhyming slang, based on the name of tennis champion Arthur Ashe, 1943–93 UK, 1992

Arthur Bliss noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for PISS, formed from classical composer Sir Arthur Bliss, 1891–1975 UK, 2003

Arthur Duffy noun ► take it on the Arthur Duffy to leave quickly. A sprinter, in 1902 Duffy was the first to run the 100-yard dash in 9.6 seconds; he later wrote a sports column for the Boston Post US, 1905

Arthur Fowler noun a fart. Rhyming slang for GROWLER; Arthur Fowler was a character who appeared in BBC television soap opera EastEnders UK, 2003

Arthur Lowe; Arthur noun no. Glasgow rhyming slang, formed from the name of the English actor, 1915–82, who is fondly remembered for Dad's Army, 1968–77 UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

artic noun an articulated lorry UK, 1951 artichoke noun LSD. From the code name for the drug devised by the Central Intelligence Agency during its early experimentation with the drug US, 2001 article noun a person, usually of a type denoted. Jocular, derogatory UK, 1811 artificial noun an object the name of which escapes the speaker at the moment BARBADOS, 1965 artillery noun 1 guns US, 1822. 2 in boxing, heavy blows US, 1954. 3 in other sports, something accomplished from a distance US, 1957. 4 the equipment needed to inject a drug US, 1915. 5 strict discipline; a greater power US, 1954. 6 baked beans, or any food producing flatulence US, 1916 artillery ears noun partial deafness caused by exposure to the loud noise of the artillery US, 1982

artish noun an issue of a single-interest fan magazine containing mostly illustrations US, 1982 artist noun 1 a person who is proficient at the activity that precedes AUSTRALIA, 1889. 2 a person who is devoted to, or especially proficient in, a reprehensible activity US, 1890 artist for the government noun a person who draws unemployment insurance payments CANADA, 1993 arts noun ► the arts martial arts BERMUDA, 1985

artsy adjective artistic in a pretentious, vulgar way UK, 1955 artsy-craftsy adjective pretentiously artistic but not notably useful or comfortable UK, 1902

artsy-fartsy adjective excessively arty US, 1964

arty noun artillery US, 1864

arty-farty adjective pretentious, artificially cultural US, 1967

arty roller noun a collar. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1945

arva; harva noun sexual intercourse. Derives from Romany charva (to interfere with). Anal intercourse is the FULL HARVA UK, 2002

Arvin noun any South Vietnamese soldier. The South Vietnamese Army was known as the ARVN (Army of the Republic of Viet Nam); it took one vowel and very little imagination to get to Arvin US, 1966

ARVN attitude noun cowardice. Not particularly kind to the South Vietnamese Army (ARVN) US, 1991

arvo noun afternoon. From the first syllable of 'afternoon' (with voicing of the 'f') and -o suffix. Extremely common colloquially, usually in the phrase 'this arvo', giving rise to the common reanalysis 'the sarvo'. Other forms, rare in print, are 'afto', the simple 'arve' and also 'aftie' and 'arvie' AUSTRALIA, 1927

as as can be AUSTRALIA, 1996

as all get out as can be AUSTRALIA, 1964 asap; ASAP 1 as soon as possible. Originally military, either spoken as an acronym spelt out and stressed or vocalised as 'a-sap' in the US, 'assap' in the UK US, 1955. 2 as slowly as possible. Facetious, bitter variant on 'as soon as possible' CANADA, 2002 asbestos pants noun in poker, used for describing what a player on a very good streak of luck needs US, 1988

A-sex noun sex experienced while under the influence of amphetamine US, 1975 ash noun marijuana. The dropped 'h' of the London accent causes a punning variant on HASH UK, 1990s ash verb to drop cigarette ash AUSTRALIA, 1930

ashcan noun 1 a depth charge US, 1918. 2 a small, powerful, cylindrical firecracker US, 1970. 3 in the television and film industries, an arc light roughly shaped like a rubbish bin US, 1942

Ashcan City nickname during the Korean war, a US Army processing centre eight miles from Inchon. From ASCOM (Army Service Command) to 'Ascom City' to 'Ashcan City' US, 1994

ash cash noun a fee paid to doctors for signing a cremation form. Medical slang UK, 2001 as he has to be adverb used as an intensifier. Follows an adjective, such as 'fine as he has to be' US, 1997 ashes noun marijuana US, 1977. ► get your ashes hauled to be brought to ejaculation US, 1906 ashtray noun the desert. Gulf war usage US, 1991

Asian moll noun a prostitute with an Asian customer base US, 1982

Asian two-step noun any highly venomous snake encountered in the jungles of Southeast Asia. From the belief that the venom will kill the victim within two steps of the bite US, 1966

Asiatic adjective deranged US, 1955

Asia West nickname Richmond, a town in British Columbia CANADA, 2002

as if! used as a humorous expression of extreme scepticism US, 1981 ask noun 1 a request. Generally in the collocation 'big ask' AUSTRALIA, 1994. 2 the asking price for a racehorse. A horse with a 'big ask' is deemed by the speaker to be over-priced AUSTRALIA, 1989 ask verb ► ask for six and go airborne to request the rotation travel allowance of six cents a mile in order to fly home US, 1991.

► ask the question to ask someone to have sex GUYANA, 1996.
► ask what you have to sell to invite sex BARBADOS, 1996

ask yourself! be reasonable! AUSTRALIA, 1942 as like as not adverb ► see: LIKE AS NOT as my pappy would say... used as a humorous introduction or segue. A signature line from Maverick, an early and popular television Western (ABC, 1957–62). Repeated with referential humour US, 1957 asparagus noun 1 a boy's penis. From the language of child pornography US, 2003. 2 in horse racing, a bettor who arrives at the track with an armful of racing forms. From the observation that the bettor 'has more tips than a tin of asparagus' AUSTRALIA, 1989 aspendicitis noun a notional medical condition of a symptomatic need to spend money. A humorous diagnosis, playing on 'spend' and 'appendicitis'. The earliest use is as the title of a 1961 jazz composition by Peter Shickele US, 1961 asphalt eater noun a drag racer who performs well US, 1964 asphalt jungle noun a large city. The title of a 1949 book by W. R. Burnett as well as an ABC television series starring Jack Warden in 1961 US, 1920 asphalt pilot noun a truck driver US, 1976 aspirin smoke noun a cigarette adulterated with crushed aspirin, providing a drug-like effect US, 1992

aspro noun ► see: ASS PRO ass noun 1 the buttocks, the posterior US, 1853. 2 the vagina UK, 1684. 3 sex; a person as a sexual object US, 1910. 4 the self, a person US, 1945. 5 a fool. From the level of intelligence stereotypically credited to the animal UK, 1578. ► ass on fire said of a person who is either angry or rushed US, 1983. ► bring ass to kick ass to have the courage needed to fight someone US, 1990. ► bust your ass to hurry, to exert yourself, to work extremely hard US, 1941. ► case of the ass anger, frustration. Vietnam war usage US, 1968. ► eat someone's ass out to berate someone US, 1996. ► in ass in trouble TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1980. ► take it in the ass to take the passive role in anal intercourse US, 1983. ► up your ass! up your arse! an expression of contempt, rejection or derision US, 1956. ► your ass is grass used for conveying the state of being in great trouble US, 1956. ► your ass off greatly intensifies the effort made in doing something US, 1946 ass verb to engage in prostitution US, 1991 ass adjective terrible, bad US, 1992

-ass; -assed suffix used as an intensifier for the preceding adjective or adverb US, 1903 ass-and-trash noun during the Vietnam war, people and cargo to be transported by aeroplane US, 1983 ass-ass verb to humiliate yourself US, 2002 ass backwards adverb in reverse order US, 1942 ass bandit; arse bandit; asshole bandit noun a male homosexual, especially the active partner in anal sex. Usually derogatory, combines ASS with 'bandit' – or 'brigand', conventionally a generally romantic image of a villain who will take what he wants US, 1968 ass bite noun harsh criticism US, 1973 ass-blow verb to lick, suck and tongue another's anus US, 1941 ass bucket noun a despised person US, 1953 ass burglar noun the active partner in anal sex; more generally, a male homosexual US, 1979 ass cache noun a supply of drugs hidden in the rectum US, 1992 ass chewing noun a harsh reprimand or scold US, 1954 ass cunt noun the anus. Analogised to a vagina US, 1974 assed out adjective in severe trouble US, 1993 ass end noun the least desirable part of anything US, 1947 ass ends noun the differentials of a truck tractor US, 1961 ass English noun the body movements and incantations of a dice shooter who believes that he can control the roll of the dice US, 1950 assets noun the genitals, especially the male genitals UK, 1998 ass fuck noun 1 anal sex US, 1940. 2 a despicable person US, 2001 ass-fuck verb to engage in anal sex, especially in the active role US, 1940 ass fucker noun the active partner in anal sex US, 1979 ass fucking noun anal sex US, 1970 ass gasket noun a disposable paper toilet seat cover US, 1994 ass hammer noun a motorcycle US, 1975

asshole noun 1 the anus US, 1935. 2 a fool; a person held in contempt US, 1933. 3 in logging and power line work, a kink in a cable US, 1959.
► from asshole to appetite all over, in all parts US, 1964.
► your asshole's sucking wind you are talking nonsense US, 1961 asshole bandit noun ► see: ASS BANDIT

asshole buddy noun a very close friend US, 1945 asshole naked adjective completely naked US, 1969 asshole of creation noun a remote, desolate place US, 1964 asshole of the world; arsehole of the world noun the most despised place, area or location. Other embellishments include 'arsehole of the universe' or 'of the nation' US, 1949 assholes noun ► assholes and elbows said of a chaotic situation US, 1987 asshole to belly button adjective said of people pressed close together, one behind the other US, 1973 ass hound noun a man who obsessively engages in the pursuit of women for sex US, 1952 assified adjective 1 foolish BARBADOS, 1965. 2 pompous GUYANA, 1996 ass in a sling in deep trouble US, 1990 ass-in-the-grass test noun a rough approximation of the percentage of troops actually in combat at a given moment. Used in the Vietnam war US, 1990 assishness noun pure stupidity TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 ass kickers noun heavy work shoes or boots US, 1996 ass-kiss verb to behave in an ingratiatingly sycophantic manner US, 1961 ass-kisser; arse-kisser noun a sycophant. Combines ARSE/ASS (the buttocks) with conventional 'kisser'. As a demonstration of subservience the image is much older than the term; it can be seen in C16 woodcuts of devil-worshippers lifting the goat's tail to plant their kisses US, 1766 ass-kissing noun sycophantic or ingratiating behaviour US, 1942 ass-kissing adjective sycophantic US, 1942 ass-licking adjective ► see: ARSE-LICKING ass man; arse man noun a man who considers that the (suggestive) appearance of a woman's posterior provides the supreme initial sexual attraction US, 1972 ass munch noun a person who is easily despised US, 1996 assmuncher noun a despised person US, 2003 as soon as adverb as soon as possible. A shortening of the conventional phrase UK, 2000 ass out verb to make a fool of yourself CANADA, 2002 ass-out adverb extremely US, 1995 ass over tea kettle; ass over tea cups adverb head over heels US, 1948 ass peddler noun a male prostitute US, 1979 ass pro; asspro; aspro noun a male homosexual prostitute. A combination of ASS and 'pro(stitute)', but note Aspro™ the branded analgesic AUSTRALIA, 1955 ass queen noun a homosexual man who is particularly attracted to other men's buttocks US, 1978 ass ripper noun a difficult course or test US, 1968 ass's gallop noun a brief period of time IRELAND, 2003 ass time noun time wasted sitting around US, 1994 assume verb ► assume the angle; assume the position to kneel for punishment doled out as part of a hazing ritual US, 1940 asswipe; arsewipe noun 1 toilet paper US, 1958. 2 by extension, a despicable or offensive person US, 1952

A-state nickname Arkansas US, 2002

asterisks noun used as an all-purpose euphemism for any potentially offensive noun, singular or plural. From the publishers' convention of replacing offensive words or parts of words with an * for each missing letter UK, 2003

as the feller says used for introducing a statement which the speaker does not necessarily accept US, 1975 as the skua flies in a straight line. Antarctica's adaptation of the common 'as the crow flies', using instead the South Pole's predatory gull as the bird in question ANTARCTICA, 1936

Astor's pet horse noun used in comparisons with a person, especially a woman, who is over-dressed US, 1950 astronaut noun the buttocks or anus US, 2003 astro turf noun marijuana UK, 2003 as you do as you do (but perhaps shouldn't). A conversational interjection used to make a comic admission of some odd behaviour AUSTRALIA, 1996 as you were used for the retraction of a preceding statement. From the military drill command UK, 1864

atari noun crack cocaine US, 1993

A-Team noun the basic functional unit of the US Special Forces in Vietnam, consisting of 10 to 12 trained commandos US, 1990 ate out adjective (of trousers) worn, baggy, saggy US, 2002 ate up adjective 1 in the US Air Force, dedicated to service US, 1998. 2 in the US Army, confused, dim US, 1998

Athenian noun in homosexual usage, an anal sex enthusiast US, 1987

-athon suffix used to create a word suggesting the root word activity carried on for a long period of time. From 'marathon' US, 1934 at it adjective 1 engaged in criminal activity UK, 1970. 2 engaged in sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1972

ATL nickname Atlanta, Georgia US, 2002

ATM noun a generous person. From the most common US name for a bank's automatic teller machine US, 1997 a toda madre! excellent! Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1974 atom bomb noun ► see: A-BOMB atom-bombo noun a cheap but very potent wine. A play on the power of the atom bomb, intensifying BOMBO (a fortified wine) AUSTRALIA, 1953 atomic noun a cigar-sized marijuana cigarette US, 1953 atomic adjective (of a drug) very-powerful US, 1971

A-town nickname Atlanta, Georgia US, 1995

atshitshi noun marijuana. disguised by using a variant of 'secret language' Pig Latin SOUTH AFRICA, 1977

attaboy noun praise, especially from a boss US, 1970 attack noun ► attack of the slows in horse racing, an imaginary illness that plagues a horse midway through a race US, 1951 attagirl! used for encouraging a female US, 1924 attention noun ► jump to attention; spring to attention to achieve an erection. From military drill, in use after World War 2 UK, 1984 attic noun a drug addict. A phonetic corruption US, 1992 attic hand noun in oil drilling, the worker who handles the drill pipe US, 1954 attitude noun 1 aggressive or antagonistic behaviour US, 1975. 2 an air of detached superiority US, 1994 attitude adjustment noun a change in outlook produced by alcohol, threats or other inducements US, 1984 attitude arrest noun an arrest motivated by the subject's lack of respect towards the arresting police officer US, 1992 attitude test noun the extremely subjective criteria used by a traffic police officer in deciding whether to issue a traffic ticket or let the offending driver off with a warning US, 1984 atto- prefix used as a diminishing intensifier. Literally meaning 'ten to the power of negative eighteen' US, 1997

au contraire adverb to the contrary. French used by those who speak no French; adds a camp tone US, 1955 auction gale noun an equinoctial gale. 'Auction' echoes the sound of 'equinoctial' CANADA, 1999

Audi noun ► to be audi to leave US, 1992

Audi 5000 adjective already gone US, 1998

Audi 5000! goodbye. Playing on 'Audi' and 'out of here' US, 1991

Audie nickname the voice that announced the time on telephone time services US, 1955

auger in verb to crash an aeroplane US, 1957 augustus noun a male homosexual. A roundabout allusion to anal intercourse; Augustus Gloop is a character in Charlie and the Chocolate Factory, Roald Dahl, filmed as Willie Wonka and the Chocolate Factory, 1971. At the climax of the story Augustus is sucked up a chocolate pipe UK, 2002 auld lang syne noun mutual, simultaneous oral sex between two people. Rhyming slang for 69 formed from the song that people enjoy once a year. UK, 2003

auld wan noun ▷ see: OUL ONE au naturel adjective naked. French used by those who speak no French; informal, jocular, affected US, 1967 aunt noun the manager of a brothel UK, 1960

Aunt Bettie noun an overly cautious person US, 1945

Aunt Ella noun an umbrella. Rhyming slang UK, 1960

Aunt Emma noun 1 used as a personification of a matronly aunt US, 1947. 2 in croquet, a cautious, conservative, dull player US, 1977

Aunt Fanny nickname the Federal Communications Commission US, 1976

Aunt Flo noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1954

Aunt Flo from Red River noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle CANADA, 2001

Aunt Haggie's children noun any stupid, lazy, despised people BERMUDA, 1985

Aunt Hazel noun marijuana US, 2001

auntie noun 1 an older, effeminate male homosexual. A tad cruel, if not derogatory US, 1930. 2 a disoriented unlambd ewe that thinks she has lambd and steals the lamb of another NEW ZEALAND, 1999. 3 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Also variant 'aunty' NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992

Auntie; Aunty nickname the British Broadcasting Corporation UK, 1962

Auntie Ena noun a cleaner. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Auntie Lily adjective silly. Rhyming slang UK, 1945 auntie man noun 1 a man who is completely dominated by his wife TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. 2 an effeminate man, especially a homosexual GUYANA, 1996

Auntie Nellie; Aunty Nelly noun the belly. Rhyming slang; sometimes shortened to 'aunty' UK, 1961

Auntie Wicky nickname Queen Victoria BAHAMAS, 1982

Aunt Jane's room noun an outdoor toilet US, 1939

Aunt Jemima noun a black woman who seeks approval from white people by obsequious behaviour. Ironically, singer/actor Ethel Ernestine Harper, who portrayed Aunt Jemima in pancake commercials from 1948 until 1966, was by all accounts anything but the stereotypical subservient black woman US, 1966

Aunt Julia noun communist propaganda. Possibly from a code word passed to Communist stevedores on waterfronts to indicate the shipment of communist printed material is aboard ship' US, 1953

Aunt Maggie noun ► out Aunt Maggie's window (used of a homerun) out of the ballpark US, 1962

Aunt Mary noun marijuana. MARY is a familiar pun on 'marijuana' US, 1959

Aunt Nell noun the ear. Usually as a plural UK, 2002

Aunt Nell verb to listen. Often an imperative UK, 1992

Aunt Nelly fake noun an earring. A combination of AUNT NELL (the ear) and 'fake' (an artificial thing); usually as a plural UK, 1997

Aunt Nora noun cocaine US, 1994

Aunt Ruby noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2002

Aunt Thomasina noun 1 a black woman who curries favour with white people by obsequious behaviour. An echo of the much more commonly heard UNCLE TOM US, 1963. 2 a woman who does not support feminism US, 1970

Aunt Tillie; Aunt Tilly noun 1 used as the personification of a fussy old maid US, 1960. 2 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1999

Aunt Tom noun a woman who does not support the goals of feminism. An attempt to link semantically the struggle of women with the struggle of black slaves by borrowing from the well-known UNCLE TOM US, 1968

Aunty Nelly noun ▷ see: AUNTIE AND VARIANTS

aurora borealis noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1977

Aussie noun 1 Australia. From Australia and '-ie' suffix. Pronounced 'ozzie', not 'ossie', the common mistake made by north Americans. Generally used positively with a sense of national pride in all meanings AUSTRALIA, 1915. 2 an Australian. Originally used of Australian soldiers in World War 1 AUSTRALIA, 1918. 3 Australian English AUSTRALIA, 1945. 4 the Australian dollar AUSTRALIA, 1956

Aussie adjective Australian AUSTRALIA, 1915

Aussie haka; Australian haka noun a gesture showing that you have no money to pay for the next round of drinks at a pub NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Aussie kiss noun oral-genital stimulation. Described as 'similar to a French Kiss, but given down under' UK, 2002

Aussie steak noun mutton US, 1947

Australia noun an ounce of marijuana or other drug. Punning the abbreviation 'oz' (ounce) with the familiar diminutive 'Oz' (Australia) UK, 2003

Australian noun 1 Australian English. Jocularly seen as a separate language from British English, or other varieties of English AUSTRALIA, 1902. 2 a practitioner of mouth-to-anus sex. From a somewhat forced 'down under' joke US, 1979

Australian days noun night-work UK, 1970

Australian salute noun a hand-movement brushing flies away from the face AUSTRALIA, 1972

Australian yo noun in craps, a roll of three. A roll of three is rarely a good thing, and is usually best face-down; if a three is face-down, an eleven is face-up. Eleven is 'yo', with the three thus 'down-under the yo' US, 1999

Austrian Oak nickname ▷ see: OAK auto adjective automatic. A colloquial abbreviation US, 1995 autocutie noun an attractive but incompetent television presenter. A compound of 'autocue' and CUTIE (an attractive young woman) UK, 2003 auto-getem noun automatic weapons fire. Broken down – 'auto-matic fire gets 'em' US, 1972 automagically adverb in computing, in an automatic but explanation-defying complicated fashion US, 1981 automatic tongue-wiper noun a sycophant or toady US, 1977

automaton noun in poker, a player who bets and plays in an extremely predictable manner US, 1996 autumn leaves noun in horse racing, a steeplechase jockey who has suffered a series of falls. A shameless pun AUSTRALIA, 1989

AV nickname Telegraph Avenue, Berkeley, California US, 1966

Ava Gardner adjective avant-garde UK, 1983

Avenue noun ► the Avenue 1 Fifth Avenue in New York. In gay use. Fifth Avenue was, in the 1940s and 50s, favoured by homosexual prostitutes US, 1940s to 50s. 2 Telegraph Avenue, Berkeley, California US, 1966 average adjective mediocre; not the best; just plain dreadful AUSTRALIA, 1981

avgas noun jet fuel US, 1990 aviator noun in trucking, a driver who drives very fast US, 1971 awake adjective sexually aroused US, 1985 awake adjective to aware of a secret plan, trick, deception or the like; aware of a person's deceitful character or hidden agenda. Now generally A WAKE-UP TO AUSTRALIA, 1954

a wake-up adjective alert; knowing; wise to. There is some confusion about whether this idiom should be construed nominally with 'a' being the article and 'wake-up' being a noun, meaning 'an alert person, a person who knows what's what', or adjectivally as defined here. The earliest evidence (from 1916) supports the noun theory, but since the 1940s it has become impossible to definitely determine the part of speech in print as it is found spelt variously as 'a wake-up', 'a wakeup', 'awake up' and 'awake-up'. The fact that the plural form 'wake-ups' is only attested by a solitary citation from 1943 suggests that it is now conceived of as an adjectival phrase however it may be spelt AUSTRALIA, 1916

a wake-up to aware of a secret plan, trick, deception or the like; aware of a person's deceitful character or hidden agenda AUSTRALIA, 1944 away adjective 1 in prison. Euphemistic UK, 1909. 2 overseas BARBADOS, 1965. 3 crazy UK; SCOTLAND, 1988. 4 in bar dice games, counting for nothing. A call of 'aces away' would mean that rolls of one have no point value US, 1976 away laughing adjective in a good position, especially when embarking on a new venture NEW ZEALAND, 1965 awesome adjective great, excellent. An informal variation of the conventional sense US, 1975 awfuck disease noun the sense of dread that you feel the morning after doing something that you, upon reflection, wished you had not done. Used in jokes more than in real life, with the punch-line a variation on 'Aw fuck, why did I do that?' US, 2001 awful adverb very UK, 1818 awkward squad noun collectively, people who do not, or will not, conform; a notional grouping of people who are 'difficult' UK, 1796

AWOL; awol adjective missing. Military coinage, from 'absent without leave'; now widely applied, both as initialism or acronym, to most circumstances where permission for absence would be required UK, 1920

AWOL bag noun in the Korea and Vietnam wars, an overnight bag US, 1956 ax; axe noun 1 a musical instrument, especially an electric guitar. Originally used in jazz circles for any instrument, particularly a saxophone or trumpet, instruments on which 'chops' (musical figures) are played; surely 'axe' was coined as a pun. The word itself suggests a chopper, a tool that you can carry over your shoulder – to many jazz and, subsequently, rock musicians, their instrument is exactly that US, 1955. 2 any sharp-edged weapon US, 1950. 3 a knife used or intended for use as a weapon US, 1972.

4 dismissal from employment. Usually heard in the phrases 'get the axe' or 'give the axe' US, 1883. 5 in a gambling operation, the house's cut of the bets US, 1974. 6 the lip of a wave US, 1991. ► get the axe in surfing, to be knocked off your board by a wave US, 1957 axe god noun a popular electric-guitar player who inspires hero-worship with his musical technique. Based on AXE (a guitar). The graffito 'Clapton is God', deifying the popular guitarist Eric Clapton (b.1945), was widespread in the late 1960s UK, 1999 axe handle noun an imprecise unit of measurement, especially when applied to the breadth of a man's shoulders or woman's buttocks US, 1947 axe handle party noun a riot or brawl US, 110 axe hero noun a popular electric-guitar player who inspires hero-worship with his musical technique. Based on AXE (a guitar) UK, 1996 axe man noun 1 an electric guitarist; rarely, any musician. Based on AXE (a guitar or any instrument) UK, 1976. 2 a person who decides when a company will discharge an employee TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1975 axe-wound noun the vagina UK, 2003 axle grease noun 1 money. Probably because 'it makes the wheels go round' AUSTRALIA, 1943. 2 any particularly thick and sticky hair pomade. Known and used in the UK, US and Australia AUSTRALIA, 1943 aye, doogie aye used for expressing disbelief in whatever you have just been told. An elaboration of 'aye' (yes) spoken with irony heavy enough to mean 'no'. Several variations including: 'aye Hawkeye', 'aye, hooch-aye'; 'aye, Popeye' and 'aye, that eye' UK; SCOTLAND, 1988 ayemer noun (from television) a morning show. This term is thought to have been imported into Canada, from the US Variety magazine CANADA, 2002

'ay is for 'orses; hay is for horses used as a disdainful rejoinder when someone says 'eh?' or 'hey!'. This, the oldest of all catchphrases, is recorded in Swift's 'Polite Conversations', 1738 UK, 1738

ayo used as a greeting US, 1995

Ayrton Senna noun a ten pound note. Rhyming slang for 'tenner'; formed from Brazilian Formula-One racing driver Ayrton Senna da Silva, 1963–1994 UK, 2004

Aztec hop; Aztec revenge; Aztec two-step noun diarrhoea suffered by tourists in Mexico US, 1953 azz noun the buttocks. A variation of ASS US, 2002

Bb

B noun 1 Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1986. 2 a matchbox full of marijuana US, 1971. 3 a buddy, a brother; used as an address for a fellow black man; used as an address for a fellow of either sex. Initialism US, 1995. 4 a bastard AUSTRALIA, 1921. 5 a Cadillac Brougham car US, 1980. ► put the B on to ask for money for sex after giving the appearance of being seduced US, 1954

B adjective 1 used as an intensifier. A euphemistic abbreviation of BLOODY or BASTARD, sometimes shown in print with leader dots or asterisks representing the missing letters UK, 1926. 2 (used of a film) second-tier in terms of actors and budget US, 1946. 3 in the written shorthand of the Internet and text message, fulfilling the masculine role in a homosexual (male or female) relationship. Short for BUTCH UK, 2004

B1 noun ► do a B1; do a bee wan to go somewhere else, to change direction. This derives from the bureaucracy that governs unemployment benefit; if you are in need of immediate support when you first register unemployed you will be issued with a form B1 (an application for Income Support) which is administered at a different location UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

B2B adjective (used of a business transaction) between two businesses US, 1999

B-40 noun a cigar laced with marijuana and dipped in malt liquor. Possibly named for the appearance and/or effects of the B-40 grenade launcher used by the Viet Cong during the Vietnam war US, 1998

B-52 noun a powerful amphetamine tablet US, 1993

BA noun 1 nothing whatsoever. A euphemistic abbreviation of BUGGER ALL, often elaborated as SWEET BA UK, 1961. 2 a bare ass. Usually in the context of exposing the buttocks to shock or amuse US, 1970. ► hang a BA to expose your bare ass US, 1970 baadass; baaadasss adjective very bad, very dangerous US, 1971 baba-bing; ba-da-bring ► see: BADDA BING babblor noun a sheep camp-cook. An abbreviation of the rhyming slang BABBLING BROOK NEW ZEALAND, 1919 babbling noun cooking. After BABBLING BROOK (a cook). There is no record of 'babble' (to cook) but its existence is surely implied US, 1962 babbling brook noun 1 a gossip, a chatty person US, 1913. 2 a cook. Rhyming slang. In early use very common among shearers, stockmen and soldiers AUSTRALIA, 1904. 3 a criminal. Rhyming slang for 'crook'. Can be shortened to 'babblor'. AUSTRALIA, 1919

babbo noun a naive, law-abiding citizen US, 1992 babe noun 1 an attractive young woman US, 1905. 2 an attractive young male US, 1973. 3 used as a term of address US, 1906 babe alert noun a notification that there are attractive people nearby AUSTRALIA, 1996 babelicious adjective extremely sexually attractive. Coined by Mike Myers on the US television programme Saturday Night Live and popularised by the film Wayne's World, 1992 US, 1992

Babe Ruth noun the truth. Prison rhyming slang NEW ZEALAND, 1999

babes noun used as a term of singular address, both general and affectionate UK, 1997. ► the babes; the wee babes used as an expression of appreciation: excellent, good, exactly as required. Glasgow slang. This may well be a product of rhyming slang formed on 'Babes in the Wood'(good) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 babes, parties, tunes used as a humorous assessment of what is important in life. The 'Wayne's World' skits on Saturday Night Live in the 1990s used the mock-Latin motto 'babum, partium, tuneum'. The English 'translation' is repeated with referential humour US, 1994 babies noun dice US, 1974

babo noun nalorphine, a morphine derivative that acts to reverse the effects of morphine and other narcotics US, 1967 baboo noun an Indian man. A term of respect within the culture; a term of disrespect when used by outsiders TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1914

baboon butt noun the red, sore buttocks of someone riding as a passenger on a motorcycle US, 1988 babu noun an East Indian. Also recorded in the Fiji Islands JAMAICA, 1921

baby noun 1 used as a friendly term of address US, 1921. 2 a sweetheart, a girlfriend US, 1839. 3 a prostitute's customer US, 1957. 4 a young, inexperienced male homosexual US, 1954. 5 a young performer new to the pornography industry who looks even younger than he or she is US, 1995. 6 in horse racing, a two-year-old horse US, 1976. 7 in professional wrestling, a wrestler or other participant designed to be an audience favourite. A shortened BABYFACE US, 1999. 8 in the film industry, a screenplay US, 1994. 9 an impressive, large object US, 1907. 10 marijuana US, 1960. 11 a puma or cougar. Circus and hunting usage US, 1946. 12 in the television and film industries, a focused 500 watt light source US, 1960. 13 in poker, a 2, 3, 4 or 5 US, 1979. ► in baby pregnant TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1942

baby 007 noun in the Vietnam war, an investigative agent from the Army Criminal Investigation Division, most likely working undercover to identify drug users US, 1991 baby ass noun someone who is babyish. Teen slang US, 2003 baby batter noun semen US, 1997 baby Benz noun a Mercedes 190 US, 1989 baby bhong noun marijuana US, 1979 baby blue noun a tablet of Viagra, an erection-inducing drug taken recreationally for performance enhancement US, 2002 baby blues noun 1 capsules of the synthetic opiate oxycodone used recreationally US, 2003. 2 blue eyes US, 1957. 3 post-natal depression UK, 1979 baby bonus noun the Canadian family allowance. Also used in Australia CANADA, 1957 baby boomer noun a person born roughly between 1945 and 1955. After World War 2, America and Europe saw a boom in the birthrate US, 1974 baby buggy noun 1 a Mini Metro car. Citizens' band radio slang UK, 1981. 2 a convertible Volkswagen Beetle US, 1992 baby bumper noun a child molester US, 1992 baby burglar noun a young thief UK, 1996 babycakes noun used as a term of endearment US, 1967 baby catcher noun an obstetrician. From an earlier (1937) sense of 'midwife' US, 1970 baby discovers! used as a melodramatic reaction to another's surprise US, 1972 baby doll noun any central nervous system stimulant US, 1955 baby dolls noun pyjamas for girls consisting of a baggy top and a short trouser bottom UK, 1957

babydyke noun a young or inexperienced lesbian US, 1999 babyface noun 1 in professional wrestling, the wrestler designed by the promoters to be the audience favourite in a match US, 1958. 2 by extension, any figure in the professional wrestling industry designed to be cheered or liked by the fans US, 1999. 3 an attractive young woman. Reported by a Jamaican inmate in a UK prison, August 2002 JAMAICA, 2002 baby father; baby daddy noun a woman's boyfriend, live-in lover or unmarried partner, especially when the father of her child JAMAICA, 1987 baby femme adjective (used of a fashion style) suggesting both youthful innocence and sexual abandon US, 1995

babyflot noun a Russian airline created by the breakup of Aeroflot in 1991 CANADA, 2002 baby food noun semen US, 1972 baby fucker noun a child molester US, 1985 baby gangster noun a young member of a youth gang US, 1989 baby grand noun five hundred dollars. Punning on the piano size and a 'grand' as $1000 US, 1963 baby gun noun a short, bullet-shaped surf board designed for big-wave conditions US, 1970 baby habit noun the irregular, unaddicted use of a drug US, 1992 baby hero noun in the Vietnam war, a brave soldier US, 1991

Baby Huey noun a military helicopter. An embellishment of the more common and simpler HUEY, alluding here to a comic strip character US, 1969 baby legs noun in television and film making, a low-legged tripod for supporting lights US, 1987 baby life noun a prison sentence of at least ten years US, 2002 baby lifter noun a brakeman on a passenger train US, 1946

Babylon noun 1 the white establishment; a symbol of all that is corrupt and evil. From the mystical 'Babylon of the Apocalypse' JAMAICA, 1943. 2 by extension, the United States US, 1972. 3 the police JAMAICA, 1996

Babylonian noun a white person US, 2004

babylons noun the female breasts UK, 2001 baby mix noun short kava drinking sessions, especially on a night before work. Kava is a tranquillising herbal beverage. Recorded by Jan Tent FJI, 1997 baby moon noun in hot rodding, a small, chrome convex wheel cover US, 1993 baby mother noun an unmarried mother JAMAICA, 1989

baby needs a pair of shoes! used for summoning good luck while rolling the dice in craps US, 2003 baby pro noun a very, very young prostitute US, 1961 baby race noun in horse racing, a relatively short race for two-year-old horses US, 1976 baby raper noun a child molester US, 1961 baby rip noun a small current travelling seaward from shore. An abbreviation of 'rip tide' or 'rip current' US, 1990 baby-san noun 1 an East Asian child; a young woman. Coined during the US occupation of Japan, used frequently in Vietnam US, 1954. 2 by extension, used by Vietnamese prostitutes to refer to a virgin and by US troops to refer to an inexperienced, untested soldier US, 1990 baby scratch noun the most basic technique of manipulating a vinyl record to create new music US, 2002 baby shit noun mustard. A Vietnam contribution to the time-honoured and considerable lexicon of derogatory references to food in the armed forces US, 1972 babysit verb 1 to guide a person through an LSD or other hallucinatory drug experience US, 1968. 2 to act as a mentor or protector for newly arrived prisoners US, 1984. 3 to date someone who is substantially younger than you US, 1990

babysitter noun in a fleet, a destroyer accompanying an aircraft carrier US, 1965 baby's leg noun any food, sweet or savoury, that is presented as a pastry roll. School and services use; from the appearance and, surely, a reflection on institutional catering UK, 1935 baby slit noun a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Possibly, a euphemistic rendering of 'little cunt' (a small thing) UK, 2003 baby snatcher noun an adult who is sexually attracted to children or adolescents UK, 1927 baby stealer noun a male or female lover of a much younger or very young person; an older person who prefers such relationships UK, 1937 baby strainer noun a condom UK, 1998 baby T noun crack cocaine US, 1994

baca noun tobacco NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992

bacalao noun the unwashed vagina. From the Spanish for 'codfish' JAMAICA, 1996

baccy; bacco; bacca noun tobacco UK, 1792

bach noun a vacation cottage NEW ZEALAND, 1984

bachelor noun in police work, an officer who works best alone US, 1992 bachelor pad noun the apartment of a young, single, urbane, sophisticated man US, 1976 bachelors' hall noun a residence of unmarried men, originally from a Hudson's Bay trading post building for clerks UK, 1746 bachy; batchy noun 1 a room where a man lives alone or brings women for sex GUYANA, 1996. 2 a small house occupied by a single man TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 back noun 1 an illegal gambling operation. An abbreviation of 'back office' US, 1973. 2 a drink taken immediately after another, a 'chaser' US, 1982. 3 the musical accompaniment which a jazz band gives a soloist US, 1970. 4 support, help US, 1989. 5 the buttocks US, 1993. 6 potency; virility GUYANA, 1996. ► get off someone's back to cease annoying, aggravating, nagging or criticising someone. Often in the exasperated imperative 'Get off my back!' UK, 1961. ► get on someone's back to annoy, aggravate, nag or criticise someone AUSTRALIA, 1959. ► get someone's back; have someone's back to defend or protect someone US, 1990. ► it's got a back to it used of an article that is being lent, stressing that the loaned article must be returned. A catchphrase mainly in London use UK, 1961. ► like the back of a bus; like the back end of a bus ugly, unattractive UK, 1959. ► on your back 1 (of a woman) working as a prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1968. 2 (of a woman) engaged in sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1979. 3 penniless. An Australian variant, 'on the back of your arse', is first recorded in 1961 UK, 1937

► back verb to carry something on your back BAHAMAS, 1982. ► back a tail to engage in anal sex AUSTRALIA, 1973. ► back and fill to vacillate. Nautical imagery, from the term for handling sails to catch and then spill the wind US, 1975. ► back off the course to bet a large amount on something AUSTRALIA, 1965. ► back off the map to bet a large amount on something AUSTRALIA, 1975 back-ah-yard noun in the Caribbean, the West Indies, used for expressing the general concept of home. West Indian and UK black; literally 'back [at] our YARD', UK, 1977

backanahan adjective untrustworthy, underhanded BELIZE, 1996 back and belly noun a very thin person, especially a woman GUYANA, 1996 back and belly adverb entirely, completely TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

back-and-forth noun conversation US, 1976

backasswards adverb in the wrong order US, 1951

backblocker noun a resident of a remote area, especially the area beyond the river gorges in Canterbury and Otago, New Zealand NEW ZEALAND, 1910 backblocks noun remote and sparsely populated land beyond the outskirts of a town or city AUSTRALIA, 1879 back bottom noun the rump or posterior. Used as a counterpart to FRONT BOTTOM AUSTRALIA, 2001

backbreaker noun LSD combined with strychnine UK, 1998

backcap noun an answer US, 1945 backchat noun 1 impudent replies; answering back in an insolent manner. Originally military UK, 1901. 2 sexual badinage; verbal flirting AUSTRALIA, 1963

backchat verb to answer back in an insolent manner AUSTRALIA, 1919

back dex noun amphetamines UK, 2003 back door; backdoor noun 1 the anus and rectum UK, 1694. 2 in sports, the advancement of a team in a playoff situation as a result of the actions of another team US, 1952. 3 in a group motorcycle ride, the last rider in the group, usually the most experienced; the final citizens' band radio user in a convoy US, 1976. 4 a surreptitious way of entering a protected system or website, made possible by a weakness in the system US, 1990. ► go out the back door to back down from a confrontation US, 1987 back-door; backdoor verb 1 to commit adultery US, 1982. 2 in surfing, to start a ride behind the peak of a wave US, 1980. 3 to bypass something; to exclude something CANADA, 1993 back-door; backdoor adjective 1 adulterous US, 1947. 2 in poker, describing an unexpected hand produced by drawing US, 1979 back-door alcoholic noun an alcoholic who admits his alcoholism and joins a twelve-step recovery programme for addicts after initially characterising himself as an enabler of another alcoholic US, 1998 backdoor artist noun a swindler, especially a drug user who deceives other drug users US, 1992 backdoor Betty noun a woman who enjoys anal sex US, 2000 back-door bust noun an arrest for one crime, usually major, after a detention or arrest for another, usually minor US, 1992 back door closed adjective describes a convoy when the final vehicle is looking out for any police interest. Citizen band radio slang US, 1976

backdoorings noun anal intercourse UK, 1997 backdoor parole; backgate parole noun death while serving a prison sentence. A black joke US, 1929 backdoor pensioner noun a sheep dog who is past his working days. The term implies an honourable retirement. A dog of similar years but just a 'bit of an old pooch' would be more likely referred to as a POT-LICKER NEW ZEALAND, 1981 back door trots noun diarrhoea UK, 1801 back-double noun a back street, a side road UK, 1932 back down verb in betting on horse racing, to force the odds on a horse lower through heavy betting US, 1951 back 'em down verb in trucking, to reduce speed US, 1976 backer noun a person who is a frequent participant in anal sex TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 backfield noun the supporting members of a criminal group US, 1970 backfire verb to fart UK, 1998 backflash noun in pinball, the painted glass panel at the front of the machine. Conventionally known as the 'backglass' US, 1977 back flip verb in pinball, to flip the ball to the same side of the playing field as the flipper US, 1977 back forty noun a large, remote piece of land; a backyard. Originally a reference to a farmer's most distant 40-acre parcel; the usage generalised and then became humorous US, 1950 back-forty accent noun country speech CANADA, 1958 back gate exit noun death while in prison US, 1992 backhand adjective in surfing, with your back to the wave AUSTRALIA, 1985

backhandler noun a bribe; a gratuity given surreptitiously UK, 1971 back haul noun on the railways, a return trip US, 1977

backhouse noun an outside toilet, especially without plumbing US, 1984 backhouse flush noun in poker, a very poor hand. From 'backhouse' (an outside toilet) US, 1984

backie noun 1 an act of using someone's bent back as a platform to climb a wall or get over an obstacle UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 2 a ride, as passenger, on the back of a bicycle UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

backings noun in the illegal production of alcohol, low-proof distillate not potent enough to be considered whisky US, 1974 back in the day adverb at a time in the past that evokes a feel of nostalgia, real or conjured US, 1988 back in the saddle; back in the saddle again adjective experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1954 back in the teapot, doormouse! used as an admonition to a child to be quiet CANADA, 2002 backjunk noun a big piece of wood at the back of a fire. Better known in the US as a 'backlog', the name of the 'backjunk' comes from the pronunciation of 'chunk' as 'junk' CANADA, 1958 back light noun the rear window of a car US, 1959 back line noun the wall of amplifiers and speakers behind a rock band in concert US, 1985 backline verb in casino blackjack, to place a bet in another player's square US, 1996

backlip noun impertinence, talking back US, 1959 back-me-up noun a friend who can be counted on for support in a confrontation US, 1984 back number noun a person who is hopelessly out of date US, 1960 back of beyond noun a remote area AUSTRALIA, 1879 back of Bourke noun a remote area. Bourke is a county centre in central New South Wales AUSTRALIA, 1896 back of the yards noun a neighbourhood in Chicago around and behind the now defunct Union Stockyards US, 1982 back-o-wall noun any slum. Originally applied to the slums of west Kingston, Jamaica JAMAICA, 1978 back pack noun a gang insignia tattooed on a gang member's back US, 1992 back passage noun the rectum. Euphemistic UK, 1960 back-pasture hauler noun in trucking, a driver who prefers back roads and smaller motorways US, 1971 back porch noun a late position in a hand of poker US, 1996 back-porch nigger noun an obsequious, fawning black person US, 1971 back rack noun in pinball, the part of the machine that rises as a panel at the front of the machine. Conventionally known as a 'lightbox' US, 1977

backra fire noun electricity GUYANA, 1996

backra-Johnny noun a poor white person BARBADOS, 1996 backroom boy noun a scientific technician, especially if engaged in research that may be secret. Usually used in the plural UK, 1943 backroom job noun a tattoo on a part of the body that is usually clothed US, 1997 back row noun a prison cell used for solitary confinement US, 1984 backs noun money, especially counterfeit money. Probably an abbreviation of GREENBACK US, 1945 back-sack-and-crack-wax noun a male depilatory treatment. 'Sack' is sometimes spelt, more correctly, 'sac', from scrotal sac, and 'n' is occasionally used for 'and' UK, 2003 back-sass noun impudent talking back to an elder US, 1968 back-sass verb to talk back impudently US, 1950 back-scratch verb to remove from a tank enemy soldiers who have climbed onto it, usually by directing light-weapon fire onto the tank US, 1991 back-scuttle verb to play the active role in sex, anal or vaginal, from behind US, 1885 back seat noun in poker, any of the positions farther from the dealer than the third player to his left US, 1973. ► in the back seat ignored, forgotten. Building on the CAR (clique) metaphor US, 1998. ► take a back seat to be or become less important than someone or something else US, 1902 backshow noun in gambling on broadcast racing, any betting before the current show price UK, 2001 backside noun ► while your backside points to the ground while you are alive AUSTRALIA, 1992

backside! used for expressing strong scepticism AUSTRALIA, 1971

backside furrit; backside forward adverb thoroughly, inside out

UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

back-slack verb to talk back NEW ZEALAND, 1929 backslap noun a celebratory event of mutual congratulation. From conventional 'backslapping' AUSTRALIA, 2002 backslide noun in trucking, a return trip US, 1976 backspace and overstrike! in computing, used for expressing alarm about a mistake that has just been made US, 1991 back stairs noun the anus and rectum considered as a sexual passage. Euphemistic or humorous simile for 'the back way up' UK, 2001 backstop noun 1 in baseball, the catcher US, 1887. 2 by extension, a person who provides a second line of defence in a venture AUSTRALIA, 1944 backstop verb to act as a backstop AUSTRALIA, 1955 backstory noun history, previous experience. Adopted into wider usage from screen-acting jargon where it is used to describe what has happened before the story starts UK, 2000 backs to the wall! used as a humorous catchphrase to acknowledge the presence of a male homosexual. Homophobic; suggesting a fear of anal sex/rape UK, 2003 backstreet boy noun a young man dressed in the trendiest of clothes with the trendiest of haircuts. Not a compliment; an allusion to a band of the late 1990s that was thought to value style to the exclusion of substance US, 2001 backstroke noun in trucking, a return trip US, 1976 back-talk noun insolent answering back AUSTRALIA, 1950 back-talk verb to answer back with impudence UK, 1887 back teeth noun ► to the back teeth to capacity; totally; completely AUSTRALIA, 1933 back teeth are floating used for describing an extreme need to urinate US, 1923 back the card to bet on every race at a meeting AUSTRALIA, 1971 back time noun 1 in the Vietnam war, rear-area or non-combat duty US, 1991. 2 the portion of a prison sentence not served at the time of parole, which must be served if parole is violated US, 1992. 3 all time spent incarcerated before sentencing US, 1992 back to preposition used in the names of reunion parties AUSTRALIA, 1925 back-to-back noun heroin then crack used in sequence US, 1994 back-to-back adjective consecutive. Usually used in a sports context. If there is a third consecutive event, the term is simply expanded to 'back-to-back-to-back' US, 1952 back to hacking used as a farewell, by computer enthusiast to computer enthusiast US, 1983 back to the drawing board! used after the failure of an endeavour US, 1965 back to the salt mines!; back to the mines! back to work! An ironic reference to hard labour in the Siberian salt mines US, 1933 back track verb when injecting a drug, to draw blood up into the syringe to mix with the drug that is being injected US, 1992 back-up noun 1 a person supporting another in a fight AUSTRALIA, 1975. 2 a second helping of food AUSTRALIA, 1929. 3 serial sex between one person and many others, usually consensual AUSTRALIA, 1965. 4 the path from the death cell to the death chamber in prison US, 1992 backups noun extremely bright lights on the rear of a car used to blind would-be kidnappers or terrorists US, 1992 backward in coming forward adjective reluctant to do something, modest, shy. More often phrased as 'not backward in coming forward' UK, 1830 backwards noun any central nervous system depressant US, 1966 back-warmer noun a female motorcycle passenger. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2002 backwash noun answering back in an insolent manner AUSTRALIA, 1969

backwashing noun after injecting a drug, the drawing of blood back into the syringe, with the intention of collecting any drug residue, and reinjecting the resultant mix UK, 2003 backwater noun in trucking, back roads or small motorways US, 1976 backwhack noun the back-slash key (\) on a computer keyboard US, 1991 back wheel noun in horse racing, the second bet in a two-part bet US, 1994 back wheels noun the testicles UK, 1998 backyard noun 1 the buttocks US, 1972. 2 the anus US, 1967. 3 in a circus, the performers as a group distinguished from the administrative and support staff US, 1960. 4 the road visible behind you US, 1976 backyard butchery noun an amateur's modification of a surfboard, obviating the design features of the manufacturer AUSTRALIA, 2003

backyarder noun a surfboard built by or modified by an amateur AUSTRALIA, 2004 bacon noun 1 the police; a police officer. From PIG (a policeman). During the late 1960s and early 70s, a favoured chant of the radical left youth movement in the US was 'Today's pig, tomorrow's bacon!' US, 1974. 2 money US, 1946. 3 the buttocks BAHAMAS, 1982.

► bring home the bacon to succeed as a wage earner, supporting one's family; to achieve success; to succeed in a given undertaking. Generally thought to echo the ancient tradition in Dunmow, England, of presenting a fitch of bacon to a happily married couple but originates in the US country-fair 'sport' of catching a greased pig. The phrase was popularised, if not invented, by the mother of Joe Gans, a black lightweight boxer US, 1909. ► save someone's bacon to rescue someone financially UK, 1654 bacon and eggs noun 1 the legs. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1942. 2 a black person who is partly or completely albino TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

bacon assegai noun the penis and testicles UK, 1983 bacon bits noun the breasts. Rhyming slang for TIT(S) UK, 2003 bacon bounce noun 1 a slow-witted person UK, 1958. 2 a sex offender. Rhyming slang for NONCE UK, 1996. 3 a bald or balding man UK, 1984 bacon getter noun a handgun, especially a single-action revolver US, 1957 bacon rashers noun the vagina UK, 2001 bad noun 1 fault US, 1999. 2 crack cocaine US, 1994. ► get in bad with to get in trouble or disfavour with someone or some agency of authority UK, 1928 bad adjective 1 good; tough US, 1897. 2 in computing, broken as designed US, 1991 bad ass noun a tough, fearless person US, 1956 bad-ass adjective excellent; worthy of respect, tough. Originally black usage but now more widely known US, 1955

Bad-Ass Billy nickname Brigadeer General William R. Bond of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade, killed by a sniper's bullet about 70 miles northeast of Saigon on 1st April 1980 US, 1999 bad-bad adjective very bad BAHAMAS, 1982 bad beat noun in poker, a disappointing loss, either with a good hand or a big bet US, 1982 bad belly noun an upset stomach BAHAMAS, 1982 bad boy noun 1 something that is impressive US, 1974. 2 a rascal, a misfit US, 1948. 3 a violent, tough young criminal BARBADOS, 1976 bad bundle noun inferior-quality heroin US, 1971 bad butch noun an aggressive, 'mannish' lesbian US, 1967 bad buzz noun an unpleasant event CANADA, 1993

bad cop noun in a pair of police, the partner who plays the aggressive and hard-nosed role during an interrogation US, 1991 badda bing; bada-bing; ba-da-bing used as an embellishing intensifier. The variations are nearly endless US, 1972 bad dad noun a person whose opinion of his own toughness exceeds the rest of the world's estimation US, 1973 baddap! verb to be shot. Echoic of gun fire UK, 1994 badden verb to become intoxicated on drugs or alcohol TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 baddest adjective toughest, most admired. The unconventional superlative of 'bad' in the 'bad-as-good' sense of the word US, 1938 baddie noun 1 a villain, especially in works of fiction. A childish epithet for a staple character of popular mass-entertainment, also used 'ironically' in law-enforcement. Also variant 'baddy' US, 1937. 2 an unwell feeling UK: SCOTLAND, 1888. 3 a slight wound, such as a graze or cut. Nursery and childish usage UK, 1993 bad dog noun an unpaid debt AUSTRALIA, 1953 bad eye noun a spell or curse caused by looking with envy or insincere goodwill TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1972

badeye verb to glare, to stare with menace US, 1990 bad food noun food or drink made with ingredients believed to instill sexual fidelity or attraction BARBADOS, 1996 badge noun 1 a police officer US, 1925. 2 a prison guard US, 1992. 3 a small amount of a drug relative to the amount paid US, 1971 badge verb to show a police badge, especially as part of a psychological ploy to elicit information US, 1970 badge bandit noun a police officer, especially a motorcycle police officer US, 1960 badger noun in horse racing, an inexpensive horse that qualifies its owner for race track privileges US, 1976 badger game noun a swindle in which a prostitute lures a customer or victim to a room where he is robbed by a confederate of the prostitute, often posing to be her husband US, 1909 badger-gassing noun an act or instance of farting, or its malodorous after-effect. After a controversial means of exterminating badgers UK, 2003 badger scratching noun the act of fondling a woman's vagina UK, 2002 badger's nadgers noun anything considered to be the finest, the most excellent, the best. Formed on NADGERS (the testicles), this is further variation on the DOG'S BOLLOCKS and MUTT'S NUTS theme; usage noted, most significantly, on a greeting card being sold by a high street chain, January 2004 UK, 2004 bad go noun a small amount of a drug relative to the price paid US, 1971 bad guy noun a criminal. Originally children's vocabulary from watching Western films. Perhaps originating in the mid-1960s US, 1977 bad hair day noun a day on which your hair is especially unruly; hence, a day on which nothing goes to plan US, 1991 bad hat noun 1 someone who can be counted on to misbehave US, 1914. 2 a pimp US, 1997 bad head noun a violent, tough young criminal BELIZE, 1996 bad idea jeans noun the notional clothing worn by someone who has displayed an utter lack of common sense. From a skit on Saturday Night Live US, 1994 bad John noun any man who is violence-prone. An allusion to John 'Bad John' Archer, a criminal who figured prominently in early C20 life TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1935 bad looker noun an ugly person. Used with a negative AUSTRALIA, 1959 badly adverb wonderfully, excellently; very UK, 2004 badly packed kebab noun the vagina. A visual similarity to the dish eaten late at night, when half-drunk UK, 2002 badmarsh adjective of bad character, disreputable. From Hindustani badmāsh (a bad character or disreputable person) UK, 2006 bad medicine noun a person or thing that promises trouble. An imitation of the speech of native American Indians US, 1920 bad mind noun malice TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1979

bad motherfucker noun a fearless, tough person US, 1972 bad mouth noun a curse, a put-down US, 1960 badmouth verb to insult someone, to disparage someone US, 1941 badness noun something that is very good US, 1986 bad news noun 1 a person who is better avoided UK, 1946.

2 something, abstract or actual, that is unpleasant or contemptible US, 1917. 3 the M-48 'Patton' tank, designed for combat in Europe against Soviet tanks, then the mainstay of the US Army and Marines in Vietnam US, 1991. 4 in drag racing, a car that performs very well US, 1965 bad nigger noun a tough, fearless, respect-commanding black person. A term of praise US, 1965 bad-o adjective excellent US, 1991 badonkadonk noun large, shapely buttocks. From the Comedy Central television programme Crankyankers US, 2004 bad on you! shame on you! Recorded by Jan Trent in 1997 FUJI, 1997 bad paper noun 1 a discharge from the military other than an honourable discharge, such as the UD (undesirable discharge) or resignations for the good of the service US, 1971. 2 counterfeit money or securities US, 1981 bad-pay adjective slow in paying a debt or obligation GRENADA, 1976 bad penny noun an unreliable or untrustworthy person; someone of little or no worth. A figurative sense from debased coinage; originally 'bad ha'penny' before inflation UK, 1937 bad rack noun at a casino, a list of customers who are poor credit risks US, 1974 bad rock noun cocaine; crack cocaine UK, 2003 bad noun the depression following the use of hallucinogens or amphetamines US, 1970 bad scene noun an unpleasant situation; a depressing experience US, 1966 bad scan noun bad luck IRELAND, 1989 bad seed noun 1 peyote; heroin US, 1969. 2 mescaline, the hallucinogenic alkaloid of peyote US, 2001. 3 marijuana UK, 1998 bad shit noun high quality drugs, especially marijuana, 1996 bad sick noun any sexually transmitted infection ANTIGUA AND BARBUDA, 1996 bad-talk verb to disparage someone or something BAHAMAS, 1982 bad thing noun an inherently bad idea. From 1066 and All That, the history parody in which Sellar and Yeatman created the 'bad thing' device: 'Indeed, he had begun badly as a Bad Prince, having attempted to answer the Irish Question by pulling the beards of the aged Irish chiefs, which was a Bad Thing and the wrong answer' US, 1931 bad time noun 1 time served in prison that does not count towards the overall sentence; time served in a military stockade that does not count towards the overall period of service US, 1968. 2 a jail or prison sentence for a petty, avoidable offence US, 1977. 3 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1954 bad trip noun an unpleasant, frightening or unnerving experience with LSD US, 1966 bad trot noun a losing streak; a period of heavy or sustained losses AUSTRALIA, 1936

bafoan noun a clumsy person. From 'baff-hand' (a cripple) JAMAICA, 1956

baff verb to vomit US, 1968 bafflegab noun verbose language that is difficult to penetrate and impossible to understand. The term, by all accounts, was coined by Milton A. Smith of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Smith defined the term as 'Multiloquence characterized by consummate interfusion of circumlocution or periphrasis, inscrutability, incognizability, and other familiar manifestations of abstruse expatiation commonly utilized for promulgations implementing procrustean determinations by governmental bodies' US, 1952 bag noun 1 an interest US, 1964. 2 a way of doing things US, 1962. 3 an unattractive young woman AUSTRALIA, 1965. 4 a police uniform US, 1944. 5 duty as a uniformed police officer US, 1973. 6 a breathalyser.

From 'breathalyser bag' UK, 1967. 7 the scrotum US, 1938. 8 a sexually promiscuous woman or a prostitute US, 1893. 9 a condom US, 1922. 10 a diaphragm US, 1964. 11 a collection raised in a single effort. Figurative application of the game-bag in which hunters gather their kill UK, 1900. 12 a large score made by a player AUSTRALIA, 1986. 13 a package of drugs US, 1952. 14 a small paper packet or plastic bag containing heroin; thus a standardised measure of heroin, either by cost or volume. Also variant 'bage' US, 1952. 15 heroin. Adopted by drug-users from the sense of 'bag' meaning 'an interest or way of doing things' UK, 2001. 16 a parachute. Originally Royal Air Force usage, then the army also UK, 1943. 17 a fuel tank on an aeroplane US, 1991. 18 a member of a college fraternity. An abbreviation of BAGGER, itself an abbreviation of FRATTY BAGGER US, 1998. 19 bed US, 1969. ► bag of snakes a business acquisition full of bad surprises US, 1991. ► get a bag! learn how to catch! In cricket used as a derisive retort to a fielder who drops an easy catch AUSTRALIA, 1986. ► in the bag 1 drunk US, 1940. 2 as good as done US, 1921. 3 corrupted, bribed, beholden to someone else US, 1926. 4 (of a horse) not being run on its merits; being run to lose; (of a jockey) not riding to win. Literally, the money that has been bet on the horse will stay in the bookmaker's bag AUSTRALIA, 1903. ► on someone's bag in golf, working as a caddy US, 2000. ► out of the bag unexpectedly good AUSTRALIA, 1954

bag verb 1 to arrest someone UK, 1824. 2 to catch, capture or obtain something for yourself US, 1861. 3 to shoot down a plane. A hunting allusion in Royal Air Force use UK, 1943. 4 in sport, to score a specified number of goals or points AUSTRALIA, 2000. 5 to disregard, dismiss or stop something. Figurative use of throwing rubbish in a rubbish bag US, 1988. 6 to cancel a social engagement. The Dictionary of American Regional English lists a related meaning: 'to feign illness in order to avoid one's responsibilities' from 1967 CANADA, 2002. 7 to abandon or leave a place or thing US, 1962. 8 to criticise or denigrate someone or something AUSTRALIA, 1969. 9 to dismiss from employment. A variation of SACK UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. 10 to bribe someone; to arrange an outcome US, 1948. 11 to impregnate US, 1949. 12 to hang in loose folds. Especially applied to trousers out of shape at the knees UK, 1824. 13 to use a resuscitation bag. Medical use UK, 1980. 14 to sleep, to doze US, 1994. 15 to leave. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981. ► bag and tag 1 to place a dead soldier in a body bag and identify the soldier with a tag on the outside of the body bag US, 1991. 2 (used of a prison guard) to count and account for prisoners during scheduled count times US, 2002. 3 to apprehend someone and take them into police custody AUSTRALIA, 2001. ► bag ass to leave, especially in a hurry US, 1972. ► bag beaver to have sex with a woman. Combining hunting and sexual metaphors US, 1994. ► bag your head to stop talking US, 1962

-bag suffix when in combination with an undesirable thing, used to label a person who epitomises the unpleasant quality. Michael Munro in The Patter, Another Blast (1988) offers the examples 'crap-bag' (a coward), GROTBAG (a dirty person) and 'stum-bag' (an idiot) UK, 1988 bagaga; bagadga noun the penis. Probably from Italian 'bagagli' (luggage) US, 1963 bag and baggage used for conveying to a prisoner that he is to be released from jail US, 1977 bag biter noun in computing, something or someone that does not work well US, 1981 bag boy noun a bookmaker AUSTRALIA, 1945

bag case noun a fatally injured motorist, especially one with gruesome injuries US, 1962 bag-chaser noun a drug user who is obsessed with getting drugs US, 1989 bag drag noun in Antarctica, the act of dragging your luggage for a pre-flight weigh-in ANTARCTICA, 1996 bagel noun 1 a Jewish person. Usually playful rather than derogatory US, 1955. 2 a tyre US, 1977. 3 a fool UK, 1996 bagel verb in a sporting event, to defeat your opponent without letting your opponent score. It is claimed that the usage was coined by tennis player Eddie Dibbs and popularised by tennis writer and broadcaster Bud Collins US, 1976 bagel bumper noun a lesbian. Based on a visual similarity between the vagina and a bagel UK, 2003 bagel face noun a Jewish person. Derogatory US, 1979 bag-follower noun an attractive woman who carries packets of heroin for a heroin dealer while bestowing status upon him with her good looks US, 1978 bag full of shit noun an utterly contemptible person UK, 1998 bagful of busted arseholes noun the epitome of ugliness or feeling poorly NEW ZEALAND, 1998 baggage noun 1 a boyfriend, agent or other male who accompanies a female pornography performer to the set. Not flattering US, 1995. 2 a non-playing observer of a card or dice game US, 1950 baggage smasher noun a baggage handler US, 1968 bagged adjective 1 fixed, corrupted, bribed US, 1942. 2 drunk US, 1953 bagger noun 1 a poker player who does not bet aggressively when holding a good hand until late in the hand US, 1966. 2 a boy who wears his trousers so low that his boxer shorts hang out above his belt line US, 1986. 3 someone who talks, dresses and projects an East Coast, prep-school persona; a member of a college fraternity US, 1980. 4 someone who plays footbag US, 1997 baggers noun baggy shorts or swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 1963

baggie noun 1 a plastic bag filled with a variable amount of loose marijuana. From the trademarked name of a brand of plastic sandwich bags US, 1980. 2 a condom US, 1971 baggies noun loose trousers or shorts, especially loose-fitting shorts or swimming trunks popularised by surfers. Trousers have been called BAGS on and off since the mid-C19; 'baggies' derives from the baggy fit US, 1963 bagging noun denigration AUSTRALIA, 1986

bag guy noun a toy balloon vendor US, 1949 baggy adjective a loose fashion briefly popular with ravers; the baggy trouser style continued to be popular with UK skateboarders UK, 1993 baggy arse noun an inexperienced, naive prison guard AUSTRALIA, 1987 baggy-arse; baggy-arsed adjective (of a soldier) substandard, second-rate, shoddy AUSTRALIA, 1953 baggy green cap noun the cap worn by Australian test cricketers. Also simply the 'baggy green', and hence, 'to wear the baggy green' – meaning 'to represent Australia in test cricket' AUSTRALIA, 1995

Baghdad Betty nickname during the US war against Iraq in 1991, a female Iraqi disc jockey who broadcast propaganda to US troops US, 1991

Baghdad Boys noun during the Gulf war, reporters from the Cable News Network US, 1991

baghead noun a habitual cocaine or heroin user. From BAG (drugs) combined with HEAD (a user) UK, 1996 bag job noun 1 a cheating scheme involving a casino employee as a confederate US, 1950. 2 a burglary, especially when committed by law enforcement or intelligence agents looking for information US, 1971 bag lady noun 1 a destitute woman who wanders the streets with her possessions in shopping bags US, 1972. 2 a condom UK, 1998

bagman noun 1 a person who collects, makes or holds illegal payments US, 1935. 2 a bookmaker AUSTRALIA, 1956. 3 a bookmaker's clerk AUSTRALIA, 1973. 4 in the circus or carnival, a person who makes change for customers, often cheating them US, 1980. 5 a member of a shoplifting team who carries away the stolen goods AUSTRALIA, 1975. 6 a drug dealer; a person in possession of drugs US, 1970. 7 an itinerant man carrying his possessions in a bag; a swagman AUSTRALIA, 1866

Bagman's Gazette noun an imaginary publication that is cited as a source of rumours AUSTRALIA, 1959

Bagmen's Union noun a fictitious union to which itinerant travellers belonged during the Depression AUSTRALIA, 1954

bag of arse noun anything inferior UK, 2002 bag of bones noun 1 a skinny person or animal AUSTRALIA, 1903. 2 a 'bush pilot' aeroplane CANADA, 1984

bag of coke noun a man. Rhyming slang for a BLOKE; variation of BUSHEL OF COKE AUSTRALIA, 1976

bag off verb to form an initial liaison with someone sexually attractive, especially with a view to greater intimacy UK, 2002 bag of flour noun a bathroom shower. Rhyming slang UK, 1980

bag of fruit noun a suit. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1924

bag of nails noun a state of confusion AUSTRALIA, 1942

bag of shit noun 1 a despicable person AUSTRALIA, 1970. 2 anything of poor quality UK, 1995

bag of shit tied up with string noun a clumsy, shapeless or scruffy person. Probably military in origin; usually in phrases such as 'looks like a bag of shit tied up with string' UK, 1984 bag of snakes noun a lively young woman AUSTRALIA, 1984

bag of tricks noun ▶ see: BOX OF TRICKS

bag of yeast noun a priest. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1971 bag on; bag verb to insult someone in a competitive, quasi-friendly spirit US, 1993 bag-o-wire noun an informer or betrayer JAMAICA, 1982 bagpipe verb to stimulate the penis to orgasm under the armpit of a lover. Homosexual use UK, 1904 bags noun 1 a great amount of UK, 1931. 2 loose fitting trousers. There have been 'burn-bags', 1860, 'howling bags' (with a loud pattern), 1850–90, and 'go-to-meeting bags' (best clothes), 1870–1910. 'Oxford bags', a very wide-legged cut, were introduced in the early 1920s and are still known UK, 1853. 3 a mess; a botched enterprise IRELAND, 2004. ▶ make a bags of make a mess of something IRELAND, 1998 bags verb to claim rights to something; to reserve something AUSTRALIA, 1944 bags!; bagsyl!; bagsey! used to claim possession or authority. Mainly juvenile; may be structured as a verb UK, 1897 bag-shanty noun a brothel. Royal Navy use; a combination of BAG (a promiscuous woman) and conventional 'shanty' (a hut) UK, 1890

bagsing noun the act of claiming priority rights to something; reserving something AUSTRALIA, 2003

bagswinger noun a bookmaker's clerk AUSTRALIA, 1977

bag up verb 1 to put a condom on a penis. Also variant 'bag it up' UK, 2002. 2 to divide a powdered drug into bags preparatory to selling it US, 1989. 3 of a fizzy drink, to fill the stomach with gas UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. 4 to laugh US, 1989

Bahama ham noun the conch BAHAMAS, 1982

Bahama hooter noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1992

bahookie noun the buttocks; the anus UK, 1985 bail verb 1 to leave a relationship or situation US, 1977. 2 to fall while skateboarding US, 1984. 3 in mountain biking, to jump off a bicycle in order to avoid an accident US, 1996. 4 in foot-propelled scootering, to abandon a scooter in mid-jump UK, 2000. 5 to land inelegantly or badly when completing a snowboarding jump US, 1995 bail bandit noun a person who commits a crime while out on bail UK, 2002

bailing-wire artist noun on the railways, a creative but incompetent mechanic US, 1977

bail out verb 1 to jump off a surfboard when you are about to be knocked off the board by a wave US, 1964. 2 in skateboarding, to fall badly UK, 2003 bail up verb 1 to hold someone up, to rob someone by holding up. In common use by bushrangers during the colonial period. Transferred sense from 'bail up' (to place a dairy cow into a bail for milking) from 'bail' (a frame for securing a cow's head). It could also be used intransitively to mean 'to submit to being held up and robbed'. Now only used in historical novels AUSTRALIA, 1838. 2 to hold someone at bay; to corner someone AUSTRALIA, 1841. 3 to stop someone for a conversation AUSTRALIA, 1998

bail up! stand and deliver! AUSTRALIA, 1842

bait noun 1 in poker, a small bet that is hoped will lure another player into a larger bet US, 1967. 2 in shuffleboard, a shot made to entice the opponent to try to go after the disc US, 1967. 3 a person who attracts a specified type or category of attention US, 1942. 4 a small meal US, 1958. 5 in prison, credit, especially on the purchase of drink, drugs or tobacco UK, 1996 bait verb in gin, to discard a card in a manner that is designed to lure a desired card from an opponent US, 1971. ▶ bait the hole in American football, to feign a running play in order to draw defenders towards the line and block them there US, 1984 bait can noun a worker's lunch box US, 1985 bait money noun cash with pre-recorded serial numbers set aside by a bank to be included in money given to a robber US, 1992

Baja bug noun a Volkswagen Beetle modified for surfer use. 'Baja' is a reference to Baja California, the Mexican state immediately south of California US, 1991

bake noun 1 a verbal assault, a roasting AUSTRALIA, 1975. 2 a complete and hopeless outcast. An abbreviation of Bakersfield, a city at the south end of California's San Joaquin Valley, 'the other side of nowhere' to the surfers who use this term US, 1991. 3 illegal drugs manufactured in an illegal laboratory NEW ZEALAND, 1986

bake verb to manufacture illegal drugs in a laboratory NEW ZEALAND, 1986. ▶ bake biscuits to record and produce a phonograph record US, 1959 baked adjective drug-intoxicated, especially by marijuana US, 1978 baked-bean noun a sexual interlude. Rhyming slang for SCENE UK, 2000

baked beans noun jeans. Prisoners' rhyming slang UK, 2001 baked potato noun a drug-user who watches television while intoxicated. A play on COUCH POTATO (a habitual idler/television watcher) formed on BAKED (intoxicated) US, 1996

baked wind pills noun beans CANADA, 1998

baker noun 1 the electric chair US, 1950. 2 a marijuana smoker US, 1997. 3 a grade of 'B' in academic work US, 1968

Baker flying adjective experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. In the navy, a red Quartermaster B (Baker in the phonetic alphabet) flag is flown to signify 'Danger' and 'Keep out', providing several theories for application to menstruation US, 1960

Bakerloo noun in cricket, a batsman who is playing down the wrong line. A jocular reference to the Bakerloo line on London's underground system UK, 2003 baker's fog noun in the Maritime Provinces, regular sliced white bread CANADA, 1998

bakey; bakie noun a baked potato UK, 1943

bakkie noun a utility vehicle used in South Africa SOUTH AFRICA, 2000 baksis noun a small extra added to a purchase by a vendor in the hope of encouraging return business GUYANA, 1996 balance verb ▶ balance the books in an illegal betting operation, to place bets with other operations when betting is too heavy on one proposition US, 1979

Balconville nickname the Point St Charles area of Montreal. One of two nicknames for this neighborhood (the other is 'The Pointe') because most dwellings have a balcony on which people sit a lot. Bilingual and harmonious, its mixture of French and English is noted in the word itself, which is partly from each language. It is the title of a 1980 play by David Fennario CANADA, 1980 balcony noun the female breasts US, 1964 bald head noun to a Rastafarian, any non-Rastafarian JAMAICA, 1976

bald-headed adjective (used of a rotary bit in oil drilling) worn out US, 1954 bald-headed mouse noun the penis UK, 2003 bald-headed prairie noun treeless and shrubless plains CANADA, 2002

baldheaded row noun the front row of a burlesque or strip show US, 1887 bald-tyre bandit noun a police officer detailed to traffic duty UK, 1977

Baldwin noun a handsome man. From the family of handsome actor brothers US, 1995 baldy noun 1 a worn tyre; in the US, especially in hot rodding and drag racing US, 1965. 2 a Hereford cow. This breed of cattle has a white face or head AUSTRALIA, 1887. 3 the white-headed pigeon, endemic to Australia AUSTRALIA, 1969. 4 an artist's model denuded of pubic hair UK, 1984

baldy adjective (of a tyre) with a worn tread AUSTRALIA, 1979

baldy! refuse! A children's catchword NEW ZEALAND, 1942

baldy lad noun the penis UK, 2001 bale noun 1 marijuana compressed into a large bale similar to a bale of hay US, 1971. 2 any quantity of marijuana US, 2001 bale verb ► bale the kale to win a lot of money gambling. From KALE (money) US, 1962 bale of hay noun a male homosexual. Rhyming slang for GAY UK, 2003 bale of straw noun a blonde white woman US, 1928

Bali belly noun any gastro-intestinal infection obtained when holidaying in Bali, Indonesia or other areas of Southeast Asia AUSTRALIA, 1984

balk verb 1 to cover up AUSTRALIA, 1975. 2 in poker, to hesitate when it is your turn to bet in the hope of seeing whether players who follow you are prepared to call the bet US, 1996 ball noun 1 a thoroughly good time US, 1932. 2 an act of sexual intercourse US, 1970. 3 a single scoop of ice-cream US, 1960. 4 crack cocaine US, 1994. 5 black-tar heroin UK, 2002. 6 one dollar. Mainly prison slang US, 1895. ► on the ball alert to any opportunity UK, 1967. ► out on a ball; be riding a ball (used of a customer trading in a car) believing that your old car is worth more than it is US, 1980. ► that's the way the ball bounces that's how things turn out US, 1952. ► the ball is in your court it is your turn; it is your decision. A variation of the conventional phrase 'the ball is with you' UK, 1963 ball verb 1 to have sex US, 1952. 2 to fondle a man's penis US, 1968. 3 to thoroughly enjoy yourself US, 1942. 4 to go or take something somewhere very quickly US, 1939. 5 to insert amphetamine or methamphetamine in the vagina before sexual intercourse US, 1971. 6 to secrete and smuggle cocaine in the vagina UK, 2002. ► ball the jack to travel very quickly US, 1913

-ball suffix combines with an unpleasant substance to create a contemptible person UK, 1970 balla noun a man with a lot of money US, 1999 ballad noun a love letter US, 1960 ballahoo and all the crew noun everybody TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1996 ball and chain noun a man's wife US, 1921 ballast scorcher noun a fast-riding railway engineer US, 1946 ballbag noun 1 the scrotum AUSTRALIA, 1985. 2 an athletic supporter US, 1968 ball blinder noun a condom. An image of something that debilitates BALLS (the testicles) UK, 1998 ballbreaker noun 1 a difficult task, a boring situation; any circumstance that saps your spirit. The prosaic etymology leads to any task that strains the testicles; more likely that 'balls' represent power or spirit in this context US, 1942. 2 a powerful, assertive woman; someone who demands or actively exacts a difficult requirement. Taking 'balls' to mean 'power and spirit', this extends from the previous sense US, 1944 ball-busting adjective harassing, dominating, controlling US, 1954 ball-cutter noun a person who belittles and demeans others US, 1962 baller noun 1 a drug dealer, usually of crack cocaine US, 2001. 2 an attractive male US, 2002. 3 a member of a youth gang who is prospering financially US, 1995 ballet master noun on the railways, the supervisor of track crews. An extension of the track worker as a GANDY DANCER US, 1977

balley noun a free show outside a carnival attraction, intended to create interest in paying to see the act inside US, 1985 ballgame noun 1 a state of affairs, especially if challenging. Sporting imagery US, 1930. 2 during the Vietnam war, an exchange of fire or firefight with the enemy US, 1991. ► a whole new ballgame a completely different set of circumstances US, 1968 ballhead noun a white New Zealander NEW ZEALAND, 1989 ball hop noun a deliberate fabrication, an unsupported rumour. Gaelic IRELAND, 2001 ballhuggers noun 1 very tight trousers. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982. 2 a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 2003 ballie noun an old man; any old person, especially your parent. From the Afrikaans ou bal SOUTH AFRICA, 2004 ball in hand noun in pool, the right to shoot from anywhere behind the headstring after another player has hit the cue ball into a pocket UK, 1807 ballistic adjective extremely angry; out of control. Originally applied to an out-of-control missile US, 1985 ballistics noun graphic, aggressive rap lyrics US, 1991 balloky; bolloky; bollicky adjective naked. Often combined with 'naked', compare with BOLLOCK NAKED and STARK BOLLOCK NAKED UK, 1961 ball of chalk noun a walk. Rhyming slang, sometimes condensed to a simple 'ball' UK, 1936 ball-off noun an act of male masturbation UK, 1961 ball off verb (of a male) to masturbate UK, 1961 ball of fire noun a dynamic and energetic person US, 1900 ball of malt noun a large glass of whiskey IRELAND, 2001 ball of muscle noun 1 a powerfully built, fit and healthy person or animal AUSTRALIA, 1914. 2 a person with a great deal of energy NEW ZEALAND, 1984 ball of wax noun a complete set of facts or situation US, 1953 balloon noun 1 a lieutenant. Coined in Korea US, 1951. 2 used as a humorous synonym of 'platoon' US, 1967. 3 a woman's breast. Usually in the plural US, 1962. 4 a condom US, 1966. 5 a small amount of heroin, whether or not it is actually in a balloon US, 1967. 6 a heroin dealer UK, 2002. 7 a foolish, talkative person. Because they are 'full of hot air' UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1996. 8 a dollar US, 1973. ► the balloon goes up something happens. Used especially in the past tense in phrases like 'when did the balloon go up?' and 'the balloon went up at 6 o'clock', often when the event referred to was some kind of trouble. Military in origin, probably World War 1, from the raising of an observation balloon just before an attack UK, 1924 balloon verb to dramatically and constantly change your shape in order not to present a predictable target. Military UK, 1995 balloon car; balloon noun a saloon bar. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 balloon foot noun a slow driver US, 1993 balloon head noun an empty-headed, dim-witted dolt. Sometimes contracted to 'balloon' US, 1931 balloon juice noun 1 empty talk. A play on the 'hot air' typically found inside balloons US, 1900. 2 a sweet, bright coloured fruit-based drink BARBADOS, 1965 balloon knot noun the anus. Visual imagery UK, 1998 balloon tyres noun dark bags beneath an actor's eyes UK, 1952 ballpark noun an approximate range US, 1957 ballroom noun a singles bar with a reputation for easy sexual conquests US, 1985 ballroom blitz noun the breasts. Rhyming slang for TTT(s), formed from the title of a 1973 song that was successful for The Sweet UK, 2003 balls noun 1 the testicles. From the shape UK, 1325. 2 courage, daring UK, 1893. 3 strength, substance UK, 1981. 4 nonsense UK, 1857. ► all balls nonsense. An elaboration of BALLS UK, 1937. ► as balls used as an intensifier US, 1988. ► balls in a vice at an extreme disadvantage, overpowered US, 1987. ► balls like a Scoutmaster great courage or sexual prowess. Based on the image of a Boy Scout leader as a paedophile NEW ZEALAND, 1999. ► bust your balls; break your balls to work to your fullest capability, to try your hardest US, 1944. ► by the twenty-four swinging balls of the twelve apostles! used as a register of anger and despair US, 2001. ► don't get your balls in a knot do not become agitated AUSTRALIA, 1979. ► get your balls in an uproar to become unduly excited. Of military origin CANADA, 1961. ► have someone's balls for a necktie to punish someone severely. Generally in a future tense UK, 1973. ► have your balls torn off to be severely reprimanded UK, 1977. ► lay your balls on the chopping-block to take responsibility (for an action or opinion) and thereby risk humiliation or rejection UK, 2001. ► make a balls of to spoil something, to make a mess of something. From BALLS (nonsense) UK, 1889. ► to have someone by the balls to exert complete control over someone; to have complete power over someone US, 1918 balls verb to secrete objects in a man's underpants, nestling whatever you wish to keep hidden around the testicles (balls) UK, 1997 balls! used as an all-purpose expletive. A figurative use of 'balls'='testicles' UK, 1957 balls-achingly adverb tediously UK, 1972

ballsack noun a skimpy bathing suit for a man US, 1997 balls-and-all adjective with complete commitment AUSTRALIA, 2001 balls-ass naked adjective completely naked US, 1958

ballsed-up adjective ruined, wrecked, messed up AUSTRALIA, 1986

balls-out adverb at full speed US, 1945 balls-to-the-walls adjective unrestrained, full-out US, 1967 balls to you! registers an impatient dismissal of anything specified. Variants include 'balls to that', and 'balls to X' UK, 1923 balls-up noun a mess, a muddle, a mistake UK, 1934 balls up verb to make a mistake; to err; to mess something up AUSTRALIA, 1969

ballsy adjective gutsy, courageous US, 1935 ball team; baseball team noun a group of gambling cheats who work in casinos US, 1987 ball tearer noun 1 something extraordinary AUSTRALIA, 1974. 2 a violent person AUSTRALIA, 1973. 3 a difficult, physically demanding task. A military variation of BALLBREAKER AUSTRALIA, 1984

ball up verb to ruin something AUSTRALIA, 1982

bally; bally act; ballyhoo noun any method used to draw a crowd; a small, free performance given outside a place of entertainment in the hope of drawing customers inside. Circus and carnival usage US, 1901 bally adjective 1 used as a euphemism for 'bloody' UK, 1885. 2 very angry. Probably by ellipsis from 'bally mad' UK, 1997 ballyhoo verb to draw a crowd US, 1965 balm verb to embalm a body BAHAMAS, 1980

Balmain basket weaver noun a trendy, leftist member of the middle class. Derogatory, after the affluent Sydney suburb of Balmain AUSTRALIA, 1986

Balmain basket-weaving adjective characteristic of a Balmain basket weaver AUSTRALIA, 1992

Balmaniac noun a person from the affluent Sydney suburb of Balmain. Recorded as 'Balmain footballers' by Baker, 1943 AUSTRALIA, 1969 balmy adjective drunk US, 1850 balmy breeze; breeze noun cheese. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 baloney noun 1 utter nonsense US, 1922. 2 the penis US, 1928. 3 a die that has been flattened on several edges to favour one surface US, 1974. 4 electric cable. Electric line industry usage US, 1980 baloney pony noun the penis US, 2002. ► ride the baloney pony to have sex US, 2001 baloobas noun the breasts AUSTRALIA, 1988

balot; ballot noun opium; heroin US, 1986

balsa boy noun a male pornography performer who has trouble maintaining an erection. One of many WOOD images US, 1995

Balt noun an immigrant of Eastern European extraction; any European immigrant to Australia during the immediate post-World War 2 period. Derogatory, common in the 1940–50s when it was often applied indiscriminately to any European migrant AUSTRALIA, 1963

Balti belt noun any area with a conglomeration of Indian restaurants; especially Birmingham's Sparkhill and Sparkbrook districts. Named for the area's preponderance of restaurants and takeaways offering Indian and Pakistani cuisine. (Balti is a kind of curry cooked and served in the pot after which it is named) UK, 2003

Balto nickname Baltimore, Maryland US, 1981

bam noun 1 a pill or capsule of amphetamines. An abbreviation of 'bambita' US, 1970. 2 a pill containing both a barbiturate and an amphetamine UK, 1983. 3 a central nervous system depressant UK, 2003. 4 a cigarette made with poor quality marijuana US, 1952. 5 a violent individual UK, 2000. 6 a female member of the US Marine Corps. A 'broad-assed marine'. Gulf war usage US, 1991 ► see: BAMPOT; BAMSTICK bama noun a conventional person, profoundly out of touch with current trends US, 1970 bama chukker noun a poor southern white US, 1966

bamalacha rambler noun a marijuana smoker US, 1959 bamalam noun marijuana. Variation of BAMALACHA US, 1973

bambalacha; bamba; bammy noun marijuana US, 1938 bambalacha rancher noun a marijuana user, possibly a grower US, 1959

bam-bam noun the buttocks TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

bambino noun 1 a child. Italian used by English-speakers with no knowledge of Italian ITALY, 1995. 2 an amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1992 bambi-sexual noun a homosexual whose sexual activity is characterised by kisses, caresses and emotion. Punning on the gentle deer Bambi, hero of the novel by Felix Salten and the film by Disney US, 1985 bamboo noun ► in the bamboo neglected, forgotten TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987 bamboo manicure noun torture using bamboo splinters forced under the fingernails. Korean and then Vietnam war usage US, 1982 bamboo telegraph noun the spreading of gossip or rumours in a jungle. Vietnam war usage US, 1929 bamboo wedding noun a marriage with Hindu rites GUYANA, 1996 bamboozle verb to deceive someone, to swindle someone. Arguably conventional English but with a slangy ring nevertheless UK, 1703 bambs noun central nervous system depressants UK, 1998

Bambu noun any cigarette rolling papers. The brand name of the rolling papers favoured by marijuana-smoking Beats of the 1950s, often used in a generic, eponymous sense US, 1977

bamf! 1 in computing, a notional sound during a magical transformation in a multi-user dungeon. Also an acronym produced from 'bad-ass motherfucker' US, 1991. 2 used as Internet shorthand to mean 'I am leaving this discussion'. A sound effect from the X-Men comic books US, 1997 bammer noun 1 weak, low grade marijuana US, 1997. 2 not genuine or of poor quality. Derives, perhaps, from BUMMER (a disappointing or depressing event) US, 1993 bammie noun a commercially manufactured cigarette adulterated with marijuana UK, 1983

bampot; bamstick; bam noun a fool; an eccentric; a madman UK, 1911 bamsie noun the buttocks BARBADOS, 1996

bamsie fly noun a pest, a nuisance TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1996

bamsie man noun a male homosexual TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1996

ban noun a banana. Greengrocer's familiar abbreviation, usually in the plural UK, 1984 banana noun 1 an Asian-American who rejects his Asian heritage and seeks to blend into the dominant white culture. Like a banana, the person described is yellow on the outside, white on the inside US, 1970. 2 a Hong Kong Chinese of European or American parentage or aspirations HONG KONG, 1997. 3 a New Zealand-born Chinese person NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 4 a person of mixed race, with both black and white ancestors US, 1945. 5 a hospital patient suffering from jaundice US, 1983. 6 in American casinos, a £20 chip. From the yellow colour US, 1985. 7 the penis US, 1916. 8 a parenthesis sign (or) on a computer keyboard US, 1991. 9 the convex curvature of the bottom of a surfboard US, 1965. 10 a comic in a burlesque show US, 1953. 11 a crazy or foolish person US, 1919. 12 a dollar US, 1970. 13 an Australian £1 note AUSTRALIA, 1953.

► off your banana mentally unstable, crazy UK, 1999

banana verb in television and film making, to walk in a slight curve in front of the camera to preserve focus US, 1990

banana-balancer noun an officer's steward or cabin-hand AUSTRALIA, 1960 banana belt nickname 1 southeastern Alaska US, 1937. 2 the South Orkney Islands and South Georgia, warm only in comparison with the harsh cold of Antarctica. The term has been applied to a relatively less cold area in a cold region since 1898 ANTARCTICA, 1958 bananabender noun a person from Queensland. The Australian state of Queensland has a large banana industry AUSTRALIA, 1964 banana boy noun a young white man brought up in the Anglo-Saxon tradition of Natal, later KwaZulu-Natal; hence a sportsman who is resident in KwaZulu-Natal SOUTH AFRICA, 1956 banana clip noun the curved magazine or clip for a US Army carbine US, 1968 banana farm noun an asylum for the insane. Used among Britons in tropical or semi-tropical countries UK, 1976 banana hammock noun a brief male bikini US, 1997 banana jockey noun any person who hangs on to the side of a truck driving a load of bananas to town GRENADA, 1996

Bananaland nickname the state of Queensland. Named after the banana industry there AUSTRALIA, 1880

Bananalander noun a person from Queensland AUSTRALIA, 1887 banana oil noun nonsense; persuasive talk US, 1924 banana peels noun surplus military tyres that are worn smooth and hence useless US, 1992 banana race noun a fixed horse race US, 1967 bananas adjective madly excited; mad; behaving oddly. Derives from BANANA OIL (nonsense), which abbreviates as 'bananas'; 'to become mad' is 'to go bananas' US, 1957 banana shot noun in pool, a shot at an object ball near a cushion, with spin imparted such that the cue ball follows through after striking the object ball and comes to rest after bouncing off the cushion US, 1993 banana skin noun a potential if trivial danger that is easily avoided when not overlooked UK, 1907

bananas on bananas noun too much of something, even a good something US, 1977 banana split noun 1 amyl nitrite; an ampoule of amyl nitrite. A reference to the banana-like smell of the drug vapours US, 1968. 2 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the logo pressed into the pill; after the cult children's television programme The Banana Splits (originally broadcast 1968–70) UK, 2002

banana splits noun diarrhoea. Rhyming slang for THE SHITS UK, 2003

banana tree noun the penis UK, 1973 banana van noun a flatbed railway carriage that sags in the middle UK, 1966 banana wagon noun a low handcart used for transporting aeroplane parts US, 1955 banana wing noun in motor racing, an aerodynamic wing shape US, 1908 banana with cheese noun marijuana and freebase cocaine combined for smoking US, 1979

banano noun marijuana UK, 2003 band noun in prison, a riot squad US, 1976

bandaged up adjective in trucking, said of a truck with any improvised winter front US, 1971 bandage factory noun a hospital US, 1941 band-aid noun 1 in trucking, an improvised winter fronting for a truck US, 1971. 2 a medic. During the Vietnam war, a radio call for a 'band-aid' was a call for a medic US, 1991

B and B gang noun on the railways, a building and bridge crew US, 1977 band box noun a county jail US, 1992 band chick noun a woman who is attracted to, and makes herself available to, musicians. An early term for what would come to be known as a 'groupie' US, 1961

B and D adjective bad and dangerous US, 1993

B and D; B/D noun bondage and domination (or discipline) as sexual activities US, 1974

B and E noun burglary. From the initials for 'breaking and entering' US, 1965

Band House nickname the Chicago House of Corrections US, 1946

bandicoot noun ► as a bandicoot completely as specified; extremely so AUSTRALIA, 1845. ► like a bandicoot on a burnt ridge lonely and forlorn AUSTRALIA, 1901

bandicoot verb to dig out a subsoil crop, especially potatoes, without disturbing the plant in situ, usually surreptitiously AUSTRALIA, 1896 band in the box noun pox. Rhyming slang UK, 1971 bandit noun 1 a petty thief, usually preceded by the object of the crime. Ironic UK, 1977. 2 an obvious homosexual. An abbreviation of ARSE/ASS BANDIT UK, 2001. 3 a hostile aircraft US, 1942. 4 an unsolved construction problem US, 1961 bandit odds noun betting odds that strongly, if secretly, favour one betting position US, 1977 bandit territory noun in Metropolitan Police slang, the Home Counties areas fringing London that are policed by other forces UK, 1999 band moll noun a woman who makes herself sexually available to the members of a rock group; a groupie AUSTRALIA, 1969 band of hope; bander noun soap. Rhyming slang, based on the name of a temperance organisation founded in Leeds in 1847. The truncated variation is recorded in Australia by Sidney J. Baker in 1943 UK, 1938

B and S noun brandy and soda. A popular drinker's abbreviation UK, 1868 bandwidth noun attention span. A borrowing of a technical term with a technical meaning (the volume of information that can be handled within a time unit) for a humorous, broader usage US, 1991

bandy noun a bandicoot AUSTRALIA, 1953

Bandywallop noun an imaginary remote town AUSTRALIA, 1958

bang noun 1 an instance of sexual intercourse UK, 1691. 2 pleasure, enjoyment US, 1929. 3 a person judged on their sexual performance UK, 1937. 4 a popular schoolgirl UK, 1971. 5 an injection of a narcotic US, 1922. 6 the sudden effect of a drug US, 1948. 7 marijuana US, 1993. 8 a swallow of alcohol UK, 2001. 9 an attempt. Usually in the form 'to have a bang (at)' UK, 1948. 10 an exclamation point (!). From the slang of printers to the slang of computer enthusiasts US, 1931

bang verb 1 to have sex UK, 1720. 2 to stimulate a woman's vagina by introducing and withdrawing a finger in rapid order US, 1971. 3 to inhale or to inject a drug intravenously US, 1926. 4 to swallow a tablet UK, 2001. 5 to engage in youth gang criminal activity US, 1986.

6 (of dance music) to have a danceable beat AUSTRALIA, 2001. 7 to make a turn US, 1969. ► bang balls to have a plan backfire SINGAPORE, 2002. ► bang goes that used for suggesting that something has come to an end NEW ZEALAND, 1998. ► bang heads to fight US, 1968. ► bang like a dunny door; bang like a hammer on a nail to be an exceptional sexual partner. Many variations, including 'bang like a rattlesnake', 'bang like a shithouse door in a gale' and 'bang like a shithouse rat' AUSTRALIA, 1968. ► bang the crap out of a male, to exhaust a sex-partner by vigorous sexual activity. An intensification of BANG (to have sex) on the model of 'beat the crap out of' (to thrash) UK, 2003 bang adverb very much, extremely UK, 2000

bangarang; banggarang noun an uproar, a riot JAMAICA, 1943

bang-bang noun the penis BAHAMAS, 1982 bang belly noun 1 a Newfoundland boiled pudding made of flour, molasses, soda and seal-fat or suet CANADA, 1960. 2 the protruding stomach of a child JAMAICA, 1996

bang bottle noun a condom UK, 1990s

Bang-clap nickname Bangkok, Thailand. During the Vietnam war, Bangkok was a rest and recreation destination, with plenty of sex and almost as much venereal disease US, 1991 banged adjective intoxicated on a drug, especially marijuana US, 1980 banged up adjective 1 specifically, being locked in a police or prison cell; generally, imprisoned. The image of a cell door having been banged shut. Closely following the verb sense which is first recorded in 1950 UK, 1990. 2 pregnant NEW ZEALAND, 2002 banger noun 1 a sausage. Perhaps from the resemblance to a bludgeon UK, 1919. 2 a firework producing a loud bang UK, 1959. 3 a detonator UK, 1966. 4 a near-derelect motor vehicle, usually a car or van. From the back-firing of a worn-out or poorly-maintained engine UK, 1962. 5 a cylinder in a car engine. Usually prefaced with a numeral US, 1970. 6 a fender, especially a front fender US, 1976. 7 a boxer who relies on brute strength and aggressive tactics US, 1968. 8 in hot rodding and motor racing, a collision US, 1933. 9 a gang member. Shortened form of GANGBANGER. US, 1985. 10 a heavy metal music enthusiast who dances with zeal US, 2001. 11 a hypodermic needle and syringe US, 1986. 12 a kiss, especially one that is forcefully delivered UK, 1898. 13 in pool, an unskilled if forceful player US, 1990. 14 a billiard ball. Usually in the plural, extended from the sense as 'testicle' UK, 1984. 15 in the casino game Keno, the punch tool used to make holes in tickets showing the numbers bet on US, 1978

bangers noun the testicles UK, 1961

Bangers nickname Bangkok AUSTRALIA, 1985

bangers and mash noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for SLASH, formed from one of the great dishes of British cuisine UK, 2003 bang gotcher noun any film of the Western genre. From children's recreation of the cowboy action in such films: firing toy (or pretend) guns, crying 'Bang! Got you!' so their play-enemies don't miss the point AUSTRALIA, 1953 banging adjective 1 drug-intoxicated UK, 2003. 2 wonderful, great, excellent. Originally recorded by Francis Grose in 1788 and possibly anticipated two centuries earlier; in the 1990s 'banging' enjoyed the wide popularity of a new coinage. Also variant 'bangin' UK, 1997 banging-off noun sexual intercourse. Royal Navy use UK, 1984

Bangla noun a Bangladeshi SINGAPORE, 2002

bang on verb 1 to talk lengthily and repetitiously about a particular topic UK, 1959. 2 in computing, to subject a piece of equipment or a new program to a stress test US, 1991 bang on adverb exactly, correct. Coined by World War 2 Royal Air Force bomber crews for 'bang on the target'; adopted into civilian usage as soon as the war was over UK, 1943 bang on it adjective drunk or drug-intoxicated UK, 2003 bang on the latch noun a last drink after closing time IRELAND, 2003

bang on the money adjective absolutely correct, exact UK, 1994 bang out verb 1 to manufacture or produce something, especially without care; to distribute something UK, 2000. 2 to eject from a fighter plane UK, 1991. 3 when freefalling from a plane, to spread your body into a wide shape UK, 1995

bang out of order adjective ► see: OUT OF ORDER

bang shift noun a quick, forceful gear shift while racing US, 1965 bang-shoot noun any thing, matter or business at issue at the moment. A playful variation of SHEBANG and SHOOTING MATCH; usually heard as 'the whole bang-shoot' UK, 1984

bangster noun a needle-using drug addict US, 1950

bang stick noun a firearm UK, 1961 bangtail noun 1 one of several inferior kinds of horse; a racehorse. From the practice of bobbing the horse's tail US, 1921. 2 a return-address envelope sent with a bill, containing a product offer on a detachable portion of the envelope flap US, 1986 bang to rights adjective 1 denoting an absolute certainty that fully justifies arrest on a criminal charge, as when caught red-handed. Intensifies 'to rights' (fairly, legally) UK, 1904. 2 by extension, describing a satisfactory state of affairs UK, 1962 bang-up noun a period during which a prisoner is locked in a cell. From the verb UK, 2002 bang up verb 1 to inject a drug UK, 1982. 2 to prepare marijuana as a cigarette UK, 2000. 3 in prison, to lock someone or be locked into a cell UK, 1950. 4 to end a poker game US, 1979

bang-up adjective excellent; first-rate IRELAND, 1821

banjax verb to batter, to beat, to destroy someone or something IRELAND, 1939 banjaxed adjective 1 not in working order. Given fresh impetus in the UK in the 1970s by popular broadcaster Terry Wogan, possibly from the phonetic similarity to the then unacceptable BOLLOCKSED IRELAND, 1939. 2 drunk. Playing on the sense 'not in working order', SMASHED UK, 2002

banjo noun 1 a generously proportioned sandwich or filled roll. In military use in forms such as an 'egg banjo' or a 'chip banjo' UK, 1961. 2 in prison, any food that has been acquired by illicit means UK, 1950. 3 a shovel UK, 1918. 4 the rear end of a car or truck US, 1971. 5 in rugby, a head-high tackle NEW ZEALAND, 1998

banjo verb 1 to beat someone. From BANJAX (to batter) UK, 1982. 2 to murder someone UK, 1999. 3 to force open a door or window UK, 1981

banjoed adjective broken down, battered. From BANJO (to beat), ultimately from BANJAX (to destroy) UK, 1987

banjo player noun a born-and-(in-)bred country-dweller. Probably inspired by 'Duelling Banjos', a musical sequence in the film Deliverance, 1972, in which the guitar symbolises urban America and the banjo represents an impoverished rural existence UK, 2001 bank noun 1 money; wealth US, 1991. 2 a sum of money ready for immediate use, especially for gambling AUSTRALIA, 1919. 3 a person who finances a gambling enterprise US, 1964. 4 a prison cell for solitary confinement US, 1962. 5 a toilet US, 1945. ► on the bank subsisting on bank loans AUSTRALIA, 1955. ► take it to the bank; put it in the bank to be very sure of a fact US, 1977 bank verb 1 to enjoy yourself on an outing on a bank holiday BARBADOS, 1965. 2 to prove someone guilty of a crime US, 1992. 3 to surround someone to beat them US, 1997 bank bandit noun a barbiturate capsule or other central nervous system depressant. Possibly from the calming effect that enables criminals to overcome nerves US, 1992 banked out adjective rich US, 2002 banker noun 1 a usurer, an illegal lender of money US, 1988. 2 a criminal who controls a stock of forged currency notes UK, 1966. 3 a person with a large sum of gambling money AUSTRALIA, 1979. 4 the operator of an illegal numbers racket or lottery US, 1959. 5 in a functionally compartmentalised illegal drug operation, the person who receives payment for drugs bought US, 1987. 6 a creek, river, etc, full to overflowing AUSTRALIA, 1848. ► see: MERCHANT BANKER banker's bit noun a prison sentence of five to ten years. A common sentence for bankers caught committing fraud US, 1950

banker's row noun a line of side-by-side high-yield gold seams CANADA, 1952 banker's set noun in dominoes, the 3–2 piece. So named because opponents cannot score on it US, 1959 banking noun masturbation. From BARCLAY'S BANK for WANK UK, 1983 bank off verb to place a prisoner in a punishment cell US, 1981 bank repairs noun a lack of financing US, 1954 bankroll verb to finance a project. The image of a roll of banknotes US, 1928 bank shot noun a delayed fuse shell fired by a tank in such a manner as to bounce off an object and around a corner to explode at or near the target. Borrowed from any number of sports and games. Vietnam war usage US, 1990 bank teller job noun in horse racing, a bet on the surest of sure things. So certain is the bettor of winning that he could safely borrow money from a bank one day, bet it that afternoon, and pay it back the next day AUSTRALIA, 1989 bank up verb to save money BAHAMAS, 1982 banter noun slang. By extension from its conventional senses UK, 2000 banyan noun a picnic on a beach, when organised from a naval vessel UK, 1987 banzai noun in drag racing, a complete effort US, 1965 banzai! used as an expression of joy and excitement US, 1985 bap noun a sophisticated and privileged Black American woman. An acronym, on the model of JAP (a Jewish-American Princess) US, 2001 bap verb to shoot someone or something US, 1966 baparazzi noun press photographers who specialise in catching their subjects topless. A play on BAPS (the breasts) and 'paparazzi' UK, 2003 baphead noun a fool. Black and urban youth slang UK, 2001 bappo noun a baptist AUSTRALIA, 1953

baps noun the female breasts. After the small soft bread rolls AUSTRALIA, 1992 baptism of fire noun an inexperienced soldier's first combat experience US, 1990

Baptist bag noun a brown paper bag in which a bottle of beer can be concealed US, 1992 bar noun 1 a pound. Directly from Romany bar, ultimately Romany bauro (heavy or big); usually in the phrase 'half a bar' (until decimalisation in 1971: ten shillings; post-decimalisation: 50p) although inflation seems to have had an effect UK, 1911. 2 one million dollars US, 1997. 3 a package of heroin US, 1978. 4 a block of cannabis resin weighing approximately a kilogram US, 1967. 5 used as a name for any variable object US, 1983. 6 an erection. Especially used in the form 'have a bar' UK, 1961. ► not stand a bar of; not have a bar of to detest, deny or reject someone or something, to be unable to tolerate someone or something AUSTRALIA, 1933 bar verb 1 (especially in Queensland) to claim something as your right; to reserve something AUSTRALIA, 1971. 2 to give somebody a ride on the bars or your bicycle NEW ZEALAND, 1959 bar adjective a 'minus' attached to a grade US, 1968 bar preposition in betting, used for indicating the number of horses excluded from the offered odds UK, 1860 bar! used as a call in children's games, chiefly in Queensland and New South Wales, to indicate that one is safe from being caught or tagged AUSTRALIA, 2003 barb noun 1 a barbiturate US, 1966. 2 a college student who is not a fraternity member. The fraternity system is known as the 'Greek society', and in Greek a 'barbarian' was any non-Greek US, 1900

Barbara Hutton noun in hold 'em poker, a five and ten as the first two cards dealt to a player. Hutton (1913–1979) was heiress to the Woolworth fortune; Woolworth was the foremost five and ten cent store in America US, 1981 barbecue noun 1 a self-immolation. The term enjoyed a brief and gruesome popularity in the early 1960s US, 1963. 2 the burning of a prisoner locked in a cell US, 1992. 3 a napalm bombing US, 1968. 4 radiation treatment. Medical slang US, 1994. 5 a fatal overdose of narcotics US, 1992. 6 an attractive girl or woman US, 1938 barbecue verb to put someone to death by electrocution US, 1990 barbed wire nickname Castlemaine XXXX beer. From the resemblance of the four X's AUSTRALIA, 1983 barbed wire city noun a military stockade US, 1964 barber noun 1 a thief who operates by stealth. Derives from the thief's ability to 'cut and trim' AUSTRALIA, 1938. 2 in pool, a close miss, usually made intentionally to avoid a scratch US, 1993

Barber noun ► the Barber the Greymouth wind coming across and off the Mawhera River NEW ZEALAND, 1998 barber verb 1 to rob hotel rooms AUSTRALIA, 1950. 2 to talk; to gossip. Derives from a stereotypical barber's inconsequential but incessant chatter with a chair-bound customer US, 1938 barber chair noun in logging, the stump left from a poorly cut tree, which in falling leaves an upright large splinter US, 1941 barber pole noun in casino gambling, a bet comprised of various coloured chips US, 1980 barber shop noun in trucking, a bridge with a low clearance. Citizens' band radio slang US, 1977 barbidx noun a combination of central nervous system stimulants and depressants US, 1992 barbie noun 1 a barbecue AUSTRALIA, 1976. 2 an outdoor party centred around food cooked on a barbecue AUSTRALIA, 1981

Barbie; Barbie Doll noun 1 an idealised woman, one who conforms to the role-model of the blonde-haired, blue-eyed plastic doll. A generally derisive usage; from Barbie™, a manufactured doll originally intended for young girls, which has become a cultural symbol. Also variant 'Barbie Girl' US, 1976. 2 a barbiturate capsule US, 1979 barbied adjective used of a woman who has become subservient to a man. From BARBIE DOLL, an idealised concept of womanhood manufactured and marketed by Mattel UK, 1996

Barclaycard noun a sawn-off shotgun used to shoot doors off their hinges. From the credit card's advertising slogan 'A Barclaycard gets you anywhere' UK, 1995

Barclay's Bank; barclay noun of a male, an act of masturbation. Rhyming slang for WANK (masturbation); probably, according to most authorities, in use since the 1930s UK, 1980

Barcoo buster noun a westerly gale in mid- or south Queensland. The Barcoo Shire is one of the most isolated areas in Australia AUSTRALIA, 1943

Barcoo rot noun a type of scurvy caused by a lack of fresh food AUSTRALIA, 1870

Barcoo spews noun a gastric disorder characterised by vomiting. Named after a river in Queensland AUSTRALIA, 1901 bare adverb very, many UK, 2005 bare-ass; bare-assed adjective naked UK, 1562 bareback verb 1 to engage in sex without a condom US, 1970. 2 to surf without a wetsuit US, 1991 bareback adjective in trucking, said of a tractor without a trailer US, 1942 bareback adverb (used of sex) without a condom US, 1960 bareback rider noun a man who has sex without using a condom US, 1960 barefoot adjective 1 (of sex) without a condom US, 1963. 2 (of a car or truck) lacking one or more tyres US, 1941. 3 (of a citizens' band radio) operating without a power booster US, 1976. 4 in craps, said of a bet on the pass line without odds taken US, 1983 barefooted adjective (of a drink) undiluted US, 1847 barefoot pilgrim noun in the used car business, a naive, trusting, unsophisticated customer US, 1968 barefoot rice noun plain rice BAHAMAS, 1982 bare metal noun a new computer which is not equipped with even an operating system US, 1991 bare-pole adjective naked CANADA, 1988

bares noun the bare fists US, 1972

barf noun beef US, 1996

barf verb 1 to vomit US, 1958. 2 in computing, to fail to operate US, 1983. 3 in hot rodding and drag racing, to damage something completely or partially, leaving parts scattered US, 1993

barfbag noun 1 a bag provided for airsick air passengers, to use for vomiting US, 1966. 2 by extension, a despicable person US, 1973 barf, beer and a cigar noun a fighter pilot's breakfast US, 1986 barf buddy noun a drinking companion US, 1977 barfic noun an unartistic computer graphic created with keyboard characters US, 1995 bar-fly noun a too-frequent frequenter of bars and saloons US, 1906 barf me out! used for expressing disgust US, 1982 barfola used as a general-purpose, all-round expression of disgust US, 1985 barf whiff noun the odour of vomit US, 1991

barfy adjective unpleasant, disgusting US, 1957 bargain noun a stroke of good luck US, 1990 bargain day noun in a criminal proceeding, the final day before trial when the prosecuting attorney will accept a lesser guilty plea US, 1992 barge noun 1 any large car. A nautical comparison similar to the more generic BOAT US, 1968. 2 a large, unwieldy surfboard US, 1963. 3 a large vagina US, 1972 barge verb to come; to go; to leave; to arrive; to move US, 1929 barge in verb to intrude, to interfere, especially if rudely or clumsily UK, 1923 barge pole noun a large penis US, 1967 bar girl noun a female prostitute who works in a bar AUSTRALIA, 1988

bargoo noun a mixture of meat and vegetables cooked together in a boiling kettle CANADA, 1986

bargo adjective cheap; at an unusually low price CANADA, 2002 bar-hop verb to move in a group from one bar to another, stopping at each for a drink or two US, 1948 bari noun a baritone saxophone US, 1955 baries noun bare feet UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

bark noun 1 the skin UK, 1758. 2 money US, 1973. 3 a cough UK, 1937 bark verb 1 to cough UK, 1937. 2 to brag US, 1968. 3 to tell a lie US, 1997. ► bark the tires to produce a chirping sound from the tyres on the road while shifting gears US, 1992 barker noun 1 a person who stands at the door of a business calling out to people passing by, trying to lure them into the business UK, 1699. 2 an unsophisticated master of ceremonies US, 1986. 3 an antique dealer's assistant UK, 2003. 4 in craps played in a casino, the stickman. The stickman controls the pace of the game and engages in steady banter with the players US, 1983. 5 a dog UK, 1980. 6 a person with a nasty cough. From the verb BARK UK, 1937. 7 a singer US, 1973. 8 a handgun US, 1814 barkers noun shoes. An extension of the much more commonly used DOGS (shoes) US, 1929

barker's egg noun a piece of dog excrement AUSTRALIA, 1985 barkey; barkie; barky noun a sailor. The term appears to derive from Italian barca (a boat), perhaps from 'barque' UK, 2002 barking adjective raving mad. Derives, in some way, from the behaviour of a mad, rabid or over-excited dog UK, 1968 barking cockroach noun the notional creature blamed when someone in a crowd farts BERMUDA, 1985 barking dogs noun tired feet US, 1960 barking spider noun the notional creature blamed when someone in a crowd farts US, 1989

Bar-L noun ► the Bar-L HM Prison Barlinnie in the East End of Glasgow UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

barley noun beer US, 1972 barley! used as a call in children's games. Perhaps from French parlez (to parley). Used to indicate that one is safe from being caught or tagged. Some jocular use by adults UK, 1814 barley mo' noun a moment. An elaboration of MO, formed on Barley Mow, a popular pub name UK, 2005 barley pop noun beer US, 1976 barley water noun beer US, 1966

Barlinnie drumstick noun a weapon improvised from a length of lead pipe and a few nails. Barlinnie is a Glasgow prison UK: SCOTLAND, 1976 barmpot noun a person who is deranged, crazy or eccentric. A fusion of BARMY and POTTY, ultimately from barm (a dialect term for 'yeast') UK, 1951 barmy noun a mad or eccentric person. Derives from barm, a dialect term for 'yeast'. An early source remarks 'frothing like barm hence, full of ferment, flighty, empty-headed'. It is probably relevant to note also the lunatic asylum built in 1828 at Barming Heath, Kent (now the site of Maidstone Hospital) UK, 2001

barmy adjective mad; eccentric UK, 1851

Barmy Army nickname fans of the England cricket team UK, 1996 barmy wagon noun an ambulance used for the secure transport of the insane. From BARMY (a mad or eccentric person) UK, 1959 barn noun 1 in trucking, a truck garage US, 1976. 2 in poker, a hand consisting of three cards of the same suit and a pair. Conventionally known as a 'full house' US, 1988

Barnaby Rudge; barnaby noun a judge. Rhyming slang, formed on the title of the Dicken's novel UK, 1960 barnburner noun 1 an exciting idea, event or thing US, 1934. 2 a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. From an unfortunate miscalculation of force in the 1970s that led to the burning of a barn where separatists met with American Black Panthers CANADA, 1979 barnburner wizard noun a high-achieving salesman US, 1974

Barn dance noun the chaotic movement of pedestrians as soon as traffic signals permit. From the name of Henry Barnes, New York's traffic commissioner in the 1960s AUSTRALIA, 1984 barndance card noun a debriefing after combat US, 1992 barn disease noun the many woes found in a motorcycle that has been left idle for several years. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2001 barn door noun 1 the fly on a pair of trousers. Used in the euphemistic warning: 'Your barn door is open' US, 1950. 2 any target that is too large to miss UK, 1679. 3 an extremely large halibut. Alaskan and Canadian usage CANADA, 1989. 4 in stage lighting, and the television and film industries, blinders used to focus a studio lamp. Conventionally known as a 'variable mask' US, 1960. 5 a type of fuel injection system US, 1965 barnet noun the head. From BARNET FAIR (the hair) UK, 1994

barnet fair; barnet noun the hair. Rhyming slang, usually compressed to 'barnet'. Barnet Fair, itself, had ceased to be a major event at least 50 years before this slang was coined UK, 1857 barney noun 1 a fight or argument. From British dialect AUSTRALIA, 1858. 2 a police officer US, 1976. 3 an unattractive, unpopular young man US, 1987. 4 a new Internet user whose interest will soon lapse US, 1997. 5 in the television and film industries, a noise-reducing pad placed over a camera US, 1977

barney verb 1 to argue about something AUSTRALIA, 1942. 2 to travel in high style US, 1949

Barneyano noun speech or writing in a mode of satirical truth, without avoiding anything CANADA, 2002

Barney moke noun an act of sexual intercourse. Rhyming slang for POKE, a suggestive contrast with BARNEY (an argument). Sometimes shortened to 'Barney'. From an earlier pickpockets' use of the rhyme for 'poke' (a bag or pocket) UK, 1984

Barney's brig noun the essence of disorder. The full expression includes 'both main tacks over the foreyard', showing the nautical origins if not explaining who Barney was US, 1975

Barney's bull noun a condition, especially a worthless or negative state. Originally 'to be like Barney's bull' meant 'extremely fatigued or distressed'; Partridge noted the range extended as: 'bitched, bugged, and bewildered like Barney's bull'; 'well fucked and far from home like Barney's bull' and 'all behind like Barney's bull'. In 2003 a quick search of the Internet revealed: 'buggered like Barney's bull' from the northeast UK; 'more mixed up than Barney's Bull' from western Canada, of Scots-Irish descent; 'get into more trouble than Barney's bull' from Australia; and 'mad as Barney's bull' UK, 1908

barnie noun a big fight or punch-up SOUTH AFRICA barn money noun in horse racing, money bet by purportedly informed track insiders US, 1994 barnstorm verb to travel from town to town, performing, competing or campaigning US, 1888 barnyard expression; barnyard language noun profanity US, 1968 barnyard golf noun the game of horseshoe pitching US, 1925 barnyard hen noun a prostitute not favoured by her pimp US, 1957 barnyard polka noun the elaborate, careful walk of a person trying not to step in cow manure CANADA, 1987 bar of chocolate noun praise, especially when given by senior officers. Royal Navy, usually phrased as 'get a bar of chocolate' UK, 1962 bar of soap noun 1 marijuana. Rhyming slang for DOPE; a bar of cannabis may coincidentally resemble a bar of soap (see: SOAP BAR), but the usage is simply a convenient rhyme. Rhyming slang often clips, here giving BAR an alternate etymology US, 1940. 2 in dominoes, the double blank US, 1959 baron noun in prison, a powerful criminal whose influence is built on illegal trading in drugs, tobacco, phone cards or money. From the conventional sense of 'baron' (a man of power and influence) UK, 1950. ► on the baron free. Royal Navy usage UK, 1962 barossa noun a girl. Rhyming slang for Barossa Pearl (a popular white wine). AUSTRALIA, 1980

barouche; cabouche noun a car; a taxi UK, 1992

barra noun a barrumundi AUSTRALIA, 1900 barrack verb 1 to ridicule someone; to jeer at someone. Probably from Northern Ireland dialect sense 'to brag or boast' AUSTRALIA, 1878. 2 in sport, to cheer for a team; to support a person or team; hence, to cheer on a person. The usual meaning since 1945 AUSTRALIA, 1890 barracker noun in sport, a person who 'barracks' for a team; a supporter AUSTRALIA, 1889 barrack-room lawyer; barrack-lawyer noun anyone unqualified who argues knowledge of rules, regulations or law, especially in a petty confrontation with authority; hence a generally argumentative person of the 'I know better than you'-type. Originally military UK, 1943 barracouter noun a Tasmanian AUSTRALIA, 1966

barracuda noun an aggressive, unprincipled person US, 1957 barrel noun 1 a tablet of LSD. Usually in the plural US, 1971. 2 a perfect wave breaking US, 1991. 3 a cylinder in an car engine US, 1948. 4 in pool, a betting unit US, 1990. ► have someone over a barrel to have someone at a disadvantage US, 1939. ► in the barrel in prison, especially in solitary confinement US, 1992. ► right into your barrel; right up your barrel decidedly your concern, interest, business AUSTRALIA, 1942 barrel verb 1 to knock someone over; to flatten someone; also, to beat up someone, to punch someone, to deliver a blow AUSTRALIA, 1969. 2 to scold someone. Prison usage NEW ZEALAND, 1999. 3 to hold someone at bay; to corner someone AUSTRALIA, 1982. 4 to drive at great speed AUSTRALIA, 1977 barrel-ass; barrel verb to move rapidly, generally oblivious to any obstacles US, 1930 barrel-back with barn doors noun a 1946 Ford Monarch. The 'barn doors' refer to the car's wood trim US, 1992 barreled out adjective in pool, depleted of money to bet US, 1980 barrel fever noun delirium tremens suffered by an alcoholic US, 1949 barrelhouse noun some combination of brothel, bar and rooming house US, 1883 barrel roll noun the US air campaign conducted over northern Laos in support of the Royal Lao Government, against the Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese forces US, 1991 barrier rogue noun a racehorse that is agitated by the starting barrier AUSTRALIA, 1982 barrier-to-box noun in horse racing, the entire length of the race AUSTRALIA, 1989

barrio noun a disadvantaged neighbourhood. Liverpool usage; adopted from conventional 'barrio' (a Spanish speaking neighbourhood in a US city) to give a romantic identity to an urban locality UK, 2002 barrow noun ► on my barrow giving me trouble UK, 1956 ► see: BORROW PIT

barrow wheel noun a cast-metal spoked wheel UK, 1984

barry noun 1 a youth who drives up and down a Fenland village street with very loud music blaring from the car's sound-system and, apparently, a hoe sticking out of the boot. Local teen slang, probably originally mocking an actual boy called Barry UK: ENGLAND, 2004. 2 something shockingly bad AUSTRALIA, 1997 barry adjective good, excellent, wonderful. Edinburgh slang, widely used in Irvine Welsh, Trainspotting, 1993, but not in the film UK: SCOTLAND, 1993

Barry Crocker noun something shockingly bad. Rhyming slang for SHOCKER. After Barry Crocker, born 1935, Australian singer and actor who, amongst other things, starred in the title role of the Barry McKenzie films of the 1970s, based on the slang-rich cartoon script by Barry Humphries originally published in Private Eye in the 1960s AUSTRALIA, 1997

Barry McGuigan; Barry noun a notable defecation. Rhyming slang for 'big 'un', formed from the name of the bantam/featherweight boxer from Northern Ireland (b.1961) UK, 2003 barry up verb to enhance an (old) car in a manner designed to be noticed. The identity of the Barry honoured with this coinage is unknown UK, 2005

Barry White; Barry noun 1 excrement; hence rubbish.

Contemporary rhyming slang for SHITE, based on the name of soul singer Barry White, 1944–2003 UK, 2002. 2 a fright. Popney rhyming slang, based on the name of soul singer Barry White, 1944–2003. Popney was contrived for www.music365.co.uk, an Internet music site UK, 2001

Barry White; Barry adjective inferior; shoddy UK, 2003

Barry-Whiter noun an event that lasts all night, especially a drinking spree or a rave. Rhyming slang for 'all-nighter'; based on the name of US singer Barry White, 1944–2003. Remembered by Jonathan Telfer, Writers News, 2003 UK, 2003 barse-ackwards adjective end-first US, 1975 bar steward noun a bastard. A jocular euphemism; although well known previously, widely popularised in the late 1990s as an advertising strapline for Heineken Export lager: 'From your smooth-talking bar steward' UK, 1961 bar stool noun 1 a vehicle which is never or rarely driven US, 1992. 2 used as a euphemism for 'bastard'. Jocular UK, 1999 bart noun a criminally-inclined youth, especially a youth gang member US, 1963 barter verb (among young women in Montreal) to trade sexual favours for desired gifts CANADA, 2002

Bart's nickname St Bartholomew's Hospital, London UK, 1937

Bart Simpson noun 1 a type of LSD identified by an icon of the cartoon hero. Bart Simpson, an animated character, was created by Matt Groening in 1987 UK, 1996. 2 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, identified by the embossed motif UK, 2002. 3 heroin UK, 2002 bar up verb 1 to get an erection AUSTRALIA, 1983. 2 to become excited US, 1996 bas noun a bastard, generally in its slang sense. Pronounced, and occasionally written 'bahss' or 'bass' in accordance with the full pronunciation of 'bastard' UK, 1977

Basco noun a person of Basque extraction CANADA, 1963

base noun 1 freebase cocaine; basic cocaine from which the hydrochloride has been removed US, 1982. 2 an amphetamine 2001 base verb 1 to smoke freebase cocaine US, 1987. 2 to argue US, 1990. 3 to verbally attack someone using sarcasm to convey an accurate if cruel appraisal of them. An abbreviation of 'debase' US, 1997 baseball noun 1 homosexual activity. Back formation from the use of PITCH and CATCH as terms meaning 'to have the active and passive roles in homosexual sex' US, 1989. 2 a defensive fragmentation hand grenade that explodes on impact, used in Vietnam. Shaped and sized like a baseball US, 1991. 3 in horse racing, a bet on one horse in one race and all horses in another US, 1976. 4 crack cocaine UK, 1998

Baseball Annie noun a woman who makes herself available sexually to professional baseball players US, 1949

baseball bat noun the penis AUSTRALIA, 1999

baseball bum noun in craps, the number nine US, 1949 baseballer noun a drug user who smokes freebase cocaine US, 1992 baseball whiskers noun a sparsely bearded face US, 1952 base bludger noun a member of the services who is stationed at the base. Derogatory AUSTRALIA, 1948 base camp commando; base camp desk jockey noun somebody with bellicose opinions about the way the war should be conducted but no intention of leaving their post away from combat to do it. Vietnam war usage US, 1986 base crazies noun obsessive searching behaviour experienced by crack cocaine users US, 1989 base crazy noun a drug user who searches on hands and knees for cocaine or crack cocaine UK, 2002 base dealer noun a card cheat who deals from the bottom of a deck US, 1993 based out adjective used of a crack or freebase addict who is unable to control usage UK, 2002 base gallery noun a room or building where freebase cocaine users pay to enter and then buy and smoke freebase cocaine. An extension of 'shooting gallery' US, 1992 base head noun a regular smoker of freebase cocaine US, 1986 base house noun a house or apartment where freebase cocaine is sold. A term and concept that all but vanished with the advent of crack cocaine in the mid-1980s US, 1992 baseman noun a drug user who smokes freebase cocaine US, 1992 basement noun channel one on a citizens' band radio US, 1976. ► in the basement in stud poker, dealt facing down US, 1988 base out verb to idle BELIZE, 1996

baser noun a user of freebase cocaine US, 1989 bases loaded noun in craps, bets placed on every possible combination US, 1974 base wallah noun a member of the services who is stationed at the base. Derogatory AUSTRALIA, 1919

base walloper noun a military officer serving at a rear echelon base NEW ZEALAND, 2002

bash noun 1 an attempt, try, go UK, 1939. 2 a party UK, 1901. 3 a drag racing event US, 1960s to 70s. 4 a long cycle ride, especially if fast and arduous. 'The Brighton Bash' is from London to Brighton and back UK, 1961. 5 a route march, as in '5-mile-bash', etc. Military usage UK, 1984. 6 an act of sexual intercourse UK, 1979. 7 a person judged on their sexual performance AUSTRALIA, 1967. 8 marijuana. A possible pun on BANG (marijuana) or misspelling of BUSH (marijuana) US, 1971. 9 a dent put into a felt hat to make it look better, especially an Australian Army slouch hat AUSTRALIA, 1954. ► on the bash to be working as a prostitute UK, 1936 bash verb 1 to criticise someone or something. Often combined as a suffix with the object of criticism UK, 1963. 2 to hit someone UK, 1790.

3 while surfing, to slam into a wave US, 1991. 4 to work as a prostitute UK, 1961. 5 to eat with great fervour US, 1945. 6 to indulge in heavy drinking AUSTRALIA, 1947. ► bash ears to talk on the telephone. Teen slang US, 1951. ► bash one out (of a male) to masturbate UK, 2002. ► bash someone's ear to talk to someone at length AUSTRALIA, 1965. ► bash the bishop (of a male) to masturbate. Based on a perceived resemblance between the erect penis and a conventional chess piece or, possibly, the helmet and an episcopal mitre; bishops may also be 'banged', 'battered', 'beaten', 'buffed', 'captured', 'flipped', 'flogged' and 'murdered'; notwithstanding, the bishop has also inspired punning variants: 'cardinals', 'obsolete jesuits', 'pope', 'priests' and 'one-eyed monk' UK, 1961. ► bash the bottle to drink alcohol to excess AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► bash the spine to sleep AUSTRALIA, 1945. ► bash wheels in the usage of youthful model road racers (slot car racers), to race US, 1997

basha; basher noun a makeshift temporary shelter. Originally Assamese for a 'bamboo hut'; acquired by the military and now in use among the UK homeless UK, 1961 bash artist noun a person prone to fighting NEW ZEALAND, 1998

bash down verb to record a song in one take UK, 1983

bashed adjective drunk US, 1982 basher noun 1 in trainspotting, an enthusiast who will travel for as far as is possible in the train behind a specific locomotive UK, 2003. 2 a prize-fighter; a thug UK, 1937. 3 a physical training instructor. Military UK, 1943. 4 a fast, reckless skier US, 1963. 5 in the television and film industries, a simple 500 watt flood light US, 1960 bashie noun an impromptu party GRENADA, 1996 bashing noun 1 heavy losses. Usually as 'get a bashing' or 'take a bashing' UK, 1948. 2 a beating-up; a beating UK, 1958

-bashing suffix vigorous compulsory activity. Military, in combination with an appropriate noun: SPUD-BASHING (potato peeling) and SQUARE-BASHING (military parade-drill) UK, 1943

bash it up you! go away! stop bothering me! AUSTRALIA, 1953

bashment noun a dance party; a form of reggae music BARBADOS, 1996 bash up verb 1 to thrash someone, to beat someone up UK, 1954. 2 to construct something with haste and a lack of care NEW ZEALAND, 1999

bashy adjective excellent, best. Urban youth slang UK, 2005 basie; basey noun 1 a person living on a military base US, 1993. 2 an Antarctica expeditioner. A South African contribution to South Pole slang ANTARCTICA, 1964

Basil Boli; Basil noun excrement, an act of excretion. Modern rhyming slang for TOLEY (a turd), based on French footballer Basil Boli who played for Glasgow Rangers and was not highly regarded by the fans UK: SCOTLAND, 2002

Basil Brush noun 1 marijuana. From the herb 'basil', thus punning on WEED (marijuana), elaborated as the name of a television puppet; at times shortened to a simple 'basil' UK, 1996. 2 the vaginal infection Candida albicans, commonly called thrush. Contemporary rhyming slang, based on a puppet fox with a distinctive laugh (Boom! Boom!), popular on children's television in the 1960s and 70s UK, 2002

Basil Fawley noun a balti (a type of curried dish). Rhyming slang UK, 2003

basinful noun as much as you can tolerate UK, 1935 basing gallery noun a room, apartment or house where cocaine is smoked in freebase form US, 1995 basin of gravy; basin noun a baby. Imperfectly formed rhyming slang UK, 1961 baskervilles noun a police-informer or someone who has assisted the police in some other way in the making of an arrest. A play on DOG, referring to The Hound of the Baskervilles by Arthur Conan Doyle, 1902 AUSTRALIA, 1973 basket noun 1 a despicable person; used as a euphemism for 'bastard' UK, 1936. 2 the male genitals as seen through tight trousers US, 1941. 3 a woman's labia US, 1949. 4 an elderly woman. Disrespectful; possibly deriving from a play on OLD BAG UK, 1984. 5 in roulette, a bet on zero, double zero and two. Sometimes expanded to 'basket bet' US, 1983 basket! used for expressing great frustration SINGAPORE, 2002

basketball noun 1 in Vietnam, an aircraft mission to illuminate the terrain below US, 1991. 2 a 250 mg capsule of Placidyl™ (ethchlor-vynol), a hypnotic drug US, 1992 basket case noun 1 a person who is emotionally debilitated US, 1952. 2 any dysfunctional organisation or entity UK, 1973 basket days noun days of good weather US, 1965 basketful of meat noun a large penis. From BASKET US, 1941 basket head noun a Vietnamese peasant. Alluding to the straw hats worn by many US, 1991 basket of snakes noun in a car, an exhaust system with individual headers that intertwine US, 1965 baskets noun the female breasts US, 1968 basket shopping noun the practice of observing the crotch of a clothed male to gauge the size of his penis. Also known as 'basket watching' US, 1964

basketweave nickname Highway 401 (the Trans-Canada) across Toronto CANADA, 2002 basket weaver noun 1 a homosexual male who wears tight trousers, thus displaying the contour of his genitals US, 1960s. 2 an advocate of simple values and an unsophisticated lifestyle. Derogatory AUSTRALIA, 2003 basking shark noun a Citroen DS or Citroen ID car. Car dealers' slang; from the shape and appearance UK, 1981

Basra belly noun diarrhoea experienced by travellers in the Middle East US, 1976 bass noun 1 one fifth of a gallon of alcohol US, 1975. 2 a defiant, tough person. An abbreviation of BAD ASS US, 2002 bassackwards adjective in the wrong order. An intentionally jumbled ASS BACKWARDS. US quotation expert Fred Shapiro recently found the term used by Abraham Lincoln in 1865, a substantial antedating US, 1865 bastard noun 1 a despised or disrespected person; a derogatory insult or challenging form of address to someone considered objectionable. Originally, 'a person born out of wedlock', the value of the insult has survived since C16 and ignored the current social acceptance of illegitimate status UK, 1598. 2 a fellow, a man. With reduction, from partial to almost full, of the negative sense US, 1867. 3 used as a term of endearment. Affectionate usage with no pejorative connotation; whilst by no means exclusive to Australia in this sense, it is almost the defining Australian cliché; on a par with 'G'day'. Recorded in New Zealand: 'You are a right bastard, aren't you?' AUSTRALIA, 1882. 4 a thing, especially one causing problems or distress AUSTRALIA, 1915. ► as a bastard used to intensify a personal quality or condition UK, 2002. ► happy as a bastard on Father's Day extremely unhappy. The idea is that a bastard does not know their father and so cannot celebrate on Father's Day AUSTRALIA, 1962. ► like a bastard used to intensify a personal quality or condition AUSTRALIA, 1962. ► lonely as a bastard on father's day extremely lonely AUSTRALIA, 1981 bastard adjective bad, unpleasant; used as an intensifier UK, 1982

-bastard- infix used as an intensifier UK, 2000 bastard amber noun a colour of lighting gel for the theatre CANADA, 2001 bastard from the bush noun a person from the country who comes to the city and behaves in an unmannerly way. From a bawdy ballad so titled, based on the poem 'The Captain of the Push' (1892) by Henry Lawson AUSTRALIA, 1962

bastardisation noun debasing and cruel initiation rights; hazing AUSTRALIA, 1964

bastardise verb to create a single motor vehicle from two others, especially with criminal intent UK, 1996

bastardy noun despicable behaviour; cruel punishment AUSTRALIA, 1945

bastardy adjective used as an intensifier. Elaboration of BASTARD UK, 2000

bastartin adjective used as an intensifier. Glasgow slang, probably formed on BASTARD UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

basted adjective drunk US, 1928

Bastille noun 1 the local police station AUSTRALIA, 1965. 2 HMP Strangeways during the prison riot of April 1990. Earlier, generalised sense as 'a prison' has given way to this specific, often nostalgic use UK, 1996

basuco; bazuko noun coca paste, the basic ingredient in the manufacturing process of cocaine; hence, cocaine US, 1984 bat noun 1 a foolish or eccentric person US, 1894. 2 an ugly woman US, 1972. 3 an extended period of drunkenness CANADA, 1977. 4 a drinking binge US, 1846. 5 a fat marijuana cigarette. Pun on 'baseball bat' as STICK US, 1975. 6 a shoe; a slipper. Variant spellings are 'batt' and 'bate' UK, 1992. 7 male masturbation AUSTRALIA, 1985. 8 in horse racing, the whip used by the jockey US, 1951. ► at bat said of an appearance before a judge, magistrate or parole board US, 1967. ► like a bat out of hell at great speed US, 1909. ► off the bat immediately, swiftly. From the speed that a ball moves when struck by a bat US, 1907. ► off your own bat without assistance, independently. Usage inspired by cricket UK, 1845. ► on the bat to be working as a prostitute. Extended from an obsolete use of 'bat' (a prostitute) UK, 1984 bat verb to dance on a stage. Also spelled 'batt' or 'bate' UK, 2002.

► bat on a sticky wicket 1 to contend with great difficulties. From the game of cricket, the ball bounces unpredictably on a pitch that is drying out UK, 1952. 2 to have sex with a woman who has recently had sex with another man or other men AUSTRALIA, 1985. ► bat the breeze to talk, chat or gossip US, 1941 bat and balls noun the male genitals with the penis erect UK, 2003 bat and wicket noun a ticket. Rhyming slang, sometimes shortened to 'bat' UK, 1931 bat away verb in a carnival, to operate swindles aggressively and without fear of arrest. A term borrowed from the game of baseball US, 1985

bat-bat noun the buttocks ANTIGUA AND BARBUDA, 1996 batch noun an ejaculation's worth of semen US, 1973 batch; bach verb to live as a bachelor US, 1862 batcher noun someone who lives alone. From earlier 'bach', 'batch' (to live alone); ultimately from 'bachelor' AUSTRALIA, 1943 batch kick noun in the usage of pickpockets, the hip pocket US, 1949

Bates; John Bates; Mr Bates noun a gullible victim of a swindle US, 1908 bath noun 1 a heavy loss in a business or betting proposition US, 1936. 2 in television and film making, any of the chemical mixtures used to develop film US, 1987. ► be in anything except a bath to not wash oneself very often; to have poor personal hygiene AUSTRALIA, 1932 bath dodger noun an English person. In Australian folklore the English are noted as stinting on personal hygiene AUSTRALIA, 1987

bathers noun a swimming suit AUSTRALIA, 1930 bat house noun 1 a brothel. A combination of CATHOUSE (a brothel) and ON THE BAT (to be working as a prostitute) AUSTRALIA, 1941. 2 a mental hospital US, 1962 bathroom locks noun long, combed, styled, braided dreadlocks JAMAICA, 1979 baths noun Turkish baths where the main attraction is sex between homosexual men US, 1968 bathtub noun 1 a sedan convertible with two cross seats. Conventionally known as a 'touring car' US, 1954. 2 a motorcycle sidecar US, 1960 bathtub curve noun in computing, used as a description of a notional graph of the predicted failure rate of a piece of electronic equipment. Evoking a cross-section of a bathtub as the graph – briefly high, long low, high again at the end US, 1991 bathtub gin noun homemade alcohol, perhaps approximating gin US, 1974

bathtub speed noun methcathinone US, 1998

bati-man noun a homosexual JAMAICA, 1955

Batman noun 1 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, identified by the embossed Batman motif UK, 2002. 2 a variety of LSD identified by the printed bat-logo UK, 1996. 3 cocaine UK, 2002. 4 heroin UK, 2002 bat out verb on the railways, to switch cars quickly and expertly US, 1977 bat pad noun in cricket, a fielder positioned close to the facing bat AUSTRALIA, 1989 batphone noun a police radio; the police personal radio system. Inspired by comic book crimefighter Batman's utility belt UK, 1977 bats noun a deck-landing officer on an aircraft-carrier. From the signalling 'bats' the officer carries UK, 1962. ► have bats in the belfry to be mad or eccentric UK, 1911 bats adjective crazy, very eccentric; mad, to any degree. From the phrase HAVE BATS IN THE BELFRY UK, 1911 batsh noun in caving and pot-holing, bat excreta. A shortening of 'bat shit' UK, 2004 batshit adjective crazy, out of control, angry US, 1970 batten verb (of a man) to live off the earnings of a prostitute. In the structure 'batten on someone' AUSTRALIA, 1964 batter noun a board used to cover a window before a hurricane or storm BAHAMAS, 1982. ► on the batter 1 engaging in a self-indulgent variety of drinks, drugs and other recreational excesses UK, 1839. 2 on the run from the police UK, 1984. 3 to be working as a prostitute. Variation of ON THE BAT UK, 1890 batter verb to beg on the street US, 1950 battered adjective drunk. From an earlier sense as 'debauched' UK, 2002 battery noun a concealed device for giving an electric shock to a horse in a race AUSTRALIA, 1936. ► get your battery charged to have sex US, 1935 battery verb to knock; to hit; to knock down. From Italian battere UK, 2002 battery acid noun 1 coffee. Originally military usage US, 1941. 2 grapefruit juice or sour lemonade US, 1945. 3 LSD. An elaboration of ACID (LSD) UK, 1998 battery girl noun a prostitute who is subject to a controlling supply of drugs, etc, and consequently is managed and kept in a similar way to a battery hen UK, 1968 batting and bowling noun bisexual sexual activity UK, 1984 battle noun 1 in a betting operation, the eternal plus-and-minus relationship between bettors and the betting operation AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 an unattractive woman US, 1948. ► on the battle working as a prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1944 battle verb 1 to breakdance competitively with the object of demonstrating the most individual style. Conventional 'battle' (a violent struggle) adopted for this non-violent clash US, 1999. 2 to compete in a public demonstration of DJ skills or to establish a sound-system's superiority; to compete in rap performance; to compete in graffiti skills US, 2000. 3 to attack someone verbally US, 1998. 4 to struggle for a living; to work hard despite troubles and exhibit courage in doing so AUSTRALIA, 1895. 5 to have sex; to impregnate someone NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 6 to work as a prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1898. 7 to attempt to make a living at the racecourse, either by running or gambling on horses AUSTRALIA, 1895. ► battle the iron men in horse racing, to bet using pari-mutuel machines US, 1951 battleaxe; battleax noun an old or elderly woman who is variously characterised as resentful, vociferous, thoroughly unpleasant, usually arrogant and no beauty US, 1896 battle cruiser; battle noun 1 a public house. Rhyming slang for BOOZER, sometimes expanded to 'battle and cruiser' UK, 1960. 2 an aggressive, 'mannish' lesbian US, 1982. 3 a formidable older woman. As with BATTLESHIP this seems to play on OLD BAT, but possibly with a rhyming slang influence: 'battle-cruiser' from BRUISER (a rugged physical specimen) UK, 1984

Battle of Hastings adjective history, in the past. The one historical date that most of the UK remembers UK, 2002 battle of the bulge noun an effort to lose weight US, 1956 battler noun 1 a person who struggles to make a living; a person who 'battles' AUSTRALIA, 1896. 2 a gambler who tries to make a living by gambling; a habitual punter who is always struggling; also, a struggling horse owner-trainer AUSTRALIA, 1895. 3 a prostitute, especially a self-managed prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1898. 4 in horse racing, someone who is just barely making a living from the sport or from betting on the sport AUSTRALIA, 1989 battle scar noun a bruise on the skin caused by sucking. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 battleship noun 1 a powerful and domineering woman. An extension of OLD BAT, playing on the physical similarities between an ironclad and a formidable woman US, 1931. 2 a railway coal tender US, 1946 battle wagon noun 1 a battleship. Royal Navy origins, then Royal Air Force UK, 1943. 2 an expensive car. Army usage UK, 1943 battle weapon noun a specially produced vinyl recording of hip-hop samples, used to 'scratch' (manipulate the sounds into an overall soundscape) and to 'battle' (compete with other another DJ). DJ and hip-hop use US, 2002 battling adjective struggling to eke out a living; going through hard times AUSTRALIA, 1895

batty noun 1 homosexuality. Reduced from BATTY BOY (a homosexual); ultimately 'batty' (a bottom) is West Indian, hence UK black UK, 2000. 2 the buttocks. Also variant 'bati' JAMAICA, 1935

batty adjective eccentric, odd, insane US, 1903 batty boy; batty bwai; batty bwoy noun a homosexual. Combines BATTY (the buttocks) with 'a youth'; from West Indies into wider UK usage popularised in the 1990s by comedian Ali G (Sacha Baron-Cohen) UK, 1992 battyfang verb to hit, beat, bite or maul someone. From earlier conventional 'batterfang' (to batter) UK, 1909 batty hole noun 1 the anus BAHAMAS, 1982. 2 a despised person. By extension from BATTY HOLE (the anus) UK, 2006

batty man noun a male homosexual ANTIGUA AND BARBUDA, 1977 batty rider(s) noun a very short and skimpy skirt or fashion shorts worn to expose as much as they conceal. From BATTY (the buttocks) JAMAICA, 1994 batty wash noun the act of licking an anus with the tongue. West Indies origins UK, 2000 batwank noun nonsense UK, 1997 batwings noun in the language of parachuting, surfaces applied to the arms and body to slow the rate of descent US, 1978 baw noun a ball. A Glasgow word, spelt as the local pronunciation UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 bawbag noun a despicable man. A Glasgow variation of BALLBAG (the scrotum), by analogy with SCROAT (a despicable man) UK: SCOTLAND, 2002

bawdy basket noun a woman with a sexually transmitted infection US, 1973 baw hair noun a pubic hair used as the narrowest possible measurement. Derives from BAWs (the testicles) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

bawl verb to speak with enthusiasm, especially if complaining GRENADA, 1977 bawl out; ball out verb to reprimand someone US, 1899 baws noun the testicles. Glasgow slang, extended from BAW (a ball) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 bay noun ► over the bay drunk US, 1787. ► the bay Long Bay Gaol, Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1942 bay and a gray noun in poker, a bet involving a red chip (the bay) and a white chip (the gray) US, 1951 bayonet noun a hypodermic needle US, 1986. ► take the bayonet course to participate in bismuth subcarbonate and neoarsphenamine therapy for syphilis US, 1981 bayonet drill noun sexual intercourse US, 1964

Bay State noun any standard medical syringe. Drug addict usage US, 1973

Bay Street barber noun a greedy investment broker who skims large amounts off every transaction as a management fee CANADA, 2002

Bay Street boys noun the class of politically powerful white Nassau merchants BAHAMAS, 1982 bay window noun a protruding stomach US, 1889 baywop noun an outport Newfoundlander. 'Wop' in this use is a Newfoundland pronunciation of 'wasp' CANADA, 1979 bazillion noun a mythical very large number US, 2001 bazongas; bazoongas; bazonkas noun the female breasts. Probably a variation of BAZOOKAS US, 1972

bazoo noun 1 the mouth US, 1877. 2 an old car, usually treasured regardless of its condition. French-Canadian, adapted by English-speakers CANADA, 1992 bazooka noun 1 the penis. The penis as a weapon imagery, here based on the 'bazooker' anti-tank rocket launcher; sometimes embellished to 'bazooka shooter' US, 1984. 2 a high-powered car US, 1959. 3 an extra-large, potent marijuana cigarette laced with cocaine. Either from the similarity in physical shape and figurative power to the type of artillery shell used by a bazooka anti-tank weapon, or form (Colombian Spanish) bazuco, a cocaine derivative made from coca paste US, 1984. 4 cocaine; crack cocaine. The metaphor of a portable rocket-launcher, possibly a variation of BASUCO UK, 2003. 5 in television and film making, a light support used on a catwalk US, 1990 bazooka'd adjective drunk UK; SCOTLAND, 1988

bazookas noun the female breasts. Perhaps from the shape of the shell fired by a bazooka anti-tank weapon, probably influenced by conventional 'bosom' UK, 1963 bazoomas; bazoombas noun the female breasts. An elaboration of BAZOOMS that echoes the shape of BAZOOKAS UK, 1984 bazooms noun the female breasts. Originally a corruption of 'bosom' with the same sense, then evolved to mean 'breasts' US, 1936 bazooties noun the female breasts US, 1997 bazoo wagon noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 bazuca noun the residue of smoked freebase cocaine, itself mixed with tobacco and smoked US, 1984

bazulco noun cocaine UK, 2002

bazz noun pubic hair IRELAND, 1999

bazza noun a stereotypically uncultured and uneducated urban youth. An informal variant of the name Barry UK, 2005

Bazza; Buzzer noun used as a common nickname for people named Barry AUSTRALIA, 1971

Bazzaland nickname Australia. A tribute to the cultural influence of Barry (Bazza) McKenzie, a cartoon character created by Barry Humphries (b.1934) AUSTRALIA, 1973 buzzer noun 1 an exciting event or situation UK, 1983. 2 a haircut IRELAND, 1983

bazz-off noun a respite from doing something IRELAND, 1960

BB noun 1 in baseball, a fastball. A pitch thrown so fast that it seems as small as a BB pellet to the batter US, 1970. 2 any smart person, especially a professor. An abbreviation of 'big brains' US, 1947. 3 a male homosexual. An abbreviation of BUM BOY UK, 1961

BB adjective in sports betting, said of consecutive wagers. An initialising of 'back-to-back' US, 1973

BBA noun a woman with large buttocks. An abbreviation of 'broads with big asses' US, 1968

BBC noun British born Chinese UK, 1998

BBFN used as shorthand in Internet discussion groups and text messages to mean 'bye-bye for now' US, 2002

BBL used in computer message shorthand to mean 'be back later' US, 1991

B board noun an electronic newsgroup. A contraction of 'bulletin board' US, 1991

B bomb noun an amphetamine inhaler. Withdrawn from the market by Smith Kline & French in 1949 after widespread abuse. A wad of Benzedrine-soaked cotton found in an asthma inhaler would be removed, immersed in a drink until drug and drink form a single intoxicating solution, reputedly 100 times stronger than a single Benzedrine tablet US, 1969

B-boy noun 1 a breakdancer; later, anyone involved in hip-hop culture US, 1981. 2 a streetwise young black man. By extension from the previous sense US, 1981. 3 a buddy, a brother; used as a form of address. The initialism 'b' muddled with 'B-boy' (a young streetwise black male) US, 1992

BBW noun a fat woman. An abbreviation of 'big, beautiful woman'; a fetish with a large male following US, 1988

BC noun contraception; birth control US, 1985

B cat noun an ostentatiously homosexual male prisoner. From the official categorisation by California prison authorities US, 1989

BC bud noun high grade marijuana from British Columbia CANADA, 2003

BCD noun military eyeglasses. Because they are so unattractive, they are deemed 'birth control devices'. Also variant BCG (birth control goggles) US, 1991

BC Kush noun a local variety of marijuana in British Columbia CANADA, 2002

BC Lounge noun a Burger Chef fast-food franchise restaurant US, 1979

BCNU used in computer message shorthand to mean 'be seeing you' US, 1991

BD noun a syringe. An allusion to Becton-Dickson, a medical supplies manufacturer US, 1982

BDF noun a big, strong, dumb brute. New York police slang; an abbreviation of 'big dumb fuck' US, 1997

B dog noun used as a term of address between members of the Bloods gang US, 1998

BDSM; SM noun bondage, domination, sadism and masochism or sado-masochism, unified as a sexual subculture US, 1969 be verb are. Generally dialect but recorded here as an urban black use UK, 2003. ► be in it to take part in something AUSTRALIA, 1928. ► be on to watch something; to observe something AUSTRALIA, 1960 beach noun in prison, a shower room US, 1992. ► on the beach 1 in a fishing community, where people who do not fish are. Though cynical, this division of maritime humans describes the division in most fishing villages in Nova Scotia: people are divided between those who go fishing and those who work at fish plants, are housewives or farmers CANADA, 1975. 2 out of work US, 1899. ► the beach Saudi Arabia. Gulf war usage US, 1991

Beach noun ► the Beach Miami Beach, Florida US, 1993

beach verb 1 to kick a ball very high BARBADOS, 1965. 2 in trucking, to bring a truck to a stop in a parking place US, 1971 beach-bash verb to lie on the sand, especially when exercised in romantic manoeuvres. Jocular variation on SQUARE-BASHING (military drill) AUSTRALIA, 1953 beach bomber noun a bicycle modified for riding on the sand US, 1991 beach boy noun 1 a young male who spends a great deal of time at the beach US, 1965. 2 a handsome, young black man who takes white female tourists as lovers BARBADOS, 1996 beach bum noun someone whose devotion to spending a lifetime at the beach has left them destitute and an outcast US, 1965 beach bunny noun a young female who spends a great deal of time at the beach, surfing or associating with surfers US, 1963 beach chick noun a young woman living a Bohemian lifestyle near the beach in the 1950s. Peter Tamony described the term as follows: 'Originally applied to girls who lived at Stinson Beach [north of San Francisco] who were bisexual. By those unfamiliar with its background, and both ways implication, it has been extended to any girl who associated with the so-called Beat Generation inhabitants of North Beach in San Francisco' US, 1958 beached whale noun an obese hospital patient US, 1994 beach head noun a person who spends a great deal of time at the beach US, 1991 beach pig noun a police officer assigned to a beach patrol US, 1991 beach rat noun a person who spends a great deal of time at the beach US, 1990 bead counter noun a Roman Catholic; a worshipper in any religion that uses strung beads (the rosary, 'worry beads', the Nenju, the mala etc) within its practice UK, 1809 bead juggler noun a Roman Catholic. After rosary beads US, 1966 bead rattler noun a Roman Catholic. After rosary beads UK, 2000 beady noun the eye. From the conventional cliché, 'beady eye' US, 1978 beagle noun 1 a sausage US, 1927. 2 a racehorse US, 1923 be a good bunny used as a farewell. A catchphrase television sign-off on The Wendy Barrie Show (1949–1950), a celebrity-based programme. Repeated with referential humour US, 1949 beak noun 1 the nose UK, 1715. 2 cocaine. From the previous sense; a reference to the manner in which the drug is taken UK, 2001. 3 in horse racing, a bet that a horse will win. Extended from the sense as a 'nose', suggesting that the horse will win by 'a nose' US, 1951. 4 a magistrate. Widely used by those who have occasion to be 'up before the beak' UK, 1749. 5 a schoolteacher. A dated usage that has survived thanks to Billy Bunter and other schoolboy literature UK, 1888 beak baby noun a cocaine-user, especially female. An alliterative extension of BEAK (cocaine) UK, 2001 beaked adjective cocaine-intoxicated. From BEAK (cocaine) UK, 2002 beaker noun a scientist. Presumably after the character Beaker on the television programme The Muppets. Dr. Beaker was also the name of a character in the cult-favourite show Supercar (1961–1962), but the slang term was more likely derived from the later popular children's show. ANTARCTICA, 1990 beakerdom noun the world of science and scientists. Extends from BEAKER (a scientist) ANTARCTICA, 1996 beak lunch noun cocaine used around the middle of the day UK, 2002 beak up verb to use cocaine. From BEAK (the nose) US, 1991 be-all and end-all noun the most important thing UK, 1854 beam noun 1 the backside, rump AUSTRALIA, 1945. 2 a good person US, 1945. 3 cocaine UK, 2003. ► off the beam incorrect US, 1945. ► on the beam 1 good; to the point; balanced US, 1941. 2 intoxicated on marijuana. Later to take on a far greater place in the lexicon of crack cocaine US, 1970

'Beam noun a Sunbeam motorcycle (in production from 1912–57) UK, 1979

beam verb 1 in computing, to transfer a file electronically. From the terminology of the original Star Trek television series US, 1991. 2 (used of a female) to experience erect nipples. Related to describing such a female as having her HIGH BEAMS on US, 2003

beamer noun 1 a smile. From conventional 'beam' (to smile broadly) UK, 2001. 2 a deep blush UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 3 in cricket, a fast ball that is bowled at the batsman's head UK, 1961. 4 a crack cocaine user. From BEAM UP (TO SCOTTV) (to smoke crack cocaine) US, 1992 beamers; beamers noun crack cocaine. After BEAMER (a crack cocaine user) US, 1988 beam me up, Scotty used for a humorous suggestion that one would be better off somewhere else due to the lack of intelligent life here. From the short-lived Star Trek television series (1966–1969) which has enjoyed an eternal after-life US, 1985 beams noun the eyes UK, 2002 beam up to Scotty; beam up; beam verb to smoke crack cocaine and become cocaine-intoxicated. From the pop phrase 'Beam me up, Scotty' used repeatedly on the first generation of Star Trek television programmes from 1966 to 69 US, 1986

beamy adjective wide. Originally 'broad in the beam', then shortened and applied to a ship's width, and then by extension to other objects and to people, especially those wide in the seat US, 1961

bean noun 1 anything at all; very little US, 1833. 2 a dollar US, 1902. 3 a coin UK, 1799. 4 in American casinos, a $1 betting chip US, 1967. 5 a man, a fellow, especially as a form of address. Often embellished to 'old bean' UK, 1917. 6 a Mexican, Mexican-American or Latin American US, 1949. 7 a capsule or tablet of Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1967. 8 a capsule of a central nervous system depressant UK, 2003. 9 a capsule of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy US, 2000. 10 the head US, 1905. 11 the hymen US, 1950. 12 the penis US, 1967. 13 the clitoris UK, 2001

Bean nickname Coleman Hawkins, jazz tenor saxophonist (1901–69). A signature tune of the Coleman Hawkins Orchestra was his 1940 composition 'Bouncing With Bean' US, 1940 bean verb to hit someone on the head US, 1910 bean book noun a worker's book of meal coupons US, 1954 bean-choker noun a Mexican or Mexican-American US, 1980 bean chute; bean slot noun the opening in a solid prison cell door through which food is passed to the prisoner within US, 1998 bean-counter noun an accountant US, 1975 bean-eater noun 1 a Mexican, Mexican-American or Latin-American US, 1919. 2 an Argentinian UK, 1982 beaned up adjective under the influence of Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1971 beaner noun 1 a Mexican or Mexican-American. Derogatory, from the association of beans with the Mexican diet US, 1965. 2 in the universe created by the Firesign Theatre (and accepted by the late 1960s popular culture), one of the five lifestyles of man, characterised by an obsession with colour televisions and rubbish piled up outside homes. Described in Firesign Theater's 'Big Book of Plays' US, 1996 beanery noun a low-cost, low-quality restaurant US, 1887 bean feast noun any form of festive occasion or jollification. Originally an annual feast given by employers UK, 1805 bean-flicker noun a lesbian. A reference to clitoral stimulation UK, 2002 bean head noun an amphetamine addict US, 1992 bean house bull noun gossip or tall tales told at a truck stop US, 1976 beanie noun 1 in Vietnam, a member of the US Special Forces. A shortened form of 'Green Beanies', itself word play based on 'Green Berets' US, 1991. 2 a police nightstick US, 1952. 3 breaking and entering. A pronunciation of the common B AND E CANADA, 2000. 4 an attractive girl. Perhaps as an allusion to Beanie Babies™ dolls UK, 2004 beanie light noun a flashing, rotating light on an emergency vehicle US, 1969 beanies noun tablets of any prescription drug taken recreationally, especially when the appearance resembles a kind of bean UK, 1999 beanies and weenies noun c-rations of hot dogs with beans. Vietnam war usage US, 1990 bean juice noun tomato sauce that canned baked beans are preserved in, and served with UK, 1999 beanmobile noun a car embellished with bright colours, chrome and other accessories associated with Mexican-American car enthusiasts US, 1981 beano noun 1 a Mexican, Mexican-American or Latin American US, 1978. 2 a meal; a feast UK, 1914 bean oil noun in motor racing, Castrol R™ oil. Castrol R™ is made from castor bean oil US, 1992 bean patch nickname during the Korean war, an assembly area on the northern outskirts of Masan, a seaport about 40 miles west of Pusan US, 1982

beanpole noun a tall, thin person US, 1837 bean queen noun a homosexual who prefers Latin Americans as sexual partners but is not Latin American themselves US, 1988 bean rag noun a red flag raised on a ship during mealtime US, 1960 beans noun 1 sexual satisfaction. The metaphor is of a meal that 'fills you up' UK, 1997. 2 a meal. Coined in World War 2, still popular in Vietnam US, 1942. 3 the lunch break during a working day US, 1946. 4 crack cocaine UK, 2003. 5 horsepower US, 1965. 6 a small amount of money; money UK, 1893 beans and baby dicks noun in the Vietnam war, beans and hot dogs US, 1991 beans and motherfuckers noun in the Vietnam war, lima beans and ham, one of the least popular c-rations US, 1990 bean sheet noun on the railways, a time card or time sheet US, 1977 bean-stealer noun in the Royal Air Force, a married man who lives in the mess UK, 1984 bean store noun a roadside restaurant or motorway truck stop restaurant US, 1976 bean time noun time for a meal US, 1984

Beantown; Bean Town nickname Boston, Massachusetts. Because Boston is known for its baked beans US, 1901 bean up verb to take amphetamines US, 1976 bean wagon noun a no-frills lunch counter US, 1960 beany noun a green polyester baseball cap issued to US soldiers since 1962, known officially as the Army Utility Cap US, 1990 bear noun 1 in the US, a motorway patrol officer or state trooper; a police officer in the UK. Shortened from SMOKEY THE BEAR US, 1975. 2 a hairy and stocky man, of a type beloved by some homosexuals US, 1994. 3 a boisterous, rowdy or aggressive young man, especially in the context of heavy drinking UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 4 a building-site or oil-rig worker UK: SCOTLAND, 1996. 5 an unattractive woman US, 1982. 6 a cautious and conservative poker player US, 1988. 7 a difficult task or situation US, 1966

Bear nickname US General H. Norman Schwarzkopf (b.1934), commander of the US forces during the Gulf war US, 1991

bear cage noun a police station. A logical extension of BEAR (the police) US, 1976 bear cat noun on the railways, a demanding and disliked foreman US, 1977 beard noun 1 a person used to mask the identity of the actual controlling agent; a person who escorts another to a social function in order to mask the identity of one or the other's lover or sexual orientation. Originally from gambling, referring to a front for betting US, 1956. 2 in gambling, a person who bets for someone else, especially for a cheat US, 1962. 3 a broker who buys up stock quietly and secretly for bidders in a corporate takeover who hope to disguise their intentions US, 1988. 4 an intellectual or academic. Unkind if not derisive US, 1927. 5 a male member of an Orthodox Jewish group US, 1967. 6 an 'older' surfer. In the youth culture of surfing, 'old' is a relative term US, 1991 beard verb to serve as a beard for someone US, 1971 bearded clam noun the vulva. Combines FISH with visual imagery US, 1965 bearded lady noun the vulva US, 1967 beardie; beardy noun 1 an act of rubbing a stubby face against a smooth one UK, 1985. 2 a bearded person UK, 1941 beardie-weirdie noun a bearded person. Disparaging UK: SCOTLAND, 2001

beard jammer noun the manager of a brothel US, 1962 beard man noun a Rastafarian JAMAICA, 1952

beardsman noun a Rastafarian with shaved or trimmed hair JAMAICA, 1985 beard-stroking noun serious consideration of something, deep thought UK, 2003 beard-stroking adjective intellectual or boring or both UK, 2003 bear grease noun in electric line work, any gel used as an electric contact aid US, 1980 bearings noun the stomach. Suggested derivations all seem based on the body as a machine. However, it is possible that this is from a sense of disorientation after vomiting, thus confusing the losing of the contents of your stomach with a loss of bearings AUSTRALIA, 1943. ► too many bearings on it a situation too complicated to explain. This phrase uses a nautical term for location-finding, 'bearings' (i.e. from a compass), metaphorically CANADA, 1999 bearing up used in response to a personal enquiry such as 'how are you?' or 'how's things?' UK, 1984 bear insurance noun a gun, the bigger the better the insurance US, 1965 bear in the air noun a police helicopter. This travelled from citizens' band radio slang into a still-surviving, wider usage US, 1976

bearish adjective (of a man) large and hairy AUSTRALIA, 1994 bear joint noun in a carnival, a game in which stuffed teddy bears are the prize US, 1960 bear meat noun a speeding vehicle without the benefit of citizens' band radio communications. Easy prey for BEAR (the police) US, 1976 bear paw noun 1 round-footed snowshoes worn while doing chores US, 1993. 2 the badge necessary to get into the inner area of the 2002 G8 summit meeting in Alberta CANADA, 2002 bear pit noun an auditorium, or other arena, peopled with a rowdy, challenging, even confrontational audience. From the late night audiences at the Edinburgh Festival's Fringe Club UK, 1996 bear's paw noun a saw. Rhyming slang. Noted by Ray Puxley in 1992 as 'a seldom heard term for a carpenter's tool' UK, 1934 bear trap noun 1 in the Canadian Navy, a helicopter haul-down and securing device CANADA, 1995. 2 the clutch on a Laverda motorcycle. Named after the amount of effort required to pull the clutch lever in US, 1992. 3 in television and film making, a strong clamp used for attaching lights to rigging US, 1987. 4 a police radar-trap for speeding motorists US, 1976

Bear Whiz Beer noun an inferior beer. A popular beverage in Firesign Theater skits; its motto is the stunning 'It's in the water! That's why it's yellow!' US, 1993 beast noun 1 a very unattractive woman, especially if sexually proactive US, 1942. 2 a sexually available female US, 1955. 3 in prison, a sex offender, a convicted paedophile UK, 1996. 4 anything excellent UK, 1996. 5 the penis UK, 2001. 6 a white person; a white US soldier in Vietnam. Used by US soldiers of colour in Vietnam US, 1991. 7 heroin; heroin addiction US, 1958. 8 LSD US, 1967. 9 Milwaukee's Best™, an inexpensive beer favoured by cash-strapped youth. Appropriately, Milwaukee's Best Light is simply 'Beast Light' US, 1987. 10 a large, fast car US, 1951. 11 a car with a raised front end US, 1980. 12 an expensive and powerful citizens' band radio US, 1976. ► as a beast used as an intensifier US, 2003. ► the beast the police; any figure of authority or oppression. West Indian, hence UK black UK, 1993 beast verb to have anal sex UK, 1999. ► get beasted in to eat with great enthusiasm UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 beast about verb to treat someone with a harsh physicality UK, 1995 beastbwa; beast boy noun the police; any figure of authority or oppression. Combines THE BEAST (the police, etc.) with BWAI (boy, a youth in UK black/West Indian gang culture) UK, 1994 beastie noun 1 used as an endearing form of 'beast'; also, in a jocular sense, of an insect. Mainly Scottish UK, 1864. 2 an attractive woman. Objectifying a woman as an animal, much the same as 'filly' UK, 1984 beasting noun from a male perspective, an act of sexual intercourse. Possibly inspired by the BEAST WITH TWO BACKS UK, 2003 beastly adjective 1 bad (to whatever degree), unpleasant, horrid. Usage considered to be dated, childish or upper-class UK, 1611. 2 excellent US, 1953. 3 excessive US, 2000 beastly adverb badly, unpleasantly, very, excessively. Stereotypically upper-class usage UK, 1844 beast with two backs noun vaginal, face-to-face sexual intercourse between a heterosexual couple; sex between two people. From Shakespeare UK, 1604 beasty noun a repulsive, disgusting person US, 1985 beasty adjective repulsive, disgusting US, 1982 beat noun 1 a regular route or locale (of a prostitute or police officer) UK, 1721. 2 a member of the 1950s youth counterculture US, 1961. 3 in horse racing, an unfortunate defeat US, 1976. 4 a crime which has not been solved US, 1992. 5 in television and film making, the main storyline US, 1990. 6 a car US, 1947 beat verb 1 to cheat, to swindle, to steal US, 1849. 2 to defy someone's understanding UK, 1882. ► beat about the bush; beat around the bush 1 (of a female) to masturbate. Wordplay on 'beat' (used in many terms of male masturbation) and BUSH (the pubic hair), in some way reversing the familiar meaning of 'beat around the bush' (to avoid coming to a point) UK, 1991. 2 to avoid coming to the point of a discussion. A term that has its origin in the hunting of birds UK, 1659. ► beat feet to leave US, 1944. ► beat hollow to outdo someone utterly and completely BARBADOS, 1996. ► beat it 1 to leave quickly US, 1878. 2 (of a male) to masturbate US, 1995. ► beat off with a stick to get more than enough sexual offers AUSTRALIA, 1999. ► beat the band to surpass everything US, 1897. ► beat the board in poker, to hold the best hand showing US, 1963. ► beat the bushes 1 in horse racing, to race a horse in minor circuits, where the horse can be a big fish in a little pond US, 1951. 2 to drive in the lead position of a group of trucks travelling together on a motorway US, 1976. ► beat the clock 1 to finish a task before the prescribed time. In the UK originally military, perhaps from an American parlour game. From the late 1950s-60s, it was used as the title of a gameshow segment in the television variety programme Sunday Night at the London Palladium UK, 1961. 2 to return alive from an SAS mission UK, 1980. ► beat the cotton to soak and then pound used cottons, used to strain drug doses, in an attempt to leach out enough heroin for another dose US, 1989. ► beat the Dutch to astonish or frustrate someone US, 1775. ► beat the eightball to use heroin US, 1971. ► beat the favorite in horse racing, to place a small bet on a horse with long odds to win rather than betting on the horse favoured to win US, 1951. ► beat the gun (of an engaged couple) to have sex, especially if the fiancée falls pregnant. The sporting imagery of being under starter's orders AUSTRALIA, 1984. ► beat the man to sleep. Prison usage suggesting that in sleep one escapes domination by prison authorities. US, 1990. ► beat the priest and take his gown; beat the priest to do that which you should not do in an open, notorious and brazen fashion GRENADA, 1978. ► beat the pup (of a male) to masturbate US, 1950. ► beat the rap to withstand harsh interrogation UK, 1996. ► beat the snot out of to thrash someone soundly, to beat someone up US, 1989. ► beat the starter (of an engaged couple) to have sex, especially if the fiancée falls pregnant. Sporting imagery, racing ahead while still under starter's orders UK, 1984. ► beat your baloney (of a male) to masturbate US, 1969. ► beat your bishop (of a male) to masturbate US, 1916. ► beat your chops; beat up your chops to talk US, 1945. ► beat your face to perform push-ups US, 1998. ► beat your gums; beat up your gums to talk without purpose or without effect US, 1945. ► beat your meat; beat the meat (of a male) to masturbate US, 1936. ► beat yourself up to be harshly self-critical, to struggle with your conscience UK, 2003. ► can't beat it in the Navy used for expressing admiration of a boat-handling job. Among Canadian east coast fishermen, with the tradition of navy techniques very strong, this term expresses high praise CANADA, 1908 beat adjective 1 world-weary, spiritual, jaded, intellectual US, 1947. 2 utterly tired UK, 1821 beat artist noun a swindler US, 1989 beat bag noun a bag of drugs that is heavily adulterated or is completely counterfeit US, 1993 beatdown noun a physical beating; hence figuratively, a defeat US, 1995 beater noun 1 an older car, usually not in good condition, used for day-to-day driving US, 1990. 2 a drumstick BAHAMAS, 1975 beat for adjective lacking US, 1973 beat generation noun the alienated class of young Americans who came of age in the mid-1940s and then embraced an alternative lifestyle and values in the 1950s US, 1950 beating noun a violent ache BARBADOS, 1965

beat loot noun a pittance; a small amount of money US, 1973 beatnik noun a follower of the beat generation (avant-garde 'visionaries, rebels and hipsters') derided and defined by stereotypical appearance (black beret for men, black tights for women) and lifestyle choices (Charlie Parker's jazz, marijuana, performance poetry, etc). Coined in 1958 (the first popular, non-Russian use of the suffix -NIK) by San Francisco newspaper columnist Herb Caen, extended from BEAT (a member of the 1950s youth counterculture), and a pun on the FAR OUT example of 'sputnik' (a Russian satellite launched in 1959) US, 1958 beat off verb (of a male) to masturbate US, 1962 beat out verb to strip someone of their membership in a youth gang, accomplished by a ritualistic beating US, 1995 beat pad noun an establishment where poor quality marijuana is sold US, 1960

Beatrix Potter; Beatrix noun an ugly woman. Possibly rhyming slang for ROTTER based on the name of author and illustrator Beatrix Potter (1866–1943) UK, 2002 beat sheet noun 1 in television and film making, a short summary of a story US, 1990. 2 a pornographic magazine US, 1997

Beattie and Babs noun public lice, crab-lice. Rhyming slang for CRABS based on an early C20 music hall act who are, unfortunately, best remembered by this term UK, 1960 beat-up adjective shoddy, shabby, worn out US, 1946 beau noun used as a term of address between young males US, 1954 beaut noun 1 a beauty, an impressive person or thing US, 1895. 2 a potent amphetamine capsule. An abbreviation of BLACK BEAUTY US, 1992 beaut adjective excellent, terrific, wonderful, splendid AUSTRALIA, 1918

beaut adverb excellently, splendidly AUSTRALIA, 1969

beaut! used for expressing strong admiration AUSTRALIA, 1953

beauteous maximus noun something that is excellent. Mock Latin US, 1993 beautiful adjective in the counterculture of the 1960s and 70s, used as an all-purpose adjective of approval. A vague but central word of the hippie era, suggesting passivity, appreciation for nature, kindness, etc US, 1961 beautiful! 1 used for expressing enthusiastic agreement US, 1975. 2 used, with heavy irony, as a register of disappointment UK, 2005 beautiful and; lovely and adjective satisfactory; nice. Always followed by another adjective for which this serves as an intensifier. Examples: 'I hit it beautiful and hard'; 'The water was lovely and hot' UK, 1939 beautiful boulders noun crack cocaine, 2003 beautiful people noun the cream of society's crop; the wealthy, fashionable people of high society and the arts, especially those celebrated as trendsetters US, 1964 beautifuls; boofuls noun beautiful, as a form of address; the latter is addressed to babies or those behaving so and thus characterised as babies UK, 1984 beauty noun 1 something excellent; a splendid example of something AUSTRALIA, 1852. 2 used as an affectionate form of address UK: WALES, 2000. 3 an amphetamine. A shortened BLACK BEAUTY US, 1993 beauty adjective excellent NEW ZEALAND, 1963 beauty! 1 used for registering great approval. Also spelt 'bewdy' to represent Australian pronunciation. AUSTRALIA, 1952. 2 thank you! AUSTRALIA, 1968 beauty bolt noun in the used car business, a new and shiny bolt intended to give the impression of a complete engine rebuild US, 1997 beauty farm noun a resort with a focus on improving appearances beauty parlor noun a brothel US, 1949 beaver noun 1 a woman's pubic region; a woman as a sex object, sex with a woman. Although recorded at least as early as 1927, 'beaver' did not come into its own until the mid-1960s, with an explosion of films featuring full frontal female nudity but no sexual activity and titles punning on 'beaver' – Bald Beaver, Beaver Works in the Bush Country, Hair Raising Beaver, Fine Feathered Beavers, Leave it to Beavers, and so on. As published sexual material got more graphic, so did the association of the term. Despite the highly sexual origin of the term, it was used by truck drivers with a slightly naughty innocence to refer to women US, 1927. 2 a pornographic film US, 1969. 3 a beard US, 1871. 4 a top hat BARBADOS, 1965. 5 a white police helmet BARBADOS, 1982. 6 a police officer US, 1967 beaver away verb to work industriously. From the characteristic behaviour of the beaver UK, 1946 beaver bait noun money US, 1976 beaver bear noun a policewoman. Combines BEAVER (a woman) with BEAR (the police) US, 1976 beaver biscuits! used for expressing disapproval. A signature line of Colonel Sherman Potter on *M*A*S*H* (CBS, 1972–83). Repeated with referential humour US, 1972 beaver cleaver noun a womaniser; the penis. It opens or splits the BEAVER (a woman or the vagina) UK, 1981 beaver creek noun ► have a bite at beaver creek to perform oral sex on a woman US, 2001 beaver-eater noun a person who performs oral sex on a woman. In a brilliant sexually charged pun, Vladimir Nabokov in Lolita wrote of 'the Palace Sentries, or Scarlet Guards, or Beaver Eaters, or whatever they are called', creating misdirected confusion with 'Beef Eaters' but leaving no doubt as to the sexual nature of his malapropism US, 1955 beaver fever noun an obsession with women and sex US, 1997 beaver film noun a mildly pornographic film, featuring full frontal nudity US, 1969 beaver flick noun a pornographic film US, 1970 beaver leaver noun a male homosexual. Rhymed on BEAVER (the vagina) to suggest no interest in the female sex US, 2003 beaver loop noun a repeating video featuring female frontal nudity US, 1971 beaver magazine noun a magazine featuring photographs of nude women, focused on their genitals, usually not engaged in sex US, 1967 beaver movie noun a film featuring female frontal nudity US, 1971 beaver patrol noun girl-watching US, 1967 beaver picture noun a film, the main attraction of which is a number of shots of women's genitals; a photograph of a woman's genitals US, 1969 beaver pie noun the female genitals, especially as the object of sucking and licking UK, 1983 beaver-shooting noun a concerted voyeuristic effort to find women whose genitals or pubic hair can be seen US, 1970 beaver shot noun a photograph or filming of a woman's genitals. In the early 1960s LA-based band The Periscopes recorded a rock'n'roll tune called 'Beaver Shot' which was banned from the radio after two plays US, 1970 beaver tail noun 1 a quick-baked or quick-fried sweet bread CANADA, 1998. 2 a design configuration on a shotgun US, 1981 beaver-with-stick noun full frontal male nudity US, 1977 be-back noun in the used car business, a potential customer who has visited the car lot, inspected the cars for sale, left, and then returned to negotiate US, 1959

US, 1972

bebe noun crack cocaine US, 1994

bebop verb to take part in gang fights US, 1965 be careful, Matt! used as a humorous caution. A signature line of Miss Kitty Russell (portrayed by Amanda Blake) to Marshall Matt Dillon on the television Western Gunslinger (CBS, 1955–75). Repeated with referential humour US, 1955

Becks and Posh noun food. Rhyming slang for NOSH, formed from the nicknames of footballer David Beckham and his wife, singer Victoria Beckham UK, 2003 becky noun in electric line work, a cable sling US, 1980 be cool used as a farewell US, 1984 bed noun the playing surface of a pool table US, 1990. ► get into bed with in business or politics, to merge with, to become a partner of, to start a venture with UK, 1977. ► put to bed to complete a piece of work. Office jargon that now infects every workplace; an extension of the figurative sense used by printers UK, 2005 bed verb to have sex with someone UK, 1548 bed and breakfast noun a very short prison sentence UK, 1996 bedbait noun a sexually alluring young woman or young man UK, 1963 bed blocker noun a patient who has an extended stay in hospital CANADA, 1986

bedbug noun 1 a Pullman porter US, 1940. 2 a person who is somewhere between amusingly eccentric and alarmingly disturbed US, 1832. 3 a Volkswagen camper van UK, 1981 bedbug hauler noun a removal van driver US, 1971 bedbug row; bedbug alley noun a poor, crime-ridden area in a city US, 1969 bed-check Charlie noun a pilot flying night air raids against US troops. Korean war usage US, 1964 bedden verb ► bedden your head to become drunk or drug-intoxicated TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1979

beddie-weddie noun bed. Children's vocabulary borrowed by adults US, 1945 beddy noun 1 in circus and carnival usage, the place where a person spends the winter or off-season US, 1981. 2 a promiscuous girl US, 1989 beddy-bye; beddy byes; beddie-byes noun sleep or bed. A nursery term, used for effect elsewhere UK, 1906 bed flute noun the penis AUSTRALIA, 1992

Bedfordshire noun a bed; bed. A humorous extension from the name of an English county UK, 1665 bed-hop verb to habitually have casual sex US, 1974 bed-hopper noun a person who lives a sexually promiscuous life AUSTRALIA, 1972 bed house noun 1 a brothel US, 1973. 2 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 bedlamer noun in Newfoundland, a young seal; also a young boy. The term comes either from the noise they make, or, according to some sources, the French bête de la mer (beast of the sea) CANADA, 1959

Bedouin Bob noun any Saudi; any desert nomad. Gulf war usage US, 1991

Bedourie shower noun a dust storm. Bedourie is an inland town in Queensland. The name Bedourie is taken from an Aborigine word for 'dust storm'. Other locations similarly used by nature, weather and irony: Bourke, Bogan, Cobar, Darling, Wilcannia and Wimmera AUSTRALIA, 1945 bedpan commando noun a medic in the Medical Corps in Vietnam US, 1991

Bedrock noun a common name for US armed forces camps during the Persian Gulf war. An allusion to the prehistoric town on the cartoon television series The Flintstones (ABC, 1960–66), home to quarry worker Fred Flintstone and his wife Wilma US, 1990 bed rock verb in low riding, to rock the bed of a truck from side to side using hydraulic pumps US, 1992 bedroom noun any place where homosexual men can have sex UK, 2002 bedroom eyes noun a sensual face and eyes that convey desire US, 1947

Beds noun Bedfordshire. A spoken form of the conventional written abbreviation, considered colloquial when used in speech as a genuine equivalent of the original name UK, 1937 bed-sit jungle noun an urban area where a bed-sitter is usually available as rented accommodation; the generality of life in rented bed-sit accommodation UK, 2001 bed-sitter; bedsit noun a single-room combining bedroom and living accommodation; a bed-sitting room UK, 1927 bed-sitter-land noun an urban area where a bed-sitter is commonly available as rented accommodation; the generality of life in rented bedsit accommodation UK, 1968

Bed-Stuy nickname the Bedford-Stuyvesant neighbourhood of New York City. The area is the epitome of urban American poverty US, 1997

bedworthy adjective sexually desirable UK, 1936 bee noun 1 a drug addiction. Also known as 'a bee that stings' US, 1960. 2 a barbiturate or other central nervous system depressant, especially Nembutal. A Nembutal capsule is commonly known as a YELLOW JACKET, hence the 'bee' US, 1963. 3 in a deck of playing cards, a joker, especially when the deck is made by the playing card manufacturer Bee US, 1988. ► get a bee up your arse; have a bee up your arse to be in a restless or anxious condition; to be obsessed by a notion. A variation on 'a bee in the bonnet' UK, 1990s. ► put the bee on to swindle someone US, 1949 bee verb to beg US, 1962 bee adjective bloody (an intensifier). A rendering of the initial letter for euphemism's sake UK, 1926 be easy! relax! US, 2003

Beeb nickname the BBC (British Broadcasting Corporation) UK, 1967

bee-bee noun crack cocaine US, 1993 bee-bopper noun a person who is trying too hard to be something that they are not – fashionable, trendy, up-to-date US, 1987 beech verb during the period 1963–65, to permanently close down a section of railway or a railway station. After Richard Beeching, 1913–85, chairman of the British Rail Board 1963–65, at the end of which time he was made a Life Peer, author of the 'Beeching Report' that prescribed a substantial contraction of the UK's rail networks UK, 1964 beechams noun ► the beechams the police. Rhyming slang, from Beecham's Pill™, a branded medication to THE BILL (the police) UK, 1992

Beecham's pill noun 1 a fool, an idiot. Rhyming slang for DILL (a fool). From the proprietary name of a laxative formerly popular as a cure-all AUSTRALIA, 1950. 2 a photographic still. Rhyming slang UK, 1971. 3 a theatrical bill; an advertising poster. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Beecham's pills noun the testicles. An extension of PILLS with a commercial formula UK, 1980 bee cocky noun a bee farmer; an apiarist AUSTRALIA, 1956

beedi; beadi; bidi; biri noun a small, high nicotine-content, cigarette made of tobacco dust poured into a small tube of rolled leaf tied with a cotton thread, often flavoured with strawberry, vanilla, mint, chocolate, mango, pineapple, grape, licorice, cherry, etc. The word is of Hindi origins. Popular brands are Mangalore, Kailas, Shiv Sagar and Irie UK, 2003 beedler noun a hard-driving work foreman or supervisor US, 1946 beef noun 1 a complaint, an argument, a fight US, 1899. 2 conflict, feuding. A wider use of the previous sense US, 2002. 3 an arrest or criminal charge US, 1928. 4 in prison, a written reprimand US, 1967. 5 the vagina; an attractive and sexual woman BARBADOS, 1982. 6 the penis US, 2001. 7 in homosexual society, a masculine man or a member of the armed forces whatever his gender-preference US, 1972. 8 in the navy, a male homosexual UK, 1962. 9 a dramatic and unintended ending of a surf ride US, 1991. 10 a backwards fall off a skateboard US, 1997. ► put some beef into it to try hard, to work hard, to make an effort UK, 1961 beef verb 1 to complain. From an earlier sense: to shout US, 1866. 2 to have sex US, 1975. 3 in prison, to issue a disciplinary reprimand US, 1967 beef adjective 1 aggressive, violent, hostile US, 2002. 2 homosexual. Navy usage UK, 1962 beef! in the youth trend for 'souped-up' motor-scootering, used for registering approval of the achievements of a daring, risk-taking rider UK, 2004

Beefa nickname the Balearic island of Ibiza UK, 2002 beef and shrapnel noun in the Vietnam war, a meal of beef and potatoes US, 1991 beef-a-roni noun a muscular, handsome male. Punning with the name of a food product and the many meat images involved in sexual slang US, 1985 beef bayonet noun the penis AUSTRALIA, 1971

beef bugle noun the penis, especially as an object of oral sex AUSTRALIA, 1971 beefcake noun 1 artistic or photographic depictions of nude or partially nude muscular men. The gender equivalent of CHEESECAKE US, 1949. 2 a muscular man US, 1949 beef curtains noun the labia US, 1998 beefier noun 1 a constant and tiresome complainer US, 1950. 2 a male homosexual. Royal Navy use UK, 1982 beef-heart; beef verb to fart. Also used as a noun. Rhyming slang; perhaps related to obsolete non-rhyming sense: a 'bean' UK, 1960 beef injection; hot beef injection noun sexual intercourse US, 1968 beef it verb in motorcycle racing, to fall to the ground and suffer a severe scrape US, 1992 beef of the sea noun the loggerhead turtle BARBADOS, 1982 beef squad noun a group of thugs hired by management to help break a strike US, 1956 beefsteak eye noun a black eye. From the folk remedy of covering the blackened eye with a raw steak US, 1950 beef torpedo noun the penis UK, 1983 beef trust noun 1 in sports, a group of large athletes US, 1928. 2 a chorus of large women who entertain men US, 1931 beef up verb to enhance someone or something, to strengthen someone or something US, 1944 beefy adjective (used of a shot in croquet) long and hard US, 1977 beehive noun 1 a five pound note. Rhyming slang, playing on BEES AND HONEY (money) UK, 1962. 2 in trucking, any large truck stop offering a full range of services US, 1976. 3 an office in a railway yard US, 1946

Beehive noun ► the Beehive New Zealand's Parliament buildings. Designed by Sir Basil Spence, the building's domes are evocative of a beehive NEW ZEALAND, 1981

beehive burner noun a combustion chamber to burn waste wood from sawmills CANADA, 1989 beehive it verb to leave hurriedly. Vietnam war use US, 1991 beehive round noun an artillery shell that scatters small nails with fins instead of shrapnel, first used in Vietnam in 1964 US, 1991 beeitch noun used as a synonym of 'bitch', especially as a term for a woman US, 1993 beekie noun during a labour dispute or organising drive, a company spy US, 1949 beel noun a car VIRGIN ISLANDS US, 1996

Beemer; Beamer; Beamie noun a BMW car US, 1982

Bee More nickname Baltimore, Maryland US, 1989 been verb ► been around sexually experienced US, 1979. ► been there said of a person with whom the speaker has had sex FJI, 1996. ► been there, doing that experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. The 'been there' part offers consolation to those who recently were on it or had cramps previously, while the 'doing that' part refers to the fact that you are on your period currently US, 2001. ► been there, done that used as a laconic, world-weary dismissal of another's suggestion AUSTRALIA, 1975.

► been there, done that, bought the tee-shirt used as a laconic, world-weary dismissal of another's suggestion. An elaboration of BEEN THERE, DONE THAT UK, 2000 been-there medal noun the Vietnam Campaign Service Medal US, 1991 been-to noun a west African, especially a Ghanaian or Nigerian, who has 'been to' England, usually for study, and whose social status has thereby been enhanced; a British academic who has 'been to' any one of the more prestigious US universities UK, 1982 beep noun an effeminate man, especially a homosexual JAMAICA, 1995

beep beep! pay attention! US, 1961 beeper noun 1 the telephone US, 1968. 2 an electronic paging device US, 1970 beer noun 1 in the illegal production of alcohol, fermented grain or sugar mash US, 1887. 2 the chest. Rhyming slang, from the slogan 'beer is best' UK, 1980. ► on the beer engaged in a drinking session UK, 1909 beer barn noun a tavern NEW ZEALAND, 1976 beer belly noun the protruding stomach of an excessive beer drinker US, 1960 beer blast noun a party organised around the consumption of beer US, 1967 beer bottle glasses noun thick eye glasses US, 1984 beer bummer noun a person who cadges drinks from others NEW ZEALAND, 1906 beer bust noun a party organised around the consumption of beer US, 1913 beer can noun any small car that would easily get crushed in a significant accident US, 1992 beer can grenade noun a crude hand grenade fashioned by the Viet Cong, packed inside a beer can US, 1990 beer chit noun money. In Royal Air Force use UK, 2002 beer coat noun a warm feeling, or one of imperviousness to weather conditions, that prevails after drinking. From private correspondence, 2002 NEW ZEALAND, 2002 beer compass noun the homing instinct that remains active when drunk UK, 2002 beer cozy noun a styrofoam or plastic cylinder that slips over a beer can, serving as insulation US, 2000

beered; beered out adjective drunk on beer US, 1930 beer flat noun an apartment where beer is sold privately and illegally US, 1980 beer goggles noun a drink-induced clouding of visual perception that enhances the sexual allure of previously unappealing companions US, 1987 beer goitre noun the protruding stomach of a serious beer drinker NEW ZEALAND, 1998 beer gut noun the protruding stomach of an excessive beer drinker AUSTRALIA, 1967 beer-gutted adjective (of men) having a protruding stomach from drinking beer excessively AUSTRALIA, 1987 beer high grade noun cash from rich gold-prospecting seams CANADA, 1963 beer me! please give me another beer! US, 1986 beernoculars noun your vision and judgment after drinking too many beers US, 1986 beer o'clock noun quitting time on a job NEW ZEALAND, 2000 beer parlour noun a room in a hotel licensed to sell beer. Originally named to distinguish them from taverns, they have been more recently licensed to serve men and women CANADA, 1965 beer run noun a trip to a store to buy beer for a party US, 1971 beer sandwich noun a lunch consisting of beer, beer and more beer NEW ZEALAND, 1998 beer scooter noun the ability to return home when too drunk to, afterwards, remember the journey UK, 1999 beer spanner noun a bottle opener. Royal Air Force use UK, 1984 beer-thirty noun a fictional time of day, suggesting that a beer is overdue US, 1980 beer-up noun a session of beer drinking AUSTRALIA, 1919

beer up verb to drink a great deal of beer US, 1960 beer vouchers noun money UK, 2002 bees and honey noun money. Rhyming slang UK, 1892 bee shit noun honey. From the mistaken belief that bees defecate honey US, 1984 bee's knees noun the acme of perfection, the best. Always preceded by 'the'; a favourite construction of the flapper of the 1920s AUSTRALIA, 1905 bee stings noun small female breasts US, 1964 beeswax noun 1 business, in the senses 'mind your own business' and 'none of your business' US, 1934. 2 income tax; betting tax. Rhyming slang, cleverly punning 'bees' (BEEES AND HONEY, 'money') and, possibly, 'whack(s)' for 'the taxman's portion' UK, 1989 bees wingers noun the fingers. Rhyming slang UK, 1980 beetle noun 1 in horse racing, a poorly performing horse US, 1915. 2 a female. Circus and carnival usage US, 1931

Beetle nickname the original Volkswagen car and later models of a similar shape. Derives from the shape of the car, first imported to the US in 1949; by 1960 the nickname was in worldwide usage and by Volkswagen's advertisers by the 1970s. In 1998 the manufacturers unveiled the 'New Beetle' US, 1960

beetle-crusher; beetle-stomper noun a soldier in the infantry UK, 1889 beetle-crushers noun heavy boots, especially 'Doc Martens'. In The Lore and Language of Schoolchildren, 1959, Iona and Peter Opie record 'beetle-crushers' as 'big-feet or the nickname for someone so-blessed' UK, 1996 beevo noun an alcoholic beverage US, 1977

Bee Wee nickname British West Indian Airways TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1980

beeyatch noun used as an emphatic variation of 'bitch', especially when used to a woman or as exclamation US, 2001

beeez noun the penis UK, 1976 beezer noun 1 the nose US, 1908. 2 in horse racing, a horse's nose US, 1951. 3 a pedigree Ibizan hound US, 2000 beezer adjective excellent; most attractive. UK, 1961

Beezer; Beeza noun a BSA motorcycle, in production since 1909; also a BSA car. The company name is actually an initialism of Birmingham Small Arms. BSA owners claim that the initials in fact stand for 'Bastard Stalled Again' or 'Bolts Scattered All Over' UK, 1961 befok adjective crazy, angry, lacking emotional control. From the Afrikaans for 'fucked up' SOUTH AFRICA, 1979

before-days adverb in the past BARBADOS, 1982 before time adverb long ago. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 befuddled adjective drunk. A conflation of BUGGERED and FUCKED UK, 2002 beg noun in a telephone solicitation, the actual plea to purchase that which is being sold US, 1959. ► on the beg begging, scrounging UK, 1988 beg verb ► go begging to be spare and available UK, 2004 begerk noun male masturbation. Oil rig workers use the term to refer to a 'big jerk' AUSTRALIA, 1985 beggar noun 1 a person, usually a man or boy. Euphemistic for BUGGER; sometimes spelt 'begger' UK, 1833. 2 an unpleasant, very dangerous or difficult thing, project, episode or circumstance; a nuisance. Euphemistic for BUGGER UK, 1937 beggar used as a euphemistic replacement for 'bugger' in all expletive phrases and exclamations UK, 1937 beggar boy's arse; beggar boy's ass noun money. Rhyming slang for BRASS (money) UK, 1960 beggar my neighbour noun the dole. Rhyming slang for the LABOUR (Exchange); usually follows 'on the' as in 'on the labour' (to be drawing unemployment benefit). Sometimes shortened to 'beggar' UK, 1960 beggar's lagging; tramp's lagging noun a prison sentence of 90 days UK, 1950 buggered adjective tired. A euphemism for BUGGERED UP NEW ZEALAND, 1984 be good to yourself used with humour as a farewell. A catchphrase television sign-off on The Don McNeil television Club (ABC, 1950–51). Repeated with referential humour US, 1950 begorrah!; begorah!; begor! by God! Originally a genuine euphemism, latterly a cliché ascribed to stereotypical Irish IRELAND, 1839 beg your pardon noun a garden. Rhyming slang. Probably a post-World War 2 coinage on the grounds that pre-war Cockneys had 'yards' not 'gardens' UK, 1961 behavior report noun a letter home from a military recruit to his girlfriend US, 1945 behind noun the buttocks UK, 1786 behind adjective 1 imprisoned US, 1961. 2 committed, dedicated US, 1968 behind preposition 1 (of a drug) under the influence of US, 1967. 2 as a result of US, 1957 behind-the-behind noun anal sex US, 1967 behind the bridge adverb in any ghetto or slum. Originally a reference to the slums of Port of Spain at the back of the East Dry River TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1992 behind the door adverb locked in a prison cell UK, 1996 behind the door when brains were given out stupid AUSTRALIA, 1969 behind with the rent adjective homosexual. Extended from a pun on 'buttocks' and 'behind' UK, 2000 beige noun a light-skinned black person US, 1945 beige verb to chemically darken cocaine to give it the appearance of a purity that it does not possess US, 1989 beige adjective bland, boring US, 1982 beige frame noun a light-skinned black woman US, 1953

beiging noun a chemical process to change the colour of cocaine and enhance its commercial possibilities, 2002 be-in noun an organised gathering for the celebration of counterculture lifestyles and values. Originally applied to an event in San Francisco in January 1967, and then to similar events elsewhere. Organisers ('inspirers') of that event wrote: 'When the Berkeley political activists and the love generation of the Haight Ashbury and thousands of young men and women from every state in the nation embrace at the gathering of the tribes for a Human Be-In at polo field in Golden Gate Park the spiritual revolution will be manifest and proven' US, 1967

bejabbers; bejabers noun used as a jocular euphemism for 'bejesus' US, 1959 bejesus; bejasus noun used as a mild expletive. An ameliorated 'Jesus', originally recorded in 1908 but not widely used until the 1930s US, 1908 bejimony noun used as a mild expletive US, 1946 bejonkers noun the female breasts AUSTRALIA, 1988

Bela and Boris noun in hold 'em poker, the two of clubs and the two of spades. An allusion to Bela Lugosi and Boris Korloff of horror film fame, with a nod to the horror that they visit upon a hand in hold 'em poker US, 1996

belasian noun a drunk, belligerent Asian US, 2003 belch noun a complaint. Circus and carnival usage US, 1981 belch verb to act as a police informer US, 1901 belcher noun 1 the mouth US, 1950. 2 a police informer US, 1956

Belgian lace noun a pattern of white foam from the frothing head of beer that remains in an empty glass UK, 2002 believe 1 used for registering agreement UK, 2005. 2 used as an assertion of sincerity. A shortening of phrases like 'you can believe me', 'you must believe what I say', etc. Recorded in use among young, urban blacks UK, 1999 believer noun 1 in trucking, a driver who follows all laws and company rules US, 1971. 2 a dead enemy soldier. Vietnam war use US, 1991 be like used as a meaningless response to a greeting US, 1980

Belinda Carlises noun haemorrhoids. Rhyming slang for 'piles', formed from the name of US singer Belinda Carlisle (b.1958) UK, 2003 bell noun 1 the head of the penis. From the shape UK, 2001. 2 the clitoris AUSTRALIA, 1988. 3 a telephone call. Teen slang US, 1951. ► give someone a bell to telephone someone. From the ringing bell of original telephones UK, 1982. ► on a bell in television and film making, shooting a scene. From the bell used on location to signal that shooting is about to begin US, 1990 bell verb to telephone someone. An allusion to Alexander Graham Bell, telephone pioneer, and/or to the bell that rang on early telephones US, 1973 belladonna noun an extremely potent hybrid marijuana. Bella donna is Italian for 'beautiful woman'. This plant, a hybrid of SUPERSKUNK, shares its name with Atropa belladonna, the poisonous deadly nightshade UK, 2001 bell cow noun in marketing, a popular, high-profit item US, 1986 belle noun a young and effeminate male homosexual US, 1940 bell end noun the head of the penis. From the shape UK, 1973 bellhop noun a member of the US Marine Corps. An abbreviated form of the longer SEAGOING BELL HOP, which teases the marines for their uniforms US, 1929 bellied adjective drunk UK, 2003

bellows noun the lungs US, 1843 bell-ringer noun any door-to-door salesman or canvasser US, 1960 bell rope noun the penis US, 1969 bells noun bell-bottomed trousers. Naval origins UK, 1948 bells! used for expressing approval US, 1948 bells and whistles noun 1 entertaining features that are not necessary to a computer program US, 1983. 2 extra features designed by underwriters to attract investors in a bond issue US, 1988

Bell Telephone hour noun a session of torture in which US soldiers used the electricity from field telephones to shock suspected Viet Cong. The term suggests a television programme, not genital-oriented electric torture US, 1991 belly noun 1 a fat person US, 1997. 2 the swell in a thicker-than-normal surfboard US, 1963. 3 a stomach ache BARBADOS, 1965. 4 pregnancy BARBADOS, 1982 belly verb ► belly the wall to stand facing a wall for inspection by prison guards US, 1950

bellyache noun any small-town newspaper US, 1975

bellyache verb to complain US, 1881

bellyacher noun a complainer US, 1930 belly and back adverb completely; without mercy GUYANA, 1996 belly board noun in television and film making, a low camera platform US, 1990 bellybump verb 1 to jostle; to shove; to rough up US, 1961. 2 to ride a sled face-down US, 1912 bellybuster noun 1 a stomach-first dive into the water AUSTRALIA, 1941. 2 a greasy hamburger or other food likely to provoke indigestion US, 1981 belly button noun 1 the navel. More naïve than childish; derives from the appearance of an umbilical knot US, 1877. 2 a bullet hole UK, 2001 belly fiddle noun a guitar US, 1970 belly flop noun a dive into the water stomach first, intentionally or not US, 1895 belly flopper noun 1 a poorly executed dive resulting in a painful impact on the water surface with the belly AUSTRALIA, 1941. 2 a rifleman shooting from a prone position US, 1957 bellyful noun as much as you can tolerate; more than enough UK, 1687 belly full and behind drunk adjective too full with food and drink to act BARBADOS, 1996 belly fummux noun stomach pains IRELAND, 1996 belly gas noun air injected into the abdominal cavity to raise the diaphragm US, 1961 belly gun noun a handgun US, 1926 belly habit noun 1 severe stomach cramping suffered during withdrawal from a drug addiction US, 1970. 2 a drug addiction, especially to an opiate US, 1992 belly hit noun in poker, a card drawn that completes an inside straight US, 1951

bellyologist noun a person who eats too much BARBADOS, 1965 belly pad noun a pancake US, 1958 belly queen noun a male homosexual who prefers face-to-face intercourse US, 1965 belly ride noun sexual intercourse US, 1993 bellyrubber noun a slow song in which partners dance close to each other US, 1992 belly rubbing noun dancing UK, 1977 belly-stick; stick noun in a confidence swindle involving fixed gambling, a confederate who appears to win consistently US, 1940 belly tanker noun in drag racing, a car made out of salvaged aeroplane fuel tanks for lake bed racing US, 1992 belly up verb to approach and stand against something, usually a bar US, 1907 belly-up adjective bankrupt, out of business; dead US, 1920 bellywash noun a soft drink, soda. Originally applied to a weak drink, and then to soda US, 1926 belly whacker noun a poorly executed dive resulting in a painful impact on the water surface with the belly AUSTRALIA, 2003 belly-whop verb in sledding, to dive stomach-first onto the sled US, 1955 belly woman noun a pregnant woman JAMAICA, 1834

belly works noun diarrhoea GUYANA, 1996

below par adjective in poor health or spirits. From describing stocks and shares as below face value UK, 1937 below the radar adverb keeping a low profile; unperceived US, 1990

below the zone adverb (used of a military promotion) unexpectedly early. Vietnam war usage US, 1989 belt noun 1 a hit, a punch UK, 1937. 2 a gulp, especially of strong alcohol US, 1922. 3 the first, strong effect of a drug US, 1948. 4 a prostitute; any woman regarded as a sex-object. The earlier sense of 'prostitute' seems to have been spread from the Australian to the British forces during World War 2 and, in so doing, broadened its intention AUSTRALIA, 1945. ► below the belt unfair, unsportsmanlike. From the language of boxing, where a blow below the belt is prohibited UK, 1890. ► under your belt personal experience of something. From an earlier use, of food in your stomach UK, 1958 belt verb to hit someone or something. From earlier sense: to hit with a belt UK, 1838 belta adjective good, excellent UK, 2003 belt along; belt verb to move at great speed. Originally Gloucestershire dialect UK, 1890 belt buckle polisher noun a song suited for slow dancing US, 1984 belt down; belt verb to rain heavily UK, 1984 belted adjective drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1970

belter noun 1 a thrilling event; a wonderful thing UK, 1983. 2 a song that can be sung with great vigour; a type of singer that has a vigorous approach to a song UK, 1984 belting noun a beating whether punitive or pugilistic UK, 1825 belting adjective excellent UK, 2002 belt out verb to sing or play a musical instrument with great vigour UK, 1953 belts and boards noun accoutrements for a Royal Canadian Air Force officer's uniform on formal ceremonial occasions CANADA, 1995 belt up! be quiet! UK, 1949

Beltway commando noun any military bureaucrat working in Washington D.C. Gulf war usage US, 1991 be lucky goodbye. Cockney, maybe MOCKNEY UK, 1974

Belushi noun a combination of cocaine and heroin. In memory of the SPEEDBALL mix that killed film actor John Belushi, 1949–82 US, 1998

Belyando spruce; Belyando sprue noun marijuana from the Belyando area of Queensland AUSTRALIA, 1977 be my guest! do as you wish; you are welcome to have whatever has been asked for US, 1955

ben noun 1 a lavatory. Rhyming slang for 'Benghazi', KARZY (a lavatory); from the Libyan seaport and probably originating in the desert campaign of World War 2 UK, 1992. 2 benzodiazepine, an anti-depressant, especially Valium™. Also referred to as 'benzo', 1996

Ben; Bennie; Benjamin noun Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), or another central nervous system stimulant. Truckers often personify stimulants, referring to 'my good friend Benjamin' or saying 'better let Bennie drive' US, 1971 benar adjective better. Originally C16, conjugated as BENE (good), 'benar, benat' (best); the 'best' sense is now obsolete but 'good' and 'better' survived in the affected surroundings of polari UK, 2002 bench noun 1 an athletic's team coaching staff and reserve players, collectively US, 1962. 2 a youth gang US, 1951. ► ride the bench; warm the bench to sit on the sidelines of an athletic contest as a substitute player US, 1911 bench verb 1 to remove someone from competition. Originally a sports term – the player literally returned to the bench during a game. Later applied to a variety of situations US, 1917. 2 to reprimand someone US, 1997 bench boy noun an athlete who never makes the starting lineup and thus spends most of the time during games sitting on the team bench US, 1999 bench jockey noun in a team sport, a substitute player, especially one who makes his opinion known from the bench US, 1939 bench race verb to talk about drag racing without actually doing it US, 1960s to 70s benchwarmer noun a substitute player on a sports team US, 1905 bend noun 1 a spree, especially involving hard drinking; hence, a drug-induced hallucinogenic experience UK, 1979. 2 money US, 1973 bend verb 1 to deliberately slur or distort a musical note US, 1960. 2 to fraudulently affect the outcome of a sporting event; to bribe or by other means corrupt authority UK, 1864. 3 to take part in a gang fight US, 1993. ► bend the elbow to enjoy a few drinks NEW ZEALAND, 1994. ► bend the iron; bend the rust; bend the rail to change the position of a railway point US, 1946 bended knees noun cheese. Rhyming slang, sometimes shortened to 'bended'; noted in use amongst tramps UK, 1960 bender noun 1 a prolonged session of hard drinking US, 1845. 2 a male homosexual who plays the passive role in anal sex; a homosexual US, 1965. 3 a stolen car US, 1992. 4 any bending joint in the body, such as the elbow or knee US, 1973. 5 a Roman Catholic NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 6 a suspended prison sentence UK, 1996. 7 a hammer US, 1980 bender mender noun a hangover cure, especially a stiff drink. Elaborated on BENDER (a prolonged session of hard drinking) UK; SCOTLAND, 1988 bending drill noun an act of defecation in the open-air. Military use, originating with the British army in North Africa during World War 2 UK, 1945 bend over verb to submit; to give in to someone. An image that suggests bending over is 'to be buggered' US, 1960s bend over, brown eyes used as a humorous instruction to a patient about to undergo a rectal examination US, 1989 bends and motherfuckers noun the squat-thrust exercise drill. Vietnam war usage. In gentler times, known as a 'burpee' US, 1991 bend up verb to encourage or enable another's intoxication UK, 1999 bene; ben; bien adjective good. Originally C16, adapted from Italian bene, possibly Latin bonus (good) UK, 2002 benefit noun any hardship or unpleasant feature of army life. Used with obvious irony US, 1968

Ben Franklin noun a $100 note. From the engraving on the note US, 1990

Bengal lancer noun an opportunist, especially one who takes risks in pursuit of criminal gain. Glasgow rhyming slang for CHANCER UK, 2005 be nice! used by US troops in Vietnam when caught by surprise or provoked by another US, 1982 benies noun benefits US, 1970

Benjie; Benji noun a $100 note. From the portrait of Benjamin Franklin on the note US, 1985 benjo noun a toilet. From Japanese AUSTRALIA, 1988

Bennett buggy noun a car converted to a four-wheel, horse-drawn carriage by removal of the engine, drive train and windshield (in depression times); later, any broken-down car CANADA, 1987

Ben Nevis noun a long prison sentence. Prison slang, reported in private correspondence by a serving prisoner in January 2002. Ben Nevis is Britain's highest mountain to climb UK, 2002 bennie noun a female prostitute's customer who prefers to perform oral sex on the prostitute US, 1964 bennie God noun the sun US, 1965 bennie machine noun a reflector used while sunbathing US, 1965 bennies noun 1 sun rays. A shortened form of 'beneficial' US, 1965. 2 during the Vietnam war, basic comforts. A shortened form of 'benefits' US, 1976 benny noun 1 a Falkland Islander UK, 1982. 2 an amphetamine, especially Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1945. 3 a Benzedrine™ inhaler US, 1970. 4 a Benson & Hedges cigarette UK, 1996. 5 in Vancouver Island, an order of Eggs Benedict CANADA, 2002. 6 an overcoat UK, 1812. 7 a Ben Sherman shirt, a fashion item given iconic status by skinheads UK, 2001. 8 a sports fan who looks back at a basketball game and analyses what might have been. Synonymous with 'Monday Morning Quarterback' except basketball people like to call them 'Bennys'. Probably from the image of men in overcoats US, 1946. 9 a person who looks and talks the part of a surfer but does not actually surf US, 1991. ► get a benny on to lose your temper UK, 1997 benny blue noun in craps, a roll of seven when shooting for your point. From the call, 'Benny blue, you're all through!' US, 1985 benny boost noun a shoplifting technique involving the use of an oversized, specially equipped overcoat US, 1992

Benny boy noun a young transvestite prostitute found in Manila and other Southeast Asian cities PHILIPPINES, 1967

benny chaser noun coffee consumed with Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant. Used with humour by truckers who rely on different forms of stimulation to stay awake for long periods US, 1971 benny house noun a primarily heterosexual brothel that will upon request procure a male sexual partner for a male client US, 1965

Benny Mason; Mr Mason noun marijuana that is so potent that it must be stored in a pot or mason jar (a glass jar for preserving food) to contain the smell US, 1992 benny suggests noun good ideas. Military, from 'beneficial suggestions' UK, 1995 benny worker noun a thief who uses an overcoat to hide his movements or goods US, 1949 beno adjective used as a humorous description of a woman's condition while experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. From the pronouncement – 'There will be no fun tonight' US, 1954 benson noun a toady, a sycophant. Apparently derived from the name of the butler character in US television situation comedy Soap, 1978–82, and its concurrent spin-off Benson, 1979–86 UK; SCOTLAND, 1996 bent noun a homosexual UK, 1957 bent adjective 1 stolen US, 1930. 2 corrupt, crooked, criminal. The opposite of STRAIGHT (honest/conventional) UK, 1914. 3 unfaithful UK, 1958. 4 sexually deviant UK, 1957. 5 homosexual UK, 1959. 6 drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1833. 7 ill-humoured; grouchy US, 1965. 8 spoiled, broken, out-of-order UK, 1930. 9 suffering from decompression sickness UK, 1984. ► bent as a butcher's hook very corrupt, incontrovertibly criminal UK, 1977. ► bent as a nine-bob note 1 corrupt, crooked. In pre-decimalisation currency, ten-bob (ten shillings) was the only currency note for less than a pound value; a nine-bob note would have been an obvious forgery UK, 2000. 2 ostentatiously homosexual. A sterling elaboration of BENT UK, 2000. ► bent as arseholes corrupt, crooked UK, 1998 bent and greased adjective prepared to be taken advantage of. The sexual allusion is difficult to miss US, 1994 bent eight noun an eight-cylinder V engine US, 1948 bent stovebolt noun in drag racing and hot rodding, a Chevrolet V-8 engine US, 1968

Bent Whore nickname Bien Hoa, South Vietnam, site of an American air base during the Vietnam war US, 1991 benz noun a tablet of Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1969

Benz nickname a Mercedes-Benz car US, 1990

Benzedrina noun in homosexual usage, a personification of Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1980

Benzo noun a Mercedes-Benz car US, 1986

bequeenum adjective homosexual UK, 2003

Berb noun a social outcast US, 1993

Berdoo; San Berdoo; San Berdu nickname San Bernadino, California, east of Los Angeles US, 1914

bergwind noun a warm offshore breeze SOUTH AFRICA, 1876

bergy bit noun a small iceberg UK, 1906 bergy seltzer noun a fizzing produced in an iceberg when trapped air is released ANTARCTICA, 2000

berk; birk; burk; burke noun a fool. Almost certainly a reduction of the rhyming slang BERKSHIRE HUNT or BERKELEY HUNT (a CUNT) yet so widely used that the original sense has almost been lost; there is a suggestion that 'berk' may be a diminution of BERKELEYS (the female breasts), thus TIT (a fool) UK, 1936

Berkeley Quality Software noun any computer program that is incomplete or incorrect US, 1991 berkeleys noun the female breasts. From Romany berk (a breast) UK, 1984 berkers adjective angry, emotionally unstable. From 'berserk' NEW ZEALAND, 1998

berko adjective berserk; crazy AUSTRALIA, 1961

Berks noun Berkshire. A spoken form of the conventional written abbreviation, considered colloquial when used in speech as a genuine equivalent of the original name UK, 1937

Berkshire hunt; Berkeley hunt noun 1 a fool. Rhyming slang for CUNT, generally in the reduced form BERK. Also variant 'Birchington hunt' UK, 1937. 2 the vagina. Rhyming slang for CUNT. Also variant 'Birchington hunt' UK, 1937

berky noun a complete loss of temper and emotional stability NEW ZEALAND, 1985 berley noun in fishing, any material added to water in order to attract fish. Origin unknown AUSTRALIA, 1874

berley verb to place berley in the water to attract fish AUSTRALIA, 1852

Berlin Wall noun a testicle. Rhyming slang for 'ball', generally in the plural (BALLS) UK, 2003

Bermuda crescent noun a semi-circle of dance floor in front of a stage that remains empty when a band is playing. A joke on the Bermuda Triangle, a vast three-sided area of the Atlantic with angles at Bermuda, Puerto Rico and Fort Lauderdale, Florida, where ships and planes apparently disappear UK, 1999

Bermuda time adverb late BERMUDA, 1985

Bermuda triangle noun the vagina UK, 2001

Bernard Langered adjective drunk. An elaboration of LANGERED (drunk), playing on the name of German golfer Bernhard Langer (b.1957), possibly as an ironic swipe at his 'born-again' Christianity UK, 2002

Berni; Bernice; Bernie noun cocaine US, 1933

Bernie noun one million pounds. A jibe at Formula One motor racing tycoon Bernie Ecclestone who had his £1,000,000 donation to the Labour Party returned for reasons of political expediency 2002 UK, 2002

Bernie's flakes; Bernie's gold dust noun cocaine UK, 2002 berries noun 1 crystalised cocaine US, 1949. 2 anything considered to be the finest, the most excellent, the best. Probably a figurative use of THE BERRIES (testicles) in the same way that BOLLOCKS carries both senses. Also variant 'the berris' UK: SCOTLAND, 1974 berry noun 1 a dollar US, 1916. 2 crack cocaine US, 1993 berry verb to communicate via instant wireless messaging CANADA, 2002

berry sugar noun extra fine granulated sugar CANADA, 2002

Bert nickname ▷ see: FAT ALBERT berth noun a job working on a fishing boat. Originally, when fishing was done from dories, a 'berth' was a specific spot on one side of the dory where a fisherman was to row and work lines. It has come to mean any job on a fishing boat CANADA, 1999

Bertie noun ▶ do a Bertie to become an important informer. Police slang; after Bertie Smalls, a notorious or legendary (depending on your point of view) small-time robber turned police informer who, in 1973, became the original SUPERGRASS UK, 1999 be seeing you goodbye. 'Be seeing you' gained a sinister, threatening edge in 1967 when used in cult television series The Prisoner UK, 1937

Bess noun used as a term of address among male homosexuals US, 1965

bessie noun 1 the penis US, 1973. 2 a best-friend. Pronounced 'bezzie', used by teenagers UK, 2003 best noun a stroke of a cane, or 'the slipper' applied as corporal punishment. For some reason six was always the most popular number of deliveries ('six of the best') but the term varies to account for the punisher's preference. Corporal punishment has not been permitted in UK schools since the later C20 UK, 1912.

▶ one of the best a good man, a good companion UK, 1937 best verb should US, 1973. ▶ give (a number) of the best to give (so many) belts with a cane AUSTRALIA, 1965 best-best adjective the very best BARBADOS, 1982 best bet noun the most advantageous option UK, 1941 best bib and tucker noun your best clothes. Originally of an article worn by women and girls, in more generalised use by mid-C19 UK, 1747 best blue; best BD noun the better of an airman's or a soldier's two issued uniforms. BD is battledress'. In use throughout World War 2 and National Service, 1939–62 UK, 1939 best boy noun in television and film making, the electrician's assistant US, 1937 bestest adjective best. A solecism; childish, occasionally jocular or as an endearment UK, 1905 best friend noun your penis AUSTRALIA, 1992 best girl noun a fiancée, a wife or a special girlfriend US, 1887 be's that way used as a world-weary but wise acknowledgement that what is, is US, 1968 best of British luck!; best of British! used as an offer of good wishes, sometimes sincerely but generally with such heavy irony that the opposite is intended and inferred. Military coinage, in general use by 1960 UK, 1940s best piece noun a girlfriend or wife US, 1971 best seller noun a Ford Cortina car. Citizens' band radio slang, presumably inspired by Ford's sales figures at the time of coinage UK, 1981 bet verb ▶ bet a pound to a piece of shit used as a statement of absolute certainty. Usually construed positively as 'I will' or 'would bet'; occasional and earlier use may be negative UK, 1937.

▶ bet like the Watsons to bet heavily on horses. After legendary Australian gamblers AUSTRALIA, 1949. ▶ bet London to a brick used as a statement of absolute certainty AUSTRALIA, 1945.

▶ bet on a horse to be addicted to heroin or morphine US, 1992.

▶ bet on the blue to gamble on credit AUSTRALIA, 1949. ▶ bet on the coat to place a dummy bet with a bookmaker to encourage genuine interest in a bet AUSTRALIA, 1949. ▶ bet the dog in bar dice games, to bet the total amount of the pot US, 1971. ▶ bet the ranch; bet the farm to be absolutely certain about something US, 1981. ▶ bet until your nose bleeds in horse racing, to bet all of your resources on a sure thing AUSTRALIA, 1989. ▶ want to bet on it? a catchphrase used, with bet emphasised, as a challenging expression of doubt UK, 1971 bet! used for expressing approval US, 1987

beta noun 1 a test or probationary stage. Borrowed from the technical process of external testing of a product US, 1991. 2 the grade 'B' in academic work US, 1968 betcha! used as a statement of certainty. A phonetic blending of 'bet you' or an elision of BET YOUR ASS/BOOTS/LIFE, etc UK, 1964 bet-down adjective very ugly IRELAND, 2001 be the ... used as a command. Mockingly, from Zen philosophy, as in 'Driver, be the fast lane'. US, 1984 be there, aloha used as a farewell. Repopularised by ESPN's Keith Olberman, borrowed from the television programme Hawaii 5-0 US, 1978 be there or be square if you do not attend an event thus advertised you will risk being thought unfashionable. A popular catchphrase or slogan UK, 1960 betise noun an ill-timed remark. The term comes from French CANADA, 2002 bet on top noun a bogus bet laid by a bookmaker's confederate to encourage genuine interest in a particular gamble. The bookmaker's clerk will place the bet 'on top' (not in the body) of the betting book UK, 1961

Bette noun a person who looks better from a distance. After singer Bette Midler who recorded the song 'From a Distance', 1990 UK, 2004 better half noun a wife. A jocular usage that, over time, has also referred to 'a husband', 'a close friend' and 'a man's soul' UK, 1580 better idea noun in car repair shops, used to describe any of several ill-advised equipment developments by Ford. Derived from a Ford advertising slogan – 'Ford has a better idea' US, 1992 better living through chemistry used as a humorous endorsement of mind-altering recreational drug use. Borrowed from an advertising slogan of DuPont Chemicals US, 1970 better than a poke in the eye with a sharp stick describes an event or circumstance that is of minimal desirability. A 'burnt stick' or a 'blunt stick' allow further variation of the basic formula AUSTRALIA, 1974 betting ring noun the area at a racecourse devoted to betting AUSTRALIA, 1966 betting shop noun an illegal establishment for betting AUSTRALIA, 1956 betting tool noun in horse racing, a horse that consistently wins US, 1960

Betty noun 1 an attractive female US, 1988. 2 an old woman. Probably after Betty Hoskins (b.1922), well known to audiences of Graham Norton's television programmes since 1998 UK, 2003 betty bracelets noun police UK, 1993

Betty Coed noun the stereotypical female high school or college student US, 1961

Betty Crocker noun used by combat troops in Vietnam to describe their peers not in combat, especially those in Saigon. Betty Crocker is the mythical yet trademarked American homemaker created in 1921 by the Washburn Crosby Company, forerunner to General Mills Incorporated. One of many terms coined in Vietnam US, 1969

Betty Grable noun 1 sable. Rhyming slang in criminal use, based on the name of film actress Betty Grable (1916–73) UK, 1956. 2 a table. Rhyming slang, based on the name of film actress Betty Grable (1916–73). Also shortened to 'betty' UK, 1992 between pictures adjective out of work, unemployed. A euphemism, true in the entertainment industry, jocular elsewhere US, 1954 between you and me and the gate-post; between you and me and the bedpost between ourselves. Conjuring the image of a confidence passed over a garden gate. The 'bedpost', a still-used variation, allows for more intimate intercourse UK, 1832 bet your ass used as a statement of absolute certainty US, 1928 bet your boots used as a statement of absolute certainty US, 1856 bet your bottom dollar used as a statement of absolute certainty US, 1935 bet your hat used as a statement of absolute certainty US, 1879 bet your life used as a statement of absolute certainty US, 1852

Beulah land noun heaven. From the book of Isaiah, 62:4 US, 1939 bevels noun dice that have been altered by rounding off the sides slightly so as to produce a desired point US, 1963 beverada; bevois noun 1 a drink, especially beer. Affected variations of BEVVY UK, 2002. 2 a public house. An affected variation of BEVVY CASEY UK, 2002

Beverley Pills noun the prescription drug Vicodin™ when taken recreationally US, 2002

bevie homie noun a heavy drinker UK, 1953

Bevin noun in the mining industry, a shift spent at home as a result of mechanical breakdown. After Ernest Bevin, 1881–1951, statesman and creator of the Transport and General Workers Union. This term, like most of the UK's mining industry, has not survived the intervening years UK, 1970

bevo noun any alcoholic beverage US, 2003 bevvied; bevved up adjective drunk. From BEVVY (an alcoholic drink) UK, 1960

bevvy verb to drink alcohol UK, 1934 bevvy; bevie noun ► on the bevvy; on the bevie to be drinking, especially for a period of time dedicated to drunkenness UK, 1953 bevvy; bevie; bev noun 1 an alcoholic drink, especially beer. Possibly from the circus term 'bevie' (a public house), or an abbreviation of 'beverage'; both derive from C15 'bever' (drink), and ultimately from Latin bibere UK, 1889 bevvy casey; bevie casey noun a public house. A combination of BEVVY (an alcoholic drink) and, ultimately, Italian casa (house) UK, MID-C19 bevvy ome noun a drunkard. A combination of BEVVY (an alcoholic drink) and OME (a man) UK, 1937

bevvy-up noun a drinking session UK, 1962 bevvy up verb to drink alcohol. An elaboration of BEVVY UK, 1970

bewitched, bothered and bewildered adjective confused. The title of a song from the 1940 show Pal Joey, lyrics by Lorenz Hart, music by Richard Rodgers US, 1950

Bexley Heath; bexleys noun the teeth. Rhyming slang, based on a convenient area of Greater London UK, 1992 beyond adjective outstanding, amazing, extraordinary US, 1999 beyond adverb in England IRELAND, 1997 bezazz; bizzazz noun glamour, sparkle, energy, excitement. A variation, if not a misspelling, of PIZZAZZ US, 1970 bezel noun any car part US, 1959

bezzie adjective best UK, 2005

BF; bee eff noun a bloody fool. A euphemistic abbreviation UK, 1960

BFD noun a big fucking deal. Sometimes euphemised from 'fucking' to 'fat' US, 1966

BFE noun any remote location. An abbreviation of BUMFUCK, EGYPT US, 1989

BFI noun 1 in computer technology, an approach relying on brute force and ignorance rather than elegant analysis US, 1986. 2 a massive heart attack or stroke; a big fucking infarct US, 1994

B flat adjective fat. Rhyming slang UK, 2002

BFN noun an extremely remote place. An abbreviation of BUTT FUCKING NOWHERE US, 2002

BFU adjective big, fat and ugly US, 1996

BG noun a young member of a youth gang. An abbreviation of baby gangster US, 1995

B game noun in a gambling establishment or cardroom, the table with the second highest betting limit US, 1988

BGF the Black Guerilla Family, a black prison gang US, 2000

B girl noun 1 a woman who works in a bar, encouraging customers through flirtation to buy drinks, both for themselves and for her US, 1936. 2 a young woman involved in early hip-hop. From 'break girl' US, 2000

BH! used in anger, astonishment, disappointment and frustration. A euphemistic abbreviation of BLOODY HELL! UK, 1928 hang noun 1 marijuana, usually presumed to be from India. Urdu for cannabis indica (Indian hemp), also used for a marijuana tea. Known in various forms since 1598, modern usage and variant spelling, 'bang', probably begins with hippies INDIA, 1948. 2 a mixture of marijuana pollen and ghee for smoking UK, 2002 hang lassi noun yoghurt and marijuana combined in a drink INDIA, 2003

B head noun a barbiturate user or addict US, 1979 bhoy noun an Irishman involved in crime or political violence, especially as 'the Bhoys'. Irish pronunciation of 'boy' UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 2001 bi noun a bisexual person US, 1956 bi adjective bisexual US, 1956 bianc; beone; beyonek; beyong noun a shilling. From Italian bianco (white) for the silver of the coin; these variations survived in theatrical and gay society from mid-C19 until UK decimalisation in 1971 UK, 2002

Bianca blast noun oral sex performed with a mouth full of Bianca mouth wash US, 1993 bib noun 1 in horse racing, a horse's nose or head as a measure of a close finish AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003. ► push your bib in; put your bib in; stick your bib in to interfere AUSTRALIA, 1959 bib verb to sound a horn. A variation of conventional 'beep' UK, 2004 bibby noun 1 a native woman or girl. A new spelling for obsolete Anglo-Indian 'bebee' UK, 1975. 2 mucus BARBADOS, 1982

bibby-dibby adjective petty, trivial, worthless JAMAICA, 2003

bibi adjective bisexual UK, 2002

Bible noun 1 the truth US, 1948. 2 a fundamental source book, if not the most authoritative reference book in a given field US, 1893. 3 on the railways, the book of company rules US, 1946. 4 in trucking, the Interstate Commerce Commission's book of regulations governing trucking US, 1971. 5 the Harley-Davidson repair manual. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2001. 6 in a unionised work environment, the union contract US, 1963. 7 in circus and carnival usage, a programme or souvenir magazine US, 1981. 8 in the circus or carnival, The Billboard, a business newspaper US, 1980. ► the Bible Glass's Guide to Used Car Prices, first published in 1933. A specialist use for the motor trade UK, 1981 bibleback noun 1 a prisoner who has turned to religion, sincerely or not US, 1972. 2 in the circus or carnival, a folding plank used for grandstands US, 1980

Bible-basher; Bible-thumper noun an evangelical Christian US, 1885

bible-bashing adjective Christian, especially zealously so AUSTRALIA, 1975

Bible belt noun 1 rural America, especially in the south, where fundamentalist Christians dominate the culture US, 1924. 2 the political interests and constituency of the (Christian) religious right UK, 2001. 3 any area with a fundamentalist Christian majority UK, 2001

Bible belter noun a person from the rural mid-western or southern US. Implies ignorance, gullibility and backwardness US, 1978

Bible bunny noun a Christian who is filled with spiritual joy US, 1998

Bible puncher noun in the armed services, a chaplain. Not recorded until 1961 but suggested by BIBLE-PUNCHING, 1937 UK, 1961

Bible-punching noun a sermon, a religious talk. Also, now more usually, used as an adjective UK, 1937

Bible run noun in television and film making, a weekly print-out of all production expenses US, 1990

Biblical neckline; Biblical top noun a low-cut neckline on an item of ladies' wear that reveals generous amounts of cleavage, or more. A pun on 'Lo and behold!'. Possibly Australian in origin and, when noted in 1984, was thought to have slipped into disuse by the mid-1960s. It is currently alive and well in the UK in comedian's patter: 'I see you're wearing your biblical top tonight ... Lo and behold! And, yea, I can see the promised land. And, hallelujah! – there is milk and honey! One on each tap' UK, 1984 bic verb to understand. Vietnam war usage; a corrupted biet, Vietnamese for 'understand' US, 1991 bicarb noun bicarbonate of soda US, 1922 bice; byce noun two, especially £2. From French bis (twice) UK, 1937 bice and a roht; bice and a half noun in betting, odds of 5–2. The literal sense is 'two and a half'; in betting odds the '–1' is usually implied. From BICE (two) UK, 1937 bicho noun the penis US, 1976

bicky; bikky noun a biscuit UK, 1886 bicoastal adjective pertaining to the west and east coasts of the US. Almost always used with a sense of mocking, hyper-formality US, 1984 bi-curious adjective interested in experimenting with bisexuality US, 1990 bicycle noun 1 a sexually promiscuous female UK, 1989. 2 a bisexual US, 1978. 3 in lowball poker, the lowest possible straight US, 1981. 4 in electric line work, a chain drill used for drilling holes US, 1980. ► on your bicycle in boxing, staying away from the opponent's punches by back pedalling US, 1936 bicycle verb 1 in television and film making, to work on multiple projects simultaneously. In the days of silent films, to show a film at several different theatres required transporting it from one theatre to another, often by bicycle US, 1977. 2 to ride a surfboard with a wide stance US, 1977 bicycle pump noun a large syringe. Korean war usage US, 1961 bid noun an old woman, especially one who complains or fusses. A shortening of BIDDY UK, 1984 biddims noun trousers that are too short and narrow BARBADOS, 1996 biddle move noun a manoeuvre by a cheat or a conjuror that moves a selected playing card to the bottom of the deck UK, 2003 biddy noun an old woman, usually one prone to complain and fuss. The dominant sense of the term in the US, with the older sense of a 'young woman' unknown US, 1938 bidness noun business. A Texas corrupted pronunciation of a Texas activity US, 1984 biff noun 1 a blow, a hit, a whack US, 1847. 2 fighting, especially fighting on a sporting field AUSTRALIA, 1970. 3 in mountain biking, a crash US, 1996. 4 in pinball, a forceful hit with the flipper US, 1977. 5 the vagina, the vulva UK, 1997. 6 a person deformed to some degree by spina bifida. An offensive term used by schoolchildren UK, 2003. 7 a toilet US, 1942 biff verb 1 to hit someone or something UK, 1888. 2 to throw something NEW ZEALAND, 1964. 3 in computing, to inform someone of incoming mail US, 1991. 4 to fail US, 1997 biffa adjective very ugly. Probably derives from US BIFFER (an unattractive woman); however UK theories abound, including: 'Biffo the Bear' in the Beano comic from 1948, simply known as 'Biffo' by the 1990s; 'Biffa Bacon' in the later Viz comic; and the familiar company name, 'Biffa Waste Services' UK, 2003 biffer noun 1 someone with a reputation as a hard hitter, especially in sports UK, 2003. 2 any implement used for hitting, whether designed for such a purpose or improvised UK, 2003. 3 an unattractive woman US, 1932 biffoe noun a rude and obnoxious person UK, 1983 biffy noun a toilet US, 1942

biffy adjective drunk UK, 1961 bifta noun 1 a marijuana cigarette; sufficient marijuana to make a cigarette. Also Variant spellings 'biftah' or 'bifter' UK, 1996. 2 a cigarette. Sometimes shortened to 'bif'. UK, 1996 big verb to impregnate someone US, 1917 big adjective 1 generous. Often ironic, especially in the phrase 'that's big of you' US, 1934. 2 in darts, the larger of two sections of a number on the dartboard. For example, the larger 6 section would be 'big six' US, 1980. ► like a big dog to an extreme US, 1987. ► the big dish a big win. Australian gambling slang AUSTRALIA, 1949. ► too big for your boots conceited, self-important UK, 1879 big adverb very successfully; to a great degree. Especially in the phrase GO OVER BIG US, 1893. ► go over big to achieve great success US, 1962

Big A noun 1 AIDS US, 1992. 2 in poker, an ace, especially when it is the deciding card in a hand US, 1988. ► give someone the Big A to dismiss, reject or sack someone. The 'big A' is a euphemism for 'arse' AUSTRALIA, 1976

Big A nickname 1 Eddie Arcaro (1916–1917), dominant jockey in American horse racing from 1933 until 1962, one of only two jockeys to win the Kentucky Derby five times. The 'Big' sobriquet supplied a dose of irony when applied to a man who stood 5' 2" and weighed 114 pounds US, 1937. 2 the Aqueduct Race Track in Westbury, New York US, 1959. 3 the US federal penitentiary in Atlanta, Georgia US, 1982 big air noun an impressive distance between a snowboarder and the SNOW US, 1994 big an heavies noun Benson & Hedges™ cigarettes UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

big apple noun a cap with a big visor. In vogue during the 'Superfly' era of the early 1970s US, 1970

Big Apple nickname New York. Slang etymologists Gerald Cohen and Barry Popik have researched the origins of the term extensively, destroying along the way a number of popular yet false etymologies. Cohen and Popik trace the first printed use of the term to New York sportswriter John J. Fitzgerald, who heard the term used by black racetrack stable hands US, 1921 big-arsed adjective big UK, 2000 big-ass adjective very large US, 1957 big-ass bird noun the Boeing B-17 military aircraft US, 1961 big-assed adjective large US, 1945

Big B nickname Berlin US, 1944

big bag noun a large bag of heroin; heroin US, 1969 big ball noun 1 in pool, an object ball that can be hit either directly or on the rebound off a cushion. Because there are two ways to hit it, it is a bigger target, hence a 'big ball' US, 1913. 2 in bowling, a roll that forcefully hooks into the standing pins US, 1962 big baller noun a big spender US, 2001 big banger noun a motorcyle with a large one-cylinder engine US, 1965 big beast noun an important, powerful person UK, 2000 big belly noun a B-52 bomber US, 1986

Big Ben noun 1 ten; ten pounds. Rhyming slang UK, 1960. 2 the new, large design hundred-dollar note minted in the late 1990s. The 'Ben' is an allusion to Benjamin Franklin, the C18 slang lexicographer whose portrait graces the note US, 1996.

3 Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1966. 4 in craps, a roll of ten. Rhyming slang US, 1999. 5 a prison siren that announces an escape or riot US, 1950. 6 the penis. A visual pun from the London landmark UK, 2001

Big Ben nickname the USS Franklin (heavily damaged off Japan on 19th March 1945, repaired and mothballed); the USS Bennington (commissioned in 1944, decommissioned in 1970). The Bennington was featured in the opening scene of the CBS television programme Navy Log in 1956 and 1957 US, 1954

Big Bertha noun an over-sized slot machine used as a promotion for hotel guests and to lure prospective gamblers into a casino US, 1984

Big Bertha nickname the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus US, 1973

big bikkies noun a large amount of money. From BICKY, a diminutive form of 'biscuit' NEW ZEALAND, 1980 big bill noun a $100 note US, 1961 big bird noun a long prison sentence. A play on BIRD (LIME) (time served in prison) and 'Big Bird' a large puppet featured on Sesame Street, a children's television programme since 1969 UK, 2000

Big Bird noun in homosexual usage, a man with a large penis. An allusion to a character on the children's television programme Sesame Street US, 1980 big bitch noun the prison sentence given to habitual criminals US, 1962 big bloke noun cocaine US, 1959 big blow noun a hurricane. Used by Australian fishermen and sailors AUSTRALIA, 1944

Big Blue 82 noun a 12,540-pound BLU-82 bomb. A vicious anti-personnel weapon, developed for vegetation clearing in Vietnam, used again in the Persian Gulf war and Afghanistan US, 1991 big blue bin noun the outdoors, when surplus grain is stored there CANADA, 1987 big-boobed adjective of a female, having generously proportioned breasts US, 1970 big book noun in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, the book Alcoholics Anonymous, first published in 1939 and still the central document of the recovery movement US, 1998

Big Bopper nickname J. P. Richardson (1930–59), a Texas disc jockey in the early years of rock and roll whose hit recording of 'Chantilly Lace' propelled him into performing stardom, which in turn placed him on the small aeroplane 'American Pie' that carried Buddy Holly and him to their death UK, 1982 big boss noun heroin US, 1972 big box noun a large chain of shops featuring a single type of merchandise US, 1993 big boy noun 1 a tank. Vietnam war usage. The bigger the tank and the more weapons mounted on the tank, the more likely it was to be called a 'big boy' US, 1968. 2 a marijuana cigarette UK, 1999 big brother noun 1 the penis, especially a large penis US, 1965. 2 the erect penis US, 1967

Big Brother noun used as the personification of all-encompassing government authority. From George Orwell's 1949 novel 1984 UK, 1949 big brown eye noun the female breast US, 1971 big brownies noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. A variation of BROWNIE (amphetamine or MDMA) that distinguishes SPEED from ECSTASY UK, 1998

big bud noun a very popular variety of marijuana with heavy buds UK, 2004

Big C noun 1 cancer US, 1964. 2 cocaine US, 1959. 3 commitment to a relationship seen as something to be feared or avoided UK, 2003. 4 in citizens' band radio slang, applied to many UK towns beginning with C, specifically Caernarfon, Carlisle, Chichester or Chippenham. This logic is continued throughout the alphabet, e.g. 'big B by the sea' (Brighton), 'big D' (Dorchester), 'big W' (Worthing); also, villages beginning with C become 'little C' or, in Scotland, 'wee C' UK, 1981. 5 a female as an sexual object. A hint of CUNT US, 1963. 6 a railway conductor US, 1968 big cage noun a prison US, 1949 big car, small dick; BCSD used for insulting someone who has a large or expensive car. Used proverbially: a car is a phallic symbol UK, 1999 big casino noun 1 the best that you can do; your greatest resource US, 1922. 2 cancer US, 1951. 3 any sexually transmitted infection US, 1948. 4 capital punishment, the death penalty US, 1960 big cat noun 1 a Jaguar car UK, 1981. 2 in poker, a hand comprised of five cards between eight and king and no pairs among them. Also known as 'big tiger' US, 1963 big Charlie noun 1 a CH-3C helicopter used during the Vietnam war for counterinsurgency airlifts US, 1985. 2 an important white man US, 1968 big cheese noun the most important person in a given organisation or enterprise US, 1914 big chicken dinner noun a bad conduct discharge. Playing with initials: armed forces usage US, 1991 big chief noun the hallucinogenic drug, mescaline US, 1971 big conk, big cock used as a summary of the folk wisdom that there is correlation between the size of a man's nose and the size of his penis UK, 1961

Big D noun 1 death US, 1977. 2 LSD US, 1966. 3 the penis. D as in DICK US, 1998

big D nickname 1 Dallas, Texas US, 1930. 2 Detroit, Michigan US, 1961. 3 Denver, Colorado US, 1967

big dad noun a senior drill instructor. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 big daddy noun 1 an immense wave US, 1977. 2 an important and influential man US, 1948

Big Daddy nickname 1 Jesse Unruh (1922–1987), a Democratic politician of great influence in California US, 1962. 2 Ed Roth (1932–2001), the hot rod artist most famous for creating the Rat Fink character in the early 1960s US, 1968. 3 Don Garlits (b.1932), the dominant drag racing driver in the US from the early 1960s to 70s US, 1965. 4 the Federal Communications Commission US, 1976 big dago noun a sandwich made on Italian bread US, 1960 big dance in Newark noun in circus and carnival usage, a jocular explanation for a small audience US, 1981 big day noun visiting day in prison US, 1949 big dead one nickname later in the Vietnam war, the First Infantry Division. A sad play on BIG RED ONE after heavy attrition through casualties US, 1991 big deal noun a major issue; often ironic, occasionally as an exclamation, used to dismiss such an issue as of little or no importance US, 1943 big Dick noun 1 in craps, a roll of ten. Often embellished to 'big Dick from Boston', 'big Dick from Battle Creek', and 'big Dick the ladies' friend'. Gambling slang authority, the late Thomas Clark, theorised that 'dick' came from the French dix. Another popular folk etymology is that the original Big Dick was Boston dice cheater Richard Mantell who was shot to death as he switched dice while trying to shoot a ten. The addition of 'the ladies' friend' leaves little doubt as to the most probable etymology – ten inches would indeed be big US, 1904. 2 a 14-inch rocket US, 1946

Big Dig noun a massive public works project in Boston, Massachusetts, replacing an existing six-lane central arterial motorway with an eight-to-ten lane underground expressway directly beneath the existing road US, 1988 big ditch nickname the Atlantic Ocean. A refinement of DITCH US, 1909 big dog noun in poker, a hand comprised of five cards between nine and ace and no pairs among them US, 1963 big dollar noun a great deal of money in any currency UK, 2000 big drink noun an ocean, especially the Atlantic Ocean. The term was first used to mean the Mississippi River; by the time it was applied to the ocean, the river sense had receded US, 1883 big drive noun a powerful injection of a drug US, 1949 big duck noun in trucking, a Republic moving van US, 1976 big duke noun in poker, especially hold 'em poker, a strong hand US, 1981

Big E noun 1 a dismissal, a rejection. The first letter of ELBOW (a dismissal) UK, 1982. 2 a railway engineer US, 1977

Big E nickname the USS Enterprise. Two aircraft carriers carried the name Enterprise and the nickname 'Big E', the first commissioned in 1936 and the second in 1961 US, 1942 big ears noun in the language of paragliding, an intentional collapsing of both tips of the wing to increase speed US, 1992

Big Easy nickname New Orleans, Louisiana US, 1970

big eat; big heaps noun a feast; a great meal TRISTAN DA CUNHA, 1964 big eight noun in poker, four twos. A borrowing from the game of craps US, 1988 big eights; big 8's good wishes US, 1976 big enchilada noun the supreme leader. A term coined and popularised by the Nixon White House during the Watergate scandal US, 1973 big end noun 1 in drag racing, the end of the quarter-mile race course where highest speeds are attained US, 1960s to 70s. 2 top speed. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2001 big-endian adjective in computing, denoting computer architecture in which the most significant byte is found in the lowest address US, 1991 big eye noun 1 a high-powered telescope, especially the one located on Palomar Mountain, California US, 1949. 2 a Lockheed EC-121 Warning Star aircraft. Deployed in Vietnam to provide early warning and communication relay; later redesignated the COLLEGE EYE US, 1991. 3 insomnia. A common condition in Antarctica because of the wild swings in daylight hours ANTARCTICA, 1959. 4 avarice BAHAMAS, 1982 big F the word 'fuck', in all uses INDIA, 2002 big fat noun a large marijuana cigarette UK, 2001 big fat one noun a large marijuana cigarette UK, 2001 big-feeling adjective inordinately proud CANADA, 1988 big fella noun the penis. An obvious, perhaps boastful, variation of OLD FELLOW UK, 2001 big fellow noun a law enforcement official of the US federal government US, 1974 big fish noun a very important person or thing US, 1836 big fish, little fish, cardboard box noun the hand movements that characterised techno-style dancing in the early 1990s UK, 2001 big flake noun cocaine UK, 1998 big foot noun 1 a prominent, highly visible journalist or columnist, especially one covering politics US, 1980. 2 an inflammation of the foot JAMAICA, 2003 big foot country noun the deep, rural south of the US US, 1974 big fours; big 4's yes, emphatically. Citizens' band radio slang US, 1976 big friend noun a bomber aircraft US, 1946 big fucking deal noun a major issue. An elaboration of BIG DEAL. Often used to dismiss something as not being a major issue US, 1977 big full noun in poker, a hand consisting of three aces and two kings. This hand represents the best possible variation of the hand conventionally known as a 'full house' US, 1978

big G noun God US, 1981

big general noun in a bar dice game, a first roll showing five dice of the same denomination US, 1974

Big George noun a twenty-five cent piece US, 1973 biggie noun 1 a big deal; something of consequence or difficulty. Often in the negative: 'no biggie' US, 1945. 2 an important person US, 1926. 3 a big-name actor who can be counted on to draw a large audience US, 1926. 4 an act of defecation. Children's vocabulary NEW ZEALAND, 1994. 5 marijuana UK, 2003. 6 a 26-ounce bottle of rum GUYANA, 1978 big girl noun an effeminate, weak and/or cowardly male AUSTRALIA, 1986 big girl's blouse noun an effeminate, weak and/or cowardly male UK, 1969 big girls' board noun the London variety of dartboard. Used with derision by Manchester board players UK, 1980 biggity adverb in a haughty, arrogant or conceited way US, 1880 big green noun in sporting and music events, corporate sponsors US, 1992 biggums adjective overweight US, 1994 big gun noun a large surfboard designed for big-wave conditions AUSTRALIA, 1963 biggun noun anything big. A shortening of 'big one'; either deliberately jocular or matter-of-factly UK, 1971

Big H noun heroin US, 1953

big hair noun an extravagant, large-sized hairdo US, 1978

Big Harry noun heroin. An elaboration of HARRY (heroin) on the model of BIG H (heroin) US, 1975 big hat noun a local state trooper. From the wide-brimmed hats formerly worn by many state troopers US, 1967 big hat, no cattle used for describing someone who appears the part but has no substance US, 1977 big head noun 1 a conceited, arrogant or haughty person US, 1846. 2 arrogance, excessive pride US, 1992 big-headed adjective conceited, arrogant, haughty US, 1967 big heaps noun a large meal ANTARCTICA, 1964

big hit verb to defecate. Rhyming slang for SHIT AUSTRALIA, 1960 big hitter noun 1 an important, influential or powerful person. From the sporting sense UK, 2002. 2 a sportsperson who strikes a ball especially hard with a bat, club or racket, etc UK, 2002 big hole noun 1 the emergency stop position on a railway air brake US, 1931. 2 in trucking, the position of the gear shift with the most gear combinations US, 1942 big hook noun a wrecking crane US, 1929 big house noun 1 a prison. Usually follows 'the' US, 1913. 2 a crown court UK, 1996. 3 a mental hospital; any large, impersonal, threatening institution. Extended from an earlier usage (a workhouse) UK, 1984

Big House noun ► the Big House New Scotland Yard UK, 2001 big Huey; big Huey Long noun a long prison sentence. An allusion to Huey Long, former governor of Louisiana reputed to have advocated harsh prison sentences NEW ZEALAND, 1999 big idea noun a bad idea US, 1960

Big Inch nickname a pipeline from east Texas to the northeast states, built 1942–43. The success of the project – and its naughty-sounding nickname – gave birth to the ‘Little Big Inch’ (Texas to New Jersey, 1943–44) and ‘Big Inch-by-Inch’ (Edmonton to British Columbia, 1951–53) US, 1947 big iron noun 1 a large car US, 1975. 2 a large, powerful, fast, expensive computer US, 1991

Big J nickname Juarez, Mexico US, 1970

big jobs noun an act of defecation; excrement. Thus ‘to do big jobs’; childish UK, 1971

Big Joe noun a novice, especially a military recruit US, 1947

Big Joe from Boston noun in craps, a ten US, 1957

big John noun a police officer, the police; used mainly by black teenagers US, 1980

Big John nickname the John Hancock Center, Chicago, Illinois US, 1997

big juicer noun a powerful, all-night AM radio station US, 1976

Big K nickname Korea US, 1970

big kahuna noun a top leader. From a Hawaiian term for ‘priest’ or ‘wise man’ US, 1990

Big L noun 1 love US, 1987. 2 a loser US, 1984

Big L nickname 1 Lubbock, Texas US, 1976. 2 the federal penitentiary in Leavenworth, Kansas US, 1970. 3 the offshore ‘pirate’ radio station, Radio London, that broadcast off the Essex coast from 1964 until it was forced off the air on 14th August 1967 UK, 2004

big-league verb to associate with important, influential, connected or rich people US, 1999 big-league adjective powerful, influential, important US, 1919 big leagues noun a high level in any field. Also used in the singular US, 1941 big legs noun a generous spender US, 1987

Big M noun 1 morphine US, 1959. 2 a million pounds. Dates from a time in the C20 when a million pounds was less commonplace UK, 1978. 3 marriage US, 1966

Big M nickname Memphis, Tennessee US, 1976

Big Mac noun a large area of grazed skin. Skateboarders’ slang; from the similarity of appearance to a branded hamburger UK, 1998 big mama noun the ocean US, 1991

Big Man noun God UK, 2002

big man on campus noun a socially prominent student. Initially used with respect, but often in later years with irony, if not scorn US, 1930s to 70s big meeting in the sky noun heaven as characterised by those who are part of twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous US, 1998

Big Mo nickname the USS Missouri US, 1945

big mother noun a Sikorsky SH-3 helicopter used by the US Navy in Vietnam for search and rescue missions US, 1990 big mouth noun an indiscreet, boastful or overly verbose person; a quality of indiscreet talkativeness US, 1889 big mover noun a person who is, either consistently or on a specific occasion, highly successful AUSTRALIA, 1969

Big Muddy nickname 1 the Mississippi River US, 1846. 2 the Missouri River US, 1825

big nickel noun five hundred dollars US, 1961 big noise noun 1 an important and influential person US, 1906. 2 in poker, the alpha player at a table US, 1996 big-note verb in betting, to exaggerate your status or bankroll AUSTRALIA, 1989

big-noter noun a zealous horse racing fan AUSTRALIA, 1967

big-note yourself verb to overstate your importance AUSTRALIA, 1953

bignum noun any very large number, especially if greater than 2,147,483,648 US, 1983 big number noun in drag racing, 200 miles per hour, first officially recorded on 12th July, 1964 US, 1968 big NUMBER-oh noun a birthday ending with a zero, especially 30, 40 and 50. For instance, 50 is the ‘big-five-oh’, US, 1980

Big O noun 1 an orgasm US, 1968. 2 opium; heroin US, 1957. 3 a railway conductor. From the labour organisation name ‘Order of Railroad Conductors’ US, 1930

Big O nickname 1 Okinawa, Japan US, 1972. 2 Omaha, Nebraska US, 1976 big on adjective especially enthusiastic about something; considering something to be particularly important US, 1864

big one noun 1 one hundred dollars US, 1961. 2 one million dollars US, 1967. 3 one thousand dollars US, 1863. 4 in prison, one pound (£1) UK, 2000. 5 World War 2 US, 1971. 6 in horse racing, the race on a given day with the highest prize money AUSTRALIA, 1989. 7 the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey circus US, 1973. 8 a substantial lie UK, 1984 big orange pill noun during the war in Vietnam, the anti-malarial pill taken once a week in addition to the daily medication. Chloroquine-primaquine was taken weekly in the form of a large, orange-coloured pill US, 1991 bigot noun in computing, a person who is irrationally attached to a particular operating system or computer language US, 1991

big ouch noun a serious injury US, 1962 big outpatient department in the sky noun death US, 1989

Big Owe nickname the Olympic Stadium in Montreal, built for the 1976 Games CANADA, 2002

big ox noun on the railways, a freight train conductor US, 1977 big pond noun 1 the Atlantic Ocean. An ironic understatement of the distance between the UK and the US; ‘great pond’, an earlier variation, is recorded from 1641 US, 1833. 2 during the Vietnam war, the Pacific Ocean. Playing on the use of the term since the 1830s to refer to the Atlantic Ocean US, 1991 big PX in the sky noun death. Vietnam war usage, grim humour based on many cheerful euphemisms for death as a ‘big [fill in the blank] in the sky’ US, 1991

Big Q nickname the San Quentin State Prison, California. Just north of San Francisco, San Quentin houses California’s death chamber US, 1961 big quid noun a great deal of money. Pre-1966, a ‘quid’ was a one-pound note; its usage did not change with the change to Australian dollars, referring to money in general AUSTRALIA, 1989

Big R noun 1 during the Korean war, rotation home. Distinguished from the conventional R AND R (rest and recreation) US, 1960. 2 in trucking, a Roadway Express truck US, 1976 big red noun 1 secobarbital, a sedative-hypnotic drug marketed under the brand name Seconal™ US, 2001. 2 adriamycin, an extremely toxic agent used in chemotherapy US, 1994. 3 in craps, a one-roll bet on a seven. If the shooter rolls a seven, he loses; ‘big red’ thus serves as a diplomatic way to bet that the shooter will lose on the next roll US, 1981. 4 the desert sun US, 1991

Big Red One nickname the First Infantry Division, US Army. The Division’s patch is a big red number one US, 1970

big red wrench noun in hot rodding and motor racing, an oxyacetylene cutting torch US, 1993 big rig noun a large tractor trailer with eighteen or more wheels US, 1986

Big Rock nickname the US federal penitentiary on Alcatraz Island, San Francisco Bay US, 1970

big rush noun cocaine UK, 1998

biggs noun 1 in pool, the striped balls numbered 9 to 15 US, 1990. 2 cigarettes US, 1997

biggs-and-littles noun in hot rodding, the combination of large rear tyres and small front tyres US, 1993 big shit noun 1 an important person, if only in their own eyes US, 1934. 2 an important event or thing US, 1960

big shot noun an important and influential person US, 1927 big shotgun noun a 106 mm recoilless rifle, developed during the Korean war and used extensively by the US Marines in Vietnam US, 1991 big-six talk noun talk unsupported by action US, 1990 big sleep noun death; capital punishment US, 1951 big slick noun in hold 'em poker, an ace and a king as the first two cards dealt to a player US, 1981

Big Smoke noun 1 any large city or town. Originally Australian Aboriginal pidgin AUSTRALIA, 1848. 2 any city in British Columbia CANADA, 1989

Big Smoke nickname 1 the city of Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1959. 2 Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania US, 1930

big snip noun a vasectomy CANADA, 2002 big spark noun an electric shock administered in a hospital to a patient whose heart has failed in an attempt to revive the heart US, 1994 big spit; long spit noun the act of vomiting; vomit AUSTRALIA, 1967.

► go for the big spit to vomit AUSTRALIA, 1964

big stick noun the large aerial ladder used by firefighters US, 1963 big stuff noun 1 any very important or influential person US, 1911. 2 artillery, artillery fire. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 big-style adverb very much; completely, absolutely UK, 1999 big tender noun a scene in a pornographic film when the participants hug each other US, 1991 big-ticket adjective expensive; representing a major purchase US, 1945 big time noun 1 the highest level of achievement in a field. Originally theatrical US, 1910. 2 a long sentence to state prison US, 1939. 3 heroin US, 1971. ► get big time to put on airs, to assume a 'posh' accent. Used by a Midlands professional man, in a BBC Radio 4 programme on class distinction, 4th February 1980 UK, 1980 big-time verb to show off US, 1957 big time adverb very much, entirely, utterly. The term got a big boost in the US during the 2000 presidential election when Republican vice-presidential candidate Dick Cheney concurred with candidate Bush's assessment of a New York Times reporter as a 'major-league asshole' by mumbling 'Yeah, big time' at a campaign stop in Naperville, Illinois, on 4th September. A live microphone picked up the insults, giving 'big time' its fifteen minutes of fame US, 1957

Big Tom noun in a carnival ball-throwing game, a big stuffed cat target that has been weighted and is thus hard to knock down US, 1981 big top noun a prison, especially a maximum-security state prison US, 1955

Big T-Owe nickname the sports stadium in downtown Toronto, which loses money CANADA, 2002 big train noun in horse racing, a great racehorse US, 1951 big trip noun a holiday to Britain and Europe. For many Australians such a holiday is only taken once in a lifetime AUSTRALIA, 1978 big truck adjective of lesbians, 'manly', masculine. Probably inspired by DIESEL (a 'manly' lesbian) UK, 2003 big Turk noun an ostrich. Circus and carnival usage US, 1981 big twenty noun a 20-year career in the armed forces US, 1991 big twist noun an occasion for celebration; an outstanding success AUSTRALIA, 1959

Big Two nickname World War 2 US, 1961

big up noun 1 very positive agreement UK, 2002. 2 a socially prominent person BARBADOS, 1996 big up verb to boost, to promote something, to show off, to praise something UK, 1994 big-up adjective pregnant BAHAMAS, 1995

Big V noun a vasectomy CANADA, 2002

Big V nickname Vietnam US, 1972

big wheel noun a prominent, powerful and important person US, 1942 big white chief; great white chief noun your boss; a person of importance in a superior or most superior position. A casually racist, supposedly jocular usage, modelled on Native American Indian speech UK, 1937 big white telephone noun the toilet bowl when vomiting into it AUSTRALIA, 1985 big whoop! used to mock the importance of what has just been said US, 1981 bigwig noun a person of high rank or position or money UK, 1731 big win noun complete luck US, 1991 big yard noun the main yard in a prison where the general population mingles for recreation US, 1987 bijou adjective small, as a positive characteristic. Adopted from French bijou (small); used widely of houses and other buildings, and with greater variation in homosexual society UK, 1860 bijoux noun jewels. Directly from French bijoux UK, 1992 bike noun 1 a promiscuous woman. Suggests 'easy availability for a ride'. Often in compound as 'office bike', 'school bike', 'town bike', 'village bike', etc.; occasionally, if reputation demands, 'the bike' AUSTRALIA, 1945. 2 a motorcycle police officer US, 1958. 3 in harness racing, a two-wheeled horse drawn vehicle for one person, used for training or for racing US, 1994. 4 in lowball poker, a sequence from five down to ace US, 1978 bike chemist noun a person who uses his knowledge of chemistry to manufacture illegal drugs US, 1992 bike doc noun in mountain biking, a bicycle mechanic US, 1992 biker noun a person who rides a motorbike. In Australia generally used as distinct from 'bikie' (a member of a motorcycle gang) US, 1968 bike space noun the vagina. From the phrase 'I know WHERE I'D LIKE TO PARK MY BIKE', said by a man considering a woman as a sexual object UK, 2001 bikie noun a member of a motorcycle gang AUSTRALIA, 1967

bikie chick noun a female member, or associate of a member, of a motorcycle gang AUSTRALIA, 1994 bikini bar noun a sex club where the dancer strips down to her bikini US, 1988 bikini wax noun an application of hot wax to remove a woman's pubic hair US, 1982 bilged adjective worn out, tired US, 1968 bilingual adjective bisexual US, 1964 bill noun 1 a dollar US, 1915. 2 one hundred dollars US, 1929. 3 the nose US, 1952 ► see: BILLY WHIZZ. ► do a bill to spend one hundred dollars US, 1974. ► the bill the police. Abbreviated from OLD BILL; can also be used of a single police-officer in the sense of representing the whole organisation. Widespread usage popularised since 1985 by UK television police drama The Bill UK, 1969 ► see: OLD BILL

Bill! used as a warning that police are near US, 1998 billabong noun ► on the billabong unemployed and camped by a waterhole, especially in Western Australia and the Northern Territories AUSTRALIA, 1978 billabonger noun an unemployed, homeless person who camps by a waterhole, especially in Western Australia and the Northern Territories AUSTRALIA, 1978

billards noun the testicles AUSTRALIA, 1988

Bill Blass noun crack cocaine. Quite why the name of American fashion designer Bill Blass (1920–99) should be used for this drug is uncertain US, 1998

Bill Clinton noun an act of oral sex on a man. In the late 1990s the US Presidency of William Jefferson Clinton (b.1946) was nearly brought down by a sex scandal that involved the President with Whitehouse intern Monica Lewinsky. Bill Clinton denied 'sexual relations with that woman' but eventually admitted that fellatio had occurred and 'a relationship with Miss Lewinsky that was not appropriate' US, 1999

Bill Daley noun ► on the Bill Daley in horse racing, having taken the lead at the start of the race and held it for the entire race US, 1932 billfold biopsy noun a hospital's analysis of the ability of a patient seeking admission to pay their bill US, 1986

Bill from the Hill nickname the Notting Hill police. An elaboration of THE BILL (the police) UK, 1996

Billie Hoke noun cocaine. A personification based on COKE US, 1959

billies; billys noun money US, 1982 bills noun 1 money US, 1997. 2 the game of pool US, 1993 bill shop noun a police station. From THE BILL (the police) UK, 1977 bill stickers noun underpants. Rhyming slang for 'knickers', sometimes shortened to 'bills' UK, 1992

Bill Wyman; bill; wyman noun the hymen. Rhyming slang, based on the name of Rolling Stone bassist Bill Wyman (b.1936) UK, 2002 billy noun 1 a metal pail with a handle used for boiling water, making tea, cooking, etc, over a fire when camping or in the bush. A quintessential item of the Australian bush. Scottish English had (c.1828 Scottish National Dictionary) 'billy-pot' as 'a cooking utensil' and this is probably the origin. Not, as variously conjectured, from French bouilli 'boiled', nor Wiradjuri (an eastern Australian Aboriginal language) billa 'water', nor the proper name Billy AUSTRALIA, 1849. 2 a police officer's blackjack or club, a truncheon US, 1850. 3 a warning signal IRELAND, 1976. 4 a bong (a water-pipe) for smoking marijuana. A play on 'billabong' (a water hole) AUSTRALIA, 1988. ► see: BILLY WHIZZ. ► boil the billy to stop for a break and make tea in a billy. Occasionally used to mean to make tea not in a billy but an electric kettle or the like AUSTRALIA, 1867

Billy Bowleg noun the personification of a Seminole Indian US, 1982

Billy-boy; billy nickname a Protestant, especially a supporter of Glasgow Rangers football club. This goes back to William of Orange, and is now most familiar from the song (to the tune of 'Marching Through Georgia') which is used as a football battle-hymn: 'Hurrah! Hurrah! We are the Billy Boys; / Hurrah! Hurrah! We make a lot of noise; / We're up to here, we never fear – we all are Billy's sons; / We are the Glasgow Billy Boys. / We belong to Glasgow, we're Orange and we're true / Scotland is our country, our colours white and blue, / We're Protestants and proud of it, we're known near and far, / Glasgow Billy Boys they call us.' UK: SCOTLAND, 1935

Billy Bragg; billy noun 1 an act of sexual intercourse. Rhyming slang for SHAG, formed from the name of the UK singer and political activist (b.1957) UK, 2003. 2 stolen goods. Rhyming slang for SWAG, formed from the name of the UK singer and political activist (b.1957) UK, 2004

Billy Bunter; billy noun 1 a customer, especially of discreet or illegal services. Rhyming slang for PUNTER; from the fictional schoolboy created by Frank Richards (Charles Hamilton 1876–1961) UK, 1992. 2 a shunter. Hauliers' rhyming slang UK, 1951

Billy Button noun any foolish person who works without assurances that he will be paid for his work VIRGIN ISLANDS, U.S., 1996 billy can noun 1 a can used for making coffee AUSTRALIA, 1885. 2 a metal pail with a handle used for boiling water, making tea, cooking etc, over a fire when camping or in the bush AUSTRALIA, 1870 billy cart noun a child's toy racing cart. From 'billy' as 'a male goat', originally billycarts were hitched to goats and raced AUSTRALIA, 1923

Billy Fury noun a jury. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the popular UK singer, 1940–83 UK, 2004 billy goat noun 1 a tufted beard. From the similarity between the wearer's facial hair and that of a male goat UK, 1882. 2 in horse racing, the totalisator. Rhyming slang for 'tote' AUSTRALIA, 1989. 3 in trucking, the 318 horsepower Detroit diesel engine US, 1971

Billy Guyatt noun a diet. Rhyming slang, sometimes shortened to 'Billy' AUSTRALIA, 1989

billy lid noun a kid. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1988

Billy No-Bird noun a man who is characteristically without a girlfriend UK, 2001

Billy No-Mates noun a friendless person UK, 2003

billyo noun ► like billyo at great speed UK, 1885. ► to billyo to hell; to blaze AUSTRALIA, 1939

Billy Ocean noun suntan lotion. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of popular Trinidad-born singer (b.1950) UK, 2003 billys noun ► see: BILLIES

Billy's Slough nickname a town named Williams Lake in British Columbia CANADA, 1989

billy tea noun tea made in a billy AUSTRALIA, 1890

Billy Whizz; Billy Whiz; billy; bill noun an amphetamine. WHIZZ (amphetamine) disguised as cartoon strip character Billy Whizz, whose adventures started in the Beano in 1964 UK, 1985 billy willy noun a symptomatic reduction in the size of a penis caused by amphetamine use. A combination of BILLY (WHIZZ) (amphetamine) and WILLY (the penis) UK, 2003 him noun 1 a shortened form of 'bimbo' US, 1925. 2 a police officer US, 1971

Bim and Bam noun two inseparable friends TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

bimbette noun a young, mindless, attractive woman. A diminutive of the more widely known BIMBO US, 1982 bimble verb to wander without purpose. A variation of 'bumble' (to idle), perhaps with reference to BIMBO ('a dupe', hence 'mindless') UK, 1987 bimbo noun 1 a well-built, attractive, somewhat dim woman. An offensive term US, 1920. 2 a dupe UK, 2002 bimph noun toilet paper. A variation on 'bumph' (paperwork) which is derived from BUM FODDER UK, 2002 bin noun 1 a pocket UK, 1936. 2 a hospital or other institution for the treatment of psychiatric problems and mental illness. Abbreviation of LOONY BIN UK, 1938. 3 a cell in a prison or a police station UK, 1977. ► the bins a Goodwill Industry's used clothing store, where used clothing is sold by the pound US, 1997 bin verb 1 to throw something away. Reduced from the sense 'to throw in the rubbish bin' UK, 1991. 2 to finish with a friend or a lover. From the sense 'to throw away' UK, 2001. 3 to dismiss someone or something; to abandon someone or something UK, 1995 bind noun a bore, a nuisance. Originally Royal Air Force use UK, 1930 binders noun brakes. Used in many contexts, from military transport to trains to drag racing UK, 1942 bindi-eye; bindii noun any of various native spiny Australian plants; also, the introduced South American plant, Soliva sessilis, a common lawn weed having sharp prickles; hence, one of these prickles. The word comes from the Australian Aboriginal languages Kamilaroi and Yuwaalaraay AUSTRALIA, 1896 bindle noun 1 heroin. From an earlier sense a (portion of drugs) UK, 2003. 2 a portion or packet of drugs. After an obsolete term for 'a vagrant's bundle' US, 1934 bindle stiff noun a migratory worker; a tramp US, 1897 bine noun a cigarette; an act of smoking a cigarette. Shortened from the brand name Woodbine™ but used generically UK, 1975 bing noun 1 jail, especially solitary confinement in jail US, 1932. 2 an injection with a hypodermic needle and syringe US, 1918. 3 crack cocaine; a piece of crack cocaine US, 1994 bing! used as a sound effect for something that happens instantly. Probably echoic of a bell UK, 2001 binge noun a period of heavy drinking or drug-taking; a drinking spree. From dialect sense 'to soak' UK, 1854 binge verb 1 to eat or drink to excess UK, 1854. 2 to use crack cocaine heavily. From the sense 'to drink heavily' UK, 1998 binger noun 1 a deep inhalation of marijuana smoke filtered through a water-pipe US, 1998. 2 a drug addict, especially of crack cocaine. Extended from BINGE (to heavily use crack cocaine) UK, 1998. 3 a losing bet. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 bingey; bingy; binghi; binjey noun the stomach, the belly. Of Aboriginal origin AUSTRALIA, 1926 bingle noun 1 a motor accident causing only minor damage and not resulting in injury AUSTRALIA, 1970. 2 a dent or crack in a surfboard AUSTRALIA, 1966

bingo noun 1 a cheap wine. The exclamation 'bingo' alludes to the sudden effect of the drink CANADA, 1963. 2 a prison riot US, 1992 bingo verb to inject a drug intravenously US, 1992

bingo adjective (of a plane's fuel tank) with just enough fuel to reach home base US, 1956

bingo! used for emphasis or for registering pleasurable surprise, success, excitement UK, 1927 bingo boy noun a young alcoholic US, 1946 bingo wing noun a pendulous spread of flabby upper arm that is characteristic of some older women UK, 2002

bings noun crack cocaine UK, 1998

binky noun 1 a baby's dummy (pacifier) that a heroin user has converted into a squeeze bulb for injecting a dose of heroin through an eye dropper and needle into the vein. From the common childrens' nickname for a dummy US, 1989. 2 marijuana; a marijuana cigarette UK, 2003

binocs noun binoculars US, 1943 bin off verb to set something aside, to discard something. Teen slang UK, 2002

binos noun binoculars US, 1976 bin rat noun a supply clerk in the Royal Canadian Air Force CANADA, 1995 bins noun a pair of spectacles, glasses; binoculars; hence, the eyes. Abbreviated from 'binoculars'; also variant 'binns' UK, 1958 bint noun 1 a girlfriend, a young woman. From Arabic bint (a daughter), often combined with a critical adjective to derogatory effect UK, 1855. 2 a promiscuous woman. Derogatory UK, 1855 bio noun a biography US, 1947 bio adjective excellent US, 1984 bio break noun a visit to the toilet. A euphemism popular with the more jargon-friendly computer-users, 1998 biog noun a biography US, 1942 biologist noun a person whose interest in companionship is primarily sexual US, 1973 biopic noun a biographical film US, 1951

bip noun the head; the brain US, 1947

bip verb 1 to break into a house while the housewife is outside hanging laundry on the line to dry. An abbreviation of SCALLYBIP US, 1972. 2 to simultaneously take heroin and cocaine into the body through the nose, 2002 bipe verb to break and enter the dwelling of another while they sleep, with the intent of stealing US, 1990 bippy noun used as a jocular euphemism for 'ass'. Coined and popularised by Rowan and Martin on the television programme Laugh-In (NBC, 1968–73); a wildly popular word for several years, the key word in the title of the 1969 Rowan and Martin film The Maltese Bippy, and then abandoned on the junk heap of slang US, 1967 bird noun 1 a young woman; a sweetheart. First used in C14; not considered a slang term until C19 when it also meant 'a prostitute' (obsolete by 1920). Primarily a British term, but briefly popular in the US in the late 1960s UK, 1838. 2 the vagina US, 1963. 3 an ordinary fellow. Also known as an 'old bird' US, 1839. 4 the penis US, 1969. 5 a homosexual man US, 1956. 6 a 25-cent piece US, 1949. 7 a surfer who uses any bird or wings as his surfboard logo US, 1988. 8 a police informer. From the sense of STOOL PIGEON and SING CANADA, 2002. 9 a certainty. A shortening of DEAD BIRD AUSTRALIA, 1941. 10 in horse racing, a horse that as seen as likely to win a race AUSTRALIA, 1989. 11 a twenty-five cent betting token US, 1974. 12 a gesture of the middle finger, meaning 'fuck you' US, 1961. 13 an amphetamine tablet US, 1992. 14 a kilogram of cocaine US, 2002. 15 Wild Turkey™ whisky US, 1984. 16 an aeroplane US, 1918. 17 a helicopter US, 2001. 18 a Ford Thunderbird car US, 1976. 19 a Pontiac

Firebird car US, 1976 ▶ see: BIRD LIME ▶ for the birds 1 no good, shoddy US, 1944. 2 trivial; not worthy of intelligent interest US, 1951. ▶ out of your bird insane UK, 2001. ▶ the bird 1 negative criticism. Originally theatrical; now usually phrased 'get the bird' or 'give the bird' UK, 1884. 2 a vocal demonstration of complete disapproval UK, 1952

Bird nickname Charlie Parker (1920–1955), the jazz legend credited as an originator of bebop, the jazz style that followed the big band swing era US, 1946 bird bandit noun a womaniser UK, 1984 birdbath noun 1 a cursory washing of the body using little water US, 1953. 2 the area in a military motor pool where vehicles are washed. Coined in Vietnam US, 1980 birdbrain noun a human who gives the impression of possessing a bird-size brain; a fool US, 1933 bird-brained adjective foolish; not-clever-enough; stupid UK, 1922 birdcage noun 1 the anus US, 1972. 2 a used car lot, especially one surrounded by chicken wire NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 3 a mounting enclosure at a racecourse. So named as it is often surrounded by a wire mesh fence AUSTRALIA, 1893. 4 in harness racing, the enclosure where horses are paraded before events US, 1997. 5 an air control tower US, 1965. 6 a railway lantern US, 1945. 7 a Volvo car UK, 1981. 8 in motor racing, a chassis made of many small pieces of tubing or a tubular roll bar structure US, 1965. 9 a box used for storing dice US, 1962

Birdcages noun ▶ the Birdcages the first legislative buildings in Victoria, British Columbia. So described because of their gimcrack architectural elaboration; now all obliterated. CANADA, 1968 bird circuit noun a prolonged group tour of gay bars; the bars themselves US, 1956 bird colonel; full-bird colonel noun in the US Army, a full colonel. From the eagle insignia US, 1946 bird course noun an easy course in university CANADA, 2002

bird dog noun 1 a scout US, 1929. 2 in professional sports, a talent scout or a scout's associates who let him know about players who may be prospects for professional play US, 1950. 3 a person who provides information about potential victims to a thief or group of thieves US, 1977. 4 a person who solicits players for gambling, whether in a casino or a private poker game US, 1949. 5 in the used car business, either a customer who has been referred to a salesman or the person doing the referring US, 1975. 6 in a two-car police speed-monitoring unit, the car that chases down speeding cars or trucks based on radar readings in the second car US, 1971. 7 a navigational device in planes that points in the direction of a radio signal US, 1956

bird-dog verb 1 to flirt with another's date US, 1941. 2 to look for, find and return with someone or something US, 1948

bird egg noun an amphetamine tablet US, 1993 bird feeder noun in trucking, the air-intake pipe US, 1971 bird food noun inferior quality marijuana US, 2001 bird head noun a type of LSD UK, 2003

bird house noun a jail or prison US, 1949 birdie noun 1 a passive, effeminate male homosexual US, 1921. 2 a bird, especially a small bird. Childish UK, 1792. 3 an aircraft. Used by the Australian Army in Korea, 1951–53 AUSTRALIA, 1958 birdie powder noun any powdered drug, such as heroin or cocaine US, 1992 bird in a cage noun the rank of Specialist 5 in the US Army. From the eagle under a curved stripe on the chevron US, 1968 bird lime; bird noun 1 a sentence of imprisonment. Rhyming slang for TIME. The abbreviation is used especially in 'do bird' (to serve a prison sentence) UK, 1857. 2 by extension, a personal history of imprisonment. Rhyming slang for TIME UK, 1857 birdman noun a prisoner. A combination of BIRD (LIME) (a prison sentence) and 'man', playing on famous convict 'the Birdman of Alcatraz' UK, 1996 bird nest noun a person's room, apartment or house US, 1973 bird of paradise noun the US armed forces insignia designating honourable discharge US, 1946 bird sanctuary noun any institution where traffic violators who are under pursuit are free from further pursuit once they pass the gates US, 1962 birdseed noun 1 nonsense US, 1909. 2 a small amount of money US, 1982 bird's eye noun a small dose of heroin US, 1973 bird shit noun a paratrooper. From the jocular tease that only two things fall from the sky, paratroopers and bird shit US, 1991 bird's nest noun 1 pubic hair that can be seen to extend from the crotch to the navel; pubic hair. Homosexual use; tangled imagery US, 1972. 2 in the Royal Navy, a WRNS' cabin. A member of the Women's Royal Naval Service is popularly known as a Wren, hence this pun; remembered from World War 2 but not recorded until 1984 UK, 1984. 3 the chest, especially (of a man) if hairy. Rhyming slang, but also partly from the imagery. UK, 1970. 4 a hole in the upholstery of the driver's seat of a car from long use and too much weight US, 1992

bird speed adverb extremely fast BARBADOS, 1965 bird-turd verb to disparage someone or something; to speak with a lack of sincerity. A close relation of CHICKENSHIT US, 1947 bird watcher noun a man given to the practice of watching girls go by. A pun on BIRD (a young woman) UK, 1984 bird watching noun (used of young males) looking sensually and whistling at passing young women TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1995

birdwood noun a cigarette US, 1944 birdyback noun containers or trailers shipped by air. A poor borrowing from PIGGYBACK US, 2003

biri noun ▷ see: BEEDI

birk noun a mentally slow person US, 1976 ▷ see: BERK birling adjective drunk. From Scottish dialect birl (to spin) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 biro noun a ballpoint pen used as an improvised means of injecting drugs. From the conventional generic sense of 'biro' as 'a ballpoint pen' UK, 1996 birth control engine noun a large locomotive which could burn up to five tons of coal per shift. Firing them up in the early morning was said to make a man impotent for weeks UK, 1970 birthday card noun in poker, the one card needed and drawn to complete an unlikely good hand US, 1996 birthday present noun in tiddlywinks, a stroke of good luck US, 1977 birthdays noun ► think all your birthdays have come at once to be overjoyed or overwhelmed, especially from something unexpected AUSTRALIA, 1957 birthday suit noun a state of nudity UK, 1971 biscuit noun 1 a good-looking member of whatever sex attracts you US, 1990. 2 a promiscuous woman US, 1993. 3 the buttocks US, 1950. 4 the head US, 1934. 5 a watch US, 1905. 6 a phonograph record US, 1950. 7 in the context of live rock and roll, a deep bass note when it is felt as well as heard. A term especially but not exclusively applied to the bass playing of Phil Lesh of the Grateful Dead US, 1997. 8 a white tablet of methadone, a synthetic narcotic used to treat heroin addicts US, 1972. 9 fifty rocks of crack cocaine US, 2003. 10 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2002. 11 the hallucinogenic drug, peyote US, 1992. 12 a handgun US, 1962. 13 a black prisoner US, 1976. 14 a can of c-rations. Vietnam war usage US, 1991. 15 used as a euphemism for 'bitch' US, 1999. 16 a fool, an idiot SOUTH AFRICA, 2004 biscuit adjective easy US, 1997 biscuit bitch noun a female Red Cross volunteer. Vietnam war usage; less common than the more popular DOUGHNUT DOLLY US, 1983 biscuit box noun a Ford Transit van, or other vehicle of similar style. When struck, an unladen van has a similar tonal quality to an empty biscuit tin UK, 1981 biscuit class noun economy class air travel on a small route. A playful allusion to 'business class' travel and the biscuits given to economy class passengers NEW ZEALAND, 1987

Biscuit Foot McKinnon nickname used as a nickname for a stereotypical Cape Bretoner. Because of the large Scottish settlement of this part of Nova Scotia, many people have the same last name: MacDonald, McKinnon, and so forth. Nicknames are common to distinguish family members with the same first name, too. CANADA, 1999 biscuits noun 1 money US, 1977. 2 crack cocaine. From BISCUIT (a measure of crack) UK, 2003 biscuits and cheese noun the knees. Rhyming slang, remembered in use during World War 2, sometimes shortened to 'biscuits' UK, 1960 biscuit snatcher noun the hand; a finger US, 1953 bi-sex noun bisexual sex UK, 2003

bish noun a bishop UK, 1937 bish, bash, bosh; bish-bash-bosh adjective rough and ready; also used in a semi-exclamatory sense as an echoic representation of anything swiftly expedited UK, 2000 bishop noun 1 the penis. Used in a variety of expressions that refer to male masturbation US, 1916. 2 a private investigator UK, 1972 bishop's bash noun of a male, the act of masturbation. From the verbal idiom BASH THE BISHOP UK, 2005

bissom; besom noun a slovenly woman. Dialect UK: SCOTLAND, 1911 bisto noun a fart. From the advertising slogan 'Aaah Bisto...' savouring the aroma of a branded gravy UK, 2004 bit noun 1 a prison sentence US, 1866. 2 an interest; an affected mannerism; a role US, 1955. 3 a woman, especially when regarded sexually UK, 1923. 4 sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1945. 5 an activity US, 1968. 6 used as a meaningless embellishment of the preceding noun, as in 'Let's do the lunch bit' US, 1955. 7 twelve and a half cents US, 1821. 8 twelve dollars and fifty cents US, 1929. 9 your home or home area UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. 10 a bullet UK, 2001. ► champ at the bit; chomp at the bit to be enthusiastically eager. From a horse's characteristic behaviour UK, 1645. ► pull a bit to serve a prison sentence US, 1969. ► take the bit out of to exhaust someone UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. ► wee red bit the glowing end of a cigarette, especially when used as a means of lighting another cigarette UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 bita noun a bit of. Reflecting a lazy pronunciation UK, 1999 bitaine noun a prostitute UK, 2002 bit bashing noun low level, tedious computer programming US, 1991 bit bucket noun in computing, the mythical place where lost information goes US, 1983 bitch noun 1 a woman. Although Grose considered it 'the most offensive appellation that can be given to an English woman', it is used in this sense with no derogatory intent; it is dismissive or patronising, based on gender rather than the unpleasant and lewd characteristics of earlier and concurrent usages. Comedian Richard Blackwood (b.1972) used 'bitch' in this sense, referring to Queen Elizabeth II, during an edition of BBC television's Have I Got News For You in October 2000. Six viewers complained to the Broadcasting Standards Commission. The BBC argued 'Richard Blackwood was using the term as it is currently used, for example, in British and American Rap Music simply to mean "woman", and not as a term of abuse'. The complaints were not upheld UK, 1713. 2 a despicable woman UK, 1400. 3 the person taking the passive role in a male homosexual relationship; a feminine or weak man US, 1923. 4 a sexual submissive of either gender in a sado-masochistic relationship. Generally attached to a possessive pronoun UK, 2002. 5 a remarkable person or thing US, 1943. 6 something that is difficult or unpleasant UK, 1814. 7 in the youth trend for 'souped-up' motor-scooter, a driver's scooter UK, 2004. 8 in a deck of playing cards, any queen; in the game of hearts, the queen of spades US, 1900. 9 in chess, the queen US, 1971. 10 a complaint; an extended period of complaining US, 1945. 11 a crude candle CANADA, 1967. 12 a u-turn US, 2000. 13 the middle position of the back seat of a car US, 1989. ► put the bitch on someone to file criminal charges accusing someone of being a habitual criminal US, 1972 bitch verb 1 to complain US, 1918. 2 to inform on someone UK, 2000. 3 to identify and punish someone as a habitual criminal US, 1976. 4 to ruin something UK, 1823 bitch about verb to be unreliable and troublesome; to change or renegotiate arrangements UK, 1959 bitch-ass adjective weak, effeminate US, 2002 bitch-ass nigga noun a weak or effeminate black male US, 1995 bitch bar noun anything that serves as a hand grip for a motorcycle passenger. Biker (motorcycle) usage, alluding to a female passenger US, 2000 bitch basket noun a Volkswagen Cabriolet US, 1997 bitch bath noun a cleaning of the body using little water, powder or other odour-masking agents US, 1953 bitch blow noun a violent blow BAHAMAS, 1982 bitch box noun a public address loudspeaker system US, 1945 bitchcakes adjective aggressive US, 2004 bitchen; bitching adjective excellent US, 1957 bitchen twitchen adjective excellent US, 1982 bitcher noun a habitual criminal US, 1963 bitches' Christmas noun Halloween. A glorious homosexual holiday, erotic and exotic US, 1964 bitch fight noun a quarrel between ostentatiously effeminate male homosexuals US, 1964 bitch fit noun a temper tantrum US, 1969 bitch hook noun an all-purpose quick-release hook for use with a tractor and chain CANADA, 1992

Bitchin' Betty noun in the Canadian Air Force, an automatic audible vocal warning system of danger CANADA, 1995 bitching noun the act of complaining about or disparaging someone or something. From the verb BITCH (to complain) US, 1953 bitching adjective used as a negative intensifier. An abbreviation of 'son-of-a-bitching' US, 1928 bitching week noun on an Atlantic weather ship, the third week of a four week tour of station. Derives from BITCH (to complain) as this is the time when tempers are shortest 1963 bitch kitty noun an excellent instance of, or example of, something US, 1944 bitch lamp noun an improvised lamp US, 1960 bitch money noun earnings from prostitution and pimping UK, 2001 bitch off verb to irritate someone US, 1975 bitch on wheels noun a person, especially a woman, with a truly nasty disposition US, 1966 bitch out verb to criticise someone harshly US, 1986 bitch pad noun a small seat mounted behind the regular seat on a motorcycle US, 1992 bitch pie noun a pizza with pepperoni, mushroom and sausage. The initials of the toppings – PMS – suggest a cranky woman US, 1996 bitch piss noun bottled alcopop (branded alcoholic beverage with the characteristics of a soft drink) or other alcoholic drinks deemed to be for feminine consumption UK, 2002 bitch session noun a group airing of complaints US, 1960 bitch slap verb 1 to slap someone full across the face US, 1995. 2 by extension, to soundly defeat or better someone or something US, 2002 bitchsplitter noun the penis. Used on-air in the telling of a joke by syndicated US broadcaster Mancow Muller, adopted as a name by a Canadian death metal band US, 2003 bitch tits nickname an overweight male UK, 2005 bitch up verb to spoil or ruin something BARBADOS, 1965 bitch with a capital C noun a truly hideous person. A suggestion of CUNT US, 2003 bitchy adjective malicious, spiteful US, 1925 bite noun 1 a small meal or a snack US, 1899. 2 the portion of the money bet by gamblers taken as the share for the establishment sponsoring the gambling US, 1988. 3 a price US, 1958. 4 in motor racing, traction between the tyres and track US, 1970. 5 something that is very disagreeable US, 1951. ► put the bite on to extort AUSTRALIA, 1919 bite verb 1 to copy or steal another person's style, especially to copy a breakdancing move, or to plagiarise a rap lyric US, 1979. 2 to ask someone for a loan of money AUSTRALIA, 1912. 3 to be taken in, to be duped. A figurative use of the literal 'take the bait' UK, 1987. 4 to be unfair or extremely distasteful US, 1971. 5 to itch BARBADOS, 1965. 6 to flex, and thus contract, the sphincter during anal sex US, 1972. ► bite feathers to lie on your stomach, especially in anticipation of anal sex US, 1964. ► bite it to die US, 1977. ► bite off more than you can chew to be unable to complete a task that is too great for your ambitions US, 1878. ► bite the bag in computing, to fail, especially in a dramatic fashion US, 1983. ► bite the big one to die US, 1979. ► bite the brown to perform mouth-to-anus sex US, 1972. ► bite the dust to go down in defeat US, 1982. ► bite the pillow to take the recipient role in anal sex AUSTRALIA, 1987. ► bite to the bone to punish someone with all the severity allowed under the law US, 1962. ► bite your lips to smoke a marijuana cigarette US, 1959 bite and a button noun a negligible price UK, 2003 bite in the britches noun in trucking, a speeding ticket US, 1976 biter noun 1 a copier of breakdance moves; a plagiarist of rap lyrics US, 1999. 2 the vagina US, 1998. 3 a tooth US, 1946 bit hurt noun the agony of withdrawal from a drug addiction US, 1990 bit much noun used to describe, or in response to, anything that is excessive, too demanding, arrogant, objectionable, etc UK, 1974 bit 'na half people noun a family that is just above the poverty line. In colonial British Guiana currency, a 'bit' was a silver coin valued at 8 cents; 12 cents was a popular retail food-price marker for items of poor fare in markets GUYANA, 1996 bit of noun used to stress an affection or sympathy for the noun it describes UK, 1808 bit of a bugger noun a nuisance; a difficulty UK, 2003 bit of alright; bit of all right noun 1 a sexually attractive person UK, 1898. 2 something excellent, especially an unexpected treat or a stroke of good luck. Sometimes also a 'little bit of all right' UK, 1907 bit of black noun a black person objectified sexually UK, 1974 bit of bod noun the body as an object of sexual interest UK, 1970 bit of Braille noun 1 sexual fondling and groping. The Braille alphabet is read with fingertips – hence the image of feeling and touching AUSTRALIA, 1984. 2 a racing tip. Designed for the blind, the Braille alphabet is read by feeling; in horse racing gamblers mainly decide on bets by 'reading' form or because they have 'a feeling' AUSTRALIA, 1961 bit of brush noun a woman regarded and categorised as a sexual object; the act of sex AUSTRALIA, 1965 bit of bum noun from a male perspective, sex with another person; the person so desired objectified in a purely sexual context UK, 1984 bit of crackling noun a woman regarded as a sexual object UK, 1949 bit of cunt noun a woman regarded and categorised as a sex object; an act of sexual intercourse UK, 1984 bit of dirt noun a farm NEW ZEALAND, 1987 bit of ebony noun a black woman regarded as a sexual category UK, 1984 bit of elastic noun the penis UK, 1999 bit of fluff noun a woman, especially when regarded sexually UK, 1847 bit of hard noun 1 an erection UK, 1978. 2 in homosexual sexual relations, a male partner UK, 2002 bit of hod noun a promiscuous, or potentially promiscuous, girl UK, 1963 bit of kit noun an item of equipment, especially mechanical or electrical UK, 2000 bit of mess noun a prostitute's lover who is neither ponce nor client UK, 1977 bit of nonsense noun an easily achieved criminal act UK, 1968 bit of posh noun an upper-class or socially superior young woman regarded as a sexual object UK, 1977 bit of rough noun a male lover, categorised as of a lower social status, or a rougher background than the partner. The relationship defined may be homo- or heterosexual. Original usage described a female but from the mid-C20 the male predominates UK, 1985 bit of skin noun a woman viewed as a sex object AUSTRALIA, 1962 bit of skirt noun a woman viewed as a sex object AUSTRALIA, 1904 bit of slap and tickle noun 1 kissing and cuddling; sexual petting which may be considered as foreplay by one participant UK, 1984. 2 sexual intercourse. An extension of the previous sense UK, 1984 bit of spare noun anyone providing sexual favours, even on a short-term or occasional basis; an unattached woman, especially at a club, party or any place where men may be expected to look for a sexual companion or conquest. 'Bit of' plus conventional use of 'spare' (available) UK, 1977 bit of stray noun a casual sexual acquaintance, usually female UK, 2001 bit of tail noun 1 a woman regarded as a sexual object UK, 1984. 2 an act of anal intercourse; an act of sexual intercourse where the male partner enters the female from behind UK, 1984 bit of the other noun sexual intercourse UK, 1984 bit of tickle noun a woman regarded as a sexual object; sexual intercourse UK, 1984 bit of tit noun a woman regarded as a sexual object; sex with a woman UK, 1984 bit of work noun a crime; a robbery UK, 1996 bit on the side noun a secret lover in addition to your regular partner; a love affair; extra-marital sex UK, 1977 bits noun 1 the male genitals. Sympathetically of a baby boy, jocularly of a man UK, 1976. 2 in betting, odds of 11–10 UK, 1991. ► in bits emotionally distraught; tearful UK, 1999. ► to bits (of a specified emotion) extremely UK, 1964 bits and bats noun knick-knacks UK, 1961 bits and bobs noun miscellaneous small articles UK, 1896 bits and tits noun the controls AUSTRALIA, 1962

bits of kids noun youngsters UK, 1999 bits on the ear'ole noun in betting, odds of 13–8. From the TICK-TACK signal used by bookmakers, an elaboration of EAR'OLE (6–4) UK, 1991 bit spit noun any electronic communication US, 1997

bitsy adjective small, tiny US, 1905 bitter-mouth verb to speak harshly US, 1947 bit twiddler noun a computer operator US, 1974

bitty noun a girl US, 1962 bitty adjective tiny. A corruption and shortening of ITSY-BITSY US, 1905

bitty box noun a small computer, especially a single-tasking-only machine US, 1991 bitumen blonde noun an Aboriginal woman AUSTRALIA, 1985

bitzer; bitser; bitza noun a dog of mixed breed. A shortening of the phrase 'bits of this and bits of that' AUSTRALIA, 1936 biz; bizz noun 1 business US, 1861. 2 the syringe and other equipment used by intravenous drug users US, 1949. 3 a small amount of a drug US, 1971. ► do the bizz to engage in sexual activity IRELAND, 1995. ► in the biz bag in trouble with police management US, 1994. ► the biz the 'profession', loosely the entertainment, theatre or film making business. An industry coinage that lends dignity to the least secure of employment paths UK, 1961 bizarro noun a bizarre person. Influenced by, if not directly descended from, 'Bizarro' a comic-book villain who first challenged Superman in the late 1950s US, 1980

bizarro adjective bizarre US, 1971 biznatch; biznitch noun used as a euphemism for 'bitch' in any sense. From rapper JayZ US, 2002 bizotic adjective unexpected, out of the ordinary US, 1984

bizzazz noun ► see: BEAZZ bizzies; busies noun the police. From the plural of BUSY (a detective, a CID officer), but all distinction of rank is lost UK, 1948 bizzing noun sliding on an icy road while hanging onto the rear bumper of a car. A verbal noun with no recorded use of 'bizz' as a verb US, 1969 bizzle noun a brother, in the sense as male companion, especially in the phrase 'fa' shizzle my bizzle' (emphatically yes). A hip-hop, urban black coinage, formed as a rhyming reduplication of SHIZZLE (sure, yes), after 'fa' shizzle my nizzle' (yes my nigger). London rapper Maxwell Ansah recorded under the name Lethal Bizzle in 2002 US, 2002 bizzo noun 1 business AUSTRALIA, 1969. 2 an ill-tempered woman. A corruption or evolution of 'bitch' US, 2001 bizzurd adjective bizarre and absurd. Derived by ellipsis. Hip-hop, urban slang; noted in connection with a legal dispute over rap lyrics by BBC News, 6th June 2003. UK, 2003

bizzy noun ► see: BUSY

BJ; bj noun an act of oral sex, a blow job US, 1949

B joint noun a bar where women coax customers to buy drinks US, 1993

BJs noun crack cocaine UK, 2003

BK Lounge noun a Burger King™ fast food restaurant. Mocking attribution of class US, 1985

BK's noun British Knight™ shoes. Favoured by members of the Crips youth gang, for whom the initials also stand for 'Blood Killer' US, 2000

blab verb to inform on someone, to reveal something while speaking UK, 1583 blabber noun a very talkative hospital patient US, 1994 black noun 1 hashish. An all-purpose abbreviation for strains of dark-coloured cannabis resin, e.g. PAKISTANI BLACK US, 1975. 2 a black amphetamine capsule UK, 2003. 3 night US, 1947. 4 in American casinos, a $100 chip US, 1980. ► in the black financially solvent. From the pre-computer practice of recording credit items in black ink US, 1928. ► on the black engaged in black-market activities UK, 1961. ► the black 1 blackmail; the information held by a blackmailer. Hence, 'put the black on' (to blackmail) UK, 1970. 2 the black market. During the war in Vietnam, the term referred specifically to the black market which flourished on Le Loi Street, Saigon UK, 1961 black verb to blackmail someone. An abbreviation of the conventional activity UK, 1928 black adjective 1 secret US, 1965. 2 extremely crowded IRELAND, 1998. ► it's a black thing; it's a black thang used for identifying a behaviour or sensibility that is associated with black people US, 1993

black acid noun LSD US, 1970

black action noun casino betting in $100 increments US, 1991 blackamoor noun a black Angus or Friesian cow NEW ZEALAND, 1956

Black and Decker noun the penis. Rhyming slang for PECKER (the penis). In its many slang manifestations the penis appears as all kind of tools, here it is formed on a manufacturer of power tools UK, 1998 black and tan noun 1 a drink of porter or stout mixed equally with ale (pale or brown) UK, 1889. 2 a capsule of Durophet™, trade name for a combination of central nervous system stimulants and depressants UK, 1978

black and tan adjective catering to both black and white customers US, 1887 black and white noun 1 a police car. From the traditional colours of police cars in the US US, 1958. 2 an amphetamine capsule, especially Durophet™. From the colours of the capsule UK, 1978. 3 a capsule containing both a central nervous system stimulant and a barbiturate US, 1971. 4 a soda fountain drink made with chocolate syrup, seltzer and vanilla ice-cream US, 1947. 5 night. Rhyming slang, always spoken in full UK, 1937 black and white fever noun an aversion to police US, 1970 black and white minstrel noun an amphetamine tablet (Durophet™). An elaboration of BLACK AND WHITE, used especially in the plural, based on The Black and White Minstrel Show, a 1960s television programme UK, 1996 black and whites noun the black trousers or skirt and white shirt worn by American casino dealers US, 1961 black and white taxi noun a police car US, 1962 black art noun in computing, an array of techniques developed and discovered for a particular system or application US, 1991 black ash noun marijuana. London pronunciation of 'black hash' UK, 1991 black ass noun a car without working rear lights US, 1962 black as the ace of spades adjective utterly black or, of skin, deeply black US, 1882 black bag noun a brown-haired prostitute US, 1960 black bag job noun a burglary, especially one committed by law enforcement or intelligence agents US, 1966 black Bart noun dark hashish. A generic term for 'marijuana'; connotes a romantic view of the drug's illegal status by association with the C19 US outlaw UK, 1998 black beauty noun 1 a black amphetamine capsule US, 1969. 2 a capsule containing both barbiturate and amphetamine US, 1973 black belt noun 1 a neighbourhood of black families that circles a city or area US, 1951. 2 in the US Army, a senior drill instructor. Not a reference to martial arts, simply to the uniform. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 black bess yes. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 black Betty noun a van for transporting prisoners US, 1965 blackbird noun 1 a black person. A US mass murderer believed that among the secret messages hidden in the music of the Beatles were references to a coming black uprising in the song 'Blackbird' US, 1832. 2 an unmarked military aircraft, such as a C-123 or C-130. Used by the Studies and Observations Group (SOG) in Vietnam, the highly secret, elite, unconventional warfare component of the US military presence in Southeast Asia US, 1991. 3 an amphetamine capsule US, 1972. 4 LSD UK, 2003 black blizzard noun a black prairie soil dust storm CANADA, 1962 black Bombay noun hashish, potent and dark in colour US, 1993 black bomber; bomber noun any central nervous system stimulant, especially a capsule of diethylpropion (Durophet™), an amphetamine-like stimulant UK, 1963 black book noun 1 a corporation's plan for battling a hostile takeover US, 1988. 2 in a casino, a list of persons to be excluded from the casino US, 1991. 3 a graffiti artist's notebook containing ideas, outlines, sketches and plans for future graffiti pieces US, 1997 black bottom noun a neighbourhood where most of the population are poor black people US, 1915 black box noun 1 in an aeroplane, the container and equipment used for the automatic recording of all flight data and cockpit conversation. A specialised use of Royal Air Force slang UK, 1964. 2 the notional container in which proprietary technical information is secured in dealings over industrial property rights US, 1974. 3 any high technical piece of electronics equipment US, 1945. 4 a hearse UK, 1981. 5 a linear amplifier for a citizens' band radio. Sometimes embellished as 'little black box' US, 1976 black Cadillac noun an amphetamine capsule US, 1980 black cap nickname a member of the New Zealand international men's cricket team NEW ZEALAND, 2000 black Christmas noun a snow-free Christmas. A forced allusion to the famous 'White Christmas' US, 1938 black-coated worker; black-coated workman; little black worker noun a prune. From the appearance and the work done during the digestive process. Remembered, in 1970, as being used by Lord Hill 'The Radio Doctor' during World War 2. Noted in Manchester in Daltonian, December 1946, then generally in the Midlands and London UK, 1946 black crow noun during the Vietnam war, a long-range ignition detector. Highly effective from the air in locating enemy convoys; used in conjunction with a beacon tracking system US, 1991 black-dog adjective melancholic, depressed UK, 1826 black domina noun dark hashish. An allusion to the sexual domination of a black mistress UK, 2002 black dot noun a type of LSD. From the appearance UK, 1996 black eagle noun heroin UK, 2003 black-enamelled adjective dark-skinned. Military, intended as jocular UK, 1984 blacketeer noun a black market racketeer. A World War 2 coinage, possibly journalistic AUSTRALIA, 1953 blackfellow's delight noun rum. A disparaging view of Aboriginal Australians' drinking habits AUSTRALIA, 1953 black fever noun sexual attraction felt by a white person for black people US, 1977 black forest noun the female genitals. This pet name for a vagina describes its location in a straightforward simile for the pubic hair, ostensibly punning on the Schwarzwald region of southwest Germany. Derived possibly as a reference to Black Forest gateaux (sticky, chocolatey, cherry-laden cakes; a cultural-icon in the UK since the 1970s), the cake imagery suggesting an oral-sex dimension to the usage. Also note 'A Walk In The Black Forest' by Horst Jankowski, a popular instrumental recording in the 1960s; a satisfying metaphor for sexual activity UK, 2001 black Friday noun the day after Thanksgiving US, 1975 black gang noun 1 collectively, a ship's engineer's department US, 1895. 2 an aviation mechanics team. The source of the term is likely to be their black overalls CANADA, 1997 black ganja noun hashish, dark in colour. The term is heard and seen with all the possible variant spellings of GANJA found at that entry US, 1978 black gold noun 1 oil. An outsiders' term, not used by those in the business US, 1910. 2 highly potent marijuana. Derived from the previous sense, punning on the richness and the colour of the hashish US, 1946. 3 distilled, concentrated heroin US, 1987

Black Hand noun a secret criminal organisation composed of first-generation Italian immigrants to the US US, 1898 black hash noun hashish mixed and darkened with opium US, 1975 black hat noun 1 in a drama, or in life viewed as a drama, the villain US, 1964. 2 a computer hacker with no honourable purpose. Sometimes embellished to 'black hat hacker' US, 2001. 3 a member of Pathfinder platoon, dropped behind enemy lines to make deep reconnaissance patrols and to establish landing zones for the initial helicopter waves US, 1982. 4 a US Army drill instructor US, 1986 blackhead noun a black person. Derogatory, unless ironically self-descriptive. Otherwise a 'blackhead' is a skin blemish UK, 2000 black heart noun depression UK, 1996 black hole noun 1 the vagina. Originally a reference to 'the black pit of hell'. Now a 'black hole' is widely known to be a celestial phenomenon into which anything may be sucked to disappear without trace UK, 2001. 2 in computing, the notional place where e-mail that is sent but not received disappears US, 1991 black horse nickname the US Army's 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment. So named because of the Regiment's insignia US, 1991 black-is-white adverb completely, thoroughly. Collected by Richard Allsopp TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1998

black jack noun 1 the penis of a black man. Homosexual usage US, 1965. 2 a fifty-ton Santa Fe Railroad coal hopper US, 1977

Black Jack nickname 1 black-labelled Jack Daniels™ whisky US, 1982.

2 US General John J. Pershing (1860–1948) US, 1951

blackjack mission noun during the war in Vietnam, an operation carried out by a mobile strike force. The mobile strike forces were light infantry battalions equipped and trained to operate in remote areas without any significant logistical requirements or support US, 1991

Black Jeff noun a wasp BAHAMAS, 1982

black light noun an ultraviolet light, under which fluorescent paint glows US, 1971

Black Lions nickname a navy fighter squadron formally identified as VF-213, commissioned in 1955 US, 1990

black magic noun 1 the M-16 rifle, the standard rifle used by US troops in Vietnam after 1966 US, 1991. 2 in computing, a technique that works without any apparent reason for its success US, 1991

Black Magic box noun a police van. Plays on BLACK MARIA (a police van) and Black Magic™ chocolates UK, 1981

black man kissed her noun a sister. Rhyming slang from the early part of C20 which appears to have all but died out by 1948 when Caribbean immigration began in earnest and revived usage. Noted as coming back into currency by 1960 UK, 1960

black man's wheels noun a BMW car UK, 1999

Black Maria noun 1 a police wagon or van for transporting those who have been arrested. The etymology is uncertain beyond the colour black US, 1843. 2 in a deck of cards, the queen of spades US, 1988. 3 highly potent marijuana UK, 2001 black marketeer noun an unlicensed bookmaker quoting his own prices and odds AUSTRALIA, 1953 black micro noun a variety of LSD in tablet form UK, 1996 black mo; black moat; black mote noun highly potent, dark coloured marijuana resin US, 1972 black molly noun 1 a black amphetamine capsule US, 1970. 2 a barbiturate capsule US, 1973

Black Monday noun 1 28th May 1962. The date of a dramatic stock market crash US, 1962. 2 19th October 1987. The date of the greatest single-day stock market crash in the US since the Depression US, 1987 black money noun cash that is not accounted for in the financial records of a business US, 1963 black oil noun hashish oil UK, 1977 black on black noun a car with a black exterior and black upholstery. Black teen slang US, 1980 black-out noun a very dark-skinned black person US, 1947 black pearl noun heroin US, 1994 black pen noun a parole report UK, 1996 black peter noun in prison, a punishment cell. An elaboration of 'peter' (a cell) AUSTRALIA, 1953 black pill noun a pill of opium; heroin US, 1969

Blackpool rock noun the penis. Rhyming slang for cock; a visual pun on a long pink sweet that is made to be sucked. Similarly sweet references to the male anatomy can be found at ALMONDROCK, BRIGHTON ROCK and STICK OF ROCK. Probably inspired or influenced by the innuendo-laden song 'With My Little Stick of Blackpool Rock' by George Formby, 1937 UK, 1992 black powder noun ground hashish and opium. An explosive mixture named after an early form of gunpowder US, 2001 black power nickname a Maori gang or member of the gang NEW ZEALAND, 1978 black Protestant noun 1 used as a term of contempt for Protestants in Ireland. This term appears to have become diluted over the years IRELAND, 2001. 2 a non-observant Protestant or one prejudiced against Roman Catholics US, 1969 black rain noun rain that has been contaminated by smoke from oil field fires. Gulf war usage US, 1991

Black Rats nickname the Traffic Division of the Metropolitan Police based at New Scotland Yard UK, 1999

black rock noun crack cocaine. An elaboration of ROCK (crack cocaine) which has more to do with the drug's reputation than colour, 2003 black rover noun a Metropolitan Police warrant card. This card authorises free travel throughout the London Transport system and thus plays on a London Transport Red Rover ticket which allowed the purchaser unlimited travel UK, 2002

Black Russian noun 1 blackened opium US, 1969. 2 dark hashish US, 1969. 3 marijuana resin mixed with opium US, 2001 black shoe noun an officer in the US Navy other than an aviator. Aviation officers wore brown shoes US, 1950 blacksmith noun an incompetent sheep station cook NEW ZEALAND, 1941

black snake noun a freight train composed entirely of coal tenders US, 1938

Black Sox nickname the New Zealand international men's softball team NEW ZEALAND, 2000

black star noun a type of LSD UK, 1998

blackstick noun a clarinet US, 1937 black stranger noun a complete stranger IRELAND, 1962

Black Street noun the notional location of a clinic treating those with sexually transmitted infections. Euphemistic UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 black stuff noun opium; heroin US, 1936 blackstuff noun tarmacadam UK, 1982

black stuff nickname Guinness IRELAND, 2000

Black Stump noun used as an imaginary marker for a remote place. Often used in phrases such as 'this side of the black stump', 'out near the Black Stump', 'the other side of the Black Stump' or 'beyond the Black Stump'. From a fire-blackened tree stump used as a marker for navigation in the country AUSTRALIA, 1957 black sunshine noun LSD UK, 1998

black tabs noun a type of LSD US, 1982

black tar noun crude, impure, potent heroin from Mexico US, 1986 black tar blanco noun heroin UK, 2002 black tide noun an oil slick on the ocean surface US, 1991 black-tie adjective 1 calling for formal dress UK, 1933. 2 said of an event in Antarctica in which those in attendance are not wearing red clothes issued by the US National Science Foundation ANTARCTICA, 1991 black type noun in horse racing, a horse that has won or been placed in a stakes race. Bold face type is used in a sales catalogue to identify horses that have won or been placed US, 1997

Blackus noun used as a term of address for a dark-skinned person BAHAMAS, 1982 black velvet noun 1 sexual relations with Aboriginal or other dark-skinned women AUSTRALIA, 1899. 2 a black woman's vagina US, 1967. 3 a drink of stout mixed with champagne. From the colour and texture. An economical variation is poor man's velvet (stout and cider); sometimes shortened to 'blackers' UK, 1937 black water noun 1 coffee, especially when weak US, 1850. 2 sewage. Euphemism used in recreational vehicle camping US, 1993 black whack noun phenacyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994 black widow noun 1 a black amphetamine capsule; Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1972. 2 a capsule containing both barbiturate and amphetamine US, 1973. 3 an M-16 rifle equipped with a night scope US, 1991. 4 a limited edition, fuel-injected 1957 Chevrolet 150 sedan, built strictly for racing but then banned from stock car racing US, 1992 black wings noun oral sex with a black woman US, 2000 blacky; blackie noun a black person. Derogatory, but not necessarily deliberately so UK, 1815 blacky carbon noun in drag racing, petrol US, 1965 blacky-white; blackie-white noun an Anglo-Indian half-caste INDIA, 1977 bladder noun 1 a balloon. Circus and carnival usage US, 1981. 2 a collapsible drum for holding liquids US, 1991. 3 a local newspaper. Derives from a less-than-favourable description of its contents UK, 1970 bladder bird noun a tanker aircraft used for aerial bulk fuel delivery. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 bladder boat noun an inflatable rubber boat. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 bladder-buster noun a very large beverage container US, 1997 bladdered adjective very drunk UK, 1997 blade noun 1 a knife US, 1896. 2 a surgeon US, 1974. 3 a man US, 1948. 4 a Cadillac car, especially a Coupe de Ville or Fleetwood. Black teen slang US, 1980. 5 a type of expensive chrome car wheel rim US, 1998. 6 a moped BERMUDA, 1985. 7 a dollar US, 2002 blade verb to skate on rollerblades US, 1997

blader noun a rollerblader US, 1989 blade-runner noun someone who transports stolen goods or contraband. Taken from the science-fiction film Blade Runner, 1982, based on Philip K. Dick's cyberpunk novel Do Androids Dream of Electric Sheep?, 1968 UK, 2001 blading noun the act of using rollerblades US, 1995 blag noun 1 a robbery, especially an armed robbery; a bank or post-office robbery. Probably an abbreviation of 'blackguard' UK, 1885. 2 a piece of persuasive bluff UK, 1962. 3 used as a term of abuse. Usage appears restricted to northern grammar schools deriving, perhaps, from a shortening of 'blaggard' (a blackguard) UK, 1963 blag verb 1 to hoax or deceive someone; to bluff someone; to persuade someone; to wheedle something; to scrounge something. From French blaguer (to joke), possibly informed by conventional English 'blaggard' UK, 1958. 2 to successfully persuade another person into having sex with you UK, 2002. 3 to rob something, especially with violence UK, 1933 blagard verb to talk profanely or obscenely. According to one source, this term is in use with this meaning in Nova Scotia's South Shore. It derives from the French blague (chaff, humbug, hoax, fib) but may also derive from an English gang of blacking boys and torch-carriers in London known for their scurrilous language. In the form 'blackguarding', it is in use in parts of the US with the same meaning as in Nova Scotia CANADA, 1988 blagger noun 1 a robber who will use violence as necessary. In The Lag's Lexicon, 1950, Paul Tempest noted the term was 'used very occasionally'; during the 1970s usage proliferated through the agency of television programmes like The Sweeney UK, 1950. 2 a persuasive person who is employed to attract customers UK, 1963. 3 a persuasive criminal, a confidence trickster UK, 1966 blagging noun a robbery, especially with violence. Derives, possibly, from 'blackguard' UK, 1933 blag merchant noun a pay-roll bandit, an armed robber. Combines BLAG (a robbery with violence) with the colloquial use of 'merchant' (a man) UK, 2000

blah verb to say empty and meaningless things, to talk without saying anything worth saying UK, 2004

blah adjective without energy, without spark, unmotivated US, 1922

blah; blah blah; blah blah blah noun empty and meaningless talk; so on and so forth; used for implying that what is being said is not worth the saying or has been said too often already. Echoic of nonsense speech, possibly German blech (nonsense); synonymous with RHUBARB (nonsense) which may also be repeated two or three times for emphasis UK, 1918

blahs noun a minor illness; a feeling of ennui US, 1968 blair; blare verb to criticize, humiliate or mock someone or something. Possibly from conventional 'blare' (to shout); probably predates Tony Blair's rise to political and media prominence, although current usage is certainly informed by his Prime Ministership UK, 1998 blak noun black. Fashionable misspelling UK, 2002 blam verb to slam loudly BARBADOS, 1965 blamed; blame adjective used as a euphemistic intensifier replacing 'damned'. An equivalent to BLINKING US, 1944 blancas noun amphetamines or other central nervous system stimulants. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans; from the Spanish for 'white' US, 1967 blanco noun heroin; cocaine. Spanish for 'white' US, 1973 blank noun 1 a packet of non-narcotic white powder sold as narcotics US, 1966. 2 a worthless person or thing US, 1950. 3 in a carnival, a bad day, a bad engagement or a bad customer US, 1985. 4 in poker, a useless card in the dealt hand US, 1992. 5 the top of a skateboard US, 1976. 6 a refusal of parole UK, 1996. 7 a tablet of Aspirin US, 1990.

► give someone the blank to ignore someone UK, 1999 blank verb 1 to ignore someone. Any response is 'blanked out' UK, 1977. 2 to forget something UK, 1996. 3 to erase something. An abbreviated variation of the conventional 'blank out' UK, 1981 blank; blankety; blankety-blank used as a self-censored deletion of an expletive, regardless of part of speech. Written more often than spoken, but not without uses in speech UK, 1854 blank canvas noun the body of a person who is about to get their first tattoo US, 1997 blanket noun 1 a cigarette paper US, 1925. 2 a marijuana cigarette. Perhaps because it is shaped like a blanket roll US, 1935. 3 any sandwich US, 1960. 4 an overcoat; a top coat US, 1925. 5 in the US military, a beret US, 1992. 6 in trucking, a parking lot US, 1976. ► on the blanket 1 used of prisoners who refuse to wear a uniform as a means of protest and are thereby wrapped in a blanket. Originating with republican prisoners making a political protest in the Maze Prison in Belfast in the mid-1970s UK, 1979. 2 (of an Indian) used for describing someone who has been aggressive but has stopped CANADA, 1959 blanket-ass noun a native American Indian. Derogatory US, 1973 blanket craps noun an informal game of craps with the shooter acting as banker US, 1977 blanket drill noun sex in bed US, 1964 blanket finish noun in horse racing, a close finish between several horses. So called because the horses contending for the lead could all be covered by a single figurative blanket US, 1951 blanket game noun in the circus or carnival, a private gambling game for employees only, played on a blanket UK, 1980 blanket harbour noun bed CANADA, 1998 blanket party noun a ritual in which the offending person is covered with a blanket, which prevents identification of the wrongdoers, and then beaten US, 1969 blanket roll noun a controlled roll of the dice by a skilled cheat, best made on a blanket spread on the ground US, 1950

blankety; blankety-blank ► see: BLANK

blarney noun 1 honeyed flattery, pleasant talk that seeks to deceive; hence plausible nonsense. A fine example can be found at www.blarneycastle.ie in the gentle assertion that 'the term "Blarney" was introduced into the English language by Elizabeth I of England[.]' IRELAND, 1766. 2 an Irish accent. The Blarney stone is incorporated into the battlements of Blarney Castle – eight miles north of Cork city in southern Ireland. Familiar legend holds the promise that whoever kisses this stone will receive the gift of eloquence, hence 'blarney' (pleasant talk), here considered to be speech with an Irish lilt UK, 2000 blarney verb to talk flatteringly or persuasively UK, 1803 blarneying adjective of a manner of speech, persuasive, flattering US, 1869 blarry adjective ► see: BLERRY blart verb to talk compulsively, especially about emotional upheaval. A combination of conventional 'blurt' and BLAB (to talk) or BLUB (to cry) UK, 2001 blasé blasé and so on and so on. An embellishment of the more expected BLAH BLAH BLAH US, 2002 blasé queen noun a characteristically up-market homosexual male UK, 2002 blast noun 1 an extremely enjoyable time US, 1950. 2 a party, especially a loud and raucous one UK, 1959. 3 an injection of a drug US, 1952.

4 cocaine; any drug with a powerful effect US, 1992. 5 a taste or a portion, especially of alcoholic drink UK, 1988. 6 a parachute jump. Vietnam war usage US, 1991. 7 an escape US, 1970. 8 a stern admonishment; a severe rebuke US, 1874 blast verb 1 to use a drug, especially to smoke marijuana US, 1943. 2 to criticise someone or something severely. Mainly journalistic UK, 1953. 3 to reprimand someone UK, 1984 blast! used for expressing disgust or dismay UK, 1634 blasted adjective 1 cursed, damned; often used as a euphemism for 'bloody' UK, 1750. 2 highly intoxicated on any drug or alcohol US, 1928 blaster noun 1 a gun, especially a pistol US, 1964. 2 a powerful, hard-breaking wave US, 1964 blast from the past noun a song that was popular in the past and is still popular with those who were young when the song was popular US, 1965 blasting oil noun nitroglycerin, used by criminals to blast open safes US, 1949 blast off verb 1 to leave. Borrowed with great fervour from the language of space travel US, 1954. 2 to use and become intoxicated by a drug US, 1961. 3 of a car, especially a racing car, to drive off at speed. Uses a rocket launch as a metaphor AUSTRALIA, 1984 blast party noun a gathering of marijuana smokers US, 1958 blasty adjective in Newfoundland, used of a dead, dry branch, good for kindling CANADA, 1980 blat noun a short journey, usually for pleasure. Used by late 1980s-early 90s counterculture travellers UK, 1999 blat verb to fire a gun. Probably derived from a comic strip representation of a weapon in action: 'Blat! Blat! Blat!' UK, 1995 blatant adjective excellent. Recorded in use among young urban blacks UK, 1999 blathered adjective drunk. From the dialect word blather (to talk nonsense) UK, 2002 blatherskite; bletherskite; bletherskate noun a person who talks too much or too offensively. Originally Scottish dialect US, 1791 blats noun cash, money. In Royal Air Force use UK, 2002

blatted adjective drunk UK, 2003 blaxploitation noun the exploitation of black culture and imagery for commercial gain, especially in films US, 1971 blaze noun 1 in a card game with five cards per hand, a hand with five face cards US, 1962. 2 in a deck of playing cards, a face card US, 1987. 3 marijuana US, 1998 blaze verb 1 to leave US, 1983. 2 to move quickly US, 1996. 3 to have sex US, 1997. 4 to light a marijuana cigarette or other drug-smoking conveyance. Also expressed as to 'blaze up' US, 1985 blazed adjective drug-intoxicated UK, 1998 blaze full noun in poker, a hand consisting of three cards of one face card rank and a pair of another. The 'full' is drawn from the conventional name for the hand, a 'full house' US, 1968 blazer noun a big diamond US, 1949 blazes noun the flames of hell. Used in comparisons and as a euphemism for 'hell' UK, 1818 blazing adjective exceptionally attractive UK, 1864 blazing adverb used as an intensifier. Generally euphemistic for BLOODY US, 1855 bleach verb 1 to spend an extended period of days and nights in nightclubs UK, 2000. 2 to soak and flush a hypodermic needle and syringe with bleach to prevent transmission of HIV US, 1989. 3 to lie awake at night with a sense of impending doom JAMAICA, 2003 bleacher bum noun 1 a loud, rowdy sports fan who favours the inexpensive bleacher seats US, 1981. 2 a fan of the Chicago Cubs professional baseball team US, 1998 bleach tabs noun sterilising tablets issued to drug addicts UK, 1996 bleat noun 1 in prison, a petition to the Home Secretary UK, 1950. 2 a feeble complaint UK, 1916 bleat verb 1 to complain US, 1985. 2 to repeatedly deny guilt UK, 1996 bleed noun in pinball, a ball that leaves play having scored few points US, 1979 bleed verb 1 to extort money from someone UK, 1680. 2 to dilute a drug US, 1992. 3 to be showing lipstick on your face or clothes US, 1968. ► bleed someone dry; bleed someone white to drain a person or other resource of all money or value. The image of draining a life's blood UK, 1982 bleeder noun 1 a person UK, 1887. 2 a contemptible person UK, 1887. 3 a casino employee or executive who worries extensively about money being lost to gamblers US, 1974. 4 in poker, a player who methodically if undramatically drains money from the game by conservative, steady play US, 1988. 5 a boxer who is prone to bleeding US, 1975 bleeding adjective used as an intensifier. Originally replaced BLOODY, then used in its own right or as a substitute for less acceptable intensifiers; not necessarily intended as euphemistic UK, 1858 bleeding adverb used as an intensifier UK, 1884 bleeding deacon noun a person with an over-inflated sense of self-importance to an organisation. Usually used in the context of self-help recovery groups such as Alcoholics Anonymous US, 1988 bleeding edge noun the absolute forefront of technology. A punning combination of 'leading edge' and 'cutting edge' US, 2000 bleeding heart adjective sensitive to the plight of others, anguished. Disparaging, often as 'bleeding heart liberal' UK, 1958 bleeding obvious noun anything that really shouldn't need saying. Usually construed as the bleeding obvious. In 2003 the British satirical website 'University of the Bleeding Obvious' was one of the most popular comedy sites on the Internet AUSTRALIA, 1996 bleeding spot noun an oil leak on an asphalt road US, 1962 bleeding well adverb certainly, definitely UK, 1884 bleep verb to superimpose an electronic noise over expletives in a television or radio broadcast US, 1966 bleep used as a euphemistic replacement for an expletive, regardless of part of speech US, 1968 bleezin adjective drunk UK, 2002 blem noun a pimple. A shortened form of the conventional English 'blemish' US, 1968 blench adjective used approvingly to describe a muscular person UK, 2005

Blenheimers noun memory loss due to wine consumption. Named after a wine brand NEW ZEALAND, 1998 blerry; blarry; blirry adjective used as an intensifier. A variation of BLOODY reflecting Afrikaans pronunciation SOUTH AFRICA, 1920 blert noun a fool. Liverpool usage UK, 2002 bless verb to approve the forwarding of a proposed action. Military usage US, 1986 bless used ironically, as if patronising a child. An abbreviation of the prayer: 'God bless', often preceded with a cod-sympathetic 'aah!' UK, 1999 blessed sacrament noun marijuana US, 2001 blessing noun a harsh rebuke BAHAMAS, 1982 bless your cotton socks; bless your little cotton socks used for registering gratitude or affection. A catchphrase favoured by the middle-classes. Considered to be archaic when first recorded however the phrase has survived into C21 UK, 1961 bless your pea-pickin' hearts used for expressing thanks. A catchphrase television sign-off on The Ernie Ford Show (NBC, 1956–61), a music variety programme. Repeated with referential humour US, 1956 bletch! used as an all-purpose, potent expression of disgust. From the German brechen (to vomit) US, 1981 bletcherous adjective in computing, poorly designed, dysfunctional US, 1981 blew-it noun a Buick car US, 1997 blighter noun 1 a despicable male UK, 1896. 2 a man. From jocular use of the previous sense UK, 1904

Blighty nickname Britain; England. Originally military, from Hindustani bilayati and Arabic wilayati (foreign, especially European) UK, 1915 bliksem noun a despicable person, a contemptible fool. From Afrikaans bliksem (lightning) SOUTH AFRICA, 1950

bliksem verb to smack, punch or beat up. Probably a reduction of the earlier South African 'to donner the bliksem out of' (to beat the lights out of) SOUTH AFRICA, 2004

blim noun a small crumb of cannabis resin UK, 1996 blim burn noun a scorch mark or a tiny burn-hole as a result, when smoking hashish, of burning particles; a small burning cinder of cannabis resin UK, 2003

blim burn verb to mark or burn something with a blim burn UK, 2004 blimey!; blime! used for registering surprise or shock. An abbreviation of COR BLIMEY (God blind me!) UK, 1889 blimey O'Reily!; blimey O'Reilly! used for registering surprise UK, 1987 blimmin'; blimmin' well adjective used as a euphemistic intensifier. Possibly derived from BLIMEY! or BLOOMING UK, 1984 blimp noun 1 in necrophile usage, a corpse with a distended abdomen US, 1987. 2 an obese person US, 1934. 3 in the television and film industries, a camera's sound-proofing housing US, 1977. 4 a bus US, 1990. 5 a private inter-personal signal UK, 2000 blimpish adjective very conservative or reactionary. After Colonel Blimp, a reactionary man UK, 1938 blimp out; blimp up verb to put on weight, especially if such growth is rapid or dramatic. From the shape of a conventional 'blimp' US, 1979 blind noun 1 a legitimate business used to conceal an illegal one US, 1929. 2 an area in prison where guards cannot easily see what is going on US, 1989. 3 a baggage carriage, usually immediately behind the engine of a passenger train US, 1893. 4 a wallet or purse. Pickpocket use UK, 1977. ► make the blind see to perform oral sex on an uncircumcised man US, 1981 blind verb to curse, to swear. The meaning survives in EFF AND BLIND UK, 1943. ► blind by science to defeat brawn with brains. According to one source 'it arose when the scientific boxers began, ca. 1880, to defeat the old bruisers' AUSTRALIA, 1937. ► blind with science to confuse or convince someone by superior, inventive or nonsensical argument, explanation or vocabulary. Synonymous variation of earlier 'dazzle with science' UK, 1948 blind adjective 1 an intensifier, a euphemism for 'bloody' or 'bleeding' UK, 1959. 2 very drunk UK, 1630. 3 highly drug-intoxicated. From an earlier alcohol sense US, 1952. 4 (used of a car) stripped of headlights US, 1977. 5 (used of a bet) placed before seeing the cards being bet on US, 1963. 6 uncircumcised US, 1925. 7 nasty, cruel SOUTH AFRICA, 2004. ► like blind cobbler's thumbs describes thickly swollen nipples UK, 2001. ► not take a blind bit of notice to utterly ignore or disregard someone or something, to be oblivious to someone or something UK, 1961 blind bat noun an AC-130 aircraft used for night flare missions in Vietnam between 1964 and 1970. Bats are not, of course, blind; they see at night US, 1971 blind blast noun a parachute jump at night in enemy territory. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 blind country noun closed-in country of the colourless type and of little worth AUSTRALIA, 1959 blind drunk adjective very drunk UK, 1959 blinded adjective drunk US, 1984 blinder noun anything excellent, or something excellently well-performed. From the 'dazzling' nature of anything so-called UK, 1950 blind fence noun a person who unknowingly buys stolen goods US, 1949

Blind Freddy; Blind Freddie noun an imaginary blind man. Used as a type for an inability to see the obvious. The existence of a real person nicknamed 'Blind Freddy' has not been confirmed AUSTRALIA, 1946 blinding adjective great, excellent, terrific, etc UK, 1985 blindingly adverb excellently, wonderfully, stupendously UK, 1999 blindjaret noun a cigarette JAMAICA, 1985 blind link noun on the Internet, a link that is misleading or false, taking you somewhere other than where you expect to go. Common on pornography websites US, 2000 blindman's buff noun snuff. Rhyming slang, noted by Red Daniells, 1980 UK, 1980 blindman's snow noun a late spring snowfall, supposed to have curative properties for the eyes and feet CANADA, 1988 blind mullet noun a piece of excrement floating in the water AUSTRALIA, 1987 blind pig noun 1 a speakeasy, where alcohol is served illegally US, 1886. 2 in poker, an unskilled but lucky player. From the adage that even a blind pig will find an acorn over time US, 1996 blind pigeon noun stuffed cabbage US, 1997 blinds noun 1 dark glasses BERMUDA, 1985. 2 among bus-spotters, a bus's roller display of destinations UK, 2003 blindside verb to hit or attack someone without warning. Originally a term from American football, and then extended as a metaphor US, 1968 blind tiger noun an illegal drinking establishment US, 1909 blindza noun money BARBADOS, 1984

bling noun a vulgar or ludicrously ostentatious display of wealth US, 2003 bling-bling noun 1 wealth, especially as manifested in expensive, if tasteless, jewellery. Coined by hip-hop rapper B.G. and appearing in his 1999 'Chopper City in the Ghetto' US, 1999. 2 ostentation. A generalised sense that derives from the previous sense UK, 2003 bling-bling verb to be successful, especially in hip-hop; hence, to be ostentatious; to make money US, 2003 bling-blinger noun a successful or established member of the hip-hop community. From the BLING-BLING worn as an ostentatious symbol of status US, 2000 blinged; blinged out adjective ostentatious; expensively bejewelled, especially if a tasteless display. From BLING-BLING (ostentatious jewellery) US, 2000 blinging adjective ostentatious and expensive. Derives from BLING-BLING (ostentatious jewellery) UK, 2003 bling it up verb to have an ostentatiously expensive lifestyle; to temporarily lead such a life. Extended from BLING-BLING (wealth, tasteless ostentation) UK, 2003

Blinglish noun a slang and black patois-rich form of English, especially when used by white urban youths. Extended from BLING UK, 2005 bling-tastic adjective extravagantly ostentatious UK, 2002 blink noun a hiding place US, 1949. ► on the blink 1 broken, not functioning US, 1899. 2 without funds US, 1949 blink verb to miss seeing a fight, attack or other cause of excitement US, 1976 blinkerlights noun diagnostic lights on the front panel of a computer US, 1991 blinker noun 1 a quadriplegic. Vietnam war gallows humour, suggesting that a quadriplegic is capable only of blinking his eyes US, 1980. 2 an eye UK, 1809. 3 a police helicopter US, 1980 blinkey noun 1 a vehicle with one headlight not working US, 1976. 2 a timing light at the finish line of a drag strip US, 1968 blink-eyed adjective cross-eyed US, 1969 blinking adjective used as a mild intensifier; a euphemism for 'bleeding'. The term probably derives from 'blank', an obsolete euphemism for DAMNED which stresses the fact of euphemism – the blank space – as much as the object of intensification UK, 1914 blinkus of the thinkus noun a momentary loss of concentration US, 1971 blinky noun 1 a person with poor or no eyesight US, 1922. 2 freebase cocaine US, 1992

blinky adjective agitated, upset US, 1992

blip noun 1 a temporary effect, especially one that is unwanted UK, 1975. 2 a minor fluctuation, usually upward, in the stock market or other measures of corporate fortunes US, 1988. 3 a source of surprise US, 1947. 4 a nickel (five-cent piece) US, 1935

blip verb 1 to send a message by e-mail UK, 2002. 2 in hot rodding or drag racing, to throttle up quickly and then release, momentarily increasing the revolutions per minute US, 1965

blip adjective classy US, 1948 blip jockey noun a person who monitors electronic equipment US, 1960

blippy adjective used as a euphemism roughly meaning 'damned' US, 1974

bliss noun any drug that is smoked, especially a mixture of heroin, methamphetamine and MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy US, 1996

bliss cup noun in the usage of counterculturalists associated with the Rainbow Nation gatherings, a homemade cup or bowl for eating and drinking US, 1997

bliss out verb to become ecstatic. Used in a derogatory fashion, usually when applied to religious or cult zealots US, 1973

B list; C list noun used for denoting all that is associated with a level of fame and celebrity that is not quite paramount. In conventional media jargon the A-LIST is a notional social elite of those who are considered prestigious enough to add top-value to a guest list. The B-list and C-list are the lesser ranks of the well-known and media-friendly who nevertheless get invited to events by those who market the cult of celebrity US, 1928

blisted adjective intoxicated by drug smoking US, 1995 blister noun 1 a bump placed on a playing card by pressing it against a small sharp object, used by card cheats to identify the value of the card US, 1991. 2 a fine attached to a window of a vehicle for a parking infringement AUSTRALIA, 1971. 3 an unpleasant, obnoxious person UK, 1806. 4 a prostitute US, 1905 blister verb to attack someone; to attack someone verbally AUSTRALIA, 1968

blisterfoot noun an infantry soldier US, 1945 blister work noun extortion US, 1950

blisty adjective windy, cold, not suitable for surfing US, 1991 blithering adjective contemptible; used as a negative intensifier UK, 1889 blitz noun an intensive campaign; a concentrated effort. After German blitz (understood in English as 'all-out offensive warfare') US, 1940 blitz verb 1 to intensively campaign for and achieve maximum public awareness. From German blitzkrieg (a lightning war) UK, 2002. 2 to defeat someone soundly US, 1940. 3 in horse racing, to win convincingly AUSTRALIA, 1989. 4 in tiddlywinks, to pot all six winks of one colour before the 20-minute time-limit has elapsed and thus score an easy victory US, 1980. 5 in gin, to win and leave an opponent scoreless US, 1971. 6 in bar dice games, to bet the total amount of the pot US, 1971 blitz buggy noun a car. Teen slang US, 1941 blitzed adjective drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1966

blitzkrieged adjective suddenly drunk US, 1974

blivet noun 1 an obnoxious person, especially with bad hygiene US, 1949. 2 in computing, a problem which cannot be solved or any impossibility US, 1991

blizz noun a blizzard ANTARCTICA, 1911

blizz verb to blow a blizzard ANTARCTICA, 1911 blizzard noun 1 poor television reception characterised by flickering white dots US, 1952. 2 the cloud of thick, white smoke produced when smoking freebase cocaine US, 1992. 3 cocaine. A play on SNOW (cocaine) UK, 2003 blizzard head noun in the early days of black and white television, a blonde. So called because a blonde's hair takes up all the light in the picture US, 1948

blizzed adjective confined indoors by harsh weather conditions ANTARCTICA, 1951

blizzy adjective snowy ANTARCTICA, 1996

blo noun cocaine US, 1993

bloater noun 1 a fat person. From 'bloat' (to swell), influenced by the 'bloater fish'. There is some evidence of a similar usage in the late C19, and, again, in mid-C20 in South Africa where the sense is 'gross and ugly' UK, 2001. 2 a dead sheep or cow NEW ZEALAND, 2000

blob noun 1 in cricket, a batsman's innings score of no runs. From the image of a zero shown beneath the batsman's name on the scoresheet UK, 1889. 2 a mistake. From the previous sense UK, 1903. 3 a fool AUSTRALIA, 1916. 4 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle UK, 2000. 5 a gonorrhoeal ulcer UK, 1961. ► on blob; on the blob in the bleed-period of the menstrual cycle. The image of blobs of blood US, 2000

blob verb 1 to suffer from a sexually transmitted infection. Literally, 'to drip', but after BLOB (a gonorrhoeal ulcer) UK, 1984. 2 to make a mistake UK, 1999 blobby adjective used for describing uneven stage lighting UK, 1952 blob hammock noun a sanitary towel. Combines BLOB (the bleed period of the menstrual cycle) with the image of a hammock, also seen in WEE HAMMOCK UK, 2002 blob out verb to relax completely. Commonly used in conversation since the 1980s NEW ZEALAND, 2003 block noun 1 a prison segregation unit UK, 1996. 2 prison US, 1983. 3 marijuana or hashish compressed in a block UK, 2000. 4 a measured quantity of morphine UK, 1992. 5 a ban, an embargo. Used in phrases like PUT A BLOCK ON and PUT THE BLOCK ON UK, 1970. 6 used as a retort after being insulted US, 1992. 7 a watch. Circus and carnival usage US, 1972. ► do your block; do the block to lose control; to lose your temper AUSTRALIA, 1907. ► knock someone's block off used as a threat of personal violence UK, 1984. ► on the block 1 engaged in prostitution on the street US, 1941. 2 subjected to serial rape NEW ZEALAND, 1973. ► put a block on; put the block on 1 to veto, ban, or embargo something. Literally, to apply 'a block' (a ban) UK, 1961. 2 in prison, to reinforce the regulations UK, 1996. ► use your block to act wisely AUSTRALIA, 1959 block verb 1 to sodomise someone or subject them to serial rape NEW ZEALAND, 1978. 2 to fool someone AUSTRALIA, 1955 block! used as the riposte to 'face!', thus preventing notional embarrassment. Youth slang US, 1997 blockaides noun condoms. Coined in response to AIDS UK, 1998 block and tackle noun illegally manufactured whisky US, 1974 block boy noun a youth who spends his abundant free time idling on a street corner, looking or hoping for trouble US, 1970 blockbuster noun 1 a capsule of pentobarbital sodium (trade name Nembutal™), a central nervous system depressant. Sometimes shortened to 'buster' US, 1970. 2 a heavy bomb powerful enough to flatten a city block; hence anything that makes a considerable impact. Initially used by the Royal Air Force; since the 1960s generally applied as journalistic or marketing terms for films, novels, etc US, 1942. 3 a .357 Magnum bullet US, 1962 blocked adjective drunk or drug-intoxicated, especially by amphetamine, barbiturate or marijuana. The experiencing of real life is blocked out US, 1956 blocker noun 1 a confederate who shields a casino cheat from being seen as he robs a slot machine US, 1984. 2 a member of a shoplifting team who distracts attention and blocks pursuit UK, 1996

blockhead noun 1 a stupid fool, an idiot. Originally 'a wooden base for hats or wigs', hence 'wooden-headed' UK, 1549. 2 a drunken yob. This usage was coined by Ian Dury in the song 'Blockheads', which offered the lyrical definition: "'pissed up" gangs of lads' UK, 1977. 3 a marijuana user. A combination of BLOCK (marijuana) and HEAD (a user) UK, 2001. 4 a railway brakeman US, 1977 block hustle noun a small-scale swindle US, 1997 blockie noun 1 a farmer on a small block of land. Sometimes heard as 'blocker' AUSTRALIA, 1944. 2 in Queensland, Victoria and Tasmania, a circuit of a street block in a vehicle done, especially repeatedly, for entertainment AUSTRALIA, 2003 blocking noun serial sex between one person and multiple partners, consensual or not, heterosexual or homosexual NEW ZEALAND, 1998 block-rockin' adjective expressive of greatness with regard to hip-hop and club culture. Extends 'rockin' as a general term of approval with the punning suggestion that whatever is so described has the power to rock a city block US, 2000 blocks noun dice US, 1962. ► put the blocks to someone to have sex with someone US, 1888. ► up on blocks in the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. A mechanical image of an out of service car being up on blocks for repair UK, 2002 block-up adjective marijuana-intoxicated UK, 2002 blog noun a regularly updated Internet webpage of links to interesting news stories or websites annotated with personal commentary. An abbreviation of 'weblog' US, 1999 blog verb to create or update a weblog US, 2000 blogger noun a person who maintains a weblog US, 2000

blogosphere noun the areas of interest that preoccupy those who create or pay attention to blogs [web logs] UK, 2002 bloke noun 1 a man; a fellow. Generally used in a neutral sense, but also commonly in a positive sense connoting a 'decent, down-to-earth, unpretentious man', especially in the phrase 'good bloke'. There has been a recent trend, since the 1990s, to also use 'bloke' negatively to mean a 'male chauvinist' UK, 1829. 2 a boyfriend AUSTRALIA, 1908. 3 a homosexual man's boyfriend or partner. Originally recorded as a navy usage UK, 1937. 4 a male animal AUSTRALIA, 1982. 5 a person of any gender. A rare usage AUSTRALIA, 1988 bloke car noun a sports car on the downslope of its career sold to American pilots stationed in the United Kingdom UK, 1992 bloker noun a cocaine user US, 1992

blokey noun a man. An elaboration of BLOKE UK, 2000

blokey adjective (of a man) chauvinistic; masculine in a negative way AUSTRALIA, 1992

blokeyness; blokiness noun the state of being blokey AUSTRALIA, 1994

blokish; blokeish adjective describes men's behaviour that is straightforwardly, perhaps stereotypically, 'masculine' UK, 1957 blonde noun 1 coffee with cream US, 1952. 2 golden-leaved marijuana UK, 2003 blonde adjective foolish, daft, silly. Teen slang, from the stereotypical attributes ascribed to blondes UK, 2003 blonde and sweet adjective (used of coffee) with cream and sugar US, 1945 blonde from the coast noun a pale, light-coloured marijuana with claims by sellers that it comes from Colombia US, 1976 blondie; blondy noun a blonde-haired person; when spelt with a capital B, a nickname for such a person. Famously in the cartoon strip Blondie by Chic Young, from 1930, although unlikely to have been coined by him. Adopted in 1974 by the pop group Blondie US, 1948

blonk noun an incompetent, inept, boring person AUSTRALIA, 1985

blobber noun a female breast US, 1954 bloochie noun any cumbersome object. From Polish immigrant speech US, 1982 blood noun 1 a black person US, 1965. 2 used as a general form of address regardless of race, signalling friendliness. From the previous sense; sometimes spelt 'blud' UK, 2002. 3 wine US, 1959. 4 pizza sauce US, 1996. 5 tomato juice US, 1936. ► make someone's blood boil to infuriate someone UK, 1848. ► your blood is worth bottling you are wonderful AUSTRALIA, 1958 blood! used for expressing strong disapproval JAMAICA, 1978 blood alley noun an unsafe stretch of a road US, 1978 blood bank noun 1 a hospital UK, 1981. 2 a finance company US, 1975 blood box noun an ambulance US, 1976 blood bread noun payment for donating blood US, 1971 blood chit noun a written notice in several languages, carried by members of the American armed forces, identifying the person as American and promising a reward for help in evading the enemy. The US Department of Defense Policy on Blood Chits states that the chits 'are a tool used by an evader or escapee after all other measures of independent evasion and escape have failed and the evader(s) considers assistance vital to survival. Upon receiving assistance, the evader or escapee provides the assistor with the blood chit number. The blood chit represents an obligation of the U.S. Government to compensate the claimant, or his immediate family if the claimant is deceased, for services rendered to DoD personnel.' The version used in the Vietnam war had the plea for 'assistance in obtaining food, shelter and protection' in English, Burmese, Chinese, Thai, Laotian, Cambodian, Vietnamese, Malayan, Indonesian, Tagalog, Visayan, French and Dutch US, 1941 bloodclaat; bloodclot; blood clot noun a contemptible person. West Indian, hence UK black patois; literally a 'sanitary towel', applied figuratively JAMAICA, 1994 blood clart adjective used as a negative intensifier. Black urban youth slang, of Jamaican origins UK, 2006 blood cloth noun an improvised sanitary towel ANTIGUA AND BARBUDA, 1996 blood factory noun a hospital UK, 2000

bloodhound verb to track someone down US, 1963 blood house noun 1 a tavern with a reputation for brawling NEW ZEALAND, 1999. 2 a public hotel, especially a rough one AUSTRALIA, 1952 blood in verb in prison, to establish your credentials for toughness by slashing another prisoner US, 2000 blood in, blood out used for expressing the rules for entering (to kill) and leaving (to be killed) a prison gang US, 2000

bloodman noun a person who is at any moment capable of physical violence US, 2002 blood money noun in gambling, money that is won after long, hard work US, 1979 blood nose noun a nose that is bleeding, as from a punch AUSTRALIA, 1960

bloodnut noun a red-haired person AUSTRALIA, 1998

blood poker noun poker played as business with no social trappings US, 1988 blood simple adjective crazed by violence US, 1994 blood stripe noun a military promotion that is made possible only by the demotion of another unit member US, 1968

bloodwagon noun an ambulance UK, 1922 blood weapon noun a weapon captured from an enemy soldier, especially a soldier killed by the man taking the weapon US, 1990

blood wings noun the first set of parachute insignia that a paratrooper receives upon qualification at different levels of expertise US, 1989

Bloody noun a Bloody Mary drink, made with vodka and tomato juice US, 1978 bloody adjective 1 used as an intensifier; damned. After the adverbial use. Popular belief holds 'bloody' to be blasphemous and derives it as a contraction of 'by our lady' however there are no grounds to support this contention. Life's blood itself must be the significant source. In the UK the most famous use is probably 'Not bloody likely!' in the play Pygmalion by George Bernard Shaw, which shocked London audiences when first performed in 1916. The high frequency with which this term was used in Australia, especially in colonial times, has led to the appellation 'the Great Australian Adjective'. In 1847, a commentator noted that a bullock-driver (proverbially great swearers) used the term 25 times in a quarter-hour period, and thus calculated that he would have said 'this disgusting word' no less than 18,200,000 times in the course of 50 years (Australian National Dictionary). Though formerly ranked amongst the strongest taboo terms among polite speakers, and not permitted in print, it was evidently part of daily speech for many working class people. Now still commonly used in informal contexts. Taboo-wise its place has been taken by the synonymous FUCKING. Writing in 1942, one Australian commentator observed 'that "bloody" was no longer the main Australian adjective', UK, 1976. 2 unpleasant; unpleasantly difficult UK, 1934 bloody adverb exceedingly UK, 1976

-bloody- infix damned AUSTRALIA, 1945

bloody cunt hat noun a narrow green cap worn by English Army officers UK, 1980 bloody hell!; bee aitch; BH used for registering shock, surprise, exasperation, etc. Combines BLOODY (an intensifier) with HELL (used in oaths) to create an expletive so familiar that it is often pronounced as one word. Occasionally abbreviated to euphemistic initials UK, 1955

Bloody Mary noun 1 a drink made of vodka and tomato juice, and, optionally, Tabasco or Worcester Sauce. From the colour; ultimately a pun on the nickname of Queen Mary, 1516–1558 UK, 1956. 2 the bleed period of a woman's menstrual cycle US, 1968 bloody oath! used to register (enthusiastic) agreement AUSTRALIA, 1848 bloody well adverb definitely, certainly. A British slang expression used in English parts of its former colonies; extended from the adverbial sense of BLOODY AUSTRALIA, 1904 blooey adjective ► go blooey to go out of business; to break down completely US, 1910 blooker noun an M79 grenade launcher. Vietnam war usage. It is a single-shot, break-open, breech-loading, shoulder-fired weapon US, 1973

bloomer noun 1 a mistake UK, 1889. 2 in the circus or carnival, a complete lack of business UK, 1904. 3 in horse racing, a horse that performs well early in the morning during the workout but not in a race later in the day US, 1951. 4 an empty wallet, purse or safe US, 1949

bloomer boy noun a paratrooper US, 1948

Bloomie's nickname the Bloomingdale's department store, especially the original store located on Third Avenue between 59th and 60th Streets, New York US, 1977 blooming adjective a mild intensifier, a euphemism for 'bleeding'. Usage popularised in the 1880s by music hall singer Alfred 'The Great' Vance UK, 1879 blooming well adverb used as an intensifier UK, 1959

bloop noun in the television and film industries, a device used on the junction of a photographic sound track to eliminate any audio cue that there is a splice in the film US, 1960

blooper noun 1 an error, especially a humiliating and/or humorous one US, 1947. 2 in television, radio or film making, an unintentionally funny misspoken line US, 1926. 3 an M79 grenade launcher. Vietnam war usage. It is a single-shot, break-open, breech-loading, shoulder-fired weapon US, 1978

blooper ball noun 1 slow-pitch softball US, 1981. 2 a grenade used in an M-79 grenade launcher US, 1982 bloop tube; bloop gun noun an M79 grenade launcher. Vietnam war usage. It is a single-shot, break-open, breech-loading, shoulder-fired weapon US, 1971 blooter noun a task that is quickly and sloppily performed UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

blooter verb 1 to incapacitate someone with a violent blow UK: SCOTLAND, 2003. 2 to do something to excess UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. 3 to drink heavily UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 blootered adjective drunk. Possibly from Scottish bluiter (to talk foolishly), or a corruption of PLOOTERED (drunk) UK, 1911 bloozer noun an utter sentimentalist UK, 1985 blossom noun a facial blemish US, 1942 blot noun the anus or backside. From conventional 'blot' (a dark patch) AUSTRALIA, 1945 blot verb ► blot the copybook in horse racing, to fail dramatically and completely AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► blot your copy book to make a mistake, or to make a bad impression, or to spoil your record. A figurative use of school imagery UK, 1937 blotch noun food. Anglo-Irish, 1958 blotch verb to stain your underwear when what had seemed like flatulence was something more US, 1989 blotter noun 1 a tiny piece of absorbent paper impregnated with LSD and ingested as such US, 1971. 2 cocaine UK, 2003. 3 the record of arrests held at a police station US, 1970

blotter cube noun a type of LSD UK, 2003

blotting paper noun food eaten to mollify the effects of alcohol when on a binge AUSTRALIA, 1960 blotto adjective very drunk; in a drunken stupor. Possibly from the absorbent quality of blotting paper, or from a conventional mid-C19 usage of 'blotted' as 'blurred' UK, 1917

blottoed adjective drunk UK, 2002 blouse noun 1 a woman, especially a business woman UK, 1997. 2 an overly effeminate male; a weak man AUSTRALIA, 2003. 3 in card playing, a singleton. Sometimes embellished to 'blousey suit' UK, 1961 bloused adjective in card playing, to have been dealt a singleton. From BLOUSE AUSTRALIA, 1941 blow noun 1 cocaine US, 1971. 2 heroin US, 2002. 3 a dose of a drug, especially a dose of cocaine to be snorted US, 1953. 4 marijuana UK, 1996. 5 a cigarette; a smoke UK, 1936. 6 a rest from work. From the sense as 'smoking tobacco', traditionally done on a break AUSTRALIA, 1910. 7 a breath of fresh air, a 'breather', especially in the phrase 'get a blow' UK, 1849. 8 an act of oral sex performed on a man. A contraction of BLOW JOB US, 1946. 9 a high wind; a strong storm; a cyclone AUSTRALIA, 1935. 10 in horse racing, a lengthening of the odds being offered AUSTRALIA, 1988. 11 a confidence swindle involving the claimed ability to change the denomination on currency US, 1957. ► have a blow 1 to sniff glue NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 2 of musicians, to make music UK, 1984 blow verb 1 to smoke, especially to smoke marijuana. Originally 'to smoke a pipe or cigar', now drugs use only. Usage often specifies marijuana thus 'blow SHIT', 'blow a STICK', etc US, 1772. 2 to register on a blood alcohol breath testing device US, 1978. 3 to perform oral sex US, 1930. 4 to masturbate UK, 1978. 5 to orgasm; to ejaculate AUSTRALIA, 1952. 6 to open something with explosives UK, 1602. 7 to inform, to betray someone; to tell tales. Originally a conventional usage but progressed in status to slang in the mid-C17 UK, 1575. 8 to boast AUSTRALIA, 1858. 9 to spoil something, to destroy something US, 1899. 10 to waste an opportunity, to bungle US, 1907. 11 to dismiss something as of no importance; to damn something. Semi-exclamatory; euphemistic UK, 1835. 12 to be useless, unpopular, distasteful. Often in the context of an exclamation such as 'That blows!' US, 1997. 13 to spend money, especially in a lavish or wasteful manner UK, 1874. 14 to leave US, 1898. 15 to play a musical instrument. Used with all instruments, not just those requiring wind US, 1949. 16 used as a mild replacement for 'damn' UK, 1781. 17 to lengthen the odds offered on a horse or greyhound; (of a horse or greyhound) to have its odds lengthen AUSTRALIA, 1975. ► blow a gasket to lose your temper completely US, 1949. ► blow a hype to become overexcited US, 1986. ► blow a load to ejaculate US, 1995. ► blow a nut to ejaculate US, 1994. ► blow a shot while trying to inject a drug, to miss the vein or otherwise waste the drug US, 1966. ► blow a tank to use an explosive charge to open a safe NEW ZEALAND, 1998. ► blow a vein while injecting a drug, to cause a vein to collapse US, 1974. ► blow and go to vent air before an ascent to the surface while outside a submarine US, 1991. ► blow beets to vomit US, 1968. ► blow chow to vomit US, 1988. ► blow chunks to vomit US, 1992. ► blow dinner to vomit US, 1968. ► blow down someone's ear to whisper to someone UK, 1938. ► blow dust to shoot a gun US, 2001. ► blow grits to vomit US, 1979. ► blow its poke (of a fish) to regurgitate its stomach. The word 'poke' is a very old English word for 'bag' CANADA, 1982. ► blow lunch to vomit US, 1965. ► blow pies to vomit US, 2003. ► blow smoke 1 to brag US, 1946. 2 to inhale crack cocaine smoke UK, 1998. ► blow someone's mind 1 to amaze someone; to surprise someone; to shock someone. A figurative sense, extended from the sense as a 'hallucinogenic experience' US, 1965. 2 to render someone unable to comprehend US, 1961.

► blow someone's top 1 to render someone unable to comprehend US, 1961. 2 to induce psychosis in someone US, 1946.

► blow the brains out to install a sun roof on a car US, 1997.

► blow the cobwebs away to take some fresh air or exercise and so become revived UK, 2003. ► blow the gaff to reveal a secret, to inform UK, 1812. ► blow the lid off (of a secret plan or a hidden state-of-affairs) to publicly reveal something, especially to expose it in a spectacular way US, 1928. ► blow the rag to deploy a reserve parachute when the main parachute fails to deploy US, 1991. ► blow the whistle to inform against an activity or crime and by so doing cause the subject of such complaint to cease UK, 1934. ► blow this cookie stand to leave US, 1977. ► blow this disco to leave US, 1994. ► blow this popsicle stand to leave US, 1986. ► blow this taco stand to leave US, 1988. ► blow this trap to leave US, 1958. ► blow tubes to smoke marijuana filtered through glass tubes US, 1991. ► blow your bags to boast. Possibly from 'bagpipes', in a similar way to the conventional 'blow your own trumpet' AUSTRALIA, 1961. ► blow your beans to ejaculate AUSTRALIA, 1985. ► blow your bowel bugle to fart UK, 1978. ► blow your cap to become uncontrollable with anger or excitement. Beatniks' variation on BLOW YOUR TOP UK, 1984. ► blow your cookies to ejaculate UK, 2000. ► blow your cool to become very angry, excited, nervous, etc. Since the mid-1950s it has been uncool in youth and counterculture to demonstrate too much emotion US, 1961. ► blow your dust to ejaculate UK, 1978. ► blow your jets to become angry US, 1960. ► blow your lid to lose your control emotionally, to become angry US, 1935. ► blow your lump to completely lose your emotional composure US, 1951. ► blow your mind 1 to have a hallucinogenic experience; to experience a psychotic break as a result of drug use US, 1965. 2 to lose your mind, to go crazy, to render unable to comprehend US, 1965. ► blow your roof to smoke marijuana US, 1950. ► blow your stack to lose your temper US, 1947. ► blow your top 1 to explode with anger UK, 1928. 2 to lose your mind, to go crazy US, 1961. 3 to lose emotional control US, 1946. 4 to engage in inconsequential conversation US, 1947. ► blow your wheels to act without restraint US, 1955. ► blow your wig to lose emotional control; to become angry US, 1952. ► blow z's to sleep. Vietnam war usage US, 1991.

blow!; blow it!; blow you! used as a non-profaned oath UK, 1823 blow away verb 1 to kill someone, usually with a gun US, 1913. 2 to impress or astonish someone; hence, to be impressed or astonished US, 1975

blowback noun a method of smoking marijuana that requires two people: one takes the lit end of a joint into the mouth and blows, thus forcing the smoke into the lungs of the inhaler at the usual end; hence, any improvised method of forcing marijuana smoke for another to inhale; an act of inhaling exhaled marijuana smoke by simply placing your lips close to the exhaler's UK, 1996 blow back verb in gambling, to lose all or most of your winnings US, 1990 blow bath noun during the war in Vietnam, a bath, massage and sex US, 1969 blow blue verb to inhale powdered cocaine UK, 1998

blowboy noun a male homosexual US, 1935 blowby noun in a car or truck, exhaust gases and carbon particles that enter the crankcase instead of being diverted into the exhaust system. So named because the particles and gases 'blow by' the piston rings US, 1960 blow dart noun a hypodermic needle used to inject drugs US, 1971 blow down verb to shoot and kill someone US, 1871 blower noun 1 a telephone. Carried over from the 'speaking tube' which was blown through to alert the receiver; has also been applied to the telegraph system when used for the transmission of racing results. During World War 2, and for some time after, applied to a public address system UK, 1922. 2 someone who succeeds at failing most of what they attempt. A noun formation from BLOW as a verb (to be useless) US, 1993. 3 a respirator US, 1994.

4 in a jazz band, a soloist US, 1960. 5 a handkerchief US, 1960. 6 a marijuana smoker US, 1949. 7 a party US, 2001. 8 a pistol US, 1976. 9 in hot rodding and drag racing, a supercharger US, 1948

blowhard noun a boaster, a braggart US, 1857 blowhole noun 1 the mouth US, 1950. 2 the anus US, 1947 blowie noun 1 an act of oral sex on a man. An abbreviated BLOW JOB AUSTRALIA, 1999. 2 a blowfly AUSTRALIA, 1916 blow-in noun 1 the arrival in prison of a new prisoner US, 1949. 2 a new arrival; a person who has dropped in AUSTRALIA, 1937 blow in verb to arrive US, 1882 blowing smoke noun marijuana UK, 1998 blow it! ► see: BLOW!

blow job noun 1 an act of oral sex performed on a man, or, occasionally, a woman US, 1942. 2 a favourable film review US, 1997. 3 a safe robbery in which explosives are used to gain access to the safe US, 1973. 4 a jet aircraft. Royal Air Force use. A jocular application of the sexual sense (oral sex) but also in comparison to a piston-driven engine UK, 1984 blowman noun a member of a youth gang designated as a shooter US, 1979 blow me down! used as an expression of surprise UK, 1928 blow monkey noun a person with a strong interest in performing oral sex and/or using cocaine US, 1997 blown adjective 1 drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1980. 2 of a blood vein, collapsed US, 1989. 3 in hot rodding and drag racing, using a supercharger; of any car, but especially a racing car, supercharged US, 1948 blown away adjective drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1981 blown in adjective of a car, partially resprayed. Used by the motor trade UK, 1968 blown out adjective 1 said of choppy ocean conditions unfavourable for surfing US, 1963. 2 among London taxi drivers, having failed to get a final fare-paying passenger UK, 1939. 3 drug-intoxicated US, 1972 blow-off noun 1 the end of a circus performance; the final performance in a circus engagement US, 1913. 2 in the circus or carnival, the crowd leaving a performance US, 1980. 3 oral sex performed on a man US, 1972. 4 the moment in a confidence swindle when the victim is left to discover his loss US, 1969 blow off verb 1 to fart UK, 1984. 2 (of a male) to orgasm, ejaculate AUSTRALIA, 1971. 3 to scold someone AUSTRALIA, 1947. 4 to ignore, to dismiss someone US, 1965. 5 to fail to attend US, 1986. 6 in hot rodding, to win a race US, 1965 blow-off number noun a wrong telephone number deliberately given to an unwanted suitor. From BLOW OFF (to dismiss). Coined for US television comedy Seinfeld, 1993–98 US, 1997 blow out noun 1 a heavy meal UK, 1924. 2 a party or meal unlimited by normal rules of conduct US, 1815. 3 in horse racing, a short but intense workout several days before a race US, 1968. 4 crack cocaine UK, 1998. 5 an utter failure US, 1938. ► give someone the blowout to rid yourself of someone US, 1979 blow out verb 1 (of a police case) to fail. Metropolitan Police slang. Figurative use of 'blow out' (a pneumatic tyre puncturing suddenly) UK, 1970. 2 to reject an agreement or responsibility. More often elaborated as BLOW OUT OF THE WATER UK, 1984. 3 to manufacture drugs UK, 2001. 4 to lengthen the odds offered on a horse or greyhound; to have its odds lengthen AUSTRALIA, 1911. ► blow out of the water to reject something absolutely, especially when applied to an agreement or responsibility UK, 2002

blows noun heroin UK, 2002 blowing noun the sniffing of glue or other industrial solvents UK, 1982 blow that for a joke! used for a complete rejection NEW ZEALAND, 1998 blow through verb 1 to leave AUSTRALIA, 1950. 2 to give information over the telephone. To use the BLOWER (a telephone) UK, 1970 blow torch noun 1 in military aviation, a jet fighter US, 1950. 2 in drag racing, a car powered by a jet engine US, 1965

Blowtorch Bob; Blowtorch nickname Robert William Komer, a Lieutenant Colonel in the US Army and a CIA operative in Vietnam from 1967 to 70. It is said that the nickname was coined by US Ambassador to Vietnam Henry Cabot Lodge, who likened arguing with Komer to having a blowtorch aimed at the seat of your trousers US, 1991 blow-up noun 1 an emotionally intense quarrel that soon blows over. From the explosive quality of such conflicts UK, 1809. 2 a corpse that has exploded from a build-up of internal gas US, 1962 blow up verb 1 to lose your temper UK, 1871. 2 in an endurance sport, especially cycling, to reach a point of utter exhaustion US, 2001. 3 to quit a job without notice US, 1946. 4 to inform against someone. A variation of BLOW THE WHISTLE UK, 1982. 5 (used of a telephone, especially a mobile phone) to ring US, 2002. 6 to receive repeated electronic pages US, 2001. 7 (used of a racehorse) to breath hard after a race US, 1997 blow you! ► see: BLOW!

blow-your-mind roulette noun a drug activity in which a variety of pills are mixed together and individuals take a random selection of pills from the mix US, 1970

BLT noun 1 a bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwich US, 1952. 2 a police officer looking for trouble. From BACON (a police officer). Punning on the common usage as a 'bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwich' CANADA, 2002 blubber noun 1 a fat person US, 1997. 2 the act of using the thumb and forefinger to pinch another's cheek US, 1950 blubberbag noun a rubber petrol or fuel-oil transport tank CANADA, 1964 blubberbutt noun an obese person US, 1952 blubbers noun the female breasts US, 1949 bludge noun 1 an easy job, requiring little work AUSTRALIA, 1943. 2 a respite from work or duty AUSTRALIA, 1957. 3 an instance of taking it easy on a job AUSTRALIA, 1957. 4 an act of borrowing or sponging NEW ZEALAND, 1974 bludge verb 1 to live off another's hospitality. A back formation from bludger. Usually with 'on', though since the 1960s also with 'off' AUSTRALIA, 1899. 2 to borrow something; to cadge something NEW ZEALAND, 1945. 3 to relax, especially when there is work to be done AUSTRALIA, 1942 bludger noun 1 a pimp; a man who lives off the earnings of a prostitute. This is the earliest sense of this word and derives from the obsolete British and early Australian slang 'bludgeoner' (a pimp who uses a bludgeon to rob people visiting his prostitute). They were also called 'stick slingers'. By 1900 the sense 'pimp' was well established. The strongly negative sense of sponging off others derives from the fundamental nature of the pimp AUSTRALIA, 1898. 2 a lazy person who does not do their fair share of work; a person who lives off another's hospitality AUSTRALIA, 1900. 3 a despicable person AUSTRALIA, 1906. 4 a stingy person who borrows rather than buys AUSTRALIA, 1972. 5 any person. Often in the phrase 'poor bludger' (a sorry individual) AUSTRALIA, 1969. 6 used jocularly or affectionately as a term of address to friends AUSTRALIA, 1960. 7 something which causes aggravation AUSTRALIA, 1992

bludging noun used as the verbal noun of bludge AUSTRALIA, 1984

bludging adjective lazy AUSTRALIA, 1948 blue noun 1 methylated spirits as an alcoholic drink. From the colour of the fluid UK, 1966. 2 an amphetamine tablet. From the colour of the tablet UK, 1992. 3 a barbiturate capsule US, 1969. 4 a capsule of Drinamyl™, a combination of dexamphetamine sulphate and amylobarbitone. A favourite drug of abuse for mid-1960s Mods UK, 1985. 5 crack cocaine UK, 2003. 6 cocaine US, 1945. 7 Foster's beer AUSTRALIA, 1988. 8 an argument, dispute AUSTRALIA, 1961. 9 a fight, a brawl AUSTRALIA, 1943. 10 an error, a mistake AUSTRALIA, 1941. 11 a police officer UK, 1844. 12 a trusted prisoner with special privileges and responsibilities NEW ZEALAND, 1989. 13 boy, as an affectionate or possessive form of address; a young male homosexual. Gay slang, current in UK prisons February 2002; possibly from the nursery rhyme 'Little Boy Blue come blow on your horn', punning on HORN (an erection) UK, 2002. 14 a black man. A shortened BLUE BOY US, 1964. 15 a work protest NEW ZEALAND, 2001. ► on the blue (used of a bet) on credit AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► out of the blue unexpectedly, suddenly and surprisingly US, 1910. ► under the blue said of a rigged carnival game being operated with police protection US, 1985 blue verb 1 to squander money. A possible variant of BLOW UK, 1846. 2 of a bookmaker, to lose on a race UK, 1937. 3 to fight AUSTRALIA, 1962. 4 to arrest someone. Allusion to the BOYS IN BLUE (the police) UK, 1997. 5 in horse racing, to commit an error of judgment AUSTRALIA, 1989 blue adjective 1 depressed, sad UK, 1821. 2 sexually explicit, pornographic UK, 1864. ► all blue in poker, a flush consisting of clubs or spades US, 1967 blue acid noun LSD. Named because of its colour when dripped onto sugar or blotting paper, or from the colour of a hallucination US, 1969 blue almonds noun a recreational drug cocktail of Viagra™, an erection-inducing drug taken recreationally for performance enhancement, and MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Apparently in popular use amongst lesbians in Sydney AUSTRALIA, 2003 blue and clear noun an amphetamine tablet US, 1993 blue and white noun a police car. A variation on BLACK AND WHITE US, 1974 blue angel noun a tablet of Amytal™, a central nervous system depressant US, 1967 blue-arsed fly noun used as an example of something in a state of agitation or frenzied activity AUSTRALIA, 1955 blue baby noun a capsule of the synthetic opiate oxycodone used recreationally US, 2003 blue bag noun 1 a police uniform US, 1973. 2 heroin UK, 2002 blue balls noun 1 a pain in the testicles caused by long periods of sexual arousal without release. Also South African variant 'blou balles' US, 1916. 2 any sexually transmitted infection US, 1912 blue band noun a capsule of Carbitral™, a central nervous system depressant. On 27th August 1967, Brian Epstein, manager of the Beatles, was found dead from an overdose of Carbitral US, 1971 blue bark noun a pass for a military person travelling home for a family member's funeral CANADA, 1995 blue barrel noun a blue, barrel-shaped tablet of LSD US, 1971 blueberry noun 1 marijuana with blue-coloured buds and a 'fruity' flavour; especially a locally grown variety in British Columbia CANADA, 2002. 2 a resident of the Lac-St-Jean area, Quebec. The most famous and widespread use of this word (which comes from the large blueberry crop grown in the area) was the nickname of Howie Morenz, Canadiens hockey player, known as the 'Bionic Blueberry' CANADA, 2001 blueberry grunt noun in Nova Scotia, a deep-dish blueberry pie CANADA, 1995 bluebird noun a capsule of amobarbital sodium (trade name Amytal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1953 bluebirds noun waves on the horizon, seen from near the shore US, 1964 blue blazes noun used as a euphemism for 'the hell' AUSTRALIA, 1932 blue bloater noun 1 a hospital patient suffering from chronic bronchitis. The blue colouring is from lack of oxygen; the bloating is from the lungs as they retain water US, 1994. 2 an overweight patient suffering from emphysema US, 1973 blue bomber noun a central nervous system stimulant UK, 1966 blue book noun 1 in horse racing, a sheet showing the contenders in a day's races, the odds on the horses and the handicapping US, 1951. 2 a test in school or university. From the examination booklets bound in light blue paper used in many US schools and universities US, 1951 bluebottle noun 1 a police officer. A singular occurrence in Shakespeare's Henry IV Part 1, 1597, then unrecorded until 1846 UK, 1846. 2 a Ministry of Defence uniformed warden UK, 1969. 3 a Portuguese man-of-war US, 1991 blue box noun 1 a homemade electronic tone generator used for manipulating and defrauding telephone networks. Generic, possibly after the colour of the first model US, 1974. 2 a police van used for transporting prisoners US, 1976 blue boy noun 1 an amphetamine tablet US, 1952. 2 a black man US, 1967. 3 a police officer. From the traditional blue uniform UK, 1883 blue bullet noun a capsule of amobarbital sodium (trade name Amytal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1977

blue can noun a can of Foster's beer AUSTRALIA, 2003 blue cap noun a military prison staff member. From the blue-topped cap worn as a part of the uniform UK, 1979 blue chair noun LSD. Possibly a variation of BLUE CHEER (LSD) US, 1975 blue cheer noun a type of LSD (usually mixed with Methedrine™) supplied in blue pills or capsules. From Blue Cheer™, a branded detergent US, 1970 blue cheese noun hashish US, 1992 blue-chip adjective of the highest quality. A term that spread from poker (the blue chip is the highest value) to stocks to general usage US, 1904 blue-chipper noun an excellent student athlete with potential for playing professionally US, 1984 blue-clue caper noun a scheme by one police officer to cause harm to another police officer US, 1983 bluecoat noun a police officer US, 1976 blue collar adjective belonging to or characteristic of the working class US, 1950 blue de Hue noun marijuana from Vietnam. Misspelt and mispronounced, 'blue' sounds like the past tense of BLOW (marijuana) and the Vietnamese city of 'Hue' does not rhyme with 'blue', except in this instance US, 1982 blue devil noun a capsule of amobarbital sodium (trade name Amytal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1967 blue doll noun a capsule of amobarbital sodium (trade name Amytal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1977 blue duck noun 1 a failure, a flop AUSTRALIA, 1895. 2 rain or fog NEW ZEALAND, 1951 blue duppy noun a bruise, especially one produced by a cricket ball BARBADOS, 1965 blue-eyed boy noun a person who is unreasonably favoured. Derogatory UK, 1924 blue-eyed devil noun a white person US, 1972 blue-eyed Indian noun in trucking, a truck owned by the Navajo Freight Lines US, 1976 blue eyes noun a pupil favoured by a teacher. From conventional BLUE-EYED BOY UK, 1974 blue fever noun any sexually transmitted infection. Navy 'lower decks' usage UK, 1961 blue fit noun a state of shock NEW ZEALAND, 1946

blue flags noun LSD US, 1976

blue-flame verb to ignite a fart AUSTRALIA, 1992

blue flamer noun a zealot US, 1991 blue flu noun an organised work stoppage in which all the affected workers call in sick the same day US, 1967 blue flue boat noun a ship of the Blue Funnel Line ('Blue Flue Line'). Recorded as a 'Blue-Funneller' in 1929 and not recorded in this form until 1984; the shipping line ceased to exist in 1986 UK, 1984 blue foot noun 1 a prostitute. David Powis suggests that this is possibly of West Indian origin. In 1940s Jamaica 'a bluefoot man' is an 'outsider' UK, 1977. 2 a white prisoner. Used by black prisoners UK, 1996 blue funk noun a state of extreme fear UK, 1861 bluegill noun the penis US, 1990 bluegrass verb to commit someone to the Lexington (Kentucky) Federal Narcotics Hospital. Kentucky's nickname is 'the Bluegrass State' US, 1953 blue hair noun an older person, especially an older woman US, 1981 blue happiness noun liquid morphine US, 1989 blue haze noun the sense of euphoria and distance produced by a large dose of alprazolam (trade name Xanax™), a benzodiazepine used for short term relief of symptoms of anxiety US, 1993 blue heaven noun 1 sodium amytal, a barbiturate US, 1954. 2 LSD. Named because of the colour of the drug when dripped onto sugar or blotting paper, or possibly from the colour of a hallucination US, 1977 blue hero noun heroin UK, 2003 blue ice noun frozen toilet waste from an aircraft which melts off and falls US, 1982 blue in the armor noun a can of Pabst Blue Ribbon beer US, 1967 bluejack verb to send an anonymous one-way message to a mobile phone enabled with 'Bluetooth' radio technology UK, 2004 blue jay noun a capsule of sodium amytal, a compound used as a sedative and hypnotic US, 1953 blue job noun any member of an official service that wears a blue uniform (police, Royal Navy, Royal Air Force, etc) UK, 1943 blue John noun strong, homemade whisky US, 1986 blue juice noun a powerful wave US, 1991 blue lady noun methylated spirits NEW ZEALAND, 1988 blue lamp disco noun a police car with flashing lights UK, 1981 blue light noun a marked police car US, 1976 blue line noun a river. From the designation of a river on a map US, 1976 blue line sweep noun a military operation on a river or stream. In Vietnam military jargon, a 'blue feature' was a body of water and a 'blue line' was a stream or river as depicted on a map US, 1991

Blue Max nickname 1 the Congressional Medal of Honor US, 1988. 2 a gunship of the First Air Cavalry Division, one of only two aerial rocket artillery battalions in the US Army's history. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 blue meanie noun Copelandia cyancens or Panaeolus cyanescens: a mushroom with potent psychactive properties NEW ZEALAND, 1991 blue meanies noun the police or other enforcement authorities; a section of society with an anti-freedom point of view. From so-named predatory characters in the 1968 Beatles' cartoon film The Yellow Submarine US, 1969 blue microdot noun a type of LSD UK, 1998 blue mist noun LSD. Named because of the colour of the drug when dripped onto sugar or blotting paper, or possibly from the colour of a hallucination. US, 1974 blue molly noun an amphetamine capsule UK, 2003 blue moons noun 1 a type of LSD. Identified by blue moon pictures on blotting paper TAB(S) (tablets) of ACID, a boastful comparison to the rare quality of a 'blue moon' UK, 2003. 2 marijuana with a blue-coloured leaf UK, 2002 blue movie noun a sexually themed or pornographic film US, 1957 blue murder noun cries of terror or alarm; a great noise. Generally in combination, e.g. 'cry blue murder', 'howl', 'scream', 'yell', etc UK, 1859 blue mystic noun a powerful psychedelic drug in pill or powder form UK, 2001 blue nitro noun the recreational drug GHB US, 1998 bluenose noun a Nova Scotian. This persistent nickname for residents of the province has several suggested origins, starting of course with the colour the nose turns in cold weather on a fishing boat, as well as the fame of a privateer from the province which had a blue cannon in the prow CANADA, 1785 blue-nosed adjective excessively moral, puritanical, repressed US, 1890

- blue-on-blue noun 1 in battle, fire unintentionally directed at friendly forces US, 1991. 2 clear blue sky and a calm blue sea US, 1986
- blue one noun in carnival usage, poor location or slow business for a concession stand US, 1981
- blue pages noun in television and film making, additions to a script after production has started US, 1990
- blue-pencil verb to censor something. From the traditional colour of an editor's pencil US, 1888
- blue pill noun a very powerful handgun US, 1957
- blueprint verb in drag racing, to bring an engine precisely to its tolerance for racing US, 2004
- blue room noun 1 a toilet. Usually applied to a portable toilet on a construction site US, 1965. 2 a cell used for solitary confinement US, 1976. 3 any room in a police station or jail where rough interrogations take place US, 1992
- blues noun 1 a deeply felt sense of sadness, rejection or depression. Shortened from the 'blue devils' UK, 1741. 2 methylated spirits as an alcoholic drink. From its colour UK, 1966. 3 an illegal drinking house, especially one where music is also provided UK, 1977. 4 in the army, a dress uniform; in the navy, a walking out uniform UK, 1948. 5 a formal blue dress uniform of the US Marines US, 1991. 6 jeans worn by convicts UK, 1996. 7 unreserved bleacher seats in a circus US, 1980. 8 money. From blue gambling chips US, 1976
- blue sage; blue saze noun a variety of marijuana with a blue tint. It is likely that 'saze' is a misspelling or mispronunciation. Also known as BLUE MOONS US, 1943
- blues and twos noun police emergency response vehicles. UK police cars have blue flashing lights and two-tone sirens, thus when a police vehicle is attending an emergency with all its alarms blazing and wailing it is said to be using 'blues and twos', and hence the derivation of this term UK, 2001
- blue shirt noun an active firefighter, as distinguished from an officer US, 1954
- blue sky noun 1 worthless securities; a pleasant appearance with difficulties ignored US, 1906. 2 heroin US, 1987
- blue sky blonde noun highly potent marijuana from Columbia US, 1982
- blues man noun a methylated spirits drinker UK, 1966
- bluesnarf verb to steal personal information from a mobile phone enabled with Bluetooth™ radio technology. A compound of the Bluetooth brand and SNARF (to take, to grab) UK, 2004
- Blue Spader nickname a soldier of the 1st Battalion, 26th Infantry, 2nd Brigade, 1st Infantry Division. From the blue spade on the insignia. Served in World War 2, Berlin, Vietnam from 1965 until 1970, Bosnia, Macedonia and Kosovo US, 1991
- blue spot noun a spotlight with a blue filter, sometimes required by law during striptease shows US, 1986
- blue star noun a type of LSD identified by a printed blue star UK, 1998
- blue steeler noun a particularly erect erection US, 1997
- blue streak noun an emphatic and vigorous degree. Used to modify 'talk' or variations on talking US, 1830
- bluesuit noun a uniformed police officer US, 1970
- bluesuiter noun a member of the US Air Force US, 1963
- blue swimmer noun a ten dollar note. From the resemblance of the colour of the note to the 'blue swimmer' crab AUSTRALIA, 2003
- blue ticket noun 1 a one-way train or bus ticket given by the police to criminals whose presence in town is no longer deemed acceptable US, 1993. 2 a discharge from the US armed services as 'unsuitable for military service' US, 1991. 3 a one-way ticket out of Alaska US, 1993
- blue tip noun a capsule of amobarbital sodium (trade name Amytal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1977
- blue tongue noun an unskilled worker. After the blue-tongued lizard AUSTRALIA, 1943
- blue veiner noun a rigid erection US, 1975
- blue velvet noun a combination of cough syrups, especially codeine-based syrups, used as a weak heroin substitute US, 1994
- blue vex adjective extremely angry BARBADOS, 1990
- blue vials noun LSD UK, 1998
- blue-water man noun a sailor experienced in ocean sailing US, 1975
- blue water Navy noun during the war in Vietnam, a ship that was part of the US Navy presence off the coast of Vietnam US, 1948
- bluey noun 1 a capsule of Drinamyl™, a combination of amphetamine and barbiturate UK, 1963. 2 a methylated spirit drinker. From the colour of the spirit UK, 1961. 3 a five pound note (£5). From the colour UK, 1982. 4 an airmail letter. Gulf war usage UK, 1991. 5 a blue blanket as used by itinerants for carrying possessions; a swag AUSTRALIA, 1878. 6 a summons. In late C19 called 'a piece of blue paper' AUSTRALIA, 1909. 7 a portable gas stove used by Royal Marines in Northern Ireland UK, 1984. 8 a pornographic film AUSTRALIA, 1985
- Bluey noun used as a nickname for a red-haired person. Ironic in origin AUSTRALIA, 1906
- blueys noun denim trousers, jeans AUSTRALIA, 1917
- bluff noun a lesbian who enjoys both the active and passive role in sex US, 1970
- blunderdurd noun a Triumph 'Thunderbird' motorcycle UK, 1984
- blunjie; blunji adjective yielding, squashy. Given some currency in the 1950s by surreal radio comedy The Goons UK, 1984
- blunk adjective in a state of intoxication that is the result of drink and drugs. An elision of any word for 'intoxicated' that begins 'bl' and 'drunk' UK, 1984
- blunt noun 1 marijuana rolled and smoked in a hollowed out cigar. Generic usage but originally made with a Phillies Blunt™ US, 1988. 2 a mixture of marijuana and cocaine UK, 2003. 3 a capsule of Seconal™ or other barbiturate in a black capsule US, 1980. 4 cocaine UK, 2003. 5 a hypodermic syringe US, 1980. 6 a knife US, 1971. 7 a coin. Circus and carnival usage UK, 1708
- blunted adjective marijuana-intoxicated US, 1993
- blunted up adjective marijuana-intoxicated UK, 2001
- blunt end noun the stern of a ship. Used by 'landlubbers', often jocular UK, 1961
- bluntie noun marijuana rolled and smoked in a hollowed out cigar US, 1997
- blunt nib; blunt noun a reporter. Press photographers' slang UK, 2004
- blur noun someone who is lost in his own world. Intensified at times as 'blur like fuck' SINGAPORE, 2002
- blurt noun the vagina. In conventional English 'blurt' (to puff with scorn) involves compressing and opening lips. The imagery, perhaps, explains the etymology UK, 2001
- blurter noun the anus NEW ZEALAND, 1998
- blute noun newspapers cut and folded to look like currency US, 1992
- bluttered adjective drunk. Possibly a variation of BLOOTERED UK, 2002
- bly noun an oxy-acetylene blow torch. Criminal use UK, 1996
- BM noun a BMW car. Further abbreviated from BEEMER rather than directly from the BMW brand name; the car is a status-symbol, and seeking to sound evermore casual about its name is simple snobbery UK, 1999
- BMO noun used by US troops in the war against Iraq to describe Saudi women. Initialism of 'black moving objects' US, 1991
- BMOC noun a popular and visible college boy. A 'big man on campus' US, 1934
- BMQ noun a homosexual male who hides his sexuality. A 'black market queen'. UK, 2002
- BMT noun habitual lateness. Initialism of 'black man's (or men's) time', based on a stereotypical characteristic UK, 2000
- BMW noun from a British Indian (Hindu) perspective, a person who is categorised as black, Muslim or white UK, 2006
- BNF noun a science fiction fan well known by other fans. A 'big-name fan' US, 1982 bo noun 1 a man, a companion; often used as a form of address. From the nickname Beau, or abbreviated from 'boy'. Originally English but now US. UK cryptic crosswords often rely on the clue 'an American' to signal the letters 'bo' UK, 1729. 2 a hobo. A reality and term that only barely lingered into the 1950s US, 1899. 3 marijuana US, 1975

BO noun body odour. An initialism coined for soap advertisements; made even more infamous by the comic strip villain B.O. Plenty in Dick Tracy US, 1931 bo adjective excellent, fashionable, trendy US, 1963

BO! go away! A euphemistic abbreviation of BUGGER OFF UK, 1984

bo!; boh! used as an expression of approval. As in the phrase 'Bo Yakashal' used by cult comic figure Ali G (Sacha Baron-Cohen) UK, 2000 board noun 1 a surfboard US, 1963. 2 in a game of poker in which some cards are dealt face-up, all face-up cards collectively US, 1992. ► off the board in horse racing, said of odds greater than 99–1 US, 1976. ► on board on the railways, on duty, at work US, 1977. ► take off the board in sports betting, to fail to establish a pointspread on a game or event US, 1975 board verb ► board with Aunt Polly to draw disability insurance. A logging term US, 1931 board cord noun a line attached at one end to a surfer and at the other to the surfboard US, 1977 boarded up adjective in prison, wearing an improvised armour, such as magazines inserted under clothing, to protect yourself from attack by other prisoners UK, 1996

boardie noun a surfer NEW ZEALAND, 1999

boardies noun baggy surfing shorts AUSTRALIA, 1979

boarding house noun a jail US, 1942 boarding house reach noun an effort by a diner to reach for a serving plate rather than ask for it to be passed US, 1906 board jock; board sock noun a protective surfboard cover US, 1977 board knees noun lumps on a surfer's knees from prolonged hours kneeling on a surfboard AUSTRALIA, 1963

Board of Trade duff noun tinned pudding. Merchant Navy use UK, 1979 boards noun 1 the stage; live theatre. Always after the definite article UK, 1768. 2 skis. Probably from the fact that early homemade skis were sometimes shaped from planks CANADA, 1989. ► on the boards in solitary confinement US, 1976 board shorts noun almost knee-length shorts favoured by surfboarders AUSTRALIA, 1963 boardwalk oyster noun a used condom. From the appearance and location of discovery UK, 1998 boar's nest noun in oil drilling, any poorly planned, makeshift arrangement of equipment US, 1954 boast verb 1 to brag as a part of a rap performance US, 2000. 2 to smoke marijuana US, 1997

boasty adjective arrogant BAHAMAS, 1982 boat noun 1 a car, especially a large car US, 1914. 2 a prison transfer; a group of prisoners being transferred; the bus used to transfer them US, 1956. 3 a non-prostitute who flaunts her sexual availability to hotel customers UK, 2005. 4 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. A shortened form of LOVE BOAT US, 1984. 5 heroin US, 1993. 6 a combination of marijuana and phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust UK, 2003. 7 in poker, a hand consisting of three of a kind and a pair. Conventionally known as a 'full house' US, 1981. ► off the boat said of immigrants, especially black people UK, 2001 boat anchor noun a crippled or useless piece of computer equipment; by extension, a useless person US, 1991 boat and oar noun a whore. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 boat girl noun a prostitute plying her trade on the docks NEW ZEALAND, 1978

boatie noun the operator of a small motorboat NEW ZEALAND, 1972

boat in a moat noun a casino that must, as a result of gambling laws, float US, 2003

boatload noun a large amount UK, 1999 boat people noun people who arrive at casinos on bus excursion trips US, 1994 boat race noun 1 a fixed horse race or other competition US, 1917. 2 the face. Rhyming slang, probably in use from the late 1940s. Often shortened to 'boat' UK, 1958 boats noun shoes or feet, especially large ones US, 1956 boat tail noun an Alfa Romeo Spyder convertible. The rear end comes to a point, not unlike a boat US, 1992 bob noun 1 a shilling; a non-specific amount of money. Obsolete since decimalisation in 1971, except in phrases like QUEER AS A NINE BOB NOTE and abstract representations of money such as 'a few bob' (an undefined sum of money) UK, 1789. 2 a dollar US, 1930. 3 marijuana. Very likely derived from Bob Marley, a highly visible marijuana lover. A long list of derivatives play with the term – 'see bob', 'talk with bob', 'bob's on the phone' – and serve as a code for discussing marijuana and its use US, 1997. 4 a marijuana cigarette. Other possible derivations include BOB HOPE and BOBO BUSH US, 1998. 5 crack cocaine. An abbreviation of BOBO UK, 1998. 6 in hot rodding and drag racing, to cut or shorten a fender US, 1966. 7 a shoplifter US, 1962 bob verb to perform oral sex on a man US, 1995. ► bob for apples to remove impacted faeces by hand US, 1989 bob adjective pleasant. Survives in the phrase 'all is bob' and the variant 'on bob' UK, 1721

Bob adjective used by US troops in the war against Iraq as an adjective for all things Saudi US, 1991

Bob and Dick noun the penis. Rhyming slang for PRICK (the penis) UK, 1974

Bob and Dick; Bob, Harry and Dick adjective sick. Rhyming slang; from the people who brought you TOM AND DICK; TOM, HARRY AND DICK UK, 1868

bobber noun a person who has died by drowning or has fallen into the water US, 1987 bobbers noun 1 the female breasts UK, 1968. 2 pieces of cork hung as a fringe around a hat's brim to keep flies away AUSTRALIA, 1942 bobbins noun nonsense UK, 2005

bobble verb (used of a racehorse) to stumble or break stride in a clumsy manner US, 1976

bobble bumper noun in pinball, a bumper that scores and kicks the ball on contact US, 1977 bobble twanger noun a lesbian. In Royal Air Force use UK, 2002

Bobbsey Twins noun 1 used as a representation of either innocence or a strong resemblance. From a popular series of 72 children's books created by Edward Stratemeyer in 1904 and written under the name of Laura Lee Hope by writers under contract to Stratemeyer US, 1969. 2 two girls who regularly double-date US, 1968

bobby noun 1 a police officer. A familiar abbreviation of the name Robert honouring Mr, later Sir, Robert Peel, who is credited with the founding of the Metropolitan Police in 1829 UK, 1844. 2 during the Korean war, the Soviet BA-64 light armored car used by North Korea US, 1952

bobby verb to serve as a police officer UK, 1967

bobby dangler noun the penis. A play on BOBBY-DAZZLER CANADA, 1971

bobby-dazzler noun something or someone wonderful, exciting, magnificent UK, 1866

Bobby Moore; bobby noun 1 a door. Rhyming slang, based on the name of the footballer who was England's 1966 World Cup winning captain UK, 1998. 2 the state of affairs, the current situation. Rhyming slang for THE SCORE (the current situation) UK, 1996 bobbysoxer noun a teenage girl. 'Bobby socks' (ankle-high white socks, first recorded in 1927) as a generational trademark for American teenagers arrived on the national scene in June 1937, with a cover photograph in Life magazine. After 'the socks' came

'the soxer'. The 'bobby' is most likely constructed on 'to bob' (to cut or shorten) US, 1944

bobette noun a London Metropolitan Woman Police Officer. A feminised variation of BOBBY (a policeman) UK, 1999

bobfoc noun a girl with a beautiful body but an ugly face. Acronym formed from Body Off Baywatch, Face off Crimewatch, two television programmes – one fiction, one factual – which represent (apparently) the extremes of human appearance UK, 2002

Bob Hope noun marijuana. Abbreviates to BOB. British-born American entertainer Bob Hope (1903–2003) is not associated with drugs except as a rhyme for DOPE UK, 1992

bob job noun a reduction in size achieved by cutting US, 1954

Bob Marley noun cocaine. Rhyming slang for CHARLIE (cocaine); after reggae musician Bob Marley (1945–1981), a Rastafarian UK, 2001

bobo noun 1 a person who enjoys the trappings of success but nevertheless espouses countercultural values. From 'bourgeois bohemian', but surely too close to a clown's name to be a coincidence US, 2000. 2 a fool JAMAICA, 1943. 3 the vagina BAHAMAS, 1982. 4 the buttocks US, 1974. 5 crack cocaine. Possibly playing on BEBE UK, 1998. 6 prison-issued canvas shoes US, 2002

bobo bush noun marijuana US, 1936

Bobo Johnny noun any naive, gullible person SAINT KITTS AND NEVIS, 1969

Bob Squash noun an area of a public lavatory where hands are washed. Rhyming slang for 'wash'; originally, during World War 1, 'to wash'; thereafter used by pickpockets as 'on the bob' (stealing from the jackets of people washing their hands) UK, 1961 bobsy-die noun a commotion or fuss. A variation on the British dialect bob-a-dying NEW ZEALAND, 1935

Bob's your uncle everything is all right. Most commentators offer the relationship between Prime Minister Robert Gascoyne-Cecil, 3rd Marquis of Salisbury (1830–1903) and his nephew Arthur Balfour (1848–1930) as the source of the phrase; the former (Uncle Bob), in 1887, controversially (allegedly nepotistically) appointed the latter as secretary for Ireland. This idiom, very familiar in the UK, is all but unknown in the US so that when Jann Turner-Lord published A Dictionary of Slang for British Mystery Fans in 1992 it was entitled Bob's Your Uncle UK, 1937 bobtail noun 1 in poker, four fifths of a straight that can be completed at either end US, 1865. 2 on the railways, a switching engine US, 1977

bobtail verb in trucking, to drive a tractor without a trailer US, 1946

Bob White noun in trucking, a flap valve on the smokestack US, 1971 bod noun 1 person. An abbreviation of 'body' UK, 1935. 2 the body, as in physique UK, 1933. 3 an aeroplane passenger. Flight crew use UK, 1960 bodacious adjective amazing, impressive. A C19 word from the American frontier, rediscovered by the late C20 young. The term 'bodacious tatas' as descriptive of 'magnificent breasts' was made widely popular by the 1982 film Officer and a Gentleman. In Australia, popularised by radio announcer Doug Murray US, 1843

bo-deen noun a police officer US, 2001 bodega noun a shop. An affected acquisition, directly from Spanish UK, 2002 bodewash noun dry buffalo dung. The word is an adaptation of the French bois de vache (cow wood) CANADA, 1953 bodger noun in the building trade, any inferior tradesman (such as a builder, electrician, mechanic or plumber) who is able to patch and mend, and is, perhaps, unqualified; on a building site, the jack-of-all-trades worker who fixes minor problems. A dialect word first recorded in 1552 UK bodger adjective fake; false AUSTRALIA, 1950

bodgie noun 1 anything worthless. Also variant 'bodgey' AUSTRALIA, 1953. 2 a male member of an urban youth subculture of the 1950s. Now only historical use. 'Bodgies' were noted for a peculiar style of dress (shocking for its day) that was in conscious imitation of American youth, including tight trousers, jackets, no ties and having slicked back hair with large sideburns. Their female counterparts were 'widgeys'. This group was the subject of numerous alarmist media reports about youth delinquency. In origin the term must be related to other senses of 'bodge/bodger', but exactly how is unclear. One theory, that it is a nominal use of 'bodge' as 'counterfeit', referring to clothing made from poor quality cloth passed off as American material, is unsubstantiated by any early evidence AUSTRALIA, 1954. 3 a young swing jazz enthusiast US, 1952

bodgied up adjective dressed up in a pretentious manner AUSTRALIA, 1972

bodgy; bodgie verb to conceal someone or something AUSTRALIA, 1968

bodgy; bodgie adjective 1 false, counterfeit, phoney, sham. Appearing simultaneously with the synonymous 'bodger', these terms must derive from British dialect bodge (to make or mend clumsily or poorly), a variant of 'botch'. Recorded earliest in prison and underworld use it perhaps referred originally to a poorly done quota of work that prisoners had to submit daily AUSTRALIA, 1944. 2 poorly made or executed; worthless, hopeless AUSTRALIA, 1944 bodice-ripper noun a sexually themed romantic/historical novel aimed at an adult female audience US, 1980 bodied adjective (used of a female) well built US, 1947 bodilicious noun an attractive physique. A compounding of 'body' and 'delicious', perhaps intended as a gentle pun on BODACIOUS. Recorded in contemporary gay culture as an 'edible body' UK, 2003 body noun 1 a person, especially if under suspicion or arrest; a person to be framed for a crime. Police and criminal usage UK, 1970. 2 a prisoner. Prison officers' use UK, 1996. 3 in the usage of showgirls, a man US, 1981 body verb to kill someone US, 1999 body armour noun a condom UK, 1998 body by Fisher noun a woman with an attractive body. An allusion to an advertising slogan of the General Motors Corporation, boasting of the superiority of a car 'body by Fisher' US, 1949 body cheese noun any buildup of body cells such as ear wax or eye secretions US, 1988 body contact squad noun Korean soldiers who acted as suicide bombers US, 1982 body knocker noun a person who works in a car body repair shop US, 1993 body lotion noun a drink. Citizens' band radio slang UK, 1981 body packer noun a person who smuggles drugs inside their body US, 1997 body popping noun an urban dance-style incorporating robotic movements US, 1984 body queen noun a homosexual man attracted to men with muscular bodies US, 1970 body rain noun corporate executives in search of employment after a takeover, merger or business failure. A macabre image recalling the suicides by jumping associated with the market crash of 1929 US, 1988 body shop noun a bar catering to an unmarried clientele with sexual agendas US, 1970 body shot noun a ritual in which a person licks salt off someone else, drinks a shot of tequila and then sucks on a lemon in the other's mouth US, 2001 body snatcher noun 1 a morgue employee who retrieves and transports corpses to the morgue US, 1993. 2 someone who steals another's date US, 1955. 3 a person who selects prime farm stock for butchering NEW ZEALAND, 2002 body swerve noun any deliberate act of avoiding someone or something. From football terminology into general parlance UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 body-swerve verb to avoid something UK: SCOTLAND, 1992

body time noun in casinos, the amount of time a player, whose playing time is being tracked, spends gambling US, 1996

body-to-body noun a sexual service offered in some massage parlours in which a girl will massage her client with her body UK, 2003 body wumping noun body surfing US, 1987 boerewors curtain noun the invisible line marking the beginning of South African suburbs where Afrikaans people dwell SOUTH AFRICA, 1996

boerie noun the penis. From the Afrikaans for 'farm sausage' SOUTH AFRICA, 2005

bof noun 1 an old or older person who is rated as uninteresting. An acronym formed on boring old fart UK, 2005. 2 a record album consisting of the 'best of' the artist's previous recordings US, 1982

boff noun 1 a hearty laugh US, 1945. 2 sex; an act of sexual intercourse US, 1956 boff verb 1 to have sex US, 1937. 2 to kiss and caress US, 1968. 3 to make a mistake, to do something wrong. Possibly euphemistic; sometimes 'boff up'. School children's slang UK, 1977. 4 to vomit US, 1993

boffed adjective drunk US, 1984

boffin noun a scientist; a forensic expert UK, 1945

boffo noun 1 a great joke US, 1968. 2 a one-year prison sentence US, 1930

boffo adjective very impressive, popular, successful. Originally theatrical when it was often used of a comedic success, and in which sense it probably derives from 'buffo' (a comic actor; comic) US, 1949 boffola noun 1 a hearty laugh; a joke that produces a hearty laugh US, 1946. 2 a smash hit, a success US, 1947 bog noun 1 a lavatory. Abbreviated from obsolete 'bog house'. Often follows 'the' and often in the plural UK, 1789. 2 an act of defecation AUSTRALIA, 1932. 3 a police station UK, 1962. 4 in Western Australia, an unrefined and loutish person from a lower socio-economic area AUSTRALIA, 1997. 5 a type of putty used to fill dents in the bodywork of vehicles AUSTRALIA, 1989 bog verb 1 to defecate UK, 1982. 2 (used of a motorcycle engine) to lose power and slow down US, 1973 bogan noun an unrefined and loutish person from a lower socio-economic area. The term gives rise to any number of derivatives, such as 'boganhood', 'boganism', 'boganity' and 'Bogansville' (the notional home of bogans) AUSTRALIA, 1987

bogan adjective of or relating to a bogan AUSTRALIA, 1988

Bogan shower noun a dust storm. Bogan is an inland town in New South Wales. Other locations similarly used by nature, weather and irony: Bedourie, Bourke, Cobar, Darling, Wilcannia and Wimmera AUSTRALIA, 1945 bogart noun a bully. From the verb 'to bogart'; a critical view of out-of-fashion film 'tough guy' behaviour personified by film actor Humphrey Bogart US, 1994 bogart verb 1 to bully. As 'tough guy' films and the forceful characters portrayed by actors like Humphrey Bogart went out fashion, so the usage moved from admiring to critical. Also variant 'bogard' US, 1966. 2 to selfishly keep possession of something that you are expected to return or forward, especially drugs. After the alleged meanness of film actor Humphrey Bogart (1899–1957), or, perhaps, from the way he would keep a cigarette dangling from his lips. Sometimes spelt 'bogard' or 'bogarde' US, 1957. 3 to overdose on drugs UK, 1996 bog bird noun a woman who is willing to have sex in a public lavatory UK, 2003 bogey noun 1 a uniformed police officer; a police detective. From 'bogey-man' (a terrifying creature), ultimately from 'old bogey' (the devil); alternatively spelt 'bogie' or 'bogy' UK, 1924. 2 an unidentified aircraft, presumed to be hostile until identified as friendly. Coined in World War 2 and used since US, 1943. 3 in betting, the outstanding loser in any book UK, 1991. 4 a small lump of dried nasal mucus. Variant spellings include 'bogy' and 'bogie' UK, 1937. 5 a wash taken in a creek, dam, etc, especially after a day's work AUSTRALIA, 1874. 6 a child's steerable cart constructed from pram wheels and odds and ends of wood UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 7 in trucking, a set of two axles US, 1986. 8 a stalemate, a deadlock UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

Bogey nickname Humphrey Bogart (1899–1957), American actor US, 1972

bogey verb to swim and wash in a creek, damn, etc, especially after a day's work; (of working dogs) to take a dip in a body of water to cool down and as a break from work. From Dharug, the extinct Australian Aboriginal language of the Sydney region AUSTRALIA, 1788 bogey adjective fraudulent, bogus US, 1977 bog-eyed adjective bleary-eyed as the result of too much drink or too little sleep, or both UK, 1999 bogger noun a person from or living in a rural part of Ireland especially anyone not living in Dublin. This term makes use of the suffix -ER, especially common in Dublin Hiberno-English IRELAND, 1997 boggie noun a hippy who is resistant to change, or too drug-intoxicated to be a part of any activity. Coinage credited to counterculture artist Edward Barker, 1970 UK boggie bear noun an ugly person US, 1947 boggie board noun a small, foam board surfed in a prone position AUSTRALIA, 1985

bogging adjective filthy UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

bogie man noun a worker who repairs railway rolling stock. A pun on a devilish creature and a conventional piece of under-carriage UK, 1970 bog-in noun a hearty meal. After the verb sense AUSTRALIA, 1954 bog in verb to eat voraciously AUSTRALIA, 1917 bog lap noun in Western Australia, a circuit of a street block in a vehicle done, especially repeatedly, for entertainment AUSTRALIA, 1996

bogman noun anyone who does not live in a city or a town IRELAND, 1992

Bogners noun blue jeans worn when skiing. Alluding to the stylish stretch trousers manufactured by the German Bogner firm US, 1963

bogof noun a retail special offer: Buy One Get One Free UK, 2003 bog off verb to go, to depart; generally used as a euphemistic imperative. Originally Royal Air Force, possibly from 'take-off' (in an aircraft), to 'leave the earth (bog) behind' UK, 1996 bogosity noun the degree to which anything can be described as wrong or in error. Computer hacker slang from BOGUS (wrong) US, 1981 bog out verb to become intoxicated on drugs US, 1998 bog-standard adjective ordinary, normal, usual AUSTRALIA, 1983 bog-trotter noun an Irish person. From the nature of Eire's terrain UK, 1682 bog-trotting adjective Irish. From BOG-TROTTER (an Irish person) UK, 1997

bogue noun a cigarette US, 1994

bogue verb 1 to smoke a cigarette. A part-of-speech shift derived from Humphrey Bogart, cigarette-smoking icon US, 1983. 2 to depress someone US, 1986 bogue adjective wrong; sick. From BOGUS; sometimes seen spelt as 'boag' US, 1960

bogue out verb in computing, to become non-functional suddenly and without warning US, 1983 bog up verb to make a mess of something, to do something incompetently. Originally military, likely to derive from BOG (a lavatory) and all that implies, but at the same time euphemistic and tending towards BUGGER UP UK, 1948

bogus noun counterfeit money US, 1798 bogus adjective 1 disagreeable, offensive; wrong US, 1876. 2 in computing, non-functional, useless, false or incorrect US, 1981 bogus beef noun idle, insincere conversation US, 1947 bogwash verb to force a person's head into the toilet bowl, and flush. From BOG (a lavatory) UK, 1996 bogwoppit noun an ugly woman. In Royal Air Force use UK, 2002 bohawk noun a member of the Bohemian counterculture US, 1952 bohd noun 1 marijuana UK, 1998. 2 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. Possibly a mispronunciation of BOAT UK, 2001 boho noun a Bohemian, in the sense of an unconventional person US, 1958 boho adjective unconventional, bohemian US, 1958 bohunk noun 1 a Czechoslovakian immigrant US, 1903. 2 a ill-mannered, loutish person US, 1919 boil noun in surfing, a turbulence or disturbance on a developing wave US, 1980. ► off the boil having lost your form and luck AUSTRALIA, 1989 boil verb ► boil it till it asshole to continue to heat maple sap until it forms vortexes, indicating that it is nearing the candy stage CANADA, 1992. ► boil the hides in drag racing, to smoke a car's tyres US, 1965 boil down verb to reduce something to its essence. A figurative use of the conventional sense UK, 1880 boiled noun a boiling hot solution of sugar and water used as an offensive weapon UK, 1996 boiled adjective 1 very drunk US, 1884. 2 angry US, 1929 boiled owl noun 1 used as a representation of the ultimate drunkard US, 1864. 2 the last thing in the world that you would want to eat US, 1975 boiler noun 1 a woman considered by most to be devoid of, or past the age of, sexual appeal. Flesh considered as chicken meat: a 'boiler' is no longer a fresh and tasty chick but a tough old bird UK, 1962. 2 an unskilled cook. Proficient only at boiling meals US, 1975. 3 the stomach US, 1886. 4 the vagina UK, 1985 boilermaker noun 1 a shot of whisky followed by a glass of beer; a beer and whisky combined US, 1942. 2 a pint of beer that is an equal mixture of draught mild and bottled brown ale; a salted beer UK, 1961 boiler room noun an office used in an elaborate swindle US, 1931 boiler water noun whisky US, 1977 boiling adjective extremely hot. A familiar exaggeration UK, 1930 boilover noun in horse racing, an unexpected win by a long shot; a loss by the favourite AUSTRALIA, 1871 boil-up noun a trail stop for tea and rest CANADA, 1938

boing verb while snowboarding, to bounce off something US, 1990 boing! used as a jocular catchphrase that indicates a sexual interest or readiness. Sometimes embellished to 'Boing! said Zebedee'. Coincidental to the original US catchphrase, this began with the UK translation/adaptation, by Eric Thomson, 1929–84, of French animated children's television programme Le Manège Enchanté into The Magic Roundabout, BBC 1963–71 and 1974–77. Zebedee was a spring-mounted character, best remembered as making his entrances and exits to a narrated 'Boing!' and signalling the end of each episode by announcing that it was time for bed. Popularised in the UK with the recording of a stand-up comedy routine by Jasper Carrott US, 1948 bo-ing! used for humorously expressing approval or delight. Teen slang US, 1955 boink noun an in-person meeting of participants in an Internet discussion group US, 1995

boink verb to have sex with someone US, 1897

Bo Jimmy noun marijuana US, 1992

bok noun an eager person SOUTH AFRICA, 1978

Bok noun a sportsman or woman in a team that represents South Africa in international competition, a 'Springbok' SOUTH AFRICA, 1972

bok adjective keen for something interesting SOUTH AFRICA, 1975 boke; boak noun nausea; a need to vomit; vomiting UK, 1911 boke; boak verb to vomit; to induce vomiting UK, 1911 boker noun an unsophisticated rustic US, 1968 bokkie; bok noun a lover, especially as an endearment SOUTH AFRICA, 1959

boko noun the nose US, 1859 bold adjective 1 used to suggest homosexuality or of the stereotypical characteristics associated with gay men. This usage was originated and made familiar by the BBC radio comedy Round The Horne, 1965–9 UK, 1967. 2 successful, excellent US, 1965 bold-as-brass; as bold as brass adjective audacious, extremely impudent UK, 1789

Bolivian marching powder noun cocaine US, 1984

bollards noun the testicles. A play on BOLLOCKS UK, 2003 bollicky; bollocky adjective (of either sex) totally naked. Literally, 'with the bollocks exposed' AUSTRALIA, 1950 bollix noun 1 nonsense talk. The spelling reflects Hiberno-English pronunciation of BOLLOCKS IRELAND, 1996. 2 a contemptible person. Variant spelling of BOLLOCKS IRELAND, 2000

bollix verb to bungle something, to ruin something US, 1937 bollixing adjective used as a negative intensifier US, 1954 bollo noun nonsense. A shortening of BOLLOCKS UK, 2003 bollock noun 1 a ball (a society dance). A pun on BALL(S) (a testicle/testicles) UK, 1982. 2 a chronic failure, a mess UK, 2001 bollock; ballock verb to reprimand someone, to admonish someone, to scold someone UK, 1938 bollockache noun an unnecessary or annoying cause of weariness UK, 1998 bollockchops noun a stupid person, an idiot; used as a ribald form of address UK, 1991 bollocking adjective used as an intensifier, especially in a negative context UK, 2000 bollocking; ballocking noun a telling-off, a scolding. From BOLLOCK (to reprimand, to scold) UK, 1938 bollockless adjective cowardly, lacking in courage. A lack of BOLLOCKS (the testicles, hence 'manly' qualities) UK, 2000 bollock naked adjective totally naked UK, 1922 bollocko adjective naked. Abbreviated from STARK BOLLOCK NAKED UK, 2001

bollocks adjective nonsensical UK, 1996 bollocks! used as an all purpose expletive. Figurative use of 'testicles' UK, 1969 bollocks; ballocks noun 1 the testicles. Rarely singular UK, 1744. 2 nonsense. The 1977 album 'Never Mind The Bollocks Here's The Sex Pistols' brought 'bollocks' to shop windows across the UK. At the time there was outrage but a quarter of a century later the word is now commonplace UK, 1919. 3 anything considered to be the finest, the most excellent, the best. An abbreviated form of DOG'S BOLLOCKS; usually after 'the' UK, 2000. 4 nerve, courage. BOLLOCKS (testicles) and bravery are both symbols of masculinity, one must therefore equal the other UK, 1995. 5 trouble, conflict UK, 2001. 6 a despicable contemptible person UK, 2003 ► see: DOG'S BOLLOCKS. 7 fools. The singular fool may well be a bollock or bollocks UK, 2006. ► do your bollocks 1 to become enraged, to lose your temper UK, 1999. 2 to lose all your money gambling UK, 2000. ► go to bollocks to be forgotten UK, 1995. ► will it bollocks used rhetorically to register doubt and disbelief UK, 2000 bollocks about; ballocks about verb to play the fool UK, 1961 bollocksed; ballocks'd adjective 1 ruined, thwarted UK, 1961. 2 damned UK, 1997. 3 drunk UK, 2003 bollocks on verb to talk nonsense. From BOLLOCKS (nonsense) UK, 2000 bollocky adjective used as an intensifier. On the model of BLOODY UK, 1992 ► see: BALLOCKY, BOLLIKEY bolloxed adjective 1 unwell UK, 1998. 2 drunk. A variation of BOLLOCKSED US, 1986 boll weevil noun 1 in oil drilling, an inexperienced worker US, 1954. 2 a novice trucker US, 1971

Bolly nickname Bollinger, a branded champagne UK, 2001

Bollywood nickname the film industry in Bombay INDIA, 1989 bolo noun 1 in boxing, an uppercut US, 1950. 2 a directive to be on the look-out for something US, 1986. 3 a friend. Described as a 'hippy term' UK, 1977. 4 a traveller to Antarctica who is jaded and exhausted from having been there too long ANTARCTICA, 2003. 5 crack cocaine. Spanish US, 1994. 6 an unknown, sinister male US, 2002 bolo badge noun a Purple Heart military decoration for battle wounds, especially those suffered in a foolish action US, 1968

bolohead noun a bald person US, 1981 bolo shot noun in handball, any shot hit with the fist US, 1977 bolshie; bolshy noun a Bolshevik US, 1919 bolshie; bolshy adjective obstructive, unco-operative, deliberately difficult. From 'Bolshevik', but without political significance UK, 1918 bolt noun 1 an escape, a flight AUSTRALIA, 1915. 2 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1986. 3 a blemish; a pimple US, 1969 bolt verb 1 to leave US, 1845. 2 to escape from prison or custody UK, 1811. 3 in poker, to withdraw from a hand US, 1988

bolter noun 1 a landing on an aircraft carrier in which the plane misses the arresting mechanisms US, 1958. 2 an unexpected selection for a sports team, a board or political team NEW ZEALAND, 1995. 3 in horse racing, a winning horse with long odds AUSTRALIA, 1989 bolts noun a tattooed depiction of lightning bolts, symbolising a prisoner's association with a white pride prison gang US, 1989 bolts and jolts noun a combination of central nervous system stimulants and depressants US, 1946 bolts and nuts adjective mentally unstable; crazy US, 1984 bomb noun 1 a great deal of money UK, 1958. 2 a marijuana cigarette, especially a large one US, 1951. 3 high potency, relatively pure heroin US, 1960. 4 crack cocaine US, 1994. 5 potent heroin US, 1969. 6 a dose of sedative, especially one administered to dope a racehorse; a sedative pill AUSTRALIA, 1950. 7 in a horse race, a winning horse that ran with very high odds US, 2002. 8 a forceful blow with the fist US, 1949. 9 in tiddlywinks, a long-distance shot US, 1977. 10 a skateboarding manoeuvre in which the rider crouches and holds the sides of the board as the board leaves the ground US, 1976. 11 a fast car. Teen slang US, 1953. 12 a dilapidated motor vehicle AUSTRALIA, 1950. 13 an improvised water-heating device in prison NEW ZEALAND, 1982. 14 a dismal failure, especially in show business US, 1952. 15 an unexpected bass drum accent US, 1955. ► go like a bomb; go down a bomb to be very successful and exciting UK, 1967. ► make a bomb to become rich, to make a large profit. From BOMB (a great deal of money) UK, 1958. ► the bomb; da bomb the very best, something that is very good US, 1973 bomb verb 1 to place graffiti with an emphasis on quantity, not quality US, 2000. 2 to swallow a quantity of a powdered drug and its cigarette-paper wrapping UK, 2000. 3 in horse-racing, to dope a horse AUSTRALIA, 1953. 4 to run or drive at speed UK, 1978. 5 in mountain biking, to travel fast downhill US, 1992. 6 to train intensely, alternating heavy weights with light weights US, 1984. 7 in tiddlywinks, to play a wink at a pile of winks with destructive intent UK, 1980. 8 to fail dramatically, to flop. Originally theatrical US, 1958. 9 in computing, to cease to function completely and suddenly US, 1991. ► get bombed to be overcome by a wave while surfing US, 1965 bomb adjective dilapidated AUSTRALIA, 1979

bomba noun a vintage car that has been restored US, 1995

Bombay bloomers noun baggy, loose-fitting shorts US, 2002

Bombay Welsh noun English as spoken by Indians and Anglo-Indians. From the similarity in lilting cadences of speech between the broadest Indian and Welsh accents. It is interesting to note that an English person attempting a Welsh accent often sounds Indian, particularly to Welsh ears UK, 1984 bomb doors noun the vagina UK, 2001 bombed adjective extremely drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1956 bombed out adjective 1 extremely marijuana-intoxicated US, 1999. 2 crazy UK, 1987. 3 (of a motor) worn out. The result when a car is made to BOMB (to drive flat-out) too often UK, 2001 bomber noun 1 a graffiti artist US, 1997. 2 an extra large, thick or potent marijuana cigarette. Named as an allusion to size and shape US, 1949. 3 a tablet or capsule of amphetamine or barbiturate, hence a generic name for amphetamine or barbiturate in any form US, 1950. 4 a hard-hitting, aggressive boxer US, 1937. 5 a powerful, hard-breaking wave US, 1964. 6 an old, battered car, especially one used in a demolition derby contest US, 1977. 7 a person with poor fashion sense US, 1997. 8 a sixteen-ton oil-carrying wagon UK, 1970 ► see: BLACK BOMBER bomb farm noun an area on a military base where bombs are stored US, 1991 bomb-happy adjective with nerves gone through exposure to bombing UK, 1944 bombida noun a mixture of heroin and cocaine. From the Spanish, literal translation 'little bomb' US, 1975 bombido noun 1 injectable Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1982. 2 heroin UK, 2002 bombie; bommie noun a hazardous submerged off-shore reef over which waves break. From bombora, from an Australian Aboriginal language AUSTRALIA, 1949 bombilla noun an ampoule filled with a drug US, 1998 bombing adjective in foot-propelled scootering, at great speed UK, 2000 bombita; bombito noun a tablet of amphetamine sulphate (Dexedrine™), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1966 bomb line noun during the Korean war, the line beyond which bombing was deemed safe US, 1986 bombo noun cheap and poor quality wine or stronger alcoholic drink AUSTRALIA, 1942

bomboara noun a large wave that breaks seaward of the normal surf line AUSTRALIA, 1965

bombosity noun the buttocks US, 1932 bomb-out noun in competitive surfing, early elimination US, 1988 bomb out verb 1 to fail to appear as expected UK, 1979. 2 to reject someone UK, 1985. 3 to knock a surfer off a surfboard US, 1964 bomb-proof adjective having an impregnable excuse to avoid selection or responsibility for a(n) (unpleasant) task; invulnerable. Military use; remembered as 1950s, but possibly earlier UK, 1984 bombs noun the female breasts US, 1968 bombs away noun heroin UK, 2002 bombshell noun 1 a sudden or great surprise. Often in the phrase 'drop a bombshell' UK, 1860. 2 a woman who is astonishingly attractive US, 1933 bomb up verb while hunting, to fire a flurry of loosely aimed shots at a herd NEW ZEALAND, 1984

Bom-de-Bom noun Ba Muoi Ba beer, a staple in Saigon during the Vietnam war US, 1990

bomfog noun dense and verbose language. When Governor Nelson Rockefeller campaigned for the Republican nomination for president in 1964, he tended to end speeches with a reference to the 'brotherhood of man under the fatherhood of God', a phrase which compacts into the acronym BOMFOG. Reporters covering the campaign began to refer to the end of his speeches as BOMFOG. The term survived and eventually took on a more general, less flattering meaning US, 1965 bommie noun a huge wave. An abbreviation of bombara, from an Australian Aboriginal language AUSTRALIA, 1991 ► see: BOMBIE bona; bonar adjective good, pleasant, agreeable. Theatrical origins from Latin bonum and Italian buono (good) UK, 1875 bonafide noun the significant other in your emotional life. Latin for 'good faith'. Black usage UK, 1994 bona vardering adjective attractive. A combination of 'bona' (good) and 'varda' (to look) thus 'good looking' UK, 1997 bonce noun the head. Originally adopted by schoolboys from the name given to a large marble, in a jocular reference to the shape UK, 1889 bondage noun indebtedness US, 1945 bondage pie noun a pizza with sausage and mushroom topping. The initials of the toppings – S and M – suggest bondage US, 1996

Bondi cigar noun in Sydney, a piece of excrement floating in the surf. So-named from the notoriety of a sewerage outlet near Bondi beach AUSTRALIA, 1996

Bondi tram; Bondi bus noun used as an example of something that moves quickly. The actual tram apparently went out of business in 1960 AUSTRALIA, 1959

Bondo mechanic noun a body shop worker who relies too heavily upon large amounts of body putty and too little upon finesse or craft US, 1992 bondook noun a weapon. Gulf war usage UK, 1991 bone noun 1 the penis, especially when erect US, 1916. 2 the active participant in homosexual sex US, 2001. 3 the middle finger raised in a gesture meaning, roughly, 'fuck you!' US, 1957. 4 a marijuana cigarette; hence, marijuana. A visual pun US, 1978. 5 a tobacco cigarette. A visual pun US, 1992. 6 a measurement of crack cocaine sold for $50 dollars US, 2003. 7 heroin US, 1993. 8 a dollar US, 1889. 9 one thousand dollars US, 1988. 10 a trombone US, 1918. 11 an irritation; an annoyance; an aggravation. A figurative extension of a 'bone in the throat' US, 1944. 12 a domino. Usually in the plural US, 1959. 13 in private poker games or other private gambling, a white betting chip US, 1866. 14 a black person US, 1992. 15 in baseball, an error in judgment. An abbreviation of 'bonehead play' or BONER US, 1915 bone verb 1 to have sex from the male point of view US, 1971. 2 to interrogate a suspect. Police and criminal use; probably from earlier sense (to seize, to arrest) UK, 1966. 3 in mountain biking, to strike the nose of your seat with your buttocks US, 1992. 4 to study intensely US, 1859 bone adjective tasteless, unfortunate, inferior UK, 1995 bone banger; bone crusher noun an orthopaedist US, 1994 bone blanket; bone bonnet noun a condom. Contrived to wrap the BONE (an erection) UK, 1998 bone box noun the mouth. Obsolete teen slang CANADA, 1946

bonecrusher noun 1 in trucking, a truck that rides very roughly US, 1971. 2 crack cocaine UK, 1998 bonecrushers noun the very painful symptoms of withdrawal from drug addiction US, 1990

boned adjective 1 tipsy UK, 1949. 2 having been hit hard on the head UK, 1977 bone dance noun sex US, 1988 bone dome noun a protective helmet; a crash helmet. Originally aviators' usage (1930s), subsequently used by motorcyclists (1950s) and cyclists (1980s) UK, 1984 bonehead noun 1 an idiot US, 1908. 2 a bald-headed person; a skinhead; hence an extreme skinhead haircut UK, 1981 bone hog noun a sexually active female, especially one who enjoys performing oral sex on men US, 2003 bone-on noun an erection US, 1927 bone orchard noun a cemetery UK, 1982 bone out verb 1 to back down from a confrontation; to run away from danger US, 1993. 2 to leave quickly US, 1993. 3 while snowboarding, to hold your leg straight during a manoeuvre in the air US, 1990 bone queen noun a male homosexual who favours performing oral sex US, 1964 boner noun 1 a blunder US, 1912. 2 an erection. The supposed bone-like quality of an erect penis, with which you BONE (have sex) US, 1961. 3 an old or poor-quality steer, slaughtered for mince or sausage NEW ZEALAND, 1963 boneroo noun high quality drugs US, 1992 bones noun 1 dice. The term has journeyed from colloquial to standard English and now to slang UK, 1400. 2 heroin US, 1984. 3 crack cocaine UK, 2003. 4 the basic facts of something UK, 1999. 5 an orthopaedist US, 1892. 6 spare ribs US, 1990. ► make your bones 1 to establish yourself as a fully fledged member of a crime organisation, usually by carrying out an execution-style murder US, 1972. 2 by extension, to establish yourself as an equal in a group setting US, 1996. ► on your bones destitute or almost so. An image of emaciation UK, 1924. ► the bones the boyfriend UK, 2002 bone shack noun any place where a couple have sex US, 1997 boneshaker noun 1 a bicycle. Coined as a literal description of early bicycles, and remains in use despite technological advances US, 1871. 2 a rigid-frame motorcycle, especially a rigid-frame Harley-Davidson US, 1962 bone up verb to study, especially at the last minute. An American outgrowth of the C18 'bone' with the same meaning US, 1918 bone works noun rough treatment US, 1970 boney adjective genuine, satisfactory. An alteration of 'bonafide' UK, 1996 boneyard noun 1 a cemetery US, 1866. 2 in various industrial settings, the site for dumping broken vehicles and equipment which can be cannibalised for parts US, 1913. 3 in dominoes, the pile of unused tiles US, 1897. 4 the area off a beach where waves break US, 1965. 5 a conjugal visit in prison US, 1989

boneyize verb to lay claim to something CANADA, 1989 boney maroney noun a very thin person. In various spellings, but surely originating in the rock'n'roll lyric from the 1957 song by Larry Williams US, 1957 bone you! bone ya! used as an all-purpose, defiant insult US, 1963 bonfire noun 1 in firefighter usage, a multiple-alarm fire US, 1954. 2 a burning cigarette stub US, 1945

bong verb to drink beer directly from a keg, using a hose and funnel US, 1982

bong; bhong noun 1 a pipe with a water-filled bowl through which marijuana or crack cocaine smoke is drawn for inhalation US, 1971. 2 a bong's worth of marijuana AUSTRALIA, 1987. 3 a Maori or Pacific Islander NEW ZEALAND, 1984 bong; bung adjective dead. From Aborigine bong (dead) AUSTRALIA, 1857

bong brain noun a marijuana addict AUSTRALIA, 1987

bong land noun a state of marijuana intoxication. Extended from BONG (a water-pipe, used for smoking marijuana) UK, 2002 bongo noun 1 a marijuana cigarette UK, 1983. 2 in skateboarding, a fall or the wounds resulting from a fall US, 1976 bongo mag noun a pornographic magazine UK, 2002

bong on verb to smoke marijuana. Often seen as a graffiti'd credo AUSTRALIA, 1988

bong up verb to become intoxicated by inhaling marijuana through a water-filled pipe UK, 1996

bonhunkus noun the buttocks US, 1941 boning tool noun the penis. Combines 'boning' (sexual intercourse) with a pun on 'tool' (an implement suited to a given task/the penis) US, 2001

bonish adjective covetous CANADA, 1987 bonita noun 1 heroin UK, 2002. 2 milk sugar (lactose) used to dilute heroin. Mexican Spanish US, 1973

bonk noun sexual intercourse. A light-hearted, almost euphemistic term; probably from 'bonk' (a noise) playing on BANG UK, 1984

bonk verb 1 to hit someone or something with, or against, something hard UK, 1931. 2 to have sex UK, 1975. 3 in an endurance sport, especially cycling, to reach a point of utter exhaustion US, 1979. 4 to bounce a snowboard off a non-snow platform. From the noise of the contact between board and DEATH BOX US, 1995 bonkbuster noun a type of popular novel containing frequent, explicit sexual encounters UK, 1988

bonker board noun a large, cumbersome, old-fashioned surfboard AUSTRALIA, 1996

bonkers noun the female breasts. An elision of BAZONKAS US, 1995 bonkers adjective crazy UK, 1957 bonkers adverb crazy UK, 1957 bonkers as conkers adjective crazy, mad, very eccentric. An elaboration of BONKERS UK, 2003 bonneroo; bonaroo adjective good, smart, sharp. Largely, if not exclusively, prison slang US, 1926 bonnet noun in motor racing, a safety helmet US, 1993 bonnie noun a Triumph Bonneville motorcycle US, 1976

Bonnie Dick nickname the USS Bonhomme Richard. An aircraft carrier named after Capt. John Paul Jones' famous ship in the American Revolution US, 1955

Bonny Prince noun cocaine. A disguising of CHARLIE (cocaine) using the name of 'Bonny (or Bonnie) Prince Charlie', Charles Edward Stuart, 1720–88 UK, 2002

bonspiel noun a curling tournament CANADA, 2001 bontoger; bontogeriro; bontoser adjective excellent, admirable. Elaborations of BONZER (excellent) AUSTRALIA, 1904 bonus! used for expressing delight and/or approval US, 1997 bonus baby noun an amateur athlete who signs a professional contract with a large signing bonus US, 1962 bony-bony adjective very thin NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992

bonzer; bonza noun someone or something that is excellent AUSTRALIA, 1904

bonzer; bonza adjective excellent, terrific, wonderful, fabulous, good. This word is the only surviving member of a set of synonymous terms that all appeared in the first decade of C20, the others being 'bontosher', 'boshter' and 'bosker'. It is claimed that these were all corruptions of an original term that was a compound of the French words bon (good) and toujours (always) AUSTRALIA, 1904 bonzer; bonza adverb excellently; brilliantly; well AUSTRALIA, 1914

bonzo noun a chance UK, 1999

bonzo adjective crazy US, 1979 boo noun 1 marijuana US, 1959. 2 a sexual partner or lover US, 1997. 3 an attractive young person US, 1968. 4 used as a term of endearment US, 2004. 5 an unlexicalised verbalisation of disapproval UK, 1801. 6 a sulk. Adapted from BOOHOO (a childish vocalisation of sobbing) UK, 2007. 7 bird or lizard droppings BARBADOS, 1998. 8 anything at all. Usually heard in the warning – 'don't say boo' US, 1883. 9 nasal mucus BAHAMAS, 1982 boo verb in contemporary dance culture, to give an unlexicalised verbalisation of approval. A deliberate reversal of the negative sense UK, 2003. to sob loudly. A shortened form of BOOHOO UK, 2005 boo adjective excellent. Youth usage US, 1952 booa; boohai noun a remote area. Probably a corruption of the Maori placename, Puhoi NEW ZEALAND, 1963 boob noun 1 a fool. Almost certainly from C16 'booby', meaning a 'stupid fellow' US, 1907. 2 the female breast. From synonymous 'bub'. Generally used in the plural US, 1931. 3 jail. Could date as far back as the 1880s, which is feasible since 'booby hatch', from which 'boob' is ultimately derived, dates back as far as 1859 in the US US, 1908. 4 a blunder, a faux pas US, 1934 boob verb 1 to blunder UK, 1935. 2 to perform poorly, to botch something US, 1919

boob box noun a television; television US, 1968 boob gear noun prison clothing NEW ZEALAND, 1999

boob gun noun an improvised tattoo machine NEW ZEALAND, 1999 boob happy adjective mentally unbalanced as the result of being imprisoned. Derives from BOOB (a jail) and the suffix -HAPPY (mentally unbalanced) AUSTRALIA, 1968

boob head noun a prisoner NEW ZEALAND, 1994 boobie noun used as an endearing term of address. Popularised by comic Jerry Lewis in the mid-1950s; mock Yiddish US, 1960 ▷ see: BOOBY boo-bird noun a sports fan who constantly and loudly boos during a game US, 1948 boobitas; boobititas noun small female breasts. A borrowed use of the Spanish diminutive US, 1963 boob job noun surgery to alter a woman's breast size US, 1986 boo-boo noun 1 an error. Children's vocabulary US, 1953. 2 a bruise or scrape US, 1954. 3 the human posterior. A childish reduplication of 'bottom' UK, 1964. 4 any vexatious flying insect BAHAMAS, 1982 boo boo bama noun marijuana UK, 2003 boo-boos noun the testicles US, 1951 boob rat noun a prisoner who is always returning to prison. Derives from BOOB (a jail) AUSTRALIA, 1967

boobs noun in poker, a pair of queens US, 1988

boob sling noun a brassiere US, 1968 boob talk noun any secret or coded language used in prison. Derives from BOOB (a jail) AUSTRALIA, 1993

boob tat noun a tattoo acquired in prison US, 1998 boob tube noun 1 television. First came THE TUBE, and then the obvious reduplication US, 1963. 2 in women's fashion, a strapless top made of stretchable material. Sometimes also called a 'booby tubey' UK, 1978 boob weed; boob tobacco noun prison-issue tobacco. Derives from BOOB (a jail) and WEED (tobacco) AUSTRALIA, 1967

booby adjective foolish US, 1958 booby; boobie noun 1 a female breast US, 1916. 2 nasal mucus BAHAMAS, 1982 booby hatch noun a mental hospital US, 1896 booby prize noun a reward for stupidity, often given humorously to whoever comes last in a contest. Elaborated on BOOBY (foolish) US, 1889 booby trap noun a dishonest carnival game US, 1950 boochie noun a Japanese person US, 1950 boo-coo; boo koo noun a large number; a lot; US, 1918 boo-coo; boo koo adjective a large number of; a lot of US, 1986 boodle noun 1 profits appropriated quietly, and usually illegally US, 1858. 2 a fake bankroll used in confidence swindles US, 1985. 3 a package of snacks US, 1900 booed and hissed adjective drunk. Rhyming slang for PISSED (drunk) UK, 1980 boof verb to hide prison contraband in your rectum US, 2000 boofhead noun a person with an oversized head; hence, a fool, idiot, dimwit. The term dates back to the 1930s and first appears in print in 1941. Popularised by Boofhead, a cartoon character appearing in the Sydney Mirror in the 1940s. Probably a contraction of earlier British and Australian 'bufflehead'. The suggestion that it is from British dialect boof (stupid) is chronologically improbable AUSTRALIA, 1945 boof-headed adjective fat-headed; stupid AUSTRALIA, 1965

boofy adjective (of a male) brawny, overtly masculine and a bit stupid AUSTRALIA, 1992

boog noun a black person. Offensive US, 1937 boogaloo noun 1 basic rock 'n' roll music; in a broader sense, the spirit of rock 'n' roll. Originally 1965, and conventionally, 'a dance performed to rock 'n' roll music' US, 2003. 2 a black person US, 1970 boogaloo adjective drunk UK, 2002 booger noun 1 a glob of nasal mucus US, 1891. 2 cocaine US, 1997. 3 a fellow; a rascal UK, 1708. 4 the vagina; and so, woman as sexual object US, 1959. 5 a technician in avionics CANADA, 1995 booger drag noun a man dressed as a woman, but revealing his masculinity by not shaving his face, arms and/or legs US, 1997 booger-picker noun a long-shafted tool used to remove oil seals and install windshields US, 1992 booger wire noun in electric line work, a neutral wire US, 1980 boogie noun 1 a black person. Offensive US, 1923. 2 the vagina US, 1969. 3 syphilis, especially in its second stage US, 1982 boogie verb 1 to dance, especially with abandon US, 1947. 2 to go, especially in a hurry US, 1970. 3 to have sex US, 1960 boogie box noun a large portable stereo system associated, stereotypically, with black youth culture US, 1987 boogie-joogle verb to fool around US, 1968 boogie man; boogy man noun a mythical demon, used to frighten children US, 1905 boogie pack noun a pocket-sized portable cassette-player with lightweight headphones UK, 1982 boogie party noun a party held to raise money to pay the rent US, 1982 boohonged adjective drunk UK, 2003 boohoo verb to cry loudly UK, 1840 boo hoo used ironically for pretending sorrow. Echoic of genuine weeping UK, 2001 boojie noun a middle-class person. A refinement of 'bourgeois' and not used with kindness US, 1970 book noun 1 in horse racing, the schedule of a jockey's riding assignments US, 1976. 2 a betting operation US, 1917. 3 in sports, the collective, conventional wisdom in a given situation US, 1985. 4 collectively, the mares bred with a single stallion in a year US, 1997. 5 ten thousand doses of LSD soaked into paper US, 1999. 6 one pound of drugs US, 1976. 7 half a kilogram of drugs US, 1976. 8 a hard-working, focused, serious student US, 1968. ► do the book (and cover) to serve a life sentence in prison US, 1976. ► get the book 1 in prison, to be reprimanded UK, 1996. 2 to become religious. The book is the Bible but other works could apply equally well UK, 1996. ► make book to bet US, 1962. ► on the book 1 used of a high-security prisoner who must constantly be identified by a small official book and photograph UK, 1996. 2 in the theatre, working as a prompter. The book in question is a play's text UK, 1964. 3 on credit UK, 1984. ► the book the unwritten code of style and conduct observed by pimps US, 1972. ► throw the book at; give the book to sentence someone to a maximum penalty allowed by law US, 1908 book verb 1 to study US, 1968. 2 to realise; to see and understand UK, 1970. 3 to assume something UK, 1999. 4 to depart, usually hurriedly US, 1974. ► book a party of two to arrange for oral sex to be performed on two male prisoners US, 1989. ► book the action to accept a bet US, 1980. ► book your seat to pad the seat of your trousers with newspaper or a book before going to be caned. Schoolboy usage, post World War 2 until the 1970s when corporal punishment was outlawed UK, 1961 book adjective acceptable, agreeable. Derives from texting, in particular from the predictive text facility: when attempting to text the word cool the word 'book' may be offered UK, 2005 book-beater noun a serious, hard-working student US, 1945 book 'em, Danno used for humorous suggestion that somebody has been caught in an improper act. From the US television series Hawaii Five-O (1968–1980), in which Detective Steve McGarrett would order Detective 'Danno' Williams to arrest a suspect US, 1968 bookend verb in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, to speak with a fellow recovering addict both before and after confronting a difficult situation US, 1998 booket noun a woman who receives a cunninglinguist's attention. West Indian patois for 'bucket' UK, 2002 book gook noun a diligent, socially inept student. Teen Slang US, 1951 bookie noun a bookmaker. Sometimes spelt 'booky' UK, 1885 bookie's chance noun in horse racing, a horse with high odds (12–1 or higher) that bookmakers deem the favourite AUSTRALIA, 1989 bookman noun a prisoner serving a life sentence US, 1949 books noun 1 used as a figurative description of membership in a criminal organisation US, 1964. 2 employment documents that are returned to a dismissed worker UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. ► do books to steal or forge official benefit books, such as child benefit UK, 1996.

► in someone's bad books in disfavour UK, 1861.

► in someone's good books in favour UK, 1839 book up verb to study US, 1975 boola-boola adjective characterised by extreme boosterism and spirited support of an institution. The song 'Boola Boola' has been one of Yale University's football fight songs since 1901 when it was written by Allan M. Hirsh, who explained the meaning of the word as follows: 'It is interesting to note that many people have asked us what the word "Boola" meant, and we said it was Hawaiian and meant a joy cry. We stuck to this for several years until someone came along and pointed out to us that there was no B in the Hawaiian language and therefore Boola could not possibly be Hawaiian. So the fact remains that we do not know what it means, except that it was euphonious and easy to sing and to our young ears sounded good'. The song was an 'adaptation' of an 1898 'La Hoola Boola' performed by Bob Cole and Billy Johnson US, 1900 boolhipper noun a black leather jacket with a belt in the back US, 1970 boolum noun a boaster or an intimidating braggart. From the Irish buaileam sciath IRELAND, 2000 boom noun 1 potent marijuana US, 1946. 2 fake crack cocaine US, 2001. 3 the erect penis US, 1958 boom adjective fashionable, pleasing CANADA, 1993 boom! used for expressing enthusiasm US, 2002 boom and zoom; b and z verb in air combat, to use a relative altitude advantage to attack an opponent (to boom) and then return to a superior position out of danger (to zoom) US, 1986 boombastic adjective excellent; also (of music) resounding. Elaboration of conventional 'boom' (a booming sound) or BOOM (pleasing), informed by BOOM (marijuana) CANADA, 1991 boom-boom noun 1 sex. From Asian pidgin. Major use in Vietnam during the war US, 1964. 2 the buttocks BAHAMAS, 1982. 3 an act of defecation. Children's bathroom vocabulary US, 1960. 4 live music US, 2003. 5 a pistol US, 1945. 6 a cowboy or Western film US, 1947 boom-boom verb to copulate US, 1971 boom boom! used for signalling or accompanying the punch-line of a joke, especially a bad or corny joke. Coined as a catchphrase for children's television puppet Basil Brush, first seen in 1963 UK, 1963 boom-boom girl noun a prostitute. Vietnam usage US, 1966 boom-boom house; boom-boom parlor noun a brothel US, 1966 boom-booms-a-gogo noun a unit of quad-fifty machine guns. Korean war usage US, 1982 boom box noun a large, portable radio and tape player US, 1981 boom boy noun a marijuana user US, 1992 boom bye; boom bwoy noun a homosexual male. Jamaican patois rendering of BUM BOY JAMAICA, 2002 boomer noun 1 a large example of something AUSTRALIA, 1843. 2 a large kangaroo AUSTRALIA, 1830. 3 a powerful, hard-breaking wave AUSTRALIA, 1942. 4 a nuclear submarine armed with missiles US, 1976. 5 a member of the baby boom generation, born between roughly 1945 and 1955 US, 1982. 6 a worker who travels from job to job US, 1893. 7 during aerial refuelling, the boom operator on the fuelling plane US, 1986. 8 in trucking, a binder used to tie down a load US, 1971

boomer! excellent! AUSTRALIA, 1998

boomerang noun 1 a young person who moves back in with their parents after moving out US, 1997. 2 a repeat offender, a recidivist US, 2002. 3 a plane flight that returns without reaching its destination because of poor weather ANTARCTICA, 1994. 4 a man with more than one girlfriend. In West Indian and UK black use UK, 2002. 5 in television and film making, a device that holds a filter in front of a light US, 1987 boomerang verb to return to prison shortly after being released US, 1992 boomers noun LSD UK, 2004

booming adjective excellent US, 1990 boom out verb to go to the US to work CANADA, 2002 boomps-a-daisy! used as a childish catchphrase or light-hearted response to trivialise a minor physical accident. Blending WHOOPS-A-DAISY! with 'bump'. 'Hands, Knees and Boomps-a-Daisy!' was a popular song and 'The Boomps-a-Daisy' a popular dance in the 1930s UK, 1961 booms noun drums US, 1960 boom squad noun the group of prison guards who are used to quell disturbances US, 2000 boom wagon noun in trucking, a truck hauling dynamite US, 1942 boomy adjective emphasising low frequencies, producing poorly defined sound. Used in television and film making US, 1987 boon noun a black person. Possibly reduced from BOON COON (a good friend) US, 1967 boon adjective close, intimate US, 1969 boona noun ► give it the full boona to hold nothing back. From boona, an Indian dish which, when served in some Glasgow Indian restaurants, is available as a 'half boona' or a 'full boona' UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 boon coon noun a very close friend US, 1958 boondagger noun a lesbian with overtly masculine mannerisms and affectations US, 1972 boondie noun 1 in Western Australia, a rock. Probably from an Australian Aboriginal language AUSTRALIA, 2002. 2 in Western Australia, a piece of conglomerated sand used by children to throw at one another in play AUSTRALIA, 1952 boondock verb 1 in trucking, to drive on back roads, avoiding major motorways US, 1971. 2 to drive off-road through a remote area US, 1993. 3 in tiddlywinks, to send an opponent's wink a long way away, especially out of the playing area. After US BOONDOCKS (an isolated region) UK, 1980. 4 in tiddlywinks, to shoot from a position far from the action US, 1977 boondocker noun a party held in the country US, 1966 boondockers noun marine-issued combat boots US, 1942 boondocks noun the remote end of nowhere US, 1909 boondoggle noun a business trip or venture designed for the enjoyment of those involved, not for its stated purpose US, 1935 booner noun 1 a talent scout. An allusion to American frontier pioneer Daniel Boone US, 1981. 2 an unrefined and loutish person from a lower socio-economic area AUSTRALIA, 1996 boong noun an Aboriginal person; hence, any other dark-skinned person. From the Australian Aboriginal language Wemba, meaning 'person'. Used disparagingly by white people. Now strongly taboo AUSTRALIA, 1924 boonga noun a Pacific Islander or any other dark-skinned person NEW ZEALAND, 1957

boong moll noun a prostitute who serves dark-skinned men. A combination of BOONG (an Aboriginal or dark-skinned man) and MOLL (a prostitute) AUSTRALIA, 1953

boongy noun the buttocks BAHAMAS, 1995

boonie hat noun a fatigue hat, made of cotton canvas with a brim around, that kept the sun and rain off the heads of American soldiers in Vietnam US, 1972 boonie rat noun a soldier serving in the jungle or other remote area US, 1967 boonies noun a remote rural area. An abbreviation of BOONDOCKS US, 1956 booooo! an exclamation of approval. The difference with 'boo' (an unlexicalised verbalisation of disapproval) is essentially one of intention UK, 2005 boooooing adjective very boring. Slang by drawn out pronunciation. From popular entertainment US, 1981 boo out verb to leave US, 1959

boops noun a man who supports a woman with whom he lives without the benefit of marriage JAMAICA, 2003

boopsie noun a woman supported by a man with whom she lives without the benefit of marriage JAMAICA, 1996 boo-reef noun marijuana US, 1972 booshway noun the boss. A slurring of the French bourgeois CANADA, 1952 boost noun 1 a theft, especially a car theft US, 1995. 2 in poker, an increased or raised bet US, 1988. 3 a background player in a large confidence swindle US, 1985. 4 crack cocaine UK, 2003. ► on the boost engaged in shoplifting US, 1962 boost verb 1 to steal, especially (in the US) to steal a car or to shoplift US, 1928. 2 to illegally open a lock using force, skill or technology. From the sense 'to steal' UK, 2001. 3 in poker, to increase the amount bet on a hand US, 1967. 4 to inject a drug intravenously US, 1998. ► boost one to defecate US, 1992 booster noun 1 a thief, especially a shoplifter or car thief US, 1908. 2 a full-time, career thief US, 1977. 3 a criminal who specialises in selling stolen goods US, 1985. 4 a confederate of a cheat who lures players to a card game, carnival concession or other game of chance US, 1906. 5 an additional dose of a drug taken to prolong intoxication US, 1970 booster fold noun a special inside jacket pocket used by shoplifters US, 1972 booster pill noun a central nervous system stimulant US, 1971 booster stick noun a tobacco cigarette that has been enhanced with marijuana or marijuana extract US, 1973 boosting ben noun a special overcoat used by shoplifters US, 1950 boosting bloomers; booster bloomers noun underwear designed for concealing merchandise that has been shoplifted US, 1972 boot noun 1 dismissal from employment or other engagement. The image of being kicked away UK, 1881. 2 a black person US, 1954. 3 a newly enlisted or drafted recruit in the armed services, especially the marines US, 1911. 4 in the US Army, a second lieutenant US, 1966. 5 amusement or pleasure US, 1979. 6 a bootleg product US, 1999. 7 while injecting a drug intravenously, the drawing of blood into the syringe to mix with the drug US, 1987. 8 any central nervous system depressant US, 1992. 9 a bag of heroin UK, 1996. 10 a cigarette US, 1996. 11 a woman, especially an unattractive woman UK, 1983. 12 an error, especially in sports US, 1913. 13 a cash incentive designed to improve a business deal US, 1997. 14 a linear amplifier for a citizens' band radio US, 1976. 15 a condom US, 1966. 16 in television and film making, a tripod cover US, 1987 ► see: OLD BOOT. ► stick the boot in; put the boot in to kick a prostrate foe; hence, figurative usage 'to kick someone when they're down'; (political and commercial) to take an unnecessary advantage, to betray someone. In widespread usage since mid-C20; the figurative sense has been known from the mid-1960s UK, 1916. ► the boot is on the other foot; the boot is on the other leg the balance of power or responsibility has shifted to the opposing party UK, 1866 boot verb 1 while injecting a drug, to draw blood into the syringe, diluting the drug dose so as to prolong the effect of the injection US, 1952. 2 to kick something, literally or in the slang sense of 'breaking a habit' US, 1877. 3 to dismiss someone from employment UK, 1988. 4 to walk; to patrol on foot. Vietnam war usage US, 1905. 5 in horse racing, to spur or kick a horse during a race US, 1951. 6 in a game, to misplay a ball US, 1976. 7 to vomit US, 1971. 8 in Alberta, to purchase alcohol or tobacco illegally for a minor CANADA, 2001. ► boot and rally to continue drinking after vomiting US, 1989. ► boot the gong to smoke marijuana. A play on KICK THE GONG where GONG is 'opium' UK, 1998

bootalize verb to have sex BAHAMAS, 1982 boot-and-shoe adjective (used of a drug addict) desperately addicted US, 1936 bootboy noun a member of the youth fashion and gang movement that was synonymous with and then succeeded the skinheads. Characterised by heavy lace-up boots (Doc Martens), tidy hair and smart utilitarian wear; as a group, boot boys are associated with aggressive behaviour, especially football hooliganism UK, 1972 booted adjective intoxicated by marijuana, or another narcotic drug US, 1995 booter noun a jockey with an inclination to spur his mount incessantly US, 1959 booth noun a room, especially a bedroom UK, 2002 booth bimbo; booth bunny noun an attractive, well-built, sometimes scantily clad woman hired to work in a company's booth during a trade show US, 1989 booties noun 1 rubber surf boots US, 1987; 2 in electric line work, meter clip insulators US, 1980; 3 boots, especially knitted boots for a baby US, 1965 boot it!; boot it baby! used as an exhortation to continue US, 1968 bootlace noun ► not be someone's bootlace to not come close to equalling another's achievements AUSTRALIA, 1959 bootleg noun 1 a pirated and illegally marketed recording. In the 1960s and 70s only dedicated music fans were really aware of such product. The bootlegs of Bob Dylan's music easily outnumbered his official releases so, in 1991, his record company began to release 'The Bootleg Series'. As ever, other artists followed where Dylan led. Alas many use it as an excuse to release material that may otherwise not be of sufficient quality. 'Bootleg' has always implied a lesser quality of recording, now it's official UK, 1951; 2 illegally manufactured alcohol US, 1898 bootleg verb 1 to manufacture or provide something illegally US, 1928; 2 to manufacture or distribute illegal alcohol US, 1922; 3 in roller derby, to deviate from the scripted game plan US, 1999 bootleg adjective 1 smuggled; illegally copied; unofficial; counterfeit. Derives from the practice of carrying a flat bottle of alcohol hidden in a boot leg US, 1889; 2 imitation US, 1893; 3 inferior, shoddy US, 2002; 4 (used of an action paper) unofficial, advance US, 1986 bootlegger noun a manufacturer or a dealer in illegally manufactured alcohol US, 1890 bootlegger turn noun a 180-degree turn executed while driving fast accomplished by a combination of spinning the wheel, shifting down the gears and accelerating US, 1955 bootleg tool noun a tool that is used by workers despite the fact that it has not been approved by tooling inspectors US, 1955 bootlick verb to seek favour through obsequious behaviour US, 1845 bootlicker noun a person who seeks favour through obsequious behaviour US, 1848 boot mooch noun a person who is always asking others for a cigarette US, 1996 bootneck; bootie noun a Royal Marine UK, 1925 boot party noun a senseless beating, initiated for the sheer joy of the beating CANADA, 2002 boot pie noun a series of kicks delivered in a scuffle UK, 1983 boot rest noun an accelerator pedal US, 1976 boots noun a tyre US, 1948; ► put the boots to 1 to have sex with someone US, 1933; 2 to kick someone, especially when they are on the ground US, 1894

-boots suffix a person, when combined with a trait. Found in terms such as BOSSY-BOOTS, 'lazy-boots', SLY-BOOTS and 'smooth-boots' UK, 1599 boots and all adverb enthusiastically, in a totally committed way AUSTRALIA, 1953 boots and socks noun syphilis; hence any sexually transmitted infection. Rhyming slang for POX UK, 2003 boot scoot verb to dance side-by-side in a line to country and western music US, 1991 bootstraps noun ► pull yourself up by your bootstraps; raise yourself by your own bootstraps to try harder, to improve yourself within a given area UK, 1936 boot suppository noun any strong measure taken to encourage an obnoxious patient to leave a hospital. An image based on a 'kick in the ass' US, 1994 bootsy noun in a small hotel, a boots (the servant who was employed to clean guest shoes) also working as a porter. In 1957, The Army Game, a television situation comedy, introduced a character called Bootsy; this workshy character, played by Alfie Bass (1921–87), proved so popular that Bootsy and Snudge, a spin-off, was aired. The elaboration of conventional 'boots' was not a great leap UK, 1966 bootsy adjective bad, unpleasant US, 2003 boot up verb to prepare for a fight US, 1998 booty adjective unpleasant; unattractive US, 1997 booty; bootie noun 1 the buttocks US, 1928; 2 the vagina US, 1925 booty bandit noun an aggressive, predatory male homosexual US, 1962 booty bump verb to ingest drugs, usually methamphetamine, diluted in an enema US, 2002 booty call noun a date made for the sole purpose of engaging in sex US, 1997 booty cheddar noun nonsense US, 2003 booty-dance verb to shake the buttocks US, 2003 booty drought noun a sustained lack of sex US, 1989 booty juice noun the drug MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, dissolved in any liquid US, 1997 bootylicious adjective sexually attractive, especially with reference to the buttocks. A compound of BOOTY (the buttocks) and 'delicious' US, 2001 boo-yah!; booyaka!; boo-yakka! used for registering delight. Echoic of gun use. West Indian and UK black UK, 1994 booyakasha!; boyakasha! used for registering delight. An elaboration of BOO-YAKKA!; similarly echoic of gun use. Popularised in the UK in the late 1990s by Ali G (comedian Sacha Baron-Cohen) UK, 2001 boo-yakka verb to shoot. Onomatopoeic UK, 1994 booze noun 1 alcoholic drink of any kind. In Australia generally referring to beer UK, 1859; 2 a drinking-bout, drinking UK, 1864; ► on the booze engaged in a period of hard drinking NEW ZEALAND, 1850 booze verb to drink alcohol, especially immoderately UK, 1325 booze artist noun a habitual drinker; an alcoholic AUSTRALIA, 1940 booze bag noun a blood alcohol measuring device of the early-type that required a suspected drinker to blow into a bag UK, 1969 booze balloon noun a heavy drinker's protruding stomach US, 1979 booze belly noun the protruding stomach of a drunkard US, 1970 booze cruise noun 1 a return Channel-crossing from England to France for the purpose of buying and importing cheaper (less heavily taxed) alcohol US, 1979; 2 in Scotland, a pleasure cruise on the Clyde, or on a loch or canal, during which the main pleasure and purpose is heavy drinking UK: SCOTLAND, 1996; 3 a drive while drinking US, 1992 boozed; boozed up adjective drunk. First recorded by amateur slang lexicographer Benjamin Franklin in 1737; obsolete, perhaps, but not forgotten US, 1737 boozehound noun an alcoholic US, 1911 boozier noun 1 a drinker of alcohol; a habitual drinker; an alcoholic UK, 1606; 2 a place where alcohol is served; a public house or bar UK, 1895 boozeroo noun 1 a drinking spree or party NEW ZEALAND, 1908; 2 a pub NEW ZEALAND, 1963

booze-rooster noun a heavy drinker US, 1962 booze snooze noun a nap taken in anticipation of a night of drinking US, 2004 booze-up noun a drinking bout UK, 1947 boozle noun sexual intercourse UK, 1960 boozorium noun a bar-room, especially in a hotel CANADA, 1975 boozy noun a drunkard IRELAND, 1977

boozy adjective mildly drunk UK, 1536

bop noun 1 a dance; any dance to popular music. Derives from bebop (a jazz genre first recorded in 1945) UK, 2001; 2 a dance party

US, 1973. 3 liveliness, spirit, rhythm US, 1997. 4 a blow; a punch US, 1932. 5 a member of a youth gang US, 1958. 6 nonsense US, 1973. 7 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1995

bop verb 1 to dance to popular or rock music. Abbreviated and adapted from bebop (a jazz genre first recorded in 1945) UK, 1978. 2 to move with rhythm US, 1959. 3 to have sex with someone US, 1974. 4 to engage in gang fighting US, 1950. 5 to hit someone, to beat someone UK, 1928. 6 to murder someone UK, 1999. 7 in team gambling, to move to a card table identified by a confederate counting cards there to be primed for better-than-average odds US, 1985. 8 to leave. Black urban youth slang UK, 2006. ► bop the baloney (of a male) to masturbate US, 1983

bo peep noun a look or polite search AUSTRALIA, 1941

Bo Peep; Little Bo Peep noun sleep; a sleep. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a nursery rhyme character (who should have been counting sheep) UK, 1960 bop glasses noun horn-rimmed eye glasses. From the style favoured by bop jazz musicians US, 1958 bop 'n slop verb to lose your inhibitions and enjoy yourself at a party US, 1968

bop off verb to leave US, 1959 booper noun 1 a fighter, especially a gang fighter US, 1958. 2 a song in the style of bebop jazz US, 1965 boppers noun shoes US, 1975

boppy adjective affected gang mannerisms US, 1967 boracic noun smooth, insincere talk UK, 1950 boracic lint; boracic; brassic; brassick adjective having little or no money, penniless. Rhyming slang for SKINT (penniless) UK, 1959

Borax noun any low quality retail merchandise that is impressive on first glance US, 1929 border noun 1 a capsule of a noncommercial barbiturate compound US, 1971. 2 a woman's pubic hair. A cultivated variation of the GARDEN theme UK, 2001 border work noun subtle markings on the printed edge of the back of a playing card for identification of the card by a cheat US, 1988 bore verb ► bore the pants off to bore someone utterly UK, 1954. ► bore the twat off to bore someone utterly UK, 1993 bore it up verb to attack someone; to harangue or verbally abuse someone AUSTRALIA, 1951 borer noun a knife UK, 2002

boress noun a practical joke US, 1958

Boris Becker noun the penis. Rhyming slang for PECKER, formed from the name of the German tennis player (b.1967) UK, 2003 born-again noun a devout, conservative Christian who professes to have been born again in a religious sense. Often uttered without sympathy US, 1986 born-again adjective used derisively to describe anyone who expediently and enthusiastically adopts, or is re-associated with, an earlier belief or stance. A satirical adoption of a fundamental Christian tenet US, 1977

born in a trunk adjective born into a family in show business US, 1981

Boro noun a Marlboro™ cigarette US, 1996

boro-boros noun old clothes worn for dirty tasks. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 borrow noun an act of borrowing. Especially in the phrase 'can I have a borrow?' UK, 1999. ► on the borrow on the scrounge, cadging UK, 1937 borrow verb 1 to steal US, 1821. 2 to arrest someone. Metropolitan Police slang; a narrow sense of conventional 'borrow' (to take temporary possession) UK, 1970

Borrowers noun ► the Borrowers the UK armed forces. This nickname, used by the UK armed forces of their UK allies, mocks the paucity of basic supplies such as toilet paper that force the UK troops to beg from their American neighbours. Probably influenced by The Borrowers, Mary Norton, 1952, and the 1998 Hollywood film version US, 2003 borrow pit; barrow; bar pit noun in rural western Canada, the pit from which earth is being removed for construction purposes CANADA, 1987 borsch! used for expressing disgust US, 1968

Borscht Belt noun a group of resort hotels in the Catskill Mountains of the eastern US with a primarily Jewish clientele. Alluding to the cold beet soup 'borscht' because of the eastern European heritage of many of the Jewish guests US, 1941

Borscht circuit noun the Borscht belt US, 1936 bory adjective 1 big, large. English gypsy use, from Romany bawro UK, 2000. 2 pregnant. English gypsy use, from the previous sense UK, 2000 bo selecta! used in approval of a dance music DJ's performance or technique. Bo Selecta! was used as the title of a Channel 4 television comedy programme first broadcast in 2002 UK, 1999

bosh noun nonsense UK, 1834 bosh verb 1 to swallow drugs, especially in tablet-form; to inhale drug-smoke UK, 1996. 2 to put an end to something. An extension of 'put the KIBOSH to' US, 1997

bosh adjective performed quickly and without great thought UK, 2000 bosh! used for registering a humorous victory or triumphant action. Echoic of a comedy sound effect UK, 1998 bosker adjective splendid AUSTRALIA, 1904

boso noun used as a term of address to a male whom the speaker deems socially superior FUJI, 1993

boson noun in computing, an imaginary concept, the smallest possible unit measuring the bogus content of something US, 1997

boss noun 1 used as an informal address or reference to the officer in command UK, 1987. 2 the commanding officer AUSTRALIA, 1988. 3 a marine drill instructor US, 1991. 4 a prison guard or official US, 1970. 5 the owner or man in charge of a large rural property AUSTRALIA, 1902. 6 the best US, 1878. 7 in poker, the best hand at a given moment US, 1990. 8 pure heroin US, 1961. 9 the penis. Either a male coinage or heavily ironic US, 2001. 10 in carnival usage, a person whom thieves use to estimate the value of articles that they have stolen US, 1981. ► the boss your wife. Jocular, probably AUSTRALIA, 1984

Boss noun ► the Boss songwriter and musician Bruce Springsteen (b.1949) US, 1980 boss adjective very good, excellent. The word was around for 70 years before taking off; it was popular beyond description in 1965 and 1966 US, 1873 boss used as a sentence-ending intensifier SINGAPORE, 2002

boss Charley noun a white person or white people collectively US, 1967 boss cocky noun 1 an owner of a rural property who employs labour AUSTRALIA, 1879. 2 a self-important person in authority; one who lords it over others AUSTRALIA, 1902 boss-eyed adjective 1 having only one eye; having only one good eye; having a squint, cross-eyed UK, 1860. 2 lopsided, skewed; wrong UK, 1898 boss game noun a highly developed, status-conscious sense of style US, 1975 boss (her) verb in trucking, to back a tractor and trailer into position US, 1971 boss hoss noun an admired, popular man US, 1968 bossin' adjective excellent. Youth slang UK, 2000 bossman noun a male leader. Elaboration of BOSS US, 1934

Bosstown nickname Boston, Massachusetts. The nickname and the presumed rock and roll genre of the 'Bosstown Sound' were largely the artificial engineerings of a record company executive trying to convince the record-buying world that groups such as Ultimate Spinach, Bagatelle, Beacon Street Union and Earth Opera were worth their record-buying dollars US, 1982

bossy-boots noun a domineering person UK, 1983

Boston coffee noun 1 tea. A historical allusion to the Boston Tea Party US, 1960. 2 coffee with a lot of cream or milk US, 1958

Boston Glob nickname the Boston Globe newspaper US, 1981

Boston marriage noun an arrangement in which two women live together in an outwardly platonic relationship US, 2001

Boston quarter noun a tip of five or ten cents. A jab at the parsimony of New Englanders US, 1942

Boston screwdriver noun a hammer US, 1969

Boston States noun New England, from the Maritime Provinces perspective CANADA, 1948

Boston tea party noun a sexual fetish in which the sadist defecates or urinates on the masochist US, 1967 bot noun 1 the buttocks, the bottom. Also spelt 'bott' UK, 1961. 2 an on-line software agent that performs a specified task. Short for 'robot' US, 1996. 3 a habitual cadger. From the sense as 'a parasitic worm, a maggot' AUSTRALIA, 1916

bot verb to cadge something AUSTRALIA, 1921

-bot suffix used in combination with a noun or abbreviated noun to create a robotic entity or creature with mechanical characteristics. From 'robot' US, 1978

botanist noun a physician who views his patients as having plant-level intelligence US, 1978

Botany Bay verb to run away. Rhyming slang. Botany Bay was the name given to the original penal settlement in Australia AUSTRALIA, 1945

Botch nickname the Canadian Basic Officer Training Course CANADA, 1995

bother noun trouble UK, 1834 bother verb ► bother your arse; bother your shirt; bother your bunnit; bother your puff to make an effort. Glasgow slang UK; SCOTLAND, 1985 bother!; bother it! used for registering annoyance UK, 1840 botheration noun annoyance; nuisance. Often used as an exclamation of annoyance UK, 1797 bothered! used sarcastically for expressing a lack of care or interest in something that has just been spoken of UK, 1937

both-eye principle noun the careful surveillance of company operations, in a large family business CANADA, 2002 both ways noun 1 a wager that a selected horse, dog, etc will finish a race in the first three. Also heard as 'each way' UK, 1869. 2 a bet in craps both that the shooter will win and that the shooter will lose. In craps, gamblers can bet that the shooter will win, that he will lose, or both US, 1950. ► go both ways 1 to be willing to play both the active and passive role in homosexual sex US, 1972. 2 to be bisexual US, 1988

botray noun crack cocaine UK, 1998

Botties; Botanicals nickname the Royal Botanical Gardens in Sydney, Australia AUSTRALIA, 1981

bottle noun 1 courage, nerve, spirits. A figurative sense of the rhyming slang BOTTLE AND GLASS, (ARSE). If you lose your nerve you are said to 'lose your bottle' (to lose control of your arse), literally 'to defecate uncontrollably as a result of fear' UK, 1958. 2 a dose of crack cocaine, whether or not it is actually in a small bottle US, 1992. 3 a small container of amphetamine or methamphetamine in liquid form US, 1980. 4 in betting, odds of 2–1 UK, 1991. 5 in electric and telephone line work, any glass insulator US, 1980. ► on the bottle engaged as a pickpocket. From rhyming slang BOTTLE OF FIZZ for THE WHIZ and thus a direct translation from ON THE WHIZ UK, 2003. ► the bottle, big house, or box in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, used as a description of the three options for an addict who does not recover from their addiction – a return to drinking, prison and death US, 1998 bottle verb 1 to attack someone with a bottle, especially in the face UK, 1984. 2 to lose your nerve, to back down. A contraction of BOTTLE OUT, a contradiction of BOTTLE (nerve). Often in the expression 'bottle it' UK, 1999. 3 to have anal sex, especially with a woman. From rhyming slang BOTTLE AND GLASS (ARSE) UK, 1961. 4 of a man, to have sex with a woman; to impregnate a woman UK, 1961. 5 to lick someone's anus. Homosexual use; from rhyming slang BOTTLE AND GLASS (ARSE) UK, 1984. 6 to smell badly, to stink UK, 1979. 7 in prison, to conceal articles such as drugs or money in the rectum. From rhyming slang BOTTLE AND GLASS (ARSE) UK, 1996 bottle and glass noun 1 quality; elegant behaviour. Rhyming slang for CLASS, usually as a negative UK, 1959. 2 the backside; the anus. Can be shortened to 'bottle'. Rhyming slang for ARSE. This rhyme extends to APRIL IN PARIS UK, 1930 bottle and a half noun in betting, odds of 5–2. In bookmaker slang BOTTLE is 2–1, here the addition of a half increases the odds to 2½–1 or 5–2. UK, 1991 bottle and stopper noun a police officer. Rhyming slang for COPPER. Sometimes shortened to 'bottle' US, 1928 bottle baby noun an alcoholic US, 1925 bottle blonde noun a person whose blonde hair is the result of bleach, not nature US, 1972 bottle-cap colonel noun a lieutenant colonel in the US Army. Vietnam war usage. From the insignia US, 1986 bottle club noun a business disguised as a club in an attempt to circumvent alcohol laws US, 1951 bottle dealer noun a drug dealer who sells pills in large quantities US, 1971 bottle-fed adjective said of a car engine that is being tested with petrol fed from a bottle through a rubber hose US, 1992 bottle man noun a drunkard US, 1944 bottle merchant; bottler noun a coward, someone who loses nerve. From BOTTLE (nerve) and BOTTLE OUT (to lose your nerve) UK, 2000 bottleneck noun 1 a style of guitar playing in which a smooth piece of metal or glass is moved smoothly up and down the fretboard creating a glissando effect. The original device was, in fact, the neck of a bottle worn over the finger US, 1973. 2 a marijuana pipe made from the neck of a beer or soft drink bottle SOUTH AFRICA, 2004 bottle of beer noun the ear. Rhyming slang, always used in full UK, 1961 bottle of fizz verb to work as a pickpocket; to steal something quickly as an opportunity arises. Rhyming slang for THE WHIZZ (pickpocketing) UK, 1938 bottle of scent noun a male homosexual. Rhyming slang for BENT UK, 2003 bottle of water noun a daughter. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 bottle-oh noun a person who collects and sells used bottles AUSTRALIA, 1898 bottle out verb to lose your nerve. From BOTTLE (nerve), a contraction of 'bottle fallen out' UK, 1979 bottler noun 1 a man who takes the active role in anal sex. Extended from the verb BOTTLE. (to have anal sex) UK, 1961. 2 someone or something that is excellent. Origin unknown AUSTRALIA, 1855. 3 a collector of money for a street-entertainer. Used by showmen and buskers UK, 1935 ► see: BOTTLE MERCHANT bottler; bottling adjective superlatively good, excellent AUSTRALIA, 1959

bottletop noun something gained; a thing of some value. Rhyming slang on COP (to obtain) but used as a noun; sometimes abbreviated to 'bottle' UK, 1974 bottle top verb to catch, gain or understand something. Rhyming slang on various senses of the verb COP. Sometimes heard as an abbreviated 'bottle' UK, 1974 bottle to the field noun in racing, bookmaker's odds of 2–1 UK, 1967 bottle up verb to repress or contain your feelings UK, 1853 bottle up and go verb to leave US, 1947

bottley adjective nervous. From BOTTLE (courage, nerve, spirits) UK, 2000 bottom noun 1 the buttocks. A colloquial usage, delightfully defined in the Oxford English Dictionary as follows: 'The sitting part of a man, the posteriors, the seat' UK, 1699. 2 the submissive partner in a homosexual or sado-masochistic relationship US, 1961

Bottom nickname Miami, Florida US, 1991 bottom bitch noun the pimp's favourite of the prostitutes working for him; the leader of the prostitutes US, 1967 bottom burp; botty burp; burp; botty banger noun a fart UK, 1984 bottom dollar noun your last dollar. Heard in the context of betting your 'bottom dollar' US, 1954 bottom end noun in drag racing, the portion of the track just after the starting line US, 1960 bottom feeder noun 1 a despised person of low-status who grasps any opportunity or means of survival. An allusion to the underwater lifestyle of certain fish US, 1980. 2 in poker, a low-betting player who tries to eke out meagre winnings against unskilled players US, 1996 bottom fisher noun a stock investor looking for stocks with a poor recent showing US, 1988 bottom girl noun the pimp's favourite of the prostitutes working for him; the leader of the prostitutes US, 1973 bottom line noun the final analysis US, 1967 bottom man noun the passive partner in a homosexual relationship US, 1972 bottoms noun 1 dice that have been marked to have two identical faces US, 1962. 2 the worst US, 1955 bottom's up noun a common position for anal and/or vaginal sex, in which the passive partner lies on their stomach US, 1960 bottoms up! used as a toast. From drinking by upturning a glass or a bottle UK, 1917 bottom weight a minimum amount UK, 1962 bottom woman noun the pimp's favourite of the prostitutes working for him; the leader of the prostitutes US, 1969

Botts' dots noun small bumps delineating lanes on motorways US, 1971 botty; bottie noun the human bottom. Originally of a baby's or child's posterior; now less specific but usage is generally childish UK, 1874 botzelbaum pie noun an upside-down pie. Used in Mennonite Waterloo County, Ontario CANADA, 2001 boubou noun crack cocaine. A possible play on BEBE, BOULYA or BOULDER (crack cocaine) UK, 1998 boucher noun in Franco-Ontario, a fiddle player. Boucher is French for 'butcher', and is applied to fiddle playing from the fact that the player 'saws and saws' to make music CANADA, 1969 boudoir noun an army tent US, 1945 bougie; bouji adjective bourgeois US, 1975 boulder; boulders noun crack cocaine; a piece of crack cocaine. Built on the rock metaphor US, 1998 boulder baby noun a crack cocaine addict. From the rock metaphor US, 2002 boulder-holder; over-the-shoulder boulder-holder noun a brassiere UK, 1970 boulevard noun 1 a long, straight hallway US, 1965. 2 in trucking, a major motorway US, 1986 boulevard boy noun a young male prostitute in an urban setting US, 1987 boulya noun crack cocaine. A possible play on BOULDER (crack cocaine) UK, 1998 bounce noun 1 a brainstorming session US, 1984. 2 a jail or prison sentence US, 1957. 3 an air-to-air attack US, 1943. 4 in horse racing, a poorly run race followed by a well-run race US, 1997. ► on the bounce consecutively, one after the other UK, 2001. ► the bounce bouncers, door-security, collectively UK, 2005

bounce verb 1 to maintain order in a bar or nightclub, ejecting people from the premises if necessary US, 1874. 2 (of a cheque) to be returned as worthless by the bank with which it has been drawn US, 1936. 3 to leave US, 1996. 4 (used of a message sent electronically) to return to the sender, undeliverable as addressed

US, 1991. 5 to pay; to provide without charge US, 1970. 6 to activate a car's suspension system so as to cause the car to bounce up and down US, 1980 bounce back noun the return of an overdraft US, 1949 bounce back verb to recover or return from a setback UK, 1950 bouncer noun 1 a person, usually a strong man, employed to maintain and restore order in a bar, restaurant, club or performance. In the UK, 'bouncers' collectively are THE BOUNCE. US, 1883. 2 the female breast. Obvious imagery and, equally obvious, usually in the plural UK, 1972. 3 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1946 bounce shot noun in a dice game, a type of controlled shot by a skilled cheat US, 1950 bouncing Betty noun a land-mine first used in World War 2, prevalent in Vietnam, that bounces waist-high and then sprays shrapnel when triggered US, 1943 bouncing powder noun cocaine US, 1971 bouncy-bouncy noun sexual intercourse US, 1960 bounder noun someone whose manners or company are unacceptable; hence a vulgar and unwelcome pretender to polite society, a nuisance. Survives in ironic usage, often applied to inanimate objects UK, 1889 boungy; bungy noun the anus BAHAMAS, 1982 bounty noun a black person who sides with the white authorities. Derives from 'Bounty', a chocolate and coconut confection that is brown on the outside and white on the inside UK, 1996

Bounty bar noun an Indian person who is considered to have exchanged heritage and community values for acceptance by white society. After the chocolate coated coconut branded confectionery. British Indian (Hindi) urban slang. UK, 2006 bouquet straight noun in poker, a sequenced hand comprised of all red or all black suits, but not a flush. It looks impressive, but is worth no more than any non-flush straight US, 1996 bourbon bibber noun an oil worker from Kentucky US, 1954

Bourke shower noun a dust storm. Bourke is an inland town in New South Wales. Other locations similarly used by nature, weather and irony: Bedourie, Bogan, Cobar, Darling, Wilcannia and Wimmera AUSTRALIA, 1945

Bournville Boulevard noun the anus, the rectum. Cadbury's chocolate is made in Bournville, in Birmingham; a UK version of HERSHEY HIGHWAY UK, 1997

Boutros Boutros Ghali; boutros noun cocaine. Rhyming slang for CHARLIE (cocaine), formed on the name of the Secretary General of the United Nations, 1992–1996 UK, 2003 bovina noun in homosexual usage, a woman, especially one with large breasts US, 1980 bovver noun trouble, fighting, violent behaviour, especially when associated with skinhead culture. From a London pronunciation of 'bother' UK, 1969 bovver boot noun a heavy-duty boot used as a kicking-weapon, stereotypically worn by a skinhead UK, 1969 bovver boy noun a member of a hooligan gang, generally characterised as a skinhead, and therefore associated with extreme right-wing, racist violence. Extended from BOVVER (trouble) and very rarely seen in the singular UK, 1970 bow noun the elbow. Elbows used to establish position are a key part of the anatomy in basketball US, 1980. ► on the bow gratis; scrounging. From an earlier, related sense (without paying) UK, 1938 bow verb to perform an act of oral sex. From the conventional sense (bending at the waist) JAMAICA, 1995 bow and arrow noun 1 a native American Indian; Indian ancestry US, 1930. 2 a sparrow. Cockney rhyming slang UK, 1931 bow-and-arrow adjective not armed with a pistol US, 1984 bow and quiver noun the liver, especially in contexts of irritability or liverishness. Rhyming slang UK, 1967 bow-cat noun a man who fellates. A combination of BOW (oral sex) and CAT (a man) JAMAICA, 1995 bower bird noun an avid collector of many and various things. From the mating habit of certain male bower birds which collect coloured items to make a display for females AUSTRALIA, 1926 bowl noun 1 a pipe for smoking marijuana, hashish or crack cocaine US, 1974. 2 an approximate measure of marijuana, between one thirtysecond and one sixteenth of an ounce. The amount needed to fill a pipe US, 1972. 3 in cricket, a period of bowling UK, 1961 bowl basher noun the active male in anal sex AUSTRALIA, 1985 bowl brandy noun faeces, excrement UK, 2002 bowllegged adjective (of prison sentences) concurrent US, 1990 bowler noun an ugly girl. Uncertain origin, possibly from 'bow', abbreviated from BOW-WOW, with the suffix -ER IRELAND, 2003 bowling green noun a fast stretch of railway line UK, 1970 bowl it around verb to strut and posture in an unsightly masculine way. Teen slang UK, 2003 bowlodrome noun a bowling alley US, 1953 bowlster noun a bowler US, 1953 bows noun ► take bows to falsely take credit for something US, 1997 bowser noun 1 a dog US, 1965. 2 by extension, an ugly person US, 1978. 3 a petrol pump AUSTRALIA, 1918 bowser bag noun a container used by restaurants to package unfinished meals to be taken home by diners. A variation on the more common DOGGY BAG US, 1965 bowsie noun a disreputable drunkard, a lout, a quarrelsome drunkard IRELAND, 1990 bowsprit noun an erect penis. It does not take much imagination to see the comparison UK, 1741 bow tie noun 1 a married woman's lover NEW ZEALAND, 1948. 2 a Chevrolet car US, 1993

bow-wow noun a 'dog', literally and in its slang senses US, 1935 box noun 1 the vagina; a woman UK, 1605. 2 the posterior, the buttocks. Originally black, then gay usage US, 1965. 3 a jail or prison. Usually heard as 'the box' US, 1995. 4 a secure prison cubicle for a one-to-one visit UK, 1978. 5 a cell used for solitary confinement US, 1976. 6 a safe US, 1902. 7 in a court of law, the witness box AUSTRALIA, 1973. 8 approximately 20 one-kilogram plates of pressed hashish CANADA, 2002. 9 a small amount of marijuana, approximately enough to fill a matchbox US, 1967. 10 a guitar. May also refer to a banjo US, 1911. 11 a piano US, 1908. 12 a record player UK, 1924. 13 a large, portable radio and tape player. A shortened GHETTO BOX US, 1985. 14 television. Usually after 'the' US, 1950. 15 a polygraph machine US, 1997. 16 an old and inferior car US, 1973. 17 a new car showroom US, 1989. 18 a coffin UK, 1864. 19 in bar dice games, a leather or vinyl cup used to shake dice before spilling them out US, 1976. 20 in horse racing, a combination bet that covers many different possible outcomes US, 2001. 21 in horse racing, a horse stall AUSTRALIA, 1989. 22 a pool table, especially a large one US, 1990. 23 in the sport of fencing, an electric recording apparatus UK, 1988. 24 a reinforced item of underwear designed to protect a sportsman's genitals UK, 1961. 25 a person who is profoundly out of touch with current trends. A three-dimensional SQUARE US, 1976. 26 in the Royal Air Force, an aircraft cockpit simulator UK, 1984. 27 in the Vietnam war, an aerial target zone approximately 5/8 of a mile wide by 2 miles long US, 1988. 28 a submarine's main battery UK, 1979. ► in the box 1 engaged in vaginal sex US, 1972. 2 dealing drugs US, 1997. ► off your box; out of your box 1 drunk or drug-intoxicated UK, 1981. 2 mentally disturbed; behaving erratically. Perhaps an allusion to the Greek myth of Pandora's box and the evils it contained UK, 2000. ► out of the box in motor racing, exactly as produced by the manufacturer, without any modifications US, 1993. ► put someone in the box to kill someone US, 2000. ► take a box to defecate IRELAND, 1995. ► take someone out of the box to kill someone US, 1995 box verb 1 to confirm the death of a hospital patient US, 1977. 2 to die US, 1994. 3 in an illegal lottery, to bet on a group of related numbers rather than a single number US, 1974. 4 to make a mistake; to muddle things. Originally referred to mixing flocks of sheep AUSTRALIA, 1873. ► box clever to use your wits; to behave shrewdly UK, 1936. ► box the fox to steal apples. Origin obscure IRELAND, 1976. ► couldn't box chocolates; couldn't box kippers to be a poor quality boxer. Punning on conventional senses of 'box' UK, 1936

Box 100 noun the notional repository for information given to police by informants US, 1979 box bag noun the amount of marijuana (the bag) which can be bought for a carton of cigarettes (the box) US, 1992 box boy noun a DJ's assistant who has the responsibility for the DJ's boxes of records UK, 2001 boxcar noun 1 any four-engine bomber US, 1946. 2 a prison cell US, 1982. 3 an amphetamine or central nervous system stimulant US, 1992 boxcar numbers noun a lot of money US, 1950 boxcars noun 1 in horse racing, high odds. From the high numbers used to identify railway carriages US, 1934. 2 in a game of dice, a roll of two sixes US, 1949. 3 in poker, a pair of sixes or three sixes. A borrowing from the game of craps US, 1988. 4 any large number; a long prison sentence US, 1950 boxcar tourist noun a hobo travelling by freight train US, 1946 boxed adjective 1 marijuana-intoxicated US, 1958. 2 muscular, well-toned US, 1997. 3 incarcerated US, 1970 boxer noun 1 an urban youth with a large and loud portable radio and tape player UK, 1983. 2 a person running a game of two-up AUSTRALIA, 1911. 3 a railway boxcar US, 1977 boxes noun in craps, a roll of two fours US, 1983

Box Five; Box Six; Box nickname the UK secret intelligence services UK, 2002

boxfresh adjective of shoes, especially trainers, unworn UK, 2003 boxie noun a person with bleached blond hair US, 1987 boxies noun men's boxer shorts. 2001 boxing glove noun a condom. Playing on BOX (the vagina; the male genitals; sexual intercourse), with GLOVE (a condom) UK, 1998 boxing Josh noun masturbation BAHAMAS, 1982 box-it noun a mixture of cheap wine and cider UK, 1982 box-kicker noun a supply clerk in the US Marines US, 1998 boxla noun box lacrosse. Lacrosse, an Indian game, was played practically without side boundaries and with goals as much as a half mile apart. Box lacrosse introduced side boards and a playing surface the size of a hockey rink CANADA, 1958 box lunch; box lunch at the Y noun oral sex on a woman. The character Y resembles a woman's groin; plays on BOX (the vagina) US, 1964 box man noun a criminal who specialises in breaking into safes US, 1902 box of birds; box of ducks noun a state of great contentment NEW ZEALAND, 1943 box of fruit; bowl of fruit noun a suit. Rhyming slang NEW ZEALAND, 1963 box of L noun a box of 100 ampoules containing methamphetamine hydrochloride (trade name Methedrine™), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1973 box of sharks noun used for expressing great surprise, in phrases such as: 'she nearly gave birth to a box of sharks' CANADA, 1984

box of tricks; bag of tricks noun a tool box, or any similar receptacle; a notional repertoire of tools and skills needed for any purpose UK, 1953 box-on noun a fight, a struggle AUSTRALIA, 1919

box on verb to continue fighting; to persevere with anything important or strenuous AUSTRALIA, 1919 box on wheels noun a hearse US, 1976 box screw noun a bank guard US, 1949 box seat noun the most advantageous area off a beach for a surfer to catch a wave AUSTRALIA, 1965 box shot noun in a dice game in which the dice are rolled from a cup, a controlled shot US, 1950 box slugger noun a criminal specialising in breaking into safes US, 1970 box someone's ears verb to hit someone round the head UK, 1601 box tool noun any tool used for breaking into a safe US, 1972 box-up noun a mix-up, a confusion. Also used a verb and, as 'boxed-up', an adjective AUSTRALIA, 1945 boy noun 1 heroin US, 1953. 2 the penis IRELAND, 1992. 3 a male friend. Connotes affection and loyalty US, 1997. 4 a homosexual male prostitute US, 1971. 5 a lesbian US, 1997. 6 a boxer or wrestler US, 1977. 7 in a deck of playing cards, a jack or knave US, 1967. 8 in horse racing, a jockey US, 1951. 9 a dollar; money UK, 1780 boy beaver noun the male sex organs and pubic hair US, 1987 boychik noun a boy or young man. Also variant 'boychick'. As is the case with most diminutives, used with affection; coined by Yiddish speakers in America US, 1951 boyf noun a boyfriend UK, 2003 boy-gal noun a male homosexual US, 1990 boy-girl noun a young, effeminate, male homosexual US, 1952 boy-hole noun a young and passive homosexual male. Sexual objectification US, 1997 boy in the boat noun the clitoris US, 1916 boykie; boytjie noun a boy, a youth; used as an admiring form of address to a man. An Anglo-Afrikaans diminutive of 'boy' SOUTH AFRICA, 1974

boyno hello UK, 2002

boyo noun 1 used as a good-humoured form of address to a man. An elaboration of 'boy', stereotypically Irish or Welsh IRELAND, 1898. 2 a Welsh man. Somewhat patronising; after what is thought to be a stereotypically Welsh form of address UK, 1953 boyo adjective mildly pornographic, featuring naked men US, 1970 boy! oh boy! used for registering shock, surprise, satisfaction, etc; also used to emphasise or draw attention to the statement that follows US, 1917 boys noun 1 the male genitals. From Seinfeld (NBC, 1990–98). Both Seinfeld and his wacky neighbour Kramer (Michael Richards) referred to their genitals as 'my boys'. Repeated with referential humour US, 1998. 2 a group of homosexual male friends; collectively, the male homosexual community US, 1972. 3 racketeers US, 1979. 4 used by professional wrestlers to refer to other professional wrestlers US, 1990. 5 sledge dogs ANTARCTICA, 1966. ► do the boys to engage in homosexual activity US, 2002 boys and girls noun heroin and cocaine, mixed and injected together US, 1993 boy scout noun 1 a state trooper US, 1973. 2 a person who is extremely, and usually distressingly, sincere US, 1997 boyshape noun a boyfriend. Teen slang UK, 2003 boysie noun used as a term of address to a boy or man AUSTRALIA, 1929 boys in blue noun the police; sailors; US Federal troops. Rarely, if ever, occurs in the singular. Derives from the colour of the uniform; sometimes heard as 'men in blue' or 'gentlemen in blue' UK, 1851 boys of Baghdad noun during the Gulf war, reporters for the Cable News Network US, 1991 boys on the hill noun the members of New Zealand's parliament NEW ZEALAND, 1984

Boy's Town noun a city neighbourhood dominated by homosexual men. A play on Father Flanagan's Boys Home, a home for delinquent and homeless boys in Omaha, Nebraska US, 1984 boys' toy; big boys' toy noun any automotive, mechanical or electronic piece of technology designed to appeal to men, especially an unnecessary one; a gadget UK, 2000 boy toy noun a young, attractive woman or man who is the object of sexual desire of their elders, homosexual or heterosexual US, 1989 boy wonder noun a man not held in high esteem. An ironic usage AUSTRALIA, 1954 bozack noun 1 sex. Usually heard as 'do the bozack' US, 1989. 2 the penis; the entire male genitalia. Sometimes shortened to 'zack' US, 1990 bozo noun 1 a buffoon. In the US, the older sense of 'bozo' as 'a fellow' was supplanted by the figure Bozo the Clown, who first appeared on record in 1946 and then became a fixture on local television programmes throughout the US beginning in 1949 US, 1916. 2 heroin UK, 1998. 3 an ounce of heroin US, 1992

bozotic adjective in computing, ridiculous US, 1991

BP noun 1 in blackjack counting teams, the player who places the large bets based on cues from other members of the team who have been counting cards at a particular table. An initialism for 'big player' US, 1991. 2 in American casinos, a serious gambler. The initials stand for 'big player' US, 1985. 3 a young prostitute. An abbreviation of 'baby pro' US, 1971

BPOM noun in homosexual shorthand usage, a man with a large penis, a big piece of meat US, 1979

BPS noun a wooden stick used by police for probing a corpse. New York police slang; an abbreviation of 'brain-picking stick' US, 1997

BQ noun a male homosexual who favours anal sex. An abbreviation of BROWNIE QUEEN US, 1964

BR *noun 1 a bankroll US, 1915. 2 money. From the term 'bankroll' US, 1915. 3 in carnival usage, any hyperbolic story. An extension of the 'bankroll' sense, the roll of money used by the operator of a rigged game to distract and divert the attention of a player from how the game is rigged US, 1985. 4 Banana Republic™, a chain of shops selling casual clothing US, 1997* bra noun used for addressing a friend. Phonetic abbreviation of BROTHER (a fellow) UK, 1968

brace verb to apprehend someone; to arrest someone; to accost someone US, 1889 brace and bit; brace noun 1 the equipment needed to prepare and inject a drug. Rhyming slang, from OUTFIT NEW ZEALAND, 1999. 2 the female breast. Rhyming slang for TIT; usually in the plural. Sometimes shortened to 'brace' US, 1928. 3 an act of defecation. Rhyming slang for SHIT. Sometimes shortened to 'brace' UK, 2003

brace face noun any person wearing an orthodontic brace US, 1991 bracelet play noun in poker, an exceptionally crafty play. An allusion to the 'bracelet prize' in the World Series of Poker US, 1996 bracelets noun handcuffs UK, 1661 bracer noun any strong alcoholic drink US, 1830 brace-up noun a prison- or police-cell UK, 1974 brace work noun poorly executed markings on the back of cards by card cheats US, 1961

bra chute noun a type of parachute malfunction US, 1982 bracket noun an unspecified part of the body. Usually as part of a threat; 'a punch up the bracket'; probably coined by scriptwriters Ray Galton and Alan Simpson UK, 1984

Bradman pills noun in horse racing, diuretic pills used by jockeys to lose weight. An allusion to cricket legend Donald Bradman; if you take enough diuretics, you will make a hundred runs before lunch AUSTRALIA, 1989

Brad Pitt; brad noun an act of defecation. Rhyming slang for SHIT formed on the name of American film-actor Brad Pitt (b.1963) UK, 1998

brads noun money UK, 1812

Brady noun a theatre seat reserved for a friend of the theatre management. An allusion to William Brady (1863–1950), American impresario US, 1981

braff adjective worthless UK, 2005 braggadocious; bragadocious adjective boastful US, 1956 brag-rag noun a military decoration in the form of a ribbon US, 1960 brah noun used as a term of address, young surfing male to young surfing male. A surfer's 'brother' US, 1981 brahma; Brahma noun a pleasing thing. From Hindu mythology Brahmā, the creator UK, 1977

Brahms and Liszt; Brahms adjective drunk. Rhyming slang for PISSED (drunk) UK, 1978

braid noun a prison warden or other official US, 1950 brain noun 1 oral sex performed on a male. An extension of HEAD US, 1998. 2 a smart person UK, 1914. 3 a dumb person US, 1981. 4 the penis. Derivative usage US, 2001. ► get something or someone on the brain to become obsessed by something or someone UK, 1989. ► out of your brain drunk or drug-intoxicated UK, 1973 brain verb to hit someone on the head US, 1938 brain bag noun in trucking, anything used by a trucker to store maps, permits, and other paperwork US, 1971 brain bender noun a strenuous, rowdy party US, 1966 brain bleach noun LSD. A variation on the conventional 'brainwash' UK, 2001 brain-boshing adjective intoxicating. Extending from BOSH (to take pills) UK, 2002 brain box noun 1 the head; the mind UK, 1823. 2 a person of above average intelligence UK, 2000 brain boy noun in oil drilling, an engineer US, 1954 brain bucket noun a safety helmet. Coined in the US Air Force, adapted to drag racing and then to a variety of sports US, 1955 brain burner noun an intravenous injection of amphetamine or methamphetamine US, 1992 brain candy noun an insignificant entertainment or diversion as opposed to something that requires thought US, 1981 brain cramp noun a mental error US, 1982 brain damage noun heroin UK, 1998 brain-damaged adjective in computing, clearly wrong US, 1983 brain derby noun a test or examination US, 1961 brain donor noun an idiot. The image of an empty head. UK, 1981 brain drain noun 1 the large-scale migration of talented and intelligent people from and/or to somewhere. According to William Safire, probably coined in 1963 to describe the exodus of British scientists to the US UK, 1963. 2 forensic scientists; a forensic science department. Police term, used ironically UK, 1971 brain fade noun a momentary mental lapse US, 1980 brain fart; mind fart noun a temporary mental lapse. Probably a jocular derivation from BRAINSTORM US, 1983 brain freeze noun a searing headache experienced when eating frozen food or drinks US, 1993 brainfucker noun an idea that is difficult to comprehend UK, 2002 brainiac noun a very intelligent person US, 1986 brainless adjective 1 very drunk UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 2 good, excellent UK, 2002 brain pill noun an amphetamine tablet UK, 2003 brain plate noun on the railways, a conductor's cap badge US, 1975 brains noun 1 oral sex. In the progression of HEAD to 'skull' to 'brains' US, 2000. 2 a railway conductor. Often after 'the' US, 1946 brain screw noun a prison psychological counsellor US, 1951 brainstorm noun a sudden, good idea US, 1925 brain surgeon noun 1 a poker player who over-analyses every situation US, 1982 brain surgery noun any difficult, demanding work. Used in contrast to the job at hand US, 1980 brain tickler noun a tablet or capsule of amphetamine UK, 1998 brain train noun a school bus US, 1976 brain trust noun a group of expert advisors. Although found at least as early as 1910, not popularised until 1933 in association with US President Franklin Roosevelt's advisors US, 1910 brainwash verb to convince someone systematically and in a manipulative manner that something they do not believe is true. Although the term was coined to describe the actions of authoritarian, Soviet-bloc regimes, probably the most famous use of 'brainwash' in the US was by George Romney, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968, who claimed that he had been brainwashed to support the US war against Vietnam US, 1951

brainy adjective intelligent, clever UK, 1845 brake fluid noun any medication used to sedate an unruly prisoner US, 1991 brake pads noun the condition that exists when a tight-fitting pair of trousers, shorts, bathing suit or other garment forms a wedge between a woman's labia, accentuating their shape. A visual image US, 2002 braker noun a railway brakeman US, 1977 brakie noun a brakeman on a freight train US, 1887 bram noun a small party with dancing BARBADOS, 1965

Brambladesh; Bramistan nickname the Brampton region of Toronto CANADA, 2002

brammer adjective excellent, outstandingly good. Derives from BRAHMA (something good) UK, 1987 branch noun a match US, 1973

Brancher nickname a member of the Special Branch of the Irish police force IRELAND, 1997 branch out verb to become fat AUSTRALIA, 1953

Brandon Block noun the penis; a fool. Rhyming slang for COCK; formed from the name of a London-born dance music DJ UK, 2003 brand X noun 1 marijuana US, 1980. 2 a marijuana cigarette US, 1992. 3 in trucking, a small and unknown trucking company US, 1976 brandy noun lubricant applied to the anus in preparation for anal sex UK, 2002 brandy and rum; brandy noun the buttocks, the posterior. Rhyming slang for BUM UK, 1993 brandy latch noun a toilet. A combination of BRANDY (AND RUM) (the posterior) and 'latch' (a lock) UK, 2002 brandy snap noun a slap. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 brannigan noun a brawl, literal or figurative US, 1940 brap adjective excellent UK, 2005 brap! brap! brap! brap! brap! used for expressing pleasurable excitement UK, 2005 brasco noun a toilet. Origin unknown. AUSTRALIA, 1955 brass noun 1 in the military, high-ranking officers as a collective entity US, 1864. 2 money, cash UK, 1598. 3 in carnival usage, fake jewellery US, 1981. 4 brass knuckles US, 1980 ► see: BRASS NAIL, TOP BRASS brass verb to rob a person of their money by deception; to con someone AUSTRALIA, 1939. ► brass it out to brazen it out. From the conventional use of 'brass' (effrontery or impudence) UK, 1969 brass adjective fashionable, smart UK, 1968 brass band noun 1 the hand. Rhyming slang UK, 1952. 2 a back-up military unit sent to help a small, outnumbered unit US, 1991 brass buttons noun a police officer; the police in general US, 1974 brass collar noun railway management US, 1977 brassed off; brassed adjective disgruntled. Originally military slang UK, 1942 brasser; brazzer noun a female of dubious sexual morals IRELAND, 1991 brass fart noun a thing of negligible value. Probably a convenient shortening of BRASS FARTHING UK, 1996 brass farthing noun a trivial sum of money, or less UK, 1642 brass-happy adjective extremely anxious to be promoted within the officer corps US, 1946 brass house noun a brothel, a whorehouse. Where a BRASS (NAIL) (a prostitute) works UK, 2001

brassies noun brass knuckles US, 1949 brass man noun a confidence trickster. From earlier 'brass' (a horse-racing confidence trick) AUSTRALIA, 1953 brass monkey noun used in a number of figures of speech, especially as a basis for comparison US, 1857 brass-monkey adjective (of weather) bitterly cold. May be of nautical origin but the popular etymology involving powder monkeys and cannon balls remains unproven. Usually as 'brass-monkeys' or 'brass-monkey weather'; from the phrase 'cold enough to freeze the balls off a brass monkey' UK, 1857 brass nail; brass noun a prostitute. Rhyming slang for TAIL (a woman sexually objectified), also punning on something you buy 'to bang' UK, 1933 brass razoo noun a small amount of money AUSTRALIA, 1941

brass ring noun an elusive but valuable prize US, early 1950s brass tacks noun the basic facts; the basic reality. Rhyming slang for 'facts' US, 1895 brass up verb 1 to pay money UK, 1898. 2 to rebuke someone BARBADOS, 1965

brassy adjective (of a woman) ostentatious, cheap but flashy; prostitute-like. A variation of an earlier, obsolete sense (impudent and shameless); probably from BRASS (NAIL) (a prostitute), but note the bright appearance of polished brass, a relatively cheap metal UK, 1937 brat noun 1 a child, especially a troublesome junior; a baby. Possibly from Scottish dialect bratchart UK, 1505. 2 a young and/or weak man used as a passive homosexual partner, especially in prison US, 1961 brat pack nickname a group of young film actors who played roles in John Hughes films of the 1980s. Frequently mentioned as members of the group included Anthony Michael Hall, Emilio Estevez, Charlie Sheen, Judd Nelson, Molly Ringold, Rob Lowe and Ally Sheedy. A play on the Sinatra-centric Rat Pack of the 1950s and 60s US, 1985 bravo noun a soldier in the US infantry. Vietnam war coinage and usage US, 1980 bravo delta noun a nonfunctioning piece of hardware. A phonetic-alphabet euphemism for 'broke dick' US, 1988 brawl noun a rowdy party US, 1927 brazil verb to decline to pay interest on an existing loan CANADA, 1989

Brazilian landing strip; Brazilian noun the trimming of a woman's pubic hair such that only a narrow strip remains; the result thereof US, 2001

Brazil water noun coffee US, 1949

BRB used in computer message shorthand to mean 'be right back' US, 1991

brea noun heroin UK, 2003 breach noun ► in the breach in poker, first to act in a given situation US, 1988 bread noun 1 money. The term was used at least as early as the 1930s, but it did not gain wide acceptance until the 1960s US, 1935. 2 ship's biscuits TRISTAN DA CUNHA, 1910 bread and bread noun a homosexual couple; more generally, any dull combination of two similar things UK, 1984 bread and butter noun 1 a livelihood, the means of living; a basic, motivating interest UK, 1837. 2 used by bookmakers to describe bets by inexperienced, unskilled bettors AUSTRALIA, 1989. 3 a crazy person. Rhyming slang for NUTTER UK, 1992 bread and butter! used as a charm when two people who are walking side-by-side are momentarily separated by a person or object US, 1939 bread and cheese verb to sneeze. Rhyming slang also used as a noun UK, 1938 bread and jam noun a tram AUSTRALIA, 1902 bread and lard adjective hard UK, 1961 bread and point noun a meagre meal, mainly bread. Another surviving, related expression is 'bread and pullet' or 'pull-it' CANADA, 1987

breadbasket noun the stomach UK, 1785 bread box noun 1 the stomach. A lesser-known cousin of BREADBASKET US, 1919. 2 a safe that is easily broken into US, 1949

breaded adjective wealthy. Formed on BREAD [money] UK, 2005

breadfruit swopper noun a conventional if cheap person BARBADOS, 1965 bread hooks noun the fingers, the hands CANADA, 1973 bread knife noun a wife. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 breads noun money BAHAMAS, 1982 breadwinner noun the person responsible for supporting a family. Drawn from BREAD (money) UK, 1821 break noun 1 in hip-hop culture, an instrumental section from any recorded source that is mixed with other similar selections to make a new piece of music US, 1993. 2 a piece of luck, good unless otherwise qualified, e.g. 'bad break' US, 1926. 3 a break-in, or illicit entry, into a building UK, 1959 break verb 1 to escape from prison UK, 1996. 2 in blackjack, to exceed 21 points, losing the hand US, 1991. 3 to run away US, 1993. 4 in theatrical use, to stop work during or at the end of rehearsal, e.g. 'the cast broke for tea' UK, 1984. 5 of money, to change a coin or a note into coins or notes of smaller denominations UK, 1844. 6 to steal something US, 2003. 7 to do something to excess US, 1989.

► break bad to act in a threatening, menacing manner US, 1997.

► break camp to leave. Military or Western overtones US, 1986.

► break fives to shake hands BARBADOS, 1965. ► break his (or her) cherry (used of a racehorse) to win the first race in a racing career US, 1951. ► break ill to make a mistake, to blunder US, 1989.

► break it big to win a great deal of money AUSTRALIA, 1954.

► break it down to stop, to cease; as an imperative, stop talking!

AUSTRALIA, 1944. ► break luck (of a prostitute) to have sex with the first customer of the day or night US, 1969.

► break out into assholes to become deeply frightened US, 1982. ► break out the rag to lose your temper after losing a game US, 1971.

► break someone's balls to harass, to nag someone US, 1970. ► break someone's chops to give someone a hard time, to harass someone US, 1953.

► break starch to put on a fresh uniform US, 1968.

► break stick in ears to ignore advice or counsel GRENADA, 2002.

► break tape to fire your weapon. Vietnam war usage US, 1991.

► break the bank to divide the winnings up among members of a blackjack counting team US, 1991.

► break the house in gambling, especially an illegal gambling enterprise, to win a great deal of money from the house US, 1989.

► break the night to stay up all night US, 1989. ► break the seal to urinate for the first time in a serious bout of drinking. Subsequent visits to the toilet will occur with urgent regularity after 'breaking the seal' UK, 2002.

► break the sound barrier to fart. Probably dating to the late 1960s when the test-flights of supersonic airliner Concorde first made the potential simile widely-known CANADA, 1984.

► break watches (of a racehorse) to run very fast during a morning workout US, 1951.

► break weak to back down from a confrontation US, 1992. ► break wide to leave US, 1992. ► break wind 1 to fart UK, 1606.

2 to drive in the lead position in a group of trucks travelling along a motorway together. Citizens' band radio usage US, 1977 breakage noun in horse racing pari-mutuel betting, the change left over after paying off bets to the nearest nickel, dime or dollar US, 1947 break a leg! to an actor, good luck! Theatrical superstition considers a wish of good luck to be tempting fate. Folk-etymology offers the example of American actor John Wilkes Booth who assassinated President Abraham Lincoln. The assassin jumped on stage and broke his leg. Unlikely. It is remembered in use in the 1930s, and is suspected to be of English origin; it is certainly widely used in the UK US, 1973 breakaway noun 1 any piece of equipment or clothing that will tear free from a police officer's body during a fight US, 1962. 2 in television and film making, a prop designed to break easily upon impact US, 1990

breakbeat noun in contemporary dance culture, a sampled beat that is looped to create a rhythmic pattern; hence, a musical style US, 1988

breakdancer; breaker noun a dancer who finds expression in the rhythms of hip-hop music US, 1984 breakdancing noun an energetic dance improvised to the rhythms of hip-hop, often danced competitively. The origin of hip-hop is credited to New York DJ Kool Herc who mixed in rhythmic 'breakdown parts' which dancers then interpreted US, 1983 breakdown noun 1 a shotgun US, 1994. 2 a noisy, rowdy party JAMAICA, 1996 break down verb to explain something US, 1965 breaker noun 1 a citizens' band radio user. Usage extended from the announcement of a citizens' band radio user's presence on a waveband US, 1976. 2 in horse racing, a horse that starts a race with a great burst of speed US, 1982 breaker!; break! used for announcing your presence on citizens' band radio. Literally announcing someone who wishes to 'break-in' to the airwaves, often formulated with information on direction, radio channel, road number or type of contact sought US, 1976 breakers noun in certain games of poker, cards that qualify a player to open betting US, 1988 breakers ahead! used as a general purpose warning of impending problems. Of obvious nautical origin, from the cry of the masthead lookout US, 1963 breakfast burrito noun the penis UK, 2003 breakfast club noun a nightclub operating after other clubs close at 2am, staying open until the early morning when breakfast is served US, 1954 breakfast of champions noun 1 simultaneous, mutual oral sex AUSTRALIA, 1985. 2 crack cocaine. A new, ironic application for the slogan used by Wheaties™ since the 1930s; adopted as the title of a 1973 novel by Kurt Vonnegut Jr, and released as a film in 1999 UK, 1998. 3 beer US, 1976 breakfast of losers noun methaqualone, the recreational drug best known as Quaaludes™. Punning on the slogan of a popular cereal brand – 'breakfast of champions' US, 1987 breakfast time noun ► to breakfast time to eternity AUSTRALIA, 1969 breaking noun break dancing, especially its gymnastic and acrobatic aspect US, 1984 break in the weather noun in betting on horse racing, a change of luck AUSTRALIA, 1989 break into verb to achieve an entrance into an occupation or activity US, 1899 break it off! give me your money! US, 1997 break loose verb in drag racing, to lose traction and spin the wheels without moving US, 1970 break-luck noun a prostitute's first customer of the day US, 1993 break man noun a prison guard who orchestrates the opening of cells in the morning US, 1977 break out verb to leave US, 1997 breakup noun in Alaska, the season between winter and summer US, 1904 break up verb to cause someone to laugh uproariously US, 1895 break your duck verb to do something for the first time. A figurative application of the cricketing term (to score at least one run) UK, 1998 breast check noun a walk through a crowd in search of attractive female breasts US, 1995 breast job noun surgery to alter a woman's breast size US, 2002 breathe noun in poker, to pass without betting US, 1988 breather noun 1 in sports, a game against a weak opponent. From the conventional sense (a rest) US, 1945. 2 the nose US, 1973. 3 a person who derives sexual pleasure from telephoning someone and breathing heavily when they answer the phone US, 1986. 4 in trucking, the air intake pipe US, 1971 breather crimp noun a virtually undetectable bend or crease put onto a playing card by a cheat or a conjuror, 2003

Breather U noun any college with a poor sports programme. Humorous to those who attach importance to a college's sports programme US, 1988 breath of God noun crack cocaine US, 1997

breck noun breakfast US, 1983 brecko noun breakfast AUSTRALIA, 1983 bredda noun 1 a brother, a fellow black person. Phonetic spelling of West Indian pronunciation. West Indian and UK black, 1992. 2 a boy JAMAICA, 2000 bredgie noun a friend. Originally black usage, now youth slang UK, 2002 bredren; bredrin noun a man's friend; friends; a fellow youth gang member. Conventional 'brethren' ('brothers', with religious and political overtones) adopted for everyday use by the West Indian and UK black communities UK, 1994

bree noun a young woman US, 1992 breed noun 1 a person of mixed ancestry, Indian and non-Indian CANADA, 1956. 2 a person who is not white US, 1992 breed verb ► breed a scab to create trouble US, 1941 breeder noun 1 from the homosexual point of view, a heterosexual. Usually used as an insult US, 1979. 2 any food that is believed to render a man potent and fecund JAMAICA, 2003 breeze noun 1 something that is achieved easily and quickly US, 1928. 2 in horse racing, an easy pace during a workout or race US, 1951. 3 an escape from prison US, 1948. 4 a prison sentence that is nearly completed US, 1962. 5 a calm, collected person US, 1992. 6 the air used in air brakes US, 1939. 7 (of a car) power US, 1955. 8 used as a term of address US, 1966 ► see: BALMY BREEZE breeze verb 1 to move or go quickly; to move or go casually or without effort. Generally before 'along', 'in', 'off', 'through', etc US, 1907. 2 to succeed in achieving something without making a great effort UK, 2004. 3 to escape; to go US, 1913. 4 in pool, to only barely glance the object ball with the cue ball US, 1990 breeze off verb to stop working and relax in the shade BELIZE, 1996

breezer noun 1 a fart AUSTRALIA, 1973. 2 a despised person UK, 2003 breezeway noun the area in a prison where the most derelict of the convicts gather US, 1984 breezy noun a young woman US, 2004 breid and watter noun talk, speechifying. Glasgow rhyming slang for PATTERN, on the Scottish pronunciation of 'bread and water' UK, 1988 brekker; brekkers noun breakfast UK, 1889 brekkie; brekky noun breakfast. Childish UK, 1904

Brenda Bracelets; Brenda noun a police officer; the police. An example of CAMP trans-gender assignment, in this case as an alliterative play on BRACELETS (handcuffs) as stereotypical police equipment UK, 1992

Brenda Frickers noun knickers. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of the Irish actress (b.1945), best known for her film work UK, 2003

Brenda skunk; Brenda noun a hybrid variety of potent marijuana, 2002 brer noun a fellow black man. Old contraction of 'brother' UK, 2000 bressles noun pubic hair NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992 brew noun 1 beer; a glass, bottle or can of beer US, 1907. 2 a cup, mug or pot of tea. Tea is brewed by immersing tea leaves (loose or bagged) in boiling water AUSTRALIA, 1905. 3 an illicitly made alcoholic beverage AUSTRALIA, 1950. 4 a stew AUSTRALIA, 1957. 5 used as a male-to-male term of address BERMUDA, 1985. 6 a Jewish person. An abbreviation of 'Hebrew' US, 1997 ► see: BURROO brew verb to make and heat an injectable solution of heroin and water UK, 1996 brewdog noun a can of beer US, 1988 brewed adjective drunk US, 1886 brewer noun a prostitute who will allow sexual intercourse without a condom UK, 1997 brewer's droop noun a temporary inability to achieve an erect penis caused by drinking too much alcohol, especially beer AUSTRALIA, 1970

brewha noun a glass, bottle or can of beer US, 2001 brewski; brewsky noun beer; a serving of beer. Mock Polish US, 1978 brewster noun a beer US, 1986

Brewster's noun a great deal of money, a fortune. A reference to Brewster's Millions, 1945, remade 1985, a comedy film about huge amounts of money UK, 2001 brew up verb to make tea UK, 1916 briar noun a hacksaw blade US, 1950 briar patch noun a female's pubic hair US, 1967 bribe noun in marketing, the initial, attractive offer to join a book or music club US, 1986 brick noun 1 a good man. A term of approval UK, 1840. 2 someone with exceptionally good credit US, 2001. 3 a person lacking social skills US, 1968. 4 a profit made fraudulently UK, 1979. 5 a sentence of ten years in jail AUSTRALIA, 1944. 6 a street tough person AUSTRALIA, 1840. 7 a die that has been shaved on one face US, 1950. 8 in poker, a drawn card that fails to improve the hand US, 1996. 9 ten cartons of stolen cigarettes US, 1982. 10 a carton of cigarettes US, 1906. 11 a kilogram of, usually compressed, marijuana, or, less commonly, another drug US, 1967. 12 marijuana. From the sense as a measurement of the drug UK, 1996. 13 crack cocaine US, 2003. 14 an Australian ten pound note; the sum of ten pounds. From the colour of the note. After the introduction of decimal currency in 1966 the meaning changed to either 'twenty dollars' (an equivalent value) or, most commonly, 'ten dollars' (numerically the same). Neither of the new notes were brick coloured and the term has all but died out AUSTRALIA, 1914. 15 a pound sterling (£1) UK; SCOTLAND, 1988. 16 a four-man infantry patrol. Used by the British Army in Northern Ireland UK, 1995. 17 an abandoned, partially consumed can or bottle of beer US, 2002 brick nickname the British Columbia Resources Investment Corporation. A near-abbreviation CANADA, 1979 brick verb 1 to have sex leaning against a brick wall for balance and purchase UK, 2001. 2 to cheat or defraud someone UK, 1979. 3 to fail to deliver as promised US, 1993. 4 to hurl bricks, rocks or other hard objects. A word commonly used in the 1960s in American cities during events called 'riots' by the dominant power and 'uprisings' by leftists US, 1972. 5 to miss a shot; to fail US, 2001. ► brick your pants to soil your underwear as a result of fear; to be very afraid UK, 2005 bricked adjective 1 drug-intoxicated US, 1992. 2 in a court of law, having an unsigned police statement used against you AUSTRALIA, 1977

bricker verb to steal; to shoplift UK, 1970 brick gum noun heroin UK, 1998 brickhouse noun in poker, a full house that is not the best hand. An allusion built on 'brick' as a 'useless card' US, 1996 brick it verb to be very nervous or worried; to be thoroughly frightened. Variation of SHIT IT UK, 1996 bricks noun in prison, the world outside the prison walls US, 1976.

► hit the bricks 1 to leave, especially to leave prison US, 1931. 2 to go on strike; to be on strike. Also variants 'on the bricks' or 'pound the bricks' US, 1938. ► to the bricks extremely, utterly, completely US, 1928 bricks and clicks noun a business that combines trading from traditional business premises with e-commerce and Internet-only custom UK, 2000 bricks and mortar noun 1 a house; houses, property. Usually in phrases like 'his money's in bricks and mortar' UK, 1855. 2 a daughter. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 brick shithouse noun a woman, or rarely a homosexual man, with a curvaceous figure; a powerfully built man. Sometimes euphemised to a simple 'house' US, 1928 bricktop noun a red-haired person US, 1856

Bricktop nickname Ada Smith de Conge, a singer, actress and Paris nightclub hostess (died 1984) US, 1952 brickweed noun marijuana that has been compressed into a brick for transportation UK, 2004

bricky; brickie noun a bricklayer UK, 1880

Brickyard nickname the Indianapolis speedway. The speedway was once faced with bricks US, 1958 bridal suite noun 1 a two-man prison cell. A frank allusion to homosexual sex in prison NEW ZEALAND, 1999. 2 a room where police assigned the late night shift can sleep US, 1994 bride noun 1 a model of good behaviour BARBADOS, 1965. 2 a prostitute UK, 1981 bride's nightie noun ► like a bride's nightie used as the epitome of quickness AUSTRALIA, 1984 bride's slide noun in backgammon, the customary play with a first roll of 6-5: moving a back man 11 points US, 1976 bridge noun 1 a holder for a marijuana cigarette. A common term in the 1950s, largely supplanted by ROACH CLIP in the 1960s US, 1955. 2 a slightly curved playing card, altered by a cheat to manipulate the cutting of a deck US, 1991. 3 a pickpocket who reaches around the victim to pick their pocket US, 1949. 4 a group of four in a restaurant or soda fountain. An allusion to a bridge party US, 1967. ► under the bridge in a smuggling operation, across a border US, 1956 bridge and tunnel adjective said of a resident of New Jersey who commutes to New York. Disparaging US, 1984 bridge bender noun a motor vehicle manufactured by Vauxhall UK, 1981 bridge jumper noun in horse racing, a person who regularly bets on favourites and is distraught if the favourite does not win US, 1951 bridge monkey; bridge stiff noun on the railways, a bridge construction worker US, 1977

Bridge of Sighs nickname an overpass connecting the New York City jail with the criminal court building. A borrowing from Venice's Ponte de Sospiri, romanticised by Lord Byron US, 1955 bridges noun bridge tolls for which a truck driver is paid in advance or reimbursed US, 1963 brief noun 1 a solicitor, a barrister or other legal representative of an accused person. From an earlier sense (the legal case presented to a barrister) UK, 1977. 2 a warrant to search or arrest someone; a Metropolitan Police warrant-card UK, 1970. 3 a ticket for any purpose UK, 1937. 4 a playing card that has been trimmed slightly so that a cheat can locate it within a deck by feel US, 1988

brig noun a Brigadier; also, until the rank was abolished, a Brigadier General. Military UK, 1899 briggity adjective arrogant, vain, stubborn US, 1884 bright noun 1 morning US, 1941. 2 a light-complexioned black person US, 1976 bright adjective (of skin) light-coloured BAHAMAS, 1982 bright and frisky; bright 'n' frisky; Brighton noun whisky. Rhyming slang, probably as a deliberate variation of the earlier 'gay and frisky' reflecting the shift in the meaning of 'gay'; it is interesting to note therefore that the contraction 'Brighton' also has rhyming slang noun and adjective senses (homosexual), and that Brighton is regarded as one of the UK's centres of homosexual culture UK, 1969 bright disease noun the condition of knowing too much for your own good US, 1953 bright-eyed and bushy-tailed adjective alert and enthusiastic, lively US, 1942 bright eyes noun 1 a lookout during a criminal venture US, 1956. 2 the high beam setting on headlights US, 1977

brightlight team noun in Vietnam, a small group from the special forces sent to rescue American prisoners of war US, 1981

Brighton bucket noun ► like a Brighton bucket without recognising someone when you pass them in the street. An image of the pitch buckets on a conveyor system at the Brighton pier, passing each other on belts TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

Brighton pier verb to disappear. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

Brighton pier; brighton adjective (especially of a man) homosexual. Rhyming slang for QUEER (homosexual). Earlier use of the same rhyme meant 'unwell' or 'peculiar', the meaning shifting with the sense of 'queer'; possibly also influenced by the reputation of Brighton as a centre for gay society and culture UK, 1960

Brighton rock noun the penis. Rhyming slang for cock, and a visual pun on a long pink sweet that is made to be sucked. Similarly sweet references to the male anatomy can be found at ALMOND ROCK, BLACKPOOL ROCK and STICK OF ROCK UK, 1992

brights noun white socks US, 1969

Bright's Disease nickname Bright's Wine™, a brand of cheap wine, grown and processed in Niagara, Ontario CANADA, 2001 bright spark noun a cheerful, energetic person NEW ZEALAND, 2002

bright spot noun in oil drilling, an area that has indications of a productive field US, 1997 bright, white and dead white adjective ► see: LIGHT, BRIGHT, DAMN NEAR WHITE brightly adjective very smart US, 1945

brig rat noun a prisoner US, 1942

brill; brills adjective excellent, marvellous. An abbreviation of 'brilliant'; also used as exclamation. Military usage possibly pre-dates modern slang by several decades UK, 1979 brilliant adjective wonderful, excellent UK, 1979 brim noun 1 any hat US, 1965. 2 a straw hat BAHAMAS, 1982

brims noun identical hats worn by members of a youth gang US, 1982 brimson noun a braggart; a fantasist. English gypsy use UK, 2000

bring verb to compel someone to do something. US, 1972. ► bring it in in poker, to make the first bet of a hand US, 1990. ► bring it on used for challenging an opponent to begin a competition US, 1998. ► bring pee to frighten someone severely. Vietnam war usage US, 1966. ► bring smoke 1 to call for an artillery barrage US, 1990. 2 by extension, to reprimand someone in harsh, profane tones US, 1968. ► bring someone to book to bring someone to account; to cause someone to face authority, investigation or judgement UK, 1804

bring-a-plate adjective (of a party or the like) partially self-catered AUSTRALIA, 1979

bringdown noun an event or person that discourages or depresses you US, 1939 bring down verb to depress someone, to deflate someone US, 1935 bring it away verb to effect an abortion. The 'it' in question is the foetus UK, 1984 bring it, don't sing it! used to invite action instead of words US, 1998 bring off verb 1 to achieve an intended outcome, to be successful in making something happen UK, 1928. 2 to induce and achieve an orgasm UK, 1984 bring on verb to excite someone sexually UK, 1961 bring on the dancing girls! a facetious call for an exciting spectacle that is used as a register of boredom UK, 1984 bring out verb to introduce someone to homosexuality, to awaken in someone their homosexuality US, 1941 bring up verb 1 to vomit UK, 1719. 2 to try someone on a criminal charge US, 1823 brinny noun a stone, especially a small stone or pebble that is used for throwing. Probably from an Australian Aboriginal language AUSTRALIA, 1943

Bris; Brissie; Brizzie noun Brisbane AUSTRALIA, 1945

Brish adjective British. From a drunken slurring; especially in Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1951 brisket noun the female breast. A butcher's pun describing the cut of breast meat next to the ribs UK, 1979 bristol noun in tiddlywinks, a shot that moves both the player's wink and an opponent's, the manoeuvre starting and finishing with the player's wink sitting on the opponent's. The manoeuvre, dating from the 1960s, is credited eponymously to Bristol University Tiddlywinks Society UK, 1980

Bristol City; bristol noun the female breast. Rhyming slang: Bristol City Football Club and ΤΙΤΤΥ (a breast); supported by an alliterative connection between 'breast' and 'brist'; usually in the plural UK, 1960

Bris-vegas nickname Brisbane AUSTRALIA, 2003

Brit noun a Briton UK, 1901

Brit adjective British. An abbreviation, usually as a prefix. Usages include: Britflick (a UK film), Britlit (new UK writing) and britpulp! (an anthology of short-stories) AUSTRALIA, 1971 britch noun a side trouser pocket US, 1950

britches noun in Newfoundland, the sac of codfish eggs found in the pregnant female CANADA, 1975

Brit hop noun British hip-hop UK, 1999

British disease noun a strike or work stoppage NEW ZEALAND, 1984

British Standard Handful noun the average female breast. A play on standards established by the British Standards Institute UK, 1977

Britland nickname Britain UK, 2002

Britney Spear; britney noun a year. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of popular US entertainer Britney Spears UK, 2004

Britney Spears; Britneys noun beers. Popney rhyming slang, based on the name of popular entertainer Britney Spears (born 1981). Popney was contrived for www.music365.co.uk, an Internet music site UK, 2001

Britpop noun a loose categorisation of contemporary British popular music UK, 1999 brittle adjective (used of a computer program) functional, but easily rendered dysfunctional by changes or external stimuli which should not have the effect they have US, 1991

Brixton briefcase noun a large portable stereo system associated, stereotypically, with black youth culture UK, 1990

bro noun a brother, in the sense of a fellow in a given situation or condition; especially of a fellow black; also of a fellow student in UK public school usage US, 1957

broach verb to inject an illegal drug US, 1992 broad noun 1 a woman. Somewhere between derogatory and so old-fashioned as to be charming in a hopeless way US, 1911. 2 a male homosexual who plays the passive sexual role US, 1984. 3 in a deck of playing cards, a queen UK, 1781. 4 an identity card; any paper of identification, insurance book, etc UK, 1950. 5 a credit card. Extended from the previous sense UK, 1977 broadcast verb to engage in conversation US, 1959 broadie noun 1 a woman. A slightly embellished BROAD US, 1932. 2 the movement of a surfer across the face of a wave SOUTH AFRICA, 1965 broad joint noun a bar where prostitutes are available along with the drinks US, 1956 broads noun playing cards UK, 1781

broadski noun a woman US, 1967 broad squad noun in prison, a group of homosexual men US, 1990 broad tosser noun the operator of a three-card monte game swindle US, 1980

Broadway noun in poker, a five-card sequence ending with an ace as the highest card of the sequence US, 1988

Broadway Arab noun a Jewish person US, 1946

broccoli noun marijuana US, 1969 brockly adjective muscular. A vegetable pun, alluding to professional wrestler Brock Lesnar US, 2003

Brodie; Brody noun 1 a fall or leap from a great height. An allusion to Steve Brodie, a New York bookmaker who in 1886 claimed to have survived a leap from the Brooklyn Bridge and then opened a tavern which succeeded as a result of the publicity surrounding his claimed leap US, 1899. 2 a feigned drug withdrawal spasm US, 1936. 3 a failure to perform as expected CANADA, 1976. 4 a play that is a complete failure US, 1973. 5 a skid, usually controlled US, 1953 broform noun a retail discount given to friends. Snowboarder's slang; conflates BRO (a friend) with 'proform' (a discount given to professionals) US, 1995 brogans noun heavy work shoes. From the Gaelic. During the US Civil War, the sturdy and durable leather shoes issued to infantrymen were nicknamed Brogans or Jefferson Booties US, 1835 brogies noun work shoes. An abbreviation of BROGANS US, 1990 bro-ing noun in market research, the testing of fashion prototypes in inner-city, predominantly black neighbourhoods. From BRO (a fellow black) in a sense that categorises a target customer US, 2001

broja noun heroin, 2002 brok verb to depart, to leave. Urban youth slang, probably derived from conventional 'break' in a similar sense to SPLIT UK, 2006 broke adjective having little or no money, bankrupt. A variant of conventional 'broken' used in this sense from C16 UK, 1661. ► go for broke to make the utmost effort to achieve a desired end US, 1951 broke dick noun a nonfunctioning piece of hardware US, 1988 broke-down noun a brawl BAHAMAS, 1995 broke money noun a small amount of money given to a gambler who has lost his entire bankroll US, 1950 broken adjective 1 in the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001. 2 depressed, acting oddly US, 1981 broken arrow noun 1 an accident involving nuclear weapons US, 1980. 2 in computing, an error code on line 25 of a 3270 terminal US, 1991 broken arse noun a person who has been completely subjugated. Prison usage NEW ZEALAND, 1999 broken knuckles noun sleeping quarters on a train US, 1946 broken rail noun an older, physically run-down railway worker US, 1977 broken wrist noun an effeminate male homosexual US, 1968 broker noun a drug dealer US, 1962 broket noun on a computer keyboard, the characters <and>. A contraction of 'broken bracket' US, 1983 broolly noun an umbrella UK, 1874 broly adjective conforming to surfer etiquette US, 1991 bro-man noun used as a male-to-male term of address BAHAMAS, 1982 bronc noun in oil drilling, an inexperienced driller US, 1954 bronch verb to use a bronchoscope. Medical use UK, 1980 bronco noun a young male recently initiated into homosexual sex US, 1967 bronc stomper noun a cowboy who specialises in the breaking of horses, i.e. getting them to accept bridle, bit and saddle CANADA, 1954 bronski verb to sandwich a face between female breasts US, 1995

Bronson noun cocaine. From the infamous UK criminal Charlie Bronson (b.1952), with CHARLIE leading to 'cocaine' UK, 2001

Bronx Bull nickname Jake LaMotta (b.1921), a middleweight boxer who fiercely made his presence felt in the ring in the 1940s and 1950s US, 1952

Bronx cheer noun a combination of booing and a derisory farting noise, expressing disgust US, 1922 bronze; bronza; bronzer; bronzo noun the anus; the buttocks. Probably derives as a shade of brown AUSTRALIA, 1953 bronze John noun the sun US, 1954

Bronzeville noun a city neighbourhood with a largely black population US, 1950 bronze-wing noun a person of part-Aboriginal and part white descent. From the colour of a bronze-wing pigeon AUSTRALIA, 1956 bronzie; branz noun a sun tan; bronzed skin UK, 1987 bronzie machine noun a tanning machine UK, 2002 broo noun the employment exchange; unemployment benefit. The Scots shortened form of 'bureau' UK, 1998

Brookolino nickname Brooklyn, New York US, 1982 broom noun 1 the person who is assigned to or takes it upon himself to keep a workplace neat. Sometimes embellished to 'broom man' US, 1973. 2 a hat US, 1960 broom verb 1 to travel UK, 1921. 2 to run away, to leave UK, 1821 broomie noun in sheep-shearing, a person employed to keep the shearing floor swept clean. Extended from a conventional 'broom'; also known and used by New Zealand sheep-shearers AUSTRALIA, 1895 broom stack noun a truck exhaust stack that is flaming or smoking US, 1961 broomstick noun in electric line work, a phase spacer used for keeping phases from contacting each other midspan US, 1980 broosted adjective rich; having achieved great wealth. Extended from BREWSTER'S (a great deal of money) UK, 2002 bro before hoes used as a rallying cry for the precedence of male friendship over relationships with females. Sometimes seen as the abbreviation BBH US, 2004 broski; browski noun used as a male-to-male term of address. Doing to BRO what was done to BREW US, 1997 brothel creeper noun a patron of brothels US, 1977 brothel creepers noun suede-topped, crepe-soled shoes, either of the style also known as desert boots or the thick-soled variety favoured by Teddy Boys. Originally military, from World War 2; the etymology appears to be obvious, certainly the early types of these shoes allowed for silent movement UK, 1954 brothel spout noun a prostitute who is physically and emotionally worn out by her work US, 1993 brother noun 1 a black man US, 1910. 2 a fellow member of a countercultural or underground political movement US, 1968. 3 in carnival usage, a woman's husband or lover US, 1981. 4 heroin. A rare variant on the common BOY US, 1990

Brother Andre's Last Erection nickname the Oratory near the top of the mountain in Montreal. Brother Andre was a poor priest whose charisma made him widely known in Quebec as a healer; he raised funds to build the mammoth St Joseph's Oratory, and slept in an anteroom as caretaker CANADA, 1990 brother Ben noun Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant, or another central nervous system stimulant US, 1971

Brother Jonathan nickname the United States CANADA, 1962

brother man noun used as a term of address to establish solidarity, among black men US, 1974 broth of a boy noun a boy or man who represents the absolute quintessence of what a boy or man should be. The earliest recorded instance is in Byron's Don Juan, 1822; however modern usage is mainly Irish UK, 1822 brought down adjective in a sad or suddenly depressed state of mind, especially after drug use US, 1946 brown noun 1 the anus and/or rectum US, 1916. 2 faeces IRELAND, 1991. 3 anal sex; an act of anal intercourse UK, 1894. 4 heroin, especially if only partially refined US, 1962. 5 darker coloured hashish US, 1981. 6 an amphetamine tablet US, 1972 brown verb 1 to perform anal sex upon someone US, 1933. 2 to force others to behave in an obsequious, sycophantic manner UK, 1998 brown adjective 1 (of behaviour) obsequious, sycophantic. As in BROWN NOSE (a sycophant); extends from an image of submissive homage to another's backside UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. 2 used for describing sexual activities involving excrement UK, 2002. 3 (of a person's skin colour) white JAMAICA, 2003 brown Abe noun a US penny. From the engraving of President Abraham Lincoln on the coin US, 1945 brown acid noun a type of LSD. At the Woodstock festival in August 1969, there were several public address announcements recording the 'brown acid' that was 'not specifically good' US, 1969 brown ankles noun an utter sycophant. An ordinary sycophant is a BROWN NOSE; the toady here is even further ensconced in the nether regions NEW ZEALAND, 1976 brown-back noun a ten-shilling note. From the colour of the note; such currency was in use between 1928–40 and again from 1948–70 and withdrawn from circulation with the onset of decimalisation in 1971 UK, 1961 brown bag noun an unmarked police car US, 1976 brown-bag verb to carry lunch to work, especially in a brown paper lunch bag US, 1968 brown bagger noun a married person. From the image of bringing lunch packed in a brown bag to work; originally military usage US, 1947 brown bar noun in the US Army, a second lieutenant. The single brass bar worn by the second lieutenant was camouflaged in the field and became a single brown bar US, 1977 brown bomb noun a laxative US, 1990 brown bomber noun 1 a large laxative pill, favoured by military medics since World War 2 US, 1941. 2 a type of LSD. From the colour of the capsule UK, 1998 brown boot Army noun the army as it once was US, 1968 brown bottle noun beer US, 1976 brown bottled adjective drunk on beer UK, 1981 brown bottle shop noun a pub UK, 1981 brown boy noun a male who derives sexual pleasure from eating the faeces of others US, 1971 brown bread adjective dead. Rhyming slang UK, 1979

Brown Brothers noun the black community UK, 1998 brown bucket noun the rectum and/or anus US, 1949 brown coat noun in prison or borstal, a prisoner on remand or awaiting deportation. From the colour of the uniform which differentiates this type of prisoner from the majority of inmates who were, at the time of use, dressed in grey UK, 1950 brown cow noun an alcoholic drink made from coffee liqueur and cream or milk. It is identified in Tom Dalzell's The Slang of Sin as a 'barrel of beer' CANADA, 1998 brown crown noun a notional sign of one who has failed miserably US, 1966 brown crystal noun heroin UK, 1998 brown derby noun during the Vietnam war, a hot meal that was flown to the troops in the field US, 1991 brown dots noun a type of LSD US, 1975

brown downtown noun brown heroin US, 1992 browned off adjective 1 bored or fed-up with something or something UK, 1938. 2 depressed, angry US, 1950 brown eye noun the anus US, 1954 brown-eyed cyclops noun the anus. In Greek mythology the Cyclops were one-eyed giants; the imagery employed here is clear UK, 2002 brown eyes noun the female breasts, especially the nipples US, 1932

Brown family noun collectively, all passive participants in anal sex US, 1950 brown-hatter noun a homosexual man UK, 1930 brown helmet noun a notional sign of one who has been rejected in romance US, 1968 brownie noun 1 the anus US, 1927. 2 a sycophant. An abbreviation of BROWN NOSER US, 1993. 3 a homosexual, especially one of wealth or position US, 1916. 4 a notation of bad conduct or poor work performance; a demerit US, 1910. 5 a black person. Coincidental to the US sense (a brown-skinned Asian) UK, 2002. 6 a traffic police officer US, 1987. 7 a police radar unit used for measuring vehicle speed. An allusion to the camera brand, a metaphor for radar US, 1976. 8 in trucking, a three-speed auxiliary gearbox. Originally manufactured by the Brownlrite Transmission Company, hence the diminutive US, 1971. 9 marijuana US, 1966. 10 any amphetamine; MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Originally 'amphetamines', from the colour; hence, via confused recreational drug-users, 'ecstasy' UK, 2001. 11 an empty beer bottle NEW ZEALAND, 1979 brownie point noun an imaginary award or credit for a good deed US, 1953 brownie queen noun a male homosexual who enjoys the passive role in anal sex US, 1968 brownies noun 1 the female breasts, especially the nipples US, 1982. 2 dice that have had their spots altered for cheating. More commonly known as 'busters', which leads to the cartoon character 'Buster Brown', which leads to 'Brown' US, 1950

Browning Sister noun a male homosexual. From BROWN (anal sex). A term used in the 1940s US, 1947 brown job noun 1 a soldier. From the khaki uniform UK, 1943. 2 oral-anal sex US, 1971 brown list noun an imagined list of those in disfavour. A euphemistic SHIT LIST UK, 1998 brown lover noun a person with a fetishistic love of excrement US, 1996 brownmouth noun a talkative fool IRELAND, 1991

brown-nose verb to curry favour in a sycophantic fashion US, 1938 brown nose; brown noser noun a toady; a sycophant. Originally military US, 1938

Brown Nurses nickname Our Lady's Nurses (for the Poor), a Catholic organisation founded in 1913. From the brown uniform AUSTRALIA, 1984 brown one; brown 'un noun on the railways, a distant signal UK, 1970 brownout noun a near but not complete loss of consciousness. Not quite a 'blackout' US, 1992 brown paper noun 1 a sycophant. A logical extension of ASSWIPE US, 1968. 2 a caper in the sense of an occupation or racket. Rhyming slang UK, 1974 brown-paper roll noun a cigarette hand-rolled in brown paper BAHAMAS, 1982 brown rhine; brown rine noun heroin. From the colour and a pronunciation of 'heroin' US, 1953 broons noun the uniform issued to a prisoner on remand or awaiting deportation in borstals and detention centres. From the colour UK, 1978 brown shoes noun a person who does not use drugs US, 1970 brown shower noun an act of defecation as part of sadomasochistic sex play UK, 2003 brown slime noun a mixture of cola syrup and nutmeg, used as a substitute for drugs by the truly desperate US, 1992 brown stuff noun opium US, 1950 brown sugar noun 1 grainy, poor quality heroin US, 1971. 2 a black woman, especially a beautiful one. Originally black use only, from the skin colour and a suggestion of sweetness US, 1971. 3 by extension, a sexually desirable black man. Adopted by black women US, 1996. 4 a coarse, unrefined person AUSTRALIA, 1989 brown tape noun heroin UK, 2002 brown tongue noun an informer. The disdainful image of an informer licking the anus of authority UK, 1996 brown trousers noun extreme nervousness, fear. From the state of your trousers after an involuntary fear-induced evacuation UK, 2005 brown trout noun faeces, when thrown by prisoners from their cells onto guards US, 1992 brown underpants noun used as a symbol of extreme fear or cowardice. An image of soiled underwear UK, 1998 brown water navy noun during the Vietnam war, the US Navy presence on rivers and deltas US, 1961 brown windsor noun ▶ see: WINDSOR CASTLE brown wings noun experience of anal intercourse, or anal-oral sexual contact, considered as an achievement. Originally Hell's Angel usage; 'brown' (the colour associated with the anus) plus 'wings' (badge of honour) US, 1971

Bruce noun used as a stereotype of an effeminate male homosexual US, 1973

Bruce Lee noun an erect nipple. Clever but misinformed pun on San Francisco-born martial arts film actor Bruce Lee as a HARD (muscular) NIP (a Japanese person); in fact Bruce Lee (1940–73) was a native of Hong Kong, not Japan UK, 2002

bruck noun in western Canada, a combination bus and truck CANADA, 1961

bruckins noun a noisy, rowdy party JAMAICA, 1996

bruck-up verb to beat up. British Indian (Hindi) urban youth slang UK, 2006 brud noun used as a friendly term of address NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992 bruiser noun 1 a rugged physical specimen; a thug UK, 1742. 2 a club used for beating sediment out of sponges BAHAMAS, 1982

brukdown noun a noisy, rowdy party BELIZE, 1996 bruk up verb to thrash someone, to beat someone up. Early C21 black youth usage; an elision of 'break up' and FUCK UP (to destroy) UK, 2002 brumby noun a feral horse. Origin unknown. Various conjectures, such as an eponymous Major Brumby, or that an Aboriginal language is the source, are based on no solid evidence AUSTRALIA, 1880 brummy; brummie adjective from Birmingham, England. Both the city of Birmingham and its inhabitants can be called 'Brum'. From Brummagem; the local spelling was a phonetic reflection of the local pronunciation: 'Brummagem' = Bromwichham (after Bromwich), in turn a corruption of Brimidgeham, the old form of Birmingham. Brummagem has an obsolete sense as 'counterfeit, inferior or fake' (of coins, antiques, etc.) as Birmingham was a centre of manufacture for such articles in the C17 and C18. Also, since 1954, used as a noun UK, 1941 brush noun 1 female pubic hair AUSTRALIA, 1941. 2 a moustache US, 1824. 3 an intravenous injection of an illegal drug US, 1992. 4 a person who organises the seating for card players UK, 2003. 5 a technique for introducing altered dice into a game as the dice are passed from player to shooter. Also known as a 'brush-off' US, 1950 brush verb to introduce marked cards or loaded dice into a game US, 1993. ▶ brush your teeth and comb your hair in trucking, to slow down to the legal speed limit because of the presence of police ahead US, 1976 brush ape noun an unsophisticated rustic US, 1920 brusher; brushman noun a casino employee who tries to lure casino visitors into playing poker US, 1988 brush-off noun a rejection US, 1938

Brussels sprout; brussel noun 1 a Boy Scout, a Scout. Rhyming slang, since about 1910 UK, 1960. 2 a tout, either of the ticket or racing tipster variety. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 brutal adjective 1 extremely good, intense US, 1964. 2 terrible, very bad US, 1983 brutally adverb very US, 1995 brute noun 1 any large vehicle or vessel that is difficult to handle US, 1860. 2 in the television and film industries, a large spotlight used to simulate sunlight US, 1960 brute force noun in computing, a simplistic and unsophisticated programming style US, 1991 brute force and ignorance noun physicality applied without thought; also, a deliberate disregard for tact or delicacy. A catchphrase that means exactly what it says, usually jocular UK, 1930 bruv noun a brother; a friend; used as a friendly form of address from one man to another. A phonetic abbreviation UK, 2000 bruz noun used as a term of address, man to man US, 1958

BS noun bullshit, in all its senses. A euphemism accepted in polite society US, 1900

BS and bells noun in firefighter usage, a long period with activity US, 1954

BSH noun the average female breast. An abbreviation of BRITISH STANDARD HANDFUL, a play on BSI standards set by the British Standards Institute UK, 1977

B-squared noun a brassiere. Schoolgirl slang, presumably also written B² UK, 1971

BT noun 1 the posterior, the buttocks. By elision, a euphemism for 'bottom' UK: SCOTLAND, 1998. 2 an inhalation of marijuana smoke filtered through a water-pipe. An abbreviation of 'bong toke' US, 1997

BT Baracus noun a child who lives in a house without a phone; subsequently a child without a mobile phone. Derives from a reliance on BT (British Telecom) and a play on the character BA Baracus played by Mr T in the television adventure series The A Team, 1984–88 UK, 2004

BTI noun television interference with a citizens' band signal. An abbreviation of 'boob tube interference' US, 1976

BTM noun the posterior, the buttocks. A domestic euphemism for 'bottom' UK, 1937

BTO noun an influential and admired person. A 'big-time operator' – not without overtones of smarminess US, 1944

BTW used in computer message shorthand to mean 'by the way' US, 1991

BU noun sexual attraction. An abbreviation of 'biological urge' US, 1934

Bu; the Bu; Mother Bu nickname Malibu, California US, 1991

BUAG noun a simple drawing made with computer characters. A 'big ugly ASCII graphic' US, 1995

bub noun 1 used as a term of address, usually to a stranger and usually in a condescending tone US, 1839. 2 the female breast UK, 1826. 3 a baby AUSTRALIA, 1992. 4 a blue flashing police car light US, 1987 bubba noun 1 a stereotypical white, southern male US, 1982. 2 a friend, especially as a term of address. A variation of BROTHER US, 1983. 3 marijuana US, 1997

bubbie circus noun a chorus line or other display of multiple women with large breasts US, 1967 bubbies and cunt noun a poor woman's dowry US, 1967 bubblate verb to idle, to pass time with friends US, 2004 bubble noun 1 an informer. From rhyming slang BUBBLE AND SQUEAK (to inform) UK, 1996. 2 a glass-enclosed control panel on a vehicle of any sort US, 1983. 3 an aeroplane cockpit US, 1986. 4 in motor racing, a clear plastic dome that covers the driver US, 1965. 5 in the television and film industries, an incandescent electric light bulb US, 1960. 6 a specialisation US, 1997. 7 an instance of weeping UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. ▶ on the bubble 1 engaged in swindling as a career US, 1997. 2 in motor racing, in one of the lower spots in the qualifying stage of an event, subject to being displaced by a better performance of another car US, 1993. 3 in motor racing, the most favourable starting position (the pole position) US, 1948 bubble verb 1 to weep UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 2 to kill someone by injecting air into their veins US, 1982 bubble and squeak noun 1 an act of urination. Rhyming slang for LEAK AUSTRALIA, 2002. 2 a week. Rhyming slang UK, 1979. 3 a Greek. Rhyming slang; derogatory. Can be shortened to 'bubble', or used in the plural form 'bubbles and squeaks' to refer to Greeks and Cypriots, collectively UK, 1938 bubble and squeak; bubble; bubble up verb to inform on someone. The original rhyming slang meaning was 'to speak'; hence 'to speak about', 'to inform' UK, 1961

Bubbleberry noun in British Columbia, a hybrid variety of marijuana CANADA, 2002

bubble brain noun a distracted, unfocused person US, 1981 bubble-burner noun in trucking, an engine run on propane gas US, 1971 bubble chaser noun a bombardier on a bomber aircraft. A reference to the bubbles in the levelling device used US, 1945 bubble dance verb to wash dishes US, 1947 bubble-dancer noun a person employed as a dishwasher US, 1960 bubblegum noun 1 the posterior, the buttocks, especially of a curvaceous woman. Rhyming slang for BUM UK, 1998. 2 cocaine; crack cocaine. Probably a play on Bazooka™, a branded bubblegum, and BAZOOKA (cocaine; crack) UK, 1998. 3 a hybrid marijuana with a sweet 'pink' taste UK, 2002 bubblegum adjective unimaginative, highly commercial, insincere. Usually used to describe music US, 1963 bubble gum machine noun 1 a vehicle with flashing lights especially a police car. Sometimes shortened to 'bubble machine' US, 1968. 2 the H-13 army helicopter. Vietnam war usage US, 1968 bubblegummer noun a pre-teenager or young teenager US, 1970 bubblehead noun 1 a person whose thinking is not grounded in reality US, 1945. 2 a submariner US, 1986 bubbler noun a water tank or cooler. Korean war usage. Also heard in New South Wales and Queensland US, 1961 bubble team noun a sports team that might or might not make a play-off or be invited to a tournament US, 1989 bubble-top noun an OH-13 Sioux helicopter, used for observation, reconnaissance, and medical evacuation in the Korean war and the early years of the war in Vietnam. So named because of the distinctive plexiglas canopy US, 1984 bubble trouble noun a flat tyre or other tyre problem US, 1976 bubbling adjective (of an event) beginning to get exciting US, 2002 bubbling bundle of barometric brilliance noun used as the introduction for Bobbie the weather girl on AFVN television, Saigon, during the Vietnam war. Officially she served as a secretary for the US Agency for International Aid in Saigon from 1967 to 1969. Her unpaid weather broadcasts, which always ended with the benediction of wishing 'everyone a pleasant evening weather-wise and good wishes for other-wise,' were greatly appreciated by the men in the field US, 1990 bubbly noun champagne UK, 1920 bubbly adjective 1 cheerful, full of spirit US, 1939. 2 tearful, sulky UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 3 (used of the ocean) rough TRISTAN DA CUNHA, 1993

bubby noun the female breast. Usually in the plural UK, 1655 bubonic noun potent marijuana US, 2001 bubonic adjective potent, extreme, intense US, 1993 buccaneer noun a homosexual. Rhyming slang for QUEER UK, 1998

buccaneer adjective homosexual. Rhyming slang for QUEER UK, 1998 buck noun 1 a dollar. Originally US but applied in Hong Kong and other countries where dollars are the unit of currency US, 1856. 2 one hundred dollars; a bet of one hundred dollars US, 1973. 3 in motor racing, 100 miles per hour US, 1993. 4 a young black man. Overtly racist; an unfortunate favourite term of US President Ronald Reagan when speaking unscripted US, 1835. 5 used as a term of address. The racist implications of the word from the US are not present in the Bahamas BAHAMAS, 1982. 6 a male Australian Aboriginal. Now only in racist or historical use AUSTRALIA, 1870. 7 a male homosexual US, 1984. 8 a criminal; a hoodlum; a young ruffian. Originally Liverpool use, where it survives UK, 2001. 9 a type of homemade alcoholic drink US, 1991. 10 an attempt NEW ZEALAND, 1941. 11 in prison, a sit-down strike by the prisoners US, 1972. 12 a used car that is in very poor condition US, 1980. ► pass the buck to avoid responsibility by shifting the onus to someone else. Deriving from the game of poker US, 1912. ► the buck stops here the ultimate responsibility for whatever may be avoided by others is accepted here, or by me, or by this office. A popular catchphrase, originally coined in 1952 by US president Harry S. Truman who had it as a personal motto and displayed on his desk, just in case he forgot US, 1952 buck verb 1 to fight your way through a difficult surfing situation US, 1965. 2 in electric line work, to lower voltage US, 1980 ► see: BUCK IT. ► buck the clock; buck the calendar in oil drilling, to work hard in the hope of finishing a job by quitting time US, 1954. ► buck the tiger to play faro, a game of chance that was extremely popular in the C19 and only rarely seen in modern times US, 1849 buck adjective newly promoted, inexperienced. Military; a back-formation from now conventional 'buck private', also ranked in such company as 'buck sergeant' and 'buck general' US, 1917 buck and doe noun snow. Rhyming slang, generally as a complete rhyme on 'fuckin' snow' UK, 1992 buckaroo; buckeroo noun a proud, manly man of the Western sort, likely a cowboy US, 1827 buck cop noun a new constable in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police CANADA, 1953

bucker noun a lumberman who works on felled trees CANADA, 1989 buckeroo noun one dollar. An embellishment of BUCK US, 1942 bucket noun 1 a jail US, 1894. 2 a cell used for solitary confinement US, 1989. 3 the vagina UK, 2001. 4 the buttocks; the anus US, 1938. 5 a car US, 1939. 6 a small car US, 2000. 7 a truck with a non-roofed container UK, 1981. 8 in hot rodding, the body of a roadster, especially one from the 1920s US, 1965. 9 an engine cylinder US, 1971. 10 in pool, a pocket that appears receptive to balls dropping US, 1988. 11 an impressive quantity of alcoholic drinks. From the original sense (a single glass of spirits) UK, 1985. ► have a bucketful said of a racehorse that has been fed heavily before a race to decrease its chances of winning US, 1951 bucket verb 1 to denigrate someone or something AUSTRALIA, 1974. 2 to throw something out, to throw something in the bin UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 bucket-a-drop adverb (of rain) falling heavily GRENADA, 1996 bucket and pail; bucket noun a jail. Rhyming slang US, 1894 bucket bong; bucket noun a water-pipe improvised using a bucket of water and a plastic bottle used for smoking marijuana. A combination of conventional 'bucket' and BONG (a water-pipe) AUSTRALIA, 1994 bucket gunner noun in carnival usage, a person who from a hidden location operates the mechanisms that determine a game's outcome US, 1981 bucket head noun a socially inept person US, 1906 bucket job noun an intentional loss in an athletic contest US, 1955 bucketload noun a great amount UK, 1994 bucket mouth noun in trucking, a trucker who monopolises conversation on the citizens' band radio US, 1976 bucket of blood noun a bar or dance hall where hard drinking and hard fighting go hand in hand US, 1915 bucket of bolts noun a dilapidated car, truck, boat or plane US, 1942 bucket of steam noun a mythical task for a newly hired helper on a job US, 1963 bucket shop noun an investment office that swindles its clients US, 1879 bucket worker noun a swindler US, 1949 buck fever noun in shuffleboard, the anxiety often experienced on the last shot US, 1967 buck for verb to energetically strive towards promotion, honours or some other target of personal ambition or recognition UK, 1979 buck general noun a brigadier general US, 1947 buck it; buck verb in craps, to roll a number that has previously been rolled US, 1974

buckle verb ► buckle for your dust in the Vietnam war, to fight with spirit and determination, thus winning the respect of fellow soldiers US, 1991

buckle bunny noun a woman who seeks short-term sexual liaisons with rodeo cowboys US, 1978 bucklebuster noun a line in a performance that is guaranteed to produce loud laughter US, 1973 buckled adjective 1 ugly US, 1993. 2 drunk UK, 2002 buckle my shoe noun a Jewish person. Most rhyming slang for 'Jew' uses 'two'; this term takes a traditional nursery-rhyme: 'one, two / buckle my shoe' UK, 1977

Buckley's chance; Buckley's hope; Buckley's noun no chance at all. Thought to be named after William Buckley, an escaped convict, but the fact that he evaded capture by living with Aborigines for 32 years would rather imply that Buckley's chance should be very good. The ironic phrase 'You've got two chances: Buckley's and none!' is perhaps punningly connected with the name of a former Melbourne firm 'Buckley and Nunn' AUSTRALIA, 1895 bucko noun 1 a man, especially an unrefined or crude man US, 1883. 2 used as a term of address to a man. Slightly derisive, or at least kidding. From the C19 sense (a blustering bully) UK, 1890 buck-passer noun anyone who avoids a personal responsibility by shifting the onus onto someone else. From PASS THE BUCK US, 1933 buck-passing noun an avoidance of responsibility by shifting the onus to someone else. From PASS THE BUCK US, 1933

buckra noun a white person US, 1787 buck rat noun the epitome of physical fitness NEW ZEALAND, 1958

Buck Rogers gun noun an M-3 Tommy gun US, 1947 bucks noun ► the bucks a lot of money US, 1992

Bucks noun Buckinghamshire. A spoken form of the conventional written abbreviation, considered colloquial when used in speech as a genuine equivalent of the original name UK, 1937 buckshee noun something above a usual amount that is given for free. Originally from the British Army in Egypt and India, ultimately from Persian. Occasionally used in the plural. Variant spellings include 'bucksheesh', 'buckshish', 'backsheesh', 'backshish', 'bakshee', 'baksheesh' and 'bakshish' UK, 1916 buckshee adjective 1 free, spare, extra UK, 1916. 2 worthless CANADA, 1995. 3 of a local non-commissioned officer, with rank but no additional pay AUSTRALIA, 1959 buck slip noun a form used for intra-office handwritten communications; officially a Routing and Transmittal Slip, Optional Form 41 US, 1986 buck's party noun a party or outing that is exclusively male; now especially an all-male pre-wedding party thrown for the groom AUSTRALIA, 1918 bucks up adjective in drag racing, winning and making money US, 1968 buckwheat noun 1 an unsophisticated rustic US, 1866. 2 a black male US, 1978 buckwheat farmer noun an unsuccessful, incompetent farmer CANADA, 1944 buckwheats noun 1 abuse, persecution US, 1942. 2 diminution of power or standing in an organised crime enterprise US, 1964 buck willy adjective uninhibited, rowdy, drunk US, 2002 bucky noun 1 a shotgun US, 1995. 2 a home-made gun JAMAICA, 2000 bud noun 1 the flower of the marijuana plant; hence marijuana US, 1978. 2 a girl US, 1965. 3 the female nipple US, 1990. 4 a friend, a buddy US, 1935. 5 used as a term of address, usually male-to-male UK, 1614. 6 the penis BAHAMAS, 1982

Bud noun Budweiser™ beer; a Budweiser™ beer US, 2000 bud verb to subject a boy to his first homosexual experience UK, 1987 budded; budded out adjective intoxicated on marijuana US, 1997 buddha noun 1 a type of LSD identified by a representation of Buddha UK, 2004. 2 a marijuana cigarette embellished with crack cocaine US, 1989. 3 potent marijuana, usually of Asian origin. Also spelt 'buddah' or 'buda' US, 1988 buddhaed adjective intoxicated on marijuana US, 1997

Buddha grass noun marijuana. Vietnam war usage US, 1975

Buddhahead noun a Japanese person. Offensive US, 1945

Buddha stick noun marijuana from Thailand packaged for transport and sale on a small stick US, 1982

Buddha zone noun death; the afterlife. Vietnam war usage; just a bit cynical US, 1991

Buddhist priest! used as a mock profanity to express surprise, disgust or annoyance during the war in Vietnam. A region-appropriate evolution of JUDAS PRIEST! US, 1991 buddy noun 1 a companion, a friend. A colloquial usage that is probably derived from 'brother' US, 1850. 2 a fellow citizens' band radio user. Citizens' band radio slang, adopted from the more general sense as 'a fellow, a man'; often used as 'good buddy' US, 1976. 3 in homosexual culture, a good friend who may or may not be a lover US, 1972. 4 a volunteer companion to a person with AIDS US, 1984. 5 a marijuana cigarette US, 1991. 6 a beer US, 1994 buddy-buddy adjective friendly US, 1944 buddy check noun a last-minute inspection of a parachutist's gear by his jump partner US, 2000 buddy-fuck verb (of a male) to steal a friend's date US, 1966 buddy gee noun a close friend US, 1973

Buddy Holly noun money. Rhyming slang for LOLLY, formed from the name of the US singer, 1936–59 UK, 2004 buddy poker noun a game of poker in which two friends are playing as partners, but not in collusion US, 1968 buddyro; buddyroo noun a pal; used as a term of address for a friend US, 1951 buddy system noun during the Korean war, a plan teaming American and Korean soldiers in the hope of providing one-on-one mentoring and training US, 1968 buddy window noun a hole between private video booths in a pornography arcade designed for sexual contact where none is officially permitted US, 1996 budge noun in the language of pickpockets, the front trouser pocket US, 1949 budget adjective below expectations, disappointing US, 1986 budgie noun 1 a budgerigar, a small parrot native to inland Australia and a common cage bird AUSTRALIA, 1935. 2 a talkative man, especially one of small stature; a small-time police-informer. From a passing similarity to a budgerigar's characteristics. The television drama Budgie, 1971–72, starred Adam Faith as the epitome of all of the above definition. It is difficult to tell whether the television programme created or popularised this usage UK, 1977. 3 the time. Used by miners, usually in the form of a question UK, 1970. 4 a hippie who moved back to the land in Slocan Valley, British Columbia CANADA, 1989 budgie-smugglers noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 2002 budgie's tongue noun the clitoris, especially when erect. From the visual similarity UK, 2002 budgy adjective chubby US, 1971 bud head noun 1 a beer drinker. Not confined to drinkers of Budweiser™ beer US, 1972. 2 a frequent marijuana user US, 1997 budli-budli noun 1 anal sex. From Urdu badli (to change) INDIA, 1961. 2 a homosexual man UK, 1998 bud mud noun diarrhoea from drinking too much beer. An allusion to Budweiser™ beer US, 1997 buds noun 1 small female breasts US, 1967. 2 marijuana, especially the most psychoactive part of the plant. Also spelled 'budz' US, 1997 bud sesh noun an informal gathering for the social consumption of marijuana. Punning on BUDDY/BUD plus 'session' US, 2005 budsky noun used as a term of address. A meaninglessly decorative 'buddy' US, 1984

Budweiser crest; Budweiser label noun the emblem of the Navy SEALs (the sea, air and land team) US, 1992

buf; buff noun any large military aircraft like a Grumman A-6, a Boeing B-52, and a Sikorsky CH-33, especially the B-52

Stratofortress. An abbreviation of 'big ugly fat fucker' or, in polite company, 'fellow' US, 1968

BUFE; buffy noun a ceramic elephant, ubiquitous in souvenir shops in Vietnam during the war. An initialism and acronym created from 'big ugly fucking elephant' US, 1973 buff noun 1 an enthusiast, especially a knowledgeable enthusiast, a specialist. Originally 'an enthusiast about going to fires', Webster, 1934, from the buff uniform of New York's volunteer firemen. The sense has gradually generalised until the field of interest has, in all cases, to be specified US, 1903. 2 a fart. Echoic UK, 1965. 3 a workout with weights US, 1989. 4 a water buffalo US, 1977. ► in the buff naked UK, 1602 buff verb 1 to erase graffiti US, 1995. 2 in hospital usage, to make notations in a patient's chart that makes the patient look better than they are and ready for the next stage of their care US, 1994. ► buff the banana (of a male) to masturbate US, 2001 buff adjective 1 handsome, excellent US, 1982. 2 (of a young woman) sexually attractive. Current in south London UK, 2003. 3 (used of a body) well-toned, well-exercised US, 1982 buffalo noun 1 an American Indian male with especially long hair US, 1963. 2 a five-cent piece. From the engraving on the coin US, 1945. 3 the CV-7, a military transport aircraft built by DeHavilland Aircraft of Canada US, 1991 buffalo verb to confuse someone, to intimidate someone US, 1960 buffalo bagels! used for expressing disapproval. A signature line of Colonel Sherman Potter on *M*A*S*H* (CBS, 1972–83). Repeated with referential humour US, 1972 buffalo gun noun a large calibre gun. Korean war usage US, 1989 buffarilla noun an ugly girl. A blend of 'buffalo' and 'gorilla' US, 1968 buff book noun a magazine catering to enthusiasts of a particular hobby or pastime US, 1993 buffed; buffed up adjective muscular; in very good physical condition US, 1995 buffer noun 1 a pleasant, foolish old man; a man. From French buffon (a jester). As 'buffer' since 1749 but in the latter-half of C20 it seems to survive only as 'old buffer'. Modern usage implies a tolerant attitude to the subject UK, 1749. 2 in the world of crack cocaine users, a woman who will perform oral sex in exchange for crack cocaine or the money to buy it US, 1992 buffers noun the female breasts US, 1964 buffet flat noun a party held to raise rent money US, 1982 buff up verb to engage in strenuous exercise with a goal of body conditioning US, 2000 buff noun a male homosexual. An abbreviation of BUTTFUCKER US, 1982 bug noun 1 a hidden microphone or listening device US, 1956. 2 in the television and film industries, a small earphone used by a sound mixer US, 1977. 3 any unspecified virus UK, 1919. 4 a malfunction in design, especially of a computer or computer software US, 1878. 5 a sociopathic criminal US, 1987. 6 a burglar alarm US, 1926. 7 an illegal numbers lottery US, 1963. 8 in poker, a joker played as an ace or a wild card to complete a flush or straight US, 1967. 9 an enthusiastic interest; a popular craze UK, 1902. 10 a Bugatti sports car US, 1965. 11 a Volkswagen car. A VW BEETLE is the eponymous hero of the Disney film The Love Bug, 1969 US, 1976. 12 a chameleon. Circus and carnival slang US, 1973. 13 in horse racing, a weight handicap US, 1941. 14 in electric line work, a transformer US, 1980. 15 a torch. Circus and carnival usage US, 1980. ► have a bug up your ass to be annoyed or angry US, 1949. ► put a bug in someone's ear to hint at something US, 1905. ► the bug malaria US, 1947

Bug nickname the Green Hornet Tavern in Pointe Claire, Quebec CANADA, 2002

bug verb 1 to bother someone, to annoy someone US, 1947. 2 to panic, to be anxious US, 1988. 3 to watch something US, 1952. 4 to talk and act in a disassociated, irrational way while under the influence of crack cocaine US, 1992. 5 to confine someone in a psychiatric ward US, 1992. 6 to arm something with an alarm US, 1919. 7 to attach or install a listening device US, 1919. 8 among vagrant alcoholics, to attack someone with bricks, bottles and boots UK, 1966. 9 to dance US, 1968 bugaboo noun an imagined object of terror UK, 1740 bugaboos noun nasal mucus BARBADOS, 1965

bugas noun a pair of trainers (sneakers) JAMAICA, 1998

bug bag noun a sleeping bag CANADA, 1957 bug boy noun in horse racing, a jockey who has not yet won a race and who is given a five-pound weight allowance. Because of the 'bug' or asterisk denoting the jockey's status in the racing programme US, 1968 bug buster noun a physician specialising in infectious diseases US, 1985 bug catcher noun in drag racing, an air scoop that forces air into the carburettor US, 1970 bug collectors noun in motorcycle racing, unbreakable goggles US, 1973 bug doctor noun a psychiatrist US, 1951 bug dope noun insect repellent US, 1993 bug eye noun 1 in television and film-making, a fisheye lens US, 1987. 2 an Austin-Healy Sprite US, 1992 bug flea noun an epidemiologist specialising in infectious diseases US, 1994 bugfuck adjective deranged, out of control US, 1994 buggalugs noun used as a term of address. A variation of BUGGERLUGS NEW ZEALAND, 2002 bugged adjective 1 angry US, 1956. 2 mentally unbalanced, crazy. Often used as 'bugged-out' UK, 2001. 3 covered with sores and abscesses from septic injection of a narcotic. Drug addicts' use UK, 1978 bugged up adjective anxious, nervous US, 1949 bugger noun 1 a person who takes part in anal sex. A perfectly correct usage in legalese, otherwise considered vulgar UK, 1555. 2 a disagreeable person; often used as a term of abuse UK, 1719. 3 a person, a regular fellow UK, 1830. 4 an unpleasant, very difficult or dangerous thing, project, episode, circumstance; a nuisance UK, 1918. ► give a bugger to care, generally in a negative context UK, 1922 bugger verb 1 to play the active role in anal sex UK, 1598. 2 to bungle something, to ruin something US, 1847. ► be buggered used for dismissing the sense of a word repeated from a preceding statement UK, 2001

bugger! used as an expletive UK, 1923 bugger about; bugger around verb 1 to waste time UK, 1923. 2 to meander, to wander pointlessly around UK, 1923. 3 to inconvenience or make difficulties for someone UK, 1957. 4 to be unfaithful to your wife, or husband, etc. Whilst the act may well remain the same the sense here is not to commit adultery with someone but, rather, is defined in terms of the person spurned CANADA, 1980. 5 to fiddle with something or someone; to caress or interfere with someone UK, 1937 bugger all; sweet bugger all noun nothing whatsoever UK, 1918 buggerama! used for expressing self-deprecating distress NEW ZEALAND, 1998 buggeration! used as an expletive. An elaboration of BUGGER! UK, 1988 buggeration factor noun any unforeseen hazard that complicates a proposed course of action. Originally military UK, 1981 bugger-bafflers noun side-vents at the bottom rear of a man's jacket. Tailors' usage UK, 1971 buggered adjective 1 damned UK, 1937. 2 very drunk UK, 2005 ► see: BUGGERED UP; BUGGERED

buggered if I know! used as a profession of absolute ignorance UK, 1984 buggered up; buggered adjective exhausted, broken UK, 1923 bugger for noun a person who is energetically committed to a subject noun, e.g. 'a bugger for work', 'a bugger for women' UK, 1970 bugger-grips; bugger's grips noun side-whiskers, especially when generously proportioned. Originally naval; the image is of a convenient pair of grips for a sodomiser to hold on to during anal sex UK, 1967 bugger-in-a-bag noun around Cascapedia Bay, a fruit pudding in an oiled, floured bag to make it waterproof CANADA, 1998

buggerise about; buggerise around verb to fool about AUSTRALIA, 1953

bugger it! used as an expletive. A variation of BUGGER! UK, 1961 buggerlugs noun used as a form of friendly address. Originally nautical, used between men UK, 1934

bugger me! used as an expletive UK, 1981 bugger me backwards! used for registering surprise or exasperation. An elaboration on BUGGER ME! UK, 2000 bugger me dead! used for registering surprise AUSTRALIA, 1971

bugger me gently! used for registering surprise. In the late 1980s and early 90s, this exclamation was very much associated with the character Lizzie Birdsworth in the Australian television drama series, Prisoner Cell Block H UK, 1984 bugger off verb to leave, to go UK, 1922 bugger sideways verb to defeat someone, to confound someone. Often used as a personal exclamation: 'bugger me sideways!' UK, 2002

bugger sugar noun cocaine UK, 2003

bugger that for a joke! used as an expression of disbelief NEW ZEALAND, 1949

bugger this for a game of soldiers!; bugger that for a game of soldiers! 'no chance'; used as an emphatic dismissal of any activity or notion that you have no wish to subscribe to. A variation of SOD THIS FOR A GAME OF SOLDIERS!, FUCK THIS FOR A GAME OF SOLDIERS!, etc UK, 1998

bugger up verb to spoil something; to ruin something; to exhaust something UK, 1937

buggery noun hell. A substitute for 'hell' in strong phrases of rejection, ruination and disapproval. Used in phrases such as 'like buggery' (vigorously: 1937), 'go to buggery!' (go away!: 1966) or 'is it buggery!' (not likely!: 1984) UK, 1898. ► to buggery; all to buggery in a state of ruination or destruction UK, 1923. ► will I buggery! used as an expression of strong disagreement. Often applied in the third person: 'will he buggery!', 'will they buggery!' UK, 1961 buggery adjective used as an intensifier. On the model of BLOODY UK, 1992

buggery bollocks! used for registering annoyance UK, 1992 bugger you! used for registering anger towards someone UK, 1887 bugging noun an instance of attacking someone with violence UK, 1966 bugging adjective 1 disappointed, let down US, 1996. 2 crazy US, 1995 buggy noun 1 a car. Unavoidably, if not deliberately, folksy US, 1926. 2 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1899 buggy adjective silly, insane, or inbetween US, 1902 buggy whip noun a long radio antenna on a car or truck US, 1962 bug hole noun a run-down, disreputable theatre US, 1952 bughouse noun a mental hospital US, 1899

bughouse adjective insane, mad US, 1894 bug joint noun a premises that is infested with insects UK, 1966

bug juice noun 1 an insect repellent. The term was coined in World War 2 and has been used since. In Vietnam, there was no shortage of bugs or 'bug juice', which was also used to light fires, clean weapons and heat cans of c-rations US, 1944. 2 Kool-Aid™ (a fruit drink made from a powder to which you add water), or a sugary, powdered, artificially flavoured Kool-Aid-like drink. Coined in World War 2, popular in Vietnam, and the title and subject of a rousing Girl Scout song sung to the tune of 'On Top of Old Smokey' US, 1946. 3 medication given to those with mental disorders US, 2002. 4 any antibiotic US, 1985. 5 an opiate or other depressant used as knock-out drops US, 1949. 6 cheap alcohol. Originally just meaning

'whisky' but, over time, less discerning US, 1863. 7 in aviation, propeller de-icing fluid. US Air Force use US, 1945. 8 tear gas US, 1950 bugle noun 1 the nose US, 1865. 2 cocaine. Adapted from the previous sense, which is the favoured point of entry for most cocaine UK, 1997. 3 the erect penis IRELAND, 1991 bug off; bug off verb to go away. A broadcastable euphemism for BUGGER OFF UK, 1976 bug-out noun 1 any hasty retreat; a dramatic evasive manoeuvre used by fighter pilots US, 1957. 2 a lively, wild time US, 1995 bug out verb 1 to flee US, 1950. 2 to go insane US, 1961 bugout unit noun a military unit with a reputation for running under fire. Korean war usage US, 1982 bug rake noun a comb. Juvenile; certainly since the 1950s, probably earlier UK, 1983 bug roost noun a hotel catering to oil field workers US, 1954 bug run noun a parting in the hair UK, 1948 bugs noun biology. School use UK, 1963 bugs adjective crazy US, 1903

Bugs Bunny adjective funny. Prison rhyming slang NEW ZEALAND, 1997

Bugs Bunny; bugs; bugsy noun money. Rhyming slang, based on the name of the Warner Brothers' animated cartoon character AUSTRALIA, 1989 bug ship noun during the Vietnam war, a Bell UH-1H Huey helicopter converted to spray the chemical defoliant Agent Orange US, 1991

bugsmasher noun a Beech C-47 Expeditor, a military transport plane used from World War 2 until early in the Vietnam war US, 1991 bug splat noun the limited devastation of targeted bombing US, 2003 bug test noun a psychological fitness test US, 1992 bug torch noun a railway lantern US, 1975

buh-bye goodbye. From a Saturday Night Live skit teasing the formulaic way in which flight attendants wish farewell to air passengers as they leave the plane US, 1996 build verb 1 to serve time in prison US, 1967. 2 to construct a marijuana cigarette. A variant is 'build up' UK, 1994. ► build a fire to operate a diesel truck at top speed US, 1971. ► build that bridge to get over something that took place in the past US, 1995 builder noun a bodybuilder US, 1984 building noun ► on the building in the building trade UK, 1959 build-up noun in horse racing, betting at the track designed to increase the odds on a bet made away from the track US, 1960

bukkake noun a photograph or video depicting multiple men ejaculating onto a single woman. Japanese slang meaning 'splash' used by English-speakers with no further knowledge of Japanese; a popular fetish in the US and UK. The prototype video shows a pretty young girl kneeling at the centre of a room with many men (up to several hundred) masturbating off camera and ejaculating on her with no further sexual contact US, 2000 bukuso'clock noun in the evening SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 bulb noun the core of a capsule of drugs US, 1971 bulb snatcher noun an electrician, especially one engaged in bulb replacement US, 1974 bulge noun 1 the male genitals, especially as may be hinted at or imagined when dressed UK, 2002. 2 a lead. Sports usage, describing team standings US, 1951 bulk noun ► in bulk; in baulk; in balk unable to do anything, especially as a result of laughter; disabled. From 'balk' (an area of a snooker or billiards table) suggesting 'out of play' UK, 1937 bulk adjective large in amount or quantity AUSTRALIA, 1977

bulk adverb many, much. 1987 bulkhead verb to speak disparagingly in a voice intended to be overheard US, 1863

bulkie noun in Boston, a sandwich roll US, 1997 bull noun 1 nonsense. An abbreviation of BULLSHIT US, 1902. 2 a police officer, especially a detective; a prison guard US, 1893. 3 an aggressive, mannish lesbian US, 1967. 4 in prison, a person who can withstand physical hardship US, 1990. 5 a wharf labourer unfairly favoured for employment AUSTRALIA, 1957. 6 an aggressive poker bettor US, 1988. 7 in the circus, an elephant, male or female US, 1921. 8 a battle tank US, 1976. 9 in a deck of playing cards, an ace US, 1963

▷ see: BULLDYKE

bull verb 1 to polish something, especially boots; hence, to clean a uniform, kit or quarters. A variant is 'bull up'. Services usage since 1950, possibly earlier UK, 1950. 2 to lie; to pretend; to distort the truth or exaggerate; to tell tall stories AUSTRALIA, 1954. 3 to take the active role in homosexual anal sex; to be a homosexual BARBADOS, 1987. 4 in poker, to bluff repeatedly, betting in amounts designed to drive other players out of hands simply by virtue of the size of the bet US, 1963 bull adjective when describing a military rank, full. Korean war usage US, 1973 bull! used as an expression of utter disbelief, often surprised or contemptuous disbelief. A euphemistic shortening of BULLSHIT AUSTRALIA, 1964

Bullamakanka noun an imaginary remote place AUSTRALIA, 1953 bull and cow noun an argument, a disturbance. Rhyming slang for 'row' UK, 1859 bull and pants noun trousers. Rhyming slang for 'pants' AUSTRALIA, 1961 bull artist noun a person who habitually lies or exaggerates US, 1918 bullcrap noun nonsense. A slightly euphemised BULLSHIT US, 1935 bulldag verb to perform oral sex on a woman US, 1954 bulldagger noun a lesbian with masculine affectations and mannerisms. A variant of BULLDYKE US, 1929 bull derm noun any low grade of tobacco issued by the state to prisoners. A corruption of Bull Durham™, an RJ Reynolds tobacco brand US, 2001 bulldog noun 1 the earliest edition of a morning newspaper US, 1886. 2 a Mack™ truck. From the company's logo US, 1971. 3 in electric line work, a wire grip used for holding a conductor under tension US, 1980 bulldog verb 1 to turn a safe upside down and use an explosive to open it from the bottom US, 1949. 2 (used of a professional insider in horse racing) to falsely claim to have given good information in a completed race US, 1968. 3 in the illegal production of alcohol, to sweat whisky out of used barrel staves US, 1974. 4 to intimidate someone verbally and/or physically US, 1992 bulldog nose noun a severe case of gonorrhea. A truly hideous image US, 1967 bulldoze verb to coerce, to bully or to intimidate someone, especially to further political ends. By back-formation from conventional 'bulldozer' (a heavy caterpillar tractor for removing obstacles) US, 1876 bulldozer noun a poker player whose aggressive betting is not contingent upon holding a good hand US, 1988 bull dust noun nonsense, rubbish. A euphemism for BULLSHIT, but based on the Australian English term 'bulldust' (fine powdery dirt or sand as found in a stockyard) AUSTRALIA, 1951 bulldust verb to lie; to pretend; to distort the truth or exaggerate; to tell tall stories AUSTRALIA, 1967 bulldike; bulldike; bull noun a lesbian with masculine affectations and mannerisms US, 1931 bulldiker; bulldiker noun a lesbian with masculine affectations and mannerisms. A variant of BULLDYKE US, 1906 buller noun a male homosexual BARBADOS, 1996 bullet noun 1 one year of a prison sentence US, 1967. 2 in cards, an ace US, 1807. 3 a portion of marijuana wrapped in plastic or tinfoil NEW ZEALAND, 1979. 4 a quart bottle of beer, especially of Budweiser™ beer US, 1967. 5 a capsule of secobarbital sodium (trade name Seconal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1972. 6 a device that delivers a measured quantity of powdered drug for inhalation

UK, 1999. 7 a narcotic suppository US, 1984. 8 a rivet US, 1960. 9 a short surfboard with a rounded nose US, 1991. 10 in skateboarding, a riding position: crouching low on the board with arms outstretched US, 1976. 11 a single spurt of semen during male ejaculation. Plays on SHOOT (to ejaculate) US, 1966. 12 dismissal from employment UK, 1841. 13 a rejection letter US, 1982. ► put a bullet in Rover to stop talking and start listening US, 1992. ► with a bullet advancing up the popular music charts. From the typographical symbol that indicates the tune's progress US, 1980 bullet bag noun a condom. Combines BULLET (an ejaculation of semen) with a suitable carrier/container UK, 1998 bullet lane noun the passing lane on a motorway US, 1976 bulletproof adjective 1 invulnerable, irrefutable UK, 1961. 2 in computing, able to withstand any change or external stimulus US, 1991 bullet-stopper noun a soldier in the infantry US, 1998 bull feathers noun nonsense. A euphemism for BULLSHIT US, 1971

bullfighter noun an empty railway carriage US, 1946 bull fries noun the cooked testicles of castrated bulls. More commonly known in the US as 'prairie oysters' CANADA, 1987 bullfrog verb in craps, to make a bet on a single roll of the dice US, 1983 bullfucker noun a liar; used as a friendly form of address to a fellow. Blends BULLSHITTER (a liar) and MOTHERFUCKER (a person) US, 1979 bull gang noun a large work crew, especially of unskilled workers US, 1954 bull goose noun 1 a railway yardmaster US, 1977. 2 by extension, the person in charge of any situation US, 1932 bullhead noun an extremely large penis US, 1973 bull horrors noun the terror of the police felt by a drug addict US, 1927 bullia capital noun crack cocaine UK, 1998 bulling adjective 1 very good US, 1953. 2 enraged IRELAND, 1998 bullion noun crack cocaine UK, 1998 bull it through verb to accomplish something by sheer strength rather than by skill and planning, especially of an outdoor task CANADA, 1961 bull jive noun 1 insincere talk US, 1971. 2 marijuana that has been adulterated with catnip or another leaf-like substance US, 1973 bull juice noun condensed milk. Mainly nautical use UK, 1961 bull-moose noun a huge, powerful man; hence, a foreman US, c.1940 bull night noun an evening on which recruits and trainees are confined to barracks to prepare for an inspection the following day. Military, based on BULL (to polish, to clean) UK, 1984 bull nun noun a monk CANADA, 1960

bullo noun nonsense. An elaboration of BULL AUSTRALIA, 1942 bullock verb 1 to work tirelessly. Adopting the characteristic from the beast AUSTRALIA, 1875. 2 to use an inner strength and determination in order to get your way or follow your ambition. A figurative use of the previous sense AUSTRALIA, 1930 bullocking adjective strong and aggressive in attack. From an earlier sense of the word (hard physical work) NEW ZEALAND, 1959 bullock's blood noun a drink of rum mixed in strong ale UK, 1949 bullocky noun beef. Pidgin AUSTRALIA, 1839 bull of the woods noun 1 a college official such as a dean US, 1947. 2 in oil drilling, an important company official US, 1954. 3 on the railways, a carriage shop foreman US, 1968 bullpen noun 1 a holding cell in a courtroom or a jail US, 1880. 2 an open area in an office with desks US, 1983. 3 in a nightclub, chairs without tables for patrons who want only to listen to the music US, 1956. 4 a room where a work crew congregates US, 1946 bull prick noun in oil drilling, an elevator pin US, 1954 bullpup noun 1 a target pistol, especially one with an elaborate stock US, 1957. 2 the air-to-ground missile (AGM) carried on fighter jets US, 1991 bull ring noun 1 a strongly-muscled anus; in terms of anal intercourse, a virgin anus. Homosexual use UK, 2003. 2 in motor racing, an oval track US, 1965. 3 in horse racing, a small track US, 1976 bullring camp noun a homosexual male brothel UK, 1987 bullringer noun on the railways, a yard pointsman US, 1990 bulls noun nonsense. A shortening of BULLSHIT AUSTRALIA, 1969 bull-scare verb (used of the police) to frighten or intimidate someone without arresting them US, 1971 bull session noun an informal group discussion US, 1919 bull's eye noun 1 a powerful, focused torch US, 1992. 2 fifty pounds (£50). From the score at darts UK, 1997 bullsh noun nonsense, rubbish. A euphemistic shortening of BULLSHIT AUSTRALIA, 1919

bullshipper noun an oilfield worker from Oklahoma US, 1954 bullshit noun nonsense US, 1914 bullshit verb to deceive someone, to fool someone US, 1937 bullshit! nonsense!, rubbish! AUSTRALIA, 1985

bullshit artist noun a person who habitually lies or exaggerates US, 1942 bullshit-ass adjective rubbishy, awful. Combines bullshit (nonsense) with -ASS (an intensifier for the preceding adjective) US, 2002 bullshit baffles brains used to describe the defeat of logic by a convincing argument. Originally military, probably from World War 2, this catchphrase even gave rise to the Pig Latin excrementum vincit cerebellum UK, 1995 bullshit black noun the flat black paint often found on a used car's chassis US, 1962 bullshit bomber noun a plane used in a propaganda-dropping operation US, 1980 bullshit rich adjective very rich. A gem from the slang of miners US, 1994

Bullshit Tax nickname the Canadian Blended Sales Tax (BST), as the Goods and Services Tax was known at first in the Maritime provinces. The introduction of this national tax in 1990 provoked protests, and the parody of the acronym BST in the Maritimes actually caused the government to change it to the HST (Harmonized Sales Tax) CANADA, 1990 bullshitter noun a liar, a braggart, a bluffer US, 1933

Bullshit Towers noun the control tower of an aerodrome CANADA, 1995

bullskate verb to pretend, to deceive someone, to brag. A euphemism for BULLSHIT US, 1947 bull's nose noun on the railways, a goods wagon coupler US, 1975 bull's wool noun any stolen goods US, 1945 bullsworth noun in circus usage, a lie US, 1981 bully noun a bulldozer NEW ZEALAND, 1981 bully adjective excellent UK, 1599 bully beef noun a senior prison-officer; a prison officer. Rhyming slang for 'chief' UK, 1958 bully beef adjective deaf. Rhyming slang, depending on Scottish pronunciation UK, 1967 bully club noun a police baton US, 1963 bully for you! excellent; good for you! Originally sincere, now ironic or jocular US, c. 1788 bullyon noun cannabis resin and herbal marijuana. A misspelling of 'bouillon', a thin clear soup similar in appearance to marijuana tea, commercially available as small cubes which resemble blocks of HASH UK, 2003 bully stick noun a police baton US, 1990 bullywhack verb to lie or at least exaggerate CANADA, 1987 bulrush noun a paint brush. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 bully noun an ambulance UK, 1988 bum noun 1 the buttocks; occasionally and specifically, the anus, the rectum. A good Middle English word that survived in conventional usage until the late C18. The etymology is very uncertain; possibly from Italian bum (the sound of an explosion), and it is suggested (elsewhere) that 'bum' is echoic of buttocks slapping a flat surface. What is certain is that it is now in semi-conventional currency. It is not an abbreviation of BOTTOM which is a much later coinage UK, 1387. 2 a bag in which classified documents which are to be destroyed are placed US, 1986. 3 a lazy person; a beggar; a vagrant US, 1864. 4 a boaster, a braggart UK; SCOTLAND, 1985. ► give your bum an airing to use the lavatory UK, 1984. ► on the bum 1 living as a beggar US, 1907. 2 (of machinery) not working, broken, not operating correctly CANADA, 1961. ► take it up the bum to take the passive role in anal intercourse UK, 2003 bum verb 1 to engage in anal intercourse. From BUM (the buttocks, the bottom); possibly playing on the phrase 'bum a fag' (to scrounge a cigarette) which can be understood to mean 'sodomise a gay man' UK, 1999. 2 to beg; to borrow something without the expectation of returning it US, 1857. 3 to feel poorly or depressed US, 1989. 4 to have a bad experience with a hallucinogenic drug US, 1972. 5 in computing, to improve something by removing or rearranging it US, 1983. 6 to wander, to idle, to live as a vagrant AUSTRALIA, 1933. 7 to boast, to brag. Also used as 'bum up' UK, 1937. ► bum your chaff; bum your chat; bum your load to tell a tall story to impress or convince someone UK, 1937 bum adjective 1 injured, damaged, faulty US, 1902. 2 inferior, bad, of poor-quality US, 1859 bum about; bum around verb to wander or live idly US, 1926 bumba; bumbo noun the anus or vagina JAMAICA, 1980 bum bandit noun a male homosexual UK, 1983 bum-beef verb to frame an innocent person US, 1968 bum bend noun an unpleasant experience under the influence of a hallucinogen US, 1971 bumbershoot noun an umbrella US, 1896 bumble bee noun 1 a motor cycle, especially a two-stroke model. Citizens' band radio slang, after the US sense (1976) as a 'two-stroke/two-cycle engine'; in both cases an allusion to the sound of the motor UK, 1981. 2 any two-cycle engine US, 1971. 3 an amphetamine tablet US, 1980 bumbled up adjective drunk to the point of passing out US, 1968 bumblee noun 1 a small car not built in the US. Dismissive, vaguely jingoistic; of the era when American-made cars dominated the market in the US but the influx of foreign-made cars had begun US, 1968. 2 in Passaic, New Jersey, a police officer US, 2000

Bumblefuck noun any remote, small town US, 1989 bumblepuppy noun in poker, an inexperienced and/or unskilled player. Originally from the game of whist UK, 1884 bumbo noun whisky AUSTRALIA, 1942 ► see: BUMBA

bumboclot; bumboclaat; bamb'clat; bumbaclaat noun 1 a sanitary towel; a cloth for wiping faeces. West Indian and UK black patois, literally 'bottom-cloth'. There is a, possibly disingenuous, belief amongst some Jamaicans that Bumbo was a king of Africa JAMAICA, 1980. 2 used as direct abuse or as an intensifier. West Indian and UK black patois. Can also be used as an exclamation to register shock, surprise or anger UK, 1994 bum boy noun 1 a homosexual male, especially a youthful, sexually inexperienced male who is the object of an older homosexual's desire UK, 1929. 2 a sycophant UK, 1929 bumbrella noun an umbrella US, 1896 bum bud noun inferior marijuana US, 1993 bum-bum noun the buttocks TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 bum-bust verb to arrest someone on false or non-existent charges US, 1977 bumbye; bumai adverb sometime soon. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 bum chum noun a passive homosexual male AUSTRALIA, 1972 bum crumb noun a small lump of excrement that clings to the anal hair UK, 2003

bum dough noun counterfeit money US, 1992 bumf; bumph noun 1 paperwork; official papers. An abbreviation of BUM FODDER (toilet paper) UK, 1889. 2 toilet paper. An abbreviation of BUM FODDER. The elaboration, 'bog bumf', not recorded until 1984, is tautological but pleasingly alliterative. UK, 1889

bum-face noun used as a derogatory form of address UK, 1972 bum-fluff noun 1 the soft facial hair of an adolescent boy. The image of sparsely spread hair on a backside UK, 1949. 2 empty talk; nonsense AUSTRALIA, 1945. 3 a contemptible man, especially one who is younger than, or of junior status to, the speaker UK, 2000 bum-flufferies noun details; the small print. An extension of BUMF (paperwork) but note BUM-FLUFF (nonsense) UK, 2001 bum fodder noun toilet paper. Around 1660 an anonymous author, now presumed to be Alexander Brome (1620–66), wrote 'Bumm-foder: or Waste-Paper Proper to Wipe the Nations Rump with' UK, 1660 bum freezer noun a short coat UK, 1932 bum fuck noun a digital massage of the prostate via the anus and rectum as a diagnostic and therapeutic procedure UK, 1961 bumfuck verb to have anal intercourse, to sodomise someone. Combines BUM (the posterior) with FUCK (to have sex) US, 1866

Bumfuck, Egypt noun a mythical town that is the epitome of remoteness. With variants US, 1972 bum fun noun an intimate fondling of another's bottom UK, 2000 bum gravy noun liquid excreta, diarrhoea UK, 2002

bum-hole adjective inferior, bad UK, 1984 bumhole; bum-hole noun the anus. Logically follows BUM (the posterior) UK, 1979 bum jacket noun a short, everyday jacket US, 1967 bum-kicked adjective depressed US, 1974 bum-knuckle noun the coccyx; hence, also used as a generalised insult UK, 2003 bumlicker noun a sycophant, a toady. Combines BUM (the buttocks, the anus) with 'someone who licks'; as a demonstration of subservience this image is far older than the term and can be seen in C16 woodblocks of devil-worshippers pledging their service to the hindquarters of a goat UK, 2000 bum lift noun a procedure in cosmetic surgery to firm up the buttocks UK, 1992 bum man noun a man who is especially fond of female buttocks NEW ZEALAND, 1998

bummed adjective depressed, irritated US, 1973 bummer noun 1 a male homosexual. Also known as a 'bummer boy' UK, 1967. 2 a disappointing or depressing event US, 1965. 3 a bad experience with LSD or another hallucinogen US, 1966. 4 a beggar, a tramp, a bum US, 1855 bummy noun a transient, penniless, dirty person US, 1923 bummy verb to intimidate someone. Current among UK Yardies and other West Indian communities JAMAICA, 2000

bummy adjective dirty, wretched US, 1896 bummy-ass adjective low, disreputable, shoddy US, 1990

bum-numbing adjective used to describe any tedious activity that keeps a participant seated until the posterior has lost any sense of feeling UK, 1976 bum of the month noun a person identified as a poor performer. A term coined in connection with heavyweight boxer Joe Louis, who fought against a series of unworthy contenders US, 1970 bum out verb to depress someone; to disappoint someone US, 1970

bump noun 1 in a striptease or other sexual dance, a forceful pelvic thrust US, 1931. 2 in professional wrestling, a fall to the mat or floor, embellished with grunts, shakes and body spasms that create the impression that the opponent has truly hurt the victim US, 2000. 3 a dose of cocaine UK, 1996. 4 a single dose of the recreational drug ketamine US, 1995. 5 a single dose of crystallised methadine US, 1985. 6 crack cocaine; also counterfeit crack cocaine UK, 1998. 7 a fatal overdose of a drug. A nuance of the sense as 'a single dose of a drug', possibly influenced by the sense 'to kill' UK, 2001. 8 an assassination; a murder US, 1919. 9 in poker, an increase in the bet on a hand US, 1988. 10 in betting, a doubling of the bet in effect US, 1986. 11 a promotion in pay or responsibility US, 1949. 12 in computing, an increment US, 1991. 13 in volleyball, an underhand forearm pass to a team mate US, 1985. ► the bump dismissal from employment UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 bump verb 1 to kill someone US, 1914. 2 (of a prisoner) to let it be known that a debt owed to another inmate cannot be repaid UK, 1996. 3 to give an employee a promotion US, 1957. 4 to slide a large stack of gambling chips up next to a player's bet to size the amount of chips for a payoff US, 1991. 5 in poker, to increase another player's bet US, 1961. 6 to talk a customer into a higher price US, 1980. 7 to defraud someone, to swindle someone UK, 1988. 8 in professional wrestling, to fall to the mat in feigned pain US, 1999. 9 to boost a state of drug intoxication UK, 1998. 10 in a striptease or other sexual dance, to thrust the hips forward as if copulating US, 1936. 11 in hot rodding and low riding, to drive slowly in a lowered vehicle, especially one with a hydraulic suspension system that will bounce the car up and down US, 1993. 12 to develop breasts BAHAMAS, 1982. 13 to play music loudly US, 1998. ► bump fuzz (used of a female) to have sex with another woman US, 1997. ► bump gums to speak without saying much US, 1945. ► bump heads to fight US, 1971. ► bump pussies; bump donuts; bump fur (used of lesbians) to have sex, especially by engaging in vulva-to-vulva friction US, 1967. ► bump the blanket to masturbate in bed UK, 2000. ► bump titties to fight US, 1985. ► bump uglies to have sex US, 1989 bump and bore verb (of a racehorse) to veer off course and bump into an opponent UK, 2003

Bump City nickname Oakland, California. The title of a 1972 record album by the group Tower of Power, as well as a 1979 book by John Krich US, 1972 bumper noun 1 the buttocks US, 1963. 2 the female breast. Generally in the plural US, 1947. 3 a person who enjoys performing oral sex on women US, 1950. 4 a lesbian US, 1982. 5 in pool, the cushion on the side of the table US, 1990. 6 in horse racing, a (National Hunt) flat race UK, 1965. 7 any alcoholic beverage BERMUDA, 1985. 8 crack cocaine UK, 2003. 9 a cigarette butt AUSTRALIA, 1899 bumper verb 1 to make a whole cigarette from collected butts. From BUMPER (a cigarette butt) AUSTRALIA, 1968. 2 to extinguish a cigarette and save the butt for smoking later. From BUMPER (a cigarette butt) AUSTRALIA, 1978 bumper adjective especially large or enlarged UK, 1759 bumper jumper noun a vehicle that is too close behind another. Citizens' band radio slang UK, 1981 bumper kit noun the female buttocks US, 1995

bumper shine verb ► see: BUM SHINE bumper-shooter noun someone who picks up cigarette ends AUSTRALIA, 1953 bumper tag noun 1 a slight collision between cars, especially a rear end collision US, 1980. 2 in pool, a shot that is made off two cushions on the side of the table. Punning on a term commonly used to describe a traffic jam US, 1990 bumper-to-bumper adjective (used of car traffic) moving slowly and close together US, 1938 bumper-up; bumper-upper noun a prostitute's handyman AUSTRALIA, 1953

bumping adjective excellent US, 1985 bump list noun a list of murder targets US, 1963

bumpman noun in a pickpocket team, a confederate who bumps and distracts the targeted victim US, 1940 bump off verb to kill someone US, 1907 bumps noun 1 cocaine. From BUMP (a dose of cocaine) US, 1997. 2 loud bass notes as amplified on a stereo US, 1997 bump shop noun a car body repair shop US, 1978 bump spot noun in drag racing, the elapsed time of the driver in the final spot of the qualifying field, subject to being displaced by a better performance of a car yet to qualify US, 1968 bump stick noun in drag racing, a camshaft US, 1968 bum puncher noun a male taking the active role in anal sex, especially when finesse is not an issue AUSTRALIA, 1985 bump up verb to increase something UK, 1940 bumpy noun the buttocks BERMUDA, 1985 bum rap noun 1 an unfair or false accusation or reputation US, 1952. 2 a false criminal accusation; an unfair conviction US, 1926 bum-rap verb to arrest someone without proof of guilt US, 1947 bum robber noun a male homosexual. An exact synonym of ASS/ARSE BANDIT UK, 1972 bum-rush verb to swarm someone; to attack someone US, 1987 bumscare verb to drop your trousers, bend over and expose your buttocks AUSTRALIA, 1985 bum shine; bumper shine verb to hang onto the rear bumper of a car and slide behind it in icy weather CANADA, 1987 bumsicle noun a hypothermic alcoholic US, 1994 bums-on-seats noun a theatrical audience seen as a source of income UK, 1982 bum steer noun a piece of bad advice. A combination of BUM (inferior) and obsolete, except in this connection, 'steer' (direction) US, 1924 bumsters noun trousers designed to be worn very low on the hips. A play on the more familiar 'hipsters' and BUM (the buttocks) UK, 2003

bumsucker noun a sycophant UK, 1950 bum-sucking adjective sycophantic UK, 1949 bum tag noun a piece of faecal matter in the hair about the anus UK, 1961 bum trip noun 1 a bad experience with LSD or another hallucinogen US, 1966. 2 any bad experience US, 1965 bum tripper noun a person experiencing a psychotic break while using a hallucinogenic drug US, 1967

bumwad noun toilet paper, or any material used in place of toilet paper US, 1896 bum-waggle verb to power-walk. From the exaggerated motions of those who practise the sport AUSTRALIA, 1984 bum warmer noun a car coat US, 1961 bun noun 1 the vagina US, 1970. 2 a woman who has sexual intercourse with multiple male partners AUSTRALIA, 2003. 3 marijuana UK, 1998. 4 the head NEW ZEALAND, 1984. ► do your bun to lose your temper NEW ZEALAND, 1960. ► have a bun on to be drunk US, 1960

bun verb to take the active role in anal sex AUSTRALIA, 1992 bun bandit noun the active male in male-on-male anal sex US, 1964 bun-biter noun a sycophant or toady. School usage US, 1961 bun boy noun 1 a male homosexual prostitute whose prominent feature is his buttocks US, 1983. 2 a sycophantic assistant US, 1988

bunce verb to overcharge someone, especially if obviously rich or eager UK, 1979 bunce; bunts; bunse noun money; profit; extras. Possibly a corruption of 'bonus' UK, 1812 bunce up verb to pool your financial resources UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1996 bunch noun a non-specific amount of something US, 1996. ► the bunch in a race, the main body of competitors. A specialised variation of the conventional sense (a group of people) UK, 1961 bunch verb 1 to gather a deck of playing cards to shuffle US, 1988. 2 to quit a job US, 1927 bunched adjective physically exhausted IRELAND, 1989 bunch of bananas noun in a car, an exhaust system with individual headers that intertwine US, 1965 bunch of bastards noun a tangled rope. Naval origins UK, 1961 bunch of fives noun the fist; a punch; a series of blows delivered with the fist UK, 1821 bunch of flowers noun in horse racing, used by jockeys to describe a very small tip, or no tip at all, from an owner after winning a race AUSTRALIA, 1989 bunch of grapes noun a large mess of knots in a fishing line AUSTRALIA, 1982 bunch punch noun 1 sex involving multiple males and a single female US, 1975. 2 by extension, any chaotic situation in which it is not clear who is doing what to whom US, 1975

bunco noun 1 fraud; an act of fraud, especially a swindle by means of card-trickery; a confidence trick US, 1914. 2 a squad of police assigned to confidence swindles US, 1947

bunco verb to swindle someone, to cheat someone US, 1875 bunco artist noun a professional swindler US, 1945 bunco booter noun an infrequent smoker US, 1996 bundie noun a hamburger bun IRELAND, 1991 bundle noun 1 a good deal of money. From an earlier sense (a roll of money) US, 1903. 2 a long prison sentence US, 1950. 3 a bundle of packets of heroin; heroin US, 1986. 4 a sexually appealing woman US, 1993. 5 a fight US, 1937. ► go a bundle on to highly regard someone or something UK, 1957 bundle verb 1 to fight UK, 1958. 2 to make someone incapable of action US, 1976 bundle buggy noun a small delivery truck US, 1971 bundle of socks noun the head. Rhyming slang for 'thinkbox' AUSTRALIA, 1945

bundu noun wilderness, desert; the bush, the jungle; the countryside. Etymology unknown; possibly derived from the shona word for 'grassland'. Possibly adopted into British Military use during the campaign against the Mau-Mau in Kenya in the early 1950s; in 1984, the variant 'bundoo' was recorded in use by the British military in Northern Ireland SOUTH AFRICA, 1939 bunfight noun a tea party. A 'bun' is a 'sticky cake', and this describes what happens when a children's tea party gets out of hand UK, 2001 bun floss noun a thong-backed bikini bottom US, 1991 bung noun 1 a bribe UK, 1950. 2 a tip, a gratuity. Glasgow slang UK, 1985. 3 the anus UK, 1788. ► on the bung being in regular receipt of bribes, or receiving benefits in exchange for bribery UK, 2001 bung verb 1 to throw; to put; to send, especially with use of force UK, 1825. 2 to tip; to pay a financial gratuity UK, 1958. 3 to bribe someone UK, 1950. 4 to pay protection money to someone in authority. A specialisation of the previous sense UK, 1968. 5 to hit someone UK, 1984. ► bung it on to behave pretentiously; to give oneself airs and graces AUSTRALIA, 1942. ► bung on an act to give an exaggerated performance; to indulge in histrionics AUSTRALIA, 1962. ► bung on side to behave pretentiously; to give oneself airs and graces AUSTRALIA, 1967. ► bung on the bull to behave pretentiously AUSTRALIA, 1973 bung adjective broken, ruined, wrecked. Originally Aboriginal pidgin English meaning 'dead', from the Australian Aboriginal language Jagara AUSTRALIA, 1897 ► see: BONG. ► go bung to fail AUSTRALIA, 1885 bungalow noun a dormitory room US, 1992 bunged adjective tipsy SOUTH AFRICA, 1946 bunger noun 1 a bruised and discoloured eye US, 1949. 2 an exploding firework AUSTRALIA, 1929. 3 a cigarette AUSTRALIA, 1995 bung-full adjective absolutely full, especially as a result of eating and drinking. Full up to the point where a stopper should be necessary to contain it all UK, 1984

bunghole noun 1 the anus UK, 1611. 2 by extension, a despicable, unlikeable person US, 1968. 3 a pastry treat made from leftover pie dough spread with brown sugar, cinnamon and butter CANADA, 1992. 4 cheese AUSTRALIA, 1919 bunghole verb to sodomise someone. From the noun BUNGHOLE (the anus) US, 1939

bungi verb to have anal sex CANADA, 2002

bungie noun a mildly left-wing white student in South Africa during the struggle against apartheid SOUTH AFRICA, 1996

bungie-hole verb to sodomise someone. A variation of BUNGHOLE US, 1997

bung navel noun a protruding navel BARBADOS, 2003

bungo noun a very black, ugly and stupid rustic JAMAICA, 1979 bung on verb 1 to put on an article of clothing, especially carelessly. From BUNG (to throw, to put) UK, 1984. 2 to stage a party, event, etc AUSTRALIA, 1972

bungo-toughy noun a young child who behaves poorly; a little ruffian GUYANA, 1996

bunhead noun a dolt; an outcast US, 1988 bun-huggers noun tight-fitting trousers US, 1964 bunjee; bunjie; bungee noun an India-rubber eraser; India rubber. More familiar in later use as 'elasticated rope' and, since 1979, in an extreme sports context (bungee jumping) UK, 1928 bunk noun 1 nonsense US, 1900. 2 a weak drug, especially heroin US, 1992. 3 a hiding place US, 1950. 4 a prisoner's cell or the area immediately around his bed in a dormitory setting US, 1998. ► do a bunk; pull a bunk to abscond, to run away UK, 1870 bunk verb 1 to abscond or play truant, usually from school or work. Also to 'bunk off' UK, 1934. 2 to sleep, to stay the night. Introduces a military or Western feel US, 1840. 3 to travel without a ticket UK, 1996. 4 to carry a passenger on the cross-bar of a bicycle AUSTRALIA, 1959. 5 to hide something US, 1950

bunk adjective worthless US, 1990 bunker noun 1 anal sex US, 1949. 2 a premises used by a criminal gang as a base from which to conduct violent robberies UK, 1982 bunkered adjective in a situation from which it is difficult to escape. A figurative application of golfing terminology UK, 1894 bunk fatigue noun sleep US, 1915 bunk fee noun the amount charged to smoke opium in an opium den US, 1992 bunk flying noun dramatic, on-the-ground discussions of flying exploits US, 1933 bunk in verb to sneak into an entertainment venue without paying. Schoolboy reversal of 'bunk off' UK, 2000 bunk patrol noun a nap while off duty. Mounted Police usage CANADA, 1953

bunkum noun nonsense. In or around 1820 the Congressman representing Buncombe County in North Carolina, USA, in seeking to impress his constituents, made a pointless speech to Congress; over time 'Buncombe' became 'bunkum' US, 1862 bunk-up noun 1 an act of sexual intercourse. Originally military, post-World War 2 UK, 1958. 2 a lifting-up as assistance in climbing or reaching AUSTRALIA, 1919

bunky noun in jail or prison, a cellmate US, 1858 bunnit noun ► do your bunnit to lose your temper. Glasgow slang UK, 1985 bunny noun 1 a Playboy Club hostess; a nightclub hostess dressed in a costume that is representative of a rabbit. A shortening of the official job-description: Bunny Girl US, 1960. 2 a woman blessed with few if any sexual inhibitions US, 1971. 3 a female surfer or a male surfer's girlfriend US, 1936. 4 a homosexual male prostitute US, 1967. 5 the rectum US, 1977. 6 a conversation UK, 1958. 7 a person who talks too much, especially stupidly UK, 1954. 8 a fool, a dupe AUSTRALIA, 1943. 9 a pilotman UK, 1970. 10 in shuffleboard, the disc on a number representing the winning score US, 1967. 11 in the sport of field archery, a 15 cm target face. Derives from the small face of a 'bunny' (rabbit) which, along with faces of other small creatures, is used as a target UK, 1988 bunny verb to talk, to chat. The childish word for a 'rabbit' replaces the rhyming slang RABBIT AND PORK; RABBIT (to talk) UK, 1958 bunny boiler noun an obsessive, possessive woman. From the action in the film Fatal Attraction, 1987, in which actress Glenn Close put the fear of God into adulterous men UK, 2002 bunny boiler adjective of a woman scorned, unhealthily obsessed with her (ex-)lover. From BUNNY BOILER UK, 2003 bunny book noun a sexually explicit magazine. From the Playboy bunny. US, 1967 bunny boot noun a large white felt boot, now usually made of rubber with an inflatable air layer for insulation US, 1954 bunny cap noun a fur-lined pile cap. Vietnam war usage US, 1968 bunny chow noun a hot Indian or Malay curry served in a hollowed out loaf of bread. Created and coined by Hindi Indians in Durban SOUTH AFRICA, 2001 bunny dip noun a method of serving bar customers drinks calculated to keep a woman's breasts from spilling out from a low-cut, tight bodice. A technique perfected by and taught to Playboy Bunnies US, 1985 bunny fuck verb to have sex quickly, if not frantically US, 1971 bunny hole noun an excavation in a fox hole to provide protection from a mortar attack. Korean war usage US, 1957 bunny hop noun the act of bouncing both wheels of a bicycle off the ground into the air US, 1953 bunny hug noun a girl's hooded sweatshirt. Especially in Saskatchewan, where it gets very cold in winter, this term is used for a key warm layer of clothing CANADA, 2004 bunny suit noun a thick flight suit worn by an aircrew member over an anti-gravity suit US, 1966 buns noun 1 the buttocks US, 1877. 2 the feet US, 1973 bunt noun the buttocks. A blend of 'buttocks' and 'cunt' US, 1967 bunter noun a prostitute US, 1973

bunty noun 1 semen UK, 2000. 2 an affectionate term for a small person, especially a small middle-aged woman. From Scottish/Irish dialect UK, 1977 buoy noun a surfer who lingers in the water, rarely catching a wave US, 1991 bupkes; bupkis noun nothing – used for expressing scorn at something deemed foolish or trivial. From the Russian for 'beans' US, 1942 bupp verb to strike your head against something BARBADOS, 1965

buppie; buppy; bumpie noun a (young) black urban professional; a (young) black upwardly mobile professional. A socio-economic acronym on the model of YUPPIE, as forced as 'yuppie' seemed natural and only a marginal term in the vernacular US, 1986 buppies noun bread and butter; a slice of bread and butter. After earlier variations: 'bupper', 'buppie', 'bups', 'bupsie'; derived by infantile reduction UK, 1978

'burb noun a suburb. Often in the plural US, 1971

burble verb in computing, to post an inflammatory message that displays the person's complete ignorance on the subject in question. From Lewis Carroll's 1871 Through the Looking Glass, in which the Jabberwock 'burbled' (spoke in a murmuring or rambling manner) US, 1991 bureau-drawer special noun a small, inexpensive handgun US, 1962

burg noun 1 a city or town US, 1835. 2 a burglary US, 1983

burger noun 1 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996. 2 a shapeless, uneven wave. An abbreviation of MUSHBURGER US, 1991. 3 a scrape or raw bruise suffered while skateboarding US, 1976 burglar noun 1 a prison officer doing a surprise cell-search, especially of an officer who is considered an expert in this business. Heavily ironic UK, 1980. 2 the operator of a dishonest carnival game US, 1950 buried adjective 1 of food, canned JAMAICA, 1979. 2 in new car sales, owing more on a loan than the car securing the loan is worth US, 1975 buried treasure noun in computing, an unexpected and usually poorly written piece of code found in a program US, 1991

burk verb to vomit US, 1960

burk; burke noun ▶ see: BEREK burl noun 1 an attempt, try or go at anything AUSTRALIA, 1917. 2 in horse racing, odds of 5–1. Rhyming slang, abbreviated from 'Burl lives' for 'fives' AUSTRALIA, 1989 burlap noun dismissal from employment. An elaboration of the more common term, 'getting the SACK' US, 1951 burley; burly noun burlesque US, 1934 burleycue noun burlesque US, 1923

burlin adjective drunk UK, 2002

Burlington hunt noun 1 the vagina. Rhyming slang for CUNT. A lesser-known variation of Berkshire hunt and Berkeley hunt UK, 1960. 2 a fool. Rhyming slang for CUNT UK, 1960 burly noun 1 something which is not easily accomplished US, 1993. 2 in foot-propelled scootering, a difficult trick or stunt which has pain or injury as the price of failure; a scooter-rider who specialises in such tricks UK, 2000 burly adjective 1 intimidating. A surfer term used to describe a wave, brought into broader youth usage US, 1993. 2 very cold US, 1991 burly show noun in carnival usage, a burlesque show US, 1981

BURMA written on an envelope, or at the foot of a lover's letter as lovers' code for 'be undressed (or upstairs) and ready my angel'. Widely-known, and well-used by servicemen. Now a part of the coded vocabulary of texting UK, 1960

Burmese Fuckin' Incredible noun a variety of marijuana seed from British Columbia CANADA, 2002

burn noun 1 tobacco; a cigarette AUSTRALIA, 1960. 2 a swindle US, 1960. 3 an exhibition, a display. From BURN (to spray graffiti) US, 2002. 4 a thrill-seeking act of fast driving AUSTRALIA, 1965. 5 the initial flooding of sensations after injecting heroin US, 1973. 6 a caustic chemical treatment of the skin US, 1997 burn verb 1 to put someone to death by electrocution US, 1927. 2 to kill someone US, 1933. 3 to shoot a gun at someone, either just grazing them or making them jump to avoid being hit US, 1953. 4 to cheat, swindle someone UK, 1698. 5 to put someone under an unfair obligation UK, 1997. 6 to expose the identity of a person or place US, 1959. 7 to completely cover another graffiti artist's work with your own US, 1995. 8 in private dice games, to stop the dice while rolling, either as a superstition or to check for cheating US, 1950. 9 while playing blackjack, to place an unplayed card into the discard card holder US, 1982. 10 to smoke marijuana US, 1964. 11 to infect someone with a sexually transmitted disease US, 1967.

▶ burn an Indian to smoke marijuana US, 1992. ▶ burn logs to smoke marijuana UK, 2001. ▶ burn paint (used of a car or truck) to be engulfed in flames US, 1977. ▶ burn someone's butt to annoy, to irritate someone US, 2001. ▶ burn the breeze to drive fast US, 1971. ▶ burn the lot (used of a carnival) to cheat a town so badly that no carnival will be able to come to that town for some time US, 1989. ▶ burn the main line to inject a drug intravenously UK, 1998. ▶ burn the road up to leave US, 2002. ▶ burn the yellow to race through a yellow traffic light. Used in Montreal, translated and borrowed from the French CANADA, 1992. ▶ burn up the wires to spend a great deal of time on the telephone. Originally a term applying to the telegraph. As telephones become increasingly independent of wires, it will be interesting to see if the phrase survives US, 1954. ▶ enough money to burn a wet mule a great deal of money. Slang synonyms for 'money' are found in variants of the phrase US, 1985 burn and smoulder noun the shoulder. Rhyming slang, perhaps in reference to a sunburnt shoulder UK, 1992 burn artist noun a cheat, a conman, especially in dealings with drugs US, 1968 burn, bash, bury used as the rubbish disposal creed of Australian troops in Vietnam AUSTRALIA, 1990 burn cards noun in blackjack played in casinos, a few cards taken from the top of a newly shuffled pack and discarded US, 1980 burn down verb 1 to overuse and thus ruin something US, 1953. 2 to shoot and kill someone US, 1932 burned out; burnt out adjective 1 recovering from drug dependence UK, 1978. 2 exhausted beyond mental or physical capacity US, 1980 burner noun 1 a criminal who specialises in breaking into safes using an acetylene torch US, 1950. 2 a handgun US, 1926. 3 a very fast runner US, 1978. 4 an extraordinary person US, 1952. 5 a marijuana smoker US, 1985. 6 a drug addiction US, 1992. 7 a complete piece of graffiti art US, 1997

Burnese; burnie noun cocaine. A variation on Berni, Bernice or Bernie US, 1933 burn head noun any Rastafarian who defies the norms and shaves JAMAICA, 1980

burnie noun a partially smoked marijuana cigarette US, 1952 burning and turning adjective of a helicopter, with engine running and blades rotating UK, 1978 burn off verb to drive very fast, especially if showing off AUSTRALIA, 1984

burnout noun 1 a person whose mental capacity has been diminished by extended drug or alcohol use US, 1973. 2 an uninhabitable, ruined tenement, whether it has been burnt or not US, 1987. 3 in drag racing, the pre-race spinning of the car's rear tyres to clean and heat the tyres, producing crowd-pleasing smoke and noise US, 1988. 4 in the youth trend for 'souped-up' motor-scootering, any achievement of a daring, risk-taking rider UK, 2004

burn out verb to make a fire in a prisoner's cell as retaliation for real or perceived cooperation with prison authorities US, 1974 burnout box noun in drag racing, the area where tyres are heated and cleaned before a race US, 1993 burn rubber! leave me alone! US, 1996

burnt adjective exhausted US, 1995

burnt cheese noun a fart AUSTRALIA, 1998 burnt cinder; burnt noun a window. Cockney rhyming slang, relying on the accent for an accurate rhyme UK, 1958 burnt end noun in bowls, a stage of play that has to be replayed when the jack is driven out of bounds UK, 1990 burn-through noun the process of cleaning tyres on a dragster with bleach poured on the ground over which the tyres are spun US, 1970 burnt money noun a bet in a dice game lost because of a rule violation US, 1997 burnt offering noun overcooked food, especially meat. Adopted, ironically, from the conventional religious sense UK, 1937 burn-up noun the act of racing or riding fast on a motorcycle. To 'burn-up' the tyre-rubber and leave scorch-marks on the road UK, 1971 burn up verb to fall silent; to stop talking. Often as an imperative AUSTRALIA, 1971

burp noun 1 an act of vomiting; vomit AUSTRALIA, 1967. 2 a belch. Echoic US, 1932. 3 any alcoholic beverage BERMUDA, 1985 ▶ see: BOTTOM BURP burp verb to belch; to cause a baby to belch. The variant spelling, 'birp', has been recorded US, 1932. ▶ burp the worm (of a male) to masturbate US, 2001

burp gun noun a submachine gun US, 1946

burp 'n' blow noun an act of burping into your cupped hands then blowing the retained air at a chosen victim UK, 2004

burqa noun an out-of-style fashion garment. The conventional 'burqa' is a complete head and body shroud worn by women in the strictest Muslim societies. This teenspeak reflects the end of fundamentalist Taliban rule in Afghanistan US, 2002 burrr noun the recurring operating expenses in a circus or carnival US, 1980 burrrhead noun a black person US, 1902 burrito adjective cold. From 'burrrr' as a vocalisation of feeling cold US, 1997 burrito bag noun a mesh restraint used by police to contain a violent person US, 1997 burrito poncho noun a condom UK, 1998 burro noun a racehorse that does not perform well US, 1947 burroo; brew; buro noun an unemployment exchange; the Department of Social Security. From a Glasgow pronunciation of 'bureau' as in 'Employment Bureau' UK, 1937 burrower noun a researcher. Security service jargon UK, 1977 burr under your saddle blanket noun an unexplained irritability CANADA, 1987 burr up your ass noun a person with a displeased focus on something US, 1960 burst noun 1 a period of re-enlistment in the military. A 'burst of six' would thus be re-enlistment for six years US, 1968. 2 a drinking binge NEW ZEALAND, 1998 burst verb 1 to strike someone violently. This usage is common all over Ireland, and is used in a rhetorical sense, rather than literally IRELAND, 1987. 2 to pay for something that costs relatively little with a banknote. Literally 'to burst the completeness of the banknote'; a variation of conventional 'break' UK, 1988. 3 to ejaculate BAHAMAS, 1971. ► burst out in fairy lights to show an expected level of enthusiasm UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 burster; buster noun anything of superior size or astounding nature US, 1831 bursting at the seams adjective overfull UK, 1962

Burton-on-Trent; Burton noun rent. Rhyming slang, based on an East Midlands' town UK, 1932

Burton-on-Trent; Burton adjective homosexual. Rhyming slang for BENT (homosexual) UK, 1996

burwash noun a swindle, for fun or profit UK, 1983 bury verb 1 to sentence a criminal to a long or life term in prison US, 1904. 2 in casino gambling, to place a card in the middle of a deck or in the discard pile US, 1991. ► bury the stiffy from a male perspective, to have sex US, 1994. ► bury the tach to rev an engine up beyond what would be considered a prudent revolutions per minute level. The tachometer measures the revolutions per minute US, 1992 bus noun 1 an ambulance US, 1992. 2 a wheelbarrow TRISTAN DA CUNHA, 1906. 3 a plane UK, 1913. 4 a car UK, 1921. 5 a large touring motorcycle. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2003. ► more bus than Battoo big-breasted. Battoo is the owner of a bus company TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► on the bus part of a countercultural movement. From the language of Ken Kesey, Neal Cassady and the Merry Pranksters US, 1994 bus verb to shoot a gun at someone US, 1995. ► bus one to leave US, 1993 bus and tram noun jam. Rhyming slang, possibly punning on the constituent parts of a traffic jam UK, 1978 bus and truck adjective said of a travelling show, with the cast and crew travelling by bus, with the props and wardrobe in a truck US, 1973 bus driver noun 1 in poker, the player in a given hand who controls the betting US, 1996. 2 a pilot, especially the pilot of a military transport aircraft US, 1944 busse verb to swear at someone. An abbreviation of 'abuse' BARBADOS, 1965 bus face noun the worn-out look gained from sleeping on a bus overnight US, 1997 bush noun 1 pubic hair, especially a woman's pubic hair. A source for endless punning during the US presidential election of 2000; President Bush Jr's lack of gravitas opened him up to 'bush' puns to an extent that his father did not have to endure UK, 1650. 2 a sexually active female US, 1966. 3 a bushy hairstyle, especially on a black person US, 1972. 4 marijuana US, 1951. 5 cocaine UK, 1998. 6 the woods US, 1997. 7 the suburbs. An urban sneer; from the conventional Australian sense of 'bush' (country in its natural state) AUSTRALIA, 1942. ► go bush to move to or visit the county AUSTRALIA, 1916. ► take the bush; take to the bush to escape; to run wild; to leave the town for the country. Originally of escaping convicts; but also carrying the sense of an Aborigine returning to traditional life AUSTRALIA, 1804

Bush nickname Flatbush, Brooklyn, New York US, 1995

bush verb 1 to ambush someone US, 1947. 2 in the used car business, to extract through any of a series of questionably ethical means more from a customer than originally contemplated by the customer US, 1953. 3 to deceive someone US, 1971 bush adjective 1 second-rate, amateurish US, 1959. 2 rough and ready AUSTRALIA, 1969

bush Baptist noun a religious zealot lacking formal theological training US, 1967 bush-bash verb to forge a path through scrubland; to travel through virgin bush AUSTRALIA, 1967 bush basher noun a person who forges a new pathway through scrubland AUSTRALIA, 1971

bush blaster noun the penis US, 2001 bush bunny noun a woman from a remote area; a naive, unsophisticated woman FJI, 2004 bush captial nickname Canberra, the capital city of Australia. So-called because it was a new city built in the 'bush' (countryside) halfway between the two major cities of Sydney and Melbourne AUSTRALIA, 1906 bush child noun an illegitimate child CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985 bush dance noun an Australian-style country dance AUSTRALIA, 1983

bush dinner noun oral sex on a woman US, 1967 bush head noun hair that is in complete disarray after a long bus ride US, 1988 bushed adjective 1 very tired US, 1879. 2 showing adverse psychological effects from having to live in bad weather. Confinement and isolation, especially in the north of North America, give this widely used term a special meaning, different from 'going native' CANADA, 1952. 3 lost in bushland AUSTRALIA, 1844. 4 lost, but not in the bush AUSTRALIA, 1963 bushel noun 1 in trucking, a load of half a ton US, 1976. 2 the neck, the throat. The full form is 'bushel and peck'. Rhyming slang, based on imperial units of volume UK, 1979 bushel-cunted adjective possessing a slack and distended vagina US, 1980 bushel of coke noun a man. Rhyming slang for a BLOKE UK, 1960 bushes noun any place where sexual activity takes place, whether or not an actual bush is involved US, 1975 bushfire noun used as a comparison for something that is exceedingly fast AUSTRALIA, 1962

bushfire blonde noun a red-headed woman AUSTRALIA, 1943 bush gang noun a prison work gang working without the traditional chains CANADA, 1987 bush herb noun unremarkable marijuana UK, 1994 bushie noun 1 a rough, tough, unattractive or otherwise unappealing woman. From BUSHPIG AUSTRALIA, 1987. 2 a person who lives in the bush. Can be used negatively to mean a 'country bumpkin', or positively to refer to someone skilled at surviving in the harsh conditions of the Australian outback AUSTRALIA, 1887

Bushie noun a supporter or a member of the administration of US President George W. Bush US, 2002

Bush is another word for cunt used as a slogan that registers absolute contempt for US President George W. Bush. Punning on the sense of BUSH as pubic hair and CUNT (the vagina) as 'despicable individual' US, 2003 bush lawyer noun a person with some knowledge of law but no actual qualifications AUSTRALIA, 1835 bush-league adjective petty, mediocre, trivial, inconsequential, second-rate US, 1908 bush light noun in the pornography industry, a light used to illuminate the genitals of the performers US, 1995 bushline noun ► put out the bushline on the ice in Cape Breton, to set out the small evergreen trees on solid ice to mark a trail for skating or skimming on a road. The term, by extension, seems to apply to a variety of metaphorical situations, involving fitness CANADA, 2000 bush mag noun a magazine featuring photographs of naked women, focusing on their pubic hair and vulvas US, 1972 bushman's breakfast noun a yawn, a stretch, urinating and a look around, or some variation thereof NEW ZEALAND, 1998

bushman's clock noun a kookaburra, a native Australian bird with a loud laughing territorial call frequently heard at dawn and dusk AUSTRALIA, 1846 bushman's hanky noun the act of blowing nasal mucus from one nostril while holding the other closed AUSTRALIA, 1996 bush mechanic noun a mechanic with no formal training and, often, no special skill BAHAMAS, 1982

Bush-muncher noun a proponent of US President George W. Bush's points of view. Derogatory, a play on BUSH (the pubic hair, hence the vagina) and CARPET-MUNCHER (a cannibalistic), which leads to an obvious parallel with ARSE/ASS-LICKER (an obsequious sycophant) US, 2003

bush orchestra noun a morning chorus of indigenous New Zealand song birds NEW ZEALAND, 1982 bush pad noun a motorcycle's passenger seat. Biker (motorcycle) usage, coarsely identifying a woman passenger in terms of her genitals US, 2003 bush parole noun escape from prison US, 1960 bush patrol noun sex with a woman. The BUSH in question here is the woman's pubic hair US, 1964 bushpig noun a rough, tough, unattractive or otherwise unappealing woman AUSTRALIA, 1985 bush-pop verb (of cowboys) to ride in the bush to round up cows CANADA, 1964 bushranger noun a person who commits petty crime; a swindler or cheat. Figurative use of the usual sense as 'an escaped convict who lives by highway robbery', common during Australia's colonial era AUSTRALIA, 1855 bush shave noun a shave without the benefit of water or shaving cream US, 1990 bush telegraph noun an information network utilising word of mouth; the grapevine AUSTRALIA, 1962 bush time noun during the Vietnam war, the amount of time spent in combat US, 1987 bush tucker noun food consisting of native Australian flora and fauna. Originally used to refer to food making up the diet of Australian Aboriginals, nowadays also for items of restaurant cuisine AUSTRALIA, 1895

Bush Week noun a putative week during which country folk visit the city and the normal rules of society are laid aside. Always in the formulaic rhetorical question 'What do you think this is? Bush Week?' AUSTRALIA, 1919 bushwhacker noun 1 an outlaw who attacks by ambush US, 1926. 2 a rapist. Playing on the sexual meaning of BUSH US, 1976. 3 a man who enjoys sex in park bushes US, 1966. 4 a person from the country; a country bumpkin US, 1809 bush whiskey noun strong, homemade whiskey US, 1999

Bushy Park noun 1 a lark, a spree. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a park close to Hampton Court UK, 1859. 2 a woman's pubic hair. By extension, the shortened form 'bushy' is a pet name for 'the vagina', deriving from BUSH (pubic hair); possibly a play on the outer London beauty spot Bushey Park, source of the similar, now obsolete C19 phrase 'take a turn in Bushey Park' (to have sex) US, 1980 business noun 1 sex with a prostitute; prostitution. From a sense, originating in C17, as 'sexual intercourse'; in 1630 the described cost was 'one hundred crownes' UK, 1911. 2 the genitals, male or female US, 1949. 3 a syringe employed by intravenous drug users US, 1949. 4 the actual cheating move of a card cheat US, 1973. 5 used as a deliberately vague reference to any matter that is of concern or under consideration; later use tends to describe the matter (in phrases such as 'a bad business') without being any more specific UK, 1605. 6 when combined with an indefinite intensifier in phrases such as 'what a business', 'quite a business', etc, something unexpectedly difficult to do or get UK, 1843. ► do business 1 to engage in an illegal activity such as bribery US, 1984. 2 in pool, to intentionally lose a game or other competition US, 1989. 3 in horse racing, to cooperate in the fixing of a race US, 1951. ► do the business to settle the matter UK, 1823. ► do your business to defecate UK, 1645. ► give someone the business; do the business to have sex US, 1942. ► on the business engaged in prostitution UK, 1961. ► the business 1 the finest, the most perfect, the most complete; anything particularly good UK, 1982. 2 prostitution US, 1952 business end the operative part of something, the part that matters UK, 1878 business girl noun a prostitute UK, 1888 businessman noun 1 any official or witness who will accept a bribe US, 1950. 2 in horse racing, a jockey who may be persuaded to lose a race intentionally US, 1951 businessman's special; businessman's lunch noun DMT (dimethyltryptamine), a powerful but short-lasting hallucinogen. An allusion to the fact that it can be taken, experienced and recovered from in short order US, 1967 bus jockey noun a bus driver US, 1954 busk verb to work as a street entertainer. The earlier sense from which this derives means 'to offer goods and entertainment for sale in bars' US, 1920 busker noun an itinerant purveyor of entertainment to passers-by in the street, or on the London Underground, or other informal locations. Possibly from 'buskin', a short boot worn by entertainers from C16–19 UK, 1859 bussie noun a bus driver. Common among professional baseball players in the days when bus travel dominated travel between cities US, 1967 bust noun 1 a police raid, especially for suspected drug offences US, 1938. 2 an arrest US, 1953. 3 a burglary UK, 1857. 4 a complete failure US, 1842. 5 in poker, a worthless hand US, 1963 bust verb 1 to arrest someone US, 1940. 2 to catch someone with evidence of guilt; to report on someone US, 1960. 3 to reduce someone in rank or standing US, 1878. 4 to inform the police; in later use especially, to inform the police about illicit drugs UK, 1859. 5 to inform on a fellow prisoner UK, 1980. 6 to insult someone US, 1985. 7 to praise and promote something US, 1997. 8 to give someone something, to lend someone something US, 1990. 9 in pontoon (blackjack, vingt-et-un), to exceed 21 points UK, 1939. 10 in pool, to break to start a game US, 1990. 11 when driving, to turn in a new direction US, 1993. 12 in the used car business, to reduce a car in price US, 1975. 13 to smoke a marijuana cigarette UK, 1998. ► bust a box to break into a safe US, 1966. ► bust a cap 1 to shoot a gun US, 1965. 2 to use drugs US, 1971. ► bust a few to surf US, 1997. ► bust a grape in prison, to commit a foolish act as a result of a sense of intense desperation US, 1990. ► bust a gut to make a great effort. Originally a dialect term UK, 1912. ► bust a move 1 to make a move; to take action; to dance US, 1984. 2 to move quickly US, 1991. ► bust a stop sign to ignore a stop sign US, 1973. ► bust a trick in foot-propelled scootering, to achieve success in a difficult manoeuvre UK, 2000. ► bust jungle to break through a jungle with a tank or armoured carrier. Vietnam war usage US, 1977. ► bust laugh to laugh out loud. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982. ► bust someone's balls to tease someone relentlessly, provoking their anger US, 1955. ► bust someone's drawers to have sex, seen as a conquest US, 1990. ► bust suds to wash dishes US, 1971. ► bust the mainline to inject a drug into a vein US, 1938. ► bust the rut; bust a rut to blaze a trail. From the Northern Territory AUSTRALIA, 1951. ► bust your boiler to over-exert yourself NEW ZEALAND, 1946. ► bust your buns to exert yourself; to try hard US, 1964. ► bust your chops to harass or provoke someone US, 1953. ► bust your conk to feel very happy, especially under the influence of a drug US, 1973. ► bust your guts out to over-exert yourself NEW ZEALAND, 1959. ► bust your hump to work extremely hard UK, 2001. ► bust your nut to experience an orgasm US, 1964 bust adjective without funds US, 1990

busta noun 1 a person who informs on another US, 2000. 2 a social outcast US, 1998 bust developer noun a singer who performs during a striptease act US, 1981 busted adjective 1 without, or very short of, money; bankrupt, ruined US, 1837. 2 ugly US, 2002

buster noun 1 pleasure, especially sexual pleasure US, 1973. 2 something that is excellent US, 1973. 3 used as a term of address. Lends a self-conscious, old-fashioned tone US, 1866. 4 a fool US, 1995. 5 in circus usage, a bad fall. An allusion to comic actor Joseph 'Buster' Keaton US, 1981. 6 a heavy fall from a horse AUSTRALIA, 1878. 7 a firecracker US, 1952. 8 a hard roll of bread. Trawlermen's term UK, 1969. 9 any of several tools used by burglars or as weapons US, 1949. 10 in poker, a card that does not improve a hand US, 1961. 11 a shoplifter CANADA, 1984. 12 a strong wind from the south. A shortening of SOUTHERLY BUSTER AUSTRALIA, 1873. 13 on a plane, full power US, 1991 ► see: BURSTER busters noun dice that have had their spots altered to aid cheating US, 1962 bust hand noun in bar dice games, a roll that produces no points for the player US, 1971 bust-head noun potent whisky or beer, especially if manufactured illegally US, 1857 bust therapy noun keeping a problem prisoner in transit in prison transport between prisons US, 1996

busticate verb 1 to break US, 1916. 2 to leave US, 2002 bus ticket noun a transfer from one prison to another US, 1989 bust in verb in a dice cheating scheme, to introduce altered dice into a game US, 1963 bustle-punching noun frottage; an act of unwanted intimacy, usually in a crowded place, when a man rubs his penis against the hindquarters of an unsuspecting woman UK, 1977 bustle rack noun on a tank, welded pipe framework on the turret used as a sort of roof rack, storing food, drinks and supplies US, 1991 bust off verb to experience orgasm. Derives from BUST YOUR NUT US, 1996 bust on verb 1 to criticise someone, to tease someone US, 1986. 2 to shoot someone US, 2001 bust-out noun a bankruptcy forced upon a business by organised crime, usually a lending enterprise owed money by the head of the business US, 1988 bust out verb 1 to take over a legitimate business, exploit its credit to the maximum, and then liquidate all assets US, 1962. 2 in a dice cheating scheme, to remove altered dice from a game and reintroduce the legitimate dice US, 1963 bust-out adjective 1 in gambling, dishonest or part of a cheating scheme US, 1937. 2 without money, broke US, 1965 bust-out joint noun a casino or gambling establishment that cheats gamblers US, 1979 bust-out man noun in a dice cheating scheme, the confederate whose special skill is the switching of tampered dice with the legitimate dice US, 1950 bust-out mob noun a group of confederates gambling with altered dice US, 1972 bust-up noun an altercation; a serious argument or disagreement. From the earlier sense (an explosion) UK, 1899 busty substances noun the female breasts. A jocular coinage by comedian Peter Cook UK, 1966 bus' up verb to wreak havoc. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 bus-whargus adjective extremely ugly NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992 busy adjective 1 actively searching for, or engaged in, a sexual liaison. Homosexual usage US, 1965. 2 (used of a card in poker) producing a pair or otherwise improving a hand US, 1988. ► get busy 1 to have sex US, 1989. 2 to rob someone US, 1987 busy; bizzzy; busie noun police; a police officer, originally a detective. From earlier 'busy fellow' – a suggestion that plain clothes officers are busy while their uniformed colleagues 'plod' UK, 1904 busy as a one-armed paper-hanger in a gale adjective extremely busy. First recorded in the US and New Zealand, but also known in Canada where it may be lengthened by 'with the itch', and in Australia and UK with the elaboration 'with crabs' or 'with the crabs' US, 1939 busy bee noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994

busylickum noun a nosey person BARBADOS, 1965

but noun a halibut. Trawlermen's use UK, 1980

but adverb though, however. Used at the end of a statement. This is one feature of Australian English that parents and teachers have long sought to wipe out via the correction of any youth saying it. Typically the argument 'you can't end a sentence with a preposition/conjunction' is put forward, but clearly 'but' is an adverb here, modifying the verb of the statement (not to mention highlighting the grammatical ignorance of the would-be corrector). Speakers of US and British English are often confused when first meeting this regionalism, and will patiently wait for the continuation of the sentence following what they hear as a conjunction – 'it isn't coming, but!'. The first undeniable example dates to 1938, and it was common by the 1950s. Also heard among Hawaiian youth AUSTRALIA, 1938 but conjunction 1 used for expressing surprise or recognition of something unexpected UK, 1846. 2 used for emphasizing the following word or words UK, 1887 butch noun 1 the person fulfilling the masculine role in a homosexual relationship US, 1954. 2 a very short haircut US, 1982 butch adjective 1 overtly masculine US, 1936. 2 fulfilling the masculine role in a male or female homosexual relationship. Originally applied to male and female homosexuals, but later predominantly to lesbians US, 1941. 3 heterosexual US, 1949. 4 unafraid, unabashed. A nuance of the 'overtly masculine' sense used in contemporary gay society UK, 2003 butch broad noun an aggressive lesbian with masculine affectations US, 1966 butch dike noun an aggressive, mannish lesbian US, 1969 butcher noun 1 a beer glass of 170 ml capacity; also, a serving in one of these glasses. Used only in the state of South Australia, the 'butcher' was originally a long thin glass holding over a pint; the size has gradually diminished over the years. Said by some to be derived from the German becher (C19 South Australia had a large German migrant community), but this doesn't sound remotely like 'butcher'. Other folk etymologies about butchers requiring a certain type of beer glass abound AUSTRALIA, 1889. 2 a surgeon US, 1849. 3 a medical student. Used by undergraduates of the University of Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1984. 4 a prison dentist UK, 1996. 5 a prison guard captain US, 1983. 6 in a pack of playing cards, a king UK, 1937

Butcher Brigade nickname the 11th Infantry Brigade of the Americal Division, US Army. So named after the Brigade's role in the massacre at My Lai became known US, 1991 butcher charts noun large pieces of paper used during a briefing or brainstorming session. Named because the paper used is similar to the paper used by butchers to wrap meat US, 1986 butcher's apron nickname the ribbon of the United Nations' medal for active service in Korea. From the narrow vertical white stripes and washed-out blue background. The nickname was already current in 1954 UK, 1954 butcher's hook; butcher's noun a look. Rhyming slang UK, 1936 butcher's hook; butcher's adjective ► go butcher's hook to get angry or upset AUSTRALIA, 1918. sick, ill, unwell. Rhyming slang for CROOK AUSTRALIA, 1967 butcher shop noun a hospital casualty department or operating room US, 1918 butcher's overall noun a surgeon's white protective overall. Royal Navy use UK, 1964 butch it up verb to act in an aggressive, manly manner. Homosexual usage, male and female US, 1963 butch kick noun in the usage of pickpockets, a hip pocket US, 1949 butch number noun a manly homosexual man desired by others as a partner in sex US, 1967 butch out verb (used of a woman) to affect a mannish appearance US, 1999 butch pad noun an apartment or house where lesbians congregate US, 1973 butch queen noun a decidedly masculine male homosexual US, 1966 butch trade noun a seemingly heterosexual man who consents to homosexual sex in the male role, receiving orally or giving anally US, 1970 butchy adjective overtly masculine in affectation and mannerisms US, 1956 bute noun butazolidin, a pain-killer UK, 1981 but, I digress used as a humorous end to a wandering thought. A catchphrase attributed to author Max Shulman in cigarette advertisements of the 1950s US, 1961 butler noun crack cocaine UK, 2003 butler's revenge noun an inaudible fart. A public school coinage, commenting on the dignified restraint of senior male servants; not an eponym UK, 1984 but mine is worth... used as a bragging description of a BMW car CANADA, 2002 butt noun 1 the buttocks, the posterior; used in many senses and phrases as a replacement for 'arse' or 'ass' UK, 1720. 2 by extension, the tail end of anything US, 1970. 3 the tail end of a prison sentence US, 1949. 4 a cigarette US, 1902 butt verb in tiddlywinks, to knock a wink off a pile US, 1977 butt adverb very US, 1990 butt board verb to ride a skateboard sitting down US, 1997 butt boy noun a sycophant; a toady US, 1950 butt can noun any improvised ashtray US, 1968 butt-check verb in snowboarding, to maintain balance by making brief contact between buttocks and snow UK, 2002 butt drop noun a backwards fall while snowboarding US, 1990 butt end noun the discarded end of a cigarette or marijuana cigarette UK, 2000 buttendski noun the buttocks NEW ZEALAND, 1998 butter noun 1 insincerity US, 1945. 2 crack cocaine US, 1998 butter; butters adjective ugly, unattractive. Perhaps a play on BUTT UGLY. Current in south London UK, 1998 butter-and-egg man noun an unsophisticated free spender. Coined by 1920s nightclub performer Texas Guinan for a shy, middle-aged man so flattered by her friendliness that he paid the steep cover charge for every guest in the house and pressed $50 notes on all the entertainers. When he said he was in the dairy business, she introduced him as 'the big butter-and-egg man' US, 1924 butter and eggs noun an illegal lottery. Most commonly known as a NUMBERS game US, 1973 butterball noun 1 a fat person or animal US, 1941. 2 an idiot UK, 1981 butterbar noun a second lieutenant in the US Army. Vietnam coinage, from the gold-bar insignia. US, 1973 butterbox adjective (of a man) effeminate. From an earlier sense (fop) UK, 1971 butter boy noun a very young police officer. After an earlier senses as 'novice' applied to sailors and taxi drivers UK, 1977 buttered bread adjective dead. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 buttered bun noun a prostitute, or, less specifically any woman, who has already had sex with several customers/men; sex with this woman. Also heard in the plural UK, 1699 butter-fingered adjective prone to dropping things UK, 1615 butterfingers noun a clumsy person, prone to dropping things. After the adjective UK, 1837 butterflies in your stomach; butterflies noun the feeling of queasiness that accompanies fear or nervousness. The fluttering of butterflies as a metaphor for the unsettled sensations of trepidation US, 1940 butter flower noun marijuana. From the appearance of cannabis resin US, 1971 butterfly noun 1 a person who is romantically fickle US, 1947. 2 a note thrown from a train to a repair crew US, 1946. 3 in electric line work, a conductor take-up reel US, 1980. 4 in television and film-making, a large screen used to direct or diffuse light US, 1987 butterfly verb 1 to engage in promiscuous sex US, 1946. 2 in the gambling game two-up, to toss the coins so that they flutter in the air and appear to be actually spinning. The object of butterflying is to make the coins fall the way the tosser wishes and is consequently illegal in the game AUSTRALIA, 1949. 3 to leave someone US, 1991 butterfly kiss noun an intimate caress made by fluttering eyelashes over a partner's skin UK, 1871 butterfly wheel noun in drag racing, a bifurcated steering wheel shaped like two opposing butterfly wings US, 2002 butterhead noun a stupid person, especially a stupid black person US, 1963 buttering-up noun an act of persuasive flattery UK, 1819 butter legs noun a promiscuous woman. Because, like butter, her legs are 'easy to spread' AUSTRALIA, 1985 buttermilk noun beer US, 1977 butter up verb to flatter someone with an intent to persuade them UK, 1819 butter would not melt in someone's mouth an appearance of innocence. Usually contemptuous in the phrase 'as if butter would not melt in his/her mouth' occasionally shortened to 'butter would not melt' UK, 1530 butt floss noun a thong or string bikini with only a slender piece of fabric passing between the cheeks of the buttocks US, 1991 butt-fuck verb 1 to copulate anally US, 1968. 2 to light one cigarette with the burning butt of another US, 2001. 3 since the Vietnam war, to attack from the rear US, 1991 buttfucker noun a homosexual male US, 1997 butt fucking noun anal sex US, 1999

Butt Fucking Nowhere noun any remote place US, 2002 butt hair noun a parting down the centre of the head US, 1991 butthead noun a generally unlikeable, disagreeable, dim-witted person US, 1973 butthole noun 1 the anus US, 1951. 2 by extension, a despicable or offensive person US, 1962 buttie noun a walk in the company of a friend. Possibly extended from 'buddy/buttie' (a friend) UK; SCOTLAND, 1988 butt in verb to intrude into another's business or conversation US, 1899 buttski; buttskiy a meddler; a person who interferes in the affairs of others US, 1902 buttkiss noun nothing at all. Variation of BUPKES; BUPKIS US, 1997 butt kit noun an ashtray US, 1958 buttlegger noun a person who smuggles cigarettes from states with low or no cigarette taxes to states with high cigarette taxes US, 1976

buttlegging noun the smuggling of cigarettes from states with low or no cigarette taxes to states with high taxes US, 1977 buttlload noun a large amount US, 1991 buttlly adjective very ugly. A blend of 'butt' and 'ugly' US, 1989 buttmunch noun a contemptible person US, 1996 button noun 1 a police badge US, 1929. 2 by extension, a police officer US, 1953. 3 a person who acts as lookout US, 1992. 4 in organised crime, a person who kills on the orders from above. Sometimes expanded as 'button man' or 'button guy' US, 1966. 5 a small quantity of an item to be smuggled US, 1956. 6 the edible, psychoactive portion of a peyote cactus US, 1953. 7 opium UK, 1996. 8 a tablet of Mandrax™, a branded tranquillizer SOUTH AFRICA, 2002. 9 the clitoris UK, 1900. 10 the chin. Boxing jargon, usually in the phrase 'on the button', describing a blow right on the chin US, 1920. 11 in poker, a marker on the table that signifies the dealer; the dealer UK, 2003. 12 a Chrysler car equipped with push-button automatic transmission US, 1968. 13 in the television industry, a dramatic or funny climax to a scene US, 1990. ► not have a button to have no money IRELAND, 1992. ► on the button exactly, precisely. Possibly from boxing jargon, 'on the button' (on the chin) US, 1903 button verb ► button your lip; button your lips; button your face; button it; button up to stop talking. Often as an injunction or exclamation. Used since 1836; and 'button it' first recorded in 1980 US, 1947 button B adjective very short of money. From the 1920s until the 60s, in a UK telephone box you would press button B to get your money back, hence this pun on 'pressed for money' UK, 1961 button-dicked adjective possessing a small penis US, 1994 buttoned up adjective 1 of a reserved or uncommunicative nature. A figurative image UK, 1936. 2 silent, refusing to answer questions. In line with the injunction to BUTTON YOUR LIP UK, 1959. 3 (of persons) alert, well-prepared UK, 1967. 4 (of a plan or a situation) successfully organised or well-prepared. A variant is 'buttoned' UK, 1940 button-hole noun a button-hole flower; a bouquet UK, 1879 buttonhole maker noun a person who has only females as children US, 1954 button mob noun uniformed police officers, especially in large numbers when present at a political demonstration or similar gathering. Used by those in whom the police seem interested UK, 1977 buttons noun 1 a page (a domestic servant). Survives mainly as Buttons, a character in the pantomime of Cinderella UK, 1848. 2 a messenger US, 1962 button up verb to close completely US, 1941 butt out verb to extricate yourself from the interference in which you are engaging. Generally as an imperative US, 1906 butt plant noun a backwards fall while snowboarding US, 1993 butt plate noun used as a friendly if derisive term by the marines to describe the army infantry, and by the army infantry to describe the marines. In the literal sense, a 'butt plate' is the metal or rubber covering of the end of the stock on a rifle US, 1991 butt plug noun 1 a device that is inserted into the anus during sex, sometimes to retain an enema and sometimes simply for the sensation US, 1989. 2 an offensive, unlikeable person US, 1993

buttrose adjective very bad US, 2002 butt slut noun a male homosexual who takes a passive sexual role US, 1992 butt tuck noun cosmetic surgery reducing and lifting the buttocks US, 1984 butt-twitcher adjective revealing the shape of the wearer's buttocks US, 1951 butt ugly adjective very ugly US, 1986 buttwipe noun 1 toilet paper US, 1971. 2 a despicable or offensive person US, 1991 butty noun 1 a sandwich. Also spelt 'buttie'. Originally used in northern England, especially Liverpool, as a dialect elision of 'buttery'; now widespread, especially as 'jam butty', 'chip butty', etc UK, 1855. 2 a non-powered, towed canal boat that is part of a working pair. Also known as a 'butty boat' UK, 1944. 3 a friend, a workmate; also used as a form of address. Variants are 'butt' and 'buttie'. Either from mining where 'butty' was 'a middleman', or from Romany booty-pal (a fellow workman) or, most probably,

Warwickshire dialect butty (a fellow servant or labourer). Modern use may be influenced by BUDDY UK, 1859 buttyboy noun a friend; a workmate; also used as a form of address. An elaboration of BUTTY UK; WALES, 2002

butu noun heroin UK, 1998 buturakie verb to jump on a person in order to rob them or beat them up. From Fijian buturaka, the equivalent of and perhaps playing on STICK/PUT THE BOOT IN. Picked up from Fijian sailors on the waterfronts of Sydney and Auckland AUSTRALIA, 1958 but why? used humorously with varying meanings. For example, a teacher might ask the class to pass in their homework, whereupon at least one member of the class will mutter, 'But why?' US, 1963 buvare noun anything drinkable. Originally C19 theatrical slang UK, 2002 buy noun 1 a purchase of illicit merchandise, especially drugs US, 1906. 2 a purchase AUSTRALIA, 1987 buy verb 1 to gamble on a result higher than the bookmaker's favoured spread UK, 2001. 2 to accept a fiction as truth UK, 2000. 3 in poker, to draw a card or cards after the initial deal US, 1967. ► buy a homestead to be thrown from your horse CANADA, 1987. ► buy a pot in poker, to win a hand by betting so excessively as to drive all other players from the hand US, 1963. ► buy a pup to be the victim of a swindle UK, 1996. ► buy a suit to kill someone. Referring to funeral attire US, 1997. ► buy an orchard in trucking, to drive off the road into trees or brush US, 1971. ► buy some new shoes to flee while released from custody on bail US, 1949. ► buy someone a suit to bribe someone US, 1984. ► buy the dick to die US, 1971. ► buy the farm to die US, 1958. ► buy the rack in horse racing, to bet on every possible combination of winners in a Daily Double bet US, 1947. ► buy the ranch to die. A primary euphemism used by US soldiers in Vietnam US, 1976 buy-and-bust noun a police operation in which an undercover officer buys an illegal drug and then immediately arrests the seller US, 2000

buy-down noun a bribe paid to a police officer to release a criminal or to reduce the severity of the charges against him US, 2001 buyer noun a gambler who bets on a result higher than the bookmaker's favoured spread UK, 2001 buy-I noun an East Indian. An English adaptation of the Hindi Niyabingi (merchant) JAMAICA, 1979 buying-and-selling cord noun a rough measure of wood depending on the bargaining skill of the buyer and seller. When you're buying, it's more; when you're selling, it's less CANADA, 2001 buy into verb to involve yourself in something, to believe in something. Originally a gambling term, 'to buy into a game' AUSTRALIA, 1943 buy it verb 1 to accept an answer or punch-line; especially in the catchphrase that signals resignation: 'I'll buy it' UK, 1937. 2 to die; to become a casualty. World War 1 and 2 UK, 1825 buy money noun the money used to buy contraband US, 1981 buy-up noun in prison, a purchase of groceries, toiletries, etc, made by prisoners. 'Buy-ups' are restricted to a certain small amount for each prisoner, often consisting of wages earned for prison work AUSTRALIA, 1944

Buzby noun British Post Office Telephones, subsequently British Telecom, the authority controlling the use of citizens' band radio in the UK. Citizens' band radio slang; the name of the cartoon bird created in the late 1970s to market British Post Office Telephones; in turn a play on BUZZ (a telephone call) UK, 1981 buzz noun 1 a rumour; gossip; news UK, 1821. 2 an immediate sensation of a drug or alcohol US, 1849. 3 a thrilling sensation US, 1937. 4 a telephone call US, 1930. 5 a police car US, 1973. 6 x-ray therapy US, 1994 buzz verb 1 to telephone someone; to summon someone by buzzer US, 1929. 2 to call for someone US, 1946. 3 to leave. A variant is 'buzz off' UK, 1914. 4 to kiss someone US, 1945. 5 to feel pleasurable sensations resulting from drug use UK, 1992. 6 to engage in solvent abuse UK; SCOTLAND, 1985. 7 to pick pockets UK, 1812. 8 to snatch a woman's purse US, 1950. 9 to fly very close to an object US, 1944.

10 (used of a computer program or operation) to run without any sign of progress US, 1987. 11 to activate a remote device unlocking a door. From the buzzing sound the device often makes US, 1997.

12 to anger someone; to alienate someone; to annoy US, 1952. 13 of music, to become lively and energetic UK, 1972. ► be buzzing to be happening. A criminal context US, 1941. ► buzz around the barrel to eat a snack US, 1960 buzzard noun the eagle insignia of a full colonel or the Women's Army Corps US, 1931 buzzard's roost noun 1 the office in a railway yard US, 1977. 2 the highest seats in a cinema balcony US, 1920 buzz bomb noun a person rendered emotionally unstable due to long incarceration US, 1976 buzz boy noun a fighter pilot US, 1944 buzzcocks noun people, a general term of address. An extension of cock (a male-to-male term of address). 'Get a buzz, cock', allegedly the final words of a magazine review for 1970s UK television drama series Rock Follies, adopted as the name of Manchester punk band The Buzzcocks. In the mid-1990s BBC television screened a new music panel game that should have been called 'Buzzcocks' for 'Bollocks' and the programme's continuing success inspired this new, heavily ironic usage which, probably by chance, echoes the original sense UK, 2001 buzz-crusher noun anything or anyone who dampens your sense of euphoria US, 1988 buzz-cut noun a very short haircut; a person with a very short haircut. Perhaps from the sound of the electric clippers US, 1977 buzzed adjective 1 drunk US, 1952. 2 drug-intoxicated. From the previous sense US, 1972 buzzed up adjective drug-intoxicated UK, 2000 buzzer noun 1 a badge US, 1914. 2 a burglar alarm US, 1949. 3 a door-bell US, 1934. 4 in a hospital casualty department, a defibrillator paddle US, 1994. 5 in horse racing, a battery-powered device used illegally by a jockey to shock a horse during a race US, 1942 buzzing adjective 1 drunk US, 2003. 2 manic, hyperactive US, 1994 buzzing your tits off adjective very drug-intoxicated UK, 2003 buzz job noun the flying of an aircraft low to the ground to impress or scare those on the ground US, 1943 buzz ticket noun a dole card required to sign on as unemployed in order to receive benefit. The dole is seen here as money to be spent on drugs to get a 'buzz' (a pleasurable sensation); the whole puns on 'bus ticket' UK, 1997 buzztrack noun in the television and film industries, a sound track without modulations US, 1960

buzzword; buzz-phrase noun a currently fashionable word or expression, especially a borrowing from jargon or technology that is used to impress rather than inform and is thus rendered essentially meaningless US, 1946

BW noun an obese hospital patient. An abbreviation of BEACHED WHALE US, 1994

BW nickname the Black Warriors prison gang US, 2000

bwai noun a black youth involved in gang culture. West Indian pronunciation of 'boy' UK, 1994

BWOC noun a popular and visible college girl; a big woman on campus US, 1947

BY adjective (of a telephone line) busy US, 1968 by any means necessary; by whatever means necessary used as a slogan by the radical political left of the 1960s to reflect a belief that the end justifies the means, up to and including violent action US, 1970 by Christchurch! used as an oath. A euphemistic avoidance of blasphemy, used in New Zealand (by reference to Christchurch, Canterbury Province) and in the UK (Christchurch, Dorset) UK, 1984 by crikey! used as a euphemism for 'by Christ!' AUSTRALIA, 1901

by cripes! used as a euphemism for 'by Christ!' AUSTRALIA, 1902 bye-bye; bye-byes noun sleep. From an earlier use as a soothing sound used to lull a child to sleep, perhaps from a shortening of 'lullaby' UK, 1867 bye Felicia! used for inviting someone to leave. From the film Friday US, 2004 bye now goodbye UK, 1967 by George! used as a mild exclamation or oath. Derives from St George, the patron saint of England UK, 1598 by George, one of these days I gotta straighten up that closet! used as a humorous commentary on a cluttered mess. A signature line from the comedy Fibber McGee and Moll (radio 1935–1957, television 1959–1960). Repeated with referential humour US, 1958 by golly! used as a euphemism for 'by God!' US, 1833 by guess and by gosh adjective without planning, relying on serendipity US, 1914 by gum! used euphemistically for 'by God'. Northern English usage UK, 1960 by heck! used as an exclamation of surprise, indignation, etc.; also as a means of stressing what follows. Northern English usage US, 1922 by here; by there adverb here; there. A south Walian form probably based on the rhythm or sound of the original Welsh yma (here) and yno (there) UK, 1985 by himself in the box used as a stock answer to describe a racehorse's lineage if it is either unknown or none of the asker's business AUSTRALIA, 1989

by hokey! used for expressing great surprise NEW ZEALAND, 2001

by jumbo! used as a substitute for an oath US, 1959 by me in poker, used for expressing a player's decision not to bet US, 1988

BYO a request that guests 'bring your own' US, 1968

BYOB used in invitations as an instruction to bring your own booze or bottle US, 1968

BYOG an invitation to bring your own grog to a party NEW ZEALAND, 1976

byplay noun a device on a dishonest carnival game that can be activated to let players win US, 1950 bysie-bye goodbye. An elaboration of 'bye' UK, 1984 by the centre!; by the left! used as an emphatic register of shock, surprise, etc. Adopted, originally by the military, from military drill commands UK, 1971 by the holy old dynamiting Jesus! used as an extreme oath in Nova Scotia CANADA, 1988 by the holy old twist used as an oath. Many Nova Scotia oaths refer to Christ and go back to the Elizabethan style of sacrilegious, elaborate expressions (e.g. the twisted body on the cross echoes 'sblood' (God's blood) and 'sbody' (God's body) CANADA, 1988 by-the-hour hotel; by-the-hour motel noun a motel or hotel used by prostitutes where it is possible to rent a room in short increments US, 1992 by the lord liftin' Jesus! one of many elaborate Nova Scotian sacrilegious oaths CANADA, 1988 by the rattly-eyed Jesus! in Nova Scotia, used as an oath CANADA, 1999

Cc

C noun 1 the Viet Cong; a member of the Viet Cong US, 1966. 2 cocaine US, 1921. 3 amphetamines. Heard as 'the C' UK, 2003. 4 methcathinone. Heard as 'the C' US, 2003. 5 a woman viewed as a sexual object. An abbreviation of CUNT US, 1976. 6 a CBE (Commander of the Order of the British Empire). Civil servant usage; suggestive of a casual familiarity with the honour UK, 1967. 7 contraception US, 1997. 8 one hundred dollars US, 1839. 9 in poker, the third player to the left of the dealer US, 1988. 10 the commission charged by a bookmaker US, 1960

C-47 noun a clothes peg. Used by television and film crews, mocking the formality of the official jargon of their craft US, 2003 cab noun ► take a cab to die US, 2000 caballo noun 1 heroin. Spanish for 'horse' US, 1970. 2 a person who smuggles drugs into a prison. Spanish for 'horse', which is almost a MULE US, 1992 cabaret verb 1 to lie in bed masturbating US, 1950. 2 to use an addictive drug in a semi-controlled pattern US, 1958 cabbage noun 1 money US, 1903. 2 the vagina. Perhaps from the image of leaves peeling back US, 1967. 3 low grade marijuana. From the quality of the leaves NEW ZEALAND, 2002. 4 a coronary artery bypass graft. A loose pronunciation of the acronym CABG US, 1994 cabbage verb 1 to become vegetable-like UK, 2001. 2 to smoke marijuana, especially low grade marijuana NEW ZEALAND, 1998

cabbage adjective poor-quality NEW ZEALAND, 1990

cabbage cutter noun on the railways, a freight engine US, 1977 cabbaged adjective 1 mentally and physically exhausted. Punning on 'a vegetative state' UK, 1992. 2 under the influence of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1991. 3 drunk UK, 2002 cabbage-eater noun a German or Russian immigrant. Offensive US, 1942 cabbage hat noun a Royal Marine. After the uniform green beret UK, 1979 cabbage out verb to relax NEW ZEALAND, 2003 cabbage patch noun a remote, insignificant place US, 1862 cabbage patch nickname 1 the state of Victoria, Australia. Also referred to as 'cabbage garden' and 'the cabbage state'. Hence, a native may be a 'cabbage patcher', 'cabbage gardener' or 'cabbage stater' AUSTRALIA, 1882. 2 Kingston prison in Portsmouth UK, 1996

Cabbagetown nickname a mixed residential and business area near downtown in Toronto. This term was likely derived from the days when poor people lived downtown and presumably could only afford to eat cabbage CANADA, 1958 cabby; cabbie verb to drive a motor vehicle; to be driven. Army use UK, 1974 cabello noun cocaine, 2003

cabez noun intelligence. From the Spanish cabeza (head) TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956 cab freight noun an attractive woman passenger in a truck US, 1967 cabin car noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 cabin stabbing noun (from a male perspective) an act of conventional sexual intercourse. As in the title of the 1990 song 'Cabin Stabbing' by Super Cat (William Maraugh) JAMAICA, 2001 cab joint noun a brothel whose customers are spotted and transported by taxi drivers US, 1930 cabled adjective (of a vehicle) equipped with a winch US, 2004 cábóg noun an ignorant male; a rustic clothopper IRELAND, 2004

caboodle noun all of something US, 1848 caboose noun 1 the buttocks US, 1919. 2 the final participant in serial sex. From the phrase PULL A TRAIN used to describe the practice US, 1970. 3 the youngest child in a family US, 1969. 4 a jail US, 1865. 5 a small house or shack TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956. 6 a cooking shed CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985 caboose bounce noun a train consisting of nothing more than an engine and a brakevan (caboose) US, 1929 cabouche noun ► see: BAROUCHE cabron noun a guy, especially a brutish or dim-witted one. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1974 cab sav noun cabernet sauvignon wine AUSTRALIA, 1990

ca-ca noun 1 excrement. Probably from Spanish children's speech; used by non-Spanish speakers. Sometimes seen spelt as 'kaka' or other such variations US, 1952. 2 nonsense US, 1980. 3 marijuana, especially if poor quality, adulterated or fake US, 1969. 4 heroin, especially low quality heroin US, 1986. 5 drugs, not necessarily heroin US, 1995 caca-hole noun the anus TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

cack; cak; kack noun 1 excrement AUSTRALIA, 1972. 2 rubbish, nonsense UK, 1997. 3 someone or something extremely funny AUSTRALIA, 1989

cack; cak; kack verb 1 to fall asleep US, 1959. 2 to defecate. Like many other words for bodily functions, 'cack' was part of everyday conventional speech for many years before slipping into impolite usage in the late C19 UK, 1436. ► cack it to be very nervous or worried; to feel thoroughly frightened. A variation of SHIT IT UK, 2002. ► cack your dacks 1 to lose control of your bowels AUSTRALIA, 1992. 2 to become scared AUSTRALIA, 1992. ► cack yourself 1 to be terrified. Literally 'to shit yourself'; used figuratively (most of the time), often as an exaggeration UK, 2000. 2 to laugh uncontrollably. A variant is 'cack yourself laughing' AUSTRALIA, 1987 cack; kack adjective contemptible, unpleasant, inferior. Variant spellings abound – 'cak', 'kak', etc UK, 1996 cackersarnie noun the condition that exists when someone pulls your trousers or underpants forcefully upward, forming a wedge between buttock cheeks; the act of putting someone in that position. Mainly used by schoolboys. From CACK (excrement, faeces) and SARNIE (sandwich) UK, 2003

cack-handed adjective left-handed; clumsy UK, 1854

cackies noun trousers, especially khakis US, 1990 cackle verb 1 to chatter; to talk inconsequentially UK, 1530. 2 to confess and/or to inform on others US, 1949. 3 as part of a controlled roll of dice, to give them the appearance and sound of being shaken while actually preventing their turning US, 1963 cackle crate noun in trucking, a truck hauling chickens US, 1946 cackle factory noun a mental hospital US, 1950 cacky noun 1 a yellowish-brown colour. From the adjective sense (shitty), giving a joke at the expense of 'khaki' UK, 1984. 2 human excrement. Childish UK, 1967 cacky adjective 1 covered with excrement; hence filthy, malodorous UK, 1937. 2 in the language of striptease, overtly if not excessively sexual US, 1987

cacto noun the moth Cactoblastis cactorum, a successful biological control of introduced prickly pear AUSTRALIA, 1941 cactus noun in hospital usage, a severely burnt patient US, 1994. ► in the cactus in trouble, especially with one person NEW ZEALAND, 1953. ► out in the cactus in a very remote area NEW ZEALAND, 1963

cactus adjective ruined, wrecked AUSTRALIA, 1945 cactus juice noun tequila; mescal US, 1971 cad noun 1 an ill-bred, ill-mannered lout UK, 1827. 2 a Cadillac car US, 1929. 3 cadmium UK, 1978. 4 one ounce of marijuana. A confusion with CAN expanded to CADILLAC US, 2001. 5 a railway conductor US, 1977

cadaver cadet noun a necrophile US, 1987 cadbury noun a person who gets drunk on very little alcohol. Referring to the advertising slogan of Cadbury Dairy Milk chocolate, which has 'a glass and a half of full cream milk' AUSTRALIA, 1996 caddie shack noun any small building where gold caddies congregate and wait for work US, 1953

caddy adjective sharp, stylish, fashionable US, 1984

Caddy; Caddie noun a Cadillac car US, 1929

caddy blackjack noun a private game of blackjack US, 1981 caddy-old-punch noun an improvised, brown-paper kite GUYANA, 1996 cadet noun 1 a pimp US, 1904. 2 a new drug user US, 1949 cadge verb to beg; to wheedle something from someone US, 1812 cadger noun a beggar; a scrounger UK, 1851 cadie; caddy; caddie noun a hat; originally a bush name for a slouch hat. English gypsy use AUSTRALIA, 1898 cadillac noun 1 cocaine US, 1953. 2 one ounce of a powdered drug US, 1950. 3 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994. 4 a cup of coffee with cream and sugar US, 1989. 5 a note-and-string based method of communication in prison US, 2000. 6 the maximum amount which may be spent at a prison canteen US, 1989. 7 in the language of the homeless, a shopping cart US, 1997. 8 the US Army M-1 tank US, 1991. 9 a large surfboard used for big-wave conditions US, 1965

Cadillac bunk noun a single prison bed in a setting where most beds are two-tiered bunk beds US, 1989 cadillac express noun the drug methcathinone US, 1998

Cadillac pusher noun a person whose job it is to push carts with garments through the streets US, 2002 café au lait noun a person of mixed race with skin the shade of milky coffee UK, 1967

caff noun a café UK, 1931 caffuffle noun chaos, confusion BARBADOS, 1975

caffuffle verb to confuse someone or something BARBADOS, 1965 cake noun 1 an elevator US, 1938. 2 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1931. 3 an abandoned house US, 2000. 4 a car. Bikes (motorcycle) usage US, 1981. 5 the body US, 1973 caged lion noun in horse racing, a racehorse battling back from apparent defeat to win a race AUSTRALIA, 1989 cake girl noun a ticket seller in a theatre US, 1952 cagey adjective wary, non-committal, cautious US, 1893 caggie; kaggie noun a cagoule or kagool (a weatherproof outer-garment) UK, 1984 cahoo-hole noun a pothole in the road CANADA, 1992

cahoots noun ► in cahoots with conspiring or planning with someone US, 1829

Cain and Abel; Cain noun a table. Rhyming slang, based on the sons of Adam and Eve who are remembered as the first murderer and his victim; recorded by Ducange Anglicus in 1857 UK, 1857

caine; cane noun cocaine, crack cocaine US, 1983

Caisse Pop noun in Quebec, a kind of cooperative bank. The term is shortened from Caisse Populaire or 'popular bank', a French term universally used by anglophones CANADA, 2001

cak noun ► see: CACK cake noun 1 a beautiful girl or young woman US, 1941. 2 the female breast US, 1957. 3 the vagina US, 1967. 4 bread TRISTAN DA CUNHA, 2000. 5 a meal provided as compensation in addition to wages US, 1973. 6 money; a good deal of money. Extends, perhaps, from BREAD (money) but 'cake' has traditionally been associated with wealth. 'Qu'il mangent de la brioche' – 'Let them eat cake', attributed to Queen Marie-Antoinette (1755–93) on being told that her people had no bread US, 1965. 7 marijuana resin UK, 2001. 8 a round disc of crack cocaine US, 1994. 9 a rural person. Derogatory IRELAND, 1991.

► get your cake to date your girlfriend US, 2001. ► off your cake confused, drug-intoxicated. The latter meaning gained dates from the late C20 and the distinction between the two senses may be blurred UK, 2000 cake adjective 1 easy US, 1968. 2 homosexual. Clipped from FRUITCAKE (a homosexual man) UK, 2001 cake boy noun an attractive, usually younger homosexual male US, 1995 cake-cutting noun short-changing US, 1993 caked adjective 1 to be wealthy, monied. From CAKE (money). Variants include 'caked out', 'caked up' and 'cakeholed' UK, 1940s. 2 drug-intoxicated US, 1994 cake-eater noun 1 an effeminate young man, who may or may not be homosexual. An important word of the flapper era, but seldom heard thereafter US, 1916. 2 a person who enjoys performing oral sex on women US, 1967

cakehead noun an idiot, a fool UK, 1998 cake hole noun 1 the vagina UK, 2001. 2 the mouth. Also heard as 'cake 'ole' UK, 1943 cake-o adjective all right, correct, safe, suitable, what is required, comfortable. Back slang for OK UK, 2001 cakes noun 1 the buttocks, especially female buttocks US, 1993. 2 crack cocaine UK, 2003 cake tin nickname the Wellington, New Zealand, sports stadium NEW ZEALAND, 2001 cakewalk noun an easy or overwhelming success. Originally a boxing term for an easy victory, then expanded to general use US, 1897 cakey adjective foolish, daft UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

calabash cut noun a haircut in which the hair is cut on a line equidistant from the top of the head. A 'calabash' is a squash, and the suggestion is that a hollowed out squash shell was used to guide the scissors TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990 calaboose noun a jail, especially a local one. From the Spanish calabazo (dungeon) US, 1792 calamity howler noun a person who predicts disaster US, 1892

Calamity Jane noun in a deck of playing cards, the queen of spades. Martha Jane 'Calamity Jane' Canary (1852–1903) was a legendary figure in the settling of the western US, 1988 calbo noun heroin. Probably from a confusion of CABALLO (heroin) UK, 2003

calc out verb to calculate something US, 1999 calculator noun 1 in horse racing, a parimutuel clerk who calculates odds US, 1976. 2 in poker, a player skilled at assessing the hands of other players US, 1988

Calcutta noun 1 butter. Rhyming slang UK, 1998. 2 a Calcutta sweep AUSTRALIA, 1950

Calcutta sweeps; Calcutta sweep noun a type of sweepstake in which contestants' names are auctioned off AUSTRALIA, 1914

caleche noun in Quebec, a one-horse, two-wheeled carriage CANADA, 1963 calendar noun a prison sentence of one year US, 1926 calendar days; calendar time noun the bleed period of a woman's menstrual cycle US, 1954 calf noun 1 a young teenage girl US, 1959. 2 a Cadillac car US, 1980 ► see: COW'S CALF. ► have a calf to become emotionally overwrought; to lose control. A variation born of HAVE A COW US, 1999 calf-lick noun a limp quiff, or a tuft of hair on someone's forehead which will not lie smoothly. Northern dialect in wider use UK, 1954 calf slobber noun meringue US, 1960 calf's tail noun the cord attached to a railway whistle US, 1946

Calgary Redeye noun a drink made of tomato juice and beer CANADA, 1987

Cali noun 1 California US, 1930. 2 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, originating in California. A shortening of CALIFORNIA ECSTASY, 1999 calibrate verb to correct someone's information or opinion. Derives from making minor adjustments to high-tech weaponry US, 2003 calico cluck noun a female railway worker US, 1975

Cali dreamers noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. The whole plays on the song 'California Dreamin' by The Mamas and Papas, 1966 UK, 1999

Califas nickname California. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1974

California bankroll noun a single large-denomination note wrapped around small-denomination note, giving the impression of a great deal of money US, 1980

California bible noun a deck of playing cards US, 1960

California blackjack noun in blackjack, an ace and a nine, which produce a score of 20, not 21 US, 1982

California blankets noun newspaper used as bedding US, 1926

California C-note noun a ten-dollar note US, 1983

California coffee noun inexpensive wine US, 1976

California cornflakes noun cocaine US, 1976

California Crybaby Division nickname in the Korean war, the 40th California National Guard Division US, 1989

California ecstasy noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, originating in California 1999

California girl noun a variety of marijuana US, 2002

Californian noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996

Californian northern lights noun a hybrid marijuana grown in California. The northern lights (aurora borealis), a luminous atmospheric display, is a metaphor for potent effects and a romantic simile for the plant's appearance US, 1999

California pimping noun working as a pimp in a relaxed, low-pressure style US, 1972

California quail noun a tablet of the recreational drug methaqualone, the recreational drug best known as Quaaludes™ US, 1997

California sunrise noun 1 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy; a blend of amphetamine and caffeine marketed as MDMA UK, 1996. 2 LSD. A variation of CALIFORNIA SUNSHINE UK, 1998

California sunshine noun LSD US, 1977

California tilt noun a car with the bonnet (hood) sloping downward to a front end that is lower than the rear end US, 1976

California tires noun tyres with little remaining tread US, 1971

California turnaround noun any powerful central nervous system stimulant. So potent that a trucker who takes one can drive to California and back US, 1976

Californicator noun a Californian, especially one who has moved to Oregon or Washington state US, 1978 calipers noun dice that are true to an extremely minute tolerance, approximately 1/1000th of an inch US, 1950

Cali red beard noun a distinctive marijuana grown in California US, 1999

call noun 1 an opinion; a prediction US, 1999. 2 the initial flooding of sensations after injecting heroin US, 1973 call verb ► call Earl to vomit US, 1968. ► call for a cab (of a jockey) to make jerky arm movements as he battles to remain in the saddle UK, 1967. ► call for Herb to vomit. An echoic play on the sounds produced by a sudden expulsion of vomit AUSTRALIA, 1984. ► call for Hughie to vomit. Onomatopoeic play on Hughie as the involuntary sounds of vomiting. A joke current in the 1970s described getting drunk on green crème de menthe and calling for television personality Hughie Green (1920–97) UK, 1974. ► call for the butter to have completed a task or arrived at your destination. Fishing skippers who claimed the ability to locate fish by the taste of the bottom mud would smear butter on a lead weight, lower it to the bottom, and then taste the mud brought to the surface on the buttered lead US, 1975. ► call hogs to snore US, 1973. ► call it on to challenge another gang to a gang fight US, 1955. ► call Ralph to vomit US, 1983. ► call someone full-mouth to address your elder without using an honorific Mr or Mrs GUIYANA, 1995. ► call someone raw to address your elder without using an honorific Mr or Mrs ANGUILLA, 1995. ► call the shots to be in a position of power; to direct the actions of others US, 1967

callabo noun a collaboration US, 2002 callaloo noun a confused set of circumstances; a mix-up. From the name of a popular stew TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

call book noun a list, formal or highly informal, kept by a pool hustler, of locations where money can be made playing pool US, 1990

call boy noun 1 a male prostitute whose clients book his services by telephone US, 1942. 2 a boy or young man who called railway workers to work US, 1898 calley noun marijuana. From KALI and COLLIE JAMAICA, 1975

call girl noun a prostitute who makes bookings with customers by telephone US, 1922

call house noun a brothel from which prostitutes are procured by telephone US, 1913 callibogus noun an alcoholic drink of spruce beer, rum or whisky, and molasses CANADA, 1995 calling card noun 1 a fingerprint US, 1949. 2 needle marks on a drug user's arm US, 1971. 3 during the Vietnam war, a printed card identifying the unit, left on the bodies of dead enemy soldiers US, 1990 calling station noun in poker, an unskilled player who calls bets prematurely US, 1979

call it verb while working as a prostitute, to state the price expected for the service requested UK, 1987

Call Me God noun a CMG (Commander of the Order of St Michael and St George). A pun elaborated on the initials; used by civil servants demonstrating a jocular familiarity with the honour UK, 1961

call money noun a demand for payment of a debt US, 1989 call of the great outdoors noun a need to defecate or urinate. An elaboration of 'a call of nature' which is the conventional euphemism UK, 1965

call out verb to challenge someone to a fight US, 1980 call that George! used for expressing finality or completion TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1983

call-up noun in prison, a summons to a governor's office UK, 2001

Cally nickname ► see: CARLY cally dosh noun money UK, 1988 calmer noun a barbiturate or other central nervous system depressant UK, 1999

Calumet fever noun (among Ottawa valley lumbermen) fear of riding logs down the slide at Calumet, Quebec CANADA, 1964

Calvin Klein noun 1 wine. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of American fashion designer Calvin Klein (b.1942). Sometimes shortened to 'Calvin' UK, 1998. 2 a fine. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of fashion designer Calvin Klein (b.1942) UK, 1998

Calvin Klein special noun a mixture of cocaine and the recreational drug ketamine. A back formation from the initials US, 1995

Calvins noun blue jeans or underwear designed by Calvin Klein US, 1982 cam noun 1 camouflage. Military UK, 1995. 2 a camera 2003

Camberwell carrot noun an exceptionally long and fat marijuana cigarette UK, 1987

Cambo adjective Cambodian US, 1976

Cambodian red noun marijuana from Cambodia. Named after its reddish hue US, 1973

Cambodia trip noun a highly potent strain of marijuana from Cambodia US, 1960s?

Cambodie adjective Cambodian. Vietnam war usage US, 1964

Camden Lock noun a shock. Rhyming slang, based on a vibrant area of north London UK, 1998

Camden rules noun poor table manners. A tribute to Camden, New Jersey US, 1986 came noun cocaine. Probably by misspelling or mishearing of 'cane' (cocaine) UK, 1953 camel noun 1 in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, a person who maintains sobriety. From the sense of 'dry as a camel' US, 1998. 2 a poor performing racehorse AUSTRALIA, 1989. 3 a marijuana cigarette US, 1976 camel driver noun an Arab US, 1985 camelfucker noun an Arab. Offensive US, 1998 camel jockey; camel jock noun a Arab; anyone mistaken for an Arab. Used with contempt US, 1961 camel's hump noun an act of defecation. Rhyming slang for DUMP UK, 2003 camel stop noun a taxi stand. New York police slang; an allusion to the preponderance of immigrants in New York's taxi-driving workforce US, 2003 camel toe noun the condition that exists when a tight-fitting pair of trousers, shorts, bathing suit or other garment forms a wedge or cleft between a woman's labia, accentuating their shape US, 1994 camera noun a police radar unit US, 1976

Camilla Parker-Bowles noun a Rolls Royce car, usually called a 'rolls'. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of the mistress (later wife) of Prince Charles, Prince of Wales. Variants are 'Camilla Parker', 'Parker-Bowles' and 'Parker' UK, 1998

Camille noun 1 a homosexual man who moves from one unfortunate, failed love affair to another US, 1972. 2 a melodramatic hospital patient who always feels on the verge of dying. From the novel by Alexandre Dumas US, 1994

camisole noun a strait jacket used to restrain the violent or insane US, 1949 cammies; camies noun a camouflage uniform US, 1971

camo noun camouflage US, 1984 camouflage noun the disguise and staged personality assumed by an expert card counter playing blackjack in a casino in the hope of avoiding detection and ejection US, 1991 camp noun 1 ostentation, flamboyant behaviour; extravagance of gesture, style etc; also, deliberately overt effeminacy used to signal homosexuality. May be further refined (or otherwise) as HIGH CAMP or LOW CAMP US, 1999. 2 a dramatically effeminate homosexual man. In Australia not necessarily a flagrantly effeminate homosexual US, 1923. 3 a habitual resting place for wild animals AUSTRALIA, 1947. 4 a temporary location to stay at AUSTRALIA, 1994. 5 a resting or holding place for stock animals AUSTRALIA, 1845. 6 a rest AUSTRALIA, 1899. 7 jail US, 1968. ► in camp of a government or military officer, being based away from the regular place of duty INDIA, 2003 camp verb 1 to exhibit humorously exaggerated, dramatic, effeminate mannerisms (usually but not exclusively of a homosexual male). Variants are 'camp around', 'camp about' and 'camp it up' US, 1925. 2 to stay at a place temporarily; to have a short rest. Originally (1840s) meaning 'to stop travelling or working and set up a quick camp for making refreshments' AUSTRALIA, 1848. 3 to sit on a man's face during heterosexual love-making. A rare non-gay usage, from the conventional sense 'to take up temporary residence' UK, 2001. 4 (of wild animals) to rest or sleep AUSTRALIA, 1861

camp adjective 1 ostentatious, effeminate, affected; usually applied to behaviour or style. Possibly French in origin; however it may well be an ironic reversal of 'unkempt' (ungroomed) or, less likely, derive from the acronym KAMP: 'known as male prostitute' UK, 1909. 2 homosexual. In Australia not necessarily flagrantly effeminate AUSTRALIA, 1941 campaign noun ► on a campaign drunk UK, 2002 campaign verb in horse racing, to run a racing stable as a business US, 1951 camp as a row of tents adjective 1 flagrantly homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1965. 2 (often, but not exclusively, of homosexual men) ostentatious, effeminate, extravagantly styled. Elaboration of CAMP (ostentatious, etc.), punning on conventional 'camping'. The phrase is often ornamented with adjectives that describe the tents as 'frilly', 'pink', etc UK, 1967 camp as Christmas adjective (often, but not exclusively, of homosexual men) ostentatious, effeminate, extravagantly styled UK, 1999 camp bitch noun an overtly, extravagantly effeminate male homosexual US, 1964 camper noun 1 any person. Usually described as a 'happy camper' or 'unhappy camper', but sometimes simply as a 'camper' US, 1987. 2 a restaurant customer who lingers too long at their table US, 1995 campy noun a showing-off of qualities that are considered camp UK, 1976 campness noun a tendency towards or, simply, a quality of effeminacy or flamboyance, hence of homosexual behaviour UK, 1971 camp thief; camp robber nickname the grey jay or Canada jay. Also known by these names in the US since 1893, this bird is nicknamed for its habit of scrounging food at outdoor work and play sites CANADA, 1893 campus noun a prison's grounds US, 1982

campy adjective melodramatically and blatantly homosexual US, 1965

Cam red noun Cambodian red marijuana US, 2003 cam-stick noun a stick of face makeup used for camouflage. Military UK, 2001

Cam trip noun a highly potent strain of marijuana from Cambodia. An abbreviated form of CAMBODIA TRIP UK, 2001 can noun 1 a jail or prison US, 1912. 2 a toilet; a bathroom or water closet US, 1914. 3 the buttocks US, 1914. 4 an imprecise amount of marijuana, usually one or two ounces. Derived from the practice in the 1940s of selling marijuana in Prince Albert tobacco cans US, 1967. 5 one ounce of marijuana. Probably from a pipe tobacco container, possibly a shortening of 'cannabis' US, 1959. 6 marijuana. Probably a shortening of 'cannabis' but possibly from 'can' (a measured amount of cannabis) UK, 1986. 7 a Saracen armoured-car UK, 1995. 8 a railway tank carriage US, 1946. 9 a car US, 1970. 10 a safe US, 1949. 11 in electric line work, an overhead transformer US, 1980. 12 in drag racing, nitromethane fuel US, 1968. ► in the can not trying to win US, 1951 can verb 1 to discharge someone from employment US, 1908. 2 to stop something, to cease something US, 1906 canab noun marijuana. Also variant 'canaib'. From the cannabis plant, 2001

Canada flash noun in the Canadian military, a visible identification badge CANADA, 1995

Canada honker noun a Canada goose US, 1927

Canada potato noun a Jerusalem artichoke CANADA, 1998

Canadian noun 1 a Jewish person US, 1950. 2 a multiple bet UK, 1991

Canadian bacon noun in homosexual usage, an uncircumcised penis US, 1987

Canadian black noun dark marijuana from Canada US, 1969

Canadian bouncer noun the central nervous system depressant Seconal™, manufactured in Canada US, 1971

Canadian passport noun a hair style in which the hair is worn short at the front and long at the back. Most commonly known as a MULLET US, 2000

Can Air noun a putative merged Air Canada/Canadian Airlines conglomeration CANADA, 1991 canal boat noun the Horserace Totaliser Board, the Tote. Rhyming slang. The Tote was created by an Act of Parliament in 1928. This term (unlike synonymous NANNY GOAT) does not appear until after 1972 when the legislation was amended to allow the Tote to operate as an on-course bookmaker UK, 1984 canal boats noun big shoes US, 1926 canal conch noun a promiscuous woman. The 'conch' at issue is of the vaginal type TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1985 canal wrench noun in oil drilling, a shovel US, 1954 canamo noun marijuana. From the Spanish cañamo (hemp) and cañamo indio (cannabis) US, 1971 can-a-piss noun a can of beer NEW ZEALAND, 1998 canappa noun marijuana. The Italian name given to the cannabis plant US, 1938 canary noun 1 a female singer UK, 1886. 2 a police informer. Canaries sing, as do informers US, 1929. 3 a person who is perceived to bring bad luck US, 1974. 4 a capsule of pentobarbital sodium (trade name Nembutal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1973 canary verb to inform to the police US, 1958 can-can noun gossip TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956 cancel verb ► cancel someone's ticket to kill someone US, 1970

Cancel Canada's Freedom nickname For the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation, a leftist political party that evolved into Canada's New Democratic Party. The parody of the acronym CCF arose from critics feeling that the party was too global in its outlook and not nationalistic enough CANADA, 1985 cancelled stick noun a tobacco cigarette that has been emptied of tobacco and refilled with marijuana US, 1966 cancer noun 1 any artificial sweetener. Because of the belief that the sweeteners are carcinogens US, 1986. 2 rust or corrosion on a car body US, 1975

Cancer Alley noun any area with high levels of environmental carcinogens US, 1981 cancer center noun a tobacco shop US, 1955 cancer stick noun a cigarette US, 1958

Cancon noun Canadian Content, a percentage of which is required in broadcasting CANADA, 2002

CanCult noun Canadian Culture. Subsidised by the government, and enjoying a measure of world recognition, this industry is the site of much infighting and jealousy CANADA, 2002

c and b there used as an invitation to an event TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

c and d noun cocaine and marijuana UK, 1997

C and E noun 1 a member of the church who only goes to services at Christmas and Easter UK, 1966. 2 in craps, a bet on any craps and eleven US, 1985

C and H noun cocaine and heroin. A borrowing of a branded name for sugar; sometimes used with the sugar company's advertising slogan: 'pure cane sugar from Hawaii' US, 1980 can die! used for expressing despondency SINGAPORE, 2002

candle noun 1 a semi-solid stalactite of nasal mucus UK, 2000. 2 an emergency flare US, 1971 candle money noun a pay-out on fire insurance. Police and underworld use; derives from a candle left burning in an insured property, perhaps deliberately UK, 1958 candlestick noun in electric line work, a fiberglass downlead bracket US, 1980

C and M noun a mixture of cocaine and morphine US, 1950 can-do adjective confident, optimistic US, 1921 candy noun 1 any barbiturate capsule US, 1969. 2 cocaine US, 1931. 3 a sugar cube treated with LSD US, 1972. 4 crack cocaine UK, 2003. 5 inexpensive plastic or acrylic jewellery US, 1949. 6 cash US, 2003. 7 anything good or enjoyable US, 1984. 8 a girl with extremely conservative sexual mores US, 1961 candy verb to enhance a marijuana cigarette with another drug US, 1982 candy adjective excellent US, 1991 candy apple red noun bright red; in hot rodding, a clear coated metallic red paint US, 1963 candy-armed adjective injured. Used for describing pitchers in the game of baseball US, 1953 candy-ass noun a weak person US, 1970 candy-ass; candy-assed adjective weak, ineffective, timid US, 1952 candy-bar punk; candy-bar fag noun a male prisoner whose sexual favours are bought with purchases from the prison shop US, 1972 candy butcher noun a walking vendor who sells sweets US, 1966 candy C; candy cee noun cocaine. An elaboration of CANDY (cocaine) by combination with C (cocaine) US, 1953 candycaine; candycane noun cocaine. Punning on the Christmas hard peppermint 'candy cane' and 'cocaine' US, 1989 candy flip noun 1 a combination of LSD and MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, taken at the same time US, 1992. 2 an LSD-based drug-experience enhanced with a multiplicity of other intoxicants. From CANDY (cocaine) US, 1996 candy floss noun the recovered entrails of someone who has been hit by a train. From the technique employed UK, 2002 candy grabbers noun in electric line work, channel lock pliers US, 1980 candy kid noun a girl who wears a lot of inexpensive plastic or acrylic jewellery CANADA, 2002 candy maker noun a male homosexual who masturbates a partner to ejaculation and then licks and swallows the semen US, 1964 candyman noun 1 a drug dealer, especially a cocaine dealer; a heavy cocaine user US, 1969. 2 a field enforcement official of the Federal Communication Commission US, 1976 candy pail noun a chamber pot CANADA, 1987 candy stick noun a cigarette with a menthol filter US, 1984 candy store noun a casino with rules that favour gamblers US, 1991 candystore dice noun mass-produced dice that are imperfect even when unaltered by a cheat US, 1974 candy striper noun a teenaged volunteer nursing assistant in a hospital. From their pink and white uniforms US, 1963 candy wagon noun in trucking, a truck with a light load US, 1942 candy wrapper noun a hundred-dollar note. Probably because of its association with the snorting of cocaine, or 'nose candy' US, 1983 cane noun 1 a short crowbar used by criminals for breaking and entering. An ironic allusion to a gentleman's cane UK, 1937. 2 sugar US, 1990 ► see: CAINE cane verb 1 to defeat someone in a humiliating fashion UK, 1937. 2 to have sex US, 1966. 3 to do something to excess or, at least, to the limit UK, 2001. ► cane the loop to play the 9th, 10th and 11th holes at St Andrews golf course, Scotland, in two under par UK, 1986

caned adjective drug-intoxicated, drunk UK, 1997 cane it verb 1 to drive at speed. To 'cane' (to punish) a motor UK, 1997. 2 to react, especially beyond sensible physical limitations, to chemical stimulants taken recreationally UK, 2002 can house noun a brothel US, 1906

Caniac noun an ice hockey fan of the Montreal Canadiens who travels to other cities to see playoff games. The term comes from the combining into one word of shortened forms of 'Canadiens' and 'maniacs' CANADA, 2002 can I do you now, sir? a catchphrase that is usually appropriate to context. Adopted from the radio comedy It's That Man Again, otherwise known as ITMA, that was broadcast on the BBC from 1939–49; the catchphrase was spoken by Mrs Mopp, the office char, played by Dorothy Summers. Still heard occasionally UK, 1939 can I speak to you? used as the commonest euphemism for 'Are you willing to listen to a corrupt proposal I am about to put to you?' UK, 1977 canister noun 1 a safe US, 1950. 2 the head UK, 2000 can it! be quiet!; stop talking! US, 1919 cankle noun a thick ankle. Possibly, as a compound of 'calf' and 'ankle' US, 2000

CanLit noun Canadian literature CANADA, 2002

cannatt noun a mean, insignificant, unpleasant person IRELAND, 1992 canned adjective 1 tipsy, drunk US, 1918. 2 of music, recorded, especially to serve as background music. Derogatory UK, 1904. 3 recorded, repetitive US, 1903 canned goods noun 1 a virgin US, 1967. 2 a male who has never experienced passive anal sex US, 1972 canned heat noun a gel formed with liquid ethanol and saturated calcium acetate solution; when ignited, the alcohol in the gel burns. Used as a source of fuel in portable cooking stoves and as a source of alcohol by truly desperate derelicts US, 1950 canned up adjective drunk on canned beer or lager UK, 1999 cannibal noun a person who performs oral sex US, 1916 cannon noun 1 a large handgun US, 1846. 2 a large surfboard designed for big-wave conditions US, 1965. 3 an extra large marijuana cigarette UK, 1999. 4 a muscular arm US, 1989. 5 a pickpocket US, 1909 cannonball noun 1 an express train US, 1894. 2 a dive in which the diver grips and tucks their knees against their chest to maximise the splash US, 1949 cannonball adjective (used of a road race) unofficial, illegal US, 1992 cannon-cocker noun a member of an artillery unit. Vietnam war usage US, 1952 cannon fodder noun infantry soldiers. Used with sympathy or derision by journalists, agitators and, occasionally, the troops UK, 1948 canny noun a bird; a pheasant. English gypsy use UK, 2000 canoe noun a marijuana cigarette which burns unevenly or is holed. The resemblance to a simple canoe: 'a log with a hole in one side', 2001 canoe verb 1 to have sex US, 1954. 2 (used of a marijuana cigarette) to burn only on the top US, 1989 canoe inspection noun a medical inspection of a woman's genitals for signs of a sexually transmitted disease US, 1964 canoe licking noun the act of oral sex on a woman US, 2001 canoe-maker noun a forensic pathologist. From the image of the body on the autopsy table, opened up to resemble a canoe US, 1970

Canoe U nickname the US Naval Academy at Annapolis. The 1998 Naval Academy yearbook included a CD-ROM supplement entitled Canoe U, providing a virtual tour of the Naval Academy US, 1963 can of coke noun a joke. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 can off verb to fall off NEW ZEALAND, 1984 can of gas noun a small butane torch used in the preparation of crack cocaine US, 1992 can of oil; canov noun a boil. Usually reduced UK, 1961 can of striped paint noun a mythical task assigned to a newly hired helper US, 1963 can of whip-ass; can of whup-ass noun a notional repository for a physical beating US, 1984 can of worms noun 1 a complex issue or situation, consideration of which may cause further problems, scandal or unpleasantness US, 1927. 2 a can of c-ration spaghetti US, 1991 canonical adjective in computing, in the usual and accepted form. Literally, 'according to religious law' US, 1981 can opener noun a curved bar used by criminals to prize open a safe US, 1949 can or no can used for expressing the decision-making process used by a big-wave surfers US, 1991 cans noun 1 the female breasts US, 1959. 2 headphones CANADA, 1977. 3 money. English gypsy use UK, 2000 can shooter noun a criminal who specialises in breaking into safes US, 1949 can spanner noun a tin opener. Royal Navy use UK, 1979 cantaloupe noun a misfit; an outcast US, 1985 cantaloups noun dice weighted by a cheat to show a four, five or six US, 1983 can't be bad! used as an expression of, sometimes envious, approval or congratulation UK, 1964 canteen noun 1 a truck stop US, 1976. 2 goods purchased against earnings credited, or cash. Prison use UK, 1978 canteen boat noun the rear craft in a sea-borne minesweeping formation UK, 1995 canteen cowboy noun 1 a ladies' man, especially one who loiters in the NAAFI (the armed forces shop or canteen) for the purpose of meeting women. Royal Air Force use, still current in the 1970s. Formed on US DRUGSTORE COWBOY (a young man who loiters in or around a drugstore for the purpose of meeting women) UK, 1943. 2 a railway employee on an unexpected or extended tea break UK, 1970. 3 an orderly corporal on duty in a Royal Air Force Station Institute, NAAFI or Junior Ranks' Club. Roughly contemporary with the sense as 'ladies' man'; still current in the early 1970s UK, 1961 canteen letters noun an extra two letters per week if an inmate pays for stamps. Prison use UK, 1978 canteen punk noun a prisoner who engages in sexual acts for payment in goods bought at the prison canteen or shop US, 1974 canter noun the speed with which a prisoner believes that his prison sentence will race by. From conventional 'canter' (a horse's easy speed of movement, not quite a gallop), thus a prisoner's boast of an 'easy ride' UK: SCOTLAND, 2000 can't go swimming experiencing the bleed period of a woman's menstrual cycle US, 1999 can't hear you – your mouth's full of shit used as a refusal to acknowledge what someone else is saying, implying that what is being spoken is nonsense or offensive. Used by some comedians as a 'heckle put-down' UK, 1994 can't-help-it noun an imagined disease. From an earlier sense of the term as 'menstruation' US, 1919 can't-miss noun in horse racing, a racehorse that is a sure thing to win a race to the extent that a sure thing is a sure thing US, 1957 can to can't all day, from early morning (when you can just see) to late evening (when you can't see) US, 1919 can't-see-um noun any small, annoying insect US, 1985

can't take you anywhere! used as a jocular reprimand to a companion who has just said or done something contrary to the accepted social code; or (replacing you with him or her) to the company at large, as a humorous acknowledgement of such a fâux pas UK, 1975

Canuck noun a Canadian, especially a French-Canadian. Insulting. Most likely to be heard in portions of the US bordering Canada. During the 1972 campaign for US President, a newspaper in New Hampshire printed an anonymous letter accusing candidate Senator Muskie of having used the term 'Canuck' to describe the state's French-Canadian population. The sound and fury created by the accusation stunned Muskie, and by the time it was learnt that the letter had been a concoction of President Nixon's election campaign the damage had been done US, 1835

Canuck adjective Canadian. Insulting US, 1955 can-up noun a particularly bad fall while skiing US, 1963 canvas noun 1 a strait jacket US, 1949. 2 a sports shoe, whether or not made from canvas FJI, 1997 canvasback noun a boxer or fighter whose lack of skills leads him to find himself on his back US, 1955 canyon noun the vagina US, 1980 canyon-dive noun oral sex performed on a woman US, 1980 canyon slicker noun a condom. Combines CANYON (the vagina) with a waterproof outer garment UK, 1998 cap noun 1 a bullet; a shot US, 1925. 2 a capsule of drugs US, 1929. 3 a psychoactive mushroom. Conventionally, the domed upper part of a mushroom; possibly an abbreviation of 'liberty cap', the name given to psilocybin mushrooms US, 1999. 4 the amount of marijuana that will fit into the plastic cap of a tube of lip gloss US, 1989. 5 crack cocaine. Sometimes in the plural UK, 1998. 6 used as a term of address for someone whose actions are provoking physical violence. Hawaiian youth usage; an abbreviated form of 'capillary' US, 1982. 7 captain US, 1759. 8 a capital letter. Originally used by printers, then publishers and authors UK, 1937. 9 a recapped tyre US, 1971. 10 the penis Fiji, 1993. 11 in casino gambling, a chip of one denomination on top of a stack of chips of another denomination US, 1991

cap verb 1 to package a drug in capsules US, 1952. 2 to shoot someone US, 1970. 3 to insult someone in a competitive, quasi-friendly spirit; to outdo someone US, 1944. 4 to steer business to someone US, 1973. 5 in casino gambling, to add to an existing bet, usually illegally US, 1980. 6 to assist in a fraudulent scheme by fast talk that helps lure the victim into the swindle UK, 1811. 7 to fly on combat air patrol (CAP). Royal Air Force use UK, 1979

Cape Breton attache case noun a plastic bag CANADA, 1980

Cape Cod turkey noun salt cod US, 1865

Cape Doctor noun the strong southeasterly trade wind that blows in Cape Town over summer SOUTH AFRICA, 1861 cape horn noun a condom. The southernmost tip of the South American continent puns on 'cape' (an outer garment, often waterproof) worn on a HORN (the erect penis). A similar pun was behind the C19 sense, now obsolete, as 'the vagina' – the southernmost tip, often subject to stormy weather, where many men have been lost UK, 1998 capella noun a hat. An affected elaboration of 'cap'; easily confused with the obsolete sense (a coat) which derives directly from Italian UK, 1993

Cape of Good Hope noun 1 soap. Rhyming slang, based on the South African headland; sometimes shortened to 'cape' UK, 1925. 2 the Pope. Rhyming slang UK, 1994 caper noun 1 a criminal undertaking, especially a swindle or theft US, 1925. 2 that which is going on; business; an undertaking AUSTRALIA, 1954. 3 the time devoted to pleasure; a hedonistic lifestyle. Probably from the conventional sense (a dance) UK, 2001. 4 cocaine. Etymology uncertain; possibly rhyming slang: 'cape of good hope', for 'dope' UK, 2001. 5 a costume worn for erotic effect UK, 2002 caper verb to commit a criminal undertaking, especially a swindle or theft US, 1976 caper car noun a car used for a crime and then abandoned US, 1981 capey; capie noun a person who is part of the non-white, or 'coloured' population in South Africa's Cape province. A term that has survived apartheid SOUTH AFRICA, 1977 capisce?; capeesh? do you understand? Thanks to gangster films and television programmes, almost always a blatant affectation with an organised, Sicilian ring to it US, 1977 capital adjective attractive, good-looking US, 2001 capital H noun heroin. An embellishment of H (heroin) US, 1975 capital prize noun a sexually transmitted infection US, 1948 cap man noun a confederate in a swindle US, 1971

Cap'n Crunch nickname a captain of a British Columbia provincial ferry who had a spectacular collision CANADA, 1989 capo noun a leader of a Mafia organisation US, 1952 capon noun an effeminate or homosexual male US, 1945 cap on verb to look at someone or something US, 1971 capoonkle adjective confusing, confused US, 1982 capper noun 1 a clincher; something that beats all others UK, 1960. 2 in a drug-selling enterprise, a person who fills capsules with a drug US, 1958. 3 in a confidence swindle, a person who lures the victim into the swindle. From the verb CAP US, 1753. 4 in an auction, a dummy bidder US, 1853 caps noun heroin UK, 1998

capsula noun crack cocaine UK, 2003 capsule con noun a prisoner convicted on drug charges US, 1970 captain noun 1 a railway conductor US, 1946. 2 the person buying the drinks AUSTRALIA, 1953. ► out with the captain out drinking. Especially in the Maritime provinces, the Captain is of course Captain Morgan rum CANADA, 2001

Captain Bob nickname corrupt businessman Robert Maxwell (1923–1991) UK, 1994

Captain Cook adjective ill. Rhyming slang for CROOK (ill), formed on the name of explorer Captain James Cook (1728–1779) AUSTRALIA, 2002

Captain Cook; captain's noun a look. Rhyming slang, after Captain James Cook, 1728–79, British sea explorer who 'discovered' the east coast of Australia AUSTRALIA, 1960

Captain Grimes nickname The Times newspaper. Rhyming slang UK: ENGLAND, 1982

Captain Hicks noun in craps, the number six US, 1941

Captain Kirk noun a Turk. Rhyming slang, based on a famous character of the original television and film science fiction adventure series Star Trek, since 1969 UK, 1998

captain of the head noun an orderly assigned to latrine duty US, 1947 captain's log noun 1 a lavatory. Rhyming slang for 'bog', based on a famous detail of television and film science fiction adventure series Star Trek, since 1969 UK, 1998. 2 the penis. A Star Trek cliché punning on WOOD (the erect penis) US, 2001 captain's man noun a police officer designated to pick up bribes from criminals for his superior officers US, 1972

Captain Trips nickname Jerry Garcia (1942–1995), lead guitarist and spiritual bedrock of the Grateful Dead US, 1994 capture noun an arrest and imprisonment UK, 1958 capture verb ► capture the bishop (of a male) to masturbate. Punning 'capture' with 'to lay hands on'; a variation of BASH THE BISHOP (to masturbate) UK, 2005

capun noun capital punishment US, 1992 caput adjective ► see: KAPUT cap work noun the alteration of dice for cheating by making them resilient on certain surfaces, which makes them more likely to bounce off the altered sides US, 1950 car noun 1 a clique of prisoners US, 1989. 2 a radio US, 2002. 3 in lobstering, a slatted box in the water in which lobsters are kept until they are sold US, 1978 caramel noun ► drop a caramel to defecate UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

caramel adjective mixed race US, 1994 caramello noun a type of hashish from Morocco. From the Spanish for 'caramel'; the Spanish spell the word with one I UK, 2003 caravan nickname the section of Mountjoy jail where members of the travelling community are incarcerated IRELAND, 1996

carb noun a carburettor US, 1942 car banger noun a criminal who specialises in stealing from cars US, 1982 carbie; carby noun a carburettor NEW ZEALAND, 1956

carbo noun carboyhydrates US, 1977 carbolic dip noun the bath or shower with carbolic dip given to prisoners when they arrive at a prison US, 1950 car bra noun a cover placed on the front of a car in the hope or belief that it will foil radar speed-detection US, 1990 carburettor noun a tube with holes used for smoking marijuana; a hole that is designed to let air into a pipe used for smoking marijuana. As its automotive namesake forces a mixture of fuel and oxygen into an engine, the marijuana-related carburettor forces a mixture of marijuana smoke and air into the smoker's lungs US, 1967 carcass noun one's body; oneself AUSTRALIA, 1956 car catcher noun a rear brakeman on a freight train US, 1946 car clout noun a thief who breaks into and steals the contents of cars US, 1962 card noun 1 a tactic held in reserve and then used to win an advantage. Usually in the expression 'playing the (fill in the blank) card' US, 1973. 2 an eccentric; a lively personality UK, 1836. ► go through the card to have everything on offer; to cover something comprehensively. Originally, 'to back every winning horse at a race-meeting.' UK, 1977. ► on the card in railway slang, on time US, 1977 card verb 1 to ask someone for proof of age before selling or serving them alcohol US, 1975. 2 to trade credit card numbers illegally UK, 1998 cardboard noun in horse racing, a betting ticket AUSTRALIA, 1989 cardboard box noun any sexually transmitted infection. Rhyming slang for POX UK, 1980 cardboard caver noun in caving and pot-holing, a caver who gives up at the first sign of wetness. Derogatory UK, 2004 cardboard city noun a prison segregation unit. Derives from the fact that the furniture in such prison cells is often made from cardboard UK, 1996 card-carrying adjective devout, dedicated. First used in the late 1940s to describe fervent leftists in the US as 'card-carrying Communists', the term was given new life in 1988 when Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis described himself as a 'card-carrying member of the American Civil Liberties Union' US, 1963 cardenales noun barbiturates. From the Spanish for 'cardinal' (a red bird) US, 1997 carder noun a person employed to place prostitutes' advertising cards in telephone boxes and other public places UK, 1994 cardi; cardie; cardy; Cardi noun 1 a cardigan knitted woollen jacket. Named after James Brudenell, the seventh Earl of Cardigan (1797–1868) whose cavalry troops, during the Crimean War (1853–56), wore a similar garment for warmth UK, 1987. 2 an inhabitant of the country of Ceredigion, formerly Cardiganshire; any person who is reluctant to part with cash. Probably originates with the frugal practices of Cardiganshire hill farmers UK: WALES, 2002

cardies noun electronic gambling machines that display playing cards AUSTRALIA, 1998 cardinal noun ► the cardinal is home used for conveying that the speaker is experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1980 card mob noun two or more card cheats working together US, 1979 cards noun ► on the cards likely, probable UK, 1849 cards speak noun in high-low poker, the rule that players need not declare whether they are playing for a low or high hand US, 1996 card surfing noun 1 a moving of custom between credit cards to achieve financial advantage UK, 2000. 2 a criminal act in which a criminal closely observes a person using an automatic cash machine (by looking over his or her shoulder) and notes the personal identity number that is entered on the keypad; the user's card is subsequently stolen, without making the user aware of the theft, and fraudulent withdrawals of cash are the criminal's reward. Also known as 'shoulder surfing' US, 1992 care verb ► not care less to be absolutely unconcerned US, 1966 care bear noun a person working in a prison who is seen to be too sympathetic to the prisoners' needs. Derogatory; based on cute cartoon characters The Care Bears, originally created in 1981 for US greeting cards, and subsequently animated for television and film UK, 1996 career girl noun a ewe that refuses to nurse her young NEW ZEALAND, 2002 career mangler noun in the Canadian military, a Career Manager CANADA, 1995 care factor: zero! noun I don't care about what you just said! US, 1997

CARE package noun 1 a box of treats and/or necessities, sent to someone away from home with the hope of cheering them up. Suggested by CARE packages sent by the United Nations US, 1962. 2 a small amount of a drug disguised for safe carrying and later use UK, 1983

careware noun computer software offered free by its developer, with the request that the user make a contribution to a charity in place of paying a fee for the software US, 1991 carga noun heroin. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans, from its literal sense as 'a charge (of explosive)' US, 1965 cargo noun ostentatious jewellery worn as a status symbol UK, 1994 carhop noun 1 an employee in a drive-in restaurant who serves customers in their cars US, 1939. 2 a girl who chooses partners on the basis of their car US, 1995

cariole noun a horse-drawn sleigh CANADA, 1965

carjack verb to steal a car from its driver under threat of bodily harm. An elision of 'car' and 'hijack' US, 1991 car jockey noun 1 a race car driver US, 1977. 2 a parking attendant US, 1956 cark; kark verb to die. Origin unknown. Suggestions that it is from 'carcass', or from 'cark' (the harsh cry of a crow) are not very convincing AUSTRALIA, 1977 car key noun a screwdriver used for breaking into cars UK, 1996

cark it; kark it verb to die AUSTRALIA, 1982

Carl Rosa noun a poser, a poseur; hence, as 'the old Carl Rosa', fraud or deceit. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of German musician Carl Rosa, 1842–89; in 1873 he founded the Carl Rosa Opera which is now Britain's oldest opera company UK, 1977

Carly; Cally nickname lager manufacturers Carlsberg™; lager manufactured by Carlsberg™. 'Carly' may be used for the basic brand lager or Carlsberg Special Brew, or combined with 'extra' for Carlsberg Extra, and 'special' for Carlsberg Special Brew UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 carmabis noun marijuana. A visual pun on the word 'cannabis' and a quasi-spiritual reference to KARMA (fate); possibly an error in spelling or reading US, 1977

carn! come on! A call of encouragement especially common amongst sports spectators. Eye-dialect rendering of typical Australian pronunciation. Commonly preceding the name of a team beginning with 'the', e.g. 'carn the Blues' (come on the Blues) AUSTRALIA, 1965 carna used in exhortations AUSTRALIA, 1967 carnal noun among Mexican-Americans, a very close male friend. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1950 carnapper noun a person who habitually steals cars. On the pattern of 'kidnapper' UK, 1984 carne noun heroin. From the Spanish for 'meat' US, 1986 carney; carny noun a carnival US, 1931 carnie noun 1 a young person under the legal age of consent. An abbreviated reference to 'carnal knowledge'; sometimes embellished as 'carnie kid'. NEW ZEALAND, 1984. 2 a carnation AUSTRALIA, 1968. 3 cocaine UK, 2003 carnival croquet noun the shell game US, 1966 carnival louse noun a person who follows a carnival from town to town and associates with carnival employees, but is not one himself US, 1981

carny noun 1 any person employed by or associated with a travelling carnival US, 1939. 2 the insider's language used by carnival workers US, 1948

carny Bible noun the Amusement Business magazine US, 1985

carny divorce noun an arrangement in which a man and woman who are living together without benefit of a wedding end their relationship, often consisting of one ride backwards around on a ferris wheel US, 1985 carny's Christmas noun Labor Day (the first Monday in September) US, 1981

carny wedding noun an arrangement in which a man and woman live together without benefit of a wedding, often consisting of one ride around on a ferris wheel US, 1980

Carolina noun 1 in craps, a nine US, 1950. 2 a friend, a mate. A Glasgow rhyming slang extension of 'china plate' (mate), a piece of Cockney rhyming slang UK, 1988

Carolina spread noun significant weight gain below the waist US, 1981

Carolina stocker noun in drag racing, a stock car with illegal equipment or with an illegally large engine US, 1968

carp noun 1 anchovies as a pizza topping US, 1996. 2 a black prisoner US, 1989. 3 a carpenter, especially on a theatre set US, 1952 car park noun an informer. Rhyming slang for NARK (an informer) UK, 1992 carped adjective drug-intoxicated UK, 1996 carpenter noun an orthopaedist US, 1994 carpenter's dream noun a flat-chested woman. From the pun 'flat as a board, and easy to screw' US, 1974 carpet noun 1 a three month period of imprisonment. A shortening of 'carpet bag' rhyming slang for 'drag' an obsolete term for 'a three month sentence'; this origin is now mainly forgotten; therefore it has since been reasoned that 'carpet' is so-called because it easy to do UK, 1903. 2 a three year sentence of imprisonment UK, 1956. 3 in betting, odds of 3–1 UK, 1967. 4 a sum of £3 UK, 1954. 5 three hundred pounds, £300. Ticket-touting slang. Also spelled 'carpits' UK, 2002. 6 an artificial grass playing surface US, 1978. ► clean the carpet (of a female) to masturbate US, 2001. ► matching carpet and drapes; carpet and drapes that match applied to a person, usually a woman, whose hair is neither bleached nor dyed. A jocular suggestion that the hair on the head is of the same natural shade as the pubic hair US, 1999

carpet and a half noun in betting, odds of 7–2. In bookmaker slang CARPET is 3–1, here the addition of a half increases the odds to 3½–1 or 7–2 UK, 1991 carpetbagger noun a person who interferes in local politics without being a true part of the local community US, 1868 carpet burger noun oral sex performed on a woman US, 2001 carpet burn noun a rawness of the skin due to frictional contact with a carpet. On the model of 'rope-burn'. Tends to be used mainly of knees and elbows and generally in the context of wounds received in the course of unconventionally located love-making US, 1986 carpet control noun an obsessive belief, held whilst under the influence of crack cocaine, that there are useable traces of crack cocaine on the floor. A variation on CARPET PATROL. From a discreet correspondent UK, 2001 carpet crawler noun a young child US, 1976 carpet game noun a swindle in which the swindler holds and then steals the wallet of a customer going to see a non-existent prostitute US, 1967 carpet joint noun a fancy, high-class casino US, 1961 carpet muncher noun a cunnilinguist; hence, and especially, a lesbian US, 1994 carpeto; carpito noun thirty pounds £30. Ticket-touting slang. From CARPET (£300) UK, 2002 carpet patrol noun smokers of crack cocaine who search the floor for droppings of crack cocaine UK, 1998 carpet slashing noun a dance party. From the more common CUT A RUG US, 1947 carpet walker noun a drug addict US, 1971 car-popping noun car-theft. From POP (to steal) UK, 1996

Carrie; Carrie Nation; Carry; Carry Nation noun cocaine US, 1955 carrier pigeon noun a messenger or courier US, 1933 carrot noun a marijuana cigarette US, 2001 carrot cruncher noun (from an urban perspective) a country-dweller UK, 1977 carrot eater; carrot snapper noun a Mormon. Offensive US, 1968 carrot-top noun a red-headed person US, 1889 carry noun 1 any victim of a crime who must be taken from the scene by stretcher US, 1958. 2 a consignment or substantial quantity of drugs UK, 1996

Carry noun ► see: CARRIE carry verb 1 to carry a firearm US, 1971. 2 to be in possession of drugs US, 1961. 3 to have surplus money UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1996. 4 to lead or be in charge of something US, 1972. ► carry a big spoon to stir up trouble AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► carry a case to be out of prison on bail. A neat play on a basic travel requirement and a 'court case' UK, 1996. ► carry a torch to yearn for an unrequited love or a love affair that is over; to be devoted to someone without having your devotion reciprocated US, 1927. ► carry it to the door to serve all of a prison sentence US, 2002. ► carry news to gossip TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1970. ► carry someone's bags to be romantically involved with someone US, 1973. ► carry the banner to stay up all night US, 1980. ► carry the bug in circus usage, to work as a night watchman. From BUG (a torch) US, 1981. ► carry the can back; carry the can to take the blame or punishment on behalf of another; to be made a scapegoat; to do the dirty work while another gets the credit. Navy origins UK, 1929. ► carry the mail 1 to buy drinks AUSTRALIA, 1966. 2 to commit a murder for hire US, 1971. 3 to move quickly US, 1946. ► carry the shit bucket to perform the lowliest tasks AUSTRALIA, 1977. ► carry the silks in horse racing, to race for a particular owner US, 1951. ► carry the stick to live without a fixed abode US, 1978. ► carry the target in horse racing, to run in the last position for an entire race US, 1976. ► carry the wheels to accelerate so quickly that the vehicle's front wheels lift off the ground US, 1968. ► carry your bat out in cricket, to survive your team's innings undismissed UK, 1934 carryall noun a vehicle for transport, either wheeled or on rails for SNOW CANADA, 1963 carry-away noun a robbery in which a safe is taken and opened at leisure away from the crime scene US, 1958 carry day noun in television and film-making, a day in which the cast and crew are paid but do not have to work US, 1990 carry down verb to arrest someone TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1971 carrying all before her adjective of a woman, having a generous bust or obviously pregnant. Jocular UK, 1984 carryings-on noun conspicuous behaviour UK, 1859 carrying weight adjective depressed. Beatniks' use, late 1950s–60s; from the notion of being under a heavy burden UK, 1984

Carry Nation noun ► see: CARRIE carry-on noun 1 a fuss; an uproar; an outbreak of excited behaviour UK, 1890. 2 any continuing activity or catalogue of details UK, 2001 carry on verb 1 to behave in a conspicuous way, to make a fuss UK, 1828. 2 to be involved in a flirtatious or adulterous relationship. Generally phrased 'carry on with', specifying the other person UK, 1856. 3 to act in an ostentatiously effeminate manner in public US, 1963 carry tos noun (around Shigawake in the Gaspé) social welfare. The word is pronounced 'carry toss' CANADA, 1998 carry your ass! go away! GUYANA, 1998 carsey; karsey noun a brothel. From the Italian casa (a house) which is also its original use UK, 2002 car-shop verb to break into a car to steal its contents US, 1997 cart verb 1 to carry something somewhere. From the conventional sense (to transport by cart) UK, 1964. 2 in cricket, to hit the ball or attack the bowling with unrestrained power UK, 1903

Carter's Little Liver Pills noun any central nervous system stimulant US, 1976 cart-nap verb to steal a shopping trolley. A jocular combination of 'cart' and 'kidnap' UK, 1996 car toad; car tink; car tonk; car whacker noun a railway inspector. Named for the squatting position taken when inspecting the underside of a car US, 1946 carton-pusher noun a person who sells cigarettes that have been stolen or smuggled from a state with lower taxes US, 1978 car trick noun an act of sex between a prostitute and customer in a car US, 1968 carts; cartz noun a man's genitalia UK, 1992 cartucho noun a package containing marijuana cigarettes, equivalent to a packet of cigarettes. From 'cartouche' (a roll or case of paper, etc., containing a charge for a firearm), or Spanish cartucho (a roll or case of paper) UK, 1986 cartwheel noun 1 a feigned drug withdrawal spasm US, 1936. 2 an amphetamine tablet US, 1966. 3 a silver dollar piece US, 1949 cartzo; catso; cartes noun the penis. From Italian cazzo (to thrust) UK, 1702 carve verb 1 in skateboarding, to take a turn sharply US, 1976. 2 in surfing, to change the course of the surfboard by digging it into the water US, 1980. 3 in mountain biking, to travel at great speed around corners US, 1996. 4 in foot-propelled scootering, to turn sharply while in mid-jump. Glossed as 'pulling off a big, fast, aerial scooter-turn' UK, 2000. 5 to outplay another musician in a competition of solos US, 1970. ► carve some beef to grant sexual favours; to consent to sex US, 2007. ► carve someone's knob to make someone understand US, 1953. ► carve up the mob to surf recklessly through a crowd of surfers or swimmers AUSTRALIA, 1964. ► carve yourself a slice from the male point of view, to have SEX UK, 1984 carved up adjective (used of a bodybuilder) without fat US, 1984 carve-up noun 1 a fight; a battle; a gang war UK, 1961. 2 an act of poor driving in which one vehicle cuts in front of another UK, 1984. 3 a division of loot, profits or the legacy of a will UK, 1935. 4 a swindle UK, 1937 carve up verb 1 of a driver, to cut in front of another vehicle and force the driver of that vehicle to brake or take other emergency action UK, 1984. 2 to spoil the chances of another's business UK, 1961. 3 to swindle an accomplice out of a share UK, 1937 carvie noun 1 a fellow prisoner who shares in a supply of tobacco, perhaps by subscription to a common supply UK, 1950. 2 a prisoner who deals in contraband tobacco; a tobacco baron. From the earlier sense (a prisoner who shares your tobacco). This sense describes the prisoner who carves up the supply UK, 1996 carving knife noun a wife. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 car wash noun during the Vietnam war, an establishment in Vietnam where a man went for a haircut, bath, massage and sex US, 1977 car whacker noun ► see: CAR TOAD casa noun the operator of a gambling establishment or game. Spanish for 'house' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1952

casabas noun the female breasts US, 1970

Casablanca noun a wanker (an all-purpose term of abuse). Rhyming slang UK, 2003

Casablanca gold noun a variety of hashish produced on the higher slopes of the Rif Mountains UK, 2003

Cascadia noun an imaginary proposed state or area formed of the states of Washington and Oregon and British Columbia CANADA, 1995 case noun 1 a promiscuous woman AUSTRALIA, 1967. 2 a patient with a sexually transmitted infection US, 1994. 3 a love-affair UK, 1860. 4 to engage in an adulterous relationship UK, 1977 case verb 1 to look over a place or person, especially in anticipation of criminal activity US, 1914. 2 to work as a prostitute. A cynical variation of 'go case' (to have sex with) UK, 1996. 3 to tease someone, to scold someone US, 1971. 4 to put a prisoner on report for a breach of regulations UK, 1950 case! used for asserting that all has gone as planned TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1966 case ace noun in card games, the fourth and remaining ace when three have been played US, 1960 case game noun in pool, a situation in which each player can win with their next shot US, 1985 case note noun 1 a one-dollar note US, 1962. 2 a gambler's last money US, 1962 case out verb to engage in sexual foreplay US, 1963 caser noun 1 a skilled card-counter in blackjack US, 1983. 2 in poker, the last card in a particular rank or suit in a deal. A term borrowed from the card game of faro US, 1963. 3 a strict prison officer; one with a reputation for putting prisoners on report UK, 1950. 4 a five shilling piece; five shillings. Recorded earliest in Australia. Became obsolete after the introduction of decimal currency in 1966 AUSTRALIA, 1825. 5 a sexually aggressive boy US, 1963

Casey Jones noun 1 in poker, a player who draws the last card of a rank, the case card. John Luther 'Casey' Jones (1864–1900) was an American locomotive engineer whose death in a train accident made him a legend celebrated in ballad and song US, 1988. 2 in pool, a case game (one that either player can win with their next shot) US, 1993 cash verb to finish consuming something. Usage is in the context of drug or alcohol consumption US, 2001 cash and carriage noun marriage. Rhyming slang. Derives only from CASH AND CARRY (to marry) as the term 'cash and carriage' has no other existence UK, 1992 cash and carried adjective married. Rhyming slang, from CASH AND CARRY (to marry); not 'cashed' UK, 1961 cash and carry verb to marry. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 cash ass noun sex for money UK, 1987 cash cow noun any business or business-sector that provides a steady cash flow US, 1974 cashed adjective completely consumed, empty US, 1997 cashed up adjective with a ready supply of money AUSTRALIA, 1930 casher noun a front trouser pocket. Pickpockets' use, because that is where coins are usually carried UK, 1974 cashew noun a psychiatric patient US, 1994 cashie noun a cash transaction that is tax-free by virtue of not being reported NEW ZEALAND, 1995 cash-in noun a profitable product or activity that is tied into – and would not exist without – another product or activity that has a greater presence in the marketplace UK, 1970

cash in verb 1 to die. A shortened form of 'cash in your chips' US, 1891. 2 to take advantage of something and profit thereby US, 1904 cashish noun money UK, 2000 cashmere noun a jumper, whether actually cashmere or not US, 1970 cash money! used for expressing great joy or pleasure US, 2002 cashola noun money US, 1977 cash sale noun a US Marine newly arrived in Vietnam and inexperienced in combat. Cash Sales was the name of an outlet found on marine bases in the US; a marine newly arrived in Vietnam looked like and smelled like a Cash Sales outlet US, 1990 cash talk noun a Canadian male game in which participants aggressively insult each other CANADA, 2002 cash up verb 1 to get money AUSTRALIA, 1958. 2 to pay someone UK, 1983 casino-hop verb to move from one casino to another US, 1993 casino perfects noun high quality dice used in casinos. The dice are almost certain to roll true because they are milled to a very precise tolerance US, 1997 casket nail noun a cigarette. Far less common than COFFIN NAIL US, 1969 casper noun a very pale white person, especially a tourist at the beach US, 1991

Casper; Casper the ghost noun crack cocaine. Based on the cartoon-strip character Casper the Friendly Ghost; from the cloud of smoke produced when smoking the product US, 1994 cass-cass adjective messy, slovenly GUYANA, 1998 cast verb ► cast an eyeball to look. Teen slang US, 1958. ► cast the runes in computing, to operate a program that will not work for anyone else US, 1991 casters-up mode adjective in computing, broken US, 1991 cast-eye noun a squint BELIZE, 1998 casting couch noun the notional or real sofa in a director's office, used for sex with an actor hoping for a part. Based on the commonly held belief that a sexual performance is all the audition required US, 1931 cast-iron adjective irrefutable UK, 1943 cast iron college noun a local jail. Carnival usage US, 1968 castle noun 1 a house or apartment US, 1953. 2 in cricket, the wicket that a batsman is defending UK, 1959 castled adjective in cricket, bowled out. From CASTLE (a wicket that is being defended) UK, 2003 castor noun ► on the castor popular, well-regarded. Extended from CASTOR (excellent) AUSTRALIA, 1953

castor adjective excellent; all right AUSTRALIA, 1944

Castor and Pollux; Caster and Pollux noun the testicles. The classical twins of the Zodiac provide the source for this rhyming slang for BOLLOCKS UK, 1992

Castro nickname a neighbourhood in San Francisco, California, dominated by homosexual men since the early 1970s. Castro Street is the main artery of the neighbourhood US, 1987

Castro clone noun a homosexual who conforms to a clean-cut, fashionable image. The Castro is a predominantly gay neighbourhood in San Francisco US, 1986 cast up verb to vomit BARBADOS, 1965 casual noun 1 a member of a violent faction of football supporters (a FIRM), aligned to a football team and identified by a uniform of casual wear. In use since the late 1970s. Examples recorded include Aberdeen Soccer Casuals, Cambridge Casuals, Celtic Casuals, Darlington Casuals, Fine Young Casuals (Oldham FC), Suburban Casuals (Southampton) UK, 1989. 2 a youth fashion from the late 1970s, based on designer labels. In the 1980s a working-class trend, in the 1990s a positive symbol of urban chic; also refers to a follower of this fashion style. A variant is 'caj' UK, 1980 casual adjective excellent, fashionable, trendy. Youth usage US, 1963 cat noun 1 a man US, 1920. 2 a black person US, 1972. 3 a spiteful, gossiping woman. A back-formation from CATTY (spiteful, sly) UK, 1950. 4 the vagina UK, 1720. 5 a passive homosexual male; any male homosexual. In prison 'cats' are 'young prisoners who, though usually heterosexual prior to incarceration, submit to the passive role in homosexual relations in prison'. But also in prison 'cat' is used to refer to known homosexuals who are often segregated from other inmates. Outside of prison the term is used generally of homosexual men: perhaps an extension of the meaning as 'a woman'. The suggestion that it is a shortening of 'catamite' has no supporting evidence AUSTRALIA, 1950. 6 a lion; a tiger; a leopard. Circus usage, usually in the plural UK, 1953. 7 in circus and carnival usage, a trouble-making southern rustic US, 1981. 8 a poorly performing racing greyhound AUSTRALIA, 1989. 9 in poker, a nonstandard hand such as the 'little cat', 'big cat', etc US, 1988. 10 heroin US, 1993. 11 methcathinone US, 1995. 12 a category UK, 1984. 13 a Caterpillar™ tractor or other type of heavy equipment US, 1918. 14 a catalytic converter, an emissions-control device US, 1993. 15 a hydraulic catapult on an aircraft carrier US, 1962. 16 a catamaran UK, 1984. 17 a boat of any description UK, 1961. ► let the cat out of the bag to disclose a secret UK, 1760. ► on the cat staying away from home at night US, 1965. ► on the cat hop in railway slang, on time US, 1946. ► put a cat among the pigeons; set the cat among the pigeons to stir up trouble UK, 1976. ► something the cat dragged in; something the cat has brought in used as the epitome of someone who is bedraggled UK, 1928

Cat noun a Cadillac car US, 1945 cat verb 1 to stay away from home overnight, prowling for sin. From the alleycat as a role model for behaviour US, 1949. 2 to pursue someone in the hopes of sexual relations US, 1946

Cat A noun the categorisation of most secure prisons, thus the category for highly dangerous prisoners or those considered most likely to escape. 'Cat B', 'Cat C', and 'Cat D' are also used in decreasing order of required security. These categories have been in force since 1966 UK, 1996

Cat A verb to categorise a prisoner as Cat A. 'Cat B', 'Cat C' and 'Cat D' are also used in decreasing order of required security. UK, 1996 catalog man noun a gambling cheat whose superficial knowledge of cheating is acquired from studying catalogues of cheating devices. A derivative term when used by cheats who carefully hone their craft US, 1945 cat and class noun cataloguing and classification. Librarians' use UK, 1984 cat and mouse noun a house. Rhyming slang UK, 1857 catapult noun in the language of windsurfing, a high-speed exit from the board assisted by high winds US, 1985

catatonia noun in computing, the condition that exists when a computer is in suspended operation, unable to proceed US, 1981

catatonic adjective (of a computer) caught in an inextricable operation and thus suspended beyond reach or response US, 1991

catawampus adjective crooked, bent US, 1851 catbird seat noun an advantageous position. Coined or at the very least popularised by humourist James Thurber in 1942 US, 1942 catbox noun the Middle East US, 1998

catcall noun a derisive jeer US, 1839 catch noun 1 a person who is considered matrimonially or romantically desirable UK, 1749. 2 a prostitute who has been recruited to work for a pimp US, 1973. 3 in Keno, the number of winning numbers that a player has marked US, 1972. 4 a hidden condition or consequence US, 1855 catch verb 1 (used of a pimp) to recruit a prostitute to work for him; to recruit a woman to work as a prostitute US, 1972. 2 (used of a prostitute) to engage a customer US, 1968. 3 to play the passive sexual role in a homosexual relationship US, 1966. 4 to take calls or complaints called in to a police station; to be assigned a case US, 1958. 5 in an illegal number gambling lottery, to win US, 1949. 6 in gin, to draw a card US, 1971. ► catch (some) lead to be shot US, 1970. ► catch a bullet to be shot US, 1992. ► catch a buzz to smoke marijuana and become intoxicated US, 1997. ► catch a crab in rowing, to err in a stroke, disrupting the timing and momentum of the rowing US, 1949. ► catch a dummy in prison, to refuse to speak US, 1990. ► catch a fish in poker, after making a small bet with a good hand (the bait), to lure another player into increasing the bet US, 1988. ► catch a glad to act with spontaneous joy TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1984. ► catch a hit to be scolded or harshly criticised. Marine usage in the Vietnam war US, 1991. ► catch a horse to urinate. A euphemism AUSTRALIA, 1942. ► catch a pay to be beaten and robbed US, 1997. ► catch a run to wet one side of a marijuana cigarette to promote even burning US, 1997. ► catch a stack to rob someone with a lot of cash US, 1987. ► catch a vaps to become suddenly inspired GRENADA, 1998. ► catch air to become airborne while skateboarding or surfing US, 1987. ► catch ass to have a hard time TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956. ► catch no ball to fail to understand SINGAPORE, 2002. ► catch on the flipper; catch on the (old) flip-flop to make contact on your return. Citizens' band radio slang US, 1976. ► catch on the rebound to become emotionally involved with a person who has just been rejected from another relationship. Probably the pun from which the emotional condition on THE REBOUND derives UK, 1864. ► catch on the reverse; catch on the rebound to make contact on a return journey. Citizens' band radio slang US, 1976. ► catch some to engage in heavy sexual caressing US, 1968. ► catch squeals to take calls or complaints called into a police station US, 1969. ► catch the bumps in a striptease act, to synchronise the dancer's pelvic thrusts with the drum and cymbal beat US, 1981. ► catch thrills to engage in an activity that excites or stimulates. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982. ► catch tricks (used of a drummer in a performance) to create sound effects on sight US, 1973. ► catch wreck to achieve respect for your actions US, 1995. ► catch your death of cold; catch your death to catch a very bad cold. Dating is obscure; the traditional Yorkshire folk song 'On Ilkley Moor baht'at' contains the line 'Then thee will catch thy death of cold' which, while the intent may be literal, means no more than '[If you go out on] Ilkley Moor without a hat [...] you will catch a bad cold' UK, 1872. ► catch yourself on to recover your common sense. Usually in the imperative UK, 1984

catch 22 noun a self-cancelling dilemma. Coined by Joseph Heller for his 1955 novel Catch 22, which was originally to be titled 'Catch 18' – until Mila 18 by Leon Uris was published US, 1977 catch colt noun an illegitimate child US, 1901 catch driver noun in harness racing, a driver hired on the day of the race US, 1994 catcher noun 1 the passive partner in homosexual sex US, 1966. 2 a peripheral member of an illegal drug enterprise hired to retrieve drugs hurriedly thrown out of a window to avoid confiscation and arrest US, 1989 catcher's mitt noun a dense jungle area with a heavy Viet Cong and North Vietnamese presence northeast of Phu Loi. Based on a vague resemblance between the area and a catcher's mitt on a map US, 1990 catch hand noun a casual workman who moves from job to job to get more favourable rates and conditions but has no intention of staying with any job until its completion UK, 1964 catch it verb 1 to get it into trouble with an authority, especially to incur a beating or a severe telling off UK, 1835. 2 to be killed US, 1982 catch on verb 1 to understand; to grasp the meaning or significance of something US, 1884. 2 to become popular or fashionable UK, 1887 catch one verb to drink or use drugs to the point of mild intoxication US, 1997 catchy adjective attractive, appealing, especially if vulgarly so UK, 1831 catch you later used as a farewell US, 1947

Cat City nickname Cathedral City, California. A resort town just south of Palm Springs in the Coachella Valley US, 1981 cat daddy noun a male with charm and charisma US, 2002 caterpillar noun during the war in Vietnam, a convoy of non-combat vehicles on a passably secure road US, 1991 caterpillar verb in mountain biking, to pedal with a fluctuating, inefficient cadence US, 1992 catever; kerterver adjective bad. From Italian cattivo (bad) but via earlier senses as 'an odd occurrence or person' UK, 2002 cat-eye noun an irregular work shift US, 1977 cat eyes noun eyes that are anything other than dark brown US, 1982 catface noun a pucker left in a garment after ironing US, 1952 cat fever noun catarrhal gastroenteritis, suffered by troops in the field in Vietnam US, 1945 cat fight noun a no-holds-barred fight between women AUSTRALIA, 1967

catfish noun a person who speaks too much and thinks too little US, 1954 catfish row noun a black neighbourhood in a southern US city. For the setting of his 1935 folk opera Porgy and Bess, George Gershwin used Catfish Row, a fictionalisation of an alleyway named Cabbage Row off Church Street in Charleston, South Carolina US, 1965 cat got your tongue? 'why aren't you talking?'; used for mocking or asking why a temporary speechlessness has struck. Elliptical for 'has the cat got your tongue?'; generally addressed to a child but equally patronising when asked of an adult UK, 1911 cath verb to insert a catheter into a patient. Medical use UK, 1980 cat-haul verb to interrogate someone fiercely. From a form of punishment used with slaves – a cat was forcibly dragged by the tail down the slave's bare back US, 1951 cat head noun a biscuit US, 1962

Catherine Wheel noun in the youth trend for 'souped-up' motor-scootering, a lifting of the front wheel off the ground due to sudden acceleration performed in conjunction with a flaming trail. Probably from the Catherine Wheel firework as a fiery elaboration of WHEELIE UK, 2004

Catho noun a member of the Catholic Church AUSTRALIA, 1996 cat hole noun a one-time, one-man field latrine dug by the user in Vietnam US, 1978

Catholic noun a pickpocket US, 1949

Catholic aspirin noun a tablet of Bensedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant. From the cross scores on the white tablet US, 1973

cathouse noun a brothel US, 1893 cat in hell's chance noun a very slim chance or possibility. In 1796, Francis Grose recorded 'No more chance than a cat in hell without claws'. Almost always phrased in the negative: 'not a cat in hell's chance' (no chance whatsoever) UK, 1796 cat lapper noun a lesbian; someone who enjoys performing oral sex on women US, 1967 cat-lick; cat-licker noun a Roman Catholic US, 1942 cat-life noun a prison sentence of two or more consecutive life terms US, 1992 cat man noun a burglar who relies on stealth US, 1962 catnip noun 1 poor quality, adulterated or entirely fake marijuana. Catmint, the botanical genus nepeta, known in the US as 'catnip', may be passed off as marijuana to the unsuspecting, or mixed with genuine marijuana as a make-weight; consequently any impotent marijuana US, 1962. 2 a marijuana cigarette. An ironic adoption of the previous sense UK, 2003 cat out verb to sneak away UK, 1983 cat pack noun a loosely defined group of wealthy, famous and fashionable people US, 1971 cat pan noun a bowl used for washing the vagina. From CAT (the vagina) TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 cat-piss-and-pepper noun a noisy, unrestrained argument BARBADOS, 2003 cat pisser noun windscreen wipers US, 1992 cat plant noun a facility where crude oil is separated by catalysis US, 1960 cat rack noun a game concession in a carnival in which a player throws balls at stuffed cats on a platform or fence US, 1960 cats noun 1 trousers UK, 2002. 2 heavy rain. From the older (1738) and more familiar adverb form UK, 1976. 3 stocks without proven performance US, 1997 cat's arse noun anything very good, superlative or exceptional; someone who is considered the best by themselves or others UK, 1984 cat's ass noun 1 an extraordinarily good or extraordinarily bad example of something US, 1967. 2 a knot or kink in a wire or rope US, 1942 cat's bar noun a female-only or mixed-sex bar NEW ZEALAND, 1953 cat's breakfast noun an unpleasant mess. A variation of DOG'S BREAKFAST UK, 1984 cat's eyes noun in craps, a roll of three US, 1945 cat shit noun used as a basis for comparison when describing someone who is mean US, 1970 cat shot noun a take-off from an aircraft carrier assisted by a catapult. Vietnam war usage US, 1959 cat's meat noun an easily accomplished task NEW ZEALAND, 1962 cat's meow; cat's miaow noun anything very good, superlative or exceptional; someone who is considered the best by themselves or others US, 1921 cat's mother noun ► 'she' is the cat's mother; 'she' is a cat's mother addressed as a catchphrase reproof to a child who fails to show proper respect by referring to the mother, or any other adult woman, as 'she'. Occasionally 'she is 'the cat'; at other times 'she' is 'the cat's grandmother.' UK, 1897 cat's nut noun an extraordinary thing or person US, 1928 cat's pajamas; cat's pyjamas noun anything very good, superlative or exceptional; someone who is considered the best by themselves or others. Coined by, or inspired by, an illustration by New York Journal sports cartoonist Thomas Aloysius 'TAD' Dorgan (1877–1929); in the UK by 1923 but rare by 1939. Still occasionally recorded US, 1922 catspraddle verb to beat someone with the fists TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1998 cat's prick noun an elongated ember at the lit end of a cigarette UK, 2003 cat's whiskers noun anything very good, superlative or exceptional; someone who is considered the best by themselves or others.

A variation of CAT'S PAJAMAS. From the 1960s on, usage is mainly Australian UK, 1927

cattie noun a mail-order catalogue UK, 1988

cattle noun racehorses AUSTRALIA, 1989

cattle call noun a mass audition US, 1952 cattle dog noun 1 a Catholic school student NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 2 a catalogue. Punning on the similarity of the pronunciation AUSTRALIA, 1984 cattle truck noun 1 any large truck used to transport troops. Vietnam war usage US, 1968. 2 in oil drilling, a bus that transports workers to the oil fields US, 1954. 3 a driver-operated omnibus UK, 1973 cattle truck; cattle verb 'fuck', generally in a figurative or expletive sense. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 cattle wagon noun a large car, especially a station wagon US, 1973 cat tranquilizer noun the recreational drug ketamine CANADA, 2002 catty adjective 1 sly, spiteful, mean-spirited UK, 1886. 2 nimble and sure-footed in a cat-like manner. Lumberjacks' use CANADA, 1984

catty-cat noun the vagina US, 1980

catty-catty adjective promiscuous TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 cat wagon noun a mobile brothel US, 372 cat-walk verb on a motorcyle or bicycle, to perform a wheelstand and then ride forward on the rear wheel US, 1992 cat walker noun a burglar who steals at night UK, 1990 cat wash noun a quick cleaning of the body using a washcloth but not a full bath or shower BAHAMAS, 1982

catweed noun marijuana UK, 1996 cat work noun criminal employment as a cat-burglar UK, 1956 caught short adjective 1 unprepared, especially with regards to bodily functions AUSTRALIA, 1964. 2 embarrassed by an untimely lack of whatever is required UK, 1984 caught using purple adjective apprehended making non-farm use of tax-free farm petrol. To help ease the strain on farm budgets, the prairie provinces allow farmers to buy petrol for farm equipment exempt from certain taxes. The petrol is dyed purple. Police in rural areas check. It also means being caught at some other technical illegality CANADA, 1987

Cauliflower Alley noun the boxing world. Journalists' use. Extending the punning TIN-EAR ALLEY UK, 1961

cauliflower ear; cauliflower noun an ear that has been damaged and deformed by blows. Originally and still used as a boxing term US, 1896 caulks noun ► put the caulks to someone to stamp with studded boots on someone's face. Lumberjacks' and loggers' use; 'caulks' are the spiked studs on their specialised waterproof boots CANADA, 1961 caulk up verb to use spiked working boots to stamp on someone. Lumberjacks' and loggers' use; 'caulks' are the spiked studs on their specialised waterproof boots CANADA, 1939 cause verb ► cause a vacancy in poker, to win a hand that drives a player from the game US, 1988

'cause; cos; coz; cuz because. An accepted and conventional term in C16 that has slipped into dialect and vulgar use UK, 1977 cause it verb to cause trouble to, or damage something UK, 1974 cav adjective cavalier. In the pornography industry, an attitude towards sexually transmitted disease US, 1995 cavalier noun the uncircumcised penis. Probably of Royal Navy origin, then juvenile; derives as an antonym of ROUNDHEAD (a circumcised penis) UK, 2002 cavalry noun ► the cavalry are coming; the cavalry are here help is coming; help is here. From the literal military sense, probably informed in use by film Westerns UK, 1984

Cav and Pag nickname the short operas Cavalleria Rusticana, by Pietro Mascagni, and Pagliacci, by Ruggero Leoncavallo, when paired as a double bill. Cavalleria Rusticana was first performed in 1890, Pagliacci in 1892 UK, 2002 cave noun 1 a deep sore at the site of repeated drug injections US, 1973. 2 the vagina. From the conventional meaning (a large hole or crevice) UK, 2001. ► keep cave to keep a lookout. Extends from CAVE! pronounced 'kay-vee' (beware!); school slang UK, 1906 cave verb to have sex with someone US, 1973 cave! beware! School slang, pronounced 'kay-vee', from Latin cavere (to beware). Still familiar, but mainly from its convenience as a crossword clue to a generation who read a certain sort of children's fiction UK, 1868 caveman adjective 1 obsolete US, 1974. 2 used of any skateboarding manoeuvre performed in an old-fashioned style UK, 2004 cave tubing noun a floating exploration of underground river and cave systems on an inflated rubber tube BELIZE, 2003

caviar noun 1 human faecal matter in the context of a sexual fetish. A euphemism used in pornography UK, 2002. 2 residue in whatever utensils are used for manufacturing crack cocaine US, 1993. 3 a mixture of marijuana and crack cocaine prepared for smoking in a cigarette US, 1989. 4 cocaine; crack cocaine UK, 2003

caviar can noun an armoured tank from the former Soviet Union US, 1952

Cavite all star noun marijuana, probably from the Philippines. Cavite was a US military base and is now an 'Export Processing Zone', ninety miles south of Manila US, 1977 cav of the cav nickname the First Squadron of the Ninth US Cavalry. Organised in 1866, the Ninth Cavalry saw action in every war through to Vietnam US, 1991 cavvy noun a substitute horse, or person CANADA, 1987

cazh adjective ► see: KAZH cazooled adjective drunk US, 1968

CB noun used as an abbreviation for COCKBLOCK US, 1980

CB adjective could be. Used in tentative diagnoses, such as 'could be lupus' US, 1994

CBC sunshine noun rain after a Canadian Broadcasting Corporation forecast of sun CANADA, 1987

CBT noun in the subculture of consensual sado-masochism, the infliction of discomfort and pain on a male's genitals. An initialism of cock (the penis) 'ball' (the testicle) and 'torture' UK, 2002

CC noun 1 Canadian Club™ whisky US, 1971. 2 cocaine offered as a gift by a dealer US, 1989. 3 a prison segregation unit. An abbreviation of CARDBOARD CITY UK, 1996

CC verb to send someone to a prison segregation unit, or to replace cell furniture with cardboard items. From CARDBOARD CITY (the segregation unit) UK, 1996

CCW noun the criminal charge of carrying a concealed weapon. As the US moved to the right, gun enthusiasts have been successful in enacting legislation in many states that permit – not forbid – carrying concealed weapons, changing the meaning of the acronym to 'concealed-carry weapon' US, 1973

CD noun a condom. Scamto youth street slang (South African townships) SOUTH AFRICA, 2005

C-Day *noun the day when new car models were available for civilian purchase after the end of World War 2 *US, 1944

C-duct noun cocaine US, 1986

C-dust noun cocaine US, 1970

cecil noun cocaine. A disguise like CHARLIE, another man's name UK, 1996

Cecil B. DeMille noun any large job that evolves into a chaotic mess. New York police slang US, 1997

Cecil Gee; cecil noun one thousand pounds. The high street designer menswear shop Cecil Gee is used for 'dressing up' the common G (£1,000). Noted in use by television presenter Johnny Vaughan UK, 2002

ceech noun hashish US, 1992

ceefa noun a cat. A play on 'c for cat' NEW ZEALAND, 1998 ceiling bet noun the highest bet permitted in a given game or situation US, 1988 ceiling chicken noun an Air Canada baggage handler with a particular assignment CANADA, 1994

ceitful adjective deceitful GUYANA, 1996

celeb noun a celebrity US, 1916 celebrity-fucker noun a person who seeks out sexual relationships with famous people US, 1969 celestial discharge noun death in a hospital US, 1994 cell noun a wireless telephone that is part of a system in which a geographical area is divided into sections served by a limited-range transmitter. An abbreviation of 'cell phone' a term first heard in the late 1980s as an abbreviation of 'cellular' US, 1997 cell verb to occupy a prison cell US, 1901 cell 99 noun a prison morgue US, 1949 cellar noun in a sports league, the last place in team standings US, 1950 cellar dealer noun a card cheat who deals from the bottom of a deck US, 1988 cellar flap; cellar verb to borrow something. Rhyming slang for TAP (to borrow) UK, 1960 cell block noun 1 a condom. A clever play on words: 'cell' (a basic life-form) representing spermatozoa, combined with 'block' (a barrier); the whole ironically suggesting imprisonment (of the penis) UK, 1998. 2 a school classroom. Teen slang US, 1958

cellie; celly noun 1 in jail or prison, a cellmate US, 1966. 2 a cellular telephone US, 1999 cell-shocked adjective deranged from life in prison. An obvious, although sharp, play on 'shell-shocked' US, 1990 cell spin noun a surprise search of a cell by prison authorities. From SPIN (to search) UK, 1996 cell task noun in prison, a pin-up. A focus on location and inspiration for a prisoner's TASK (masturbation) UK, 1996 cell warrior noun a prisoner whose actions outside his cell do not match his aggressive words uttered in the safety of his cell US, 2001 cement arm noun an intravenous drug user's arm that is toughened with scar tissue over the veins US, 1973 cemented adjective very drunk UK, 1983

cementhead noun a stupid person US, 1949 cement mixer noun 1 a dancer who rotates her pelvis in a simulation of sexual intercourse US, 1951. 2 a dance, a ball. A beatnik term not recorded until 1984 UK, 1984. 3 a loud car or truck US, 1914 cement overcoat noun hardened cement in which a murder victim is concealed US, 1969 cement overshoes noun concrete poured around a person's feet, used to weigh them down when their body is disposed of in a body of water US, 1962 census office noun in prison, the office where incoming and outgoing mail is checked UK, 1996 cent noun a dollar US, 1957. ► like a cent worth of shaved ice humiliated, belittled TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

centrefield noun 1 in craps, a field bet on the nine US, 1985. 2 in blackjack played in casinos, the seat directly across from the dealer US, 1985 centre noun in the gambling game two-up, the bets placed with the person spinning the coins AUSTRALIA, 1911

Centre noun ► the Centre the central parts of the Australian mainland AUSTRALIA, 1899

centurion noun a cricketer who scores 100 runs BARBADOS, 1886 century noun 1 a $100 note US, 1859. 2 one hundred pounds (£100) UK, 1861. 3 one hundred yards US, 1989. 4 one hundred miles US, 1956. 5 in motor racing, 100 miles per hour US, 1965 century verb to save one hundred dollars US, 1970 century note noun a one-hundred dollar note US, 1908

'cept except UK, 1851

cereal noun marijuana, especially when smoked in a bowl, 1999 cert noun 1 a certainty UK, 1889. 2 a horse that is considered to be a certain winner; a likely winner in any contest UK, 1889 certifiable adjective mentally deranged. Carried over from an earlier legal requirement to certify a person as insane UK, 1939

cess noun marijuana, possibly of inferior quality US, 1995 cess!; ciss! used as an expression of contempt or disgust, also used for registering disappointment. Directly from Afrikaans sies. Variants include 'sis!', 'sies!' and 'siss!' SOUTH AFRICA, 1862

cest noun marijuana UK, 2003

CFA noun someone not originating from a particular place in the Maritime Provinces. An acronym for 'come from away', well known to Newfoundlanders and other coastal people CANADA, 2002

CFB adjective very clear indeed. An abbreviation of 'clear as a fucking bell'. Vietnam war usage US, 1980

CFD noun a chilled 12-ounce can of beer. An abbreviation of 'cold frothy dog' US, 2002

CFM adjective sexually suggestive. An abbreviation of COME-FUCK-ME US, 1989

C-H noun a cheating scheme in poker involving two players; if one player signals that he is holding a good hand, his confederate raises the bet. An abbreviation of 'crooked-honest' US, 1988 cha adjective fashionable, trendy, stylish US, 1992 chabobs noun the female breasts US, 1962

chach noun the vagina; a despised woman US, 2003 cha-cha verb to have sex US, 1980 chaff bandit noun a racehorse that does not win enough to pay its way AUSTRALIA, 1989

chaffy noun a fellow prisoner UK, 1996 chain noun a bus or van used to transport prisoners US, 1984. ► off the chain excellent US, 2001. ► pull someone's chain 1 to tease someone; to mislead someone US, 1962. 2 to control someone's actions against their will; to treat someone with contempt. The image of a dog on a leash. Variants are 'jerk someone's chain' and 'yank someone's chain' US, 1962

Chain noun ► The Chain the Aleutian Islands US, 1886

chain-drink verb to drink one beverage after another, barely pausing between drinks US, 1976 chain gang noun 1 a railway crew assembled from the first available workers US, 1946. 2 the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress of London. After the chains of office UK, 1976 chain it verb to chain smoke UK, 2001 chains and canes noun restraint and corporal punishment when advertised as services offered by a prostitute UK, 2003 chain-saw verb to exchange positions with someone; to take over; to cut in UK, 2003 chain-smoke verb to smoke cigarettes continuously and addictively UK, 1934 chainsuck noun in mountain biking, a condition that occurs when the bicycle chain doubles back on itself and gets jammed between the frame and the chain rings US, 1996

chair noun 1 the electric chair; the death penalty US, 1895. 2 a motorcycle sidecar UK, 1984 chairbacker noun an unordained, self-taught preacher US, 1955 chairborne adjective in the military, assigned to a rear-echelon support job. A pun on 'airborne', applied to 'chairborne commandos', 'chairborne generals', the 'chairborne infantry', 'chairborne rangers', etc US, 1943 chairman of the board noun the most important person of a set of people. Probably extended from its use as a nickname for Frank Sinatra, 1915–98 US, 2002

Chairman of the Board nickname actor and entertainer, Frank Sinatra, 1915–1998. Coined in tribute to his rôle as founder of Reprise Records in 1961 US, 1963 chairwarmer noun an idler, a loafer US, 1960 chale! no! never! Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1950 chalewa noun a marijuana pipe, usually made from coconut shell and tubing, used ritually by Rastas JAMAICA, 2001

Chalfont St Giles; chalfonts noun haemorrhoids. Rhyming slang for 'piles', formed from the name of a village in Buckinghamshire UK, 1980 chalice noun a pipe for smoking marijuana. A word with wider religious significance adopted into ritual by Rastafarians and hence into more general use. Celebrated in the song 'chalice to chalice' by Tappa Zukie, 1996 JAMAICA, 1990 chalk noun 1 a white person. Not flattering US, 1945. 2 methamphetamine or amphetamine US, 1966. 3 crack cocaine. From the appearance UK, 2003. 4 a potent homemade 'wine' made from yeast, sugar, water, and rice or fruit US, 2001. 5 low quality beer US, 1949. 6 in sports betting, the contestant or team favoured to win US, 1991. 7 chocolate syrup US, 1946. ► by a long chalk by much; by a great degree. In the later C20 the predominant usage becomes 'not by a long chalk' with the meaning as 'grossly inferior' UK, 1859 chalk verb 1 to prepare cocaine for inhalation. The image of white chalk lines UK, 1997. 2 to chemically lighten the colour of cocaine for buyers who believe that the white colour reflects purity US, 1989. 3 to observe something or someone US, 1959. 4 to ban a gambler from a table, game or casino US, 1950. 5 to steal something US, 2001 chalk and talk noun teaching; those methods of teaching which are currently considered old-fashioned. Slightly contemptuous AUSTRALIA, 1942 chalk-eater noun in horse racing, a bettor who consistently bets on favourites. From the old custom of a bookmaker chalking odds on a blackboard US, 1951 chalked up adjective under the influence of cocaine US, 1955

chalkier noun a very fat person US, 1990 chalkier and talker noun a teacher. Later use is slightly contemptuous AUSTRALIA, 1942

Chalk Farm; chalk noun the arm. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of an area of north London UK, 1857 chalk hand noun in poker, a hand that is almost certain to win US, 1988 chalk horse noun in horse racing, the favourite in a race US, 1951 chalkie noun a school teacher. From the use of chalk on a blackboard AUSTRALIA, 1945 chalk it up verb to claim or give someone the credit for something UK, 1923 chalk it up! used for drawing attention to a triumph or extraordinary happening, often accompanied by a gesture of chalking a figure 1 on a wall UK, 1923 chalk man noun the police employee who chalks the outline of a corpse where it has fallen before the body is removed US, 1992

chalk people noun people who live far from the ocean US, 1991 chaloque noun a wide, heavy, large American car. French used by the English-speaking in Quebec CANADA, 1992 chambermaid noun a railway machinist working in a roundhouse US, 1946 chamber of commerce noun 1 a toilet. A pun on 'chamber pot' US, 1960. 2 a brothel US, 1949 chamber pipe noun a type of pipe used to smoke marijuana US, 1992 champ noun 1 a drug addict who does not inform on others when questioned by the police US, 1960. 2 a champion US, 1868. 3 used between contemporary, unrelated males as a familiar form of address UK, 2001 champagne noun 1 human urine in the context of a sexual fetish US, 1987. 2 a well-paying customer of a prostitute US, 1992 champagne blonde noun a woman with pale blonde hair UK, 1904 champagne Charlie noun a man who enjoys a luxurious, if somewhat dissipated, lifestyle. After a music hall song about a noted drinker of champagne UK, 1868 champagne chins noun folds of flesh creating the image of more than one double chin as a result of the good life UK, 1997 champagne drug noun cocaine US, 1998 champagne house noun wealthy clubbers. Champagne, generally prefixed with a sense of derision or criticism (as CHAMPAGNE SOCIALISM), combines with HOUSE (MUSIC) (the umbrella-genre for contemporary club music) UK, 1999 champagne socialism noun a belief in socialist ideals apparently contradicted by an expensively indulgent lifestyle. Critical and derisive UK, 1987 champagne socialist noun a person attached to socialist politics who enjoys a luxurious lifestyle UK, 1987 champagne tap noun a bloodless sample from a lumbar puncture, traditionally rewarded by a bottle of champagne from the consultant UK, 2002 champagne tastes and mauby pockets noun something said to be possessed by those who do not have the money to live the lifestyle that they affect BARBADOS, 1976

champagne trick noun a wealthy, big-spending customer of a prostitute US, 1973 chambers noun champagne. The original word is abridged and the suffix '-ers' is added; this process of amendment, credited to students at Oxford University, is discussed by Partridge and Beale in the appendix to the 8th edition of the Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English and called 'Oxford -er(s)' UK, 1955 champion noun a completely inept and unlucky person SINGAPORE, 2002 champion adjective excellent. Mainly, or stereotypically from the north of England UK, 1937 champion adverb excellently. Mainly, or stereotypically from the north of England UK, 1937 chance verb ► chance your arm to take unnecessary risks UK, 1966 chance 'em verb while surfing, to decide to ride a big wave US, 1991 chancer noun an opportunist, especially one who takes risks in pursuit of criminal gain; someone who takes or creates chances UK, 1884 chance would be a fine thing!; chance is a fine thing! 'I wish I had that opportunity!' or 'You wouldn't know what to do if you got the opportunity!' or 'that is very unlikely!'. Each variant has all meanings UK, 1912 chance mechanic noun a military medic, especially one assigned to diagnose and treat sexually transmitted infections US, 1944 chandelier noun 1 where non-existent bids in a fraudulent auction are said to come from UK, 2003. 2 a homosexual. Rhyming slang for QUEER. Shortened to 'shandy' UK, 1998 chandelier sign noun a dramatic reaction to being touched in a painful area. It is said that the patient 'hits the ceiling' or 'hits the chandelier' US, 1994 chanel noun cocaine. A slightly forced formation, playing on the name of designer Coco Chanel US, 1976

chang noun cocaine UK, 2002 change noun 1 money US, 1972. 2 an approximation or a fraction US, 1975. ► the change the menopause. Elliptical for CHANGE OF LIFE UK, 1934 change verb ► change address to leave TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003.

► change tune to retreat US, 1991. ► change water to engage in an unproductive activity. From lobstermen, who refer to the hauling and baiting of an empty trap as 'changing water' US, 1975.

► change your luck (used of a white person) to have sex with a black person; to have sex with a person of the sex with whom one would not ordinarily have sex US, 1916. ► change your tune to alter your professed opinion or manner of speech UK, 1578 change artist noun a swindler who gives customers too little change US, 1960 change machine noun a prostitute who charges very little for sex US, 1963 change of life noun the menopause UK, 1834 change of luck noun (used of a white person) sex with a black person US, 1916 change raiser noun a swindler who tricks cashiers into giving him too much change US, 1960 changes noun difficulties US, 1973 changies noun changing rooms UK, 2001 chank noun a chancre; any sexually transmitted infection US, 1960 chank verb to eat loudly and rudely US, 1844 channel noun a vein, especially a prominent vein suitable for drug injection US, 1994 channel verb in car customising, to lower the body of the car US, 1965

Channel Bore nickname UK television Channel 4 UK, 1999 channel fever noun a strong desire by someone at sea to be back on land UK, 1929 channel fleet noun a street. Rhyming slang IRELAND, 1960 channel-surf verb to browse distractedly through a variety of television programmes, switching from channel to channel US, 1994 channel swimmer noun a heroin user. Punning on 'channel' as 'a vein' US, 1959 chant verb to sing UK, About 1386 chantoosie noun in Montreal, a female nightclub singer. The word is adapted from French chanteuse (a woman who sings) CANADA, 2002 chap noun 1 a man, a fellow UK, 1704. 2 a young fellow who wouldn't yet know about the ways of the world IRELAND, 1992. 3 a juvenile offender or detention centre inmate who is top of the pecking order UK, 1978 chapel adjective being part of a chapel's congregation UK, 1946 chapel hat pegs noun used for comparisons with things that are exaggeratedly conspicuous or obvious when not normally so UK, 1984 chapess noun a girl; a woman. A jocular extension of CHAP (a man) UK, 2003 chapotote noun heroin UK, 2003 chapped adjective 1 depressed US, 1990. 2 irritated, angry US, 1966 chapped off adjective very angry US, 1963 chappie; chappy noun a man, a fellow. Originally (1820s) a diminutive for CHAP (a man), meaning 'a little fellow'; in the current sense and as a form of address by 1880s. Current usage however is often ironic, probably affected by Chappie™, a branded dog food UK, 1882 chaps noun ► the chaps (of men) a grouping of peers; us UK, 1978 chapstick lesbian noun a lesbian who is athletic or has a notable interest in sports. Formed on the model of LIPSTICK LESBIAN UK, 2004 chapter and verse noun complete detail; detailed knowledge US, 1956 chapter herald noun a Hell's Angels motorcycle gang member. A play on 'herald angels' combined with the fact that Hell's Angels are grouped into 'chapters' UK, 1984 char; cha; chah noun tea. From Chinese – Mandarin ch'a (tea) used conventionally from C17 US, 1919 character noun 1 a man; a fellow; a person UK, 1931. 2 a person with an underworld lifestyle US, 1958. 3 a chilled 12-ounce bottle of beer US, 2002

charas; churus noun hashish from India INDIA, 1957 charcoal adjective (used of skin colouring) grey-brown BAHAMAS, 1982

chardie noun chardonnay AUSTRALIA, 2003 charge noun 1 an intoxicated sensation, emotional or narcotic UK, 1950. 2 intense excitement US, 1960. 3 marijuana. From an earlier sense meaning 'drugs in general'; it contains a charge – produces a KICK US, 1941. 4 an injection of a drug US, 1925. 5 an alcoholic drink AUSTRALIA, 1963. 6 prison contraband secreted in a prisoner's rectum

NEW ZEALAND, 1997. 7 a person arrested and held in charge UK, 1970.

8 a Charge Nurse, the nurse in charge of a ward, especially if male. Often after 'the' UK, 1961 charge verb to go surfing US, 1991. ► charge it to the rain and let the dust settle it to pay for something on credit without fully expecting to pay the charge US, 1946 charge account noun a person who can be counted upon to post bail if you are arrested US, 1976 charged; charged up adjective drug-intoxicated US, 1942 charge 'em! used as an exhortation to action. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 charger noun a bullet-shaped container for anal concealment and storage of drugs UK, 1996 charge up adjective excited; drunk TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 charidee noun charity seen as a self-serving, publicity-seeking enterprise. Comedians Harry Enfield and Paul Whitehouse captured this heavily ironic mid-Atlantic pronunciation for the comic caricatures Smashie and Nicey UK, 2001

Charing noun a horse. Rhyming slang, from Charing Cross (considered by traffic-planners to be the absolute centre of London); the rhyme-word was pronounced 'crorse' in C19 Cockney UK, 1857 chariot noun 1 a car. Ironic, jocular US, 1935. 2 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1945 charity dame; charity moll noun an amateur prostitute, or one undercutting the going-rate AUSTRALIA, 1953 charity fuck noun sexual intercourse engaged in by one partner as an act of generosity US, 1978 charity girl noun an amateur prostitute or promiscuous woman US, 1916 charity hop noun in baseball, the last long hop taken by a ground ball, making it simple to field US, 1967 charity stuff noun a woman who, while promiscuous, does not prostitute herself US, 1950

Charles noun 1 cocaine. More familiarly known as CHARLIE (cocaine) UK, 1997. 2 a Viet Cong; the Viet Cong US, 1966. 3 a female's underwear US, 1968

Charles Dance noun a chance. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of the British actor born in 1946 UK, 1998

Charley noun 1 the penis US, 1969. 2 heroin, 2002 ► see: CHARLIE and variants charley horse noun a muscle cramp US, 1888

Charley Paddock noun used as a personification of a hacksaw US, 1949 charley price noun a large rat. An allusion to Sir Charles Price, member of the Houses of Assembly of Jamaica for St Mary, 1756–61, and three times speaker, who introduced a large species of rat to Jamaica to kill cane rats JAMAICA, 2002 charleys noun the testicles US, 1964

Charley's dead between schoolgirls, used as a warning that a slip or petticoat can be seen below the hem of a skirt UK, 1974

Charley Wheeler noun a girl. Rhyming slang for SHEILA (a girl) AUSTRALIA, 1945

Charlie verb in the circus or carnival, to dump posters or advertising leaflets that have not been distributed or posted US, 1980 charlie adjective 1 ostentatious but lacking in quality. Upper-class; possibly even an attempt at rhyming slang, 'charlie horse' (coarse) UK, 1982. 2 scared, afraid. Probably a shortening of rhyming slang CHARLIE HOWARD (a coward) UK, 1958

Charlie; charlie noun 1 cocaine. The phonetic alphabet has 'Charlie' for 'C' in use from around the same time that 'charlie' for 'cocaine' first appears. Also spelt 'charley' US, 1935. 2 crack cocaine UK, 2000. 3 a member of the Viet Cong US, 1965. 4 the Viet Cong US, 1966. 5 a fool. Often as 'a right charlie' or 'a proper charlie'. Possibly a reduction of CHARLIE HUNT (a CUNT) somewhat softened, or simply a jocular nomination, perhaps referring to a professional fool such as Charlie Chaplin (1889–1977) UK, 1959. 6 a white man, or white men in general US, 1928. 7 a woman. Short for CHARLIE WHEELER (a woman) AUSTRALIA, 1942. 8 a female prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1950. 9 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle AUSTRALIA, 2002. 10 a glass or bottle of Carlsberg™ lager. Used by the British Army in Germany in the 1950s and 1960s. Noted by Beale, 1974 UK, 1974. 11 a dollar US, 1924. 12 in poker, the third player to the left of the dealer US, 1988. ► go to see Uncle Charlie to use cocaine, especially to go to a lavatory for discreet ingestion of the drug UK, 2001

charlie bender noun a prolonged session of cocaine abuse. A new influence, CHARLIE (cocaine), for a traditional BENDER (a drinking session) UK, 1997

Charlie bird noun during the Vietnam war, a helicopter used by a tactical commander US, 1974

Charlie boy noun an effeminate man. Patronising US, 1896

Charlie Brown noun a citizens' band radio set. The name of a much-loved cartoon character, created in 1950 by Charles M. Schulz, disguises a conventional initialism UK, 1981

Charlie Chaplin noun a chaplain, especially a prison chaplain. After the famous comedy actor SOUTH AFRICA, 1974

Charlie Chase verb in horse racing, to finish second. Rhyming slang, from 'Charlie Chase' (to place) AUSTRALIA, 1989

Charlie Chester; charlie noun a paedophile, a child molester; often used as a nickname for a headmaster. Rhyming slang, used by schoolchildren, formed, for no reason other than a convenient rhyme, from the name of the comedian and broadcaster, 1914–96 UK, 2003

Charlie Clore; Charlie noun 1 twenty pounds (£20). Rhyming slang for SCORE. Formed, no doubt with irony, on the name of British financier Charles Clore (1904–79), a 1960s symbol of great wealth UK, 1998. 2 a floor, the floor. Rhyming slang, as above, but without any irony UK, 1998 charlie cocaine noun cocaine UK, 1997

Charlie Cong noun the Viet Cong; a Viet Cong US, 1970

Charlie Cooke noun a look. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of Chelsea and Scotland midfielder Charlie Cooke (b.1942) who was especially well-known from the mid-1960s to the late 70s UK, 1998 charlied; charleyed; charlied up; charleyed-up adjective cocaine-intoxicated UK, 1999

Charlie Drake noun 1 a brake. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of British comedian and recording artist Charlie Drake (1925–2006); in the late 1950s and early 60s he was one the UK's most famous entertainers. The plural, unusually, is Charlie Drakes UK, 1998. 2 a break. Rhyming slang, formed as above UK, 1998

Charlie Howard noun a coward. Rhyming slang UK, 1936

Charlie Hunt; Charlie noun 1 the vagina. Rhyming slang for CUNT. Also variant spelling 'Charley Hunt', shortened to 'Charley' UK, 1961. 2 a fool. Rhyming slang for CUNT UK, 1961

Charlie is my darling used as a catchphrase by cocaine-users. From an old Scottish folk-song celebrating Bonnie Prince Charlie, 1720–88, playing on CHARLIE (cocaine) UK, 2002

Charlie Noble noun an exhaust stack or chimney. Originally nautical, referring to a ship's smokestack US, 1940

Charlie Potatoes noun an important man UK, 2000

Charlie Pride noun a ride in or on something. Rhyming slang, formed on the US country and western musician (b.1938) UK, 2003

Charlie rats noun US Army c-rations. A combination of the phonetic alphabet and an abbreviation of 'rations' US, 1982

Charlie Ridge noun a ridge in the mountainous region west of Da Nang at the base of Ba Na Mountain; during the Vietnam war, also used as a jocular, generic term for any piece of landscape in Vietnam US, 1980

Charlie rockets noun a marine contraption in Korea, a small cart with 144 tubes that fire 42-pound projectiles over a range of approximately 5,200 yards US, 1957

Charlie Ronce; Charley Ronce noun a ponce (a man who lives off a prostitute's earnings); hence a derogatory term for any man.

Variants are 'Joe Ronce' and 'Johnnie Ronce'. Rhyming slang, frequently reduced to 'Charlie' but never 'Joe' or 'Johnnie' UK, 1977 charlies noun the female breasts. Always in plural; of uncertain derivation UK, 1909

Charlie's Angels noun police women. From the cult television series about three female detectives that commenced broadcasting in 1976 and is first recorded in this sense in the same year US, 1976

Charlie Sheard noun a beard. Rhyming slang UK, 1980

Charlie Smirke; Charley Smirke noun a fool. Rhyming slang for BERK, formed from a British champion jockey of the 1930s–50s UK, 2003

Charlie Tom noun a communist terrorist. Military slang, based on early phonetic alphabet UK, 2001

Charlie Wheeler noun a woman. Rhyming slang for SHEILA, after Charles Wheeler, the Australian artist of nudes AUSTRALIA, 1953

charlie willy noun a real or imagined state of sexual arousal as a result of cocaine usage. Combines CHARLIE (cocaine) with WILLY (the penis), 1999 charm verb to talk to someone US, 1989

Charmin' noun a timid prisoner. From the advertising slogan for Charmin™ toilet paper – 'Please don't squeeze the Charmin'' US, 1976 charming! used for expressing disapproval. An ironic variation of the conventional sense, signalled with heavy emphasis on the first syllable UK, 1956 charms noun the parts of a woman's body that are imagined in a sexual context or revealed for titillating effect UK, 1937 charm school noun any leadership training course. Originally applied to officer training in the military US, 1971 charper verb to search for something, to seek something UK, 2002 charperer; charpering omee; charpering omi noun a police officer. From CHARPER (to seek) and OMEE (a man) UK, 1893 charpering carsey noun a police station. From CHARPERER (a policeman) and CARSEY (originally, a house) UK, 1893 charra noun a person of Indian descent living in Durban. A term that is acceptable in Hindu-to-Hindu conversation, but not for outsiders SOUTH AFRICA, 1970

Chartocracy nickname Canada, in which the Charter of Rights and Freedoms gives courts wide powers CANADA, 2002 charver noun 1 a woman, especially when objectified sexually; an act of heterosexual intercourse with a woman. A consequent usage of the verb CHARVER (to have sex) UK, 1979. 2 any member of a subcultural urban adolescent group that wears hip-hop dress and jewellery (and acts older than their years) UK, 1996. 3 a female member of the sub-cultural urban youth grouping loosely identified as CHAV. A narrowing of the previous non-gender-specific sense UK, 2005 charver; charva verb to have sex. From Romany charvo (to interfere with) UK, 1962 charvering donna noun a prostitute. A combination of CHARVER (to have sex) and 'donna' (a woman) UK, 2002

Chas noun 1 cocaine. A conventional diminutive of CHARLIE (cocaine) UK, 1999. 2 a Viet Cong; the Viet Cong. Also spelt 'chaz'. One of not a few variants of CHARLIE US, 1991

Chas and Dave verb to shave. Rhyming slang, formed (perhaps ironically) on the names of two bearded Cockney musicians, Charles (Chas) Hodges and Dave Peacock, who have been known as a double-act since 1975. Also used as a noun UK, 1992 chase noun in horse racing, a steeplechase race US, 1976 chase verb 1 to vigorously pursue a person responsible for some matter and who can achieve a specific result, such as the completion of a piece of work or the provision of urgently needed documents. A variant is 'chase up' UK, 1958. 2 in poker, to play against an opponent's superior hand US, 1963. 3 to smoke any drug. An abbreviation and broadening of the meaning of CHASE THE DRAGON (to smoke heroin) UK, 1998. ► chase the bag to engage yourself in a near constant search for drugs to buy US, 1970.

► chase the dog to loaf on the job US, 1954. ► chase the dragon to inhale heroin smoke, especially from heroin burnt on a piece of aluminium foil US, 1961. ► chase the kettle to use drugs US, 1997. ► chase the nurse; chase the white nurse to become addicted to morphine US, 1992. ► chase the tiger to smoke heroin UK, 2002. ► chase your losses when losing at gambling, to bet more and more and with less discretion in an increasingly frustrating attempt to win back what has been lost US, 1998 chaser noun 1 a drink taken immediately after another US, 1897. 2 a womaniser US, 1894. 3 a prison guard US, 1982. 4 a military police officer assigned to escort prisoners in transport. Short for 'brig chaser' US, 1927. 5 a supplementary message that demands to know what action has been taken on a previous message. A military usage UK, 1969. 6 a crack cocaine user with obsessive compulsive behaviours US, 1992 chase-up noun a car chase or informal car race UK, 1967 chasing adjective excellent UK, 1983 chassis noun 1 a human body US, 1930. 2 the female breasts US, 1957. 3 the skull US, 1994. 4 a car US, 1947 chastity belt noun in gambling, the loss limit that some players impose on themselves US, 1996 chastity rig noun a skin-coloured patch worn over a woman's vulva to give the appearance of nudity US, 1970 chat noun 1 a vocabulary, style or manner of speech or writing UK, 1968. 2 a talent for glibly persuasive speech; the gift of the gab UK, 1968. 3 a thing, an article, an object UK, 1906. 4 the vagina. French chat (cat), thus PUSSY UK, 1937. 5 an old man, usually a vagrant, deadbeat and alcoholic, or otherwise degraded. Especially in prison use AUSTRALIA, 1950. 6 a louse. Prison usage AUSTRALIA, 1812 chat verb 1 to talk persuasively to someone as a strategy for seduction; to flirt. Also 'chat up' UK, 1898. 2 to reveal a secret JAMAICA, 2003. ► chat stupidity; chat foolishness to talk nonsense ANGUILLA, 1996 chatarra noun heroin. Possibly from Spanish chatarra (scrap iron) UK, 2003 chat down verb to engage in flirtatious conversation BARBADOS, 1965 châteaud adjective drunk on wine. Upper-class society pun on the French château (origins of good wine) with conventional 'shattered', 1982 chateaux cardboard noun cheap wine that comes contained in a cardboard box AUSTRALIA, 1996 chat room noun a network on the Internet that hosts real-time typed conversations US, 1993

Chattanooga choo-choo noun a marijuana cigarette made with two or three rolling papers laid longways US, 1997 chatter noun the flexing of a surfboard riding over choppy water or the slapping sound created US, 1963 chatter verb (used of a car) to vibrate as a result of loose parts in the drive line US, 1954 chatterati noun a grouping of articulate middle-class people, especially those occupied in academic, artistic or media work. A variation of CHATTERING CLASS, by a combination of 'chatter' and -ERATI (a suffix that creates a fashionable grouping) UK, 2001 chatterbox noun 1 a very talkative person. Conventionally contemptuous, but often affectionate, especially of children UK, 1774. 2 a typewriter US, 1950 chattering class; chattering classes noun articulate middle-class people, especially those occupied in academic, artistic or media work UK, 1985

chatty adjective dirty, worn out; in poor repair AUSTRALIA, 1944 chatty, catty and scatty adjective of a woman, talkative, spiteful and incapable of serious thought. Offensive UK, 1969 chatty-chatty adjective talkative, gossipy. West Indian and UK black usage UK, 2000 chat up verb 1 to bluff or to trick someone by the use of convincing speech UK, 1962. 2 to flatter someone; to flirt with someone UK, 1963 chat-up line noun a conversational gambit intended to initiate a seduction. Extended from CHAT UP (to talk flirtatiously) UK, 1986

chaud noun the penis UK, 2002

chav noun any member of a subcultural urban adolescent group that dresses and acts older than their years. Variants are 'chava', 'charva', 'chavster' and 'charver'. Usually derogatory, even contemptuous; possibly derived from an abbreviation of Chatham, the town in Kent where the genus is reputed to have originated; possibly from, or influenced by, Romany chavvy (a child) UK, 2003 chavtastic adjective unashamedly in the chav style UK, 2004 chavvy; chavy; chavvie noun a child; occasionally used, in a derogatory sense, for a man. English gypsy use; ultimately from Romany chavi (child, daughter) and chavo (child, son) UK, 1860 chaw verb to cut something up, to disfigure something. A figurative use of an old form of 'chew' UK, 1959 chawbacon noun an unsophisticated country dweller US, 1834

ChCh; cheech nickname Christchurch, New Zealand ANTARCTICA, 2003

che then. In phrases such as 'cheers che' ANTARCTICA, 1985

C head noun a cocaine user or addict US, 1982 cheap noun ► do the cheap to take a shortcut CANADA, 1994. ► on the cheap economically, cheaply, and often, too cheaply UK, 1859 cheap adjective mean, lacking in generosity US, 1904 cheap and cheerful; cheap but cheerful adjective inexpensive but acceptable. Deprecatory, but not as harsh as the conventional 'cheap and nasty' UK, 1978 cheap and nasty noun a pasty (a small pastry turnover that may contain a variety of fillings). Rhyming slang, depending on an Australian accent for intelligent delivery AUSTRALIA, 1937 cheap as chips adjective very good value; under-priced. The catchphrase of television presenter and antique dealer David Dickinson (b.1941) UK, 2000 cheap at the half the price! used for extolling or appreciating a very reasonable price. Often ironic. It seems likely that this is a perversion of the more sensible claim: 'cheap at twice the price' UK, 1977 cheap basing noun crack cocaine. The drug is cheaper and less pure than FREEBASE cocaine UK, 1998 cheap Charlie noun a cheapskate US, 1982 cheap heart noun a Purple Heart award resulting from a minor combat wound US, 1990 cheapie adjective cheap; of inferior quality. Frequently, but not originally, applied to films UK, 1898 cheapie; cheapy noun something cheap, or that is made available at a cheaper cost UK, 1898 cheapies noun cheap thrills AUSTRALIA, 1992

cheap-jack adjective used of goods sold cheaply, or of cheap quality. An elaboration of 'cheap', but based on a partial misunderstanding of the conventional 'cheapjack' (a travelling hawk with a diminishing scale of 'bargain' prices) UK, 1999

Cheap John adjective shoddy, inferior US, 1855 cheap line noun a person who buys inexpensive merchandise FJI, 1992 cheapo noun 1 a cheap, or inferior, thing US, 1975. 2 in chess, a trick move or a game won because of an opponent's error US, 1971

cheapo adjective inexpensive US, 1972

cheapo-cheapo adjective very cheap; of inferior quality UK, 1977 cheap physical stuff noun sexual activity short of intercourse US, 1968 cheap play noun in dominoes, a move that scores one point US, 1959 cheapshit adjective inexpensive and inferior. Combines conventional 'cheap' with SHIT (rubbish, something of no value) UK, 2000 cheap shot noun 1 a petty, unfair insult US, 1971. 2 in sports, an unnecessary, unprovoked act of violence US, 1970 cheapskate noun a miserly person US, 1896 cheapskate adjective miserly US, 1903 cheapy noun ▶ see: CHEAPIE cheat verb 1 when bodybuilding, to use muscles other than those designed for use in a particular exercise US, 1984. 2 in the entertainment industry, to move slightly to create a better camera angle US, 1991 cheater noun anything that makes a job easier, such as a short length of pipe or anything else that is handy to slip over the handle of a wrench to increase leverage US, 1941

cheaterbug noun a person who cheats SINGAPORE, 2002

cheater five noun while surfing, the toes of one foot extended over the nose of the board only because the surfer has stretched his leg far forward US, 1965 cheaters noun 1 eye glasses US, 1908. 2 dark glasses US, 1938. 3 the eyes UK, 1977. 4 padding that enhances the apparent size of a female's breasts US, 1972. 5 metal skis US, 1963. 6 in electric line work, channel lock pliers US, 1980 cheater's bar noun an anti-cheating mechanism in a slot machine US, 1968 cheater slicks noun car tyres that are smooth but not quite treadless US, 1970 cheat sheet noun 1 a written memory aid, usually but not always clandestine US, 1957. 2 in casino gambling, a listing of the payoffs for a particular ticket US, 1982 cheat spot noun an establishment that sells alcohol after closing hours US, 1963 cheat throat noun oral sex performed on a man in which the person doing the performing simulates taking the penis completely into their mouth without actually doing so. A play on DEEP THROAT, the real thing US, 1995 che-che noun a light-skinned person; an unlikeable person SAINT KITTS AND NEVIS, 1996

check noun a gambling token US, 1974 check verb 1 to murder someone US, 1997. 2 to forget or ignore something, often deliberately. A variant is 'check out' UK, 1996. 3 to have an intimate relationship with someone. West Indian and UK black youth usage UK, 1998. 4 as a prank, to pull down a friend's bathing suit from behind US, 1997. ▶ check hat to prepare to leave US, 1966. ▶ check the cheese to watch girls as they walk by US, 1959. ▶ check the dictionary to confirm vague or confusing orders or directions. Vietnam war usage US, 1991. ▶ check the oil level to penetrate a vagina with your finger CANADA, 2003. ▶ check the war to stop arguing US, 1947. ▶ check your nerves to stay calm US, 1947. ▶ check your six used as a warning to a pilot to check behind his aircraft for enemy planes. Based on the clock configuration, with twelve o'clock being straight ahead and six o'clock straight behind US, 1991 checkbook; chequebook adjective characterised by a seemingly unlimited ability and will to pay for something. Applied most commonly to journalism (paying for news), but also to enterprises such as baseball US, 1975

check cop verb to use an adhesive placed on a cheater's palm to steal chips while sliding a pile of chips in a poker game to the winner US, 1988 check crew; check gang; check team noun a racially integrated work crew US, 1960 checkerboard adjective racially integrated US, 1930 check in verb 1 to place yourself in protective police custody US, 2001. 2 to be initiated into a youth gang US, 1994 check out verb 1 to leave prison US, 1950. 2 to die. A euphemism not without its black humour US, 1927. 3 to commit suicide while in prison US, 1992 checkout chick noun a woman who works at a shop checkout AUSTRALIA, 1983 check, please! used as a humorous suggestion that a conversation is at an end. Popularised by Keith Olberman on ESPN, used by Woody Allen in Annie Hall and Catherine Keener in Being John Malkovich US, 1971 check this! listen to this! US, 1998 check writer noun a criminal who passes bad cheques US, 1972 check you later; check ya later used as a farewell US, 1982 cheddar noun money US, 1998 cheeba; cheeb noun a potent marijuana, now a generic term US, 1989 cheech noun a leader of an Italian-American criminal organisation US, 1977 chee-chee; chi-chi noun a person of mixed European and Indian parentage; the English accent of Eurasians in India. Derives from Hindi chhi chhi (dirt, filth) INDIA, 1816 chee-chee; chi-chi adjective of mixed European and Asian parentage; used for describing the English accent of Eurasians in India. Derives from Hindi chhi chhi (dirt, filth) INDIA, 1781 cheek noun 1 the buttock. Variants are 'arse-cheek', 'ass-cheek' and 'butt-cheek'. Usually in the plural UK, c.1600. 2 impudence; audacity, effrontery UK, 1840. 3 a sexually loose female US, 1955 cheek verb to address someone with impudence UK, 1840 cheekiness noun effrontery; impudence UK, 1847 cheek up verb to speak to someone with a decided lack of respect BAHAMAS, 1982 cheeky adjective impudent, insolent UK, 1859 cheeky-arsed adjective impudent, insolent UK, 1972 cheeky monkey noun an impudent person, often as a term of address and semi-exclamatory. Popularised as a catchphrase by Comedian Al Read (1909–1987) in the late 1950s UK, 1959 cheeky possum noun an impudent fellow, a cheeky boy AUSTRALIA, 1953 cheekywatter noun any alcoholic drink, especially when being dismissive of its intoxicating properties UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 cheeo noun marijuana seeds for chewing. Possibly from an exaggerated pronunciation of 'chew' US, 1973 cheep verb to betray someone, to inform upon someone US, 1903 cheeper noun a police informer US, 1949 cheer noun LSD. an abbreviation of BLUE CHEER UK, 1998 cheerful giver noun the liver UK, 1967 cheeri goodbye. An abbreviation of CHEERIO NEW ZEALAND, 1984 cheeribye goodbye. A blend of CHEERIO and 'goodbye' UK, 1967 cheerio adjective tipsy SOUTH AFRICA, 1946

cheerio; cheeri-ho; cheero goodbye UK, 1959 cheers! 1 used as a drinking toast UK, 1959. 2 thank you. From the drinking toast UK, 1976 cheer-up noun an anti-depressant tablet; an amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant UK, 1999

cheerybys goodbye UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

cheese noun 1 smegma, matter secreted by the sebaceous gland that collects between the glans penis and the foreskin or around the clitoris and labia minora. From the dull whitish colour of this substance US, 1927. 2 in auto repair, a plastic body filler used to fill in dents on a car body, usually referring to Bondo Body Filler™ US, 1992. 3 the wife. Short for CHEESE AND KISSES AUSTRALIA, 1919. 4 an attractive young woman US, 1959. 5 a wedge-shaped piece of coloured plastic used in the board game Trivial Pursuit™ UK, 2002. 6 in pool, a situation where a player needs to make only one shot to win US, 1993. 7 money; a gambler's bankroll. A locution popularised by Minnesota Fats, as in, 'I never lost when we played for the cheese' US, 1985. 8 heroin UK, 2002. 9 freebase cocaine US, 1992. 10 an amphetamine user US, 1993. 11 money US, 2002. 12 nonsense US, 1989. 13 luck US, 1990. ▶ piece of cheese in poker, a truly terrible hand US, 1982 cheese verb 1 to leave US, 1955. 2 to smile. From the urging by photographers that those having their picture taken say 'cheese' to form a smile US, 1986 cheese! spoken by the subject of a photograph in order to shape the lips into a smile. Often heard in the photographer's injunction: 'say cheese!' UK, 1930 cheese and crackers noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for KNACKERS UK, 1998 cheese and crackers! used as a non-profane oath. A euphemistic 'Jesus Christ!' US, 1924 cheese and kisses noun a wife. Rhyming slang for MISSUS AUSTRALIA, 1898 cheese and rice! used for expressing surprise or irritation TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1950

cheeseball noun a corny, socially inept person US, 1990 cheesebox noun a telephone device used to transfer calls received by an illegal operation. So named, according to legend, because the first one was found by police hidden in a cheese box US, 1952

Cheesebox nickname the Stateville Prison in Joliet, Illinois US, 1992 cheese bun noun a worker who informs on his fellow workers US, 1960 cheesecake noun a scantily clad woman as the subject of a photograph or artwork US, 1934 cheesecutter noun a wedge-shaped hat. From the shape, and the memory of the vaguely similar late C19/early C20 'cheese-cutter caps' UK, 2000 cheesed off; cheesed adjective disgruntled, bored, miserable. 'Cheese off!' (go away!), a euphemistic exclamation from 1890s Liverpool, may be the origin. On the other hand 'say cheese' is a photographer's formula to create a smile and if you don't feel like smiling you may well be 'cheesed off' UK, 1941 cheesedog noun a socially inept person who perceives himself in somewhat grandiose terms US, 1997 cheese-down verb to laugh uncontrollably. Military usage; probably extended from CHEESE (to smile) but note obsolete naval slang 'cheese down' (to coil rope into neat spirals for a harbour stow) UK, 1987 cheese eater noun an informer. Playing on RAT US, 1886 cheese-eating surrender monkeys noun the French; anyone who does not support American imperialism. Coined on The Simpsons television show as a parody of American arrogance; often used by arrogant Americans unaware of the irony of their use. Such is the pervasive presence of this term that it was the subject of a question on Mastermind (11th October 2004) US, 2000 cheese grater noun a waiter. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 cheese grater nickname the Chateau Champlain Hotel in Montreal CANADA, 2002 cheesehead noun 1 a Dutch person. Derogatory, if not intentionally so. Probably from the shape and preponderance of Edam and Gouda UK, 1978. 2 a resident of the state of Wisconsin. Playful but not particularly kind US, 2003 cheesemo noun gossip. A corruption, intentional or not, of the Spanish chisme (gossip) US, 1997 cheese off verb to annoy someone UK, 1947 cheese off! go away! US, 1996 cheese on! used for expressing enthusiastic approval BARBADOS, 1965 cheese-on!; cheese-on and bread! used as a euphemistic cry in place of 'Jesus Christ!' BARBADOS, 1996 cheeser noun 1 a person with smelly feet. From the malodorous quality of ripe cheese UK, 1976. 2 a police informer US, 1979 cheese table noun a metal hole-lined table used in sheet metal fabrication US, 1955 cheesy adjective 1 of poor quality, inexpensive, shoddy US, 1863. 2 smelly. From the malodorous quality of ripe cheese UK, 1889 cheesy-feet noun used as a derogatory form of address. From the malodorous quality of ripe cheese UK, 1972 cheesy-foot noun bad-smelling feet TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 cheesy quaver noun a raver. Contemporary rhyming slang, from a branded cheese-flavoured snack UK, 2002 cheesy quaver raver noun a member of a social grouping within the hardcore rave culture, characterised by a fashion for boiler suits, white gloves and paint masks. After Quavers™, a cheese flavoured snack food, punning on 'cheesy' (unfashionable) and using RAVER (a party goer) UK, 2002 chellum noun a clay pipe for smoking marijuana SOUTH AFRICA, 2003

Chelsea bun noun a son; the sun. Rhyming slang; a variation of CURRANT BUN UK, 1998

Chelsea Pier adjective queer, odd. Rhyming slang, formed on a London landmark; similar to BRIGHTON PIER but here 'queer' doesn't lead to 'homosexual' UK, 2003 chemical noun 1 crack cocaine US, 1994. 2 any drug with addictive characteristics UK, 2003 chemical generation noun a section of society identified as the first to have MDMA, the drug best known as ecstasy, as a recreational option, especially those who were actually a part of the attendant dance culture. The chemical generation began in the late 1980s but was probably not identified by this title until the late 90s; the definitive recreational drug culture was not restricted to MDMA but its wide use signalled a greater-than-ever-before acceptance of man-made and designer drugs UK, 1998 chemically challenged adjective drunk. 'Challenged' is a key word in the lexicon of political correctness, lending an air of humour to this use US, 1994 chemical persuasion noun in caving and pot-holing, explosives UK, 2004 chemise-lifter noun a lesbian; an effeminate homosexual male. Originally, a play on SHIRT-LIFTER (a homosexual man) coined by Barry Humphries who defined it in A Nice Night's Entertainment, 1981, as 'a female invert'; subsequently, derived perhaps by a misunderstanding of the original definition, the male variation has gained a little currency AUSTRALIA, 1981 chemist noun a person who uses a mainframe computer for the academic purposes for which it was designed, depriving the speaker of the chance to use it for more interesting, less academic purposes US, 1991 chemmie noun a shirt; a blouse. Probably from 'chemise' UK, 2002 chemmy; shemmy noun the card-game 'chemin-de-fer' UK, 1923 chemo noun 1 chemotherapy, a cancer treatment US, 1978. 2 a liquid octane booster that is inhaled for its intoxicating effects US, 1994 chep noun a kiss, intimate or otherwise; kissing IRELAND, 2001 chequed-up adjective having ready money after receiving payment for seasonal work AUSTRALIA, 1905

cheroot noun a large marijuana cigarette US, 1993 cherry noun 1 the hymen; virginity (male or female); the state of sustained sexual abstinence. Combines with a variety of verbs (bust, crack, pop) to indicate the ending of a virgin condition US, 1918. 2 a virgin; someone who because of extenuating circumstances has abstained from sex for a long period US, 1942. 3 by extension, any innocence that can be lost US, 1956. 4 by extension, someone who is completely inexperienced US, 1946. 5 a pretty young woman, a girlfriend. Also spelt 'cherrie', 'cherie', 'tcherrie' and 'tjerrie' SOUTH AFRICA, 1962. 6 a young woman regarded as the object or subject of a transitory sexual relationship. Scamto youth street slang (South African townships) SOUTH AFRICA, 2005. 7 of a male, the 'virginity' of the anus US, 1997. 8 an entry-level youth gang member US, 1981. 9 in pool, an extremely easy shot US, 1993. 10 in horse racing, a horse that has yet to win a race US, 1951. 11 in greyhound racing, the inside starting position AUSTRALIA, 1989. 12 the clitoris AUSTRALIA, 1985. 13 a female nipple US, 1964. 14 in cricket, a new ball UK, 1953. 15 the flashing red light on top of a police car US, 1976. 16 a blush; a red face. From the colour UK, 2001. ► pick a cherry in bowling, to knock over a pin that had been previously missed US, 1953 cherry adjective 1 virginal US, 1933. 2 without a criminal record US, 1980. 3 (used of a car) restored to better than mint condition US, 1953 cherryade noun an assistant to Cherie Booth, wife of UK Prime Minister Tony Blair. Both the drink and the aide may be described as 'red, sweet and fizzing' UK, 1998 cherryberry noun a uniform red beret of the Parachute Regiment; hence, a soldier of the Parachute Regiment UK, 1979 cherry boy noun a male virgin US, 1974

Cherry Coke adjective bisexual. Suggests 'neither one thing nor the other' UK, 2001 cherry farm noun a prison, or the section of a prison reserved for first-time offenders US, 1966 cherry fine adjective excellent US, 1966 cherry girl noun a virgin. US military usage during the Vietnam war US, 1982

Cherry Hill nickname during the Vietnam war, the base camp of the 3rd Battalion, 16th Artillery Regiment, just outside Chu Lai. So named because the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese did not attack the camp during the 1968 Tet Offensive, hence the 'cherry' US, 1990 cherry hog; cherry noun a dog, especially a greyhound. Rhyming slang, formed on the old name for 'a cherry stone' UK, 1960 cherry juice noun hydraulic fluid in a tank turret traversing system. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 cherry kicks noun the first drug injection enjoyed by someone just released from prison US, 1971 cherry menth; cherry meth noun the recreational drug GHB US, 1995 cherry orchard noun a woman's college US, 1966 cherry patch noun a poker game being played by a group of poor players, ripe for the taking by a good professional US, 1982 cherry picker noun 1 a boy or youth in a sexual relationship with an older man. Royal Navy use UK, 1961. 2 a person who targets virgins for seduction US, 1960. 3 the penis. A play on CHERRY (virginity) UK, 2003. 4 one pound (£1). Rhyming slang for NICKER (a pound) UK, 1974. 5 a machine, mounted on a rail car or caterpillar tractor, for picking up logs dropped from cars or on roadsides CANADA, 1962. 6 a crane US, 1987. 7 a large bucket on a boom attached to a truck used to raise a worker to work in an elevated position on power lines, telephone lines, etc US, 1991. 8 an engine hoist US, 1992. 9 a railway pointsman. Named because of the red railway signal lights US, 1946. 10 a prominent, hooked nose US, 1968 cherry pie noun 1 in the entertainment industry, extra money earned for something other than ordinary work US, 1955. 2 in circus and carnival usage, extra work for extra pay US, 1981 cherry-popping noun the act of taking someone's virginity US, 1975 cherry red noun the head. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 cherry ripe noun 1 a pipe. Rhyming slang, probably influenced by 'cherry-wood pipe' UK, 1857. 2 nonsense. Rhyming slang for TRIPLE. Can be shortened to 'cherry' UK, 1960 cherrytop noun a police car; a police car's coloured lights US, 1970

Chessex girl noun an upper-class young woman dressed with the down-market trappings of vulgar glamour. Coined by the Tatler magazine, July 2003, as a compound of 'Chelsea' (a traditionally well-off area of London) and ESSEX GIRL (a social stereotype of a loud, vulgar, sexually available woman) UK, 2003 chest noun a woman's breasts US, 1986. ► get it off your chest to say something that you may have kept private or secret; to confess UK, 1902 chestbonz noun the marijuana smoker who takes the greatest inhalation from a shared water-pipe UK, 1999

Chester and Esther noun in craps, a bet on any craps and eleven. A back formation from the initials 'c and e' US, 1985 chesterfield noun a sofa or couch. Especially in the western provinces of Canada, this word is the universal term for this common piece of furniture CANADA, 1950

Chester the Molestor; Chester noun a lecherous man US, 1989 chestily adverb arrogantly, conceitedly US, 1908 chestnut noun 1 a chestnut horse UK, 1670. 2 a stale story or outworn jest. Also known as 'an old chestnut' US, 1880 chestnuts noun 1 the testicles US, 1971. 2 the female breasts US, 1971

chesty adjective 1 of a woman, who has generously proportioned breasts UK, 1955. 2 used of symptoms (such as a cough) that result from an unhealthiness or weakness in the chest; also used of someone who is inclined to such a condition UK, 1930. 3 arrogant, conceited US, 1899

Chev; Chevy; Chevy noun a Chevrolet car US, 1937

chevoo noun a party. A variant of SHIVOO AUSTRALIA, 1963

Chevy Chase noun the face. Rhyming slang, originally for the scene of a Scottish and English battle recorded in a famous ballad of 1624. The original slang usage, pronounced 'chivvy', flourished from 1857 but was presumed obsolete by 1960. The revival, recorded by www.LondonSlang.com in June 2002, is more likely inspired by a US bank or the comedy actor Chevy Chase (b.1943) UK, 2003

Chevy Chased adjective drunk. Possibly rhyming slang for SHITFACED (drunk) from CHEVY CHASE (face), possibly a variant of OFF YOUR FACE (very drunk) UK, 2002

Chevy eleven noun in the used car business, a Chevrolet II US, 1992

chew noun 1 chewing tobacco US, 1990. 2 an act of oral sex UK, 1962. 3 food. South African school usage SOUTH AFRICA, 1961 chew verb ► chew face to kiss US, 1980. ► chew it in skateboarding, to fall from the board US, 1976. ► chew pillows to be the passive partner in anal sex UK, 1979. ► chew steel (of a racehorse) to strain against the bit AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► chew the cud to consider something; to be very thoughtful UK, 1749. ► chew the fat to gossip, to chatter idly US, 1907. ► chew the rag to discuss something; to complain, to moan; hence, to argue UK, 1885. ► chew the scenery to over-act in a dramatic performance US, 1973. ► chew the sugar cane to gossip US, 1978. ► chew your tobacco more than once to repeat yourself US, 1893 chew and choke noun a roadside restaurant; a motorway services US, 1976 chew and spew; chew 'n' spew noun a fast-food outlet; the food served at such a place, especially if the quality of the food is lower than expectations AUSTRALIA, 1998 chewed to loon shit adjective ground up; ruined CANADA, 1974 chewers noun the teeth US, 1970 chewies noun crack cocaine US, 1994 chew out; chewing out noun a rebuke US, 1964 chew out verb 1 to perform oral sex on a woman AUSTRALIA, 1985. 2 to rebuke someone harshly US, 1929 chew over verb to consider something, to discuss something US, 1939 chewsday noun Tuesday. Humorous US, 1877 chewy noun 1 crack cocaine mixed with marijuana for smoking US, 1993. 2 chewing gum. Also spelt 'chewie'. Usually as a non-count noun, but can also be used to refer to a single piece of chewing gum AUSTRALIA, 1924 chewy on your boot! I hope your kick goes astray. Used as a cry of discouragement in Australian Rules football AUSTRALIA, 1966

Chi nickname Chicago, Illinois US, 1895

chiac; shack noun the dialect of residents of the Shediac, New Brunswick area CANADA, 2001 chiack; chiak noun teasing AUSTRALIA, 1869 chiack; chiak; chyack verb to tease someone. From C19 British costermonger's slang 'chi-hike' (a hurrah or friendly commendation) AUSTRALIA, 1853 chiacking; chiaking noun teasing AUSTRALIA, 1853

Chiantishire nickname Tuscany, especially the area around Chianti. Humorously formed in the manner of an English county; from the popularity of the area with British expatriates and tourists UK, 1986 chib noun a knife or razor used as a weapon. Probably a variation of CHIV (a knife) UK: SCOTLAND, 1973 chib verb to stab or otherwise cut someone with a knife or a razor. From CHIB (a knife) UK: SCOTLAND, 1990 chiba noun 1 heroin. Probably a misspelling or mishearing of CHIVA (heroin) UK, 2003. 2 marijuana. Spanish slang embraced by English-speakers US, 1981 chiba-chiba noun marijuana, especially potent marijuana from Colombia or Brazil US, 1979 chibbing noun a deliberate wounding by stabbing or razor-cutting UK, 2001

chibs; chips noun the buttocks US, 1957 chica noun a girl. Spanish; used largely as a term of address, and largely by those without a working knowledge of Spanish US, 2000

Chicago bankroll noun a single large denomination note wrapped around small denomination notes, giving the impression of a great deal of money US, 1966

Chicago black noun a dark-leaved variety of marijuana. Grown in and around Chicago US, 1971

Chicago contract noun a binding oral agreement, secured by honour US, 1992

Chicago green noun a green-leaved variety of marijuana. Grown in and around Chicago US, 1967

Chicago G-string noun a g-string designed to break open, revealing the dancer's completely naked state US, 1981

Chicago heavy mess noun boiled salt pork CANADA, 1961

Chicago leprosy noun infections, scars and abscesses caused by prolonged intravenous drug use US, 1992

Chicago piano noun an anti-aircraft gun or other automatic weapon US, 1941

Chicago pill noun a bullet US, 1949

Chicago rattlesnake noun salt pork CANADA, 1947

Chicago typewriter noun a fully automatic weapon US, 1963 chicamin noun money. The word is adapted from Chinook jargon 'chikamnin' (iron, metal) CANADA, 1963

Chicano noun a Mexican-American. Originally a slur; by the later 1960s a term of self-identification and pride US, 1951

Chicano time noun used for denoting a lack of punctuality US, 1972 chi-chi noun first aid US, 1992 ▷ see: CHEE-CHEE chi-chi adjective 1 homosexual. From the conventional usage denoting a fussy style UK, 2002. 2 fashionable; fussy. Also spelt 'she-she' UK, 1932 chi-chi gal noun a lesbian JAMAICA, 2004

chi-chi man noun a male homosexual JAMAICA, 2000

chi-chis noun a woman's breasts US, 1961 chick noun 1 a young woman US, 1899. 2 a male prostitute UK, 1984. 3 a friendly fighter aircraft US, 1951. 4 cocaine. One of many variations on the cocaine-as-female theme US, 1990 chickabiddy noun used as a term of endearment for a child. From a C18 childish variation on 'chicken' UK, 1829 chicken noun 1 a woman US, 1981. 2 a boy, usually under the age of consent, who is the target of homosexual advances US, 1914. 3 a child, a youthful or inexperienced person; often as an affectionate form of address UK, 1711. 4 a young and inexperienced prostitute, especially male UK, 1988. 5 someone under the legal drinking age US, 1990. 6 used as a term of endearment IRELAND, 2003. 7 a test of wills in which two cars drive directly at each other until one driver – the loser – veers off course US, 1952. 8 a coward. From the characteristics ascribed to the best of 'chickens'; in an earlier sense, found in Shakespeare, the meaning is 'someone timorous and defenceless' US, 1936. 9 marijuana US, 1997. 10 a small halibut. Alaskan usage US, 1997 ▷ see: CHICKEN PERCH. ► no chicken; no spring chicken no longer young UK, 1860 chicken adjective scared, cowardly, afraid US, 1933 chicken bone noun a chocolate-filled hard sweet confection invented by the Ganong family firm of St Stephen, New Brunswick CANADA, 2002

chickenbone special noun any small, local railway US, 1970 chicken burner noun a Pontiac 'Firebird' car UK, 1981 chicken bus noun during the war in Vietnam, a troop transport bus. From the chicken wire that covered the windows in the hope of keeping enemy grenades outside the bus US, 1990 chicken catcher noun in electric line work, an armsling US, 1980 chicken colonel noun in the US Army, a full colonel. From the eagle insignia of the rank US, 1918 chicken cookies noun frozen ground chicken patties ANTARCTICA, 1991 chicken coop noun 1 a women's jail or prison US, 1949. 2 an outdoor toilet US, 1970. 3 a weight station. Citizens' band radio and trucking slang US, 1975 chicken crank noun an amphetamine fed to chickens to accelerate their egg-laying US, 1989 chicken curry verb to worry. Rhyming slang UK, 2001 chicken dinner noun a pretty woman US, 1946 chickenfeed noun 1 a less than generous amount of money US, 1836. 2 a task that can be accomplished with ridiculous ease SINGAPORE, 2002. 3 methamphetamine US, 1964 chicken fillet noun a gel-filled pad placed into a brassiere cup to uplift and enhance the appearance of a woman's breast; a gel-filled full breast prosthesis UK, 2003 chicken fink noun an unlikeable, disloyal person US, 1973 chickenguts noun braided military decorations US, 1943 chickenhawk noun 1 during a war, someone who supports the war but avoids military service themselves. Virtually every member of the US government that supported the 2003 invasion of Iraq avoided active military service in Vietnam during their youth US, 1988. 2 a mature homosexual man who seeks much younger men as sexual partners US, 1965. 3 by extension, a woman who seeks out young male lovers US, 1978 chickenhead noun 1 a female who pursues a male solely because of the male's success and visibility as a musician, athlete, etc US, 1999. 2 a person performing oral sex on a man. Also 'chickhead'. From the bobbing motion US, 1996. 3 an aggressive or violent woman US, 1980. 4 a foolish, frivolous person US, 1906 chicken heart verb to fart. Rhyming slang, only recorded in the past tense UK, 1992 chicken in a basket noun in the Canadian military, an Air Command badge worn on the tunic until 1992 CANADA, 1995 chicken jalfrezi adjective crazy. Contemporary rhyming slang, inspired by a popular curry dish UK, 2002 chickenkiller noun a Cuban or Haitian. From the stereotype of Cubans and Haitians as voodoo practitioners sacrificing chickens in religious rites; insulting US, 1970s chicken oriental adjective insane, crazy. Rhyming slang for MENTAL UK, 2003 chicken out verb to lose courage and retreat from an endeavour US, 1934 chicken perch; chicken noun a church; church. Rhyming slang UK, 1931 chickenplate noun a steel vest that helicopter and other aircrew wore in the Vietnam war, designed as bulletproof US, 1971 chicken powder noun amphetamine in powdered form, used intravenously US, 1971 chicken pox noun an obsession of an older homosexual male with young men or boys US, 1979 chicken queen noun a mature male homosexual who is especially attracted to boys or young men US, 1963 chicken ranch noun a rural brothel. Originally the name of a brothel in LaGrange, Texas, and then spread to more generic use US, 1973 chicken run noun the exodus of people from Rhodesia (now Zimbabwe) for fear of the future; hence, the exodus of people from South Africa for fear of the future ZIMBABWE, 1977 chicken scratch noun cocaine. Probably from the sense, 'a search for crack cocaine' UK, 2003 chickenshit noun a coward US, 1929

chickenshit adjective cowardly US, 1934 chicken skin noun the sensation and physical manifestation of the chills. Hawaiian youth usage, instead of the more common 'goose bumps' US, 1981 chicken's neck noun a cheque. Rhyming slang. A variation of GOOSE'S NECK UK, 1998 chicken switch noun a switch that will abort a mission; a notional switch that will end a project US, 1960 chicken tracks noun in electric line work, a device formally known as an Epoxirod tri-unit US, 1980 chicken wing noun a bowler whose elbow strays outward from the body during the backswing motion of rolling the ball US, 1987 chicken yellow noun the recreational drug PMA. Also known as 'chicken fever' or 'chicken powder' US, 2001 chickey-babe; chicky-babe noun a young woman, especially a good-looking one AUSTRALIA, 1991 chick flick noun a film that is designed to appeal to a female audience US, 1993

chickie! used as warning US, 1934 chickie; chicky noun 1 a lookout or decoy US, 1934. 2 a young girl. Teen slang US, 1919 chickie poo noun a young and beautiful girl. Recorded in the usage of counterculturalists associated with the Rainbow Nation US, 1981 chickie run noun a test of wills in which two cars drive at high speeds towards a cliff, the driver who jumps from his car first loses US, 1955 chicklet noun a young woman. Elaboration by conventional diminution of CHICK (a young woman) US, 1922 chick lit noun literature directed at young women; literature written by women US, 1993 chick magnet noun a male who is attractive to women AUSTRALIA, 1995

chicko; chico noun a child. Either by elaboration of 'chick' (a child) or adoption of Spanish chico (a boy). Remembered in army service in the 1960s–early 1970s, by Beale, 1984 UK, 1984 chick with a dick noun a transsexual or, rarely, a hermaphrodite. Almost always plural US, 1991 chicky noun a female. Used with an ironic nod towards the outmoded 'chick' US, 1994 chicle noun heroin. Spanish for 'gum', alluding to the gummy nature of heroin that has not been processed to powder form US, 1994

chiclet keyboard noun a computer keyboard with small plastic keys. A visual allusion to a branded chewing gum US, 1991

Chic Murray; chic noun a curry. Glasgow rhyming slang, formed from the name of the Scottish comedian, 1919–85 UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

Chicom noun a soldier from the People's Republic of China; a Chinese communist US, 1967

Chicom adjective Chinese communist US, 1964

chiddles noun in Newfoundland, cooked cod roe or cod milt CANADA, 1971 chief noun 1 a Flight Sergeant. Royal Air Force use; a hangover from Chief Petty Officer, the corresponding rank in the Royal Naval Air Service, a military service that predated Royal Air Force. Sometimes personalised to the diminutive 'chiefie' UK, 1942. 2 a Petty Officer. Royal Navy use UK, 1929. 3 a Chief Engineer; a Lieutenant Commander; a First Mate. Nautical usage UK, 1894. 4 a Chief Inspector. Police usage UK, 1961. 5 LSD US, 1966. 6 used as a term of address. Jocular, sometimes suggesting deference US, 1935 chief verb in a group smoking marijuana, to hog the cigarette or pipe US, 1997 chief cook and bottle washer noun used as a humorous title for someone with important duties and responsibilities. Often, not always, used with irony US, 1840 chiefie noun used as a friendly term of address to a man UK: SCOTLAND, 1996

chief itch and rub noun an organisation's key leader US, 1960

Chief Nasty-Ass of the No-Wipe-Um Tribe noun anyone completely lacking in personal hygiene US, 1997 chief of heat noun a non-commissioned officer commanding an artillery battery US, 1988 chief of staff noun a soldier's girlfriend back home. Vietnam war usage US, 1965 chief tin shoe noun a person who has no money at the moment. A mock native Indian name US, 1984 chieva noun heroin. Probably a variation of CHIVA (heroin) UK, 1998

chiff noun ▷ see: CHIV chiffy noun in prison, a razorblade fixed to a toothbrush handle as an improvised weapon. A variation on CHIV UK, 1996 chigger noun a person with Chinese and black ancestors. Derogatory US, 1992

Chihuahua town noun a neighbourhood where many Mexican immigrants or Mexican-Americans live US, 2967 child, please! used for expressing great surprise or disbelief BAHAMAS, 1982 child-proof lid noun a condom. A pun on a device designed to 'keep children out' UK, 1998 chile pimp noun a pimp, especially a Mexican-American pimp, who has no professional pride and only mediocre success in the field US, 1972

chili adjective Mexican US, 1936 chili bean noun a Mexican or Mexican-American; any Spanish-speaking person. Derogatory US, 1980 chili belly noun a Mexican or Mexican-American US, 1967 chili bowl; chili-bowl haircut noun an untapered haircut that looks as if the barber simply placed a bowl on the person's head and trimmed around the edge of the bowl US, 1960 chili chaser noun an agent of the US Immigration and Naturalization Service Border Patrol US, 1956 chili choker noun a Mexican or Mexican-American. Derogatory US, 1990 chili chomper noun a Mexican or Mexican-American. Derogatory US, 1970 chili eater noun a Mexican or Mexican-American. Derogatory US, 1911 chill verb 1 to kill someone US, 1947. 2 to calm down; to be calm US, 1979. 3 to idle US, 1972. 4 to suddenly slow down while driving after spotting a police car US, 1962. ▶ chill like a megavillain to relax. Especially effective in the participle form – 'chillin' US, 1992.

▶ chill the beef; chill the rap to escape prosecution by bribery or intimidation of witnesses US, 1950 chill adjective 1 calm, unexcited US, 1987. 2 excellent US, 1989 chillax verb to calm down and relax US, 1993 chilled adjective calm, relaxed US, 1992 chilled down adjective calm and relaxed UK, 1990s chilled out adjective relaxed, especially after chemically enhanced dancing UK, 1980s chillen noun children. A phonetic slurring US, 1971 chiller noun in publishing or films, a thriller that 'chills the blood' UK, 1961 chillicracker noun an Anglo-Indian. Derogatory. Derives, presumably, from the use of hot spices in Indian cooking contrasted with the bland, essentially white nature of a cracker UK, 1977 chill out verb to calm down, to relax US, 1983 chill pill noun a mythical pill that will induce calm US, 1982 chillum; chilum noun a pipe for smoking marijuana. Originally late C18 Hindi for the bowl (chilam) of a 'hookah' (hugga) intended for tobacco. More than 150 years later a modified usage rolled up in the West Indies. Widely used in the UK thanks, in part, to HEAD SHOP(S) JAMAICA, 1970 chill with you later used as a farewell US, 1987 chilly adjective 1 excellent, fashionable, desirable US, 1971. 2 cold-hearted US, 1971 chilly bin noun a portable cooler NEW ZEALAND, 1976

chilly most adjective calm and collected US, 1992 chime noun 1 an hour US, 1946. 2 the even firing of a multi-cylinder motorcycle engine UK, 1979

chimer noun a clock or watch US, 1973 chimney noun 1 a person who smokes, especially a heavy smoker UK, 1937. 2 in trucking, a smokestack on a cab US, 1971 chimney sweep run noun in trucking, a job that requires the driver to handle the freight and get dirty US, 1971 chimo! Let's drink! CANADA, 2002

chimping noun in digital photography, the activity of reviewing captured images on a camera's screen. Originally used of White House press-photographers who accompanied pointing at such images with a chorus of oohs and aahs and were, naturally, compared to chimpanzees US, 2004 chin noun 1 gossip, idle conversation UK, 1862. 2 on a bomber, the area immediately below and slightly behind the nose of the plane US, 1983. ► keep your chin up to maintain your courage or fortitude; often said as an encouraging injunction UK, 1938 chin verb 1 to punch someone on the chin UK, 1984. 2 to talk idly US, 1872 china noun 1 a friend, a mate. Rhyming slang for CHINA PLATE. Also variant 'chiner' UK, 1880. 2 teeth; false teeth US, 1942

China noun 1 the whole world other than Europe and English-speaking lands. A Cockney view of the world: 'The place rich folk go for their holidays. The place any person not wearing European dress comes from' UK, 1961. 2 heroin. From CHINA CAT (heroin) or CHINA WHITE (heroin). The lower case variant 'china' is sometimes used UK, 2003

China cat noun strong heroin US, 1994 china chin noun (of a boxer or fighter) a vulnerability to blows on the chin US, 1940

China circuit noun in the language of travelling performances, a circuit of small, unsophisticated towns. Named after the Pennsylvania towns of Pottstown, Pottsville and Chambersburg, all of which were home to chamber pot manufacturing concerns US, 1973

China clipper noun a dishwasher, human or mechanical. Vietnam war usage US, 1966

China girl noun Fentanyl™, a synthetic narcotic analgesic that is used as a recreational drug UK, 2004 chinaman noun a numbing substance put on the penis to forestall ejaculation TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

Chinaman noun 1 an addiction to heroin or another opiate US, 1948. 2 in politics, a mentor or protector. A term from Chicago, a major cradle of machine politics in the US US, 1973. 3 an Irishman UK, 1956. 4 in cricket, a left-handed bowler's leg-break to a right-handed batsman. Homage to Elliss 'Puss' Achong, a 1930s West Indian cricketer of Chinese ancestry UK, 1937. 5 an unshorn lock on a sheep's rump. Thought to resemble a pigtail NEW ZEALAND, 1968. ► must have killed a Chinaman there must be a reason for your bad luck. Chinese people have been in Australia from the earliest colonial times and there was formerly great superstition attached to them. Today the word 'Chinaman' is long dead and persists only in this saying AUSTRALIA, 1982

Chinaman on your back; Chinaman on your neck noun the painful symptoms and craving need for drugs experienced by an addict during withdrawal US, 1959

Chinaman's chance; Chinaman's noun an absence of luck, no real chance at all. Reflecting the status of the Chinese population of early C20 US, 1911

Chinamat noun an inexpensive Chinese restaurant US, 1979 china plate noun a mate. Now generally used as a stock idiom: 'me old china plate' AUSTRALIA, 1905 chin armour noun a false beard. Theatrical usage US, 1952

China white noun 1 heroin; less frequently, cocaine. The presumed location of the drug's origin (although it's just as likely to come from Pakistan, Afghanistan or Thailand) plus the colour US, 1974. 2 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2002. 3 Fentanyl™, a synthetic narcotic analgesic that is used as a recreational drug UK, 2004 chinch; chintz noun a bedbug US, 1946 chinche noun heroin UK, 2003 chin-chin used as a toast. Originally used as a salutation to Chinese people UK, 1909 chin-chin man noun a male homosexual US, 1990 chinch pad noun an inexpensive, shoddy boarding house or hotel US, 1958 chinchy adjective 1 cheap, parsimonious, stingy UK, 1400. 2 infested with bedbugs US, 1961 chinee noun 1 a free ticket to a sporting event US, 1981. 2 a Chinese meal, a Chinese take-away, a Chinese restaurant UK, 1984. 3 a Chinese person US, 1871

Chinee adjective Of presumed Chinese origin US, 1984. ► not in a chinee world impossible; wholly unacceptable. From the notion that Chinese language and culture are beyond comprehension BARBADOS, 1992 chinee brush noun a numbing liquid put on the penis to delay ejaculation TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

chinee bump noun a black woman's hair temporarily set in neatly aligned clumps to facilitate drying JAMAICA, 1996 chinee shop noun a small neighbourhood grocery shop, whether owned by Chinese people or not TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

Chinese noun 1 in circus and carnival usage, hard work, especially hard work without payment US, 1981. 2 a Chinese meal; a Chinese restaurant UK, 1980. 3 a small grocery store BAHAMAS, 1995. 4 adulterated heroin UK, 1996

Chinese verb in the circus or carnival, to perform heavy labour US, 1980

Chinese adjective in horse racing, said of blurred numbers on the tote board US, 1947 ► see: CHINESE LACQUERED

Chinese ace noun a pilot who makes a landing with one wing lowered; a pilot who has a reputation for crashing planes on landing. After CHINESE LANDING US, 1928

Chinese auction noun a charity auction, in which a buyer is selected at random for each item US, 1997

Chinese burn noun a torment inflicted by grasping a victim's wrist or forearm in both hands and twisting the skin harshly in opposite directions. Children's slang for a juvenile cruelty, known in the UK, Canada and Australia. May also be used as a verb UK, 1956

Chinese copy noun a reproduction that captures the original's defects as well as its strengths US, 1979

Chinese cure noun an all-natural treatment for the symptoms associated with withdrawal from heroin addiction US, 1953

Chinese cut noun in cricket, a batting stroke that unintentionally deflects the ball off the inside edge of the bat UK, 1982

Chinese cut verb in cricket, to perform a Chinese cut UK, 1982

Chinese dolly noun in the television and film industries, a dolly on slanted tracks US, 1987

Chinese dominoes noun in road haulage, a load of bricks UK, 1951

Chinese dragons noun LSD UK, 2003

Chinese eyed adjective squinting through tired eyes following the use of marijuana. Described by racial stereotype US, 1998

Chinese fashion adverb sex with both participants lying on their sides, the active male lying behind his partner US, 1980

Chinese fire drill noun 1 any situation in which confusion reigns. Frequent use in the Vietnam war US, 1946. 2 a prank loved by generations of American youth in which a car full of people stops at a red light and the passengers suddenly leap from the car, run around it, and get back in as the light turns green US, 1972

Chinese flush; Chinese straight noun in poker, a worthless hand approximating but not equalling a flush or straight US, 1979

Chinese gunpowder; gunpowder noun cement UK, 1951

Chinese lacquered; Chinese adjective extremely tired. Rhyming slang for KNACKERED (extremely tired). Prison slang UK, 2002

Chinese lady noun a multiple-seat toilet NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Chinese landing noun the typical angling of an aeroplane when it lands in Antarctica, with one wing low. Humour based on the premise that 'one wing low' has a certain Chinese ring to it US, 1918

Chinese molasses noun opium; heroin. From the appearance of opium in an early stage of manufacture US, 1953

Chinese needlework noun intravenous use of narcotics US, 1942

Chinese red noun heroin US, 1977

Chinese rocks noun 1 relatively pure heroin US, 1975. 2 crack cocaine UK, 1996

Chinese rong noun a non-existent disease suffered by soldiers US, 1947

Chinese rot noun any unidentified skin disease or sexually transmitted infection US, 1940

Chinese screwdriver noun a hammer AUSTRALIA, 1974

Chinese speed noun ginseng UK, 1983

Chinese Texan noun a daring, dangerous driver. Toronto usage CANADA, 2002

Chinese tobacco noun opium US, 1951 ching noun 1 in betting, odds of 5–1 UK, 1991. 2 five pounds (£5). London slang UK, 2000 ching and a half noun in betting, odds of 11–2. In bookmaker slang CHING is 5–1, here the addition of a half increases the odds to 5½–1 or 11–2 UK, 1991 chingazos noun fisticuffs; blows. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1991 ching! ching! ching! used as a descriptive expression of the speed of a quick succession of events. Echoic of bells ringing UK, 1974 chinger verb to grumble; to complain; to scold; hence, to deter a prospective customer. Used by market traders UK, 1979 chingon noun an important person; a leader. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1974 chingua adjective ▷see: CHINKER chink noun ► another push and you'd have been a chink used insultingly as a slur on the morals of the subject's mother, imputing that she would have sex with anyone of any race UK, 1961

Chink noun 1 a Chinese person. Derives from 'ching-ching', the phonetic interpretation of a Chinese courtesy, adopted as a racist term, now obsolete; this abbreviated, still derogatory, variation is much used in Britain and the US. Variants are 'Chinkie' and 'Chinky' US, 1878. 2 a Vietnamese person US, 1970

Chink adjective 1 Chinese US, 1957. 2 Vietnamese US, 1970

chinker; chikwa; chinqua adjective five. From Italian cinque, via mid-C19 lingua franca UK, 1996 chinki-chonks; chinky-chonks noun the Chinese, or Asian people in general. A derogatory or patronising term, playing on CHINK and CHINKIE in a fashion which suggests a drunken coinage UK, 1978

Chinkie; Chinky; Chink noun 1 something of Chinese origin; a general description of anything perceived to originate in the Far East. Sometimes spelt (with contemptuous familiarity) with a lower case 'c' AUSTRALIA, 1879. 2 a Chinese meal; a Chinese take-away US, 1948 chinkie munchy shop noun a Chinese restaurant or take-away UK, 1981 chink ink noun an indelible ink used by card cheats to mark cards US, 1988 chinks noun a small bit of anything, given up grudgingly GRENADA, 1998 chinky noun a small firecracker US, 1997. ▷see: CHINKIE chinky adjective 1 parsimonious BARBADOS, 1965. 2 small TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956

Chinky speed noun ginseng UK, 1983 chinless wonder noun an upper-class man who is naïve or foolish; or is considered to be foolish by virtue of his privileged circumstances. While 'chinless' may be an accurate physical description of some, figuratively it is seen to suggest a weakness of character UK, 1969 chin music noun gossip, idle conversation UK, 1826

Chinook arch noun in western Canada, an archway of cloud forecasting the arrival of Chinook winds CANADA, 1964

Chinook fever noun among Calgary newcomers, a sort of ill-ease like spring fever, during warm winter days caused by Chinook winds CANADA, 1963 chin pubes noun sparse facial hair US, 1995 chinstrap noun ► on your chinstrap extremely tired. Military. Also occasionally, but not military, 'on your nose' UK, 1995 chintz noun a cheapskate US, 1949 ▷see: CHINCH

chintzy adjective cheap, miserly, stingy UK, 1902 chinwag noun 1 a friendly conversation UK, 1879. 2 a chat, a conversation UK, 1879 chinwag verb to chat, to converse UK, 1920 chin-whiskered adjective small-time, lacking professionalism. A logging term US, 1930 chip noun 1 heroin, particularly when weakened below the market norm US, 1974. 2 a shilling. Hence, HALF A CHIP (6d) UK, 1950. 3 in games of chance, a counter that represents a monetary value US, 1840. 4 a cash register US, 1950. 5 a chipolata sausage. Usually used in the plural. Noted by Anthony Burgess in a letter to Partridge, 1967 UK, 1967. 6 a quarrel AUSTRALIA, 1947. 7 a small surfboard made from lightweight balsa wood. Also known as a 'potato chip' US, 1964 chip verb 1 to use drugs occasionally or irregularly. Applied to all narcotics but especially heroin US, 1964. 2 to depart, to go UK, 1994. 3 to find fault with someone; to reprimand someone AUSTRALIA, 1915. 4 in shuffleboard, to barely touch another disc US, 1967. ► chip the ivories to take part in casual conversation US, 1945. ► chip your teeth 1 to become very angry US, 1962. 2 to talk incessantly US, 1973

Chip; Chippie; Chippy noun a member of the California Highway Patrol. Thanks to the 1977–1983 television series CHIPS US, 1977

chip along; chip in verb in poker, to make the minimum bet required US, 1988 chip back verb to rebate an amount, to discount an amount. Second-hand car-dealers' use UK, 1965 chip dip noun an adhesive placed on a cheater's palm, enabling him to steal chips as he helpfully slides a pile of chips in a poker game to the winner US, 1988 chip head noun a computer enthusiast US, 1993 chip in verb 1 to contribute to an undertaking; to make a contribution US, 1861. 2 to interpose smartly in a conversation, discussion or speech; occasionally, by so doing, to interfere US, c.1870 chip off the old block noun someone with the same character as a parent; someone with inherited characteristics. Originally 'a chip of the same (old) block' UK, 1642 chip on your shoulder noun a grievance or a sense of inferiority which is often manifested in defiance or ill-humoured behaviour. Derives, probably, from juvenile conflict: when two boys were determined to fight, a chip of wood was placed on the shoulder of one, and the other challenged to knock it off US, 1855 chipper noun 1 a chip shop IRELAND, 1993. 2 an occasional non-habitual drug-user US, 1938. 3 in prison, an illegal tinder box UK, 1950

chipper adjective well, fit, lively US, 1840 chippy adjective 1 impudent UK, 1888. 2 quarrelsome, dirty, rough UK, 1898. 3 unwell, especially as a result of drinking alcohol; hungover UK, 1877 chippy; chippie noun 1 a fish-and-chip shop UK, 1961. 2 a person who uses addictive drugs occasionally without developing a habit US, 1924. 3 a modest drug addiction US, 1964. 4 a young woman, usually of loose morals, at times a semi-professional prostitute US, 1886. 5 a carpenter. Also in the reduced form 'chips' UK, 1916. 6 cocaine UK, 1998. 7 marijuana UK, 2003. 8 a person in a gambling casino who tries to hustle or steal chips US, 2003. 9 an inexperienced gambler US, 1985 ▶ see: CHIP chippy; chippie verb 1 to be unfaithful sexually US, 1930. 2 to use drugs occasionally and not habitually. Applied particularly to heroin US, 1924 chippy chaser noun a man obsessed with the seduction of women US, 1977 chippy joint; chippie joint noun a brothel US, 1992 chips noun 1 money US, 1840. 2 the action of looking out or serving as a watchman. If a school boy is smoking a cigarette in the toilet, his friend will 'keep chips' for him SOUTH AFRICA, 2002 ▶ see: CHIBS.

▶ get your chips to be dismissed from employment UK, 1969.
▶ have had your chips to have been beaten; to be finished or utterly defeated; to have been moved; to have been ruined to have been killed. Ultimately from gambling symbolism UK, 1959.
▶ in the chips 1 well funded US, 1842. 2 in poker, winning US, 1988.
▶ when the chips are down at the crucial moment US, 1943 chips and peas; chips noun the knees. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 chips and salsa noun a computer's hardware US, 1997 chips and whetstones noun odds and ends US, 1927 chira noun marijuana, especially shredded marijuana. Originally South American Spanish, 1998 chiro noun a chiropractor AUSTRALIA, 1991 chirp noun 1 a female singer US, 1944. 2 a type of manipulation of a record to create a musical effect. Derives from the 'chirping' sound that is created UK, 2002. 3 a quick use of cocaine US, 1997 chirp verb to make an exaggerated kissing sound US, 1950 chirpiness noun liveliness, cheerfulness, a pleasing pertness. The state of being CHIRPY UK, 1867 chirps verb to talk persuasively to someone as a strategy for attempted seduction, to flirt UK, 2004 chirpy adjective always happy. From the cheerful chirping of songbirds UK, 1837 chirrupy adjective cheerfully chatty UK, 1808 chisboy noun a pampered youth. Derogatory or disdainful teenage slang from the South African townships SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 chisel noun ▶ on the chisel involved in a swindle US, 1958 chisel verb 1 to cheat UK, 1808. 2 to place small, conservative bets US, 1950 chisel charter noun an illegal bush plane charter CANADA, 1997 chiseled adjective without fat, well sculpted US, 1984 chiseler noun 1 a cheat, a petty swindler US, 1918. 2 a gambler who places small, conservative bets US, 1950 chisler noun a hardy child, usually a boy IRELAND, 1993 chisme noun gossip, rumours. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1974 chit noun a youthful-looking homosexual male US, 1987 chit verb to sign a chit accepting responsibility for an item or amount of money US, 1986 chitari noun marijuana US, 2001 chit-chat noun small talk UK, 1605 chit-chat verb to engage in small talk UK, 1821

Chitlin Circuit noun the notional collection of ghetto bars and nightclubs where black musicians perform in the hope of having a hit that will launch them into better venues. A term attributed to black singer Lou Rawls US, 1967

Chitlins 101 noun any black studies course. A derogatory term, drawing from 'chitterlings', a dish made with pork innards US, 1998

Chi-town nickname Chicago, Illinois US, 1922

chiv; chive; chiff noun a knife, a razor or other blade used as a cutting weapon. Of Romany origin UK, 1673 chiv; chive verb to cut someone with a knife or a razor. Multiple variant spellings, including 'shiv', 'shiv' and 'shife'. Probably from 'shiv' (to slice bread), 1570; originally seen in this sense as 'chive', 1725; 'chiv' is not recorded until 1812; 'shiv' and 'shive' are C20 variations that hark back to the word's origins UK, 1812 chiva noun heroin. From the Spanish of Mexican-Americans US, 1967

chix noun a Pacific halibut under 4.5 kg CANADA, 1989 chiz noun 1 in circus and carnival usage, a swindler. An abbreviation of CHISELER US, 1981. 2 an annoying occurrence or circumstance. From the verb CHISEL (to cheat) UK, 1953. 3 the best US, 1997

Chizler noun a Chrysler car or engine US, 1968 chol; chal; chaa! used for registering impatience, disdain or disappointment JAMAICA, 1827 choad noun 1 the penis US, 1968. 2 a person who is easily despised. Sometimes spelt 'chode' US, 1998 choc noun 1 chocolate, a chocolate. Variants are 'choccy' and 'chocky' UK, 1896. 2 a non-white, especially an African. A shortening of 'chocolate' that is both derogatory and offensive SOUTH AFRICA, 1978. 3 a person of Mediterranean or Middle Eastern background. Short for CHOCOLATE FROG. Offensive AUSTRALIA, 1987 choc beer noun an unfiltered ale, sweeter and fruitier than traditional beer, brewed in Oklahoma. From the Choctaw Indians, who are said to have taught immigrant Italians the recipe for the beer US, 1954 choccy noun a cough after chocolate has been in the mouth UK, 2003 choccy! used for expressing approval UK, 2003 chocha noun the vagina. From Spanish US, 2002 chock noun home-fermented, vegetable-based alcohol US, 1972 chockablock; chocka adjective jammed close together, crammed full. From C19 nautical slang UK, 1840 chock-a-block (up) adjective (of a man) with the penis entirely inserted into a sexual partner AUSTRALIA, 1969 chocker; chocka adjective 1 completely full NEW ZEALAND, 1980.

2 disgruntled, fed up. From 'chock-full' (crammed full) or, more likely, CHOCKABLOCK (crammed full), the variant spellings lend credence to the latter UK, 1942 chockers noun feet. Market traders' slang UK, 1979 chockers adjective 1 completely full AUSTRALIA, 1981. 2 (of a man) with the penis entirely inserted into a sexual partner AUSTRALIA, 1975 chocko; choco noun 1 an person of Mediterranean or Middle Eastern background. An abbreviation of CHOCOLATE FROG with the '-o' suffix. Offensive AUSTRALIA, 1985. 2 a conscripted soldier or militiaman who remained in Australia and did not fight overseas. World War 2; from CHOCOLATE SOLDIER. In World War 1 the term was simply 'choc' AUSTRALIA, 1943 chocks away! let's go! let's get on with it! From the wooden blocks that were used to stop an aircraft's wheels from rolling; to take the chocks away allowed the plane to take off UK, 1943 choco-fan noun heroin UK, 2003 chocololic noun a person who is excessively fond of chocolate AUSTRALIA, 1969 chocolate noun 1 a black person US, 1906. 2 amphetamines UK, 2003. 3 opium US, 1992. 4 a twenty rand banknote. Urban, especially township slang, from the brown colour of the note SOUTH AFRICA, 1984. 5 a southern European AUSTRALIA, 1989 ▶ see: CHOCOLATE FUDGE, CHOCOLATE THAI. ▶ in the chocolate in considerable trouble. A euphemism for IN THE SHIT UK, 1998 chocolate adjective of African heritage US, 1906 chocolate bobby noun a community police officer. Used by lower-ranking police UK, 1981 chocolate box adjective in art, describing a sentimental or romantic style such as you might expect on a chocolate box. Generally used with reproach if not with a degree of contempt UK, 1901 chocolate boxey adjective in the decorative arts, sentimentally romantic UK, 1894 chocolate bunny noun a Vietnamese prostitute who favoured black American soldiers over white American soldiers US, 1991 chocolate button noun an attractive or petite black person. Patronising and offensive UK, 2002 chocolate canal noun the rectum. Collected during an extensive survey of New Zealand prison slang, 1996–2000 NEW ZEALAND, 2000 chocolate chip cookies noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, mixed with heroin or methadone UK, 2002 chocolate chips noun 1 desert camouflage uniforms US, 1991. 2 a type of LSD marketed in brown capsules UK, 1998. 3 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 chocolate drop noun 1 a black person. Offensive US, 1900. 2 a girl below the age of sexual consent who regularly has sex with seamen UK, 1971 chocolate ecstasy noun crack cocaine blended with chocolate milk powder during processing US, 1997 chocolate frog noun 1 a person of Mediterranean or Middle Eastern background. Rhyming slang for WOG. Offensive AUSTRALIA, 1971. 2 a police informer. Rhyming slang for DOG. A chocolate frog is a popular confectionary AUSTRALIA, 1971 chocolate fudge; chocolate noun a judge, especially one who shows leniency. Rhyming slang, gently punning on the judge's sweet nature or a SWEET (excellent) result UK, 1992 chocolate hearts noun a variety of LSD, 2001 chocolate highway noun the anus and rectum US, 1977 chocolate rock noun a blend of crack cocaine and heroin that is smoked, 2002 chocolate rocket noun crack cocaine blended with chocolate milk powder during processing US, 1997 chocolate soldier noun a member of an Australian militia during World War 2 who did not serve in a theatre of war. Derogatory AUSTRALIA, 1943 chocolate starfish noun the anus. A visual pun UK, 1997 chocolate Thai; chocolate thi; chocolate noun a variety of marijuana UK, 1995 chocolate time noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001 chod noun the penis UK, 2001 choggy shop noun a shop catering to the needs of servicemen and women. Military UK, 1995 chogi noun a Korean worker US, 1951 chogie! move out of here! Korean war usage US, 1982 choice noun in horse racing, the favoured horse in a race US, 1960 choice adjective excellent US, 1958 choice! used for expressing strong approval NEW ZEALAND, 1998

choiceamundo adjective excellent US, 1991 choirboy noun 1 a novice criminal US, 1949. 2 a newly initiated member of a youth gang US, 1956. 3 a newly recruited police officer UK, 1996. 4 a prisoner who informs on others. From the sense of 'to SING' (to inform). Collected during an extensive survey of New Zealand prison slang, 1996–2000 NEW ZEALAND, 2000 choir practice noun an after-hours gathering of policemen, involving liberal amounts of alcohol and sex, usually in a remote public place US, 1975 choke noun 1 a swallow or drink of alcohol US, 1958. 2 an artichoke of either Jerusalem or globe variety. The punning 'have hearty chokes for breakfast' (to be hanged) dates from 1785; it is difficult to be more accurate with this greengrocers' usage UK, 1961. 3 a Mexican-American. Derogatory. A shortened form of CHILI CHOKER US, 1990. 4 a garotting AUSTRALIA, 1953. 5 a nervous shock; something grievous UK, 1965 choke verb 1 to forget. Especially in the imperative US, 1968. 2 to fail to perform under pressure US, 1986. 3 to prevent a horse from winning a race. Strictly, and originally, by pulling back on the reins so strongly that the horse is almost choked UK, 1962. 4 in computing, to reject data input US, 1991. 5 to borrow something; to scrounge something; to beg Fiji, 1993. 6 to turn off a light US, 1950. 7 to drink something quickly UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. ► choke a darkie to defecate. Also 'strangle a darkie', and 'sink a darkie' or 'teach a darkie to swim' when on a flush toilet AUSTRALIA, 1968. ► choke the chicken 1 (of a male) to masturbate US, 1976. 2 (of a male) to masturbate with the adrenaline-inducing agency of autoerotic strangulation or suffocation UK, 2002. ► choke the Chihuahua (of a male) to masturbate UK, 2003. ► choke your chauncy (of a male) to masturbate US, 1989. ► choke your mule (of a male) to masturbate US, 1992 choke adjective many. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 choke and chew noun a roadside restaurant US, 1976 choke and puke noun a restaurant with bad food at low prices US, 1988 chokecherry farmer noun an unsuccessful farmer CANADA, 1987 choked adjective emotionally upset, annoyed. The sense of 'a lump in your throat' UK, 1964 choked down adjective 1 (of a racehorse) experiencing difficulty breathing during a race US, 1994. 2 well-dressed US, 1980 choked off adjective disgusted, fed-up UK, 1980 choke down verb to force yourself to swallow an alcoholic drink despite any difficulty with taste or capacity UK, 1988 choke up tight adjective dressed up, especially with button-down collars US, 1976 choke off verb to punish or berate a prisoner. Prison officer slang, from military origins UK, 1962 choke out verb to render someone unconscious through a choke hold that cuts off cerebral blood flow at the carotid artery in the neck, usually applied with a police officer's baton across the throat US, 1985 choker noun a necktie US, 1945 choke rag noun a necktie US, 1944 choke up verb to lose your composure; to totter on the verge of tears US, 1941 chokey adjective crowded, tight-fitting TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 chokey; choky noun 1 a prison; a detention cell; a segregation unit. From Hindustani chauki (a four-sided place or building) UK, 1837. 2 the time spent in a prison segregation unit, the punishment itself UK, 1996. 3 a prison diet of bread and water, served as punishment UK, 1958

Chokie adjective Chinese. Used of Hong Kong Chinese crew on a Royal Fleet Auxiliary vessel during the Falklands war. The variation 'chogey' is remembered by Beale as in Army usage in Hong Kong during the 1960s UK, 1982 choking adjective 1 extremely thirsty UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. 2 desperate for a cigarette, a drink, sex or whatever may bring relief or satisfaction UK, 1997 chokkas noun shoes. From CHOCKERS (feet). English gypsy use UK, 2000

cholly noun cocaine US, 1970 cholo noun a young, tough Mexican-American. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1971 chomeur noun in Quebec, a person receiving unemployment insurance benefits CANADA, 1998

chomo noun a child molester US, 1992 chomp verb to eat US, 1968 chompers noun 1 the teeth; false teeth US, 1950. 2 a snack or meal ANTARCTICA, 1963 chong adjective good-looking, handsome. Used by urban black youths UK, 2004 chonga noun marijuana UK, 2002 choo-choo noun a train. Formed from the child's imitation of a steam whistle US, 1898 choof verb 1 (of a person) to go; to depart. As used of a steam train in stories for children AUSTRALIA, 1947. 2 to smoke marijuana AUSTRALIA, 2000 choof off verb to depart, to leave AUSTRALIA, 1972

chook! a call made to domestic chickens AUSTRALIA, 1903 chook; chookie; chuckie noun 1 an adult domestic chicken, male or female. First appearing in Australia in the diminutive form

'chuckey' this word is imitative of the cluck of the hen but also owes something to 'chicken'. In general use in British dialect from C18 as chuck, chuke, and the diminutive chookie, chucky, where it was also used as a term of endearment from the C19 AUSTRALIA, 1900. 2 a slaughtered chicken dressed for cooking; a cooked chicken AUSTRALIA, 1948. 3 cooked chicken meat AUSTRALIA, 1945. 4 a woman, especially an elderly woman AUSTRALIA, 1915. 5 a fool AUSTRALIA, 1955. 6 a coward. A variation of CHICKEN AUSTRALIA, 1997. ► choke the chook; milk the chook (of a male) to masturbate. Variant of CHOKE THE CHICKEN. AUSTRALIA, 1999. ► I hope your chooks turn into emus and kick your dunny down I wish you bad luck AUSTRALIA, 1972. ► like a chook with its head chopped off; like a chook without a head without rhyme or reason. A variant of HEADLESS CHICKEN AUSTRALIA, 1983 chookas! used for wishing an actor good luck. Actors are, by tradition, superstitious, and to actually wish an actor 'good luck' in so many words is thought to be tempting fate; this abstract (derivation unknown) or surreal benediction was used by Evan Dunstan, an Australian theatrical agent in London during the 1980s AUSTRALIA, 1984 chook chaser noun a small motorcycle or its rider. A derogatory term used by riders of larger motorcycles AUSTRALIA, 1996

chookhouse noun an enclosure for domestic chickens AUSTRALIA, 1938

chookie noun a fool AUSTRALIA, 1855. ► will you chookie! you will not!; used for emphasising a contradiction of a preceding statement UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

chook poop noun chicken manure AUSTRALIA, 1986

chook raffle noun a raffle to raise money for charity offering a dressed chicken as a prize AUSTRALIA, 1979

chook wheel noun a spinning wheel with numbered pegs used for a chook raffle AUSTRALIA, 1991

chookyard noun an enclosed yard for domestic chickens AUSTRALIA, 1941

choom noun an Englishman. Representing a toney English pronunciation of CHUM. Used jocularly and mildly derisively AUSTRALIA, 1916 choon noun within house and other contemporary dance styles, a piece of recorded music. A mispronounced and misspelt 'tune' UK, 2002 choose verb (of a prostitute) to agree to work for a pimp US, 1972 choosing money noun the money a prostitute pays a pimp to join his fold US, 1972 chop noun 1 dismissal from employment UK, 1945. 2 approval US, 1992. 3 a share or division of something AUSTRALIA, 1919. 4 a scathing, cutting remark or joke US, 1957. 5 a short and sudden type of scratch (a manipulation of a record to create a musical effect) UK, 2002. 6 a wood-chopping contest. Also known as a 'chops' AUSTRALIA, 1926. 7 food. US military usage during the Vietnam war US, 1982. 8 a dolt, an idiot, a fool SOUTH AFRICA, 2004. ► have had the chop to be no good; to be ruined AUSTRALIA, 1975. ► no chop no good, inferior. From the conventional sense of 'chop' as 'class, rank or quality' implied in 'first chop', 'second chop', etc AUSTRALIA, 1864. ► not much chop not very good. From the British and Anglo-Indian 'chop' (quality) AUSTRALIA, 1847 chop verb 1 in car and motorcycle customising, to lower the upper portion of the car body or motorcycle by shortening the structural supports US, 1953. 2 to cut a car into pieces US, 1953. 3 to go into action as a soldier. Extended from the sense 'to shoot' UK, 2001. 4 to kill someone UK, 2001. 5 to execute someone by hanging them. Prison use, probably dating from the time when the axe was the preferred method of official execution. Capital punishment was abolished in the UK in 1965 UK, 1950. 6 to shoot someone to death US, 1933. 7 to approve something US, 1992. 8 to adulterate a powdered drug US, 1970. 9 in handball, to add spin to the ball when hitting it US, 1970. 10 (of dice in a crap game) to pass once and then not pass US, 1981. 11 in motor racing, to pull sharply in front of another car US, 1965. ► chop it up to talk with enthusiasm and energy US, 2004. ► chop sin to gossip; to talk idly BERMUDA, 1985. ► chop ten to sit with your legs crossed as others work JAMAICA, 1998. ► chop the clock to reset a vehicle's mileometer (odometer) to a reduced measure US, 1981. ► chop wood to drive off a road or motorway into a tree US, 1962. ► chop your gums to engage in idle talk US, 1948 chop-chop noun 1 food US, 1951. 2 a meal. Used by UN troops in the Korean war, 1950–53, 1950. 3 oral sex performed on a man. From the vocabulary of Vietnamese prostitutes, taken and used by US soldiers US, 1990. 4 trade union factionalism US, 1961. 5 loose-leaf tobacco sold illegally AUSTRALIA, 2001 chop-chop verb during the Korean war, to eat US, 1951 chop-chop adverb immediately, in an instant. Pidgin or mock pidgin, sometimes used as an imperative UK, 1836 chop-chop square nickname a large square in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, that, on a Friday, is the chosen site for public execution by beheading (with a sword) of those the state has sentenced to death, 2001

chop house noun a restaurant US, 1956 chop out verb to separate a dose of powdered cocaine UK, 2002 chopped adjective 1 marijuana-intoxicated US, 1995. 2 ugly US, 1993 chopped and channeled adjective (of a car) modified by cutting larger windows and lowering the body of the chassis frame, producing a sleeker profile that hugs the road US, 1965 chopped liver noun 1 the vagina UK, 2001. 2 something of no consequence US, 1954 chopped off adjective annoyed, angry US, 1963 chopped rag noun a parachute which has been altered. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 chopped top noun a hot rod that has had its roof removed US, 1960 chopper noun 1 a helicopter US, 1951. 2 a modified motorcycle with an emphasis on function, not form, usually featuring high handlebars. From CHOP US, 1966. 3 a bicycle modified with an emphasis on function, not form, usually featuring high handlebars UK, 1977. 4 the penis UK, 1973. 5 a machine gun US, 1929. 6 a pistol US, 1957. 7 a hacksaw; a hacksaw blade US, 1950. 8 a logger or lumberjack US, 1975. 9 an elderly sow or boar suitable to be turned into pork sausages NEW ZEALAND, 1988. 10 a cow destined for slaughter rather than a dairy life AUSTRALIA, 1987. 11 a deer-skin mitten with a wool mitten insert. Michigan Upper Peninsula usage US, 2003. 12 a car taken in part-exchange. Second-hand car dealers' slang UK, 1965. 13 a ticket taker US, 1960. 14 a bad mood. Used by printers and compositors. No longer in use by 1960 UK, 1948 chopper verb to transport something by helicopter. From CHOPPER (a helicopter) US, 1968 chopper coppers noun the police in helicopters. Quoted as a term used by residents of Berkeley, California US, 1970 chopper jockey noun a helicopter pilot or crew member US, 1960 choppers noun 1 the teeth US, 1944. 2 the female legs US, 1963 choppy noun a choppy wave. Surfers' use, reported by Barry Prentice, 1984 AUSTRALIA, 1984 choppy adjective 1 (of railway track) uneven, producing a rough ride US, 1975. 2 in automobile racing, describing abrupt movements in vertical wheel displacement US, 1980. 3 (of a temperature chart) uneven. Hospital nurses' use UK, 1961 chop-ride noun a test-flight to examine a pilot's suitability to continue flying. To fail the test would result in the CHOP UK, 1979 chops noun 1 the teeth or mouth UK, 1589. 2 musical ability US, 1968. 3 an ability; a technique. Extends the skilled sense of jazz 'chops' US, 2002. 4 the female legs US, 1960 chops verb to talk. Adapted from CHOPS (the mouth), hence 'to use the mouth' UK, 2000 chop shop noun a car body repair shop where stolen cars are altered or parts are stripped for sale separately US, 1978 chopsocky noun oriental martial arts; low-budget martial arts films. Probably a blend of chop suey (a popular Chinese dish) and sock (to hit) US, 1978 chops on verb to talk and talk. A variation of CHOPS UK, 2000 chopstick noun a South Asian person. Offensive US, 1980 chopsticks noun 1 the number six. Rhyming slang UK, 1980. 2 mutual, simultaneous masturbation. From the crossing of hands in the piano piece 'Chopsticks' US, 1941 chop suey adjective mixed up. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 chopsy adjective loquacious, too talkative UK, 2001

choptop noun a crewcut haircut US, 1959 chop-up noun a division of plunder AUSTRALIA, 1966

chor noun a thief FUJI, 1997

chorals; corals noun a central nervous system depressant, especially chloral hydrate US, 1998 chorb noun a spot, a pimple. School slang SOUTH AFRICA, 1970

chord-ially used as a humorous closing in letters between singers US, 1975 chordy adjective stolen. From Romany côr (to steal) UK, 1979 chore verb 1 to steal something. English gypsy use; from original Romany côr UK, 1979. 2 to arrest someone UK, 2000 chorer noun a thief. Derives from CHORE (to steal) UK, 1979

chore whore noun an assistant UK, 1996 chorine noun a member of a theatrical chorus US, 1922 choro verb to steal something FUJI, 1989

chorrie; tjorrie noun a near-derelect car SOUTH AFRICA, 1961 chorus and verse; chorus noun the posterior, the backside. Glasgow rhyming slang (reliant on the local accent) for ARSE UK, 2002

chossel noun a girlfriend BARBADOS, 1996 chota noun the police; a police officer. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1974

chovies noun anchovies US, 1996

chow noun food US, 1856

Chow noun a Chinese person. Offensive AUSTRALIA, 1864

chow verb to eat US, 1900

Chow adjective Chinese. Offensive AUSTRALIA, 1903

chow used as a greeting and as a farewell. A variation of CIAO. Recorded in this spelling in a 1961 letter to Partridge from Nicholas Bentley noting its popularity as a form of both salutation and goodbye, and particularly at the Royal College of Art UK, 1961 chowderhead noun a fool UK, 1819 chow down verb 1 to set to eating. Originally military, then spread into widespread, if affected, use US, 1945. 2 to perform oral sex US, 1994 chow for now goodbye. An intentional corruption of the Italian CIAO US, 1991 chow hall noun a school cafeteria US, 1963

chowhound noun an enthusiastic eater US, 1917 chowmeinery noun in circus and carnival usage, a Chinese restaurant US, 1981 chow miaow noun Chinese food. Punning on CHOW as food generally, a Chinese person, and a shortening of chow mein (itself a root for the sense of CHOW as 'food') with a convenient rhyme to suggest catmeat is a staple ingredient AUSTRALIA, 1958

Chriggy; Chriggie noun Christmas. A variation of CHRISSEY that was recorded in 1984 but has since disappeared without trace UK, 1984

Chrimbo; Chrimble; Crimble noun Christmas UK, 2001

Chrissake!; chrisake! Christ's sake! UK, 1964 chrisie noun a chrysanthemum AUSTRALIA, 1977

Chrissy; Chrissie noun Christmas AUSTRALIA, 1966

Christ adjective used as an adjectival intensifier BAHAMAS, 1982

Christ! used as a register of anger, frustration, wonder, etc. Blasphemous by derivation, probably blasphemous in use UK, 1748

Christ almighty! used as a register of anger, frustration, wonder, etc. Blasphemous by derivation, probably blasphemous in use UK, 1987

Christ almighty wonder noun a person of remarkable talent, such as a person who is very aware of how special he or she is; an astounding event. A combination of the exclamation CHRIST ALMIGHTY! with 'wonder' (an outstanding thing) UK, 1961 christen verb 1 to give a name to something, to call something by a particular name. After the Christian tradition UK, 1642. 2 to use something for the first time UK, 2003. ► christen the queen to urinate AUSTRALIA, 1985

christer noun a Christian who proclaims his beliefs to all, whether they wish to hear or not US, 1921

Christian adjective (of a person) decent; (of a thing) civilised, decent, respectable. In early use the sense was human as opposed to animal. Contemporary use tends towards irony UK, 1577

Christians in Action nickname the US Central Intelligence Agency. Reverse engineered from the agency's initials US, 1992 christina noun ► see: CRISTINA

Christine noun 1 in homosexual usage, used as a personification of methamphetamine powder US, 1980. 2 cocaine. Another in a long series of personifications of drugs based on the drug's first letter US, 1973

Christ-killer noun a Jewish person. Offensive UK, 1861

Christless adjective cursed, damned US, 1912

Christmas! used as a mild expletive. A euphemistic evasion of CHRIST! UK, 1909

Christmas card noun 1 in trucking, a speeding ticket US, 1976. 2 a guard, especially a train guard. Rhyming slang UK, 1960. ► off your Christmas card list; not on your Christmas card list used as an expression of displeasure towards someone. A jocular threat, often in verb form: 'to cross someone off your Christmas card list' UK, 2003

Christmas cheer; Christmas noun beer UK, 1992

Christmas crackers noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for KNACKERS UK, 1974

Christmas dinner noun a winner. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Christmases noun ► like all your Christmases have come at once very happy, delighted UK, 1993

Christmas hold noun a grabbing of another's testicles. That is, 'a handful of nuts' AUSTRALIA, 1950

Christmas kitty noun a holiday bonus cheque US, 1954

Christmas log noun a racing greyhound. Rhyming slang for 'dog' UK, 1974

Christmas present noun in tiddlywinks, a stroke of good luck US, 1977

Christmas roll noun a multi-coloured assortment of barbiturate capsules US, 1973

Christmas shopping; Christmas shop; Christmas noun of a male, masturbation. Rhyming slang for STROP(PING) UK, 1992

Christmas tree noun 1 a capsule of amobarbital sodium and secobarbital sodium (trade name Tuinal™), a combination of central nervous system depressants US, 1968. 2 an assortment of multi-coloured pills US, 1992. 3 marijuana. Draws a parallel between two plants that appear at times of celebration US, 1987. 4 in drag racing, an electronic starting device consisting of a set of lights US, 1970. 5 a bank of red and green-coloured lights that are part of an instrument panel US, 1945. 6 in the car sales business, a car loaded with accessories and gadgets US, 1953. 7 in trucking, a tractor trailer embellished with many extra running lights US, 1971. 8 in oil drilling, the collection of equipment at the top of an oil well US, 1925. 9 in the television and film industries, a cart used for storing and carrying lighting equipment US, 1977. 10 in the television and film industries, a stand with more than one light mounted on it US, 1987. 11 in railway terminology, a coloured light signal UK, 1970. 12 a woman who over-dresses or over-uses cosmetics US, 1960. 13 the knee. Rhyming slang; the plural is 'Christmas trees' UK, 1998. 14 in electric line work, a pole-mounted auxiliary arm used for hoisting a conductor US, 1980. 15 in Nova Scotia, a piece of fishing gear with many lines, hooks, and pegs attached CANADA, 1980. ► (just) come down off the Christmas tree foolish, inexperienced, gullible UK, 1999. ► lit up like a Christmas tree dazzling, resplendent AUSTRALIA, 1962

Christ on a bike!; Jesus Christ on a bike! used as a register of shock or amazement US, 1986

Christ on a boogie board! used for registering surprise or disbelief US, 2001

Christ on a crutch! used for expressing exasperation US, 1928

Christopher Lee noun urine; urination; an act of urination. Rhyming slang for PEE or WEE; formed on the name of British film actor Christopher Lee (b.1922) UK, 1998

Chris Wren noun a fifty pound note. An illustration of Sir Christopher Wren, architect, 1632–1723, featured on Bank of England £50 notes from 1981 UK, 2002 chrome noun 1 in computing, software features that attract buyers but add little functionally US, 1991. 2 the best, judged in terms of appearance; the shiniest examples UK, 1998. ► sit on chrome of a car, to have alloy wheels UK, 2005 chrome verb in hot rodding, to add chrome features to a car US, 1954 chrome dome noun 1 a bald man; a bald head US, 1962. 2 a fibre helmet used between April and October in Vietnam to protect soldiers from the sun. Aluminium paint gave rise to the ‘chrome’ US, 1991 chrome-plated adjective nicely dressed. High school student usage, borrowing from car vocabulary US, 1961 chrome to the dome noun a pistol held to the head US, 1998 chromie noun a chromed wheel, popular with hot rodders US, 1968 chromo noun 1 a female prostitute. From ‘chromolithograph’, a type of painted lithographic picture, referring to the ‘painted’ (i.e. made-up) faces of prostitutes AUSTRALIA, 1883. 2 anything that is inexpensive, shoddy or inferior US, 1934 chrondo noun potent marijuana. A blend of CHRONIC and INDO US, 1997

chroned out adjective suffering from a hangover US, 2001 chronic noun 1 potent marijuana. A word popularised in hip-hop usage. ‘The Chronic’ by Dr Dre (1992) is one of the biggest-selling rap albums of all time US, 1993. 2 marijuana mixed with crack cocaine US, 1998 chronic adjective 1 constant; bad, objectionable, severe, unpleasant. From the conventional medical sense UK, 1860. 2 very good US, 1998 chronic bubonic noun marijuana that is more potent than simple ‘chronic’ or simple ‘bubonic’ US, 2001

Chryco nickname the Chrysler Corporation, a car manufacturer US, 1993 chub noun 1 a moderately overweight person UK, 1838. 2 the penis US, 1997 chub verb to smuggle items into a prison by secreting the contraband up the anus UK, 1996

chub-a-dub noun an act of masturbation CANADA, 2002

chubby; chubb up verb to lock a prison cell door. From the well-known branded lock UK, 1950 chubbies noun large female breasts US, 1964 chubby noun 1 an overweight man as a homosexual object of desire US, 1971. 2 an erection US, 1997

chubby adjective (of the penis) erect UK, 2003 chubby-chaser noun a person who is sexually attracted to overweight people US, 1976 chubster noun 1 a overweight person. From conventional ‘chubby’ (overweight/fat) UK, 2002. 2 the penis US, 1997 chuc; chuke noun a Pachuco, or young Mexican-American with a highly stylised sense of fashion and a specialised idiom. The Pachuco was the Mexican zoot-suiter of the 1940s, and his legacy is seen today in Mexican-American culture. The term can be used either as a term of pride or as a term of derision US, 1963 chuck noun 1 food UK, 1850. 2 vomit AUSTRALIA, 1966. 3 a white man. A diminutive of Charles or Charlie US, 1965. 4 the Viet Cong US, 1981. 5 a throw, a toss; in cricket, a thrown ball, an illegal delivery UK, 1862. 6 a shove that leads to a fight BARBADOS, 1965. ► give it a chuck to stop, to desist. Often as an imperative UK: SCOTLAND, 1984 chuck verb 1 to vomit AUSTRALIA, 1957. 2 to throw something UK, 1593. 3 to throw something away, to discard something US, 1911. 4 to throw a case out of court. Police slang UK, 1970. 5 to dismiss someone, to reject someone; to jilt someone AUSTRALIA, 1932. 6 to eat excessively when being withdrawn from drug dependence UK, 1966. 7 to forget. Also ‘chuck it’ US, 1947. ► chuck a charley; chuck a charlie to have a fit of temper AUSTRALIA, 1945. ► chuck a dummy to feign an illness or injury US, 1992. ► chuck a mental to lose your temper and composure in a manner that suggests emotional instability NEW ZEALAND, 1998. ► chuck a seven 1 to have a fit of temper. From the language of dice-playing AUSTRALIA, 1945. 2 to die. From the game of craps, in which to throw a seven (except on the first roll) is to lose AUSTRALIA, 1961. ► chuck a six; chuck a sixer to have a fit of temper. From dice-playing AUSTRALIA, 1945. ► chuck a willy to have a fit of temper AUSTRALIA, 1945. ► chuck a wing-ding to feign a seizure while in prison in the hope of obtaining drugs in treatment US, 1992. ► chuck your weight about; chuck your weight around to behave in an unpleasant, domineering way; to bully someone UK, 1909. ► chuck yourself about; chuck yourself into something to move about energetically UK, 1984

chuck and jam adjective crowded TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

chucked adjective acquitted. From CHUCK (to throw a case out of court) UK, 1950 chucker noun in cricket, a bowler who is apt to throw the ball UK, 1882 chucker-out noun a man employed to keep out and get rid of unwanted patrons; a bouncer UK, 1884 chucker-outer noun a bouncer AUSTRALIA, 1998

Chuck Fuck noun a man of no real significance US, 1997 chuck horrors noun the painful symptoms of withdrawal from drug addiction US, 1926 chuckie noun ► see: CHOOK chuck-in noun a piece of good fortune; a bonus. From an earlier sense (to add to a collection) AUSTRALIA, 1916 chuck in verb 1 to get rid of something, to discard something, to quit something UK, 1944. 2 to contribute something AUSTRALIA, 1907. 3 to include something as an extra AUSTRALIA, 1965

chucking noun in cricket, an illegal act of throwing, not bowling, a ball UK, 1995 chucking-out noun an ejection, especially from a premises UK, 1881 chucking-out time noun closing time in a public house or other licensed premises. An image of forced ejection UK, 1909 chuck it down verb to rain, hail or snow, very heavily. Sometimes elaborated as, for example, ‘chuck it down with rain’ UK, 2002 chuckle noun an instance of vomiting AUSTRALIA, 1961 chuckle verb to vomit AUSTRALIA, 1964 chucklehead noun a fool UK, 1731 chuckleheaded adjective simple, dim-witted UK, 1768 chuck off verb 1 to voice abuse; to let fly AUSTRALIA, 1915. 2 to throw someone off something. A colloquial use UK, 1841 chuck one up verb to salute. Military UK, 1984 chuck out verb to eject someone forcibly; to get rid of someone. Usage may be actual, figurative or jocular UK, 1869 chucks noun 1 a powerful craving for food associated with withdrawal from heroin addiction. Also ‘chuckers’ US, 1953. 2 the craving for food that follows the smoking of marijuana US, 1970. 3 high-top sports shoes, especially Converse’s Chuck Taylor™ shoes US, 1984 chuck up verb 1 to yield, to abandon, to give in. From pugilism, specifically from the traditional method of conceding defeat; a shortening of ‘chuck up the sponge’ UK, 1864. 2 to vomit AUSTRALIA, 1984 chuck wagon noun 1 a truck stop or roadside restaurant. A jocular reference to the cooking wagon on cattle drives in the Old West US, 1976. 2 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 chuck you, Farley! used as an expression of derision. An intentional spoonerism of 'Fuck you, Charley!', favoured by school children US, 1976 chud noun a disgusting person. From the film Cannibalistic Humanoid Underground Dwellers US, 1986 chuddie; chuddy noun chewing gum. Used by teenagers UK, 1984 chuddies noun underpants. Directly from Punjabi into HINGLISH (Asian English); widely popularised as a catchphrase KISS MY CHUDDIES! coined by Goodness Gracious Me, a BBC comedy sketch show scripted and performed by four British Asian comedians, first heard on Radio 4 in 1996 but better known from television, since 1999; often misunderstood to mean ARSE UK, 1996 chuff noun 1 the anus or buttocks AUSTRALIA, 1945. 2 the vagina UK, 1997. 3 pubic hair US, 1967. 4 a homosexual male. A sexual objectification from the sense as 'buttocks' UK, 1961. ► the chuff replaces 'the hell' in phrases such as 'where the hell?', a euphemism for 'the fuck'. From CHUFF (the buttocks) UK, 1996

chuff verb to fart UK, 1998

chuff all nothing, nothing at all UK, 1997

chuff box noun the vagina; in later use, the anus UK, 1967 chuff chum noun a male homosexual. An elaboration of CHUFF (a male homosexual). Derogatory UK, 1961 chuffdruff; muffedruff noun dried flakes of sexual secretions (male and/or female) clinging to the female pubic hair. An ellipsis of CHUFF (the vagina) or MUFF (the vagina, etc.) and 'dandruff' UK, 1998 chuffed adjective 1 pleased, delighted; flattered; very excited. Originally northern English dialect meaning 'proud', adopted by military, then wider society. The current, more generalised usage was possibly spread by jazz fans. Embellishments include 'chuffed to fuck'; 'chuffed to arseholes'; 'chuffed to buggery'; 'chuffed pink'; 'chuffed to little mint-balls'; 'bo-chuffed'; 'chuffed to little naffy breaks'; 'chuffed to naffy breaks' and 'chuffed to oil-bumps'. Often qualified by intensifiers DEAD, REAL, WELL, etc UK, 1957. 2 displeased, disgruntled. Qualifiers and context may be required to distinguish usage from the previous sense as 'pleased'. Variants include 'dischuffed' and 'dead chuffed' UK, 1961 chuffer noun 1 a person, euphemistic for 'fucker' UK, 1997. 2 a cigarette-smoker. A play on 'puffer' and CHUFF (the buttocks/an arse) UK, 2003. 3 a train. From nursery use UK, 1999. 4 the buttocks. An elaboration of CHUFF UK, 2004 chuffing adjective used as an intensifier, a euphemism for 'fucking' UK, 1997 chuffing Nora! used for registering surprise, anger, amazement, etc. A variation of FLAMING NORA! UK, 1997

chuff it! a general declaration of rejection or dismissal; may also imply resignation to or acceptance of a situation. FUCK IT! euphemistically UK, 1859 chuff muncher noun a lesbian. From CHUFF (the vagina) UK, 1998

chuff nut noun a piece of faecal matter clinging to anal hair. Elaborated on CHUFF UK, 1961 chuff piece noun the anus, the arse. An elaboration of CHUFF UK, 1962

chuftie noun the vagina. A variation of CHUFF (the vagina) UK, 1998

chuftie plug noun a tampon UK, 1998

chuffy badge noun a notional award offered to someone who is overly proud of a small achievement UK, 2005

chug noun a long, sustained swallow of a drink US, 1969 chug verb 1 to swallow a drink in a single draught. An abbreviation of CHUGALUG US, 1989. 2 in computing, to operate slowly US, 1991 chug-a-lug! used as a drinking toast AUSTRALIA, 1984

chugalug; chuglug verb to drink without pausing to breathe US, 1936

chugger noun a professional fundraiser who is tasked to confront passers-by in the street with a charity's need for regular income and persuade people to sign agreements to make regular donations. A blend of 'charity' and MUGGER (a street robber) UK, 2002 chugging noun a method of professional fundraising by persuading passers-by in the street to sign financial agreements for regular donations. A blend of 'charity' and MUGGING (street robbery) UK, 2003

chuke noun a knitted cap US, 1966. ► see: CHUC chukka chap noun a man associated with the game of polo. A 'chukka' is a period of play in a polo match UK, 2003 chukka chick noun a woman associated with the game of polo UK, 2004 chum noun 1 an associate, a regular companion or a close friend. Originally in conventional use; slipped into colloquial use in C19 UK, 1684. 2 used (of a male) as a form of address, often patronising UK, 1684 chum verb 1 in aerial combat, to fly low over enemy territory in order to draw enemy ground fire, which is then answered by airpower flying higher and out of sight US, 1990. 2 to vomit US, 1990

chuma verb to kiss. From the Hindi FILII, 1996

chum buddy noun a close friend US, 1952 chummery noun in India, a bungalow (or similar) shared by friends (now, usually young and single). From CHUM (a friend) INDIA, 1888 chummified adjective drunk US, 1968 chummy noun 1 a civilian; a prisoner; a prime suspect; also used as a patronising form of address. Metropolitan Police slang; a diminutive of CHUM (a friend) that threatens intimacy UK, 1948. 2 loose and broken pieces of anything. A closely related word with a different but perhaps related meaning is used in New England and the Canadian maritime provinces fishing: 'chum bait', 'chumming' CANADA, 1999 chummy adjective very friendly, intimate, sociable US, 1884

chump noun 1 a fool; a naive person who is easily duped US, 1876. 2 the head UK, 1859. ► off your chump in any degree, mad UK, 1864

chump verb 1 to act foolishly US, 1971. 2 to swindle someone, to cheat someone US, 1930 chump change noun a small amount of money US, 1968

chump educator noun 1 a trade newspaper or magazine used to educate outsiders on the industry's secrets US, 1981. 2 in the circus or carnival, Billboard magazine US, 1980

chump expenses noun minor expenses US, 1969 chump heister noun a carnival ferris wheel US, 1980

chump job noun a legal, legitimate job, especially a low-paying and menial one US, 1972

chump off verb to better or out-insult someone in a verbal duel US, 1972

chump twister noun a carousel US, 1967

chunch verb in pinball, to hit the ball into a scoring bumper with such force that the bumper fails to respond US, 1977

chunder noun 1 vomit AUSTRALIA, 1953. 2 an instance of vomiting AUSTRALIA, 1983. 3 in poker, a weak hand that wins US, 1996

chunder verb 1 to vomit. Probably rhyming slang for 'Chunder Loo' (spew); from the name of an advertising comic strip character that ran in the early C20. The widely held theory that it derives from a clipping of the phrase 'Watch under!', used by seasick passengers on liners to warn the lower decks of an impending vomit-shower, is nothing but ingenious trifling AUSTRALIA, 1950. 2 to mangle someone AUSTRALIA, 1986. 3 to churn AUSTRALIA, 1962 chunderer noun a person who habitually vomits, especially as a result of excessive drinking AUSTRALIA, 1971

chundering noun vomiting AUSTRALIA, 1964

chunderish adjective bilious AUSTRALIA, 1991

chunderous adjective sickening AUSTRALIA, 1967

chunk noun a large amount US, 1889 chunk verb 1 to throw something US, 1835. 2 to vomit US, 1994. 3 in Americans casinos, to bet a great deal, especially to do so unwisely US, 1985. 4 to engage in a fist fight US, 1990 chunka-chunka adjective used for representing a steady musical rhythm. Echoic UK, 2003 chunk down verb to eat US, 1968

chunker noun an M79 grenade launcher. Vietnam war usage US, 1975 chunk of beef; chunka; chunker noun a chief, a boss. Rhyming slang; probably no longer in use AUSTRALIA, 1942 chunk of change a lot of money US, 2002 chunky; chunks; chunkies noun hashish. From the similarity in appearance to a block of chocolate US, 1971

chunt noun an inept, unlikeable person US, 2004 church noun LSD UK, 2003. ► the church the Investigations Department of HM Customs & Excise UK, 2001

churchie noun a religious proponent of virtue NEW ZEALAND, 1997 church is out 1 an opportunity has passed US, 1966. 2 no hope remains; there is nothing to be done US, 1966 church key noun a can and bottle opener. With the advent of pulling (1962), the pop-top (1963), and the stay-on tab can (1974), the device and term all but disappeared US, 1951

Church of England noun in craps, a bet that the next roll will be 1, 2, 11 or 12. A back-formation from C AND E, itself the initials of 'crap-eleven', the conventional name of the bet US, 1983 church rat noun a self-serving, pious person TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993 church tramp noun a student who changes his church affiliation as necessary to attend various church social functions US, 1963 church warden noun a pipe with a long stem. Originally made of clay but the name refers to the shape not the material. In 2003 this type of pipe is enjoying a small revival in fashion as a result of the films in the Lord of the Rings trilogy UK, 1863 churn verb to schedule unnecessary return visits to a doctor to increase fees US, 1991. ► churn butter to have sex. Vietnam war usage; slang based on visual images US, 1991 churn out verb to produce a large quantity of something, especially without too much concern for the finished article's quality UK, 1912 chut noun a male homosexual; homosexual practices between men. Possibly from CHUTE (the rectum), CHUTNEY (sodomy) or as a variation of CHUFF (a homosexual male) UK, 1977

chut verb to chew chewing gum AUSTRALIA, 1945 chute noun 1 the rectum US, 1976. 2 the coin slot on a pinball machine US, 1977. 3 especially in Quebec, a waterfall CANADA, 1947. 4 in sailing, a spinnaker US, 1990. 5 a parachute UK, 1920. 6 in the usage of youthful model road racers (slot car racers), a straight portion of track US, 1997. ► through the chute smuggled from Venezuela TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987 chutes noun a subway (underground) system US, 1950 chutney noun sodomy. From a similarity in colour and texture between conventional 'chutney' and faecal matter UK, 1984 chutney farmer; chutney ferret noun a male homosexual. Derogatory. From CHUTNEY (sodomy) UK, 1996

chutty noun chewing gum AUSTRALIA, 1942 chutzpah; chuzpah noun gall, intestinal fortitude, extreme self-confidence. One of the best-known Yiddish words in the US, 1892

CHV noun Council House Vermin, i.e. people who, it appears, can only afford to live in council houses IRELAND, 2003 ciacito, baby used as a farewell. A catchphrase television sign-off of Daisy Fuentes, the too-hip host on the MTV cable network in the 1990s. Repeated with referential humour US, 1994 ciao; ciao goodbye. From an Italian greeting and farewell, affected by English-speakers as a fashionable or ironic farewell UK, 1959

'cid; cid; sid noun LSD. An abbreviation of ACID US, 1986

-cide; -icide suffix the conventional suffix, that creates the meaning 'murder' or 'murderer', when used to make a flippant or nonce-word. In June 2003 a quick search of the Internet reveals 'Bushicide', 'Saddamicide' and 'Iraqicide' UK, 1866

Cider City nickname Herefordshire; Taunton, Somerset. Both are historic centres of cider-making UK, 1981 ciderhead noun a cider drinker. Combines conventional 'cider' with HEAD (a habitual user) UK, 1998

cig noun a cigarette or cigar US, 1894 cigar noun 1 a reprimand, especially at work US, 1960. 2 in circus and carnival usage, any compliment US, 1981 cigar! correct! An extrapolation from 'Close, but no cigar' US, 1991 cigarette noun an untalented or personality-free roller derby skater. The cigarette lagged back in the packet, hence the punning term US, 1999 cigarette holder noun the shoulder. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 cigarette paper noun a packet of heroin or another drug US, 1936 cigarette pimp noun a pimp whose lack of professional pride leads him to solicit customers for his prostitutes US, 1972 cigarette roll noun a type of parachute malfunction US, 1962 cigarette swag; cigarette paper swag noun a small pack of possessions and necessary items carried by a tramp. From the size and shape of the pack AUSTRALIA, 1938 cigarette with no name noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1980 cigger noun a cigarette AUSTRALIA, 1922

ciggy; ciggie noun a cigarette US, 1915 ciggyboo; ciggieboo noun a cigarette UK, 1958 ciggybutt noun a cigarette US, 1998

Cilla Black; Cilla noun the back. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of singer and television presenter Cilla Black (b.1943) UK, 1992

CIL spinner noun an illegal charge of dynamite to 'catch' fish in the water without using hooks or nets CANADA, 1989 cinch noun 1 a certainty US, 1890. 2 in horse racing, a horse that is virtually certain to win US, 1960

cinchers noun brakes US, 1942

Cincy; Cinci nickname Cincinatti, Ohio US, 1899

cinder dick noun a railway detective US, 1925 cinderella noun the nose. Rhyming slang for 'smeller' UK, 1992 cinderella adjective 1 the colour yellow; in snooker, the yellow ball. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 2 cowardly. Rhyming slang for YELLOW UK, 2002

Cinderella liberty noun a short release from military duty and from base restrictions. Cinderella had to be home by midnight, as do navy and marine troops US, 1961

Cinderella team noun a sports team that wins a tournament or championship that it had little hope of winning US, 1971 cinders noun ► take to the cinders on the railways, to quit a job US, 1977 cinder trail noun a railway track US, 1962 cinnamon stick noun a penis with faeces stains after anal sex US, 1979 cipaille noun in Quebec, a deep-dish meat pie CANADA, 1998

ciphering noun arithmetic US, 1905 circle noun any group of people playing footbag US, 1997

circle verb ► circle a game (of a bookmaker) to limit the amount that may be bet on a given game or race when the bookmaker suspects that the game or race is fixed US, 1978. ► circle the drain 1 to be near death US, 1994. 2 by extension, said of a project or enterprise that is nearing collapse US, 1997

Circle City nickname Leeds, West Yorkshire UK, 1981

circled adjective married US, 1960 circle jerk noun 1 group male masturbation, sometimes mutual and sometimes simply a shared solitary experience US, 1958. 2 any non-productive, time-wasting exercise US, 1973. 3 a series of exit consoles on websites that link back on themselves, creating an infinite loop US, 2004 circle-jerk verb to participate in group male masturbation US, 1971

Circle K noun the recreational drug ketamine. A punning allusion to a US national chain of convenience stores US, 1998 circle work noun the driving of a car in tight circles to form circular tracks on the ground AUSTRALIA, 1996

circs noun Circumstances UK, 1883 circuit noun a series of homosexual parties held each year around the US, with participants flying from city to city for the festivities US, 1990s circuit girl noun a travelling prostitute US, 2002 circuit queen noun a male homosexual who follows the circuit from party to party US, 1994 circular file noun a wastebasket US, 1947 circulation noun traffic CANADA, 2001

circus noun 1 sexual behaviour that is public, fetishistic or both US, 1878. 2 a state of affairs; a noisy and confused institution, place, scene or assemblage US, 1899. 3 a temporary company of people (often moving from place to place), engaged in the same endeavour, e.g. lawn tennis, motor racing, etc. A specialisation of CIRCUS (an assemblage) UK, 1958. 4 a group of aircraft engaged in displays of skilful flying. Military origins UK, 1916. 5 feigned spasms by a drug addict to convince a doctor to prescribe a narcotic US, 1949 circus bees; circus squirrels noun body lice US, 1981 circus cowboy noun a youthful, attractive homosexual male prostitute. A matching of the US MIDNIGHT COWBOY with London geography UK, 1987

circus simple adjective obsessed with the circus US, 1975 circus tent noun an apartment or house where customers pay to view sexual exhibitions US, 1959 cissy adjective effeminate. From 'sister' CANADA, 1915 citizen noun 1 an ordinary person outside a gang or club US, 2000. 2 a fellow member of a youth gang US, 1953. 3 a prisoner who has earned the respect of other prisoners US, 1989

cits noun ► the cits Minneapolis and St Paul, Minnesota US, 1966

City noun ► The City San Francisco, California. Uniformly used by northern Californians, who shun 'FRISCO US, 1955

-city suffix a good example of the precedent noun US, 1930 city block noun in horse racing, a large margin of victory or a large lead US, 1951 city college noun a jail, especially the New York City jail UK, 1796 city flyer noun a small truck used for local deliveries US, 1971 city Jake noun a person sophisticated in urban ways US, 1966 city kitty noun a local police official US, 1976 city light noun the low-intensity setting on headlights US, 1950 city mouse noun in Antarctica, a member of support personnel who never leaves McMurdo Station ANTARCTICA, 2003

city of the newly-wed and nearly-dead nickname Victoria, British Columbia CANADA, 1989 city slicker noun a smoothly persuasive rogue of a type stereotypically associated with city life; a sophisticated city-dweller. The second sense is derogatory US, 1924 city titties noun small bumps delineating lanes on motorways and roads US, 1992 city tote noun a coat. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a bookmaking firm UK, 1998 civilian noun 1 anyone who is not a member of the group with which the speaker identifies, especially a motorcycle gang US, 1946. 2 a non-regular officer US, 1947. 3 in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, a person who is not involved in and does not need to be involved in a recovery programme US, 1998 civil serpent noun used as a humorous synonym for 'civil servant' US, 1980 civvies noun 1 civilian clothes. Military usage UK, 1889. 2 manufactured cigarettes. Prison slang, remembering the pleasures of being a civvy (a civilian) and a gentle play on CIGGY, CIGGIES UK, 1996 civvy noun a member of the general public, not a member of the uniformed services: military, police, prison, fire, etc. Abbreviated from 'civilian' UK, 1895 civvy adjective civilian. Military use UK, 1915 civvy street noun civilian life; non-military life UK, 1943

CJ noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994

C-jam noun cocaine US, 1986

c-jame noun cocaine US, 1968

C-joint noun a place where cocaine is sold US, 2002

CJ's noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks. Standing for COCK JOCKS AUSTRALIA, 2003

CK noun 1 Calvin Klein™ clothing. Favoured by members of the Bloods youth gang, to whom the initials also stand for 'Crip Killer' US, 2000. 2 a mixture of cocaine and the recreational drug ketamine US, 1995. 3 cocaine US, 1971. 4 a man who feels that he has to disparage other men in front of women. An abbreviation of COCK-KNOCKER US, 2002

CK1 noun a mixture of nine parts cocaine and one part the recreational drug ketamine. The brand name of a popular fragrance by Calvin Klein UK, 2001 clack verb to rattle the dice when switching altered dice in or out of a game; always inadvertent and usually disastrous to the cheat US, 1950 clacker noun 1 the backside; the anus. Probably from 'clacker' a ratcheted noise-making device, alluding to farting. Not a perversion of 'cloaca' AUSTRALIA, 1960. 2 a young woman; a group of young women; young women in general. Military UK, 1984. 3 a dollar US, 1918. 4 a triggering device for claymore mines US, 1990 clackers noun the teeth; false teeth US, 1950

clacker valve noun the female genitalia UK, 2003

clag noun excreta, faeces; rubbish UK, 2003 claggy adjective unpleasantly bedaubed with excreta. From CLAG UK, 2003 clag nut noun a small lump of excreta or toilet paper that clings to the anal hair. From CLAG (faeces) UK, 2003 claim verb 1 to arrest someone UK, 1970. 2 to challenge someone to a fight IRELAND, 1989 claiming noun a method of casino cheating, in which a cheat claims that a slot machine malfunctioned and they received no payment or inadequate payment from a win US, 1985

Claire Rayners noun trainers (footwear). Based on the name of Claire Rayner, popular agony aunt and novelist UK, 1997 clam noun 1 the vagina US, 1916. 2 the anus US, 1983. 3 the mouth US, 1825. 4 a dollar US, 1886. 5 a betting chip in a poker game US, 1988. 6 in a musical performance, a missed cue or an off-key note US, 1955

clam; clam up verb to stop talking US, 1916 clambake noun a session in which jazz musicians collectively improvise. From CLAM (a missed note) US, 1937 clam dam noun a condom. Combines CLAM (the vagina) with 'dam' (a barrier) US, 1990s clam-diggers noun calf-length trousers. The suggestion is that the trousers are an appropriate length for digging for clams in mud flats US, 1947 clam gun noun a shovel or other digging implement US, 1927 clamp verb ► clamp it to to have sex US, 1963 clam patch noun the passenger seat on a motorcycle. Biker (motorcycle) slang, coarsely referencing women as CLAM (the vagina) US, 2003 clampers noun the teeth US, 1970

clamp it! be quiet! UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

clamps noun handcuffs US, 1949

clams noun money AUSTRALIA, 1992

clam-shelled adjective ► get clam-shelled to be engulfed by a wave while surfing US, 1991 clam squirt noun vaginal secretions US, 1974

Clan noun ► the Clan a group of performers and friends surrounding Frank Sinatra in the 1950s and 60s. Better known as the Rat Pack US, 1960 clanger noun 1 an error, a mistake UK, 1957. 2 a coward AUSTRALIA, 1953. 3 in poker, a drawn card that does nothing to improve your hand. Also known as a 'clang' US, 1996 clangeroo noun a memorably bad misjudgement. An intensification of CLANGER (an error) with the suffix -EROO; mainly theatrical in use UK, 1957 clangers noun testicles UK, 1961

clank noun an armoured tank US, 1982

clank verb 1 to be nervous US, 1955. 2 to reject a romantic overture or partner US, 1959 clank clank! used in response to an Australian's claim of ancestry that goes back to the days of the early settlers. Echoic of transported prisoners' chains AUSTRALIA, 1968 clanked up adjective anxious, nervous US, 1953 clanks noun delirium tremens US, 1980 clap noun gonorrhoea. From old French clapoir (a sore caused by venereal disease); the term was normal register for centuries, slipping into colloquial or slang in mid-C19 UK, 1587 clap verb to kill someone US, 2002. ► clap beef to have sex with a woman JAMAICA, 1980. ► clap eyes on to see someone or something UK, 1838 clap checker noun a member of the Medical Corps. Vietnam war usage, identifying medics by the least glorious of their duties US, 1991 clap clinic noun a medical practice that treats all sexually transmitted disease US, 1976 clapped-out; clapped adjective 1 unserviceable as a result of use or neglect UK, 1946. 2 (of persons) exhausted, no longer effective UK, 1946 clappers noun the testicles. Derives from the clapper of a bell, and is almost always in the plural UK, 1959. ► like the clappers; like the clappers of hell; like the clappers of fuck very fast, very hard. Possibly rhyming slang for 'clappers of a bell', 'hell' UK, 1948 clappy adjective infected with a sexually transmitted infection, especially gonorrhoea US, 1937 claps noun gonorrhoea. Largely black usage US, 1965 clap shack noun a clinic or hospital ward where sexually transmitted infections are treated US, 1952

clap sticks noun in the television and film industries, the clapboard used for synchronising sound and picture US, 1987 claptrap noun 1 nonsense, rubbish. From the conventional sense (language designed to win applause) UK, 1915. 2 a brothel with a high incidence of sexually transmitted infections US, 1987 clarabelle noun tetrahydrocannabinol (THC), the psychoactive ingredient in marijuana US, 1971

Clarence nickname a cross-eyed person. From Clarence, a cross-eyed lion that out-acted the human cast in BBC television's Daktari, 1966–69 UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 claret noun blood. Conventional claret is a fortified Bordeaux red wine; the visual connection is obvious UK, 1604

Clarisse noun used as a term of address among male homosexuals US, 1965 clarity noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy US, 1989

Clark Gable noun a table. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of US film actor Clark Gable, 1901–60 UK, 1992

Clark Kent adjective homosexual. Rhyming slang for BENT, formed from the 'secret identity' of Superman UK, 2003 clart noun 1 used as a term of friendly address. Most likely from UK black BLOODCLART or PUSSYCLAAT (a contemptible person) into wider youth usage UK, 2004. 2 excrement; also as a euphemism for all senses of 'shit'. From Scottish and dialect clarty (sticky with dirt; sticky; dirty). Also used in the plural UK, 1977

clary noun a clarinet US, 1942 ► see: JULIAN CLARY class noun elegant style or behaviour, refined taste, a state of excellence. Originally sports usage UK, 1874 class verb to attend a class US, 2002 class A's noun 1 cocaine, heroin and other drugs that are legally categorised as Class A narcotics UK, 1999. 2 in the US Army, the dress uniform US, 1968 classic adjective 1 excellent US, 1964. 2 handsome, well-dressed US, 1998 classic six noun a common layout of an apartment in Manhattan – two bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen and small maid's room US, 2002 class up the ass noun a superlative style US, 1972 classy adjective of superior quality; stylish; having CLASS UK, 1891 classy chassis noun an attractive female body US, 1955

clat noun a dirty person UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

clatch noun your personal belongings ANTARCTICA, 1989 clatter verb to smack someone, to hit someone, to beat someone up UK, 1979

clatters noun a smacking. From CLATTER (to smack) UK, 1979

'clavaed up adjective used when a balaclava helmet is worn UK, 2000

Claven noun someone who purports to know everything. From the Cliff Claven character on the television comedy Cheers US, 1991 claw noun a pickpocket US, 1914 claw verb to pick a glass up from its top US, 1998. ► claw off a lee shore to face serious difficulties in a task or project. Nautical origins US, 1963 clay noun 1 a claymore mine US, 1994. 2 tetrahydrocannabinol (THC), the psychoactive ingredient in marijuana US, 1971. 3 hashish US, 1992

clay eater noun a poor rural dweller US, 1841 clay pigeon noun a person who is easily victimised US, 1972

Clayton's noun any substitute for a desired thing NEW ZEALAND, 2002

Clayton's adjective false, pretend, faux. From the proprietary name of a substitute alcoholic drink which was widely advertised as 'the drink you have when you're not having a drink' AUSTRALIA, 1984 clean verb 1 by gambling, fraud or theft, to take all of someone's money. A variant is 'clean out' UK, 1812. 2 to remove seeds, stems and foreign matter from marijuana leaves US, 1967. 3 to rid yourself of altered dice, altered cards or any evidence of cheating US, 1950. 4 in mountain biking, to succeed in negotiating an obstacle or set of obstacles without accident US, 1996. ► clean it up to clarify or explain something US, 1942. ► clean out the kitchen; clean up the kitchen to perform oral sex on a woman US, 1941. ► clean road for monkey to run to labour for someone else's benefit TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► clean someone's bones to thrash or defeat someone soundly in a fight US, 1963. ► clean someone's clock 1 to severely defeat someone, physically or in a competition US, 1959. 2 in trucking, to pass another vehicle, especially another truck, at high speed US, 1971. ► clean the books to induce a criminal to confess to a series of unsolved crimes US, 1984. ► clean the cage out to perform oral sex on a woman UK, 2002. ► clean the clock on the railways, to make an emergency stop. An allusion to the air gauge that drops to zero in an emergency stop US, 1977. ► clean the kitchen to lick your sex-partner's anus UK, 2002. ► clean the pipes to ejaculate; to masturbate US, 1998. ► clean the table in pool, to shoot all of the remaining balls in one turn US, 1989. ► clean the tube (of a male) to masturbate. Using 'tube' to mean 'the penis' US, 2001. ► clean up the calendar (used of the police) to extract from a criminal confessions clearing up a number of crimes, regardless of his actual guilt, in exchange for lenient treatment on another crime US, 1992 clean adjective 1 drug-free US, 1949. 2 unarmed US, 1952. 3 innocent; free of suspicion; without a trace of guilt; without a criminal record US, 1925. 4 not subject to police surveillance US, 2003. 5 (used of an illegal betting operation) unafraid of police intervention because of bribes paid to the police US, 1951. 6 excellent, fashionable, stylish US, 1963. 7 (used of a theatrical performance) completely sold out US, 1973. 8 in circus and carnival usage, without value US, 1981. 9 (of an object ball in pool) directly into the pocket without touching a cushion or another ball US, 1993 clean adverb completely as in 'He got clean away' or 'I clean forget' UK, 1999 clean and ready adjective prepared; dressed nicely US, 1980 cleaner noun 1 in the used car business, a customer who does not have a car to trade in US, 1956. 2 a hired killer US, 2000. 3 in circus and carnival usage, the person who retrieves money from paid players who have been allowed to win a concession game to drum up business US, 1987

cleaners noun ► take someone to the cleaners 1 to thrash someone UK, 1976. 2 to thoroughly swindle or rob someone US, 1907. 3 to forcibly strip someone UK, 1996 clean freak noun a person who is obsessed with cleanliness US, 1967 cleaning crew noun the members of a criminal enterprise who rid the crime scene of possible evidence and at times any bodies resulting from the crime US, 1997 cleaning kit noun the equipment needed to rid a crime scene of possible evidence US, 1997 clean out verb to thrash someone US, 1862 clean peeler noun to a surfer, a perfect wave US, 1997 clean sheets noun a bed or cot. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 cleanskin noun 1 a person without a criminal record. Originally applied to an unbranded sheep AUSTRALIA, 1943. 2 a novice. From the conventional sense (an unbranded stock animal) AUSTRALIA, 1907. 3 a person of integrity, especially in a political context. From the sense of 'a person without a police record' AUSTRALIA, 1942. 4 in horse racing, a jockey who has never been disqualified in a race AUSTRALIA, 1989

cleansleeve noun a low-ranking military recruit US, 1909 clean-the-kitchen noun corned beef hash US, 1946 clean time noun the amount of time that has passed since a prisoner was last in trouble US, 1989 clean-up noun 1 a good alibi US, 1990. 2 a wave that breaks seaward of most surfers, causing them to lose their boards and thus cleaning up the area US, 1964 clean up verb to make a profit, especially a big one US, 1831 cleanup team noun the members of a criminal enterprise who rid a crime scene of any possible evidence and at times bodies resulting from the crime US, 1997 clean wheels noun a motor vehicle to be used in crime that has never been previously stolen or come under prior police suspicion in any way UK, 1977 clean works noun a new needle and syringe. A concept and term new in the age of AIDS US, 1993 clear noun ► in the clear with no evidence against you; therefore, innocent or apparently so UK, 1934 clear verb to steal something UK, 1998. ► clear the channel to stop talking US, 1962. ► clear your tubes to ejaculate; to masturbate AUSTRALIA, 1985 clear as mud adjective anything but clear; confused UK, 1842 clearinghouse noun an illegal lottery. More commonly known as a NUMBERS game US, 1951

Clear Lake noun methamphetamine purportedly manufactured in the Clear Lake region of northern California US, 1989 clear light noun a stage in some LSD experiences in which the user feels receptive to enlightenment US, 1971 clearly! I agree! US, 2002 clear off verb to depart. Often used as an imperative UK, 1816 clearskin noun used as a variation of all senses of 'cleanskin' AUSTRALIA, 1943 clear-skinned adjective with a light complexion BARBADOS, 1965

clef verb to compose a tune or song US, 1948

Clem noun in the circus or carnival, a fight with customers US, 1891

Clement Freud noun a haemorrhoid. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of British writer, broadcaster and politician, Sir Clement

Freud (b.1924), father of EMMA FREUD whose name has a synonymous purpose UK, 2003

clemo noun executive clemency granted to a convicted prisoner US, 1960 clennedak noun in Quebec, a child's taffy cone (a sweet confection) CANADA, 1998 clerk noun in American casinos, an exceptionally skilled dealer US, 1980 clerks and jerks noun clerical support personnel and officers. Vietnam war usage. The high degree of cynicism about officers found in enlisted men was even more intense in Vietnam US, 1975 clever adjective ► damned clever these Chinese; dead clever these Chinese; clever chaps these Chinese a catchphrase used as a comment upon an explanation given about some device or machine, especially if the explanation has not been understood. A back-handed tribute to Chinese ingenuity US, 1955 clever bollocks noun a clever person UK, 2001 clever clogs noun a clever person. A variation of 'clever boots' UK, 1866 clever creep noun a forensic chemist. Police use UK, 1971 clever dick noun 1 a clever, rather too clever, person. Derisive or sarcastic in use UK, 1887. 2 a brick. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 clever Dickie noun a bricklayer. Rhyming slang for 'brickie', extended from CLEVER DICK (a brick) UK, 1992 clever drawers noun a knowledgeable person. Disparaging UK, 1966 cleverguts noun a clever person. Childish and sarcastic UK, 1959 cleverkins noun a clever person UK, 1937 cleverly adverb (used of a racehorse winning a race) easily US, 1960 clever Mike noun a bicycle. Rhyming slang for 'bike' UK, 1961 clever sticks noun a clever person. A variation on the theme of 'clever boots'; often used as a juvenile taunt UK, 1946

clieve noun the vagina UK, 2002

clew up verb to hide, to go into hiding. Of naval origins UK, 1962 click noun 1 a gang. A corrupted spelling of 'clique' US, 1879. 2 a kilometer. Also spelt 'klik' or 'klik'. Vietnam war usage US, 1962 click verb 1 to have a successful encounter with a hitherto unknown member of the opposite sex UK, 1937. 2 to get along instantly and famously UK, 1915. 3 to suddenly understand something; to suddenly make sense in context UK, 1939. 4 to perform at the right moment as needed by a friend US, 1989. 5 to enjoy an amorous relationship IRELAND, 2003. 6 of a woman, to become pregnant (or in Australia, of a cow) UK, 1937. 7 in the theatre or other forms of entertainment, to be a success US, 1926. 8 in horse racing, to win a race US, 1951. 9 to be well accepted US, 1982. 10 to be selected or accepted for a duty or a fate; to be killed. A military colloquialism UK, 1917 clicker noun 1 crack cocaine mixed with phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994. 2 a brick US, 1989. 3 in circus and carnival usage, a free pass US, 1981 clickers noun false teeth US, 1950

clicks noun approval; applause US, 1997 clicks and mortar; C&M noun a business that combines trading from traditional business premises with Internet-based commerce. A play on 'bricks and mortar', a traditional business US, 1999 clientised adjective having come to a point of view that is in sympathy with a client's or subject's outlook or situation UK, 2003

Cliffie noun a student or alumna of Radcliffe College, Harvard University US, 1961

C light noun in the pornography industry, a light used to illuminate the genitals of the performers. 'C' is in CUNT US, 1991 climax noun 1 amyl nitrite. Because of the orgasm-enhancing characteristics of the drug US, 1992. 2 heroin UK, 1998 climb noun 1 cat burglary UK, 1936. 2 a marijuana cigarette. A climb is necessary if you wish to get HIGH (intoxicated) US, 1946 climb verb ► climb the wooden hill; climb the wooden hill to Bedfordshire to go upstairs to bed. A combination of WOODEN HILL (the stairs) and BEDFORDSHIRE (a bed) UK, 1984 climbing trees to get away from it used as a catchphrase reply to the question 'getting any (sexual satisfaction)?' AUSTRALIA, 1984 climb into verb to criticise someone, to launch a verbal attack on someone NEW ZEALAND, 1993 climey noun a British social 'climber' in the US, especially New York. A contraction of 'climber' and LIMEY (a Briton) UK, 1999 clinch noun a prolonged or passionate embrace US, 1901 clinch verb in bird-watching circles, to identify a rare bird UK, 1977 cling verb ► cling to the belt (used of South Vietnamese troops) to stay close to US troops US, 1988 clinic noun 1 a poker game characterised by over-analysis of each hand US, 1988. 2 a poker game played by doctors US, 1988 clink noun a jail; a police station. Originally an infamous prison in Southwark, London, and then by the mid-C19 applied to any jail, prison or cell UK, 1785 clinker noun 1 in the entertainment industry, a failure US, 1961. 2 a small piece of faeces clinging to anal hairs UK, 1904. 3 a wrong note in a musical performance US, 1937. 4 a mistake US, 1937. 5 a piece of broken-up ice on the water CANADA, 2001

clinkeroo noun a jail or prison US, 1992 clinkers noun 1 handcuffs US, 1949. 2 leg irons; foot shackles UK, 1699

clip noun 1 a rate of speed, as in 'a fair old clip' UK, 1867. 2 an occurrence or instance US, 1979. 3 a blow UK, 1830. 4 a swindle or other act of dishonest trickery US, 1941. 5 a string of bottles containing doses of crack cocaine US, 1992. 6 a vasectomy US, 1993. 7 in the circus or carnival, a patron US, 1980 clip verb 1 to steal something; to swindle someone; to win something, especially through cheating US, 1922. 2 to kill someone, especially by gunshot US, 1928. 3 to hit someone US, 1855. ► clip a steamer to defecate US, 2003

clip and clean adverb completely US, 1975

clip-a-nines noun a 9 mm ammunition clip US, 2001 clip girl noun an attractive woman employed in a clip joint to encourage customers to part with their money on the promise of (sexual) services to be delivered UK, 2001 clip joint; clip dive noun a bar, gambling house or other business where customers are routinely cheated US, 1932 clip off verb (used of ammunition) to explode because of heat from a surrounding fire US, 1990 clipped dick noun a Jewish person. Derogatory US, 1960 clipper noun 1 a thief US, 1954. 2 a person who collects film clips, usually of a single subject US, 1978. 3 a disposable cigarette lighter. A generic from the Clipper™ brand UK, 1996

Clipper Club noun the abstract brotherhood of men who have undergone a vasectomy US, 1995 clippie; clippy noun 1 a female conductor on a bus or train. From clipping tickets UK, 1941. 2 an employee who checks and clips tickets at railway stations AUSTRALIA, 1953 clipping noun a robbery facilitated by posing as a prostitute and knocking out the clients with sleeping pills UK, 1977 clique noun a youth gang. A nuance of the conventional sense UK, 2003 clique up verb to form small groups US, 1972 clit noun 1 the clitoris US, 1958. 2 a despicable person. A figurative application, similar to PRICK UK, 1999 clithopper noun a promiscuous lesbian US, 1982 clit lit; literature noun good quality erotica for women. Formed from clit (the clitoris) and 'lit' (literature) US, 1999 clitoris noun any popular model of car. Motor trade slang. Explained as 'every cunt has one' by a car salesman UK, 1977 clit ring noun a piece of jewellery for a clitoral piercing. As body piercing became more popular through the 1990s this prosaically-named ornamentation, based on an abbreviation of 'clitoris' became a familiar possibility US, 1995

clit stick noun a small vibrating sex-aid designed for clitoral stimulation. An abbreviation of 'clitoris' combined with the lipstick-sized vibrator's shape UK, 2002

clit tease noun a heterosexual woman who socialises with lesbians without revealing that she is heterosexual US, 2002 clitter noun a slap with the open hand. From the Irish cliotar IRELAND, 2000

clitty the clitoris UK, 1866 clitty clamp noun a device that is attached to a clitoris and is designed to cause discomfort or pain in the cause of sexual stimulation UK, 1995

clitwobble noun a woman's desire for sex UK, 1998 cloak verb to send an electronic message in a manner that disguises the true origin of the message US, 1997 cloak-and-dagger adjective very secret; pertaining to espionage US, 1944 clobber noun clothes, especially any outfit of good or noticeable quality. Probably Yiddish klbr, but 'to clobber' is 'to CLOUT' ('to hit' and may also be 'clothing') UK, 1879 clobber verb 1 to strike someone forcefully US, 1944. 2 to criticise someone or something harshly UK, 1956. 3 in computing, to overwrite a program US, 1991. 4 to impose an onerous duty or unwelcome burden on someone. Usually before 'with'; for example, 'I got clobbered with finishing the weeding' UK, 1984

clobbered adjective drunk US, 1951

clobbering machine noun the notional machine that creates conformity NEW ZEALAND, 1998 clock noun 1 a milometer (odometer) UK, 1967. 2 a speedometer UK, 1942. 3 a taxi meter. Often in the enquiry 'How much is on the clock?' UK, 1930. 4 an air gauge used with air brakes US, 1946. 5 a watch. In conventional use from 1559, in slang use since late C19; noted by the Oxford English Dictionary as obsolete 'except in modern slang' UK, 1961. 6 the face UK, 1918. 7 a punch to the face. From the verb NEW ZEALAND, 1959. 8 a look. From the verb UK, 2000. 9 a one-year prison sentence AUSTRALIA, 1941. 10 a prisoner who is at the beginning of their sentence US, 1962. 11 bravery, courage US, 1950 clock verb 1 to catch sight of or notice someone or something; to watch someone or something US, 1929. 2 to watch someone patiently, especially to follow someone with the purpose of discovering the details of a bet UK, 1958. 3 to keep track of a slot machine in an effort to make an educated guess as to when it will pay off US, 1984. 4 to keep track of the money involved in a game or an enterprise US, 1977. 5 to register on the speedometer; to attain a particular speed. From CLOCK (a speedometer) UK, 1892. 6 to figure something out, to evaluate something US, 1961. 7 to earn something US, 1989. 8 to punch, to strike with the fist. Perhaps, originally, 'to hit in the clock' (the face) UK, 1932. 9 to sell drugs on the street US, 1992. 10 to wind back the mileometer (odometer) of a vehicle to increase its sale value US, 1980. 11 to identify. After the senses to see and to watch UK, 2005. ► clock in to visit your boyfriend or girlfriend only out of a sense of duty US, 2004. ► clock in the green room while surfing, to take a long ride inside the hollow of a breaking wave US, 1991. ► clock the action to understand what is happening and what is being said US, 1962 clock and house verb to see and remember suspects' faces, and then follow them to their home. From CLOCK (to see; to watch and follow) UK, 1977 clocker noun 1 a street drug dealer, especially of crack cocaine US, 1992. 2 a watchman or guard, especially one who punches a time clock while making his rounds US, 1949. 3 an onlooker US, 1976 clocking noun a fraudulent act of turning back a vehicle's mileometer (odometer). From the verb CLOCK UK, 1974 clock out verb to act in a psychotic manner US, 1989 clock puncher noun an employee whose working day is measured by a time-clock. A worker must 'punch in' and 'punch out' at a time-clock US, 1932 clock watcher noun 1 an employee who takes care to work only for as long and as hard as is minimally required UK, 1911. 2 a person completely lacking in generosity US, 1956 clock watching noun the act of working no harder, or for no longer, than is minimally required UK, 1942 clockweights noun the testicles. From the workings of a longcase clock UK, 2003 clockwork along verb to go smoothly, 'to go like clockwork' UK, 1990s clockworks noun the brain US, 1947 clocky noun sudden waving arm movements of a surfer trying to get his balance US, 1991 clod noun a stupid person UK, 1605 clodbuster noun a farmer US, 1950

cloddy noun a prison officer UK, 1996

clodge noun the vagina UK, 2001 clodhopper noun 1 a person with big feet; big feet or big shoes. Evoking the image of a ploughman with large, coarse boots UK, 1836. 2 a clumsy person UK, 1824. 3 a police officer. Rhyming slang for COPPER; sometimes shortened to 'clod' UK, 1998. 4 a copper coin, a penny. Rhyming slang for 'copper'. Sometimes shortened to 'clod' UK, 1925 clog verb to take a picture with a mobile phone and upload it to a website. A contraction of 'camera' and 'log' US, 2003 clog down adverb of driving, very fast or accelerating. Military; from the sense of putting your foot down on an accelerator pedal UK, 1984 clogger noun a footballer who has a reputation for fouling when tackling an opponent UK, 1970

cloggie noun 1 a clog dancer. Popularised in the late 1960s by The Cloggies, a cartoon strip about a clog dancing team, written and drawn by Bill Tidy UK, 1969. 2 a Dutch person. Derogatory. Originally military usage, from the extensive use of clogs as a symbol of Netherlands' folk-culture. Also variant 'clog head' UK, 1987 cloggy noun the Dutch language. From the extensive use of clogs as a symbol of the Netherlands' folk-culture UK, 1984

clomp verb to walk in a noisy and demonstrative fashion UK, 1829 clone noun 1 a highly stylised, fashion-conscious homosexual male US, 1979. 2 a personal computer that closely duplicates the functions and operations of a leading brand US, 1991. 3 a car with an identity that has been fraudulently duplicated from a legitimately registered vehicle UK, 2005

clone verb 1 to reconfigure a stolen mobile phone so that an existing subscriber is charged for all calls US, 1994. 2 to duplicate the detailed identity of one car onto another UK, 2005

clonk verb to hit someone UK, 1943 clonked; clonked out adjective of a mechanical device, not working. A teenagers' variation of CONKED; CONKED OUT UK, 1982 close verb ► close the back door in bombing missions, to provide rear guard protection for the bombers US, 1990. ► close the door in motor racing, to pass another car and then pull sharply in front of it to minimise its chances of passing you US, 1965 close adjective skilled US, 1959 close but no cigar; no cigar adverb incorrect. From carnival games giving cigars as prizes US, 1986 close call noun a near thing, a narrow escape US, 1881 closed adjective subject to strict law enforcement; unfriendly to criminal enterprises US, 1969 closed door noun a surf condition where waves are breaking simultaneously all along a beach, creating no shoulder to ride US, 1963 closed for maintenance adjective in the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2000 closed game noun a private gambling game, especially poker, usually for high stakes US, 1992 close out verb (of waves) to become unsuitable for surfing, either because of their size or their breaking pattern US, 1991 closer noun in a sales team, the individual responsible for the final stages of negotiations US, 1987 closet noun a person who is secretly homosexual UK, 2001. ► in the closet hidden, not avowed. Almost always applied to homosexuality US, 1967. ► on the closet (of a prisoner and prison officer) to be handcuffed together but separated by a long chain that is intended to reduce embarrassment when using the water closet UK, 2000. ► out of the closet avowed, open US, 1971 closet adjective hidden, not admitted. Most often but not always, and not first, used in conjunction with homosexuality US, 1952 close-talker noun a person who speaks to others without respecting the usual cultural protocols on not standing too close to someone you are talking to. A term popularised on Jerry Seinfeld's television programme in an episode called 'The Raincoat Party' first aired on 28th April 1994 US, 1994 closet case noun 1 a person who is secretly homosexual US, 1969. 2 someone to be ashamed of. Teen slang, without any suggestion of the homosexuality later associated with the term US, 1954. 3 a potential romantic interest whom you are keeping away from your friends US, 1955 closet dyke noun a lesbian who conceals her sexual orientation US, 1967 closeted adjective living with an unrevealed fact, especially homosexuality US, 1992 close to the door adjective about to be released from prison US, 1989 close to the skin adjective lacking subcutaneous fat US, 1984 closet queen noun a male homosexual who conceals his sexual orientation US, 1957 close work noun sexual activity US, 1957 clot noun a dolt UK, 1632 cloth noun ► down to the cloth (used of a player in a game of poker) almost out of money US, 1982 cloth-eared adjective deaf UK, 1965 cloth-ears noun a person with a poor sense of hearing; a person affecting deafness; a condition of convenient deafness. From the ear-flaps on certain headgear UK, 1912 clothes noun 1 in horse racing, a horse blanket US, 1951. 2 a plainclothes police officer or division US, 1971 clotheshorse noun a person who pays a great deal of attention to fashions and the clothing they wear US, 1850 clothesline noun the line used to lead a glider plane into the air US, 1985 clothes-peg noun 1 the leg. Rhyming slang, usually in plural UK, 1931. 2 an egg. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 clothes queen noun a homosexual man who is drawn to ostentatious, flamboyant clothing US, 1963 clotted cream noun a student at the Royal Agricultural College in Cirencester. A jocular representation of a thick and rich elite UK, 2004

clotty adjective slovenly, untidy IRELAND, 2000 cloud noun 1 crack cocaine. From the thick white smoke produced when smoked US, 1994. 2 the intoxication from smoking freebase or crack cocaine US, 1992 cloudhopper noun an air pilot, especially in the bush CANADA, 1959 cloud nine noun 1 a condition of perfect happiness, euphoria. Probably derives as a variation of CLOUD SEVEN; possibly from US weather forecasting terminology which divides clouds into nine types, the highest being number nine; or, less likely, a spiritual possibility: of the ten names for Buddha, the ninth is 'enlightened one'. It is probable that the US radio adventure series Johnny Dollar, 1949–62, popularised the term's usage US, 1935. 2 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the blissed-out state UK, 2003. 3 crack cocaine US, 1994 cloud seven noun a condition of perfect happiness, euphoria. Derives, possibly, from 'seventh heaven'. Still current but CLOUD NINE attracts more attention US, 1956 clout noun 1 a heavy blow. Conventional from about 1400, it has slipped into dialect and colloquial use since the C18 UK, 2003. 2 power, influence, especially political US, 1868 clout verb 1 to hit a person with a heavy blow of your hand.

Conventional from early C14, by late C19 had slipped into dialect and colloquial use UK, 2000. 2 to rob or steal something UK, 1708. 3 to fail to bet a debt AUSTRALIA, 1989. 4 to arrest someone US, 1992

clouter noun a thief who steals from parked cars US, 1993 clouting noun the palming of cards AUSTRALIA, 1953

clover noun money US, 1951 clown noun 1 a fool, an incompetent person US, 1898. 2 in carnival usage, a local police officer US, 1929. 3 a railway pointsman or yard brakeman US, 1946 clown alley noun on a circus lot, the area of tents where performers, especially clowns, dress and live US, 1956 clown bookie noun a bookmaker who operates in carnivals AUSTRALIA, 1989

clown wagon noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1931 club noun 1 in pool, a heavier-than-usual cue stick US, 1990. 2 in trucking, a dilapidated trailer US, 1971. ► in the club pregnant. A shortening of IN THE PUDDING CLUB UK, 1890. ► put someone in the club to make someone pregnant UK, 1943 club verb to spend an evening in a nightclub or several nightclubs US, 1964

clubber noun a patron of nightclubs US, 2003 clubbers' cold noun a runny nose, as a side-effect of drug use UK, 1999 clubbie noun a beach lifeguard. An abbreviation of 'life-saving club' AUSTRALIA, 1977 club-crawl verb to move as a group of friends from one nightclub to another US, 1994

Club Fed noun a minimum-security, well-equipped federal prison housing white-collar criminals, especially the federal prison camp in Lompoc, California. A punning reference to Club Med, a group of holiday resorts US, 1985 club-fight verb to engage in youth gang warfare US, 1949 club-hop verb to move from one nightclub to another, especially with a group of friends US, 1997 clubhouse lawyer noun an athlete who is quick to criticise his team's management when presented with an audience of fellow players US, 1937 club kid noun a fashionable, attractive young person paid to attend a nightclub in the hope of attracting others US, 1995

clubland noun an area of London bounded by and mainly comprising St James's Street and Pall Mall; subsequently, with the coming of nightclubs and club culture, any area where a number of clubs are to be found UK, 1885 club sandwich noun sex involving three people at once. Surviving in the shortened form of a simple 'sandwich' US, 1970 club widow noun a woman whose husband's pursuits at a country club or other club often leave her at home alone US, 1928

clubzine noun a single-interest fan magazine published by a fan club US, 1982

cluck noun 1 a gullible fool US, 1906. 2 a crack cocaine user US, 1994. 3 counterfeit money US, 1949 cluck verb to withdraw from any drug. Perhaps this derives from a confused attempt at the sound of a COLD TURKEY (the withdrawal period and its symptoms) UK, 1996

cluck and grunt noun ham and eggs US, 1972

clucker noun 1 in the urban drug culture, someone who brings buyers to sellers US, 2002. 2 a fool US, 1945. 3 the two halves of a scallop shell still closed after the scallop has died of natural causes CANADA, 1955

cluckhead noun a crack cocaine addict US, 1995

cluckiness noun the state of wanting to be pregnant AUSTRALIA, 1985

clucking adjective showing an addict's hunger for drugs, especially crack cocaine UK, 1996 clucky adjective 1 (of a hen) to be sitting on an egg or eggs. This term was in use in the US in the 1940s, but persists in Canadian country areas CANADA, 1916. 2 (of a woman) showing signs of pregnancy or of an intense desire for children. Extended from the conventional use referring to a broody hen. Originally and especially used of women, but now also of men AUSTRALIA, 1941 cludgie; cludge noun a (public) lavatory. Scottish dialect, now in wider use UK, 1985 clue noun ► have no clue; not have a clue; haven't a clue to be ignorant. As in the title of a BBC Radio 4 programme, I'm Sorry, I Haven't a Clue, on air since 1981 UK, 1948 clue; clue in verb to inform someone, to update someone UK, 1948

clued up adjective well-informed UK, 1970 clueless adjective unaware, especially of fashion, music and other social trends UK, 1943 clue up verb to brief someone, to inform someone UK, 1984 cluey noun a well-informed person AUSTRALIA, 1968

cluey adjective wise; in the know AUSTRALIA, 1967 clump noun 1 a person whose main talent is hitting other people UK, 2000. 2 a heavy blow with the hand UK, 1889 clump verb to hit someone heavily, to thump someone UK, 1999 clumping adjective used as an occasional variant of 'thumping' (large) UK, 1984 clumsome; clumsy noun in electric line work, a worker who is not a journeyman lineman but who claims some climbing experience. From the worker's claim that while not a journeyman, he has 'clumb some' US, 1942 clumsy as a cub-bear handling his prick adjective very clumsy indeed CANADA, 1984

clunk noun 1 an ill-bred or ill-mannered person; a fool US, 1929. 2 a man AUSTRALIA, 1948

clunk nickname ► the clunk a CF-100 Canuck jet fighter aircraft. The aircraft first flew in 1950, and is also known as ALUMINIUM CROW and LEAD SLED CANADA, 1994 clunk!; ker-lunk! used for approximating the sound of a hard object hitting another. As in Jimmy Saville's catchphrase 'Clunk click every trip', in public information films of the 1970s, in which 'clunk' represents a car door closing and 'click' a seatbelt slotting home UK, 1823 clunker noun 1 an old, beat-up car. The original military usage in the 1940s applied to any old vehicle or machine. By the 1960s, applied almost exclusively to a car US, 1942. 2 an inferior item US, 1971 clunkhead noun a dolt US, 1952 clunky adjective awkward, clumsy, inelegant US, 1968 clusterfuck noun 1 group sex, heterosexual or homosexual US, 1966. 2 a disorganised, chaotic situation US, 1969 clusterscrew noun chaos; monumental lack of organisation US, 1976 clutch noun 1 a despised person US, 1961. 2 in poker, a hand that is certain to win US, 1967 clutch verb ► clutch the gummy to be caught and blamed for something. An elaboration of HOLD THE BAG US, 1960 clutch adjective 1 serving as a replacement. Korean war usage US, 1957. 2 unkind US, 1991 clutched adjective scared, anxious US, 1952

Clyde noun 1 a misfit; an outcast US, 1950. 2 during the Vietnam war, a Viet Cong or North Vietnamese regular US, 1966. 3 used to refer to any object the name of which you cannot remember or do not know US, 1992. ► as deep and dirty as the Clyde used of someone who is devious, dishonest, secretive or untrustworthy. Glasgow use, formed on the name of its river UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

C-man noun a sexually successful male student. An abbreviation of 'cunt-man' or COCKSMAN US, 1968

c'mon 1 used to solicit a reasonable or common-sense response. Also used in the long form 'come on' UK, 2002. 2 used imperatively in a citizens' band radio transmission to request a reply US, 1976

C-note noun 1 a one hundred dollar note US, 1930. 2 a prison sentence of 100 years US, 1990

C-note charlie noun in a casino, a gambler who insists on betting with hundred-dollar notes, not betting chips US, 1949

CNS-QNS (in doctors' shorthand) unintelligent. An initialism of 'central nervous system – quantity not sufficient'; medical slang UK, 2003 coachman's knob noun an erection of the penis caused by the vibrations whilst travelling on public transport UK, 2003 coal noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1993. ► burn coal; deal in coal (of a white person) to have sex with a black person US, 1922 coal and coke; coals and coke adjective penniless. Rhyming slang for BROKE UK, 1937 coal candy noun hard black licorice US, 1997 coal cracker noun a resident of the anthracite coal region of northeastern Pennsylvania US, 1997 coalface noun ► at the coalface used to signify the place where actual work is done (as opposed to management or administration). A figurative use of the mining reality UK, 1995 coal hole noun 1 a coal mine, especially a closed mine US, 1997. 2 the anus UK, 2003

coalie noun a wharf labourer who loads and unloads coal AUSTRALIA, 1882

coalman's sack adjective very dirty. Rhyming slang for 'black' UK, 1992 coalminer's breakfast noun a shot of whisky served in a glass of beer US, 1990 coal oil noun kerosene US, 1980

Coaly noun the devil US, 1950

Coast noun ► the Coast 1 the west coast of the US US, 1930. 2 the northwest coast of Tasmania AUSTRALIA, 1987 coast verb 1 to idle; to relax US, 1981. 2 to relax and experience the effects of a drug US, 1969 coaster noun someone who lives near the beach; a surfer US, 1982

Coastie; Coasty noun a member of the US Coast Guard; a Coast Guard ship US, 1970

coasting adjective drug-intoxicated to a pleasant degree US, 1936 coast-to-coast noun a powerful amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant. Purportedly strong enough to keep a truck driver awake long enough to drive the 3000 miles from coast to coast US, 1969 coat noun ► on the coat ostracised. Tugging on the lapel of the coat was used as a signal to be silent by criminals AUSTRALIA, 1940 coat verb 1 to belittle someone, to defeat someone with words. From the sense 'to reprimand someone' UK, 1997. 2 to reprimand someone, especially of a warder reprimanding a prisoner UK, 1996. 3 to ostracise someone AUSTRALIA, 1973. 4 in tournament pool, to obscure the view of the tournament judge when making a shot, thus jeopardising the point US, 1972 coat and badge noun ► on the coat and badge scrounging; on the cadge. Rhyming slang, from the verb COAT AND BADGE (to cadge) UK, 1960 coat and badge verb to cadge something. Rhyming slang, formed on Doggett's Coat and Badge Race, the oldest annual sporting event in Britain, a boat race from London Bridge to Chelsea, first contested by Thames watermen in 1715 and continuing still UK, 1936 coathanger noun 1 in rugby, a straight-arm, neck-high tackle NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 2 a horizontal branch that needs to be removed from trees destined for timber NEW ZEALAND, 1988

coathanger nickname the Sydney Harbour Bridge AUSTRALIA, 1943 coat of varnish noun a reprimand; a prison sentence. An elaboration of COAT (to reprimand) UK, 1956 coat puller noun someone who tips in return for a favour and in the hope of future favours AUSTRALIA, 1989 coaxer noun in horse racing, a battery-powered device used illegally by a jockey to shock a horse during a race US, 1951 cob noun 1 a mate, a friend. Shortening of COBBER AUSTRALIA, 1960. 2 the penis, literally and in the figurative sense of a disagreeable man US, 1954. 3 the testicle UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1968. 4 prison food, originally and especially bread. From a 'cob loaf' UK, 1996. 5 brown skin BARBADOS, 1998. ► have a cob on; get a cob on to be annoyed, moody or angry; to become annoyed, moody or angry. First recorded as Merchant Navy slang, then Royal Navy before more general usage; possibly northern dialect in origin UK, 1937. ► off the cob overly sentimental. A play on words to achieve 'corny' US, 1935 cobalt bomb noun a nuclear device to enable the use of cobalt in medicine CANADA, 1953

Cobar shower noun 1 a dust storm. Cobar is an inland town in New South Wales. Other locations similarly used by nature, weather and irony: Bourke, Bogan, Bedourie, Darling, Wilcannia and Wimmera AUSTRALIA, 1945. 2 a flower. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1945 cobb noun lung phlegm US, 2003 cobber noun a mate, friend, companion. Perhaps originally the agent noun of the Suffolk dialect cob (to take a liking to a person). The Yiddish chaber (comrade) seems a less likely source. Formerly extremely common but now more well known than actually used AUSTRALIA, 1893 cobber dobber noun a person who informs on a friend, workmate or the like. As appealing as this rhyming couplet seems it never attained great popularity AUSTRALIA, 1966

cobber up verb to become friends with someone AUSTRALIA, 1918 cobbing noun a beating. Listed as 'obsolete' and 'of nautical origin' by the Oxford English Dictionary, this term is still in use in the Canadian Maritime Provinces UK, 1769 cobbler noun a forger of official documents US, 1982 cobblers noun nonsense. From the earlier sense (testicles) UK, 1955.

► load of cobblers; load of old cobblers nonsense; lies. An elaboration, but not necessarily an intensification, of COBBLERS (nonsense) UK, 1968 cobbler's awls; cobbler's stalls; cobblers noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for BALLS (the testicles) UK, 1936 cobblers to you! used for expressing rejection of someone. Originally, a euphemistic application of testicles in a form in which BALLS! and BOLLOCKS! also serve. Now so inoffensive that it has been co-opted by shoe-repairers UK, 1974 cobitis noun a dislike of prison food. A combination of COB (prison food) and the suffix -itis (used to create imaginary medical conditions) UK, 1950

COBOL Charlie noun in computing, a COBOL programmer who can use the language but does not fully understand how it works US, 1990

coby noun morphine US, 1992

coca; coka noun cocaine US, 1986 cocaine-voucher noun a currency note. A contemporary variation on BEER VOUCHERS UK, 2002

cochornis noun marijuana US, 1980

cock noun 1 the penis. Probably from 'cock' (a male bird) UK, 1450. 2 the vagina US, 1867. 3 used as a male-to-male term of address. Decidedly casual UK, 1837. 4 a man who buys more than his share of drinks in a public house or club so as to have company pleasing to him UK, 1977. 5 rubbish, nonsense. From 'poppycock' (nonsense) or 'cock and bull story' (a fictitious narrative) UK, 1937. 6 a man who fights without restraint US, 1964. ► cocks on the block used in various phrases and injunctions to define a display of courage or determination. A macho piece of office jargon that is not gender-specific in use UK, 2005. ► get cock to have sex US, 1972. ► give six inches of hot cock from a male perspective, to have sex. The measurement is flexible UK, 1974

cock verb 1 to have sex US, 1973. 2 to prepare an aircraft for take-off US, 1986. 3 to trick someone; to outsmart someone GUYANA, 1975. ► cock a deaf 'un to pretend not to hear someone; or deliberately not listen to, or ignore someone. A variant, possibly a mishearing, of COP A DEAF 'UN UK, 1973. ► cock ten to sit with your legs crossed as others work GUYANA, 1996

cock! used as an expression of displeasure CANADA, 1993 cockadaw verb to kill someone. On loan from Vietnamese US, 1987 cock-a-doodle-don't noun a condom. Contrived play on cock (the penis) and the feathered variety's crow; possibly informed by DOODLE (the penis) and, less likely, 'doodle' (to make a fool of) UK, 1998 cockaleekie adjective impudent, cheeky. Rhyming slang, formed on a type of soup UK, 1998 cockalize; kokalize verb to thrash someone US, 1947 cock-almighty noun the best. Obsolete euphemism of 'cock' for 'God', hence 'God almighty', with reference to more modern nuances of cock (chief, man, etc.) UK, 1999 cockamamie; cockamamy adjective implausible, not credible. Neither Yiddish nor Hebrew, but born of Jewish immigrants in the US US, 1941 cock and bull story noun a fanciful, exaggerated or outright untrue story US, 1795 cockapoo noun a crossbreed of cocker spaniel and poodle US, 2001 cockatoo noun 1 a person acting as lookout, especially for an illegal activity. Flocks of feeding cockatoos often have one or more birds posted up high as sentries to warn of approaching danger AUSTRALIA, 1827. 2 a small-scale farmer AUSTRALIA, 1845 cockatoo verb to act as a lookout AUSTRALIA, 1954 cockatoo farmer noun a small-scale farmer AUSTRALIA, 1849

cockatooing noun the act or job of being a lookout AUSTRALIA, 1945

Cockbang noun Bangkok, Thailand. Offensive to Thai people. A near-Spoonerism that aptly describes Bangkok's reputation and role as a sex destination US, 1991 cock bite noun an unpleasant person US, 1971 cockblock verb to interfere with someone's intentions to have sex US, 1971 cock book noun a sexually explicit book US, 1968 cock cap noun a condom. Combines cock (the penis) with protective wear UK, 1998 cock cheese noun smegma UK, 1961 cock chokers noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 2003 cock Corpsman noun a military doctor or medic who inspects male recruits for signs of sexually transmitted disease US, 1964 cock custard noun semen UK, 2001 cock-diesel adjective muscular US, 1988 cockeater noun a person who enjoys performing oral sex on men US, 1967 cocked adjective drunk US, 1737 cocked hat noun an informer; an untrustworthy person. Rhyming slang for RAT UK, 1992 cocker noun 1 the penis US, 1967. 2 a man. From the Yiddish kakker; used with a lack of kindness US, 1946. 3 used as a male-to-male form of address UK, 1888. 4 a cockroach AUSTRALIA, 1953 cockernee noun a Cockney; a Londoner. A jocular attempt at Cockney pronunciation; a Cockney is anyone born within the sound of Bow Bells, although world usage has moved the boundaries to include all of a vaguely defined London UK, 1999 cockers-p noun a cocktail party UK, 1983 cockerwitter noun a person from the Woods Harbor and Shag Harbor areas of Shelburne County, Nova Scotia. The name is derived from Cockerwit Passage, the narrow strip of navigable water between Woods Harbour and Soloman, Vigneau, and St John Islands CANADA, 1979 cock eye noun a wink TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 cock-eye Bob; cock-eyed Bob; cocky Bob noun a sudden squall or thunderstorm in northwest Australia. Occasionally shortened to 'cock-eye' AUSTRALIA, 1894 cock-eyed adjective 1 squint-eyed UK, 1821. 2 drunk. First recorded by Benjamin Franklin US, 1737. 3 absurd, ridiculous, topsy-turvy UK, 1896 cock-eyes noun in craps, a three US, 1968 cockfest noun a party with many more males than females in attendance US, 2001 cock-happy adjective over-confident UK, 1959 cock hound noun a man obsessed with sex US, 1947 cockie noun the penis. An elaboration of COCK UK, 2001 ► see: COCKY cockiness noun a personal quality of smug over-confidence UK, 1864

cocking stocking noun a condom UK, 1998 cock it on; cock on verb to exaggerate; to overcharge someone. The supplement to the 5th edition of Partridge's Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English records this term as occurring since about 1910 and in virtual disuse by 1960 UK, 1961 cock it up verb 1 to make a complete mess of something UK, 1979. 2 (of a woman) to offer yourself sexually AUSTRALIA, 1961 cock jacket noun a reputation for sexual prowess US, 1984 cock-jockey noun a man who thinks that sex is more important than anything else and that his contribution is paramount UK, 2002 cock jocks noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 2003

cock-knocker noun a despised person US, 1959 cockle and hen noun ten shillings; ten pounds; in betting, odds of 10–1; in prison, a ten year sentence; in Bingo (also House and Tombola), the number ten. Rhyming slang; usually as 'cockle', which is a slovening of 'cockerel'. Other variants include 'cockle', 'cock and hen', 'cocks and 'en' and 'cockun' UK, 1960 cockleburr noun any central nervous system stimulant US, 1976 cockle to a penny noun in gambling, odds of 10–1. Rhyming slang, combining COCKLE AND HEN (ten) and PENNY BUN (one); mainly in racecourse use UK, 1884 cock linnet noun a minute. Rhyming slang, formed on the singing bird that is a familiar symbol of Cockney mythology UK, 1909 cock, lock and rock verb to prepare for and go into armed conflict. A variation of 'lock and load' UK, 2001 cock loft noun the observation tower of a brakevan (caboose) US, 1946 cockmaster noun a male proud of his sexual prowess US, 1951 cockmeat noun the penis, specifically or as a generality US, 1995 cock movie noun a pornographic film US, 1967 cock off! go away! UK, 2003 cock of the walk noun an important man in any given circumstance. A fighting cock allows no other into its enclosure or 'walk' UK, 1855 cockpit noun 1 the vagina UK, 1891. 2 the clitoris US, 1982 cockpit queen noun a flight attendant who is more interested in the men flying the plane than doing her job with the passengers US, 2002

cockrag noun a loincloth AUSTRALIA, 1964 cock ring noun a device worn on the penis to enhance sexual performance US, 1977 cockroach noun 1 a white person TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. 2 a motor coach. Rhyming slang UK, 1960. 3 a racing greyhound that never wins AUSTRALIA, 1989 cockroach verb to steal something. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 cockroach bite noun any lip sore TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1996

cockroach killers noun pointed shoes or boots US, 1970 cock robin noun the penis UK, 1977 cock rock noun aggressively macho heavy rock music performed with pelvic-thrusting posturing. Combines cock (the penis) and 'rock' US, 1992 cock rocker noun a performer of cock rock UK, 2000 cock rot noun an unspecified sexually transmitted disease US, 1990

cocksmán noun 1 a man who prides himself on his sexual prowess US, 1896. 2 a male prostitute US, 1970 cocksmith noun a sexually expert man US, 1959 cock-sparrow adjective mad. Rhyming slang for YARRA (mad, stupid) AUSTRALIA, 1973

cockstand; stand noun an erection UK, 1866 cocksuck noun an act of oral sex on a man US, 1940

cocksuck verb to perform oral sex on a man US, 1977

cocksucker noun 1 used as a generalised term of abuse for a despicable person US, 1918. 2 a person who performs oral sex on a man, especially a male homosexual. The most well-known use of the term in the US is in a statement attributed to former President Richard Nixon, who upon learning of the death of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover on 2nd May 1972, is reported to have said 'Jesus Christ! That old cocksucker!'. Nixon was reflecting the widespread belief that Hoover was homosexual UK, 1891. 3 a person who performs oral sex on a woman US, 1942. 4 during the Vietnam war, a leech. Especially the huge, reddish-black, slimy leeches of the Mekong Delta US, 1991. ► third assistant cocksucker at a Mongolian clusterfuck a lowly assistant US, 1977 cocksucker red adjective a bright red shade of lipstick. Not a brand name. Garish and conveying a low-life, whorish image US, 1982 cocksucker's teeth noun used as the epitome of uselessness US, 1972 cocksucking noun oral sex performed on a man UK, 1895 cocksucking adjective despicable, loathsome US, 1902 cocktail noun 1 a marijuana cigarette, partially smoked and inserted into a regular cigarette US, 1966. 2 cocaine UK, 2003. 3 any mixture of drugs CANADA, 2002 cocktail verb to insert a partially smoked marijuana cigarette into a tobacco cigarette US, 1960

cocktailery noun a cocktail lounge US, 1981 cocktail hour noun the time when all patients in a hospital ward are given medication US, 1946 cocktail party noun the use of Molotov cocktails US, 1979 cock tax noun spousal support; alimony AUSTRALIA, 1964

cocktease noun a cockteaser US, 1981 cocktease verb to tempt a man with the suggestion of sex UK, 1957 cockteaser noun a sexually attractive woman who flaunts her sexuality UK, 1891

cock-up noun an error, a mistake. A number of etymologies have been suggested, among them: bookkeeping amendments written at a tilt, and the 'cock' (spigot) of ale-barrels; while it is possible that the origins lurk in such innocence it is certain that modern usage is influenced by 'fuck-up', 'balls-up', etc., which presumes 'cock' is a 'penis' UK, 1948. ► couldn't organise a cock-up in a brothel used of an inefficient person. A later variation of COULDN'T ORGANISE A FUCK IN A BROTHEL with a neat pun on COCK-UP (an error) and COCK (the penis) UK, 2001 cock up verb to make a mess of something; to make a mistake. Military in origin UK, 1974 cockwood noun firewood stolen from work. Coalminers' use UK, 1984 cocky adjective over-confident; smug; arrogant. From the strutting nature of the rooster UK, 1768 cocky; cockie noun 1 a cockroach AUSTRALIA, 1984. 2 a cockatoo. Occasionally used loosely of other parrots. Frequently as a name for a pet cockatoo AUSTRALIA, 1834. 3 a sheep which has lost some of its wool AUSTRALIA, 1959. 4 a small-scale farmer. Often preceded by the crop or livestock farmed, such as COW COCKY and SPUD COCKY AUSTRALIA, 1871. 5 used as a term of endearment; hence as a more general form of address UK, 1687. ► like cocky on the biscuit tin left out; on the outside looking in. Referring to Arnott's™ biscuits which have since at least 1910 had a logo of a parrot eating a biscuit adorning their biscuit tins AUSTRALIA, 1970. ► like the bottom of a cocky's cage (of the mouth or tongue) in a disgusting state from being hungover AUSTRALIA, 1986

cocky dickie noun an over-confident individual UK, 2003 cocky's crow noun dawn. Extended from a conventional 'cock's crow', playing on COCKY (a small-scale farmer) AUSTRALIA, 1945

cocky's joy noun 1 golden syrup or treacle AUSTRALIA, 1902. 2 rum AUSTRALIA, 1953

cocky's string noun fencing wire, especially number eight fencing wire. From COCKY (a small-scale farmer) NEW ZEALAND, 1998

co-co noun cocaine US, 1997 cocoa noun semen. In the phrase 'come your cocoa' UK, 1984.

► come cocoa to make a complete confession of guilt UK, 1977 cocoa puff noun a combination of marijuana and cocaine UK, 2003 cocoa puff verb to smoke cocaine mixed with marijuana. Punning on a branded breakfast cereal UK, 1998 cocobay on top of yaws noun more trouble than you can handle GUYANA, 1996

cocolo noun the penis TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

coconut noun 1 a Mexican-American who rejects his heritage and seeks to blend in with the white majority. Like a coconut, brown on the outside but white on the inside US, 1974. 2 a black or Indian person who is considered to have exchanged heritage and community values for acceptance by white society. A coconut is brown on the outside, white on the inside UK, 1981. 3 an Australian Aboriginal who has adopted the values of white society AUSTRALIA, 1980. 4 a Pacific Islander NEW ZEALAND, 1964. 5 a clod, a dolt US, 1965. 6 cocaine US, 1994 coconuts noun 1 cocaine US, 1952. 2 money US, 1981 coconut tackle noun in rugby, a head-high tackle NEW ZEALAND, 1998

coconut telegraph noun the informal way in which news travels in the Caribbean US, 1989 cocoon verb to stay at home enjoying sedentary activities US, 1987

coco rocks; cocoa rocks noun crack cocaine combined in its production with a chocolate-flavoured milk powder UK, 2003

Coco the Clown noun cocaine. A disguise for co-co; formed from the professional name (sometimes 'CoCo') of Latvian-born Nicolai Polakovs, 1900–74, who, for forty years from 1930, worked for Bertram Mills' Circus and became the best-known clown in the UK; subsequently the name has become almost a generic for any clown UK, 2002

COD noun the product a male prostitute sells – cock on demand UK, 1987 cod verb to hoax someone, to fool someone UK, 1864 cod adjective 1 mock, parodic, ersatz. Originally theatrical; usually in combination with the term that is being qualified UK, 2000. 2 bad. Variants include 'codalina', 'codette' and 'codettareenaronnee' UK, 1968 cod and hake; cod noun the penis. Rhyming slang for TROUSER SNAKE UK, 2003

coddy noun ► see: LUCODDY coddy; cody adjective bad, amateurish. An elaboration of COD UK, 1993 code brown noun used as a vaguely humorous notification that a hospital patient has defecated. An allusion to the colour code jargon heard in hospitals US, 1989 code R noun rape. Prison slang NEW ZEALAND, 1999

code red noun in the military, punishment meted out by a group to soldiers to a non-conforming peer US, 1992

code two noun an escape from prison CANADA, 1976

codfish flats noun a poor section of town US, 1969 codger noun a pleasantly eccentric old man. Often found as 'old codger' UK, 1756 codi noun a codeine tablet UK, 1968

codjocks noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 2003 cod ogle noun a contact lens UK, 1992 codology noun nonsense IRELAND, 1997

cod-riah noun a wig UK, 1992 cods noun 1 the testicles UK, 1632. 2 courage, daring. Synonymous with BALLS US, 1972. 3 a mess, a state of confusion. Possibly rhyming slang for 'cod and skate', STATE UK, 1994

cod's roe noun money. Rhyming slang for DOUGH UK, 1998

codswallop; cods noun nonsense UK, 1963

Cod War noun 1 the political friction in the early to mid-1970s between Britain and Iceland, especially between the British and Icelandic fishing fleets and fishermen, over the fishing rights off Iceland. A journalists' term that allowed the consequent pun: 'Cod peace' UK, 1970s. 2 a female prisoner US, 1949 coeeey noun a rat. English gypsy use UK, 2000

coey noun a thing; any object UK, 1979

C of E; church boys noun HM Customs & Excise. A play on the initial similarity to the Church of England UK, 2000 coffee noun LSD. A euphemism created in Boston, alluding to the fact that LSD was often sold in Cambridge coffee houses US, 1967 coffee-and noun a light meal US, 1901 coffee-and adjective small-time, insignificant US, 1937 coffee-and-cakes noun a small salary US, 1925 coffee and tea; coffee noun the sea. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 coffee grinder noun 1 in oil drilling, a worn-out rig US, 1954. 2 a sexual dancer who makes grinding motions with her pelvis US, 1960 coffeehouse verb in poker, to try to deceive your opponents by idle speech and deliberate mannerisms US, 1949 coffeemate noun any central nervous system stimulant. Punning on a non-dairy coffee cream-substitute US, 1976 coffee pot noun a restaurant US, 1928 coffee shop noun a café-style business open for the smoking, or other consumption, of marijuana in its various forms. Originally in Amsterdam NETHERLANDS, 2003 coffee stalls noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for BALLS; not as popular as ORCHESTRA STALLS UK, 1961 coffin noun 1 a surfing manoeuvre in which the surfer lines prone on the board, his arms crossed over his chest AUSTRALIA, 1963. 2 in skateboarding, a manoeuvre in which the rider lies completely horizontally on the board, feet first US, 1964. 3 the canvas bag used to carry cricket equipment NEW ZEALAND, 1993. 4 a case housing weapons US, 1978. 5 a safe within a safe US, 1949. 6 in poker, the smallest possible raise in a game with a limited number of raises permitted US, 1967 coffin box noun in trucking, a sleeping compartment added onto a conventional cab US, 1971 coffin corner noun in battle, a vulnerable position US, 1995 coffin-dodger noun an old or elderly person, especially if infirm. UK medical slang UK, 1998 coffin hoist noun in electric line work, any type of chain hoist US, 1980 coffin lid noun a child. Rhyming slang for KID UK, 2000 coffin nail noun a cigarette. From the link between smoking cigarettes and death. In the C19, it referred to 'a cigar' US, 1900 coffin spike noun a cigar US, 1973 coffin tank noun a motorcycle petrol tank shaped like a coffin US, 1970s cog verb to copy from another's work TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

cogger noun a Catholic UK, 1966

Coggy adjective Catholic, especially Roman Catholic UK, 2002

cogs noun sunglasses US, 1945 cog-stripper noun in trucking, a driver who has problems shifting gears US, 1971 cohngas noun the testicles, literally and figuratively as a measure of courage. An intentional butchering of the Spanish cojones US, 1992 coin noun money UK, 1820 coin verb to earn an amount of money US, 1946 coin it; coin it in verb to make money, especially easily or quickly. From the earlier 'coin money' UK, 1984 coinkidink noun a coincidence. Multiple creative spellings are to be found US, 1979 coin-op noun a coin-operated pool table US, 1990

COIO noun a Canadian whose origins are in India CANADA, 2002

cojones noun the testicles; courage. From Spanish US, 1932 coke noun 1 cocaine US, 1903. 2 crack cocaine. From the previous sense UK, 2000 coke bar; coke joint noun a bar, club or pub where cocaine or crack cocaine is used openly 2002 coke biscuit noun a pill of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Presumably marketed, illegally, under this name to tempt custom with a partial (in fact, non-existent) content of cocaine or, perhaps, Coca-Cola UK, 2002

Coke bomb noun a crude hand grenade fashioned by the Viet Cong, packed inside a drinks can US, 1990

cokebottle noun in computing, any character that is not found on a normal computer keyboard US, 1983

Coke bottle glasses noun spectacles with very thick lenses US, 1986

Coke bottles noun a person with poor eyesight and thick glasses US, 1997 coke bugs noun a cocaine-induced conviction that insects or snakes are crawling beneath the skin 2002 coke burger a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. The name leads to unrealistic hopes that the tablet may contain a trace of cocaine UK, 2002

coked; coked out; coked up adjective cocaine-intoxicated US, 1924

cokehead noun a cocaine addict US, 1922 coke house noun a building or dwelling where cocaine is sold US, 1989 coke jumbie noun a cocaine user or addict TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1989

coke out verb to use cocaine to an excess US, 1995 coke, smoke, and a puke noun a fighter pilot's breakfast US, 1986 coke whore noun a person who trades sex for cocaine US, 1992

Cokey Stokey nickname Stoke Newington in north London. A rhyme based on 'Hokey Cokey' (a dance), combining the first element of Stoke Newington and COKE (cocaine), from the reputation of the area as a centre for drugs and other criminal endeavours UK, 2002

cokie noun 1 a frequent user of cocaine US, 1916. 2 a junior member of a youth gang US, 1949

Cokomo Joe; Kokomo Joe; kokomo noun a cocaine user US, 1938 cola noun 1 cocaine. Playing off the popular soft drink US, 1992. 2 a marijuana bud or buds, especially the long top bud on a marijuana plant. From Spanish cola (a tail) UK, 2004 cold noun ► too slow to catch a cold applied to someone or something that moves slowly, or someone whose thought processes are sluggish UK, 1917 cold adjective 1 heartless, cruel UK, 1849. 2 bad US, 1934. 3 absolute US, 1973. 4 not capable of being traced to an owner. Back-formed from HOT (stolen) US, 1992. 5 innocent of charges under which someone was convicted. Prison usage AUSTRALIA, 1944. 6 in gambling, unlucky US, 1997. 7 without preparation; in ignorance. Generally used quasi-adverbially US, 1896. 8 used as a substitute for 'cool' in any of its senses US, 1968. 9 (used of a take-off from an aircraft carrier) failed, resulting in a crash US, 1959 cold adverb suddenly, completely US, 1889 cold and hot noun cocaine and heroin combined for injection. Based on the initials US, 1986 cold and hungry noun in trucking, a C & H truck US, 1976 cold as a Bay Street banker's heart adjective very ungenerous, or in metaphor, very cold. This expression is from the Canadian prairies, and refers both to its peoples' resentment of Toronto bankers (Bay is the main banking street) and to the legendary cold winters of Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Alberta CANADA, 1987 cold as a nun's cunt adjective extremely cold AUSTRALIA, 1955 cold as a nun's nasty adjective extremely cold AUSTRALIA, 1971 cold biscuit noun 1 a female who does not respond to sexual overtures US, 1972. 2 a person lacking any apparent sex appeal. High school usage. US, 1961 cold-blooded adjective 1 competent; admirable. Also shortened to 'cold' US, 1992. 2 in horse racing, said of any horse that is not a thoroughbred US, 1960 cold blow noun air conditioning US, 1971 cold bluff noun in poker, a large bet on a poor hand designed to mislead other players US, 1980 cold-bust verb to catch someone in the act; to reveal your own guilt inadvertently US, 1986 cold-call verb to go into a pub hoping to make a sexual contact. Adopted from sales jargon UK, 2002 coldcock verb to hit someone without warning, especially with a blow to the head that knocks the person to the ground US, 1918 cold coffee noun beer US, 1976 cold comfort noun in necrophile usage, sexual activity with a corpse US, 1987 cold crotch noun the application of an ice pack on the scrotum of a man who has overdosed on heroin US, 1993 cold-cunt verb (used of a woman) to treat someone with hostility US, 1982 cold deck noun 1 in card games, a stacked deck of cards US, 1857. 2 logs swept into a stack to be moved after drying. British Columbia logging usage CANADA, 1952 cold dope noun in horse racing, information based on empirical evidence US, 1951 cold draw noun in curling, a rock curled into an open house or into the house without rubbing or knocking out another rock CANADA, 1964 colder than a witch's tit adjective extremely cold; extremely unfriendly AUSTRALIA, 1978 cold feet noun fear or a reluctance to proceed US, 1896 cold finger work noun picking the pocket of a man preoccupied with sex US, 1948 cold fish noun 1 an unfriendly person US, 1924. 2 a standoffish, unwelcoming girl CANADA, 1977 cold-footer noun a cowardly soldier, or someone too cowardly to become a soldier. From having COLD FEET (fear) AUSTRALIA, 1916 cold hole noun during Vietnam, an enemy tunnel that has been verified as empty US, 1991 coldie noun a cold beer AUSTRALIA, 1953

cold in the dong noun gonorrhea US, 1981 cold like dog nose adjective very cold TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

cold meat party noun a funeral or wake US, 1908 cold one noun 1 a cold beer US, 1927. 2 an empty wallet, purse or safe US, 1962 cold pit noun in motor racing, a member of the pit crew who works behind the wall separating the pit from the race track US, 1993 cold-plate verb to attach a legitimate licence plate to a stolen vehicle that matches the description of the vehicle to which the licence plate belongs US, 1993 cold potato noun a waiter, especially a slow or inefficient one. Cockney and theatrical rhyming slang UK, 1960 cold prowl noun an assumed easy house to rob CANADA, 1976 cold-read verb (used of a fortune teller) to tell a fortune without background information on the customer, relying on observations and the customer's answers for the predictions. A term borrowed from acting, where it means 'to read a script out loud without having studied it' US, 1989 cold shake noun a method of preparing pills for injection by crushing and then dissolving them in cold water instead of heating with a flame US, 1989 cold spot noun a glass of iced tea US, 1967 cold storage noun 1 a morgue US, 1949. 2 solitary confinement US, 1949

Coldstream Guards; coldstreams noun playing cards. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of the oldest serving regular regiment in the British Army UK, 1992 cold tea sign noun an irreverent indicator of a geriatric's death in hospital. A blackly humorous medical symptom, glossed as 'when positive, refers to the several cups of cold tea on the bedside cabinet besides a dead geriatric' UK, 2002 cold turkey noun 1 an act of withdrawing from addictive drugs suddenly; the time period of that withdrawal US, 1925. 2 in blackjack, a hand comprised of two face cards US, 1980. 3 in poker, two kings dealt consecutively US, 1988 cold turkey verb to withdraw from a habit or addiction suddenly and without any tapering off US, 1949 cold turkey adjective (used of an attempt to break a drug addiction) sudden and complete without narcotics or medication to ease the withdrawal symptoms US, 1953 cold turkey adverb (used of an attempt to break a drug addiction) suddenly and completely without narcotics or medication to ease the withdrawal symptoms US, 1922 cold weather indicators noun a woman's nipples US, 2001 colgate noun any toothpaste TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

coli noun marijuana. A shortening, perhaps, of BROCCOLI (marijuana) or COLIFLOR TOSTAO (marijuana) US, 1978

colifor tostao noun marijuana. A 'toasted cauliflower' in unconventional Spanish US, 1973 colin noun an erection UK, 2002 coliseum curtains noun the foreskin UK, 2002 collabo noun an artistic collaboration. A hip-hop term UK, 2003 collar noun 1 an arrest US, 1871. 2 a police officer US, 1973. 3 hard, laborious work. English gypsy use; shortened from conventional 'collar-work.' UK, 2000. 4 an improvised seal between a dropper and needle used to inject drugs US, 1960. 5 the steering column of a car US, 2000. ► finger a collar to make an arrest. Police slang; a variation of 'feel your collar' UK, 1999. ► have your collar felt; have your collar touched to be arrested or stopped by the police. The active verb COLLAR (to seize, to arrest) dates from the early C17. In those and other gentler times officers of the law would, reputedly, touch their suspect on the collar or shoulder to signify capture UK, 1949 collar verb 1 to grab someone by the collar, literally or figuratively, to arrest someone UK, 1613. 2 to appropriate something; to steal something UK, 1700. 3 to understand something, to grasp something US, 1938. 4 in horse racing, to run neck and neck US, 1951. 5 (from a male perspective) to have sex. A shortening of HOP INTO THE HORSECOLLAR AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► collar a hot to eat a meal US, 1947. ► collar the jive to understand what is being said US, 1947 collar and cuff noun a homosexual male. Rhyming slang for PUFF UK, 1934 collars and cuffs noun ► matching collars and cuffs; collars and cuffs that match applied to a person, usually a woman, whose hair is neither bleached nor dyed. A jocular suggestion that the hair on the head is of the same natural shade as the pubic hair US, 1984

collars-for-dollars noun a situation in which an arresting officer trades the criminal's release for a share of the proceeds of the crime US, 2001 collats noun money. Abbreviated and adapted into predominantly black usage from 'collateral' (a pledge of equal value) UK, 2000 collect noun a win at gambling AUSTRALIA, 1966 collect verb 1 to call for a person and proceed with him or her UK, 1937. 2 to win at gambling; to take your winnings AUSTRALIA, 1982 collect call noun a citizens' band radio message for a specific named person US, 1976 collection box noun the vagina BAHAMAS, 1982 college noun jail UK, 1699

college classique noun in Quebec, a specialised, college-preparatory school. These Catholic schools, absorbed into the state system of junior colleges, are still known by their French name, even among anglophones CANADA, 1963

College Eye noun a Lockheed EC-121 Warning Star aircraft. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 college hill noun a well-off section of town US, 1970

College Joe noun a quintessential college student US, 1961 college try noun a sincere effort, despite the likelihood of failure. Especially common as 'the old college try' US, 1918 college widow noun a woman who lives in or near a college town and dates men from the college year after year US, 1900 collie noun marijuana. From KALI JAMAICA, 1970

Collie; Colly nickname Colchester; hence the Military Corrective Establishment at Colchester; detention therein. Military use UK, 1974 collie dog noun a man; implying that to some degree the person is a fool or a victim. Glasgow rhyming slang for MUG, formed from the local pronunciation of 'collie dog' UK-SCOTLAND, 2002

Collie Knox noun the pox. Rhyming slang, noted by Red Daniells, 1980 UK, 1980

collie man noun a marijuana dealer JAMAICA, 1977

colly noun 1 an erection. Derives from earlier rhyming slang, 'colleen bawn' for HORN; formed on the name of the heroine of The Lily of Killarney, an 1862 opera by Julius Benedict UK, 1960. 2 cauliflower. Also variant 'cauli' UK, 1961 collywobbles noun an unsettled condition of the stomach. Derives from the conventional senses of 'colic' and 'wobble' UK, 1823

Colney Hatch; colney noun a match. Rhyming slang, formed on the one time lunatic asylum in north London UK, 1960

Colombian noun extremely potent marijuana from Colombia US, 1971

Colombian gold noun marijuana from Colombia, yellow in colour US, 1976

Colombian marching powder noun cocaine US, 1992

Colombian necklace noun a form of execution intended to set an example in which the victim's throat is slit. Probably formed after the more elaborate COLOMBIAN NECKTIE US, 1995

Colombian necktie noun a form of execution intended to set an example in which the victim's throat is slit and the tongue pulled down through the gaping wound. From a well-dressed image in which the tongue replaces a tie. A COLOMBIAN NECKLACE is less elaborate US, 1997

Colombian red noun marijuana from Colombia, reddish in colour US, 1976

Colonel Blimp noun 1 a shrimp (seafood). Rhyming slang, inspired by the following sense UK, 1992. 2 a very conservative, reactionary man. Often shortened to 'blimp'. From the cartoon character invented by British cartoonist David Low, 1891–1963, and brought to life by Welsh actor Roger Livesey, 1906–76, in the film The Life and Death of Colonel Blimp, 1943 UK, 1934

Colonel Gadaffi; colonel noun a café. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of the Libyan leader Colonel Muammar al-Qaddafi (b.1942) UK, 2002

Colonel Klink noun any high-ranking prison officer. A reference to Hogan's Heroes, a popular television comedy of the late 1960s US, 2002

Colonel Prescott; colonel noun a waistcoat. Rhyming slang, thought to date from the 1930s UK, 1992

Colonel Sanders noun a mature male homosexual who is especially attracted to boys or young men. An allusion to the founder of the Kentucky Fried Chicken™ franchise US, 1979 color noun 1 in roller derby, any type of theatrics that would make the skater stand out to fans US, 1999. 2 money US, 1950. 3 in a casino, any betting token worth more than one dollar US, 1977 color verb ► color it dos make that a double US, 1997 colorado noun 1 cocaine. 2003. 2 a red barbiturate capsule, especially if branded Seconal™. From Spanish colorado (the colour red). Often abbreviated to 'colie' US, 1971

Colorado cocktail noun marijuana UK, 1998

Colorado Kool Aid noun Coors™ beer. Brewed in Colorado, and for several decades not marketed nationally US, 1972 colored people's time noun used for denoting a lack of punctuality. One of the very few instances in which the former ameliorative 'colored people' is still used in the US US, 1967 colored showers noun a sexual fetish involving urination on your partner US, 1993 colored town noun a neighbourhood with a large population of black people US, 1964 color for color adverb in American casinos, the method of paying bets – one denomination at a time US, 1980 color me verb used ironically in conjunction with an adjective for describing a personal condition US, 1962 colors noun 1 insignia that identify group membership, especially in motorcycle gangs US, 1966. 2 the coloured clothing worn as a signal of gang affiliation US, 1989 color-struck adjective overly conscious of skin colour US, 1965 color up verb in casino gambling, to trade chips of one denomination for chips of a higher denomination US, 1991 colour noun an Aboriginal Australian AUSTRALIA, 1995

colourful adjective (of language) robust and lively, some may say offensive UK, 1957 colour of his eyes noun the size of the penis. Rhyming slang for 'size' UK, 2002

Columbia clutch noun an overdrive gear US, 1960

Columbian noun marijuana. A misspelling of COLOMBIAN, also seen as 'Columbian red', 'Columbian gold', etc US, 1971

Columbus black noun marijuana claimed to originate in Columbus, Ohio US, 1982

Columbus Circles noun dark circles beneath an actor's eyes US, 1952

com noun a safe or vault's combination US, 1949 combat fishing noun sport fishing at a crowded fishing spot US, 1993 combat-happy adjective deranged by the horrors of combat US, 1962 combat jack noun an act of masturbation by a combat soldier to relieve the tension or boredom of combat US, 2003 combat professor noun in Vietnam, an American military advisor. Faint praise US, 1991 combats noun fashionable trousers with a military design. An abbreviation of 'combat trousers', 2000

Combat Zone nickname an unsavoury area in downtown Boston, dominated by sex shops, bars and drug dealers US, 1971 comber noun a large wave that breaks on a reef or a beach US, 1977 combine harvester noun a class 9 goods locomotive UK, 1970 combo noun 1 a combination of anything physical or abstract US, 1921. 2 a white man who cohabits with an Aboriginal woman. A term of derision. From 'combination', as they combine black and white AUSTRALIA, 1896. 3 a small jazz band US, 1924. 4 in pool, a combination shot, or one in which the cue ball is shot into a numbered ball that then hits the object ball US, 1990. 5 a combination lock UK, 1996. ► go combo of a white man, to live with an Aboriginal woman AUSTRALIA, 1896 combol noun cocaine UK, 2003 comb-over noun a male hairstyle in which a few long strands grown on one side of the head are contrived to cover a bald pate UK, 1980 combusse noun a married man's lover. She 'comes bust up the marriage' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

come verb 1 to experience an orgasm UK, 1600. 2 to yield to bribery or persuasion UK, 1970. 3 to behave in a specified way, as in 'Don't come the innocent with me' UK, 1837. ► come a cropper to fall heavily; to be the victim of an accident. From hunting jargon, 'a cropper' (a fall) UK, 1999. ► come a tumble to detect something, to fathom something, to understand something. Rhyming slang for RUMBLE UK, 1992. ► come big (of a bettor in horse racing) to bet more than usual on a race AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► come down like trained pigs in horse racing, to finish a race exactly as predicted US, 1951. ► come from to emanate from; to expose the philosophical basis for a statement or action. Another vague term of the 1960s US, 1978. ► come high or come low 1 no matter what TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► come home (of the effects of LSD) to dwindle, diminish and vanish US, 1997. ► come home early in horse racing, to establish and hold an early lead to win a race US, 1951. ► come hot in a confidence swindle, to complete the swindle while the victim immediately understands to have been a swindle US, 1985. ► come like salt to be in great abundance TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► come over all peculiar to feel suddenly physically indisposed or emotionally upset. A later variant of COME OVER ALL QUEER, avoiding the ambiguous and politically incorrect QUEER (unwell/homosexual) UK, 2003. ► come over all queer to feel suddenly physically indisposed or emotionally upset UK, 1937. ► come over all unnecessary; go all unnecessary to become sexually excited UK, 1984. ► come sick to experience the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1948. ► come the acid; come the old acid; come the old acid drop to be heavily sarcastic or especially impudent. From ACID (sarcasm) UK, 1962. ► come the bludge on to sponge upon someone. From BLUDGE (to cadge) AUSTRALIA, 1958. ► come the cunt; come the old cunt to be particularly obstreperous or unpleasant. From CUNT (an unpleasant or despicable person) UK, 1984. ► come the old soldier 1 to wheedle, to impose on someone. Of military origin UK, 1818. 2 to hector someone, to domineer someone, by virtue of supposed greater knowledge. Deriving from the likely behaviour of the longest-serving soldier in the barracks UK, 1984. ► come the raw prawn 1 to try to deceive someone or impose upon them. A raw prawn is hard to swallow AUSTRALIA, 1942. 2 to behave in a recalcitrant manner. Heard among Irish labourers UK, 1979. ► come the tin man to bluff; to make yourself a nuisance UK, 1962. ► come the tin soldier; come the old tin soldier to be impertinent or obstructive. An elaboration and slight shift in sense from COME THE OLD SOLDIER UK, 1977. ► come to grief 1 to get into serious trouble; to fail UK, 1850. 2 to take a tumble; to have a fall. Usually found in sporting contexts UK, 1854. ► come your lot to experience an orgasm. An elaboration of COME UK, 1954. ► come your mutton (of a male) to masturbate UK, 1961. ► come your turkey (of a male) to masturbate UK, 1961 come; cum noun 1 semen US, 1923. 2 an orgasm. From the verb sense (to experience an orgasm) US, 1967 ► see: COME AND GO come across verb 1 (generally of a woman) to take part in sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1967. 2 to have sex as the result of persuasive insistence US, 1921. 3 to agree to become an informer US, 1973. 4 to give the appearance of having a specified characteristic UK, 2002 come again? please repeat or restate what you just said US, 1970 come-along; cum-along noun a wire grip used for holding wire or conductor under strain US, 1944 come and go; come noun snow. Rhyming slang, extending from the verb form 'coming and going' (snowing) UK, 1992 comeback noun 1 a return to a formerly successful status US, 1908. 2 a repercussion; repercussions UK, 1894. 3 revenge US, 1964. 4 a return call on a citizens' band radio US, 1976. 5 a boomerang AUSTRALIA, 1878. 6 an adulterant used to dilute crack cocaine. A chemical that when baked looks, smells, and tastes like CRACK US, 1989 come back verb 1 to reply US, 1896. 2 to reply to a citizens' band radio broadcast US, 1976. 3 to retract something, to take something back, especially to apologetically cancel a previous remark AUSTRALIA, 1957 comeback kid noun a thief who breaks into a hotel room where he has previously stayed, using a key he failed to return US, 1954 come-back money noun in horse racing, money from off-track betting operations that is wired to a race track just before a race US, 1951 come chugger noun a person who performs oral sex on men US, 1999 come clean verb to tell the truth, to confess US, 1919 come day, go day; come day, go day, God send Sunday adjective laid back, unruffled US, 1918 comedown noun 1 a person, thing or event that dampens your spirits or depresses you US, 1952. 2 a period during which the diminishing sensations of a drug are felt UK, 1984 come down verb 1 to experience the easing of drug intoxication US, 1959. 2 to arrive in prison US, 1972. 3 (of a river) to flood; to be inundated. Many Australian rivers are mostly dry for a large part of the year and then fill, often quite suddenly, during the wet season AUSTRALIA, 1868 come down! in the sport of archery, used as an imperative to instruct a pupil to refrain from completing a shot UK, 1988 come dumpster; cum dumpster noun a promiscuous female US, 2001 come freak; cum freak noun a person who is obsessed with sex US, 1966 come-fuck-me adjective sexually alluring. An embellished FUCK-ME US, 1986 come gum; cum gum noun chewing gum with a liquid centre US, 1985 come-here noun a person originally from outside a community US, 1985 come-hither look noun a flirtatious and inviting glance UK, 1961 come-in noun in a circus, the hour period before the performance, during which patrons are allowed to enter the big top US, 1980 come in, Berlin used as a humorous request that someone joins a conversation. Often said with a melodramatic flourish, mimicking a military communication US, 1978 come in if you're pretty used in response to a knock on a dressing room door. Theatrical camp; certainly in use since the mid-1980s UK, 1985 come in spinner! 1 in the gambling game two-up, used as a call signalling that all bets are laid and it is time to spin the coins AUSTRALIA, 1943. 2 begin!, commence! AUSTRALIA, 1957 come it verb 1 to behave impudently UK, SCOTLAND, 1934. 2 to wheedle, to impose on someone. Of military origins; a variation of COME THE OLD SOLDIER UK, 1925 come-off noun an event or result US, 1887 come off verb 1 to happen, especially to happen successfully UK, 1864. 2 to orgasm. A variation of COME UK, 1937. 3 to give the appearance of whatever characteristic is specified US, 2003 come off it! don't exaggerate!; don't keep trying to fool me! Elaborated from the earlier US usage: 'come off!' and phrases like 'come off your perch!' and 'come off the 'grass!' UK, 1912 come-on noun 1 a challenge to fight, often unspoken UK, 1971. 2 an invitation, especially unspoken and especially sexual US, 1942. 3 an inducement UK, 2001 come on verb 1 to demonstrate sexual interest US, 1959. 2 to commence the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Euphemistic UK, 1984. 3 (of drugs) to start having an effect US, 1946. 4 to give the appearance of whatever characteristic is specified. Originally used in jazz circles but exemplified here as a song title and lyric by melodic heavy metal band Pretty Maids UK, 1942 come on snake, let's rattle! let's dance! Teen slang US, 1958 come on worm, let's wiggle let's dance US, 1954 come out verb 1 to declare your homosexuality openly or publicly US, 1941. 2 to declare or admit to a personal fact UK, 2000. 3 to leave college or high school amateur athletics and sign a contract to play professionally US, 1990. 4 to leave the bush to return to an urban or settled area CANADA, 1951. ► come out of the closet to declare your homosexuality openly or publicly US, 1971 come outside!; outside! used as a challenge to fight. A shortening of any number of variations on 'Come outside and fight!' UK, 1984

comer noun a promising prospect US, 1879

- come scab noun a dried-on patch of semen on skin UK, 2002
- come shot; cum shot noun a scene in a pornographic film or a photograph of a man ejaculating US, 1972
- come the revolution at some unknown point in the future everything will change for the better, used as a catchphrase response to an unanswerable complaint, or as a vague, unmeant threat of revenge US, 1987
- come the revolution you'll be first against the wall used in complaint against any figure of authority UK, 1997
- come-through noun in a big store confidence swindle, the stage when the victim learns that he has been swindled and goes after the swindlers US, 1997
- come-to-bed-eyes noun male or female eyes that offer a glimpse of sexual promise, allegedly UK, 1982
- come to that! in point of fact!; since you mention it! UK, 1923
- come undone verb in a literal and figurative sense: to fall to pieces; also, to meet with difficulties or disaster UK, 1937
- come unstuck verb in a literal and figurative sense: to fall pieces; also, to meet with difficulties or disaster. Earlier variations are 'come unput' and COME UNDONE. All have the sense 'to fall apart' UK, 1928
- come-up noun a robbery US, 2003
- come up verb 1 (of drugs) to start having an effect. A variation of the earlier COME ON UK, 1936. 2 to grow up; to be raised US, 1990. 3 of a racehorse (that has been bet on), to win UK, 1937. ► come up trumps to succeed; to turn out well. An image of card playing UK, 2001
- come up on verb to have a win on a lottery, or football pool, or the like UK, 1984
- comfort lady noun a prostitute US, 2000
- comfy adjective comfortable UK, 1829
- comfy wing noun in prison, the enhanced wing for prisoners who have earned the privilege of greater comfort. From COMFY (comfortable) UK, 2000
- comical adjective used as a humorous synonym for 'chemical' US, 1968
- comical Chris noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for PISS UK, 1980
- comic book noun a truck driver's daily log book. A reflection of the degree of attention given to the log book by some drivers US, 1976
- comic cuts noun the guts. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1945
- comics *noun 1 the testicles. A shortening of 'comic cuts' rhyming slang for NUTS UK, 1992. 2 topographical maps. Cynical Vietnam war usage US, 1991. 3 weekly motorcycle newspapers and magazines UK, 1979. ► read too many comics to confuse dreams with reality *UK, 2005
- comic strip noun a person with many tattoos US, 1997
- coming down!; coming through! used as a warning by a surfer to other surfers that he is starting a ride on a wave US, 1991
- coming out party noun discharge from prison US, 1983
- comings noun semen. From COME (to orgasm) UK, 1961
- comm noun a commission AUSTRALIA, 1989
- commando noun a person with rough sexual tastes US, 1964
- commando adjective ► go commando to wear no underwear. Commandos are always ready for action US, 2001
- commercial noun 1 a male homosexual prostitute US, 1949. 2 a sex scene in a pornographic film. An intentionally misleading term which makes a public discussion about the production of pornography possible without offending those nearby US, 1995
- commercial highway engineer noun a truck driver. A humorous glamorisation of the job US, 1971
- commercial traveller noun 1 a ram that escapes its paddock NEW ZEALAND, 2002. 2 a person with bags under his eyes. From a music-hall joke current in the 1930s UK, 1961
- commie noun 1 a Communist, literally or approximately US, 1939. 2 a computer UK, 1996
- commish noun 1 a commission, a percentage on sales US, 1862. 2 a Commissioner US, 1910
- commo noun 1 a Communist AUSTRALIA, 1946. 2 a military radio; communications US, 1964. 3 purchases from a prison shop US, 1992
- commo adjective Communist UK, 1942
- commodore noun the sum of fifteen pounds (£15). Extended from rhyming slang LADY; LADY GODIVA (a FIVER, £5) – via the song 'Three Times a Lady', by the Commodores, 1978 UK, 2003
- common noun common sense. A familiar form in the 1950s and 60s, especially as 'a bit of common', now rare UK, 1936
- common adjective ► as common as cat shit and twice as nasty extremely ordinary; very cheap and nasty; morally or socially beneath you UK, 1968
- common dog noun common sense. Military slang UK, 1987
- common wire noun electrical wire used for a wide variety of tasks US, 1986
- comms noun communications, 2001
- community chest noun a sexually available girl US, 1968
- commute verb to take DMT, a short-lasting hallucinogen US, 1970
- Como noun a Fred Perry™ shirt, a fashion item with iconic status among skinheads. Via singer Perry Como (1912–2001) UK, 2001
- comp *noun 1 a competition. Also called a 'compo' UK, 1929. 2 a complimentary benefit given to valued customers US, 1977. 3 compensation US, 1953. 4 a compositor; a typesetter *US, 1842
- comp verb 1 to issue something on a complimentary basis US, 1961. 2 to accompany someone musically US, 1949
- compa noun a very close friend. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans; from the more formal compadre (godfather to one's child) US, 1974
- compadre noun a close and trusted male friend. Ultimately from the Spanish word for 'godfather of your child' US, 1833
- company noun sex. Used as a euphemism by prostitutes soliciting customers US, 1991
- company girl noun a prostitute hired to enliven a corporate event or outing US, 1960
- company jewellery noun a railwayman's company hat, badge and switch keys US, 1946
- company patsy noun the person within an organisation who is blamed for everything that goes wrong US, 1973
- complain verb ► can't complain!; musn't complain! things are tolerable, nothing to really complain about. A catchphrase, often given as a by-rote reply without consideration of the sense UK, 1847
- comp list noun a list kept at the door of a club or concert, identifying those who are to be admitted free of charge US, 1999
- compo *noun 1 compensation UK, 2000. 2 worker's compensation AUSTRALIA, 1941. 3 a composition TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. 4 mixed mortar, plaster or the like *AUSTRALIA, 1971
- comprehensively adverb thoroughly, indisputably; in a very big and a delightfully humorous way. Sporting UK, 1979
- comprehensive physician noun a proctologist, a doctor specialising in diseases of the rectum. Based on any number of pale puns about 'holes' and 'whole patients' US, 1980
- comprenday verb to understand. Cod French, from comprendre (to comprehend) UK, 2001
- comprende? do you understand? Spanish used by English speakers without regard to their fluency in Spanish, and with multiple variations reflecting their lack of fluency US, 1994
- comps noun comprehensive college examinations US, 1961
- compsci noun a computer science student. A shortening and compounding of the discipline, pronounced 'comp-ski' UK, 2002
- compty adjective mentally deficient. Army, possibly of Hindustani derivation UK, 1984
- compute verb to make sense. Almost always heard in the negative – 'does not compute'. Popularised in the 1960s television situation comedy My Living Doll, in which the robotic character played by

Julie Newmar would respond to anything that she did not understand by saying 'That does not compute' US, 1964 computer geek noun a person whose life is centred around computers to the exclusion of all other outlets US, 1991 computer nerd noun a student whose enthusiasm for computers has interfered with the development of a well-rounded personality US, 1985 compy noun a competition AUSTRALIA, 1998 compy? do you understand? A complete corruption of the French or Spanish US, 1947 comrat noun a political liberal. A derogatory play on the communist use of the term 'comrade' US, 1951 comred noun a political liberal. A play on the term 'comrade' US, 1953 comsymp noun a liberal; a communist sympathizer US, 1964 con noun 1 a convict or ex-convict US, 1888. 2 a criminal conviction UK, 1925. 3 deception; an act intended to trick or deceive; a tale intended to deceive US, 1896. 4 a convention. Especially popular among fans of science fiction and comic books US, 1978. 5 in horse racing, a concession wager AUSTRALIA, 1989. 6 a conference; a consultation. Lawyers' use UK, 1961. 7 a lavatory attendant UK, 1961 con verb to subject someone to a confidence trick; to dupe the victim of a criminal enterprise US, 1892

Con-Air noun any aeroplane flown by the federal Bureau of Prisons to transport prisoners US, 1996

Conan Doyle; conan noun a boil. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, author and creator of Sherlock Holmes. As the current use is almost exclusively of the shortened form, to many the source of the rhyme, and hence the rhyme itself, has been lost UK, 1932 con artist noun a skilled confidence swindler US, 1937 concert noun a play; a show; any theatrical entertainment UK, 1992 concertina noun a sheep that is hard to shear because of the wrinkles on its skin AUSTRALIA, 1959 conch noun 1 a conscientious student. Used contemptuously AUSTRALIA, 1988. 2 a white native of the Bahamas, especially a poor one BAHAMAS, 1840. ► have the conch to be your turn to speak. From the symbolic value of a conch-shell in William Golding's Lord of the Flies, 1954 UK, 2005

conchie; conchy noun a conscientious objector UK, 1917

Conchie Joe; Conchie Joe noun a local white Bahamian BAHAMAS, 1978

Conchy Joe noun ► see: CONKY JOE

Con Club noun any provincial headquarters of the Conservative and Unionist Association. Described in The Sunday Times, 20th August 1978, as 'that ambiguous abbreviation' UK, 1978 con-con noun the residue that remains after smoking freebase cocaine US, 1992 concrete overcoat noun a covering of a corpse with concrete to facilitate its disposal in a body of water US, 1971 concrete overshoes noun concrete poured around a person or body's feet to facilitate disposal in a body of water US, 1976 concrete wheels noun a citizens' band radio transmitter situated in a building. Citizens' band radio slang UK, 1981 concuss adjective suffering the symptoms of a concussion SINGAPORE, 2002

condo noun an owner-occupied flat, a condominium US, 1964 condom noun 1 in computing, the plastic bag that protects a 3.5 inch disk US, 1991. 2 in pool, a removable rubber sleeve for a cue stick US, 1993 condominiums noun in bar dice games, a roll from the cup in which some dice are stacked on top of others, invalidating the roll US, 1976

conducer noun a railway conductor US, 1946 conductor noun 1 an experienced LSD user who acts as a guide for another who is experiencing the drug's effects; LSD US, 1982. 2 the second active participant in serial sex with a single passive partner. From PULL A TRAIN (serial sex) US, 1975 cone noun 1 a detachable conical receptacle of a pipe or bong; the contents of one of these AUSTRALIA, 1995. 2 a cone-shaped marijuana cigarette UK, 2000. 3 a socially inept person. An abbreviation of CONEHEAD US, 1990. ► give cone to perform oral sex US, 1982. ► pull a cone to smoke the entire contents of a detachable conical receptacle of a marijuana pipe AUSTRALIA, 1987 conehead noun 1 a habitual smoker of marijuana AUSTRALIA, 1987. 2 a socially inept person. From a recurring skit on Saturday Night Live, first appearing in 1983; Dan Aykroyd played alien Beldar Conehead and Jane Curtin his wife Prymaat US, 1990. 3 a young person with a shaved head and radical racist views. Another name for the common SKINHEAD NEW ZEALAND, 2001 coner noun a pickpocket who distracts a targeted victim by dropping an ice-cream cone at the victim's feet UK, 1969

Coney Island noun 1 any room in a police station where suspected criminals are forcefully interrogated US, 1949. 2 a lunch cart; a condiment-rich lunch served from a lunch cart US, 1960. 3 any travelling carnival or amusement park TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1927

Coney Island butter noun mustard US, 1947

Coney Island whitefish noun a used condom. The most prominent use of the term is probably in the title of the 1979 Aerosmith song 'Bone to Bone (Coney Island White Fish Boy)' US, 1984 conference noun a poker game. An intentionally misleading euphemism US, 1988 confessional noun a police interview room UK, 1971 confetti noun 1 bricks. An abbreviation of IRISH CONFETTI US, 1950. 2 snow. Obviously, 'wet confetti' is 'sleet' UK, 1981 confidencer verb an electronic device that screens out background noise from a telephone mouthpiece US, 1985

confo noun a conference AUSTRALIA, 1953

confound! curse!, especially as 'confound it!', 'confound you!', etc; used for mild oaths or imprecations UK, 1966 confounded adjective inopportune, unpleasant, odious, excessive UK, 1760

Confucius he say used as an introduction to either a genuine or cynical philosophical proposition, or as a set-up to a joke that is archly stylised: its lack of the use of 'a' or 'the', approximates 'oriental' words of wisdom. An example (selected at random from a wealth of Internet sites that celebrate this comedic formula): 'Crowded elevator small different to midget'. Confucius, 551–479 BC, was a great Chinese philosopher not best remembered for his jokes and double entendres UK, 1975 confuddle up adjective confused BAHAMAS, 1982

confuffle noun confusion TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993 confusion noun a street fight; a quarrel leading to a fight. Noted as of West Indian origin JAMAICA, 1873

Cong noun a Congregational chapel; a follower of the Congregational faith. The Book of Congregational Praise was known as 'Cong Praise'. The term faded from use after the Congregational Church merged with the Presbyterian Church of England in 1972. Members of the newly formed United Reformed Church soon became 'Urks' UK, 1961

Congo noun a Congregationalist AUSTRALIA, 1953

Congo brown; Congo dirt noun marijuana purportedly grown in Africa US, 1992

Congolese noun an extremely potent variety of marijuana cultivated in the Republic of Congo UK, 1970 congrats noun congratulations UK, 1894 conhanger noun the co-signer of a purchase contract or loan US, 1975 con into; con out of verb to subject someone to a criminal trick; to fool a victim into giving up something of value. Derives from CON (confidence trick), 1958 conjugals noun conjugal rights UK, 1937 conk verb 1 to straighten hair using any number of chemical processes US, 1944. 2 to hit someone, especially on the head UK, 1821. 3 to kill someone US, 1918 conk; konk noun 1 the head US, 1870. 2 the nose; hence, a nickname for anyone blessed with a big nose. Possibly from 'conch' (a large shell) with Latin and Greek derivations UK, 1812. 3 a hairstyle in which naturally curly hair is chemically straightened; hence, the hair straightening process; the chemical preparation required US, 1942 conkbuster verb inexpensive, potent whisky US, 1947 conked; conked out adjective (of a machine) not working; (of a person) exhausted UK, 1984 conker noun a line of traffic that builds up behind a slow driver UK, 1972

conk out; konk out; clonk out verb to fall asleep; to pass out; to stop operating UK, 1917 conky noun 1 a nose. Market traders' elaboration of CONK. Variants include 'conkey' and 'conkie' UK, 1979. 2 used of any person with a large nose. From CONK (a nose). Arthur Wellesley, Duke of Wellington (1769–1852) is perhaps the best known of people so profiled; he was known first as 'conkey', then 'old conkey'. Another variant spelling is 'konsky' UK, 1961. 3 the penis BAHAMAS, 1982

Conky Joe; Conchy Joe noun a white person, or a person with very light-coloured skin BAHAMAS, 1942 con man noun a confidence swindler US, 1889 con merchant noun a confidence swindler US, 1959 connect noun a connection from which an illicit substance may be obtained; a drug dealer US, 1960 connect verb to make a sexual conquest US, 1985 connected adjective associated with, if not a formal part of, organised crime US, 1977 connection noun 1 a drug dealer; a drug deal US, 1928. 2 a sexual partner US, 1985. 3 a friend SOUTH AFRICA, 2004 connections noun in horse racing, a horse's owner, trainer and the trainer's assistants US, 1960 connectors noun in poker, several sequenced cards that might be improved to a five-card sequenced straight US, 1990

conneroo noun a confidence swindler US, 1949 connie noun 1 a convict AUSTRALIA, 1964. 2 a type of playing marble. A shortening of CONNIE AGATE AUSTRALIA, 1966. 3 a tram or train conductor AUSTRALIA, 1933. 4 a small stone or rock, especially one for throwing. Used mainly in eastern mainland Australia. Possibly from an Australian Aboriginal language AUSTRALIA, 1978

Connie noun 1 a Constellation airliner. An aircraft that in the 1950s and 60s linked countries and continents. In 2004, the Dutch National Aviodrome museum completed the restoration of a Lockheed L-749 Constellation. The project was titled 'Connie Comeback' US, 1953. 2 a Royal Enfield 'Constellation' motorcycle, introduced in 1958 UK, 1979. 3 a Lincoln Continental car US, 1971. 4 the vagina. A proper name as a euphemism (perhaps for CUNT) US, 1998 connie agate noun a type of playing marble made from agate. Perhaps from 'cornelian', with elision of the 'r' AUSTRALIA, 1916

Connie's army noun the flotilla of supporters of the racing yacht Constellation in the 1962 America Cup races. An obvious allusion to 'Arnie's army' US, 1964 conniver about verb to wander aimlessly AUSTRALIA, 1953 con out of verb ▷ see: CON INTO conrod noun a connecting rod. Used by engineers and mechanics UK, 1931 cons noun 1 a prison sentence UK, 1996. 2 previous convictions. Metropolitan Police slang UK, 1970 cons verb in computing, to add an item to a list US, 1983 con safos used as a warning not to deface the writer's graffiti US, 1970 conscious adjective socio-politically aware of black race issues UK, 1994 con's con noun in prison, an ideal prisoner in the opinion of other inmates. From CON (a convict) UK, 2001 consent job noun any crime committed with the consent of the victim, who then collects on an insurance policy US, 1950 conshie noun a conscientious person. In contrast to the sense of 'conscientious objector', which seems to have little or no purchase in Australia AUSTRALIA, 1970 consig noun in an organised crime enterprise, a trusted advisor. Shortened from the Italian consigliore US, 1985 constant screecher noun a teacher. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 consti noun constipated. Slightly embarrassed if not entirely euphemistic; recorded as a young woman's use UK, 1982 constipated adjective in tiddlywinks, said of a position in which your winks are tied down and useless US, 1977 constipation noun a railway station. Rhyming slang; punning, perhaps, on a lack of movement. UK, 1992 constitutional noun a drug addict's first injection of the day US, 1959 contact noun 1 (of any situation of any degree of criminality or legality) an acquaintance, especially in business or trade; someone you can call on for assistance or information; a connection; an agent US, 1931. 2 a reliable source for something, especially drugs US, 1966. 3 a police informer US, 1962. 4 a contact lens. Usually used in the plural US, 1961

contact high noun a vicarious, sympathetic experience caused by witnessing another person's drug-induced experience US, 1955 contact lens noun LSD; LSD mixed with another drug. Possibly from the small size of a dose and its ability to change your view of the world US, 1977 containered adjective locked in a cell UK, 1996 content-free adjective said of a computer message that adds nothing to the substance of a discussion or to the reader's knowledge US, 1991 continental cuisine noun frozen food served to firefighters in remote but not inaccessible locations US, 1991 continental kit noun in hot rodding, a spare tyre fastened on the boot (trunk) of the car US, 1958 contour adverb (used of an aircraft) at treetop level US, 1988 contours noun the curves of a woman's body. Somewhere between poetry and pornography UK, 1886 contract noun 1 an order to kill someone or a reward offered to anyone who kills the target US, 1941. 2 a promise made by one police officer to do a favour for another US, 1958 contract rider noun in horse racing, a jockey who is under contract with one stable US, 1976 contra-rotating death banana noun a Chinook helicopter. In Royal Air Force use, 2002 UK, 2002 contrary adjective (of someone's personality or disposition) adverse, antagonistic, perverse. The earliest example is the undated nursery rhyme 'Mary, Mary, quite contrary' which is supposed to be about Mary Stuart, 1542–87 UK, 1850

Control-Alt-Delete noun ▷ see: CTRL-ALT-DELETE control C verb to stop what it is that you are doing. A borrowing from the command used on many computer operating systems to interrupt a program US, 1991 control freak noun a person with an obsessive need to control people and events US, 1977 controller noun a mid-level operative in an illegal gambling enterprise who is in charge of a number of runners US, 1964 control O verb to stop talking. From the character used on some computer operating systems to abort output but allow the program to keep on running. Generally means that you are not interested in hearing anything more from that person, at least on that topic US, 1991

Con U nickname Concordia University, Montreal. After the formation of Concordia University out of two existing institutions, this short form expressed student dissatisfaction with procedures and policies CANADA, 1972 conversate verb to converse in a loud and lively style. From the conventional 'conversation' US, 2000 conversion job noun a disfigurement caused by a violent beating. From the conventional sense UK, 1969 convert noun a newly addicted drug addict US, 1949 convert verb to steal something NEW ZEALAND, 1984 convict noun in circus usage, a zebra. An allusion to the zebra's striped coat, evocative of a prison uniform US, 1926 convincer noun the stage in a confidence swindle when the victim is fully committed to the scheme US, 1940

convo noun a conversation AUSTRALIA, 1987

convo noun 1 a group of trucks driving as a group, in communication with each other US, 1971. 2 serial sex between a woman and multiple male partners Fiji, 2004 con wise adjective extremely sophisticated in the ways of the world based on lessons learned in prison US, 1912

coo noun the vagina UK, 1879 cool; coo-er! used for expressing astonishment, disbelief or wonderment UK, 1911 cooch noun the vagina; sex with a woman US, 2001 cooch dancer noun ▶ see: COOTCH DANCER coocher noun a sexually suggestive dancer US, 1927 coochie noun the vagina; sex with a woman; a woman as a sex object US, 1995 coochie-cutters noun very short shorts US, 2002 coochi snorcher noun the vagina. Elaboration of COOCHIE (the vagina) US, 1998 cooder noun a hairdresser. Probably contrived from the name of US guitarist Ry Cooder (b.1947) as a play on 'riah' (hair), 'Ry' forming a pun on 'hair cut'. Used in contemporary gay society UK, 2003 cooe noun the call 'cooe' AUSTRALIA, 1831. ▶ within cooe within calling distance of a 'cooe'; nearby, close AUSTRALIA, 1836

cooe verb to make the call 'cooe' AUSTRALIA, 1824

cooe! used as a call to communicate whereabouts over distance. A direct borrowing of the call in the extinct Australian Aboriginal language Dharug, from the Sydney region. Adopted by the early white colonists, the call is used in the bush to mean both 'where are you?' and the answer 'I am here'. The 'coo' is drawn out and followed by a sharp, rising 'ee' AUSTRALIA, 1793 cook noun 1 a musician who plays with great passion and energy US, 1962. 2 on the railways, a rear brakesman US, 1977. 3 a look, in the phrases 'give a cook', 'have a cook', 'take a cook'. Possibly rhyming slang, or may simply be an accidental rhyme formed by confusion with the Yiddish use of German guck (a look) UK, 1960. 4 extreme criticism AUSTRALIA, 1989 cook verb 1 to melt a powdered narcotic, especially heroin, in water, prior to injecting or inhaling. The drug is 'cooked up' and 'cooked down' US, 1952. 2 to boil dynamite to extract nitroglycerine US, 1992. 3 to prepare crack cocaine, heating a mixture of cocaine, lidocaine, baking soda and other chemicals to remove the hydrochloride US, 1992. 4 to excel, to excite people US, 1942. 5 to falsify accounting figures; to manipulate them UK, 1636. 6 to make something radioactive; to become radioactive US, 1950. 7 (used of a car radiator in hot rodding) to boil over US, 1960. 8 to execute someone by electrocution US, 1932. ▶ cook on all four to be very busily employed. Adopted from COOK WITH GAS or COOK ON THE FRONT BURNER CANADA, 1984. ▶ cook on the front burner to excel; to go fast US, 1956. ▶ cook with gas to perform successfully, especially after a period of trying and failing; to do very well US, 1941. ▶ cook your goose 1 to ruin someone; to kill someone UK, 1851. 2 to drink to the point of being drunk US, 1964 cookbook noun in computing, a book of code segments that can be used to enhance programs US, 1991 cooked adjective 1 drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1997. 2 in trouble US, 1959. 3 embalmed US, 1987. 4 finished, exhausted UK, 1925 cookem fry verb to die. Rhyming slang, from an earlier naval use as 'hell' UK, 1969 cooker noun 1 any object used to heat heroin preparatory to injecting it US, 1958. 2 a person who prepares crack cocaine US, 1992. 3 a person or thing that excels or excites US, 1943 cooker verb to inject a drug intravenously UK, 2003 cookie noun 1 a person US, 1917. 2 the vagina US, 1970. 3 a material reward or inducement; money US, 1972. 4 a sweet confection that has marijuana as a major ingredient US, 2002. 5 cocaine US, 1949. 6 a large chunk of processed crack cocaine US, 1993. 7 a cigarette US, 1976. 8 a cigarette adulterated with crack cocaine US, 1997. 9 a file that an Internet webpage leaves on the hard drive of a user's computer, that is retrieved whenever the user returns to that webpage US, 1993. 10 a blood clot travelling through the arteries US, 1994. 11 in television and film-making, a light screen designed to cast shadows US, 1990. ▶ that's the way the cookie crumbles that's how things turn out US, 1956

cookie breath noun the alcoholic fumes arising from someone who has drunk lemon extract or vanilla flavouring CANADA, 1999 cookie cutter noun 1 in circus and carnival usage, a police badge US, 1926. 2 the cap badge worn by officers of the Canadian Cadet Instructors Cadre. The CIC cap badge is brass and maple leaf-shaped. As such, its irregular edges are reminiscent of the serrated edge of a kitchen biscuit cutter CANADA, 1995 cookie duster noun a moustache US, 1930 cookies noun the contents of a person's stomach US, 1927. ▶ blow your cookies to vomit US, 1976. ▶ get your cookies to experience pleasure, especially in a perverted way US, 1956 cookie toss noun vomit US, 1975 cooking adjective 1 in shuffleboard, used for communicating the fact that a disc is in the kitchen US, 1967. 2 (used of surf conditions) excellent US, 1977 cooking fuel noun low-octane petrol UK, 1979 cooking lager noun a lager of no more than average strength UK, 2002 cook off verb (used of ammunition) to explode because of heat from a surrounding fire US, 1990 cook shack noun 1 a truck stop or roadside restaurant US, 1976. 2 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 cook up verb 1 to concoct something; to fabricate something; to falsify something. Often in the form 'cook up a story' UK, 1817. 2 to manufacture amphetamine US, 1985. 3 to process cocaine hydrochloride into crack cocaine UK, 2002 cooky noun in sabre fencing, a hit on the guard not on the target. A corruption of 'coquille' (the guard) UK, 1988 cool noun 1 self-control, composure US, 1953. 2 a truce between street gangs US, 1958. 3 a look. Back slang UK, 1977 cool verb 1 to calm down; to become less dangerous US, 1977. 2 to idle; to pass time doing nothing US, 1990. 3 to kill, or at least immobilise someone US, 1962. 4 to die US, 1994. ▶ cool it to unwind, to calm down; to slow down, to ease off; to stop whatever activity you are engaged in. Often used in the imperative US, 1953. ▶ cool your brains to calm down TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1928. ▶ cool your heels to rest UK, 1633. ▶ cool your jets to calm down; to back off US, 1973. ▶ cool your liver to drink alcohol BARBADOS, 1998

cool adjective 1 fashionable, attractive, admired US, 1947. 2 acceptable, agreeable US, 1994. 3 (of jazz or the style of a jazz performer) relaxed, good, modern US, 1947. 4 discreet, under control. Similar to the earlier COOL AS A CUCUMBER UK, 1952. 5 retaining complete personal control of the need for drugs or whilst drug-exhilarated, or so the user believes UK, 1973. 6 not carrying illegal drugs UK, 1967. 7 used for emphasising an amount of money UK, 1728. ▶ cool like Gokool very successful TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1938 coolaboola; coder-boder adjective excellent, admirable, acceptable. An elaboration of COOL (acceptable) combining a slangy abridgement of the Irish ruaille-buaille (a row, noisy confusion, noise) IRELAND, 1996 cool as adjective extremely pleasing, very good. An intensification of COOL, shortened from COOL AS FUCK, etc UK, 2002 cool as a cucumber adjective self-possessed UK, c.1732 cool as a fish's fart adjective calm, composed IRELAND, 1996 cool as fuck adjective extremely pleasing, very good. An intensification of COOL. In 1990, the phrase 'cool as fuck' was part of the logo-styling for UK band the Inspiral Carpets UK, 1990 cool bananas! great! excellent! AUSTRALIA, 1987

cool beans! used as an expression of intense approval US, 1987 cool breeze noun used as a term of address, generally with admiration US, 1961

cool breeze adjective calm, collected US, 1967 cool breezer noun a carefree, casual surfer US, 1988

Cool Britannia noun a marketing categorisation for fashionable British culture. Puns 'Rule Britannia'; originally coined by the Bonzo Dog Doo Dah Band in 1967: 'Cool Britannia / Britannia you are hip' UK, 1999 cool-cool; cool-cool so adverb as if normal TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

coolcrack verb to kill someone US, 1947 cool dad noun a well-dressed, popular male. College student usage US, 1959 cool deal! used as an expression of assent or praise US, 2001 cool down verb to calm down UK, 1882 cooler noun 1 a jail or prison US, 1872. 2 a cell used for solitary confinement; a segregation unit US, 1899. 3 an infirmary. Where one's social activities are 'put on ice' US, 1983. 4 a morgue US, 1994. 5 a silencer attached to a hand gun US, 1962. 6 a cigarette laced with cocaine US, 1994. 7 a stacked deck of cards used by a cheat US, 1935. 8 in horse racing, a horse that is not expected to win the race US, 1935. 9 a lightweight cotton blanket put on a horse after a warm-up US, 1964 cooler-bagger noun a man with a paunch. Teen slang; coined in humorous reference to SIX-PACKER (a well-built man) SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 coolgardie safe; Coolgardie noun a type of storage locker for keeping foodstuffs cool. From the name of a Western Australian mining town AUSTRALIA, 1924 cool head main thing! used for urging others to calm down. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1972 cool-hunter noun a person engaged in the identification of upcoming trends, especially in the media or fashion industry. Formed on COOL (fashionable) UK, 2002 coolie noun 1 a loner; a person who refuses to join a gang US, 1958. 2 a hip, street-smart person US, 1967. 3 a cigarette to which crack cocaine has been added US, 1992

Coolie noun 1 in South Africa, a person of Indian descent. Offensive, insulting INDIA, 1873. 2 a Vietnamese civilian. The C19 term for Chinese or other East Asians was revived by US soldiers in Vietnam US, 1991. 3 an Asian servant AUSTRALIA, 1995. 4 a locomotive fireman UK, 1970 coolie adjective of East Indian origin TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1880 coolie colours noun bright colours, especially in combination in dress. From the association of these bright colours with Indians GUENADA, 1998 coolie-do noun the vagina US, 1972 coolie food noun Indian food TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 coolie pink noun a garish, bright pink. Associated with the bright colours favoured by East Indians SOUTH AFRICA, 1978 coolie tonic noun any liquid poison. In Trinidad, poison is associated with Indian suicides TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

cooling adjective unemployed US, 1949 cooling glasses; coolers noun sunglasses INDIA, 1979 coolio adjective fashionable; acceptable. An elaboration of COOL; probably also a reference to rapper Coolio who enjoyed a huge international success in the mid-1990s US, 1997 cool it back verb to become calm and composed under pressure US, 1984 cool Muther John noun a boy who is fashionable, knowledgeable and trendy US, 1955 coolness! used for expressing agreement or approval US, 1988 cool off verb to calm down UK, 1887

cool-off man noun in a confidence swindling or cheating scheme, the member of the swindling group who stays with the victim calming him down after he learns that he has been swindled US, 1977 cool-out noun in police interrogations, the practice of leaving the accused alone in the interrogation room before the interrogation begins US, 1997 cool out verb 1 to idle BARBADOS, 1965. 2 in police interrogations, to perform a cool-out on someone US, 1997. 3 (used of a confidence swindler or a tout who has given bad tips) to calm a bettor who has lost US, 1951

cool points noun an imaginary tally of points awarded for cool behaviour and subtracted for uncool behaviour US, 1989

cool the beans! calm down!, be patient! UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 cool wash; coul wash noun a pelting with stones. Probably a corruption of the French coup de roche (blow with a stone) to Creole koul woche DOMINICA, 2003 cool water noun strong, illegally manufactured whisky US, 1999 cooly noun marijuana. Perhaps a deliberate mispronunciation of KALI JAMAICA, 1998

cool your jets! calm down! US, 1982 cool yule happy Christmas. A very uncool turn of phrase, generally heavily ironic or knowingly infra dig for humorous effect UK, 1999 coon noun in the UK and US, a black person; in Australia, an Aborigine; in New Zealand, a Pacific Islander; in South Africa, a black-faced minstrel. Offensive US, 1834 coon verb 1 to steal something; someone to cheat US, 1964. 2 to bet US, 1947. 3 on the railways, to travel over the tops of goods wagons while a train is moving US, 1975

coon-ass noun a resident of Louisiana; a Cajun. Often, not always, considered a slur US, 1943 coon bottom noun a poor part of town, especially one where poor black people live US, 1968 coondie noun a stone or rock, especially a small stone suitable for throwing. Usage chiefly in Western Australia AUSTRALIA, 1941 cooney noun 1 a white resident of Louisiana. A diminutive of COON-ASS US, 1975. 2 a woman, especially a wife. Northern Canadian usage. Also spelled 'kuni' CANADA, 1961

coon killer noun a club US, 1982 coon light noun a light mounted on a truck tracking on the right edge of the road US, 1971

coon's age noun a long time US, 1843

coon stopper noun a powerful gun US, 1977

Coon Town noun a neighbourhood populated largely by black families. Offensive US, 1987 coop noun 1 a house or apartment US, 1947. 2 a police stationhouse US, 1962. 3 a place where police sleep or idle during their shift US, 1973. 4 in craps, a roll of 12. An abbreviated nickname of Gary Cooper, star of the Western film High Noon US, 1983

coop verb to sleep or relax while on duty US, 1962 coop delight noun the body of a murder victim. From the Latin corpus delicti US, 1976

cooper verb to silence or humiliate someone CANADA, 1999

coop-happy adjective deranged from confinement US, 1960

coo's arse; cow's arse noun 1 a cigarette end over-moistened with a smoker's saliva UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. 2 by extension, a botched job UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

coosie noun a Chinese person or other South Asian US, 1949 coot noun 1 a harmless simpleton, especially an old one; a fellow. Probably from the behavioural characteristics of the bird. Current in south London US, 1766. 2 the vagina; a woman as a sex object, sex with a woman US, 1975 coot verb to have sex BAHAMAS, 1982

cootch dancer; cooch dancer noun a woman who performs a sexually suggestive dance. A shortened form of HOOCHY KOOCHY US, 1910 cootchy-coo; kootchy-koo; kitchy-koo noun used as a lexicalisation of talk used with babies. From Irish dialect kitchy, kitchy, kaw UK, 1984 cooter noun the vagina US, 1986 cootie catcher noun a somewhat intricately folded piece of paper, manipulated by the fingers, used by children to tell fortunes or to catch imaginary cooties US, 1987 cooties noun an imaginary disease or infestation that could be transmitted by close contact, thus creating a stigma for the person who is said to have it. A children's corruption of the older sense of the term (a body louse) US, 1971

Coot-sac noun a cove or bay without an outlet. From the French cul de sac (dead end) CANADA, 2001 coover noun any article or thing. English gypsy use, from Romany kova (this; thing) UK, 2000 cooze; coozie noun 1 the vulva; the female genitals US, 1927. 2 a woman, especially a promiscuous woman US, 1921 cooze light noun in the pornography industry, a light used to illuminate the genitals of the performers US, 1995 coozie stash noun contraband, especially drugs, hidden in the vagina US, 1992 cop noun 1 a police officer. False etymologies abound, with formation suggestions of 'copper badges', 'copper buttons', or an initialism of 'Constable On Patrol' at the head of the unruly pack. The verb sense 'to grab' leads to the verb sense 'to arrest' which leads to COPPER which was shortened to 'cop'. No buttons, no badges, no initialisms US, 1859. 2 an arrest. Especially familiar in the phrase IT'S A FAIR COP UK, 1844. 3 a job or employment; a position AUSTRALIA, 1915. 4 treatment; a deal as in 'it's a rotten cop' AUSTRALIA, 1968. 5 in carnival usage, a small prize won at a game concession US, 1980. 6 winnings from gambling US, 1930. 7 a gratuity AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► it's a fair cop used of a good or legal arrest; in later use, as a jocular admission of anything trivial UK, 1891. ► no cop; not much cop worthless, valueless, useless UK, 1902 cop verb 1 to obtain, to take or to purchase something, especially drugs US, 1867. 2 to seduce someone, to have sex with someone US, 1965. 3 to come upon someone; to catch someone out AUSTRALIA, 1933. 4 to catch sight of someone or something; look at someone or something AUSTRALIA, 1925. 5 to see something; to notice something UK, 1976. 6 to catch someone AUSTRALIA, 1889. 7 to inform; to betray someone US, 1895. 8 to endure something AUSTRALIA, 1971. 9 to take or receive a bribe UK, 1977. 10 to steal something AUSTRALIA, 1991. 11 in trainspotting, to record a train's number UK, 2003. 12 (used of a rigged carnival game) to malfunction, allowing a player to win US, 1985. ► cop a breeze to leave, especially without calling attention to yourself US, 1950. ► cop a deaf 'un to pretend not to hear; to deliberately not listen to, or ignore, someone UK, 1920s. ► cop a drop to take a bribe. Combines COP (to obtain) with DROP (a bribe) UK, 1970. ► cop a feel to touch someone sexually without their consent US, 1935. ► cop a heel to leave; to run away; to escape US, 1977. ► cop a joint to perform oral sex on a man US, 1962. ► cop a load to take a look, especially to take a good look; to pay attention to something UK, 1984. ► cop a minty wrapper in horse racing, to receive a very small gratuity, or no gratuity at all, after winning a race AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► cop a mope to escape US, 1951. ► cop a nod to sleep US, 1947. ► cop a packet 1 to be severely wounded. Originally military UK, 1982. 2 to become infected with a sexually transmitted disease UK, 1984. 3 to be sentenced to preventive detention. Prison use UK, 1950. ► cop a plea to enter a guilty plea to a criminal charge US, late 1920s. ► cop a pose to adopt the posture of a fashion or shop-window mannequin UK, 2003. ► cop deuces to assume a submissive or defensive position US, 1976. ► cop it sweet 1 to enjoy the situation AUSTRALIA, 1975. 2 to receive something graciously AUSTRALIA, 1989. 3 in prison, to take punishment without complaint AUSTRALIA, 1950. 4 to endure unpleasantness without complaint; to resignedly put up with something bad AUSTRALIA, 1988. ► cop on to catch on to something; become aware of something AUSTRALIA, 1957. ► cop the lot to receive everything AUSTRALIA, 1911. ► cop z's to sleep US, 1961 cop adjective good, worth having, of value UK, 2000 copacetic; copasetic adjective good, excellent; safe; attractive. Etymology unknown; Chinook jargon, French, Italian and Yiddish sources have been suggested US, 1919 cop and blow noun the rule of thumb governing a pimp's modus operandi, acquiring and losing prostitutes US, 1967 cop and blow verb to acquire something and then leave US, 1972 cop and hold; cop and lock verb (of a pimp) to acquire and retain a prostitute US, 1972 cop caller noun a truck with squeaky brakes or noisy recapped tyres US, 1938 cope verb to function in normal situations while under the influence of a hallucinogenic drug US, 1996

Copenhagen capon noun a transsexual. Homosexual usage; an allusion to the sex-altering operation performed on Christine Jorgensen in Denmark US, 2003

Copenhagen snooze noun damp, grated chewing snuff CANADA, 1964 cop for verb to get into an intimate relationship with someone. From COP (to catch) UK, 1985 cop house; cop factory noun a police station US, 1928 copilot noun 1 a tablet of dextroamphetamine sulphate (trade name Dexedrine™), or any other central nervous system stimulant US, 1965. 2 the co-signer of a purchase contract or loan US, 1975 cop it verb 1 to get or receive something painful, such as a beating; to receive punishment AUSTRALIA, 1916. 2 to take or receive something AUSTRALIA, 1982. 3 to be killed AUSTRALIA, 1960. 4 to be hit with enemy fire AUSTRALIA, 1932 cop man noun a low-level drug dealer who must pay cash to the supplier for the drugs to be sold US, 1989 cop off verb 1 to form a liaison with someone based on mutual sexual attraction. Ultimately from COP (to catch) UK, 1994. 2 to fondle someone intimately; to engage in foreplay; to have sex UK, 2001. 3 to masturbate UK, 2000. 4 to shirk, to skive, to play truant UK, 2002 cop on noun understanding, common knowledge IRELAND, 1997 cop on verb to understand something; to start behaving reasonably. Sometimes said in angry response to a person's undesirable behaviour: 'cop (yourself) on' IRELAND, 1991 cop-out noun a drastic compromise of principle US, 1956 cop out verb 1 to avoid an issue by making excuses; to go back on your word US, 1952. 2 to confess; to enter a guilty plea US, 1938 cop-out man noun in a crooked version of the coin-tossing game two-up, the person who by arrangement takes the winnings AUSTRALIA, 1953 cop out on verb to inform on someone UK, 1996 copped-out adjective conventional. From COP OUT (to make excuses, to cease trying) UK, 2000 copper noun 1 a police officer. Derives from COP (to catch) UK, 1846. 2 a police informer UK, 1937. 3 a prison informer UK, 1961. 4 a pre-decimal penny or halfpenny coin; a post-decimal two-penny or one-penny coin; such coins mixed. Originally, about 1840, of coins actually made of copper; the term has survived bronze and further debasement UK, 1712 copper verb 1 in craps, to bet that the shooter will lose US, 1950. 2 to inform against someone UK, 1924. 3 to be engaged as a working police officer UK, 1984 copper chopper noun a police helicopter US, 1979 copper jitters noun an excessive fear of contact with the police US, 1953 coppers noun money BARBADOS, 1965

Coppers in Disguise nickname the Criminal Investigation Department. An jocular play on the well-known initials CID; substituting COPPER (a police officer) for 'criminal' and referring to the non-uniformed status of the officers as 'in disguise' UK, 1984 copper's nark noun a police informer AUSTRALIA, 1945

copper time noun the reduction of a prison sentence for good behaviour US, 1992 copping neighborhood noun a neighbourhood where buyers and sellers know that drugs are sold US, 1990 copping zone noun an area in a city where buyers and sellers of drugs know to congregate and do business US, 1989 coppist noun a trainspotter, especially one positioned at a level crossing. From COP (to see something) UK, 1946 cop shop noun a police station AUSTRALIA, 1941

cop spotter noun a rearview mirror US, 1971

cop's rub noun a frisking or pat-down for weapons or contraband US, 1973

cop's tang noun a Ford Mustang modified and enhanced for police use US, 1992 cops' tank noun a jail cell reserved for policemen/criminals US, 1985

'copter; copter noun a helicopter US, 1947 cop that lot! just look at them!, or that!: especially to express admiration, astonishment or derision AUSTRALIA, 1960 copy noun a received radio-communication; a message confirming reception US, 1976 copy verb to understand what has been said. Shortwave radio slang that spread well outside the world of radio US, 1984

copybroke adjective descriptive of a computer program in which the copyright scheme has been disabled US, 1991 copy, copy I am receiving. Citizens' band radio slang 1981 cop you later goodbye. With an intentional, if somewhat feeble, pun on 'copulator' or 'copulate her' AUSTRALIA, 1988 cor! used for registering shock, surprise or sexual desire. A euphemistic rendering of 'God!' UK, 1931 coral noun a capsule of chloral hydrate US, 1970

corals noun ▷ see: CHORALS

coral stomper noun a Pacific Islander. Derogatory NEW ZEALAND, 1998

cor blimey!; gorblimey! used for registering shock or surprise. A euphemistic rendering of 'God blind me!'; abbreviates to BLIMEY! UK, 1896 cords noun corduroy trousers US, 1926 corduroy noun in surfing, a swell lined up like ribbing US, 1991 corduroy road noun a road built over a swamp or muddy land by laying logs side by side at right angles to the way CANADA, 1961 core adjective 1 said of pornography that shows penetration. A shortened HARDCORE US, 1995. 2 serious, weighty, important US, 1986

-core suffix when in combination with a (modern) musical style, used for creating a less compromising genre title UK, 2000 corella noun a sheep with patches of wool hanging loose AUSTRALIA, 1953

co-respondent shoes noun black and white or brown and white shoes of a type. Deriving, apparently, from the type of people who wore them: co-respondents in divorce cases; they were originally called 'co-respondent's shoes'. Originally fashionable between the World Wars, they were worn in the 1950s by entertainers as diverse as Max Miller and Elvis Presley. They have long been fashionable with golfers and are still available to buy UK, 1934 corey; cory; corie noun the penis. English gypsy use; probably from Romany kori (a thorn) UK, 2000

corflu noun correction fluid, especially the fluid used for correcting mimeograph stencils US, 1982

Corine noun cocaine US, 1967 cork noun a tampon US, 1981 cork verb 1 to have sex US, 1983. 2 to set your fishing gear to obstruct that of another fisherman CANADA, 1989. ▶ cork the air to sniff cocaine US, 1950. ▶ cork the bottle (used of a relief pitcher in baseball) to enter a game and pitch effectively US, 1967. ▶ cork your cryhole to stop complaining US, 2002

corker noun 1 something or someone attractive, desirable or wonderful; a stunner UK, 1882. 2 something that closes or settles an argument US, 1835. 3 an inconsistent, unpredictable poker player US, 1988 cork in verb to become wedged after falling into a snow crevasse ANTARCTICA, 2003 corking adjective unusually large, fine or good US, 1895 cork off verb to sleep US, 1959

corkscrew noun a black woman's hair temporarily set in neatly aligned clumps to facilitate drying BARBADOS, 1996

corkscrew verb to move spirally, or cause something to move spirally UK, 1837 cork top noun a surfer US, 1963

corky noun a corked muscle AUSTRALIA, 1986

cor lummiel; cor lumme!; cor lummy! used as a general-purpose expletive. A Cockney variation of 'God love me!'; almost stereotypically Cockney but later use tends towards irony UK, 1961 corn noun 1 something that is excessively sentimental. Originally applied to all music that was not jazz in the 1930s, and then eased into general usage US, 1936. 2 sentimental, maudlin, mawkish music US, 1936. 3 whisky US, 1967. 4 any alcoholic beverage TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1986. 5 money. Both corn and money are seen as staples of life US, 1837. 6 a hard scar produced by repeated drug injections US, 1971 corn verb to make a great deal of money without apparent effort BARBADOS, 1996

Corn and Broccoli Channel nickname the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. A jocular formation from the network's initials CANADA, 2002 corn and bunion noun an onion. Rhyming slang; the plural is 'corns and bunions'. Also applied in idiomatic use UK, 1931 cornball adjective clichéd; overly sentimental US, 1948

cornbeef-and-biscuits politics; cornbeef-and-rum politics noun the practice of seeking to capture the votes of poor people by offering them gifts of corned beef, biscuits and rum as a bribe during political campaigns BARBADOS, 1996 corn belt noun the mid-western United States US, 1955 corn binder noun any International Harvester™ truck US, 1971 cornbread noun a simple, rural southern black person. Cornbread is a staple in the diet of poor rural southerners, black and white US, 1954 corn cob noun in electric line work, a thimble adapter pin US, 1980

corned adjective drunk UK, 1785 corned beef noun 1 in prison, a chief officer. Rhyming slang UK, 1950. 2 a thief. Rhyming slang. Also known as 'bully beef' UK, 1984 corned beef; corny adjective deaf. Glasgow rhyming slang, reliant on Glasgow pronunciation UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

cornelius noun marijuana US, 1997

Cornel Wilder noun a hair-fashion of the 1950s, popular with youths in Sydney. Named after US film actor Cornel Wilde (b.1915) who actually wore his hair shorter than the fashion he inspired AUSTRALIA, 1953 corner noun 1 in horse racing, a share of the winnings AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 the block in a prison where the cells for solitary confinement are found US, 1962. ▶ around the corner in poker, said of a sequence of cards that uses the ace as both a high and low card US, 1988.

▶ cut a corner; cut corners; cut the corners to perform any task in a manner that minimises time, effort or expense, but for equal profit or even greater gain, and perhaps at the cost of safe practice or legality. From the conventional, literal sense UK, 1957.

▶ in the corner on a fishing or lobstering boat, fully throttled US, 1978 corner verb 1 to force someone into an embarrassing or difficult position. Figurative US, 1824. 2 to go around a corner of a racecourse; to drive a vehicle around a corner, especially at speed UK, 1861 corner boy noun 1 an urban youth who idles in the street US, 1971. 2 a fellow prisoner from a prisoner's neighbourhood US, 1991 corner game; cornering noun a confidence trick in which payment is received before the promised delivery of goods or sexual services will take place 'around the corner' – the delivery, of course, is never made UK, 1956 corner man noun a person who is not part of the criminal underworld but whose sympathies lie with the underworld in its constant strife with law enforcement US, 1964 cornet player noun a cocaine user US, 1977 corn-fed adjective unsophisticated, simple, rustic US, 1924 cornfield clemency noun escape from a rural prison US, 1992 cornfield meet noun a head-on train collision US, 1931 cornflake noun 1 a youthful, sexually inexperienced male who is the object of an older homosexual's desire US, 1979. 2 the cap badge worn by Canadian Forces recruits. Named because of its resemblance to a cornflake in colour and shape CANADA, 2001 cornflake adjective fake. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 corn game noun in a carnival, a Bingo game US, 1960 cornhead noun a long-haired adherent to the racist, fascist philosophy espoused by shaved-head skinheads US, 2000 cornhole noun the anus US, 1922 cornhole verb 1 to take the active role in anal sex US, 1938. 2 to victimise someone; to force someone into submission. A figurative use of the previous sense US, 1974 corn husk noun a condom, especially one manufactured for anal intercourse. Derives from CORNHOLE (anal sex); conventionally, 'husk' is the membranous outer covering of the maize plant UK, 1998

Cornish pasty; Cornish adjective appetising; sexually alluring. Rhyming slang for 'tasty' UK, 1992

corn man noun a man who is emotionally and sexually inexperienced TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 corn mule noun homemade alcohol using corn as a base US, 1949 corn off the cob noun mawkish, sentimental music or entertainment. An elaboration of CORN AUSTRALIA, 1984 corn on the cob adjective used as an intensifier UK, 1997 cornpone noun an unsophisticated, crude rural southerner. Poet Lawrence Ferlinghetti regularly referred to US President Lyndon B. Johnson as 'Colonel Cornpone' in his poems; cartoonist Al Capp created General Jubilation T. Cornpone, master of grabbing defeat from the jaws of victory US, 1919 cornrip noun a prostitute BARBADOS, 1965 corn row noun hair tied in tight braids separated by rows of bare scalp US, 1946 corn-row verb to fix hair in tight braids US, 1971 corn snake noun a dried corn stalk gusting across a road. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2003 corn stalker noun a marijuana cigarette rolled in the outer leaf of a corn cob and sealed with honey US, 2003 corny adjective mawkish, sentimental, hackneyed US, 1932 ▷ see: CORNED BEEF corp noun a corporal, generally as a term of address. Military UK, 1959 corpie noun a police officer SAINT KITTS AND NEVIS, 1996

Corpo nickname Dublin Corporation IRELAND, 2000 corporation noun a prominent belly UK, 1753 corporation cocktail noun an intoxicating drink made by bubbling coal gas through milk. Current in the 1970s, until wholesale conversion to natural gas UK, 1984 corporation pop noun tap water. Formed from 'pop' (a soft drink) and the 'corporation' that supplied water to domestic consumers; used in northern England UK: ENGLAND, 1997 corpse noun 1 an actor's on-stage blunder or fit of laughter. From the verb UK, 1978. 2 a corporal. In Royal Air Force use UK, 2002 corpse verb of an actor, to blunder and so confuse yourself or another actor; while acting, to fall prey to irresistible laughter UK, 1873 corpse cop noun a homicide detective US, 1985 corpser noun an actor who is prone to disruptive laughter. From CORPSE (to blunder) UK, 2002 corpsing noun involuntary laughter, especially among actors. From the verb UK, 2002 corpuscle noun used as a humorous synonym for 'corporal' US, 1968 corr noun a fight. English gypsy use, from Romany koor (to fight) UK, 2000 corral noun a group of prostitutes working for a single pimp US, 1971 corroboree noun any gathering or party, a celebration. Figurative use of the original sense as 'a traditional dance ceremony held by Australian Aboriginals', from the extinct Australian Aboriginal language Dharug, spoken in the Sydney region. Now considered politically incorrect AUSTRALIA, 1833 corroded adjective ugly US, 1980 corset noun a bullet-proof vest US, 1949 corvey; corvee noun in Quebec, a community work project. Originally the word, from French, meant 'community work repairing the road in the spring'. In French, it carries the sense of 'what a bore!' but in English, it is still used CANADA, 2002 corybungus noun the buttocks. Homosexual usage; perhaps from COREY (the penis) UK, 2002 cosa noun marijuana. From the Spanish for 'thing', so functionally the equivalent of 'stuff', an intentionally vague inreference to the drug US, 1992 cosh; kosh noun a bludgeon, a truncheon UK, 1869. ► under the cosh at a disadvantage; under control UK, 1958

cosh verb to strike someone with a cosh UK, 1896 co-signer noun a fellow prisoner who is willing to vouch for you or to defend you with action US, 1989 coskel adjective dressed in conflicting, clashing colours TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1996 cosmic adjective 1 wonderful, excellent, fabulous. The teenage appetite for superlatives is OUT OF THIS WORLD UK, 1977. 2 esoteric, difficult to grasp US, 1980 cosmic rays noun the source of an unexplained computing problem US, 1991 cosmos noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1977 cossie; cozzie noun 1 a theatrical costume UK, 1967. 2 a swimming costume AUSTRALIA, 1926 cost verb to be expensive UK, 1933. ► cost a bomb to be very, or unexpectedly, expensive UK, 1984. ► cost a packet to be very, or unexpectedly, expensive UK, 1984. ► cost an arm and a leg to be very, or unexpectedly, expensive US, 1956

Costa del noun when combined with a place name, an area that is peopled with criminals. After COSTA DEL CRIME UK, 2003

Costa del Crime noun Spain's Costa del Sol. In the late 1970s, a diplomatic breakdown between Britain and Spain (over Gibraltar) created a safe haven for British criminals. One of the effects of a major armed robbery in London in 1983 was this journalistic coinage UK, 1984

Costa del Sludge noun the Spanish Riviera. A bitter reference to pollution UK, 1980

Costa Geriatrica noun the south coast of England; Spain's Costa Brava; any coastal area popular as a retirement destination; hence, also applied to non-coastal areas such as Henley-on-Thames. A jocular but nevertheless derisive reference to the number of old people that retire to the seaside UK, 1977

cosy noun an act of sexual intercourse. Used by upper-class society females; from the verb sense (to snuggle) UK, 1982 cot noun a bed AUSTRALIA, 1954 cot case noun an incapacitated person, such as a drunk or insane person. That is, 'a person who should be confined to a bed' AUSTRALIA, 1932 cotch noun any improvised place to sleep JAMAICA, 1972 cotch verb to vomit. From Afrikaans kots SOUTH AFRICA, 1974 cotched adjective relaxed, especially in a post-dance or post-drug-use situation. Used by some teenagers for 'chilled out' UK, 2003 cotics noun narcotics, especially heroin US, 1942 cottage noun a public lavatory used for homosexual encounters UK, 1932 cottage verb to seek homosexual contact in a public urinal. After COTTAGE (a public lavatory) UK, 1971 cottage cheese noun cellulite. A purely visual coining US, 1997 cottage queen noun a homosexual man who seeks sexual contact in public toilets. A combination of COTTAGE (a public lavatory) and QUEEN (a homosexual man) UK, 1992 cottager noun a homosexual man who seeks sexual contact in public toilets. After COTTAGE (a public lavatory) UK, 2000 cottaging noun 1 the practice of engaging in homosexual encounters in public toilets UK, 1972; 2 the practice of going down to your 'cottage' – a second and often quite a large house – in the country for the weekend UK, 1984 cotton noun 1 cotton used for straining a dissolved narcotic (heroin, cocaine or morphine) before injection; the bits of cotton saturated with drugs can be aggregated for an injection US, 1933; 2 female pubic hair US, 1970 ▷ see: COTTON WOOL cotton ball noun a burst of flak fire as perceived from the air US, 1990 cotton brothers noun cocaine, heroin and morphine. From the cotton strainer used when preparing these drugs US, 1938 cotton-chopper noun used as a term of address, especially to someone with a southern accent US, 1977 cotton fever noun an intense illness sometimes suffered after injecting heroin leached from used cottons US, 1989 cottonhead noun a heroin addict who habitually uses cotton used by other addicts to leach out heroin for his use US, 1970 cotton mouth noun a dryness of the mouth as a result of smoking marijuana or hashish, 2003 cotton on to; cotton on; cotton to verb to form, or have, a liking or fancy for something or someone; to understand or come to understand AUSTRALIA, 1907 cottonpicker noun a fellow; used as a term of address, especially from trucker to trucker US, 1919 cotton-picking adjective used as a folksy intensifier US, 1952 cotton shooter noun a drug addict who injects residue aggregated from cotton swatches used to strain drugs US, 1951 cotton slut noun a person who will attend an event for the sole purpose of obtaining a tee-shirt being given to those in attendance US, 2001

cottontail noun an attractive woman US, 1962 cotton-top noun an old person. An allusion to the white hair with which some older people are blessed US, 2000 cotton wool; cotton noun a casual quest for a sexual partner. Rhyming slang for PULL, in the phrase ON THE PULL (to quest or be questing for a sexual partner) UK, 1998. ▷ wrap in cotton-wool; keep in cotton-wool to cosset; to be extremely protective of someone UK, c.1890 couch noun ▷ on the couch 1 undergoing psychotherapy US, 1961; 2 in gambling, without further funds US, 1996 couch casting noun the practice of casting roles in performances based on the actor's willingness to have sex with the casting director US, 1973 couch commander noun someone watching television with a remote control US, 1991 couch dance noun a sexual dance performed in a sex club, with the dancer grinding on the lap of a man seated on a couch US, 1990

couchie noun ▷ see: KOUTCHIE couch lock noun a feeling of inertia as a result of smoking marijuana UK, 2004 couch potato noun a person who habitually idles, watching television. Possibly a pun on 'boob-tuber' (a television addict) and a 'potato' as a 'tuber'; it may also play on VEGETABLE (a person with an undemanding existence); the 'couch', of course, is where the potato is planted. One of the very few slang words or phrases where it is seemingly possible to trace the coining; in July 1976 a group of friends in California coined the term, which was first used in commerce in 1977 and then hit the big time with the Official Couch Potato Handbook (1983) US, 1976 couch surfer noun a person who sleeps on a friend's couch overnight NEW ZEALAND, 2003 cough noun 1 a confession. After COUGH (to confess) UK, 1978; 2 a piece of information or good evidence. Police use; from COUGH UP (to disclose) UK, 1984; 3 money paid out. From COUGH UP (to pay) US, 2000 cough verb 1 to confess US, 1899; 2 in drag racing, to suffer complete engine failure. Used as a transitive verb; 'you cough your engine' US, 1968. ▷ cough your cud to vomit NEW ZEALAND, 1989 cough! said humorously while pretending to grab at another man's testicles. From the practice in medical examinations of cupping the testicles and testing the healthy movement that is occasioned by a cough UK, 1984 cough and a spit noun 1 a small part in a play or a film UK, 1984; 2 a short distance UK, 2003 cough and choke verb to smoke. Also used as a noun to mean 'a cigarette' UK, 1998 cough and die verb (used of a computer program) to cease operating by virtue of a design feature US, 1991 cough and drag noun a cigarette. Rhyming slang for FAG (a cigarette), pitched somewhere between irony and black humour UK, 1992 cough and sneeze noun cheese. Rhyming slang, generally thought to date from late C19 UK, 1961 cough and splutter noun butter. Rhyming slang UK, 1978 cough drop noun an attractive girl SOUTH AFRICA, 1946 cough it up – it might be a gold watch! used as jocular encouragement to someone with a hacking cough UK, 1978 cough syrup noun money paid to police informers US, 1951 cough up verb 1 to pay, to hand over something US, 1890; 2 to disclose something US, 1896 couillon noun a lacrosse-like two ball game played by eastern Canadian Indian women on ice or in a clearing CANADA, 1951 couldn't-care-less adjective indifferent, uncaring UK, 1947 council gritter; council noun the anus. Rhyming slang for SHITTER UK, 2002 council houses noun trousers. Rhyming slang UK, 1934 count noun the ratio by which a drug is diluted US, 1964 count verb in pool, to make a shot US, 1967. ▷ count days in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, to track your recovery from addiction US, 1998. ▷ count your money to use the toilet US, 1954 counter noun 1 in poker, a player who to the annoyance of other players repeatedly counts his chips or money US, 1963; 2 a prostitute's customer US, 1964; 3 in lobstering, a lobster that meets the legal measurement requirements US, 1978 counter hopper noun a dedicated follower of youth fashion UK, 1983 coutess noun an older homosexual man US, 1979 country noun ▷ in country during the Vietnam war, in Vietnam US, 1971 country adjective unsophisticated, rural, not world-wise US, 1964 country bama noun a naive, gullible rustic US, 1990 country booboo noun any naive, gullible person VIRGIN ISLANDS, BRITISH, 1996 country bookie noun a naive rustic TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1904 country Cadillac noun a pickup truck US, 1976 country club noun 1 a minimum security, comfortable prison generally reserved for corporate and banking criminals US, 1960. 2 anything that appears to be relatively comfortable and undemanding US, 1973 country cousin noun 1 the bleed period of the menstrual period US, 1908. 2 a dozen. Rhyming slang UK, 1909 country dunny noun ► all alone like a country dunny completely alone; by yourself, friendless AUSTRALIA, 1888. ► like a country dunny glaringly obvious; standing out AUSTRALIA, 1954 country mile noun a long distance or margin US, 1957 country mouse noun in Antarctica, a scientist or scientist's assistant whose work takes them into the field, away from McMurdo Station ANTARCTICA, 2003 country send noun in a big con, sending the victim away to retrieve money US, 1997 country store noun in the Vietnam war, a military self-service supply centre US, 1968 country straight noun in poker, a hand consisting of four sequenced cards which can be converted into a five-card sequence with the correct draw at either end of the sequence US, 1978 country wool noun homespun wool CANADA, 1956 count store noun a rigged carnival game US, 1985 count the hooks!; count the hoops! in the Canadian military, used for demanding that a subordinate recognises the uniform and rank of the superior rebuking him or her CANADA, 1995 county noun any county jail, where the accused are held before trial and prisoners convicted of misdemeanours are incarcerated for short sentences US, 1953 county adjective in the manner of the landed gentry; snobbish, pretentious in the manner of, or with pretensions to, the gentry UK, 1921 county blues noun a blue uniform issued to prisoners in a county jail US, 1993

County Kilburn nickname the northwest London district of Kilburn. Formed in the manner of an Irish County in recognition of the high density of Irish in Kilburn's population UK, 2000 county mountie noun 1 a member of the Ulster Defence Regiment (1970–1992). Adopted from the US meaning (a local police officer); a reference to the six counties of Ulster UK, 1981. 2 a local police officer US, 1975 count your fingers! used with heavy humour to suggest distrust of a person who is shaking, or has just shaken, someone's hand UK, 1984 county shoes noun inexpensive shoes issued to prisoners by a county jail US, 1973 county time noun time served in a local county jail, as opposed to a state or federal prison. Less than 'state time' or 'hard time' US, 1996 coup noun 1 a crime UK, 2001. 2 in horse racing, a secret betting plunge in which a great deal of money is bet at favourable odds AUSTRALIA, 1895

Coupe noun a Cadillac Coupe de Ville car US, 1980 coupla noun two. A slovening of 'couple of' UK, 1959 couple noun several drinks, especially beers, not necessarily two UK, 1935 couple of bob noun 1 a non-specific amount of money. Pre-1971, when decimalisation changed the face and value of sterling, a BOB was 'a shilling' (5p) UK, 1980. 2 a job. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 3 a lump of phlegm. Rhyming slang for GOB (to spit) UK, 1992 coupon noun 1 the face. Often in the phrase 'fill in your coupon' (attack your face) UK, 1980. 2 an 'I owe you' which has not and will not be paid off US, 1996. 3 in trucking, a speeding ticket US, 1976 courage noun sexual potency BAHAMAS, 1982 courage pill noun 1 a capsule of heroin US, 1933. 2 a central nervous system depressant UK, 2003

'course of course UK, 1886 course-a-grunt; course-a-pig noun an error in bricklaying in which opposite ends of a new wall meet at different heights UK, 1978 course note noun paper money in denominations of $5 or greater US, 1950 court noun ► hold court in the street to mete out what a police officer deems justice through physical beatings US, 2007 court verb ► court Cecil to become addicted to morphine US, 1992 court card noun in a deck of playing cards, any jack, queen or king US, 1961 courtesy flush noun a mid-defecation flush of the toilet as a courtesy to others in a bathroom or other prisoners in the cell US, 1996 court-in noun a ceremonial beating to initiate a new member into a gang US, 1990 court-out noun a ceremonial beating of a person leaving a gang US, 1990

Cousin Charlie nickname the Federal Communications Commission US, 1976 cousin Ella noun an umbrella. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Cousin Jack noun a Cornish man, especially a miner AUSTRALIA, 1863 cousins noun curly hair on the back of the neck BAHAMAS, 1982 cousin Sis noun a piss (an act of urination); piss (alcohol), especially in the phrase 'going on the cousin Sis'. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

couta noun a barracouta AUSTRALIA, 1933 cove noun a fellow, bloke. From Romany kova (a thing, a person) UK, 1567

Covent Garden pardon, especially as a shortened version of 'I beg your pardon'. Rhyming slang, replacing the original (1857) sense as 'a farthing' (a coin that was worth 1/4 of a penny); formed on the name of a fashionable area of central London when it still had a reputation as a market for fruit and vegetables UK, 1992 cover noun 1 an admission fee paid to enter a bar or club. A shortened 'cover charge' US, 1986. 2 a single large-denomination note wrapped around small-denomination notes, giving the impression of a great deal of money US, 1964. 3 a recording which has been popularised by someone else. A shortened form of the more formal 'cover version' US, 1970. 4 the disguise and staged personality assumed by an expert card counter playing blackjack in a casino in the hope of avoiding detection and ejection US, 1991 cover verb 1 (used of a male) to have sex with a woman. Conventionally applied to a stallion with a mare TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1980. 2 (used of a favourite by sports gamblers) to win by at least the margin established as the pointspread by the bookmakers US, 1991 covered wagon noun 1 an aircraft carrier, especially the USS Langley US, 1933. 2 an ugly or unpleasant woman. Rhyming slang for DRAGON UK, 1992 covered with horseshoes adjective extremely lucky US, 1988 cover for verb 1 to act as a substitute for another worker UK, 1976. 2 to conceal someone's crime or mistake UK, 1968 covers noun ► pull the covers off to reveal someone's homosexuality US, 1981 covey noun a group of gullible people, likely victims for a swindle or crime US, 1964

COW noun 1 a contemptible woman UK, 1696. 2 a fellow, bloke AUSTRALIA, 1941. 3 a despicable person AUSTRALIA, 1894. 4 a prostitute attached to a pimp US, 1859. 5 something that causes annoyance AUSTRALIA, 1904. 6 any unpleasant situation or experience NEW ZEALAND, 1964. 7 a can of evaporated milk. Follows 'the' US, 1975. 8 a transport aircraft, usually a C-123 or C-130, outfitted with pumps and large rubberised drums US, 1991. ► have a cow to become emotionally overwrought; to lose control US, 1966. ► run cow; work cow to work for personal gain while in the employ of another GUYANA, 1952

Cow & Gate adjective late, in the sense that the bleed period of the menstrual cycle is overdue. Rhyming slang, formed, with heavy irony, on the name of a well-known baby food manufacturer UK, 1998 cowabunga; cuyabunga! used as an expression of triumph. Originally a signature line uttered by Chief Thunderthud on The Howdy Doody Show (NBC, 1947–60). Embraced by surfers, American soldiers in Vietnam, and the writers of Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles and The Simpsons US, 1955 cow and calf noun 1 half; thus, 50 pence (half £1). Rhyming slang. Variants are 'cow calf' and 'cows' UK, 1950. 2 a laugh. Rhyming slang. Also used as a verb UK, 1992 cow and horse; cow noun sexual intercourse. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 cowardly custard; cowardly, cowardly custard noun a coward. Custard is YELLOW (the colour applied as an adjective for cowardice) and so reinforces the accusation. This taunting form of address is usually hurled or chanted by children UK, 1836 cow belt noun the rural areas of the Indo-Gangetic plain. Journalistic, from the perception that more traditional Hindu values hold sway in such communities, and, therefore, a cow is revered more there than elsewhere in modern India INDIA, 2001 cowboy noun 1 a reckless, impulsive, undisciplined person US, 1926. 2 a flash fellow; a know-all UK, 1978. 3 a young and inexperienced, or irresponsible, driver UK, 1984. 4 a motorist prone to breaking the rules of the road US, 1928. 5 any tradesman (such as a builder, electrician, mechanic or plumber) who is unreliable, irresponsible and, perhaps, unqualified; the sort to make quick money by undercutting regular, trained craftsmen. As in the sign for Patel Brothers Builders: 'You've tried the Cowboys, now try the Indians!' UK, 1984. 6 a minor criminal given to violence. From such a person's tendency to 'come out shooting' UK, 1977. 7 during the Vietnam war, an unprincipled, untrustworthy, hustling Vietnamese person US, 1991. 8 a beginner. Mining usage CANADA, 1959. 9 used as a humorous term of address US, 1999. 10 in horse racing, any jockey with an unconventional style of riding AUSTRALIA, 1989. 11 a bow-legged man. From the gait of such a horse-rider UK, 1984. 12 in computing, a person with intelligence, knowledge and dedication to programming US, 1991. 13 in a deck of playing cards, a king US, 1967. 14 a perfunctory cleaning of the body with a wash cloth but not a full bath or shower BAHAMAS, 1982

Cowboy nickname Nguyen Cao Ky, Prime Minister of South Vietnam after the murder of Diem. So named by President Diem. 'Cowboy' is a term the Vietnamese then reserved for only the most flamboyant of gangsters. US Secretary of Defense McNamara condemned Ky as 'the absolute bottom of the barrel' US, 1991 cowboy verb 1 to murder someone in a reckless manner US, 1946. 2 to gang-rape someone US, 1957 cowboy Bible noun a packet of cigarette rolling papers US, 1970 cowboy Cadillac noun any pickup truck US, 1976 cowboy coffee noun coffee boiled in an open pot, served without milk or sugar US, 1943 cowboy cool adjective (used of beer) at room temperature US, 1984 cowboy coupe noun a pickup truck decked out with accessories US, 1962 cowboy hat noun a disposable paper toilet seat cover US, 1992 cowboys noun the police; police officers UK, 1960

Cowboys nickname ► the Cowboys third battalion, Royal Green Jackets UK, 1995 cowboys and Indians noun a prison sentence of 99 years US, 1990 cow cage noun a livestock carriage on a freight train US, 1946 cow cocky noun a dairy farmer AUSTRALIA, 1902 cow college noun a small rural college, especially one offering degrees in agriculture US, 1906 cow confetti; cowyard confetti noun nonsense, rubbish. A euphemism for BULLSHIT AUSTRALIA, 1941 cow cunt noun a despicable person US, 1988 cow-cunted adjective possessing a slack and distended vagina US, 1980

Cowdenbeath noun the teeth. Glasgow rhyming slang, formed from a Scottish town (and football team) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 cow dust time noun evening. A direct translation from Bengali go-dhuli, describing the dust that hangs in the air at that time of day when the cattle are returned from the fields INDIA, 2004 cowgirl noun a sexual position in which the woman is on top, astride and facing her partner US, 1995 cow grease noun butter. Originally 'cow's grease', 1857 UK, 1857 cowing adjective used to intensify. Probably military origins; a euphemism for FUCKING UK, 1962 cowing lush adjective marvellous, wonderful; used as an all-purpose expression of admiration UK: WALES, 2001 cow juice noun milk UK, 1796 cow-kick verb (of a horse) to kick outward and upward like a cow CANADA, 1954 cow lick noun in publishing, inexpensive varnish used on a book cover US, 1986 cowpat noun a single dropping of cow dung UK, 1954 cowpath noun a narrow back road US, 1971 cowpat lotto noun a lottery in which the winner is decided by which part of a paddock a cow first drops dung AUSTRALIA, 1995 cow poke noun a wooden device to keep a cow from going through a fence US, 1968 cow's breakfast noun a straw hat CANADA, 1959

cow's calf; cow and calf; cow's; calf noun until 1971, ten shillings; thereafter, fifty pence. Rhyming slang for 'half' (of £1). Pre-decimalisation, mainly reduced to 'calf'; in later C20 'cows' predominates UK, 1941 cowsh noun cattle excrement; nonsense. An abbreviation of 'cow shit' AUSTRALIA, 1937 cow's lick noun prison; a prison. Rhyming slang for NICK (a prison) UK, 1962 cowson noun a contemptible man. Literally, 'the son of a cow' UK, 1936 cowstroke noun in cricket, a hefty stroke to the leg side UK, 1978 cow-tongue noun a gossip TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

Cow Town nickname 1 Fort Worth, Texas US, 1976. 2 Calgary, Alberta CANADA, 1962 cow trail verb to take a motorcycle cruise in the country for recreation US, 1973 cowyard noun an inexpensive brothel US, 1964 cowyard cake noun a cake or bun containing a few sultanas AUSTRALIA, 1953

cox box noun an electronic device that includes an amplifier/microphone system as well as various measurement functions, used by a coxswain in competitive rowing US, 1999

coxed adjective (of a boat) under the control of a coxswain UK, 2001

coxe; cocksy noun an inexperienced swindler working on a scam by telephone who makes the initial call to potential victims US, 1988 coxy noun a coxswain US, 1966 coyote French noun the mixture of Canadian French, Cree and English spoken by the older Metis CANADA, 1963 coyote ugly adjective very ugly. The conceit of the term is that a man who wakes up with a 'coyote ugly' woman sleeping on his arm will, like a coyote caught in a trap, gnaw off his arm to escape US, 1985 cozmo noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994 cozy adjective dull, boring US, 1993 cozzier noun a police officer; the police. A confusion of Hebrew chazar (pig) and COPPER (a police officer) UK, 1958

CP noun corporal punishment US, 1987

c phone noun a mobile telephone. 'C' is for 'cellular' US, 1997

CP pill noun a large, orange anti-malaria pill taken once a week. Chloroquine-Primaquine US, 1991

CPR strawberry noun a prune CANADA, 1987

CPT; CP time noun a notional system of time in which punctuality is not important. An abbreviation of COLORED PEOPLE'S TIME US, 1925 crab noun 1 a contemptible person UK, 1580. 2 in the language of members of the Bloods youth gang, a member of the Crips youth gang US, 1987. 3 a member of the Royal Air Force UK, 1983. 4 a first-year college student US, 1947. 5 the vulva. Sometimes expanded to 'crabby'. BAHAMAS, 1982. 6 in the television and film industries, a device used to support a tripod on a slippery or uneven surface UK, 1960

crab verb 1 (of an aircraft) to fly close to the ground or water; to drift or manoeuvre sideways. From the sideways movement of a crab. An aircraft flying close to the ground may appear to fly diagonally UK, 1943. 2 in the language of parachuting, to direct the parachute across the wind direction US, 1978. 3 in the television and film industries, to move the camera sideways US, 1987. 4 to spoil something UK, 1812. 5 in horse racing, to belittle a horse's performance UK, 1948

crab adjective perverse; ill-humoured, perpetually mean, cross. A shortening of CRABBY UK, 1961 crab air nickname the Royal Air Force (RAF). Military use; extends from CRAB (a member of the Royal Air Force) UK, 1987 crab bait noun a newly arrived prisoner US, 1976 crabbie noun the vagina BAHAMAS, 1995 crabby adjective ill humoured, perpetually mean, cross. The villain of the extremely popular 1957 Tom Terrific cartoon series from Terry-Toon Cartoon Studios was the aptly named Crabby Appleton, who was, we remember, 'rotten to the core' US, 1908 crab-fat noun an airman in the Royal Air Force. In army and navy use. From the colour and consistency of a blue ointment used to treat CRABS (pubic lice); the blue is of a similar shade to the Royal Air Force uniform. However, this derivation may not be direct, nor strictly accurate. From the early C20, Admiralty grey paint was called 'crab-fat' and the anti-lice ointment was claimed as the inspiration for that shade. It seems equally likely, therefore, that this later use should derive from the grey paint UK, 1961 crabfats noun the Royal Air Force. In army and navy use; from the singular sense CRAB-FAT (an airman) UK, 1961 crab-foot noun childlike, scratchy handwriting BELIZE, 1996

crab hole noun a depression in swampy ground NEW ZEALAND, 1964 crab in a barrel noun used as a representation of the inability of people to work together TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

crab-mash verb to do a poor job ironing clothes BARBADOS, 1965 crabs noun 1 public lice UK, 1707. 2 in craps, a three US, 1938. 3 by extension, in a deck of playing cards, any three US, 1981 crabs on the rocks noun an itching of the scrotum. A play on CRABS (pubic lice) UK, 1961 crack noun 1 crystalline lumps of concentrated cocaine US, 1985. 2 entertaining conversation in good company. Irish neologism crack (an informal entertainment) combines with earlier Eirrean use of 'the crack' (brisk talk, news); ultimately from Old English cracian (crack, a loud noise) IRELAND, 1966. 3 a witticism; a quick and funny remark US, 1884. 4 a witty person US, 1976. 5 a smart person Fiji, 1993. 6 a top class racehorse AUSTRALIA, 1960. 7 the vagina. The imagery from which this derives should be apparent; it remains in widespread use UK, 1775. 8 the cleft between the buttock muscles; loosely, the bottom; or, more narrowly, the anus UK, 1999. 9 a passing of wind US, 1946. 10 an instance; one item US, 1937. 11 an opportunity or chance US, 1893. 12 an attempt. In phrases 'have a crack', 'take a crack', 'give a crack', etc US, 1836. 13 of dawn or day, the break, the instant it commences US, 1887. 14 the latest news. Anglo-Irish. Heard on a building site in Lancashire UK, 1979. 15 wood; firewood. English gypsy use UK, 1851. ► on crack out of your mind. Used in situations where there is no crack cocaine involved, usually humorously in a statement such as 'What are you, on crack?' US, 1995 crack verb 1 to speak US, 1897. 2 to ask for something US, 1928. 3 to reveal a secret; to inform on someone US, 1922. 4 to tease someone; to taunt someone; to insult someone US, 1930. 5 to arrest someone US, 1952. 6 to break and enter using force with the intent of committing a crime within UK, 1725. 7 to change paper money into coin. Originally used by seamen in Liverpool; phrased in use as, for example: 'Can you crack a fiver?', meaning 'Can you change a five pound note?' UK, 1961. 8 to have sex with a girl who is a virgin Fiji, 1992. 9 in surfing, to catch a wave AUSTRALIA, 1957. 10 to strike something or someone in such a way that a sharp noise is produced; to slap, to smack, etc UK, 1836. 11 in cricket, to hit a ball hard UK, 1882. 12 to drum with expertise. A shortening of 'crack a hand' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► crack a bennie to break a Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate) inhaler open US, 1970. ► crack a fat to achieve an erection AUSTRALIA, 1968. ► crack a grain to suffer aching testicles TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► crack a Judy; crack a Judy's tea-cup to take a woman's virginity. Formed from conventional 'crack' (to break, to open) and JUDY (a girl or woman) UK, 1937. ► crack a laugh to burst into laughter TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► crack a lay to divulge something secret AUSTRALIA, 1941. ► crack a rat to fart US, 1998. ► crack a short to break into a car US, 1970. ► crack a smile to smile broadly, especially of someone who is usually serious UK, 1990. ► crack an egg 1 in bowls, to play with just sufficient weight to move a bowl or a jack an inch or two SOUTH AFRICA, 1968. 2 in curling, to touch a stone lightly with the bowled stone CANADA, 1960. ► crack the nut to meet an operation's daily operating expenses US, 1980. ► crack wise to insult someone with a degree of sarcasm and humour. Imparts a slight air of the old gangster life US, 1921. ► crack your cherry to lose your innocence or virginity US, 1970. ► crack your face to smile broadly, especially of a usually serious person UK, 1966. ► get cracking to start, to begin work UK, 1937

crack adjective excellent UK, 1793 crack about verb to act vigorously and aggressively. Field Marshal Montgomery spoke of his army, after it had crossed the Rhine in 1945, as having the chance to 'crack about on the plains of North Germany' UK, 1945 crackalacking; crackalackin' verb happening; doing; occurring; working. Also, in the greeting 'what's crackalackin?' US, 2003 crack along; crack on verb to move swiftly. From the use of a whip to encourage speed UK, 1837 crack attack noun the intense craving for crack cocaine felt by an addict US, 1992 crack baby noun 1 a child born with an addiction to crack cocaine US, 1990. 2 someone who is behaving very foolishly. Comparing the person to a baby born addicted to crack cocaine US, 1993 crack back noun marijuana mixed with crack cocaine UK, 1998

CrackBerry noun a person who enjoys an obsessive relationship with a BlackBerry mobile telecommunications device UK, 2005

CrackBerry nickname the BlackBerry™, a wireless instant-messaging device CANADA, 2002 crack cooler noun pieces of crack cocaine soaked in a wine cooler drink US, 1994 crack-crack noun hands that are badly chapped NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992 crack down verb 1 to repress; to suppress by draconian means, especially used of campaigns against lawless persons or acts. Usually before 'on' or 'upon' UK, 1940. 2 in horse racing, to be determined to win a race US, 1994 crack down on verb to seize or make off with something AUSTRALIA, 1961 cracked adjective mentally impaired UK, 1692 cracked ice noun diamonds that have been removed from their settings US, 1962 cracked out adjective suffering symptoms of heavy crack cocaine usage US, 1988 cracked squash noun a fractured skull US, 1985 crack 'em up noun a vehicular accident US, 1977 cracker noun 1 a poor, uneducated, racist white from the southern US US, 1966. 2 a person of Anglo-culture CANADA, 2001. 3 anything excellent. From CRACK (excellent). Contemporary usage is due in part to comedian Frank Carson who has 'It's a cracker!' as a catchphrase UK, 1914. 4 an excellent performance in a game AUSTRALIA, 1986. 5 an attractive woman UK, 1914. 6 the buttocks US, 1948. 7 a person who breaches a computer system's security scheme. Coined by hackers in defence against journalistic misuse of their word US, 1991. 8 a criminal who specialises in breaking into safes. An abbreviation of 'safe cracker' US, 1982. 9 a safe CANADA, 1976. 10 a pound (£1); a pound-note. Often used in phrases such as 'not have a cracker' AUSTRALIA, 1934. 11 the least amount of money AUSTRALIA, 1934. 12 a firework AUSTRALIA, 1907. 13 a gramophone record US, 1947. 14 a brothel AUSTRALIA, 1955. 15 a tooth. Usually in the plural UK, 1978. ► go off like a cracker to explode into a rage AUSTRALIA, 1995. ► not worth a cracker entirely worthless AUSTRALIA, 1941 cracker adjective excellent NEW ZEALAND, 1964 cracker! used for expressing approval UK, 2003 cracker-ass noun a thin person US, 1966 crackerbox noun 1 a plain, box-like house US, 1945. 2 a jail from which escape is simple; a safe which is simple to break into US, 1950. 3 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977. 4 a military truck used as an ambulance US, 1950 cracker-box adjective plain, simple, unsophisticated US, 1911

Crackerdom noun an area inhabited predominantly by racist white people US, 1987 cracker factory noun a mental hospital US, 1970 crackerjack noun an excellent example of something US, 1895 crackerjack adjective highly skilled, excellent US, 1899 cracker night noun a night which is celebrated with fireworks. Currently this is used to commemorate the birthday of Queen Elizabeth II, though it was previously used to celebrate other occasions AUSTRALIA, 1951 crackers noun LSD. From the practice, at least in Boston, of saturating animal cracker biscuits with LSD and selling it in that form US, 1967 crackers adjective crazy, mad UK, 1925 crack gallery noun a building or room where crack cocaine is sold and smoked US, 1989 crack girl noun a girl or woman addicted to crack cocaine US, 1980s crack hardy verb to endure something bravely; to put on a brave face AUSTRALIA, 1904 crackhead noun 1 a person addicted to crack cocaine US, 1986. 2 a crazy person. From CRACKED (mentally impaired) UK, 2002 crack house noun a building or room where crack cocaine may be bought and consumed US, 1985 crackie noun 1 a crack cocaine user US, 1997. 2 in the Maritime Provinces, a small yapping dog CANADA, 1959 crack-in noun a burglary US, 1949 cracking adjective 1 very fast, vigorous. Also used as an adverb UK, 1825. 2 excellent. Also used as an adverb UK, 1833 crack in the shack noun a homosexual in a jail cell US, 1984 crack it verb 1 to succeed in some endeavour; to attain a desire AUSTRALIA, 1936. 2 to succeed in gaining sexual intercourse; to have sex AUSTRALIA, 1941. 3 to work as a prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1945 crackle noun banknotes. From the sound of new money UK, 1950 crackling noun a woman or women regarded as sexual pleasure. This probably blends the pleasures to be had from tender, juicy meat and CRACK (the vagina). Conventionally 'crackling' is the crisped skin of roast pork UK, 1947 crack mama noun a homeless woman addicted to crack cocaine US, 1997 crack off verb (of a male) to masturbate UK, 2003 crack on verb 1 to tell someone something; to reveal a secret AUSTRALIA, 1965. 2 to go ahead. A variation of the sense 'to hurry', hence 'to move forward' UK, 2001. 3 to flirt; to try to seduce someone US, 1982. 4 to succeed in gaining sexual favours from another AUSTRALIA, 1955 ► see: CRACK ALONG crack out verb 1 to escape from prison US, 1950. 2 in a swindle, to relieve the victim of his money quickly US, 1977

crackpot noun a person who is somewhere in the continuum between odd and crazy UK, 1883 crackpot adjective (of ideas and schemes) crazy, fantastic, unrealistic US, 1934 crack regiment noun the Women's Royal Army Corps, and its predecessor (from 1938–46), the Auxiliary Territorial Service. A pun on CRACK (excellent) and CRACK (the vagina) UK, 1995 crack salesman noun 1 a youthful, attractive homosexual male prostitute US, 1979. 2 a pimp US, 1949 cracksman noun a burglar; a safe-breaker. Originally 'a house-breaker'. As in the title of the 1963 film starring Charlie Drake US, 1797 crack smile noun a slash from ear to mouth, especially one inflicted for failure to pay for drugs US, 1993 cracksmoker noun a person whose sanity is open to question, whether or not they actually smoke crack US, 1997 crack troops noun female soldiers. A pun on 'crack' – here used in the vaginal sense, not the expected expert sense US, 1947 crack-up noun 1 a nervous breakdown US, 1936. 2 a cause for laughter US, 1961 crack up verb 1 to undergo a nervous breakdown US, 1917. 2 to praise someone highly US, 1829. 3 to amuse someone greatly; to cause laughter; to start laughing, especially uproariously US, 1942 crack weed noun marijuana laced with crack cocaine UK, 2003 crack whore noun a prostitute motivated by a desire to buy crack cocaine US, 1990 cracoid noun a crack cocaine addict US, 1990 cradle noun 1 your domicile, be it a room, apartment or house CANADA, 1993. 2 any open-top railway goods wagon, such as a gondola US, 1977 cradle baby noun a novice citizens' band radio user. Based on the initials CB US, 1976 cradle rape noun sex with a girl under the age of consent US, 1969 cradle-rocker noun in placer mining, a trough on a rocker shaken to separate gold flecks from sand and earth CANADA, 1995 cradle-snatch verb to have a sexual relationship with someone much younger than yourself. The image of the partner as a baby UK, 1938 cradle-snatcher noun a person who has a noticeably younger lover. Also known as a 'cradle-robber' US, 1907

Craft's disease noun senile dementia. From the spurious acronym 'can't remember a fucking thing' AUSTRALIA, 1996 craftsman noun a socially inept dolt US, 1992 crafty Alice noun used as the epitome of a woman's wiles UK, 1969 crafty butcher noun a male homosexual. Punningly derived, with Christmas-cracker-motto corniness, because 'a crafty butcher takes his meat through the back door' UK, 2003 cram verb to study hastily for an examination UK, 1810 cram-book noun a book used for hasty study UK, 1883 cram it! used for registering an imperative rejection US, 1957 crammer noun 1 a period of intense studying for an examination UK, 2005. 2 a teacher who prepares students for examination; a student in a period of intense study for an examination; hence, an institution where students are given such intense preparation UK, 1813 cramming noun intensive study especially in preparation for an examination UK, 1821 cramp noun an unpleasant person US, 1992 cramp verb ► cramp someone's style to hamper or prevent someone from doing, or being at, their best. From sporting use US, 1917 cramper noun a small cage in which a prisoner of war is confined US, 1986 cran noun a hiding-place for stolen goods UK, 2003 crane noun 1 in skateboarding, a manoeuvre in which the rider crouches on one foot, extending the other leg outwards US, 1976. 2 a superior with a great deal of influence. New York police slang US, 1997 crank noun 1 methamphetamine hydrochloride in powdered form; any amphetamine; methcathinone US, 1969. 2 a mentally unstable person; an unreliable, unpredictable person; a person who is obsessed by a single topic or hobby US, 1833. 3 a prison guard who takes pleasure in making life difficult for prisoners US, 1981. 4 a prison bully US, 1958. 5 a crankshaft. Hot rodder usage US, 1948. 6 the penis US, 1968. 7 an act of masturbation AUSTRALIA, 1985 crank verb 1 to use amphetamines or methamphetamine, central nervous system stimulants US, 1970. 2 to inject a drug. Also known as 'crank up' UK, 1978. 3 to turn up the volume of music to very loud US, 1994. 4 to excel US, 1988. 5 in computing, to perform well US, 1991. 6 in a card game, to deal the cards US, 1988. ► crank tail to physically assault someone TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1971

crank adjective insane FJI, 1995 crank bug noun an insect that is seen by someone under the influence of methamphetamine but not by others US, 1977

crankcase verb the head US, 1960 crank commando noun an amphetamine or methamphetamine addict UK, 1970 cranked; cranked out; cranked up adjective 1 stimulated by methamphetamine or amphetamines US, 1971. 2 excited; intensified. Mechanical imagery US, 1957 cranker noun a bowler who in delivering the ball lifts it high over his head in the backswing US, 1987 cranking; cranking up noun the act of injecting a drug UK, 2000 cranking adjective amusing; pleasing; exciting; good US, 1982 crank off verb to consume something US, 2001 crank out verb to create something, to make something. The implication is of mechanical manufacture, but that is not necessarily the intention US, 2001 crank time noun the time set or needed to start up a helicopter US, 1991 cranny noun 1 the vagina. An adoption, probably in C19, of the conventional sense; it remains in circulation mainly as an occasional variation of a pornographer's theme; the male-inspired 'cranny-hunter', however, is no longer evident UK, 1937. 2 a toilet US, 1968 crap noun 1 nonsense UK, 1898. 2 excrement UK, 1846. 3 an act of defecation US, 1926. 4 marijuana US, 1961. 5 weak or highly diluted heroin US, 1942. ► take a crap to defecate US, 1952 crap verb to defecate UK, 1673 crap adjective inferior, shoddy, valueless, unpleasant, disliked for whatever reason. From the earlier sense (excrement) US, 1916 crap antenna noun the ability to detect when someone is speaking nonsense AUSTRALIA, 1987 crap around verb to idle; to pass time doing nothing; to waste time US, 1935 crap artist noun a convincing liar US, 1934 crap-ass noun a despicable person US, 1975 crap-ass adjective shoddy, inferior US, 2000 crapaud-foot writing; crapaud hand noun illegible penmanship TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

crapaud-going-to-wedding noun childlike, scratchy handwriting GRENADA, 1996 crap course noun an easy college course US, 1956 crape-hanger noun a doomsayer US, 1949 crap hat noun in a paratroop regiment, a non-jumper. From the different colour of the uniform beret (a non-jumper is not allowed to wear the red 'cherry berry' beret) UK, 2000 crap heap noun a dilapidated vehicle AUSTRALIA, 1974 craphole noun a bad place, a disgusting place US, 1939 craphouse noun 1 a toilet US, 1934. 2 a dirty, unpleasant place US, 1934 crapness noun a lack of style or worth UK, 2000 crap off verb to annoy someone AUSTRALIA, 1974

crapola noun used as an embellished 'crap' in any and all of its senses UK, 1959 crap out verb 1 to be completely exhausted; to go to sleep US, 1956. 2 to die US, 1929. 3 to come to an end of a horizontal passage while caving or pot-holing. The horizontal equivalent of the conventional mining-term 'bottom out' UK, 2004 crapper noun 1 a toilet US, 1927. 2 the anus, the rectum; the buttocks UK, 1998. ► in the crapper in horse racing, finishing in fourth place or worse US, 1976 crapper dick noun a police officer who patrols public toilets in search of illegal homosexual activity US, 1950 crappereena noun a toilet UK, 1979 crappers noun ► in crappers ditch in severe trouble. A strikingly unpleasant image akin to UP SHIT CREEK NEW ZEALAND, 1998

crappers adjective very drunk UK, 1987 crappo noun a resident of Jersey (in the Channel Islands) according to those on Guernsey UK, 1991 crappy adjective 1 of poor quality. From CRAP (excrement), synonymous with SHITTY US, 1942. 2 befouled with excrement UK, 1846

craps noun dice, especially used in craps US, 1965 craps! used for expressing disgust TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

crapshoot noun an unpredictable, risky situation US, 1971 craptabulous adjective of extremely inferior quality. a combination of CRAP and FANTABULOUS sometimes used to celebrate that which is so bad it is good UK, 2005 craptacular adjective of extremely inferior quality. A combination of CRAP and spectacular sometimes used to celebrate that which is so bad it is good. Coinage is credited to the writers of cartoon character Bart Simpson in The Simpsons US, 2004 craptastic adjective of extremely inferior quality. A combination of CRAP and fantastic sometimes used to celebrate that which is so bad it is good US, 2003 craptitude noun a state of existence comprising generally negative qualities such as poor taste and feebleness. A variation of CRAPNESS that seems to carry a suggestion of decrepitude UK, 2000 crap up verb 1 to fill something with clutter US, 1946. 2 to spoil something; to ruin something US, 1953. 3 to address someone with a complete lack of sincerity US, 1950

crapweasel noun a deceitful and/or annoying person UK, 2005 crash verb 1 to enter a party or social event without an invitation US, 1921. 2 to enter a place with force with the intention of committing a crime US, 1924. 3 to stay somewhere temporarily; to sleep somewhere US, 1945. 4 to go to sleep UK, 1943. 5 to return to normal perceptions after a drug intoxication; to experience an associated feeling of post-intoxication depression or dismay US, 1967. 6 (used of a computer program) to fail completely without warning US, 1983. 7 (used of a police case) to fail or be dropped UK, 1996. 8 to hit something, to strike something US, 1989. 9 to escape from jail or prison US, 1970. 10 in circus and carnival usage, to change money US, 1981. 11 to pass something; to give something out. Teen slang, recorded in Leicestershire UK: ENGLAND, 1977. 12 to intubate a hospital patient quickly and urgently US, 1994. 13 to perform a high-priority job as soon as possible US, 1986. ► crash and burn 1 to fail US, 2003. 2 in computing, to fail in a dramatic and spectacular fashion US, 1991. ► crash the ash to offer someone a cigarette UK, 1950s crash box noun in cars, a manual transmission not equipped with synchromesh, requiring forceful gear shifts US, 1965 crash car noun an old, inexpensive car used in the distribution of illegal alcohol US, 1974 crash cart noun a mobile cart used to carry equipment. Originally hospital use, since expanded US, 1982 crash-course noun a short, intensive course on a particular subject UK, 1973

crasher noun 1 a person temporarily sleeping in someone else's house or apartment US, 1975. 2 a very tedious or tiresome person or thing. A variation of CRASHING BORE UK, 1960. 3 a powerful, hard-breaking wave US, 1964 crash hat noun a safety helmet US, 2003 crash helmet noun a condom. Figurative use of motorcyclists' safety wear: in both uses worn in case of accident. Possibly also a punning reference to 'helmet' (the head of the penis) UK, 1998 crash hot adjective excellent AUSTRALIA, 1962

crash hot! used for expressing enthusiastic approval NEW ZEALAND, 1998 crashing bore noun a very tedious or tiresome person or thing UK, 1934 crash-out noun an escape from prison or jail US, 1940 crash out verb to escape from prison US, 1954 crash pad noun 1 a room, apartment, or house where people stay for the night or temporarily, with or without knowing the owner, with or without formal invitation US, 1967. 2 a pit of soft dirt or sand used for low-level stunt falls US, 2003

-crat; -ocrat suffix when linked with a subject, used to designate a person that may be dominant, or aspiring to dominance, or pretending superiority within that subject area. A sarcastic or humorous application of the conventional sense found in such words as 'aristocrat', 'democrat', 'plutocrat', etc. The root in most conventional senses ends with an 'o'; in colloquial or journalistic usage the 'o' is generally incorporated UK, 1937

crate noun 1 an old and dilapidated car US, 1927. 2 a railway boxcar US, 1977 crate of sand noun a truck hauling sugar US, 1971 crater noun 1 a deep sore caused by repeated injections US, 1967. 2 a facial blemish US, 1968 crates noun the female breasts NEW ZEALAND, 1984

c-rat grenade noun a crude hand grenade fashioned by the Viet Cong using a US combat rations can as the grenade shell US, 1990

c-rats noun US Army combat rations. Vietnam war coinage, in continuing use US, 1965 craven adjective gluttonous, greedy GRENADA, 1996

cravenous adjective gluttonous, greedy VIRGIN ISLANDS, BRITISH, 1996 cravetious adjective greedy TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956 cravicious adjective gluttonous, greedy BARBADOS, 1996 crawfish verb to evade someone or something. In nature, the only defence available to the crawfish is to bury itself in mud or silt, moving backwards US, 1842 crawl noun 1 in television and film-making, titles that roll from the bottom of the screen to the top US, 1990. 2 in pool, backspin applied to the cue ball US, 1954 crawl verb 1 to behave sycophantically AUSTRALIA, 1880. 2 to search somewhere US, 1986 crawler noun 1 a sycophant AUSTRALIA, 1827. 2 a despicable or contemptible person; a low person AUSTRALIA, 1917 crawling adjective verminous. Shortened from 'crawling with lice' UK, 1961 crawling horror noun in computing, obsolete hardware or software US, 1991 crawl with verb to be alive, or filled with, people of a specified type UK, 1925 cray noun 1 a one-hundred dollar note. From the note's red colour, shared with the crayfish NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 2 a crayfish AUSTRALIA, 1909 crayon noun a programmer who works on a supercomputer designed by Cray Research US, 1991 craythur noun strong alcohol, usually whiskey. The spelling reflects the Hiberno-English pronunciation of 'creature' IRELAND, 2002 crazies noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1993 crazy noun a person who engages in erratic or unpredictable behaviour US, 1867 crazy adjective 1 excellent, exciting, superlative US, 1948. 2 enthusiastic for, about or to do something UK, 1779. 3 (used of a particular card in poker and other card games) capable of being played as a card of any value. The same as the more common 'wild' US, 1967.

4 many US, 1989. ► like crazy of behaviour, to the utmost US, 1924 crazy alley noun the area in a prison in which mentally ill patients are confined US, 1992 crazy as a bedbug adjective extremely eccentric, mad US, 1918 crazy-ass adjective very crazy US, 1994 crazy doctor noun a psychiatrist or other psychotherapist US, 1989 crazy Eddy noun high quality phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1993 crazy eight; crazy 8 noun a discharge from the US Army for mental unfitness. From US Army Regulation 600–208 US, 1968 crazy freak noun a pretty girl US, 1955 crazy house noun a mental hospital US, 1887

Crazy Joey nickname Joey Gallo, reputed member of the Gambino crime family in New York, shot to death at Umberto's Clam House in 1972 US, 1990 crazy large adjective doing very well US, 1993 crazy like a fox; crazy as a fox adjective eccentric; cunning US, 1935 crazy oats noun wild rice CANADA, 1963

crazyweed noun marijuana UK, 1998 creaker noun an old person US, 1958 cream noun 1 a bribe US, 1982. 2 a variety of hashish from the Parvatti Valley in Northern India UK, 2003. 3 money. Cash rules everything around me US, 1994 cream verb 1 to ejaculate; to secrete vaginal lubricants during sexual arousal US, 1915. 2 by extension, to gush with excitement US, 1948. 3 to defeat someone convincingly US, 1940. 4 to kill someone US, 1940. 5 to hit someone or something US, 1942. 6 to rob someone UK, 1998.

► cream the rag to boast in an offensive manner. The masturbatory image is powerful US, 1971. ► cream your jeans while dressed, to respond to a sexual stimulus by secreting fluids US, 1942. ► get creamed to be knocked from your surfboard and pounded into the ocean, ocean bottom or pilings of a pier US, 1978 cream bun noun a Protestant. Glasgow rhyming slang for HUN UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 cream cookie noun a bookmaker; a betting shop. Glasgow rhyming slang for BOOKIE UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 cream cracker noun an unsavoury lower-class person. Rhyming slang for KNACKER; also abbreviated to 'creamers' IRELAND, 2003 cream crackered adjective tired out, exhausted. Rhyming slang for KNACKERED (exhausted); a conventional 'cream cracker' is a savoury biscuit UK, 1992 creamed adjective soiled by vaginal secretions as a result of sexual arousal UK, 1997 creamer noun 1 an employee who steals from the till UK, 1996.

2 someone who is over-excited or scared; by implication, someone who is not in control of his emotions or his affairs AUSTRALIA, 1973. 3 in the car sales business, an excellent car US, 1953 creamie noun 1 a sexually attractive young woman UK, 1982. 2 an outstanding student selected after advanced flying training to become a flying instructor. Also variant 'creamy' UK, 1981 creamies noun the viscous discharge of a sexually transmitted infection US, 1969 cream off verb to orgasm. Based on CREAM (to ejaculate) UK, 2000 creampie noun semen seeping from a vagina, anus or mouth. A fetish that oozed from US Internet pornography in the early 2000s; the semen is as often as not an artificially concocted look-alike US, 2002 cream puff noun 1 a huff. Glasgow rhyming slang UK, 1985. 2 an effeminate male US, 1945. 3 an easy target, easy prey US, 1915. 4 in the used car business, a well-preserved car US, 1949 creamy noun a person of mixed European and Australian Aboriginal heritage AUSTRALIA, 1912 creamy adjective 1 quarter-caste Australian Aboriginal AUSTRALIA, 1912. 2 sexually attractive. Influenced by 'creamy' (delightful), this use is from CREAM (to secrete fluids when sexually aroused) US, 1947. 3 pleasing, excellent. Teen slang UK, 1989 crease noun in sports betting, a distortion created when strong fan support for one team or contestant creates an imbalance in the odds which can be exploited by a clever bettor US, 1991 crease; crease up verb to laugh immoderately, to collapse with laughter; to cause such a condition. An image of being bent double with laughter UK, 1984

cred noun credibility UK, 1998 cred adjective acceptable to your peers; hence, fashionable. Abbreviated from STREET-CRED (the quality of being understood by urban youth), in turn shortened from 'street-credible' UK, 1999 credentials noun the genitals US, 1968 credit noun 1 an achievement or accomplishment. From the acknowledgement of service rendered in the entertainment industry US, 1992. 2 a reduction of a jail sentence due to good behaviour US, 1949 credit card noun 1 a boyfriend UK, 1981. 2 a favour owed US, 1958 creek noun ► down the creek in oil drilling, wasted or lost US, 1954. ► up the creek in trouble. Variant phrases include 'up the creek without a paddle' and 'up the creek with a paddle in a barbed-wire canoe' US, 1918 creep noun 1 an objectionable or unpleasant person; a dull or insignificant person US, 1926. 2 a prisoner who is neither respected nor liked US, 1951. 3 a thief who operates in hotels, entering unlocked rooms as the guests sleep UK, 1877. 4 a drug addict who relies on the kindness of other addicts for small amounts of drugs US, 1971. 5 a furtive arrival or departure US, 1946. ► on the creep used of a thief who is working UK, 1996 creep verb 1 to work as a sneak-thief US, 1928. 2 to ambush someone with the intent of seriously injuring or killing them. Prison usage US, 1974. 3 to attempt to have a secret sexual relationship with someone's boyfriend or girlfriend US, 2001. 4 to be sexually unfaithful US, 1972. 5 to dance. A late 1950s usage, not necessarily in reference to 'the Creep', a short-lived 1950s dance sensation UK, 1950s. 6 to escape US, 1967

creep! go away! UK, 1958 creep-and-cuss adjective (used of car traffic) extremely congested US, 1964 creeped out adjective worried, disturbed. Extends from THE CREEPS (a feeling of dread) US, 2001 creeper noun 1 a burglar US, 1906. 2 a prostitute or prostitute's accomplice who steals from the clothes of the prostitute's customer UK, 1984. 3 a marijuana cigarette US, 1997. 4 in trucking, a very low gear US, 1937. 5 in car repair, a platform on casters that allows a mechanic to lie on their back and roll under a car to work on it US, 1992 creeperbud; creeper noun a subtly potent variety of marijuana. Because it 'creeps up on you' US, 1981 creepers noun soft-soled, quiet shoes favoured by burglars US, 1949 creepers! used for expressing surprise. An abbreviated version of JEEPERS, CREEPERS! US, 1944 creep game noun a scheme in which a prostitute and her confederate rob the prostitute's customer US, late 1960s creep house noun a brothel where customers are routinely robbed US, 1913 creepie-peepie noun a small, hand-held television camera. An unsuccessful attempt to recreate the popularity of WALKIE-TALKIE US, 1952 creeping crud noun any skin rash suffered in tropical and jungle environments US, 1946 creeping Jesus noun a hypocritically pious sneak and coward UK, 1818 creeping Jesus! used as an expression of surprise, frustration, anger, etc AUSTRALIA, 1961 creeping mocus noun a non-existent disease US, 1947 creep joint noun a brothel where customers' clothes are searched and robbed US, 1921 creepo noun a contemptible person US, 1960 creep out verb to create a very uncomfortable feeling in someone US, 1983 creep pad noun a creep joint US, 1946 creeps noun ► the creeps a sensation of dread UK, 1849 creeps! used as an all-purpose, non-profane expression of surprise US, 1971 creepster noun a revolting person. An embellished CREEP US, 1993 creepy adjective annoying; producing anxiety or nervousness in others US, 1919 creepy-crawly noun an insect; a spider UK, 1960 creepy-peepy noun 1 battlefield radar. Vietnam war usage US, 1965. 2 a television mini-camera US, 1986 crem noun a crematorium. Cremation has been legal in the UK since 1884; it is a matter of conjecture how soon this familiar shortening took a hold UK, 1971

Creme de Menthe French noun oral sex performed with a mouth full of creme de menthe alcohol US, 1993 cremmie; cremmy noun a crematorium. An elaboration of CREM AUSTRALIA, 1982 crepes noun trainers (sneakers) JAMAICA, 1996

crepesoles noun trainers (sneakers) GUYANA, 1996 crest verb to smile. From the branded toothpaste US, 1997 cretin noun an incompetent and despicable person US, 1981 cretinous adjective in computing, incompetent, dysfunctional US, 1981 crevice noun the vagina. Widespread in pornographic literature UK, 1937 crew noun 1 a criminal gang US, 1946. 2 a tightly-knit group of close friends US, 1957. 3 a group of graffiti artists who work together US, 1997 crew chief noun the leader of a unit of a criminal gang US, 1992 crew dog noun a crew chief in the US Air Force US, 1998 crew hog noun a miscellaneous member of a film crew US, 2000 crew pie noun a pizza made by a pizza parlour's employees US, 1996 crew runner noun the leader of a criminal gang US, 2000 crew up verb to form a group to commit a crime US, 2000 cri! used as an expression or shock, surprise, etc. A shortening of CRIKEY! UK, 1984 crib noun 1 a person's dwelling; an apartment or house US, 1809. 2 a room or shack where a prostitute plies her trade US, 1846. 3 a house or shop chosen for a robbery CANADA, 1976. 4 in trucking, the sleeping compartment behind the driver US, 1976. 5 a holiday cottage NEW ZEALAND, 1980. 6 a prison cell US, 1990. 7 a gambling establishment UK, 1823. 8 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977. 9 a safe US, 1962. 10 a receptacle for carrying a meal to work AUSTRALIA, 1941. 11 a meal taken during the major break at work AUSTRALIA, 1890. 12 any form of written aid to cheating in examinations. The original (1841) meaning was specifically 'a literal translation illicitly used by students'; the current vaguer sense gained purchase during C20 UK, 1900. 13 cribbage (a card game) UK, 1885. 14 crack cocaine UK, 1998 crib verb 1 to reside somewhere US, 1969. 2 to cheat in an examination UK, 1891. 3 to plagiarise something; to copy something UK, 1941 cribbage peg noun the leg. Rhyming slang UK, 1923 cribber noun a horse that chews the wood of its stall US, 1947 crib course noun a basic, easy course of study US, 1970 crib girl noun a woman working in a supply shack or supply room US, 1945 cribhouse noun a brothel US, 1916 cribman noun a professional safecracker US, 1976 crib sheet noun a piece of paper with information used for studying or cheating in an examination or test US, 1960 crib time noun a meal time during work hours AUSTRALIA, 1890 cricket adjective fair, following customs and rules UK, 1900 cricket score odds noun in horse racing, odds of 100–1 or higher AUSTRALIA, 1989 cricket team noun a very sparse moustache. There are eleven men – or hairs – on each side AUSTRALIA, 1984 cricks; crix noun theatre critics US, 1952 crigs noun the testicles. From the Irish creig (rock) or cnag (knob) UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1992 crikey! used as an expression of surprise, frustration, etc. A euphemism for CHRISTI! UK, 1838 crikey Moses! used for registering surprise or anguish UK, 1933 crill noun a marijuana cigarette laced with cocaine. A lazy pronunciation of CRIPPLE UK, 2001

crill adjective inferior US, 1993 crills noun crack cocaine US, 1995 crillz noun an abode US, 1997

crim noun a criminal US, 1909 crim adjective involved in crime; criminal AUSTRALIA, 1987 crime noun someone who doesn't pay debts. From the adage 'crime doesn't pay' AUSTRALIA, 1989 crime verb in the military, to discipline someone AUSTRALIA, 1932

Crime Dog nickname Fred McGriff (b.1943), a first baseman (1986–2001) with a large impact on the defence of the team he was playing for. An allusion to the comic strip character McGruff, a crime-fighting dog US, 1992 crimey noun a criminal US, 1969 crimp noun 1 an obstacle or impediment US, 1896. 2 a discreet bend or crease in a playing card that assists a cheat or a conjuror to prosper US, 2003

crimp verb to intrude; to impede something US, 1979 crimp cut noun in a card game, a cheating move in which the cheater cuts the deck of cards to an intended spot US, 1996 crimper noun 1 a hairdresser UK, 1968. 2 in gambling, a person who crimps cards so as to be able to identify them in future hands US, 1992 crimps noun tight curls of hair BAHAMAS, 1982 crimson butterfly noun the penis UK, 2003 crimson Rambler noun a bedbug US, 1906 crimson tide; crimson wave noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001 cringe noun methamphetamine. Probably from CRANK, but the image of cringing is powerful when discussing a methamphetamine user US, 1993 cringle; oh cringle! used as an expression of abject embarrassment, apology or regret; also, in sympathy with another's embarrassment. A vocalisation of a probable physical reaction to such embarrassment UK, 1984 crink noun 1 a sharp, searing pain US, 1970. 2 methamphetamine sulphate in powdered form US, 1977

crinkle noun paper money UK, 1954 crinkle-top noun a black person with natural or afro hair US, 1980 crip noun 1 an easy course in school or college US, 1923. 2 a cripple US, 1893 cripes! used as a euphemistic exclamation in place of 'christ!' AUSTRALIA, 1903 crippen! used for registering surprise or annoyance. Using the name of notorious murderer Dr H. H. Crippen, 1860–1910; ultimately a variation of CHRISTI! UK, 1984 crippie noun high quality marijuana US, 2002 cripple noun 1 a marijuana cigarette. Evolves from CRUTCH (a device to support the butt) US, 1955. 2 a knee-boarder; a surfer who rides kneeling rather than standing. Derogatory, spoken with disdain by experienced surfers US, 1988. 3 in pool, a shot that cannot be missed or a game that cannot be lost US, 1964. 4 a disabled railway carriage US, 1946 cripple-cock noun 1 cider. Dorset slang, subsequently adopted as a brand name. Possibly playing on BREWER'S DROOP (an inability to achieve an erect penis symptomatic of drunkenness) UK: ENGLAND, 1979. 2 used as a general pejorative. A slur on virility UK, 1980 crippleware noun computer software that operates up to a point but then is disabled until payment for a full working version is made US, 1991 crip up verb (of an able-bodied actor) to play the rôle of a disabled character. From CRIP (a cripple) UK, 2004 cris noun amphetamines. A misspelling and/or a play on CRYSTAL (methamphetamine), or an abbreviation of Spanish crystal US, 1971

Crisco Frisco nickname San Francisco, California. An allusion to the vegetable shortening often used as a sexual lubricant and San Francisco's reputation as a city with a large homosexual population US, 1979 crisp noun 1 crack cocaine mixed with marijuana US, 1995. 2 any alcohol US, 2001 crisp adjective 1 excellent, perfect, appealing US, 1995. 2 said of a table in pool where there is no need to adjust a shot to compensate for the table surface US, 1993

crisper noun a commissioned act of arson UK, 2003 crispie noun a currency note; hence the plural is also generalised as 'money'. Extended from 'crisp', the quality of new notes UK, 1982 crispo adjective mentally deficient due to drug abuse US, 1993 crisp packet noun a prison bed UK, 1996 crispy noun a badly burnt person or corpse. An abbreviation of CRISPY CRITTER US, 1981 crispy adjective 1 good, stylish, fashionable, pleasing US, 1997. 2 slightly diminished in mental facilities due to prolonged alcohol and/or drug use US, 1979 crispy critter noun 1 a burnt corpse, especially one burnt by napalm. The term was borrowed from the branded name of a sugar-frosted oat cereal cut out in animal shapes, popular in the US in the 1960s US, 1967. 2 a badly burnt hospital patient US, 1989. 3 a burnt pizza US, 1996 criss; kris adjective stylish, attractive, fashionable; used of the new or desirable. Adapted from an abbreviation of 'crisp' (fresh). UK black usage JAMAICA, 1991 crissake; crisake; krissake used for expressing frustration or annoyance UK, 1964 criss-cross noun an amphetamine tablet, especially Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate). From the cross scoring on the tablet; possibly a play on CRIS, a central nervous system stimulant (amphetamine) US, 1993 criss-cross verb to simultaneously ingest lines of heroin and cocaine by nasal inhalation, 2002 cristal noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 cristina; cris; crist; christina noun methamphetamine. A personification of CRYSTAL (powdered methamphetamine) US, 1971 crit noun 1 a critic UK, 1743. 2 a criticism; a critique UK, 1908. 3 a state of critical mass; critical size. A colloquialism from nuclear physics US, 1957 crit-hit noun a critical success. A combination of CRIT (a critic) and 'hit' (a success) UK, 2003 critical adjective 1 dangerously ill or injured UK, 2003. 2 impressive, amazing US, 1990. 3 (used of a wave) very steep, threatening to break at any moment US, 1963 criticism/self-criticism noun a structured group discussion in which members of the group analyse and comment on their own behaviour and that of other members of the group. Popular in leftist groups in the US in the late 1960s and early 70s US, 2002 critter noun a creature, especially a horse or a cow; a person (usually disparaging) US, 1815 crivens! used for registering shock, horror or astonishment. Probably a compound of 'Christ!' and 'heavens!' UK, 1999 cro noun a prostitute. A variation of CROW AUSTRALIA, 1953

croack noun a mixture of crack and an amphetamine US, 1993 croagies noun the testicles US, 1985 croak noun a combination of crack cocaine and methamphetamine. A variation of CRACK with fatal forebodings: CROAK (to die) UK, 1998 croak verb 1 to die. From the death-rattle UK, 1812. 2 to kill someone UK, 1823. 3 to inform on someone, to betray someone US, 1964. 4 in pool, to miscue CANADA, 1988 croaker noun 1 a doctor, especially a company doctor. Sometimes abbreviated to 'croak' UK, 1879. 2 a doctor who provides narcotics for an addict. A specialisation of the previous sense US, 1978. 3 a habitual complainer. In C19 US use, but now obsolete there AUSTRALIA, 1882. 4 a dying person, or one who has just died. From CROAK (to die) UK, 1873

croc noun a crocodile AUSTRALIA, 1884 crock noun 1 an unpleasant or worthless person, object or experience; a waste of time. Contemptuously abbreviated from the familiar CROCK OF SHIT US, 1944. 2 an old and worn-out person or thing UK, 1889. 3 a person with medical problems which are the result of abusive living US, 1978. 4 a computer program that normally functions but fails if modified at all US, 1983. 5 nonsense. An abbreviation of CROCK OF SHIT US, 1962

C rock noun crack cocaine. c (cocaine) plus ROCK (crack cocaine) UK, 2001

crock adjective broken; no good AUSTRALIA, 1957

crock cut noun a haircut which gives the appearance of having been achieved by placing a bowl over the subject's head US, 1947 crooked adjective 1 wrong, awry UK, 2000. 2 drunk US, 1917 crock of shit noun 1 an unpleasant or worthless person, object or experience; a waste of time. A conventional 'crock' (a pot) of SHIT (excreta) US, 1951. 2 nonsense, lies US, 1945 crocky noun a CROCODILE. Mostly juvenile AUSTRALIA, 1943 crocodile noun 1 a long line of school children walking two abreast UK, 1870. 2 a smile. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 3 a horse. Possibly a jocular elaboration of CROCK (a worthless or worn-out thing, hence a broken-down horse) AUSTRALIA, 1897 crocus noun 1 a doctor. Originally 'croakus' UK, 1785. 2 a fair-weather trader who appears for a while when winter is over UK, 1979

Croker nickname Croke Park, the official head quarters of the Gaelic Athletic Association (GAA) IRELAND, 2000

Cromwell noun a Vauxhall Cavalier car. Citizens' band radio slang; Cromwell and the Cavaliers were on opposing sides in the English Civil War UK, 1981 cronky adjective 1 fraudulent, dishonest. From 'cronk' (corrupt) AUSTRALIA, 1971. 2 applied generally as a disdainful descriptor. Schoolchildren's slang UK, 1983. 3 inferior; 'wonky' UK, 1961 crook adjective 1 dishonest; illegal; (of an item) illegally gained, stolen, illicit AUSTRALIA, 1898. 2 (of a racehorse) not being run to win; (of a jockey) not riding to win AUSTRALIA, 1895. 3 bad; no good AUSTRALIA, 1900. 4 ill; unwell; injured AUSTRALIA, 1908. ► go crook to express anger verbally AUSTRALIA, 1910

crook adverb badly AUSTRALIA, 1959

crook as a dog adjective very unwell AUSTRALIA, 1955 crook as Rookwood adjective (especially in Sydney) very unwell. Rhyming phrase referring to Rookwood Cemetery, the main cemetery serving Sydney for many years AUSTRALIA, 1971 crook book noun a piece of crime fiction UK, 1959 crooked adjective 1 dishonest; of dishonest manufacture UK, 1864. 2 annoyed AUSTRALIA, 1942 crooked adverb illicitly, in a criminal manner, furtively UK, 1936 crooked as a dog's hind leg adverb extremely crooked. Both literally and figuratively 'crooked' AUSTRALIA, 1965 crookie noun a wrong or weak person or thing NEW ZEALAND, 1962

crook on adjective annoyed with AUSTRALIA, 1967

croop noun a croupier UK, 2000 crop noun 1 a fifth of a gallon of wine US, 1975. 2 inferior quality heroin. A variation of CRAP US, 2002 crop dusting noun farting while walking down the aisle of an airliner US, 2002 crop-head noun a male with closely cut hair UK, 1983 cropper noun 1 a man who seeks to have sex with a transsexual. Named after Coronation Street character Roy Cropper whose 1999 soap opera story-line had him involved with a transsexual UK, 2003. 2 a fail; a setback AUSTRALIA, 1921. ► come a cropper to take a heavy fall; to go wrong. This is the most familiar phrase based on 'cropper' (a fall, 1858); others are 'get a cropper' and 'fall a cropper' UK, 1874 croppie noun a crop circle researcher UK, 2003 crop-topped adjective with short hair, cropped on top 2001 cross *noun an act of betrayal, a doublecross UK, 2001. ► in a cross in trouble US, 1976. ► on the cross dishonestly UK, 1819*

Cross noun ► the Cross the King's Cross district of Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1946 cross verb 1 to betray someone UK, 1821. 2 to cheat a cheat US, 1950 cross bar hotel noun a jail or prison US, 1865 cross-comical adjective foolish BARBADOS, 1965 crosscut noun a Chinese woman; a Jewish woman. A Liverpudlian term, derived from the notion that Asian women's genitals have a different orientation to those of Western women; hence, its yet more ill-informed application to Jewish women UK, 1966 crossed wires noun a misunderstanding. From the hazards of telephony UK, 1932 cross-eye; cross-eyes noun a person with a squint. From the conventional sense describing the condition UK, 1937 cross-eyed adjective annoyed, angry UK, 1988 crossfire noun in confidence games, conversation between confederates in the swindle that draws the victim into the swindle. Originally used to describe the quick banter of vaudeville, then adapted to criminal purposes US, 1940 crossfire verb (used of a racehorse) to clip the rear hooves together while running US, 1951 crosshairs noun ► put in the crosshairs to target something. From military sniper/target competition shooting US, 2002 crosshaul noun a notional tool that a novice logger is often sent to fetch US, 1913 crosslift noun in poker, a cheating technique in which two confederates on either side of the victim continue raising the bet until the victim withdraws from the hand US, 1968 cross my heart and hope to die used as an oath, often with humour US, 1926 cross my heart and hope to spit used as an oath and pledge. Popularised by Theodore 'Beaver' Cleaver on the US television comedy Leave it to Beaver (CBS and ABC, 1957–63), in place of the more common 'cross my heart and hope to die'. Used with referential humour by those who had watched the show as children US, 1963

Crossmyloof noun a male homosexual. Glasgow rhyming slang for POOF, formed from the name of an area of the south side of Glasgow UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 cross of the north noun a stance assumed by a canoer on a portage when meeting someone on a trail CANADA, 1947 crossover verb to leave one youth gang and join a rival gang US, 1995 cross-patch noun a peevish, ill-tempered person. A combination of 'cross' (angry, peevish) and obsolete 'patch' (a fool). Originally

- applied to a girl or a woman; the general sense is first recorded in 1818 UK, 1700
- crossroad noun an amphetamine tablet identified by its cross-scoring. Less commonly heard than CROSS TOP US, 1980
- crossroad noun an itinerant card cheat US, 1889
- cross-talk noun in a radio or television broadcast, speaking simultaneously and thus possibly obscuring what is said US, 1984
- cross-thread adjective contrary TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1960
- cross top noun a tablet of Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate), a central nervous system stimulant. From the appearance: white tablets with a cross cut into the surface US, 1971
- crossword spanner noun a pencil. A term used by Royal Navy engineers UK, 1962
- crot noun excrement, especially as 'soft crot', a loose stool. A schoolboys' term UK, 1957
- crotch noun a woman US, 1973
- Crotch nickname the US Marines Corps US, 1953
- crotch ball noun in handball, a ball that strikes the intersection of two playing surfaces US, 1970
- crotch crickets noun pubic lice US, 1971
- crotchety adjective ill-tempered, cross UK, 1825
- crotch light noun in the pornography industry, a light used to illuminate the genitals of the performers US, 1977
- crotch magazine noun a pornographic magazine US, 1986
- crotch rocket noun a motorcyle, usually a fast racing motorcyle US, 1974
- crotch rot noun any fungal infection in the crotch US, 1967
- crotch row noun in a striptease performance, seats very near the performers US, 1973
- crotch shot noun a photograph focused on a person's genitals US, 1973
- crotch strap noun in motor racing, a safety device that attaches to the buckle of the lap belt and is attached to the chassis under the seat US, 1963
- crotch walker noun a shoplifter who conceals booty between the thighs UK, 1996
- crovey! used for expressing approval UK, 2003
- CROW *noun 1 a black person. Offensive US, 1823. 2 a female prostitute. Occasionally also spelt 'cro'. Perhaps influenced by CHROMO AUSTRALIA, 1944. 3 a mawkish, old-fashioned person US, 1945. 4 a drinking friend BERMUDA, 1985. 5 an undertaker; an undertaker's employee. From their black clothing UK, 1947. 6 used as an abusive term of address UK, 1993. 7 cocaine UK, 2003. 8 an electronic warfare specialist. Vietnam war usage US, 1980. 9 an eagle insignia in the US Navy US, 1905. ► as the crow flies directly, in a straight line *AUSTRALIA, 1902
- Crow nickname the Crow's Nest Pass railway freight rates CANADA, 1987
- crowbait noun a horse, especially an older horse US, 1851
- crowbar palace noun a jail US, 1941
- crowd *noun 1 a company of people defined by a common denominator, a set US, 1840. 2 a fat person *US, 1970
- crowd verb 1 to put pressure on someone, to coerce someone US, 1828. 2 to verge on a specified age US, 1943
- crowded cabin noun in poker, a hand consisting of three cards of one rank and a pair. Conventionally known as a 'full house' US, 1988
- crowded space noun a suitcase. Rhyming slang; especially, by thieves stealing luggage in crowded spaces UK, 1961
- crowd engineer noun a police dog US, 1992
- crowd-surf verb to pass over the heads of a crowd, propelled and supported by the hands of that crowd US, 1993
- crow-eater noun a person from the state of South Australia AUSTRALIA, 1881
- crow foot noun 1 in car repair, an open-ended wrench with an extension US, 1993. 2 in the television and film industries, a device used to support the legs of a tripod on a slippery or uneven surface UK, 1960
- crowhop noun in rodeos, a mild bucking CANADA, 1987
- crowie noun an old woman. From a resemblance to the crow in colour (of plumage/clothing) and tone of voice UK, 1979
- Crow Jim noun anti-white racial discrimination by black people. A reversal of the common term JIM CROW for anti-black discrimination US, 1956
- crow noun 1 a type of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the imprint on the pink pill UK, 1996. 2 a hat US, 1976. 3 a condom UK, 1998
- Crown noun a Crown Prosecutor CANADA, 2002
- crow verb 1 to hit someone on the head UK, 1746. 2 to couple a brakevan (caboose) to a freight train US, 1946
- crow and anchor noun a despicable person. Rhyming slang for WANKER, formed on the name of a dice game UK, 1992
- crow and crap noun heroin US, 1975
- crownie noun a tram or bus inspector. After the emblem of that rank AUSTRALIA, 1953
- crow jewels noun 1 the male genitals, especially the testicles AUSTRALIA, 1970. 2 tools. Rhyming slang, perhaps taking its inspiration from the value a tradesman places on his tools UK, 1992. 3 jewels, usually ostentatious if not tacky, worn by a drag queen. The royalty punning thanks to 'queen' US, 1965
- Crown Vic noun a Ford Crown Victoria car US, 1999
- crows noun ► where the crows fly backwards an arid, desolate region AUSTRALIA, 1932
- crow's feet noun 1 wrinkles at the corner of the eyes UK, 1374. 2 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Specifically used of any tablet of MDMA stamped with an image similar to the single print of a bird's track UK, 2004
- crow's foot noun in electric line work, a device formally known as an Epoxirod tri-unit US, 1980
- crow's nest noun 1 the uppermost balcony in a cinema. A pun on the nautical term, acknowledging that the upper balconies were reserved for black people (CROWS) US, 1970. 2 the observation tower of a brakevan (caboose) US, 1940
- crow storm noun a flocking up of noisy crows as cold weather approaches in the autumn CANADA, 1992
- Croydon facelift noun a female hairstyle in which the hair is scraped back (into a ponytail or similar) so tightly that it appears to stretch the skin on the face. Coinage is credited to suburban London local newspaper the Croydon Guardian, reflecting the CHAV sub-cultural phenomenon. Also known as a 'Croydon smile' UK, 2005
- Croydon pineapple noun a female hairstyle, popular among an underclass of urban youth, in which all hair is tightly scraped into a spiky top knot. Croydon is an urban area to the south east of London strongly identified with the CHAV sub-culture UK, 2005
- CRS disease noun a sudden loss of memory. The person in question 'can't remember shit' US, 1997
- crucial adjective very good. Recorded in Bermudan and American youth culture BERMUDA, 1985
- crud noun 1 a contemptible person. Originally Scottish dialect for 'excrement' US, 1930. 2 rubbish, filth, shit. Originally Scottish dialect crud (curdled matter) US, 1943. 3 dried or sticky semen US, 1967. 4 any sexually transmitted infection US, 1951. 5 a common cold or the flu ANTARCTICA, 2003. 6 a notional disease, covering many ailments, real and imaginary US, 1932. 7 snow that does not produce good snowboarding US, 1990
- crudded up adjective infected with a sexually transmitted disease US, 1997
- cruddy adjective 1 useless, worthless, unpleasant, disgusting. Created from CRUD (filth) US, 1947. 2 encrusted with dirt or filth US, 1949
- crudie noun an unsophisticated rustic US, 1968
- crud up verb to foul something; to spoil something US, 1963 crudzone noun a poorly written and/or poorly produced fan magazine US, 1976 cruel verb to spoil something, especially to spoil a person's chances. Also spelt 'crool' in an effort to represent an uneducated pronunciation AUSTRALIA, 1899. ► cruel the pitch to spoil someone's chances; to ruin an opportunity AUSTRALIA, 1915 cruel adjective very US, 1985 cruel; cruelly adverb severely; extremely hard. In conventional use until later C19 UK, 1937 cruet noun the head AUSTRALIA, 1941. ► do your cruet to lose your temper AUSTRALIA, 1976

cruft noun any unpleasant, unidentified substance US, 1983 cruffy adjective in computing, poorly designed or poorly built US, 1981 cruiſe noun a male homosexual who picks up multiple short-term sexual partners US, 1950 cruiſe verb 1 to search for a casual sex-partner, usually homosexual; to pursue a person as a casual sex-partner, especially by eye contact US, 1925. 2 to join others in driving slowly down chosen downtown streets, usually on a weekend night, seeing others and being seen US, 1957. 3 to drive. With a suggestion of carefree elan US, 1957. 4 to take someone, to lead someone US, 1946. ► cruiſin' for a bruſin' heading for trouble, especially a physical beating US, 1947 cruiſe and kill verb (of light scout teams during the Vietnam war) to go around looking for soldiers to kill US, 1991 cruiſe joint noun a bar or other establishment where people gather in search of sexual partners US, 1966 cruisemobile noun any desirable car US, 1978 cruiser noun 1 a person who habitually searches regular haunts for casual sex-partners, usually homosexual UK, 1996. 2 a prostitute US, 1868. 3 a surfer who approaches surfing with a casualness that borders on laziness US, 1988 cruising noun the recreational activity of searching for a casual sex-partner, usually homosexual UK, 1927 cruisy adjective 1 relaxing, enjoyable NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 2 (of a place) characterised by a high degree of activity by homosexual men looking for sexual partners. Also spelt 'cruisey' US, 1949 cruiſt; croot noun a new military recruit US, 1987 cruller noun the head US, 1942 crumb noun 1 a despicable person US, 1919. 2 a body louse US, 1863. 3 a small piece of crack cocaine US, 1994. ► put on the crumb act to impose something on another person AUSTRALIA, 1959 crumb box noun 1 in circus and carnival usage, a small suitcase or box containing personal belongings US, 1981. 2 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1945 crumb bum noun 1 a lowly, inept person US, 1934. 2 a gambler who places very small and very conservative bets US, 1950 crumb castle noun in circus and carnival usage, a dining tent US, 1981 crumb-catcher noun a young child US, 1962 crumb crunchers noun the teeth US, 1945 crumb-crusher; crumb-cruncher noun a child, especially a very young one US, 1959 crumb-hunting noun housework. Obsolete teen slang, originally from military use in the early 1940s of 'crumb hunt' as meaning 'a kitchen inspection' CANADA, 1946 crumble noun in hospital, an elderly patient. Medical slang UK, 2002 crumbly; crumble noun an older person, certainly one who is over 50 years old. An upper-class society image of crumbling with decay UK, 1982 crumbo noun ► el crumbo a socially inept person. Pseudo Spanish US, 1956 crumbs noun a small amount of money. An offshoot of BREAD US, 1970 crumbs! used as a mild exclamation. A euphemism for CHRIST! UK, 1922 crumb-snatcher noun a child; a baby US, 1958 crummy noun 1 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1916. 2 a truck, a boxcar or an old brakevan (caboose), converted to passenger carrying by adding wooden benches CANADA, 1964 crummy adjective 1 inferior US, 1915. 2 lice-infested UK, 1859 crump verb 1 to die US, 1958. 2 (used of a hospital patient) to become suddenly sicker, especially without hope of recovering US, 1980 crumpet noun 1 sexually desirable women considered collectively; hence, desirable men. Originally of women only; men weren't so categorised until the 1980s UK, 1936. 2 the head UK, 1891. ► a bit of crumpet sexual intercourse NEW ZEALAND, 1984. ► bow the crumpet to plead guilty. Formed on CRUMPET (the head); from bending the head in unspoken affirmative AUSTRALIA, 1975. ► not worth a crumpet worthless AUSTRALIA, 1944 crumpet man noun a womaniser UK, 1977 crump out verb to succumb to exhaustion; to die US, 1953 crunch noun 1 a most severe test of strength, courage, nerve, skill, etc UK, 1939. 2 a number sign (#) on a computer keyboard US, 1991. 3 a hospital patient with multiple fractures US, 1989. 4 an Afrikaner. Also 'crunchie'. Derogatory and offensive SOUTH AFRICA, 1970. ► do your crunch to become enraged. Army use UK, 1984 crunch verb to analyse something, especially a large amount of data US, 1981 crunch and munch noun crack cocaine. From the drug's arguable resemblance to breakfast cereal or a snack food US, 1993 crunch cap noun a fatigue hat, made of cotton canvas with a brim around, that kept the sun and rain off the heads of American soldiers in Vietnam. It could be folded or 'crunched up' easily US, 1984 crunch case noun a hospital patient with a severe head injury US, 1994 cruncher noun 1 a dent in a surfboard that can be repaired without a resin filler US, 1986. 2 a foot US, 1946 crunch hat noun in motor racing, a safety helmet US, 1993 crunch time noun the critical moment US, 1961 crunchy noun 1 the pavement or sidewalk US, 1945. 2 a foot soldier, or member of the infantry. Korean and then Vietnam war usage US, 1951 crunchy adjective embodying the values or at least the trappings of the 1960s counterculture; a person who embodies these values. An adjective often associated with GRANOLA, used to describe the throwback person US, 1990 crunk noun 1 an excited state US, 2001. 2 a popular genre of hip-hop music UK, 2005 crunk adjective excellent; intense. Rap coinage; a variation of CRANKED (intensified) US, 1995 crunked adjective 1 excited. Rap usage; a variation of CRUNK (excellent) US, 2001. 2 very drunk US, 2003

Crusaders nickname the 523rd Fighter Squadron, which served in Korea and briefly in Vietnam US, 1991 crush noun 1 a romanticised affection for someone; an infatuation US, 1884. 2 the object of an infatuation. In C19 US use, but now obsolete there AUSTRALIA, 1996. 3 the vagina US, 1982. 4 a hat US, 1916. 5 in pool, the opening or break shot US, 1993 crush verb to do very well US, 1986 crushed adjective ugly US, 1993 crusher noun 1 in horse racing, a person who works the odds as they shorten AUSTRALIA, 1965. 2 a powerful, hard-breaking wave US, 1964. 3 something overpowering or overwhelming UK, 1840. 4 a police officer. Now rare UK, 1835 crushers noun fashionable, stylish sunglasses. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2003 crushman noun a good-looking boy US, 1982 crust noun 1 a livelihood AUSTRALIA, 1888. 2 in the UK, members of an alternative culture underclass. Back-formation from CRUSTY (a member of an alternative culture underclass) UK, 2004. 3 nerve, courage, gall US, 1900 crust verb to insult someone US, 1945

crustie noun an old person NEW ZEALAND, 1997 crust of bread; crust noun the head, especially as a source of intelligence. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 crusty noun a young person who many years later embraces the counterculture values of the late 1960s UK, 1990 crusty adjective 1 dirty, shabby US, 1972. 2 crude, vulgar US, 1964 crusty treats noun cocaine UK, 2003 crut noun 1 filth, nastiness, dirt US, 1940. 2 a disease US, 1947 crutch noun 1 an improvised holder for the short butt of a marijuana cigarette. The term of choice before ROACH CLIP came on the scene US, 1938. 2 in pool, a device used to support the cue stick for a hard-to-reach shot. As the terminology suggests, the device is scorned by skilled players US, 1990. 3 in skating, an experienced skater supporting a novice UK, 1961 crutch verb to conceal goods (stolen property or contraband) in the vagina – usually contained in a condom and often further protected from discovery by the insertion of a tampon UK, 1996 crutcher noun a female thief or smuggler who hides goods in her crutch. From CRUTCH. Recorded by a Jamaican inmate of a UK prison UK, 2002

Crutches nickname Las Cruces, New Mexico US, 1970

cry noun ► the cry the best US, 1955 cry verb ► cry a river to regret something deeply US, 1994. ► cry all the way to the bank used ironically by, or of, someone whose artistic work is a commercial success yet attracts adverse criticism. Credited to musician and entertainer (Wladziu Valentino) Liberace who, from the mid-1950s, enjoyed great popular success and, in the face of critical disdain, quipped and then included the following quotation in his stage act: 'When the reviews are bad I tell my staff that they can join me as I cry all the way to the bank'. The phrase survives but has also become the more straightforward 'laugh all the way to the bank' US, 1984. ► cry Bert to vomit AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► cry blue ruin to proclaim a family financial disaster CANADA, 1959. ► cry Ruth to vomit. Self-descriptive of its echoic origins AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► cry your eyes out; cry your heart out to weep long and bitterly UK, 1704 cry baby noun a child swindler who appeals for money from strangers with pitiful tales of woe, accompanied if need be by tears US, 1982 cry baby grenade noun a hand grenade loaded with tear gas for use in riots and to clear bunkers and tunnels US, 1990 cry down verb to disparage someone or something TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1988 crying adjective used as a negative intensifier US, 1942 crying towel noun a notional linen given to someone who is a chronic complainer US, 1928 crying weed noun marijuana. The WEED that invites emotional involvement US, 1953 cry me a river! used for expressing a lack of sympathy in the face of an implicit solicitation of same US, 1995

crippie; crippie noun in computing, a cryptographer US, 1991 crypto noun a person who is a secret-sympathiser or -adherent of a political group, especially of a communist. Adapted from the conventional prefix crypto- (concealed, hidden, secret) in such uses as 'crypto-facit'; ultimately from Greek kryptos (hidden) UK, 1946 cryptonie; cryppie noun marijuana UK, 2003 crystal noun 1 a powdered narcotic, especially methamphetamine US, 1964. 2 phencyclidine. Recorded as a current PCP alias US, 1977. 3 a type of marijuana 2003 crystal adjective perfectly understandable. A reduction of 'crystal-clear' UK, 1994 crystal chin noun a fighter who is easily injured with blows to the chin US, 1981 crystal cylinder noun the hollow of a breaking wave AUSTRALIA, 1992

crystal meth; crystal meths noun powdered methamphetamine US, 2001 crystal palace noun an apartment or house occupied by amphetamine and/or methamphetamine abusers US, 1997 crystal pop noun a combination of cocaine and phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. Possibly playing on 'Krystal' champagne UK, 2003 crystal ship noun a syringe filled with a melted powdered drug US, 1992 crystal tea noun LSD. From the appearance of the drug in crystalline form UK, 1998 crywater noun tears ANTIGUA AND BARBUDA, 1998 c's noun 1 combat rations, the standard meals eaten by US troops in the field, consisting of an individual ration of packaged precooked foods which can be eaten hot or cold US, 1976. 2 food. An abbreviation of 'calories'; 'to get your c's' is 'to eat' US, 1968

CS noun 1 used as a euphemism for 'chickenshit'. Far less common than BS (BULLSHIT) US, 1944. 2 marijuana UK, 2003

C sponge noun a contraceptive sponge US, 1997

CT noun a woman who signals an interest in sex with another woman but does not have sex with her. An abbreviation of CUNT TEASE US, 1923

CTD (in doctors' shorthand) for expected to die soon. An initialism for 'circling the drain' UK, 2003

CTN used as shorthand in Internet discussion groups and text message to mean 'can't talk now' US, 2002

Ctrl-Alt-Delete; Control-Alt-Delete noun a notional device or technique which causes something to be reconsidered or restarted. From the combination of character-keys used as a 'short-cut' to restart a computer; the former is written, the latter spoken US, 1995

Cuban pumps noun in homosexual usage, heavy work boots US, 1987 cubbitch adjective greedy TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1960

cubby noun a room, apartment or house US, 1948 cube noun 1 a complete conformist. An intensification of SQUARE (a conventional person) US, 1955. 2 LSD. From the fact that LSD was often administered in sugar cubes US, 1966. 3 a tablet of marijuana, approximately one gram in weight. From the shape US, 1984. 4 a tablet of morphine US, 1950. 5 a cubic inch US, 1970. 6 a work space in an open-area office. An abbreviation of 'cubicle' UK, 1936 cubeb noun a herbal cigarette, pungent and spicy, made from the cubeb berry US, 1959 cube head noun a regular LSD user US, 1966 cubes noun 1 the testicles US, 1968. 2 dice US, 1918. 3 morphine US, 1980. 4 crack cocaine UK, 2003 cubicle noun a Mini Metro car UK, 1981

cub reporter noun a young, naive and untrained reporter. The term is a popular culture allusion to the Superman legend. When Clark Kent went to work at the Daily Star, Jimmy Olsen was an office boy with aspirations to be a great reporter. With help from Superman, Olsen, who was forever tagged with the label 'cub reporter', became a member of the reporting staff. From the much earlier (1845) sense of a 'cub' as an 'apprentice' US, 1908

cuck verb to defecate CANADA, 1993

cuck adjective very bad, awful IRELAND, 1997

cuckle bucks noun curly or kinky hair that has not been chemically straightened US, 1973 cuckoo noun a fool; a crazy person UK, 1889 cuckoo adjective crazy, mad, distraught US, 1906 cuckoo farm noun a mental hospital. A variation of FUNNY FARM UK, 1980 cuckoo house noun a mental hospital US, 1930 cuckoo's nest noun 1 the vagina. Survives in folk songs of the US and UK UK, 1840. 2 a mental hospital US, 1962 cucumber noun 1 a number, usually a telephone number. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 2 in gambling, an ignorant victim of a cheat. A play on 'green', the colour of the cucumber and a slang term for 'inexperienced'. Often shortened to 'cuke' US, 1962 cucumbers noun ► the cucumbers in prison, Rule 43, which allows a prisoner to be kept apart from the main prison community for 'safety of self or others'. Rhyming slang ('numbers') UK, 2003 cuda noun 1 a barracuda US, 1949. 2 a Plymouth Barracuda car US, 1965

cuddle and kiss noun 1 an act of urination. Rhyming slang for PISS. Sometimes shortened to 'cuddie' UK, 1992. 2 a girl; a girlfriend. Rhyming slang for 'miss'; formed in a time when a cuddle and kiss were the only realistic objectives for a young man with love on his mind UK, 1938. 3 piss, in the phrase 'take the piss' (to make a fool of). Rhyming slang UK, 1992

cuddle bunny noun an attractive girl US, 1946 cuddled and kissed; cuddled adjective drunk. Rhyming slang for PISSED UK, 1998

cuddle puddle noun a group of people lying together, especially after taking the type of recreational drugs that enhance feelings of togetherness; a communal jacuzzi UK, 2003 cuddle seat noun in a cinema, a double seat provided for a couple's convenience. Probably adopted from the brand name Cuddleseat™ (a baby carrier) introduced in 1947 AUSTRALIA, 1984

cuddy noun a horse. From British dialect cuddy (a donkey) AUSTRALIA, 1897

cudja? could you? Apparently coined by television production company Brighter Pictures but rapidly gained wider use UK, 2002

cuds noun the countryside UK, 1995 cue noun 1 barbecued meat US, 1992. 2 barbecue US, 1908. 3 a tip or gratuity US, 1970. ► put your cue in the rack to die; to retire AUSTRALIA, 1989

cueball noun 1 a bald person US, 1941. 2 a crew-cut haircut US, 1955. 3 one-eighth of an ounce of cocaine US, 1993 cue biter noun an actor who proceeds with his lines without letting the audience react appropriately to the cue line US, 1973 cue-bow noun a charge of 'conduct unbecoming an officer' filed against a police officer US, 1975

gues noun headphones worn by musicians overdubbing a tape US, 1979 cuff noun ► off the cuff unrehearsed, improvised. From the discreet aide-memoire some performers or speakers jot on their cuffs US, 1938. ► on the cuff 1 on credit US, 1927. 2 admitted to a theatre without paying for a ticket US, 1973 cuff verb 1 to handcuff someone UK, 1851. 2 to shine something, to polish something US, 1973. 3 to drink to excess TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956. 4 to admit someone to an entertainment without charge US, 1951. 5 in an illegal betting operation, to accept bets at odds and in a proportion guaranteed to produce a loss for the bookmaker US, 1951 cuff down; cuff up verb to assault someone; to beat someone TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1966 cuff link faggot; cuff link queen noun a wealthy, ostentatious homosexual male US, 1965 cuff links noun handcuffs US, 1982 cuffs noun handcuffs. Originally used of C17 iron fetters, now used as a shortening of 'handcuffs' UK, 1861 cuke noun a cucumber. A domestic colloquialism US, 1903

CUL used in computer message shorthand to mean 'see you later' US, 1991 culchie noun a person from rural Ireland. A derogatory term coined during the 1940s at University College Galway for students of agriculture; probably from Irish Coillte Mach (County Mayo), regarded (wrongly) as a remote place. Other possible etymologies: coillte (woods) and cúl and tí (a rear entrance to an important house, used by social inferiors) IRELAND, 1958 cull noun 1 a prisoner re-assigned to an undemanding job after failing at a more challenging one US, 1990. 2 in horse racing, a horse that is cast off by a stable because it has failed to perform well US, 1947. ► on the cull list unmarried US, 1933

cully; cull; cul noun a man, a fellow, a companion UK, 1661 cultural jammer; jammer noun a cultural activist who creatively subverts advertising material US, 1990 culture fruit noun watermelon US, 1973 culture jam; jam noun a message subverted by anticorporate activists US, 2001 culture jamming; jamming noun the act of inverting and subverting advertising matter by anticorporate activists. Derives from the conventional sense of 'jam' (to disrupt a signal) US, 1995 culture culture noun an enthusiast for intellectual and artistic culture and cultural events US, 1947 cultus adjective worthless, bad, useless, insignificant. From the Chinook trading jargon US, 1851 cultus coulee noun a stroll or ride for pleasure CANADA, 1963 cultus potlatch noun a present for which nothing is expected in return, especially one of little value CANADA, 1940 cum noun amyl nitrite. A drug associated with sex US, 1992 ► see: COME and variants cumbucket noun a despised person US, 1975 cum catcher noun a condom. Uses COME; CUM (semen) to describe a condom's purpose UK, 1998 cum drum noun a condom; especially a condom with a bulbous extension to collect semen. Phonetically similar to 'condom' US, 1987 cummy face noun in a pornographic film or photograph, a close-up shot of a man's face as he ejaculates US, 1995 cum shaw noun anything procured through other than legitimate channels. From the Chinese for a 'present' or 'bonus', originally applied to a payment made by ships entering the port of Canton UK, 1925

cung noun marijuana US, 1995 cunkerer noun a blundering, poorly trained technician. From 'cunk', imitative of the metallic sound of a clumsily handled tool GUYANA, 1998 cunning as a Maori dog adjective very cunning; sly. 'Maori dog' is now usually replaced by less objectionable epithets like 'shithouse rat' NEW ZEALAND, 1947 cunning as an outhouse rat adjective very cunning indeed NEW ZEALAND, 1996 cunning as a shithouse rat adjective extremely crafty NEW ZEALAND, 1917 cunning kick noun a place for secreting money AUSTRALIA, 1979

cunny noun the vagina. A play on CUNT (the vagina) and 'con(ey)' (a rabbit) UK, 1615 cunny fingers; cunny thumbs noun an awkward, clumsy person. A term originally applied to a weak shooter US, 1892 cunt noun 1 the vagina. The most carefully avoided, heavily tabooed word in the English language UK, 1230. 2 a woman, especially as an object of sexual desire UK, 1674. 3 sex with a woman UK, 1670. 4 a despicable person, female or male. When used as a reductive term of abuse, 'cunt' is usually more offensive than the male equivalents UK, 1860. 5 among homosexuals, a boy or young man as a sexual object US, 2004. 6 among homosexuals, the buttocks, anus and rectum US, 1972. 7 among homosexuals, the mouth US, 1972. 8 a person you admire or pretend to grudgingly admire; a form of address between friends. Mainly jocular usage UK, 2001. 9 an idiot, a fool UK, 1922. 10 to a drug addict, a vein used for injecting a drug, especially the vein found on the inside of the elbow US, 1960. 11 an unfortunate or difficult situation; an unpleasant task; a problem. A logical extension of earlier, still current senses (an irritating person or object) UK, 1931 cunt and a half noun an extremely unpleasant person. This intensification of CUNT (an unpleasant person) was originally used exclusively of males UK, 1984

cunt book noun a pornographic book, especially one with photographs or illustrations US, 1969 cunt breath noun a despicable person US, 1992 cunt cap noun a narrow green garrison cap worn by enlisted men. Probably of World War 1 vintage. The Chinese Army refer to the same article as a 'cow's-cunt-cap'. Soldiers learn the term in the first few days of training. They now learn not to use the term in the presence of women UK, 1923

cunt collar noun a desire for sex US, 1965 cunt eater noun any person who performs oral sex on a woman US, 1998 cunted adjective drunk UK, 2003

cunt-eyed adjective squinting UK, 1916 cunt face noun a despicable person US, 1948 cunt-faced adjective despicable US, 1974

cunt fart noun a despicable person US, 1996 cuntfuck noun an extremely unpleasant individual. Both CUNT and FUCK are synonymous here, each serving to intensify the other UK, 2002

cunt hair noun a very small distance US, 1957 cunt hair grass noun an oatgrass or spike rush US, 1945 cunt hat noun a felt hat. Probably from the shape of the crease in the crown UK, 1923 cunthead noun a despised fool US, 1971 cunt-holes! used for registering frustration, annoyance or anger UK, 2000 cunt hook noun the hand. Usually in the plural US, 1994 cunt-hooks noun 1 a gesture that is used to insult or otherwise cause offense, in which the forefinger and middle-finger are extended to form a V-shape, the palm turned in towards the gesturer. An alternative name for a V-SIGN UK, 1984. 2 an unpleasant person UK, 2001 cunt hound noun a man obsessed with the seduction of women US, 1960 cuntie noun a contemptible person. A patronising elaboration of CUNT UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 2001

cuntiness noun unpleasant or stupid characteristics of a person UK, 2001 cunting adjective used as an intensifier, generally denoting disapproval UK, 2000

-cunting- infix used as an intensifier, generally negative UK, 2000 cuntish adjective 1 unpleasant; stupid UK, 2000. 2 weak, cowardly US, 1975 cunt juice noun vaginal secretions US, 1990 cunt-lapper noun a person who performs oral sex on a woman US, 1916 cunt-lapping noun oral sex on a woman US, 1970 cunt-lapping adjective despised US, 1923 cunt-licking noun oral sex on a woman US, 1996 cunt-licking adjective despised US, 1985 cunt light noun in the pornography industry, a light used to illuminate the genitals of the performers US, 1995 cunt like a Grimsby welly noun an unusually large and pungent vagina. Grimsby is a fishing port on the north east coast of England; the comparison to a 'welly' (Wellington boot) is obvious UK, 2002 cunt man noun a heterosexual man; a womaniser. Uses CUNT in the generalised sense as 'women' UK, 1999 cunt off verb to make someone angry; to annoy someone UK, 2001 cunt pie noun the vagina, especially as an object of oral sex US, 1980 cunt prick noun a despicable person. A compound of two terms of abuse that may need strengthening after overuse UK, 1997

cunt racket noun prostitution US, 1977 cunt rag noun 1 a sanitary towel US, 1968. 2 a despicable person or thing US, 1971 cunt's act noun a major deception AUSTRALIA, 1985

cunt screen noun a strip of canvas stretched between the open rungs of the accommodation ladder up which lady guests would ascend above the heads of the boat's crew. Similar in purpose and effect to a VIRGINITY CURTAIN UK, 1984 cunt-simple adjective obsessed with sex; easily distracted by women US, 1982 cunt sniff noun a contemptible or loathesome individual. As usage of CUNT (a contemptible person) becomes evermore mainstream, elaborations are necessary to maintain the derogatory effect. 'Cunt sniff' contrives CUNT (vagina) and conventional 'sniff' (to inhale, to smell) to suggest something of no more worth than the odour of a woman's genitals UK, 2001

cunt splice noun any improvised splice US, 1956 cunt starver noun a prisoner serving time for not making maintenance payments AUSTRALIA, 1950 cunt stretcher noun the penis US, 2001 cunt-struck adjective obsessed with sex with a woman or women UK, 1866 cunt-sucker noun 1 a person who performs oral sex on women UK, 1868. 2 a despised person US, 1964 cunt-sucking noun oral sex on a woman US, 1998

cunt-sucking adjective despised US, 1964 cunt tease noun a woman who signals an interest in sex with another woman but does not have sex with her US, 1971

cunt-tickler noun a moustache US, 1967

Cunt Town nickname Norfolk, Virginia. A major naval base, and hence a hotbed of prostitution US, 1982 cunt wagon noun a car perceived to attract women US, 1974 county adjective unpleasant US, 1972 cup noun 1 the vagina US, 1973. 2 a cup of tea. Both figurative and practical UK, 1952 cup and saucer noun the fifth wheel on a tractor trailer US, 1961 cupcake noun 1 a cute girl US, 1939. 2 a male homosexual, especially if young US, 1996. 3 a haircut shaped like a box US, 1989 cupcakes noun 1 the female breasts. Possibly informed, if not inspired, by a brassiere's 'cups' UK, 2002. 2 well-defined, well-rounded buttocks US, 1972. 3 LSD UK, 2003

Cup Day noun the day on which the Melbourne Cup horse race is run AUSTRALIA, 1876 cupful of cold sick noun the epitome of worthlessness NEW ZEALAND, 1998 cupid's itch noun any sexually transmitted infection US, 1930 cupid's measles noun syphilis; any sexually transmitted infection US, 1970 cupla focal noun a paltry knowledge of Irish, literally a few words, enough for a display of national pride but not nearly enough for a conversation IRELAND, 1996 cup of chino; cup of cheeno noun a cappuccino AUSTRALIA, 1987 cup of tea noun 1 something that is to your taste. Variants are 'cup of char' and 'cuppa' UK, 1932. 2 an act of urination. Rhyming slang for PEE or WEE UK, 1992 cup of tea verb to see. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 cuppa; cupper noun a cup of tea or coffee UK, 1934 cuppie noun a female hanger-on at a World Cup sailing competition US, 1996 cups noun sleep US, 1948. ► in your cups drinking; drunk UK, 1406

Cup week noun the week during which the Melbourne Cup horse race is run AUSTRALIA, 1882 cura noun heroin; specifically an injection of heroin at a moment of great need. From Spanish for 'cure' US, 1969 curate's egg noun something that is good in parts. From the phrase 'good in parts – like a curate's egg' UK, 1961 curb noun ► against the curb without money US, 1995. ► to the curb 1 destitute; suffering from hard times US, 1989. 2 rejected in romance US, 1993. 3 vomiting US, 1989 curb verb to stop or slow down US, 1953 curb hop noun a person who takes orders and serves food to customers seated in their cars US, 1937 curb serve verb to sell crack cocaine on a street corner US, 1995 curbstoner noun in the used car business, a dealer who operates with low overheads and a small inventory US, 1968 cure noun 1 treatment for drug addiction. Generally after 'the' US, 1953. 2 suicide US, 1949 cured adjective ► get cured to get rich US, 1957

Curehead noun someone who dresses in black similar to members of the band the Cure or other goth-rock bands, wears makeup and has the specific hairstyle of the lead singer IRELAND, 1991

curer noun an alcoholic drink taken to alleviate the symptoms of a hangover UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 cure-the-plague noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. From the C14 belief that drinking menstrual blood was a remedy for bubonic plague US, 2000 curfuffle; gefuffle; kerfuffle noun a disturbance or disorder of any kind UK: SCOTLAND, 1813 curl noun the concave face of a wave as it breaks US, 1963

Curl noun used of a bald man, or one with curly hair, as a form of address. A barely abbreviated form of CURLY AUSTRALIA, 1984 curlies noun pubic hair. Used both literally and figuratively to suggest complete control over someone US, 1973 curl the mo; curl a mo adjective great; terrific; excellent AUSTRALIA, 1941

curl the mo!; curl a mo! terrific! AUSTRALIA, 1954

curly noun a challenging situation NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Curly noun used of a bald-headed man. Ironic or, perhaps, the man so-dubbed began with curly hair and, like the word itself, evolved into this sense UK, 1961 curly adjective 1 (mainly of decisions, questions, etc) difficult AUSTRALIA, 1963. 2 excellent, attractive. Possibly a shortened variation of CURL THE MO UK, 1981. ► to give someone the curly lip to say something displeasing US, 1989 curly do noun a curly hair style popular with black men and women in the mid-1970s US, 1975 curly wolf noun an aggressive, belligerent man. A term from the American west US, 1910 curp noun the penis. Back slang, 'kcirp' for PRICK (the penis). Only ever in limited use, by 2003 completely redundant UK, 1981 currant bread adjective dead. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 currant bun noun 1 a nun. Glasgow rhyming slang UK, 1996. 2 the sun. Rhyming slang. Sometimes shortened to 'currant' UK, 1938. ► on the currant bun on the run. Rhyming slang, in underworld and police use UK, 1959

Currant Bun nickname The Sun, a daily newspaper. Rhyming slang, acquired from the solar original UK, 1979 currant cake adjective awake. Prison rhyming slang NEW ZEALAND, 1999 currant-cakes noun delirium tremens. Rhyming slang for SHAKES; a back-formation from CURRANT-CAKEY (shakey) UK, 1992 currant-cakey; currant-cakie adjective shakey. Rhyming slang UK, 1932 currants and plums noun the gums. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

curry noun verbal support on the emphatic end of the scale NEW ZEALAND, 1998. ► give someone curry 1 to attack someone. That is, make it 'hot' for them AUSTRALIA, 1936. 2 to make someone's life difficult, to reprove someone. Possibly from the hot nature of curry AUSTRALIA, 1936. ► the Curry Cloncurry, generally called 'The

Curry', is the western Queensland base of the Flying Doctor Service UK, 1962 curry city nickname Bradford, West Yorkshire. Citizens' band radio slang, reflecting the large immigrant population UK, 1981 curry-mouth adjective fond of Indian food TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

curry muncher noun a person from the Indian subcontinent. Derogatory NEW ZEALAND, 1991 curse noun 1 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Used with 'the' US, 1930. 2 a swagman's bundle of personal effects, a swag. Variants are 'curse of Cain' and 'curse of God' AUSTRALIA, 1921. ► carry the curse; hump the curse to go on the tramp. After CURSE (a swag) AUSTRALIA, 1959 curse verb ► curse stink; cuss stink to use a great deal of profanity TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1960 curse of Eve noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Adopted from poetic and literary use UK, 1929 curse of Mexico noun in a deck of playing cards, the two of spades US, 1949 curse of Scotland noun in a deck of playing cards, the nine of diamonds UK, 1715 curse rag noun a sanitary towel. Formed on CURSE (the bleed period of the menstrual cycle) UK, 1961 curtain noun used in conjunction with a precedent noun, indicating isolation, hostility, aggression and/or danger US, 1955 curtain-climber noun a small child US, 1973 curtain-raiser noun the first game of a season US, 1950 curtains noun 1 the end, implying death or dismissal. Theatrical origin (the final curtain of a play) US, 1901. 2 the labia majora US, 1982. ► curtains and carpet that match; matching curtains and carpet said when a person's hair colour matches the colour of their pubic hair US, 2003 curtain-twitcher noun a person who spies on the comings and goings of the world from behind a curtained window UK, 2002 curve noun ► ahead of the curve anticipating events or trends; on the cutting edge US, 1980. ► behind the curve lagging behind trends or developments US, 1989 curve-breaker noun a diligent, smart student. A student whose performance upsets the grading curve US, 1955 curved adjective corrupt, crooked, criminal. A variation of BENT UK, 1999 curve-killer noun a student who excels. A reference to the grading curve US, 1959 curvy crawler noun a prostitute, a streetwalker. A play on KERB CRAWLING (soliciting prostitutes from a vehicle) UK, 1984

cush noun 1 the vagina; sex; a woman as a sexual object US, 1960. 2 loose tobacco US, 1950. 3 money US, 1900 cush adjective comfortable, unstrained. A shortened form of CUSHY US, 1931 cushion noun a passenger railway carriage US, 1913 cushty adjective excellent, great. A roughly contemporaneous variation of CUSHY (easy, comfortable); attributed to market traders since the late 1910s; much more widespread since 1981 through usage in BBC television comedy series Only Fools and Horses UK, 1985 cushy adjective easy, comfortable, unstrained. From Hindu khush (pleasant) or Romany kushto (good) UK, 1915 cuspy adjective (used of a computer program) well-designed, highly functional US, 1981 cuss noun 1 a person; a creature. Usually, slightly contemptuous, reproachful or humorous; probably derived as a shortening of CUSTOMER, perhaps influenced in later usage by CUSS (a curse) US, 1775. 2 a curse. A dated euphemism that survives in the term TINKER'S CUSS (a thing of little value) US, 1848 cussbud noun a person who uses a great deal of profanity TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1977

cuss-cuss noun insults, profanity BAHAMAS, 1982

cussedness noun cantankerousness, contrariness US, 1866 cuss fight noun a loud, angry argument US, 1923 cussie noun an HM Customs & Excise official UK, 2002 cuss out verb to reprimand someone with a heavy reliance on profanity US, 1863 cuss word noun a profanity. After cuss (a curse) US, 1872 custard and jelly; custard noun television; a television. Rhyming slang for TELLY UK, 1974 custard cream; custard verb to dream. Rhyming slang, formed on a biscuit UK, 1992 custards noun acne, pimples, spots. From the colour of the swelling or the pus AUSTRALIA, 1942 custard tart noun a traffic warden UK, 1981 custe noun a person who poses as a member of a youth gang but is not accepted as a gang member US, 1995 custie noun a buyer of illegal drugs. Simply put, an abbreviation of 'customer' US, 1997 customer noun 1 a person, or any creature, generally qualified as a type, as in 'an ugly customer' or 'an awkward customer' UK, 1589. 2 any person who is subject to a social worker's professional or charitable attention. A patronising categorisation, now replaced with the equally dishonest 'client' UK, 1966. 3 a motorist being stopped by a police officer for a traffic violation US, 1962. 4 a potential shop-lifter. In UK Disney Stores in the mid-1990s staff were instructed to refer to customers as 'guests' – anyone referred to as a 'customer' was instantly the subject of an unwelcome attention UK, 1995. 5 a prisoner US, 1949 cut noun 1 an adulterant used to dilute a drug; a dilution of a drug US, 1966. 2 a share, usually of profits, often of ill-gotten gains AUSTRALIA, 1911. 3 a reduction of a prison sentence US, 2002. 4 any district where goods are bought and sold with a minimum of questions asked UK, 1950. 5 any place where young people congregate to socialise US, 1953. 6 someone's appearance. Usually derogatory IRELAND, 1997. 7 a stage or a degree UK, 1818. 8 of music, a recording or a special part of one. From the verb sense US, 1975. 9 in hip-hop music, a sample or part of a tune that is played repeatedly US, 2000. 10 the vagina US, 1967. 11 a press cutting UK, 2003. 12 a hitting of the open hand with a cane for corporal punishment. Formally common in the Australian school system, now the practice is obsolete. The term is commonly found in the plural as the punishment was generally so given AUSTRALIA, 1915 cut verb 1 in the drug trade, to dilute drugs US, 1937. 2 to dilute anything by the addition of a secondary ingredient. Extended from the previous sense (to dilute drugs) US, 1985. 3 (of a drug) to take effect UK, 1998. 4 to fart US, 1967. 5 to engage in an informal musical competition in which musicians attempt to better each other in extended jazz solos US, 1937. 6 to record a song US, 1937. 7 to skip something, to fail to attend something UK, 1794. 8 to leave quickly UK, 1790. 9 to ignore a person, either as a single act or as continuing behaviour UK, 1634. 10 to tease or disparage someone US, 1975. 11 to divide or share out legal profits or criminal gains UK, 1928. 12 to perform surgery US, 1970. ► be cut out for something to have the appropriate qualities for something UK, 1645. ► be cut out to be a gentleman to be circumcised UK, 1961. ► cut a chogie to leave quickly. Korea and Vietnam war usage US, 1981. ► cut a fat one in drag racing and hot rodding, to drive at top speed US, 1968. ► cut a hus to do someone a favour. Marine slang in Vietnam US, 1991. ► cut a melon to fart UK, 1998. ► cut a rat to fart US, 1995. ► cut a rug to dance expertly US, 1942. ► cut a rusty to show off US, 1838. ► cut ass; cut arse 1 to leave, especially in a hurry US, 1972. 2 to assault someone TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1980. ► cut brush to drive off the road into brush US, 1962. ► cut cake; cut the strawberry cake to short-change someone US, 1949. ► cut card straight to deal in a direct and honest manner TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► cut fine; cut it fine to narrow something down to a minimum UK, 1891. ► cut it to perform satisfactorily and so meet a requirement. From CUT THE MUSTARD US, 1987. ► cut loose 1 to leave someone alone US, 1974. 2 to enjoy yourself unrestrained by any sense of moderation US, 1808. ► cut no ice to make no difference US, 1896. ► cut one off in the police, to salute a superior officer. Usually in the form 'cut someone one off' UK, 1948. ► cut skin; cut tail to physically assault someone; to beat someone TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1959.

► cut some slack to relax the pressure US, 1968. ► cut someone dead to ignore someone completely. An emphasised use of cut (to ignore) UK, 1826. ► cut someone down to size to reduce someone to a true understanding of his or her status or worth US, 1927. ► cut someone's lunch to cuckold someone; to steal someone's partner; to move in on another's potential pick-up AUSTRALIA, 1996. ► cut ten to sit with your legs crossed as others work JAMAICA, 1977. ► cut the cheese to fart US, 1959. ► cut the coax to turn off a citizens' band radio US, 1976. ► cut the gas to stop talking. Teen slang US, 1951. ► cut the mustard 1 to perform satisfactorily and so meet a requirement US, 1902. 2 to fart with especially noxious effect UK, 1998. 3 to have sex UK, 1977. ► cut throat to have sex with a female virgin TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► cut to the chase to get on with it. Cinematic imagery, 'to jump to the next exciting sequence' US, 1983. ► cut up jackies in the circus or carnival, to tell stories about the past US, 1980. ► cut up jackpots (used of carnival workers) to engage in carnival insider conversation US, 1985. ► cut up pipes in circus and carnival usage, to gossip, brag or disparage someone US, 1981. ► cut up rough 1 to be, or become, quarrelsome or difficult UK, 1837. 2 to resist or show resentment with violence AUSTRALIA, 1944. ► cut your eyes to look at someone or something with disdain BARBADOS, 1965. ► cut your own hair to be extremely frugal AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► cut your water off in shuffleboard, to hold an opponent to a scoreless half round US, 1967. ► cut Z's to sleep US, 1991

cut adjective 1 circumcised US, 1998. 2 physically fit, conditioned, well-toned US, 1998 cut!; cut it!; cut it out! adjective stop!, cease! UK, 1859 cut along verb to depart. Often as an imperative UK, 1902 cut and carried adjective married. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 cut and paste noun cosmetic surgery US, 1997 cut and paste verb to open a patient's body in surgery only to discover an inoperable condition, and then to close the patient back up US, 1994 cut and run verb to depart promptly; to decamp hurriedly. Of nautical origin UK, 1811 cut and scratch noun a match, safety or non-safety. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 cut and shut adjective used to describe a secondhand car that has been illegally contrived from the best parts of two damaged cars. Often hyphenated as a noun UK, 1968 cut and tuck noun a male transsexual who has had his penis removed and an artificial vagina surgically constructed AUSTRALIA, 1985 cut-ass noun a beating TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1959 cutback noun in surfing, a turn back into the wave US, 1979 cut buddy noun a close friend US, 1954 cutchie noun ► see: KOUTCHIE cut-down noun a half bottle of rum BARBADOS, 1965

cute adjective acute, sharp-witted, clever, shrewd UK, 1731 cute hoor noun any person, female or male, who is corrupt. May be used affectionately as well as pejoratively. The present Hiberno-English pronunciation was common in England in C16 and C17, and lasted in common use into C19 IRELAND, 2001 cutemup noun a prison doctor US, 1962 cute verb a twenty-five cent piece. A corruption of 'quarter' US, 1927 cuteration noun the zenith of cuteness US, 1963 cutesy adjective cloying, annoyingly cute US, 1914 cut-eye noun a disapproving look TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1960 cut from timber to bramble adjective (used of a man) sexually active and indiscriminate TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987 cut-glass sledgehammer noun a notional tool that a young, inexperienced novice is sent to fetch US, 1960 cut-hip noun a physical beating; a thrashing BAHAMAS, 1998 cutie noun an attractive or clever young woman. Originally (UK, C18) a 'clever but shallow person'; this sense is an early example of US term moved into wider usage by Hollywood films US, 1911 cutie-pie noun an attractive woman US, 1970 cut-in noun the initial contact with the intended victim in a confidence swindle US, 1977 cut in verb 1 to attempt a romantic relationship with someone already romantically involved US, 1950. 2 to seize a share of a business or enterprise US, 1980 cut into verb to approach someone and draw them into a swindle; to introduce someone to something US, 1940 cutlass carpenter noun an unskilled carpenter TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 cut lunch noun a circumcised penis as an object of oral sex AUSTRALIA, 1985 cut-lunch commando noun a soldier who does not see active service, especially a reservist. A contemptuous term implying that they get a prepared lunch rather than real army rations AUSTRALIA, 1952 cut man noun the member of a boxer's entourage responsible for treating cuts between rounds US, 1975 cut off verb to lay someone off due to lack of work US, 1990 cut off the joint noun from the male perspective, an act of sexual intercourse UK, 1961 cut of your jib noun your general appearance, hence, nature, character and temperament UK, 1825 cutor noun a prosecuting attorney US, 1962 cut out verb 1 to leave US, 1827. 2 to die US, 1955. 3 to take goods in payment instead of money AUSTRALIA, 1984. 4 to pay for something by having sexual intercourse rather than using money AUSTRALIA, 1971. 5 (of a power-source controlled by automatic technology) to switch off; to break (electrical) contact UK, 1984. 6 to serve time in prison rather than paying a fine AUSTRALIA, 1939 cuts noun 1 the definition of body muscle from spaces between the muscle that have no fat US, 1984. 2 any remote location US, 1985. 3 permission from a friend to step into a queue at their place US, 1989. 4 clothing US, 1978 cutter noun 1 a surgeon US, 1970. 2 an illegal abortionist Fiji, 1994. 3 a person who is proficient with the use of a knife or of a weapon US, 1947. 4 a pistol US, 1908. 5 a musician who betters another in a competition of solos US, 1956. 6 any substance used to dilute a drug, thereby expanding volume while reducing potency US, 1995. 7 in American casinos, twenty-five cents. Playing on the sound of 'quarter' US, 1985. 8 money UK, 2000 cut the cackle! stop talking! From CACKLE (to chatter inconsequentially). When extended to: 'cut the cackle and come to the 'osses [Horses]', the meaning is 'stop the preliminaries and get down to business' UK, 1889 cut the crap! stop talking nonsense! US, 1956 cutting noun the preparation of cocaine for inhalation by chopping lines of powder with a razor blade or credit card, 2002 cutting adjective good, excellent UK, 2003 cutting gear noun oxyacetylene apparatus used to break into safes UK, 1977 cutting house noun a place where drugs are diluted for resale US, 1974 cutting man noun a best friend US, 1970 cutting plant noun a shop where stolen cars are dismantled or altered US, 1978 cuttings merchant noun in prison, a prisoner who wields power by collecting newspaper cuttings of reported crimes UK, 2000

cutty noun 1 a cousin US, 2002. 2 a playful girl IRELAND, 1999 cut-up noun a dishonestly fixed outcome of any event, e.g. a competition, an election, a lottery, a job application, etc UK, 1985 cut up verb 1 to behave without restraint US, 1846. 2 (when driving) to overtake in such a manner that other vehicles are adversely affected UK, 1964 cut-up adjective upset, emotionally distressed UK, 1844 cut war noun in lobstering, a rivalry that has escalated to the point where lobstermen are cutting each other's buoys US, 1978 cuyabunga! ▷ see: COWABUNGA!

cuZ noun a friend US, 1979. ▷ see: 'CAUSE

CUZZ noun a term of address used by one member of the Crips youth gang to another US, 1990

cuzzies noun HM Customs & Excise UK, 2002

cuzzy-bro noun a close and loyal friend NEW ZEALAND, 1991 cwazy adjective used as a jocular substitute for 'crazy' US, 1952

c-word noun the word cunt. Usually after 'the' UK, 1986

CYA verb to protect yourself from future criticism for actions being taken now. An abbreviation of 'cover your ass' US, 1959

c-ya used in computer messages as shorthand to mean 'see you' US, 1995 cyber adjective denoting an on-line, Internet or digital state or existence. A back-formation from 'cybernetics' (scientific and mechanical systems of control and communication), coined in 1948 by Norbert Wiener (1894–1964) from the Greek kybernan (to steer; to govern). Mainly used in unhyphenated combinations as a prefix, but can stand alone US, 1966 cyberspace noun the notional locus where on-line communication takes place and from where a digital existence is supposed. Coined by science fiction author William Gibson (b.1948) to describe 'the hallucinatory world existing between computers' in Neuromancer, 1984 US, 1984 cycle noun anabolic steroids. Steroids are taken for a fixed time period – a 'cycle' – and then not taken for the same time period. Professional wrestling usage US, 2003. ► having your cycle experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001 cycle-lifter noun a bicycle thief INDIA, 1979

cyclo noun a rickshaw pulled by a bicycle US, 1972 cyclone noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994

Cyclops sausage dog noun the penis. Probably jocular imagery of a mythical one-eyed giant crossed with a dachshund UK, 2003 cylinder noun the vagina. A mechanics' simile AUSTRALIA, 1984

Cyp noun a Cypriot. Pronounced 'sip' UK, 1984

Cyril Lord adjective bald. Rhyming slang; an imperfect rhyme formed on the name of a British carpet manufacturer (now Carpets International) probably best remembered for an incredibly annoying advertising jingle that haunted the 1960s and 70s. Cyril Lord made rugs and, appropriately, a RUG is a 'hair piece' UK, 1992

Cyril Snee; cyril noun a male homosexual. Rhyming slang for QUEER formed from a character in the Canadian cartoon series The Raccoons from the 1980s UK, 2003 cyring call noun in poker, a bet equal to the last bet made in a hesitating fashion US, 1982

Dd

D noun 1 LSD US, 1971. 2 Dilaudid™, a synthetic opiate US, 1954.

3 narcotics US, 1976. 4 used as a term of address, young man to young man. An abbreviation of DUDE US, 1997. 5 a police detective AUSTRALIA, 1882. 6 a (pre-decimalisation, 1971) penny. From Latin denarius, a rough equivalent of an old penny and used in the standard abbreviation for pre-decimal Sterling: £sd or lsd UK, 1387. 7 in poker, the fourth player to the left of the dealer US, 1988. 8 a demilitarised zone. A shortening of DMZ, the official abbreviation US, 1991

D&D noun dungeons and dragons (a genre of fantasy roleplay games) UK, 2001

D-5 noun a Sony TCD-5M analogue recording tape deck. Favoured by tapers of Grateful Dead concerts until the advent of digital audio tape in the early 1990s US, 1994 da noun father, a father. An abbreviation of affectionate, informal or childish 'dad' or 'dada', especially in Scotland UK, 1851

DA noun 1 a hair-style popular in the early 1950s; the hair was tapered and curled on the nape of the neck like the feathers of a duck's tail. Abbreviated from DUCK'S ARSE/ASS US, 1951. 2 a drug addict US, 1946. 3 a dumb ass US, 2003 da 1 the. Fashionable respelling of phonetic slovening; an essential element in Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981. 2 so; very. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 dab noun 1 a fingerprint. Police jargon, in everyday use, usually in the plural UK, 1926. 2 a moistened finger-tip covered in powdered amphetamine. Possibly as, and then only partly-inspired by, a nostalgic reference to a children's sweet, the Sherbert Dib Dab™, a lolly dipped into a powdered sugar confection UK, 2000. 3 in rugby, a short, darting run with the ball NEW ZEALAND, 1970. 4 in cricket, a batsman's stroke that deflects the ball gently behind the wicket UK, 1969. 5 a criminal charge; a prison disciplinary charge UK, 1996

dab verb 1 to ingest a powdered drug by sucking or licking the powder collected on a moistened finger UK, 2001. 2 in mountain biking, to touch the ground unintentionally with any part of the body US, 1992. 3 of a batsman in cricket, to play a tentative stroke that gently deflects the ball behind the wicket UK, 1985 dabble noun stolen property UK, 1981 dabble verb 1 to use addictive drugs without succumbing to the addiction US, 1949. 2 to experiment with homosexuality UK, 1996. 3 to operate an (occasional) trade in stolen or illegal goods, especially antiques or drugs UK, 1996 dab-dab noun to participate in homosexual sex. Prison usage US, 1990 dacha; daiture; deger adjective ten. From Italian dieci, via lingua franca into polari UK, 1996

Dachau noun any military stockade. Vietnam war usage US, 1968 dachs noun a dachshund UK, 1886 dachsie; dachsy noun a dachshund. An affectionate elaboration of DACHS UK, 1961 duck up verb to light or smoke (a marijuana cigarette) NEW ZEALAND, 1991 dad noun 1 used as a term of address for a man, especially an older man. Often patronizing US, 1928. 2 a homosexual prisoner's 'owner' (protector and lover) US, 1992. ► be like Dad to keep quiet; to say nothing. From the World War 2 slogan 'be like Dad: keep Mum', playing on MUM (quiet) UK, 1996

-dad suffix used as a nonce suffix attached to a friend's name US, 1995

da-dah! used as a mock fanfare UK, 2000

Dad and Dave noun 1 a shave. Rhyming slang, after the characters Dad and Dave, the subject of well-known and well-loved humorous sketches concerning pioneering life by 'Steele Rudd' (Arthur Hoey Davis, 1868–1935) AUSTRALIA, 1944. 2 a grave. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1971 dad-blamed adjective used as a euphemism for 'damned'. 'Dad' is a euphemism for God US, 1844 dad-blasted adjective damned, confounded. 'Dad' is a euphemism for God US, 1840 daddy noun 1 the very best US, 1865. 2 the most powerful inmate in a borstal (a juvenile offenders penal institution); in prison, the most powerful or very strong inmate, or the prisoner who runs a racket UK, 1978. 3 a leader. Originally prison slang, especially of a forceful personality among borstal inmates; now in wider use UK, 2001. 4 the dominant partner in a male homosexual relationship US, 1932. 5 an aggressive, predatory male homosexual US, 1996. 6 the woman who plays the active, masculine role in a lesbian relationship US, 1940s. 7 in the US Army, your supervising officer US, 1968. 8 used as a term of address to a man UK, 1681. 9 a marijuana cigarette UK, 2001 daddy-come-to-church noun an unusual event US, 1953 daddy mac noun an attractive young man US, 1997 daddy-o noun 1 a term of address for a man. Also variant 'daddio'. US, 1947. 2 the US Federal Communications Commission US, 1977 daddypoo noun used as an embellishment of 'daddy', usually from a woman to a man US, 1966 daddy's yacht noun used rhetorically as a representation of the privileges of civilian life. Military sarcasm, in several variations, most commonly 'Where do you think you are? On your daddy's yacht'; directed mainly at National Service recruits (1945–62) UK, 1962 daddy tank noun a jail cell reserved for lesbian prisoners US, 1971 dadger noun the penis. Variation of TADGER (the penis) UK, 1997 dadrock noun 1990s rock music that sounds like music from a generation earlier, e.g. Oasis play dadrock that bears obvious similarities to the Beatles UK, 1999 dads noun a father, or in general address, a man. A variation of 'dad' UK, 1984

Dad's Army nickname the Home Guard (1940–45); hence, any grouping of older men with a united purpose. Gently derogatory. The term survives essentially as a piece of familiar nostalgia mainly because of the popularity of BBC television comedy series Dad's Army (1968–77, and which is still being repeated today). The modern sense is therefore informed by the nature of the characters in the programme; variously bumptious and bumbling, etc UK, 1968 dad's army adjective barmy, foolish. Rhyming slang, after the 1970s television comedy of the UK's World War 2 Home Guard UK, 1992 daff noun excrement IRELAND, 1989

daffies noun strong liquor UK, 1979 daffodil noun a homosexual man US, 1935

daffy noun a skiing stunt in which one ski is swung up in front of the skier while the other is brought up behind and parallel to the first, the whole being a form of mid-air splits. 'Daffy' is listed under the heading Freestyle skiing in the official lexicon for the 2002 Winter Olympic Games UK, 1984 daffy adjective odd, eccentric, silly. The original meaning of 'slightly mad' has softened over the years UK, 1884 daffydowndilly; daffadowndilly adjective silly. Rhyming slang, formed on an informal name for the 'daffodil', or perhaps it is simply an elaboration of DAFFY (silly, daft) UK, 1960 daffy-headed adjective feather-brained, daft UK, 1981 daft nickname Nova Scotia's Department of Fisheries and Oceans CANADA, 2002 daft and barmy noun an army. Rhyming slang. Note also the reversed rhyme: DAD'S ARMY for 'barmy' UK, 1979

daft as a brush; mad as a brush adjective crazy, stupid UK, 1945 daft Doris noun a foolish woman UK, 2000

daftie noun a daft person UK, 1872 dag noun 1 a matted lock of wool and excrement on a sheep's behind. From British dialect AUSTRALIA, 1891. 2 a person who is eccentric and humorous; a real character; a wag. Formerly common, now obsolete (but see sense 3). Some have suggested that the origin of this term lies in the British dialect term 'a feat set as a dare', but the examples given are less than convincing AUSTRALIA, 1875. 3 a person who is dull and conservative; a person who has no sense of fashion; an uncool or unhip person. Now the commonest meaning. It is widely believed that it derives from sense 1, but this is not the case. Probably partially from sense 2 and partially a backformation from DAGGY sense 2. Formerly and still to some extent quite an insult, equivalent to GEEK and NERD, but recently also used in an affectionate manner, and jocularly 'reclaimed' as a term of approval. This reclamation has led to a semantic shift where the meaning can be 'uncool in an amusing or eccentric way', and thus this sense now overlaps with that of sense 2 AUSTRALIA, 1966. 4 a daring act NEW ZEALAND, 1984

dag verb 1 to engage in anal sex US, 2001. 2 to participate in serial, reciprocal, homosexual oral sex US, 1990

dag! used for expressing surprise US, 1987

dagdom noun the notional realm of dags AUSTRALIA, 1990

dage noun a foreigner, an immigrant. From DAGO (a foreigner, an immigrant, etc.) AUSTRALIA, 1955

Dagenham dustbin noun a Ford car. Citizens' band radio slang. Dagenham in Essex is the best-known as the major manufacturing base for Ford cars UK, 1981 dagga noun 1 marijuana. Dagga is the common name in South Africa for a relatively non-toxic herb (genus: Leonotis, varieties: Cape, red and wilde) which is smoked like tobacco; however, for a slang user one herb predominates SOUTH AFRICA, 1955. 2 a marijuana cigarette US, 1955 dagga rooker noun a marijuana smoker. Combines DAGGA with Afrikaans rooker (a smoker). In respectable circles a 'dagga rooker' is recorded as 'a scoundrel; a wastrel' SOUTH AFRICA, 1998 dagger noun a lesbian. An abbreviation of the full BULLDAGGER US, 1980 dagger of desire noun the erect penis. Jocular UK, 2003 daggers noun ► throw daggers; give the daggers to look angrily at someone. Variations of the conventional form 'look daggers' UK, 2002

daggily adverb in a daggy manner AUSTRALIA, 1972

dagginess noun the state of being daggy AUSTRALIA, 1990

daggy adjective 1 unfashionable; uncool AUSTRALIA, 1981. 2 (of clothes, personal appearance, etc.) dirty, filthy AUSTRALIA, 1967. 3 cheap or trashy looking in a sexually promiscuous way US, 1997. 4 (of sheep) having dags; (of wool) soiled with excrement AUSTRALIA, 1895

dago noun 1 an Italian or Italian-American. A slur, originally applied to Spaniards, then to Spaniards, Portuguese and Italians, and now only to Italians US, 1857. 2 any foreigner. Liverpool use UK, 1968. 3 in hot rodding, a dropped front axle, especially on older Fords US, 1965

Dago nickname San Diego, California US, 1931. ► the Dago Frank Sinatra, American singer (1915–1998) US, 1963

dago adjective foreign AUSTRALIA, 1900

dago bomb noun a type of firework US, 1960

dago red noun inexpensive, inferior red wine US, 1906 dagotown noun a neighbourhood dominated by Italian-Americans US, 1960

Dagwood noun a large and elaborate sandwich. Named after the sandwiches made by the Dagwood Bumstead character in the Blondie comic strip US, 1948

Dagwood dog noun a deep-fried battered frankfurter on a stick AUSTRALIA, 2003

daikon legs noun short, pale and fat legs. Hawaiian youth usage.

The 'daikon' is also known as an Asian, Oriental or Chinese radish; it is stubby and white US, 1981 dailies noun film scenes filmed one day, rush processed and delivered for viewing by the director and others the same or next day US, 1970s daily noun a regular (daily) bet with a bookmaker UK, 1984 daily-daily noun during the Vietnam war, anti-malaria pills taken daily, in addition to a second medication taken once a week US, 1982 daily double noun in poker, two consecutive winning hands. A borrowing from horse racing US, 1996 daily dozen noun physical exercises, performed on rising; hence, a limited group (or the measure thereof) of anything (voluntarily) experienced on a daily basis. It is unlikely that the 'dozen' was ever a precise sum UK, 1919

Daily Express noun a dress. Rhyming slang, formed on the title of a leading national newspaper UK, 1992

Daily Express verb to dress. Rhyming slang, formed on the title of a leading national newspaper UK, 1992

Daily Getsmuchworse nickname the Daily Express. Coined in the 1970s by satirical magazine Private Eye UK, 1975

Daily Liar nickname the Daily Mail. Jocular UK, 1984

Daily Mail; daily noun 1 a tail; hence, rectum, arse. Rhyming slang, based on the title of a major newspaper UK, 1956. 2 a tale, especially 'glib patter' or the story told by an informer; a confidence-trickster's patter. Rhyming slang, formed on the title of a leading national newspaper UK, 1960. 3 a prostitute; a sexually available woman. Rhyming slang for TAIL (a woman objectified sexually) or BRASS NAIL (a prostitute), formed on the title of a leading national newspaper UK, 1977. 4 bail. Rhyming slang, formed on the title of a leading national newspaper UK, 1977. 5 a nail. Rhyming slang, formed on the title of a leading national newspaper; used by carpenters UK, 1961. 6 ale. Rhyming slang UK, 1960

Daily-Tell-the-Tale nickname the Daily Mail UK, 1960

Daily Torygraph nickname the Daily Telegraph. From the paper's political bias UK, 2003

dainties noun underwear, especially women's underwear worn by transvestites US, 1972 dairy; dairies noun the female breast(s). Elaborated as 'dairy arrangements' in 1923; most later use tends towards 'dairy' for 'a breast', with 'dairies' as a natural plural; however, 'dairy' is originally recorded as both singular and plural (in the context of a single female); it is current in the plural sense in Scamto (urban youth slang in South African townships) UK, 2005. ► the dairy the best. A play on conventional 'cream' UK, 2003 dairy box noun a sexually transmitted infection. Rhyming slang, formed on a branded chocolate assortment manufactured by Nestlé UK, 1992 daisy noun 1 an excellent thing or person US, 1757. 2 an attractive young woman US, 1876. 3 a male homosexual. Often used in Peter O'Donnell's Modesty Blaise stories, 1962–2001 US, 1944 daisy bell! hell! Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a music hall song ('Daisy Bell' also known as 'A Bicycle Made for Two', by Harry Dacre, 1892) UK, 1992 daisy chain noun 1 a group of people, arranged roughly in a circle, in which each person is both actively and passively engaged in oral, anal, or vaginal sex with the person in front of and behind them in the circle. A term that is much more common than the practice US, 1927. 2 an abstract grouping of people who have had sex with the same person at different times US, 1990. 3 figuratively and by extension, a series of events that return to the beginning US, 1954. 4 in computing, a network architecture in which a single cable connects all nodes US, 1995. 5 a confidence swindle where funds from successive victims are used to keep the swindle alive with the earlier victims US, 1985. 6 a series of (Claymore) mines attached to each other and rigged for sequential detonation. From the general appearance UK, 1950

daisy cutter noun 1 a 10,000 to 15,000 pound bomb used to clear jungle and create an instant landing zone in Vietnam US, 1967. 2 in cricket, a fast ball bowled in such a way that it barely clears the surface of the pitch UK, 1863

Daisy Dormer adjective warmer, especially of the weather. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a music hall entertainer; originally used as a noun in the sense as a 'bed-warmer' UK, 1960

Daisy Dukes noun very short and very tight shorts. Named after a character on the unforgettable US television programme Dukes of Hazzard US, 1993 daisy roots; daisies; daisys noun boots. Rhyming slang, always in the plural UK, 1859 daiture adjective ▶ see: DACHA

dak noun 1 marijuana NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 2 a C-47A Skytrain plane, also known as a DC-3, most commonly used to transport people and cargo, but also used as a bomber and fighter US, 1975

dak; dack verb to pull another's trousers down as a prank AUSTRALIA, 2000 dakhi noun a black person. Scamto youth street slang (South African townships) SOUTH AFRICA, 2005 da kine used at any time to mean anything. Hawaiian youth usage. Can be used as a noun, pronoun, adjective and suffix US, 1951 daks; dacks noun shorts or trousers. From a proprietary name AUSTRALIA, 1970

dallacking verb play acting, fooling IRELAND, 2000

Dallie; Dally noun a Dalmatian, especially an immigrant to New Zealand from that area or the Balkans in general NEW ZEALAND, 1940

Dally noun a New Zealander whose heritage is Croatian (Dalmatian) NEW ZEALAND, 1950 dally verb in western Canadian rodeos, to loop the lariat around the saddle horn CANADA, 1987 dally adjective good, kind, nice, sweet. Possibly a variation of DOLLY (attractive) UK, 2002 dam noun a menstrual cup (a device worn internally, used instead of tampons) US, 2001

Dam nickname ▶ the Dam Amsterdam UK, 1996

dama blanca noun cocaine. Spanish for 'white lady' US, 1976 damage noun 1 expense; cost. Probably from damages awarded at law. Especially familiar in the (jocular) phrase, 'what's the damage?' (how much?) UK, 1755. 2 a problem US, 1988. ▶ do damage to cost a lot US, 1997 damaged goods noun 1 an ex-virgin US, 1916. 2 a person who is mentally unstable UK, 2002 dame noun 1 a woman. While the term originally reflected on the woman involved (an implication of common status), it now reflects more on the speaker, suggesting a tough or old-fashioned viewpoint UK, 1720. 2 in a deck of playing cards, a queen US, 1996

Dame Judi Dench; Dame Judi; Judi Dench; Judi noun a stench. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of celebrated actress Dame Judi Dench (b.1934) UK, 1998 damfino used as a jocular abbreviation of 'damned if I know' US, 1882 dammit noun used, for the purposes of comparison, as the representation of something insignificant. Adapted from 'damn-it'. Examples include 'soon as dammit' (exceedingly quick, or almost immediate); 'near as dammit' (very close indeed); etc UK, 1908 damn noun something of little or no worth. Usually in phrases like 'not worth a damn', 'not care a damn' and 'not give a damn'. There is a strongly fought historical argument that this derives from 'dam' (an Indian coin of little value); the Oxford English Dictionary prefers 'damn' (a 'profane utterance') as the object of this etymology UK, 1760

-damn- infix used as an intensifier US, 1867 damn'; damn adjective damned; used for implying anything from distaste to hate for whoever or whatever is so described. A shortening of DAMNED UK, 1775 damn!; damn it! used for registering annoyance or irritation UK, 1589 damn all noun nothing UK, 1922 damn and bastardry! used as a mild oath. Modelled on conventional 'damn and blast' UK, 2000 damn and blast noun the last position in a race. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 damn and blast verb to curse, to condemn UK, 2003 damn and blast! used for expressing anger or frustration. A common coupling of DAMN! and BLAST! UK, 1943

damnation alley noun in roulette, the twelve-number column on the left of the layout. So named because a dealer may not see a cheat place a late bet in the column, which is sometimes out of the dealer's line of sight US, 1979 damned adjective used as an all-purpose intensifier, generally to negative effect UK, 1596. ▶ as be damned very, extremely IRELAND, 1939 damned tooting used for expressing emphatic agreement. Folksy US, 1963 damn-fool; damfool adjective foolish, silly. From 'damned fool' (an absolute fool) UK, 1959 damn skippy absolutely! without a doubt! An intensive affirmative US, 1994 damn well adverb certainly, assuredly, very much UK, 1934

Damon Hill; damon noun a pill, especially an amphetamine. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of the UK's Formula 1 World Champion (1996) racing driver Damon Hill (b.1960); a discreetly playful reference to SPEED (an amphetamine) UK, 1998 damp adjective allowing the importation of alcohol for personal consumption but not for public sale. A play on the extremes of 'wet' and 'dry' US, 1991 damp blanket noun in the theatre, a bad review US, 1981 damper noun 1 a solitary confinement cell; a cell US, 1992. 2 a safe deposit box in a bank US, 1872. 3 a bank US, 1932. 4 a simple, unleavened, savoury bread traditionally cooked in the ashes of a campfire. So named because it 'dampens' the appetite. Now also applied to a similar style of bread available at bakershops AUSTRALIA, 1825 damper verb to mute, to quiet US, 1979 damps noun central nervous system depressants. A playful allusion to 'amps' as 'amphetamines' US, 1992 damp squib noun a failure; a dud; a fizzler. A 'damp squib' is, literally, a 'wet firework' AUSTRALIA, 1946

Dan noun 1 a man in charge of a male public convenience. From the children's rhyme, 'Dan, Dan, dirty old man, / Washed his face in the lavatory pan' UK, 1954. 2 a Roman Catholic. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 dance noun a fight. Ice hockey usage CANADA, 1970. ▶ what's the dance? what's going on?; what's going to happen? Used among prisoners UK, 2002 dance verb 1 of a batsman in a game of cricket, to swiftly advance beyond the crease to meet the pitch of a ball UK, 1995. 2 (used of a wink in tiddlywinks) to wobble around US, 1977. 3 to cause a car to bounce up and down by use of hydraulic lifts US, 1980. ▶ dance ass to ignore the needs of others TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003.

▶ dance in the rain room to take a shower in prison US, 1989.

▶ dance on the carpet to be called into a superior's office for questioning about possible misconduct or poor work performance US, 1946 danceable adjective of music, suitable for dancing to. The earliest sense (1860) was of a dancing partner being suitable to dance with UK, 1937 dance fever noun Fentanyl™, a synthetic narcotic analgesic that is used as a recreational drug UK, 2004 dancehall noun 1 in a prison in which death sentences are executed, the execution chamber US, 1928. 2 in oil drilling, a large flat-bed truck US, 1954 dance of death noun a relationship or marriage between two addicts. Used in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous US, 1998 dancer noun 1 a boxer who evades his opponent rather than engaging him UK, 1949. 2 a cat burglar; a sneak thief UK, Since C19 dancers noun ► have it on your dancers to run away. A variation of (have it) ON YOUR TOES UK, 1977 dancing noun in railway slang, the condition of locomotive wheels slipping on the rail UK, 1970 dancing academy noun used as a euphemism and legal dodge for an after-hours homosexual club US, 1974 dancing girls noun in dominoes, the seven tiles with a five US, 1959

Dan Dares noun flared trousers. Rhyming slang for, 'flares', formed on Dan Dare, the comic strip 'pilot of the future', first seen in The Eagle in 1950 UK, 1996

D and D verb 1 to leave a restaurant without paying your bill. An abbreviation of DINE AND DASH US, 1997. 2 to fail to lead; to escape responsibility. Said to stand for (to) 'delegate and disappear' CANADA, 1995

D and D adjective 1 drunk and disorderly. Abbreviated from an official cause of arrest UK, 1899. 2 deaf and dumb. Usage is both literal (applied to beggars) and figurative (applied to someone who knows nothing and will say nothing). US, 1937 dander noun 1 anger. Possible etymologies: 'dander' (dandruff), 'dunder' (ferment), or Romany dander (to bite), dando (bitten) UK, 1831. 2 a leisurely stroll. Also used as a verb. In the north of Ireland it is pronounced 'donder' IRELAND, 2002. ► get your dander up to become annoyed or angry US, 1831

Dandies noun ► the Dandies the Dandenong Ranges outside Melbourne AUSTRALIA, 1981

D and M noun a serious conversation, generally relating to personal relationships. Standing for DEEP AND MEANINGFUL AUSTRALIA, 1996

dandruff noun 1 snow US, 1976. 2 cocaine UK, 2001 dandy noun 1 anything first-rate or excellent UK, 1784. 2 a grade of 'D' US, 1965. 3 in South Australia, a small container for ice-cream. Origin unknown. Perhaps originally a brand name AUSTRALIA, 1954

D and Z noun a demilitarised zone US, 1991

dang used as a mild oath or intensifier. A euphemised 'damnn' US, 1821 dange adjective extremely good. Rhymes with 'strange', short for 'dangerous' CANADA, 2002 danged adjective used as a euphemism for 'damned' US, 1962 danger noun an aggressive flirt FJI, 1993 danger is my business used as a humorous response to a suggestion that a proposed activity is dangerous. The motto of cartoon secret agent Cool McCool (NBC, 1966–69), used with referential humour US, 1966 danger wank noun an act of masturbation with the threat of being discovered as an added stimulus UK, 2003

dangle noun the penis US, 1936

dangle verb ► dangle the cat to drive a Caterpillar truck US, 1971 dangleberries noun pieces of dried faecal matter clinging to the hairs surrounding the anus UK, 1984 dangle from verb from a male perspective, to have sex. Heard in the 1970s: 'Cor! I could dangle from that!' UK, 1961 dangler noun 1 the penis US, 1971. 2 a person who has died by hanging US, 1987. 3 a lorry's trailer UK, 1951. 4 a freight train US, 1977 dangling bits noun the external male genitals. Variant of DANGLY BITS AUSTRALIA, 1979

dangly bits noun the external male genitals AUSTRALIA, 2000

daniel noun the buttocks US, 1946

Daniel Boone squad; Daniel Boone team noun US soldiers who engaged in cross-border reconnaissance in Cambodia during the Vietnam war US, 1991

Daniels noun the buttocks US, 1973

Danish pastry noun a transsexual. An allusion to Denmark's standing as an early pioneer in sex-change operations US, 1997 dank noun a very potent marijuana. In conventional English, 'dank' conjures the 'stinky' STINKWEED (marijuana) smell of WEED (marijuana) growing in a damp place; or possibly from the slang adjective 'dank' (excellent). Recorded with the use of 'the' US, 1998 dank adjective 1 inferior; inefficient; bad; unpleasant. Originally recorded as a military term, the semi-conventional usage arrived on a US campus 40 years later providing the spur for the sense that follows UK, 1984. 2 excellent; brilliant. BAD is 'good', WICKED is 'excellent' US, 1989

Dan Leno noun a festive event, a jollification, especially a coach trip to the seaside. Rhyming slang for 'a beano' (a jollification); formed on the professional name of Victorian comedian Dan Leno (George Galvin), 1860–1904 UK, 1992

Danny La Rue adjective blue, applied to any shade whether actual or figurative. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of popular 'comic in a frock' Danny La Rue (b.1926) UK, 1992

Danny La Rue; Danny noun a clue. Rhyming slang, based on popular 'comic in a frock' Danny La Rue (b.1926) UK, 2002

Danny Marr noun a car. Rhyming slang, based on an unrecognised source UK, 1996

Dan O'Leary noun a tour of police duty in which the police officer works every possible minute US, 1958

dan up verb to spruce up TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

dap noun a handshake hooking thumbs, used by black US soldiers in Vietnam US, 1972

dap verb to greet another with a ritualistic handshake; to show respect in greeting US, 1973

dap adjective well-dressed, fashionable. A shortened 'dapper' US, 1956

DAP adjective dead-ass perfect. Golf usage US, 2000

dap down verb to dress nicely US, 1980 dapper noun a person dressed in style US, 1974 dapper adjective perfect, excellent, admirable. Possibly punning on the conventional sense of 'dapper' (neat and tidy) and TIDY (good, correct). Black usage UK, 2000 dapper Dan noun any well-dressed man US, 1970 daps noun 1 gym shoes, plimsolls, tennis shoes, trainers. Originally 'slippers', certainly in this general sense since the 1950s, adapting to succeeding fashions UK, 1924. 2 proper respect US, 1997

Dapto dog noun an person of Mediterranean or Middle Eastern background. Rhyming slang for WOG. Named after the Dapto Dogs, a greyhound racing track at Dapto, south of Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1983

DAR noun a hard-working student; a damned average raiser US, 1955

darb adjective in circus usage, excellent US, 1981 darbies noun 1 a set of handcuffs or fetters; shackles. Derives from a C17 moneylender's bond called Father Darby's or Derby's bands UK, 1665. 2 fingerprints UK, 1950

Darby noun ► on your Darby alone, on your own. Rhyming slang, formed on DARBY AND JOAN (the conventional archetype of an elderly married couple or inseparable companions) UK, 1942

Darby and Joan noun 1 an inseparable couple, with connotations of possible homosexuality. Extending the conventional sense of 'an archetypal elderly married couple' UK, 1975. 2 a telephone. Rhyming slang, formed on the conventional archetype of an elderly married couple or inseparable companions. UK, 1961. 3 a loan. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 2002

Darby and Joan verb to moan. Rhyming slang, formed (perhaps ironically) on the conventional archetype of an elderly married or inseparable couple UK, 1992

Darby bands noun the hands. Rhyming slang, from the old (possibly C16) expression 'Father Darby's bands' (a binding agreement between a money lender and a borrower) UK, 1992 dare noun a challenge, an act of defiance. In conventional use from late C16 to late C19, usage thereafter is colloquial UK, 2002 darg noun a certain fixed amount of work for a given time period AUSTRALIA, 1927

dark noun ► in the dark (used of a bet in poker) made without having seen your cards US, 1990 dark verb to spoil, especially by behaving aggressively UK, 1990s dark adjective 1 bad, inferior, unpleasant, nasty; used as an all-purpose negative UK, 1997. 2 unreachable by telephone. A condition usually resulting from a failure to pay your bill US, 2004. 3 good. On the BAD (good) model, the reverse of sense 1 UK, 1998. 4 evil, 2000. 5 secret AUSTRALIA, 1877. 6 untelevised US, 2000 dark and dirty noun rum and coke (Coca-Cola™ or similar). The drink is made, and the term is formed, of dark rum and a fizzy accompaniment the colour (some may think) of dirty water. Royal Marines coinage UK, 1979 dark as an abo's arsehole adjective extremely dark AUSTRALIA, 1971 dark brown adjective of a voice, low, well-modulated and sexually attractive. Originally of a female voice, then more general UK, 1946 dark cheaters noun sunglasses US, 1949 dark days noun a type of bet in an illegal numbers game lottery US, 1957 darkers noun sunglasses TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

dark eyes noun dizziness BARBADOS, 1965

Dark Gable noun a handsome black man. Punning on the name Clark Gable. The nickname has been taken by more than one, but perhaps nobody more prominent than Mohammed Ali who briefly called himself Dark Gable in 1981 US, 1959 dark-green adjective 1 excellent US, 1954. 2 black. Marine humour in Vietnam – a black marine was said to be 'dark-green' US, 1991 dark horse noun 1 in horse racing, a horse that is deemed a poor performer but one that might surprise all and win US, 1951. 2 a racehorse that has been trained in secret AUSTRALIA, 1877. 3 a person who keeps things about themselves secret AUSTRALIA, 1917. 4 a candidate or competitor of whom little is known. A figurative use of racing slang UK, 1865 darkie noun 1 used as a flattering and affectionate term of address for an attractive, dark-skinned woman TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990. 2 a piece of excrement AUSTRALIA, 1972 ► see also: DARKY dark meat noun a black person as a sexual object US, 1888 dark money; dark time noun extra wages paid for night work UK, 1970 dark o'clock noun night UK, 1995 darks noun dark glasses BERMUDA, 1985 dark shadow noun a tightly-cropped hair cut that stops short of absolute baldness UK, 1999 darkside noun a category of rave music UK, 2002 dark thirty noun late at night US, 1984 dark time noun night US, 1976 darktown noun a neighbourhood populated largely by black people US, 1916 dark 'un noun of dock-workers, a 24-hour shift AUSTRALIA, 1957 dark-white paint noun used as the object of a prank errand for a novice painter US, 1966 darky; darkie noun 1 a black person. Originally used in a paternalistic, condescending manner, but now mainly to disparage US, 1775. 2 an Australian Aboriginal AUSTRALIA, 1845. 3 a Polynesian person NEW ZEALAND, 1863

Darky Cox noun a box in a theatre auditorium. Rhyming slang, of unknown derivation UK, 1961 darkytown noun a neighbourhood with a large population of black people US, 1971

darl; darls noun used as an address or endearment, darling UK, 1930 darling noun 1 used both as a general and a theatrically arch form of address UK, 1933. 2 used as a term of address between male homosexuals US, 1949 darling adjective charming, sweet. An affectedly feminine or effeminate usage UK, 1805

Darling Buds of May; Darling Buds adjective homosexual.

Rhyming slang for GAY formed on the title of a 1958 novel by H.E. Bates and, especially, from a 1991 BBC television adaptation UK, 1992 darling daughter noun water. Rhyming slang. One of several terms that have 'daughter' as the common (dispensable) element UK, 1992 darlings noun the prostitutes of Darlinghurst and King's Cross, Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1984

Darling shower noun a dust storm. Ironic; probably from areas of the outback by the western reaches of the Darling River AUSTRALIA, 1945

Darlo nickname 1 Darlington, County Durham UK, 1984. 2 Darlinghurst, Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1937

darls noun darling AUSTRALIA, 1967 darn!; darn it! used for registering annoyance, frustration, etc. A euphemistic variation of DAMN! US, 1781 darnation noun damnation. Euphemistic; despite the weakening of 'damnation', there is still evidence of use US, 1798 darned adjective used as an intensifier. Euphemistic for DAMNED US, 1807 darned tooting! used as a mock oath affirming that which has just been said. Usually used in a self-mocking way, conjuring the image of an older, confused, country bumpkin US, 1963 darn straight! you are right! Used with irony, playing with the use of the heavily euphemised 'darn' US, 1994

Darren Gough noun a cough. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of Yorkshire and England cricketer (b.1970) UK, 1998 dartboard noun ► had more pricks than a second-hand dartboard used of a sexually promiscuous woman. Such a woman may be described as 'a second-hand dartboard'. Currently popular in Australia UK, 1982 daru noun rum. From Hindi BARBADOS, 1965

Darwin rig noun an adaptation of the typical business suit worn by men in far northern Australia. Generally a short-sleeved shirt, and often short trousers. A tie is normally included, but a coat is definitely not. Named after Darwin, a major city in the tropical north AUSTRALIA, 1964

Darwin stubbie; Darwin stubby noun a 2.25 litre bottle of beer. An ironic term: a STUBBIE is one of the smallest bottle sizes. The city of Darwin is located in the tropical north and is well known for prodigious beer-drinking AUSTRALIA, 1972 dash noun 1 a dashboard UK, 1902. 2 an escape from custody US, 1952. ► have a dash at to make an attempt, to try. The surviving form of 'do your dash' AUSTRALIA, 1923 dash verb to depart in a hurry UK, 1932 dash!; dash it!; dash it all! used as a general purpose expletive. Euphemistic only when deliberately replacing DAMN! but note that SHIT is disguised in the extended variations UK, 1800 dashed adjective damned. Euphemistic; dated UK, 1881 dash on to verb to chastise UK, 1979 dash-pot noun a device that can be installed in a car engine to prevent the car from stalling when the driver suddenly lifts their foot off the accelerator US, 1960 dash up the channel noun from the male perspective, sexual intercourse. A work-related coinage used by (southern) England coastal fisherman UK, 1961

dat noun pork JAMAICA, 2000

date noun 1 a person with whom an appointment or romantic engagement is made. From the conventional sense that defines the appointment US, 1925. 2 a prostitute's customer US, 1961. 3 a sexual liaison between a prostitute and a customer. An ironic euphemism US, 1957. 4 a prisoner's expected date of release from prison US, 1989. 5 a foolish or silly person. Especially in the phrase 'soppy date'; later use is generally affectionate UK, 1914. 6 the anus; the buttocks. First recorded in Australia in 1919 as 'a word signifying contempt'. Possibly a case of rhyming slang reduced to its first element, DATE AND PLUM, BJM AUSTRALIA, 1919 date verb 1 (used of a prostitute) to have sex with a customer for pay US, 1951. 2 to caress the buttocks. From DATE (the buttocks) AUSTRALIA, 1984. 3 to poke in the anus; to goose AUSTRALIA, 1972 date and plum; date noun the buttocks, the backside, the anus. Rhyming slang for BUM UK, 1998 date bait noun 1 an attractive person of either sex who is sought-after as a date US, 1944. 2 anything that might serve as an incentive for a date US, 1986

date driller noun the active participant in anal sex NEW ZEALAND, 1998

date-packer noun a male homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1985

date roll noun toilet paper AUSTRALIA, 2003

date with DiPalma verb (of a male) an act of masturbation. DiPalma alias 'the hand' US, 2001 daughter noun 1 a form of address between homosexual men. This CAMP adoption of the feminine form is also reflected in the cross-gender assignment of pronouns UK, 1992. 2 a male homosexual in relation to the man who has introduced him to homosexuality US, 1949 dauncey adjective pregnant. The 'Lucy is Enceinte' episode of the television comedy I Love Lucy (1950–57), which aired on 8th December 1952, was the first US television treatment of pregnancy. Lucy avoided the word 'pregnant', instead saying that she was 'feeling real dauncey', explaining that it was a word that her grandmother 'made up for when you're not really sick but you just feel lousy'. The word enjoyed brief popular usage US, 1952

Dave Clark adjective dark. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of UK drummer, leader of the Dave Clark Five (b.1942) UK, 2004

Dave Dee, Dozy, Beaky, Mick and Tich adjective rich. Rhyming slang, jocularly contrived from a 1960s UK pop group UK, 2004

David Bowie adjective windy. Rhyming slang for, 'blowzy', formed on the name of singer and musician David Bowie (David Robert Jones, b.1947) UK, 1992

David Gower; David noun a shower. Rhyming slang, based on the name of cricketer and television personality David Gower (b.1957) UK, 2002

Davina McCalls noun nonsense. Rhyming slang for BALLS, formed from the name of UK television presenter Davina McCall (b.1967) UK, 2004

davvy noun a sofa or couch. A corruption of 'Davenport' US, 1997

Davy Crockett noun a pocket. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of an American folk-hero who lived from 1786–1836; he was not an inspiration for slang until the actor Fess Parker brought him to life in 1954 and a succession of Disney-made television adventures UK, 1961

Davy Jones's locker; Davy Jones's; Davy's locker noun 1 the last resting place of those lost at sea; the sea. Davy Jones has been used as a personification for the 'spirit of the sea' since 1751, his locker is mentioned in The Journal of Richard Cresswell, 1774–7; the etymology, however, is another mystery of the deep. Jones may arise from Jonah (and his biblical adventures at sea), Davy may have been added by Welsh sailors in honour of St David UK, 1777. 2 a door knocker. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Davy Large noun a barge. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a docker who later became a Trade Union official UK, 1961

daw noun a silly, empty person; an obdurate unreasoning person IRELAND, 1997

dawamesk noun marijuana UK, 2003

daw-daw; daw-yaw adjective slow-witted. This seems to derive from a yokelish DOH! Certainly the metropolitan notion of countrysiders at the time this slipped into usage was through BBC radio's 'everyday story of country folk', The Archers, first broadcast nationally in 1951; actor Robert Mawdesley certainly introduced such a meaningless syllable into his portrayal of Walter Gabriel, an irascible rogue who gave the appearance of being more slow-witted than he actually was UK dawg noun 1 a dog. A rural, southern 'dog' US, 1979. 2 a fellow youth gang member US, 2003

dawner noun an engagement between a prostitute and customer that lasts all night, until dawn US, 1987 dawn patrol noun any activity that requires staying up all night or getting up very early. Originally a military term, later applied figuratively US, 1945 day noun ► not your day; it's not your day; it just isn't your day used for expressing a rueful, philosophical acceptance of a day when everything seems to go wrong UK, 1984 day! good day!, hello! An shortening of G'DAY UK, 1907 day and night noun 1 a light ale. Rhyming slang, first recorded in 1960, and still fairly current UK, 1960. 2 light (illumination). Rhyming slang UK, 1992 day-and-night merchant noun a lorry driver who breaks the law by driving more than 11 hours in 24 to undercut other drivers UK, 1964 day-for-day adverb serving a prison sentence without any reduction in the sentence for good behaviour US, 1990

dayglo; day-glo adjective used of dazzlingly vivid, rebelliously bright, fluorescent colours. Day-Glo™ paints were introduced in 1951, the name was soon applied to the wider world of tastelessness UK, 1962 day job noun a conventional job, usually used to finance a person's true interest or passion US, 1994 daylight noun in horse racing, the non-existent second-place finisher in a race won by a large margin. Used with humour AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► he (she) wouldn't give you daylight in a dark corner said of a person with a reputation for meanness. Glasgow use UK, 1988 daylight in the swamp! used for rousing people from bed. A logger term US, 1936 daylight robbery noun an exorbitant price UK, 1949 daylights noun ► see: LIVING DAYLIGHTS day number noun in an illegal number gambling lottery, a wager on a number for a single day's drawing US, 1949 day player noun an actor who is called for a single day's work on a television programme or film set US, 1988 days noun ► good old days the past, remembered fondly and better than it ever was. Evolved from the early C19 'good old times' UK, 1986 day's dawning; days a dawning noun morning. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 days of rage noun a series of violent confrontations between radical members of the Students for Democratic Society and the police in downtown Chicago in the autumn of 1969 US, 1970 day to day adjective unencumbered by thoughts of the long term, living one day at a time US, 1983 dazzle dust noun face powder. Obsolete teen slang CANADA, 1946

DB noun 1 a dead body US, 1973. 2 a socially inept person. An abbreviation of DOUCHE BAG US, 2003

DBI a doctors' (unofficial) code for classifying a despicable, offensive or unhygienic person, in a measure indicated by a suffixed numeral. An initialism for dirt bag index. UK, 2003

DC noun a hamburger with every possible trimming and condiment US, 1966

DD noun a person who is deaf and dumb US, 1926

DD adjective by extension, said of a criminal who gives up no information at all if arrested US, 1950

D day noun used as a designation for the start of an action. Originally applied to military actions, then expanded to general use. For example, in a US veteran's hospital, it is the routine day that Ducolax™ suppositories are given bed-bound patients US, 1944

d-dog noun a dog trained to detect hidden drugs US, 1992

DDT! used for disparaging, urging the listener to drop dead twice. Youth usage; punning on the insecticide now banned but used with great effectiveness to kill mosquitos in the years after World War 2 US, 1947 deacon noun a prison warden US, 1949 deacon verb to present a job or product in the best possible light, placing more importance on the first impression than on the actual quality US, 1855 deacon seat noun 1 the seats nearest a fire US, 1975. 2 in a lumber camp, the long bench in the bunkhouse US, 1851 deacon's nose noun the flat lobe at the nether end of a chicken which is like a mammal's tail, base for the tail-feathers. This part of the chicken or turkey is also known in the US as 'the pope's nose' and in the UK as 'the parson's nose' CANADA, 1967 dead noun 1 a corpse BARBADOS, 1971. 2 in any card game, cards that have been discarded US, 1973 dead adjective 1 absolute UK, 1894. 2 used for expressing a very high degree of trouble UK, 2002. 3 (of a place) dull, boring; without interest AUSTRALIA, 1945. 4 in a bar, used for describing any drink that has been abandoned UK, 1985. 5 (of a racehorse) not run on its merits; ridden to lose deliberately AUSTRALIA, 1957. 6 (used of dice) weighted to have one face land up more often than the law of averages would predict US, 1993. 7 in bar dice games, no longer wild. If a game is played with 'aces wild' (assuming the point value of any other die), a call of 'aces dead' after the first call of a hand nullifies the 'wild' status US, 1976. 8 in pinball, said of a bumper that scores when hit but does not propel the ball back into play US, 1977. 9 in pool, said of a shot made such that the cue ball stops completely after striking the object ball US, 1990. ► not be found dead with; not be seen dead with used to deny the possibility that you will have anything whatsoever to do with someone or something UK, 1915. ► not be seen dead in; not be found dead in used in expressions of dislike and dismissal for items of clothing; may also, with slight variation, be applied to a place UK, 1961

dead adverb very, absolutely, extremely, completely. A general intensifier UK, 1589 dead air noun silence. Telecommunications usage US, 1976 dead alive noun in Bingo (also House and Tombola), the number five UK, 1981 dead-alive adverb extremely slowly TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1971 dead as disco adjective completely dead. From the meteoric rise and fall of the disco fad in the 1970s US, 1995 dead ass noun the buttocks in seated repose US, 1950 dead-ass adjective lacking energy US, 1958 dead-ass adverb absolutely US, 1971 dead babies noun semen US, 1998 dead-bang adjective beyond debate US, 1934 dead-bang adverb absolutely US, 1919 deadbeat noun 1 a person who won't pay his debts, especially one who does not pay child support after divorce. In modern use, often construed with 'dad' or 'parent' US, 1871. 2 a destitute person; a bum or derelict AUSTRALIA, 1892 dead beat adjective exhausted UK, 1821 dead bird noun in horse racing, a certainty AUSTRALIA, 1889

Dead board noun an Internet bulletin board system designed by, and for, fans of the Grateful Dead US, 1994 dead cat noun in circus usage, a lion, tiger, or leopard that is on display but does not perform US, 1981 dead cat on the line noun used as a representation of something that is wrong or immoral US, 1970 dead centre noun a cemetery. Jocular UK, 1961 dead cert noun a certainty. Originally sporting and gambling usage UK, 1889 dead-cert adjective certain AUSTRALIA, 1993 dead cinch noun a certainty. An intensification of CINCH (a certainty) UK, 1927 dead-cinch adjective certain. From the noun sense UK, 2001 dead drop noun in espionage or a sophisticated criminal venture, a location where a message can be left by one party and retrieved by another US, 1986 dead duck noun an absolute failure, a person or thing with no possibility of success US, 1829 dead end noun in bowls, an end (a stage of play) that has to be replayed when the jack is driven out of bounds UK, 1990

deadenders noun meat JAMAICA, 2000

dead eye dick noun a person who is an excellent shot AUSTRALIA, 1986

deadfall noun a dishonest, disreputable, vice-ridden drinking establishment US, 1837 dead finish noun the end AUSTRALIA, 1881

dead fish noun a gambler who places small bets to prolong the inevitable US, 1963

deadfoot noun a slow vehicle US, 1976 dead from the neck up adjective brainless, stupid, insensitive UK, 1930 dead gaff noun a premises with no-one in UK, 1956 dead give-away noun a notable indication, or betrayal, of guilt, or defect US, 1882 dead hand noun in poker, any hand held by a player who has bet all of his chips or money on the hand US, 1947

deadhead noun 1 a person who rides free on a railway, bus or aeroplane, usually because of their employment with the carrier US, 1841. 2 a boring person US, 1907. 3 a non-playing observer of gambling US, 1974. 4 a person given a ticket or tickets for having performed minor services in a theatrical production US, 1973

Deadhead noun a follower of Grateful Dead, a band strongly associated with psychedelic drugs, seen by many to epitomise the hippie ideal. Grateful Dead's choice of name was the result of browsing a dictionary, usually abbreviated to 'The Dead'; their 30-year career as a live band came to an end in 1995 with the death of guitarist Jerry Garcia US, 1972 deadhead verb 1 to discourage. A gardening image of deadheading roses to discourage growth UK, 2001. 2 to ignore UK, 2002. 3 to coast in a car with a depleted petrol supply US, 1976. 4 (used of an airline or railway employee) to ride as a passenger in available seating US, 1854

deadhead adverb without cargo US, 1987 dead heart noun the arid inland regions of Australia AUSTRALIA, 1906 dead horse noun tomato sauce. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1966 dead house noun a funeral parlour BARBADOS, 1965 dead-leg noun 1 a useless person UK, 2003. 2 a corking of the thigh AUSTRALIA, 1996

dead letter perfect adjective of an actor, absolutely certain of your lines UK, 1952 dead lice ► dead lice are falling off; dead lice are dropping off used for describing someone who is very slow-moving or lazy US, 1960 dead line noun in prison, a line the crossing of which will bring gun fire from guards US, 1962 deadline verb to remove from action for repairs. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 dead loss noun 1 a person or thing that is utterly inefficient, or a complete failure, or an absolute waste of time or money UK, 1927. 2 a boss. Rhyming slang, adopting the non-rhyming sense: 'a person that is utterly inefficient or an absolute waste of money' UK, 1992

deadly adjective 1 excellent. Especially common in Australian Aboriginal English US, 1970. 2 very boring US, 1955 deadly adverb excessively, extremely, very UK, 1688 deadly embrace noun in computing, the condition resulting when two processes cannot proceed because each is waiting for another to do something US, 1981 deadly treadly noun a bicycle. Rhyming elaboration of TREADLY, with the suggestion that it is risky to ride AUSTRALIA, 2003 dead man noun an earth anchor for a wire or cable UK, 1840 dead man's arm noun a steamed roll pudding NEW ZEALAND, 1985 dead man's ears noun stewed dried apricots NEW ZEALAND, 1992 dead man's hand noun in poker, a hand with a pair of aces and a pair of eights. Although it is the modern belief that this was the hand held by Wild Bill Hickok when shot to death in 1876 in Deadwood, Dakota Territory, early uses of the term (which also sometimes referred to three jacks with two red sevens) make no mention of Hickok. In 1942, Damon Runyon wrote that the hand with jacks was sometimes called the 'Montana dead man's hand' US, 1888 dead man's head noun a spherical plum pudding NEW ZEALAND, 1994 dead man's pull-ups noun an exercise in which a person hangs with their arms extended from a bar, lifts their chin over the bar, and then lowers themselves to the full arm-extended position US, 1996 dead man's rounds noun ammunition held pointed toward the bearer US, 1991 dead man's zone; dead Marine zone noun a demilitarised zone. Back-formation from the initials DMZ US, 1984 dead marine noun an empty bottle AUSTRALIA, 1854 dead meat noun 1 used for expressing a very high degree of trouble. Originally applied only in situations where death was certain, but then softened to include lesser consequences US, 1974. 2 a prostitute. An allusion to the flesh that is sold in a butcher's shop, as opposed to that which is freshly given UK, 1961 dead money noun 1 obviously counterfeit paper money US, 1956. 2 in poker, money bet by a player who has withdrawn from a hand US, 1992

deadner noun a blow, a thump IRELAND, 2003 dead-nuts adverb completely US, 1887

deado noun a corpse US, 1919

deado; dead-oh adjective deep asleep, unconscious. Possibly from the earlier sense (very drunk), however DEAD in 'dead drunk' serves as an intensifier, whereas the sense here may be a literal allusion UK, 1984 dead-on adjective accurate UK, 1889 dead on arrival noun 1 heroin. From official jargon for those who are delivered to hospital too late UK, 1998. 2 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. In honour of the drug's fatal overdose potential US, 1993 dead pan noun a complete lack of facial emotion US, 1927

deadpan adjective without expression; displaying no emotion US, 1928 dead pigeon noun 1 in a criminal enterprise, a double-crosser US, 1964. 2 a person who is destined to lose US, 1919 dead pony gaff noun of circus and fairgrounds, a bad site. Used by travelling showmen UK, 1961 dead presidents noun US currency notes of any dollar denomination; hence, generically, US money. From the portraits of Washington, Lincoln, Hamilton etc., printed on the different value notes US, 1944 dead rabbit noun the penis in a flaccid state US, 1964 dead ring noun an exact likeness AUSTRALIA, 1915 dead ringer noun an exact likeness US, 1891 dead road noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 dead set; dead-set; deadset adjective complete, utter AUSTRALIA, 1965 dead set; dead-set; deadset adverb 1 completely, utterly. From the common collocation of 'dead completely' and 'set against/for/on' (determined (not) to do something or have something happen) AUSTRALIA, 1947. 2 really; honestly AUSTRALIA, 1987 deadshit noun a despicable person AUSTRALIA, 1961 dead skin noun the white inner peel of an orange BAHAMAS, 1982 dead sled noun in the used car business, a car in extremely poor condition US, 1997 dead soldier noun an empty alcohol bottle or beer can US, 1899 dead spit noun an exact likeness UK, 1901 dead-stick verb to land an aircraft without engine function US, 1962 dead-stick adjective (used of landing an aircraft) without engine function US, 1999

Dead threads noun in the language surrounding the Grateful Dead, the layers of clothes worn by a concert-goer US, 1994 dead time noun time served in jail which does not count towards fulfillment of the prisoner's sentence US, 1973 dead to rights denoting an absolute certainty that fully justifies arrest on a criminal charge, as when caught red-handed. DEAD intensifies 'to rights' (fairly, legally) UK, 1859 dead to the world adjective unconscious, deeply and soundly asleep, unaware of any outside stimulus. Earlier use may also have connoted 'drunk' UK, 1899 dead tree format noun paper on which computer output is printed UK, mid-1990s dead trouble noun an extremely difficult situation, deep trouble UK, 1971 dead 'un noun 1 unoccupied premises. Criminal use UK, 1956. 2 a racehorse deliberately ridden to lose AUSTRALIA, 1877 deadwood noun 1 an incompetent or otherwise useless person US, 1887. 2 a flaccid penis. Extended from WOOD (the erect penis) US, 1995. 3 unsold tickets for a performance US, 1934. 4 non-playing observers of gambling US, 1974. 5 a person caught outright committing a crime US, 1992 dead yard noun a ceremony after burial in the deceased's yard JAMAICA, 2003 deaf and dumb noun the buttocks, the backside, the anus. Rhyming slang for BUM UK, 1992 deafie noun a deaf person. Prominently applied to Dr Eric Williams, Prime Minister of Trinidad from 1956 until 1981 TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1972 deal noun 1 a business transaction, a trade or a bargain US, 1838. 2 an underhand or secret transaction; a trade of questionable legality; a mutually beneficial commercial or political arrangement. A nuance of the broader sense, (a trade, a bargain) US, 1881. 3 a small amount of marijuana or hashish UK, 1978. ► bad deal; raw deal; rough deal ill-treatment, exploitative or unfair usage; a swindle US, 1912. ► fair deal; square deal an honest and equitable usage. The locus classicus of 'square deal' is in a speech delivered by US President Theodore Roosevelt in 1903: 'We must treat each man on his worth and merits as a man. We must see that each is given a square deal, because he is entitled to no more and should receive no less' US, 1876. ► new deal a new arrangement US, 1834. ► the deal; the real deal the very best US, 1986

deal verb 1 to sell drugs US, 1958. 2 to supervise the blackjack game in a casino US, 1980. ► deal off the top to treat fairly. From the gambling scheme of cheating by dealing off the bottom of a deck US, 1969 deal adverb much. Derived from the noun sense (a considerable amount) UK, 1756 dealer's band noun an elastic band used by a drug dealer to secure or to facilitate the jettisoning of drugs for sale US, 1966

dealy; dealie noun a thing the correct name of which escapes or is not important to the speaker US, 1997 dean noun 1 a shark AUSTRALIA, 1977. 2 a skilled and experienced poker player US, 1979

deaner; deener; dener; diener noun a shilling. Until decimalisation in 1971; probably from denier (a French coin, the twelfth part of a sou). After the introduction of decimal currency in Australia in 1966, it came to mean a ten cent piece, or its value, a similar coin with about the same comparative value; dying out from the 1980s, now seldom heard UK, 1857

dean of men noun a prison warden US, 1949

dear!; oh dear!; dear oh dear! used as a mild register of anxiety, irritation, regret, etc.. Probably 'dear God!' or 'dear Lord!' UK, 1694

dear dear! used as a mild exclamation or oath; often used to add a mild or ironic emphasis to what is being said. By reduplication of DEAR! UK, 1849

dear dyin' Moses! used as an elaborate, original curse in coastal Nova Scotia CANADA, 1999 dearg noun a stab or a shot, a sharp punch IRELAND, 2000 dearie noun 1 used by women as a form of address. A less intimate variation of conventional 'dear' (a loved one) UK, 1681. 2 used as an affected form of address among male homosexuals. Camp adoption of the previous sense UK, 1962 dearie me!; deary me! used for registering regret. An elaboration of DEAR ME! that is more sorrowful in tone UK, 1785

Dear Jane noun a letter to a girlfriend or wife breaking off the relationship US, 1963

Dear John; Dear John letter; Johnny letter noun a letter from a woman to her husband or boyfriend ending their relationship US, 1945

dear me! used as a mild exclamation or oath; often used to add a mild or ironic emphasis UK, 1773

dear oh dear! > see: DEAR!

dear old thing noun > see: OLD THING death noun 1 paramethoxyamphetamine or 4-methoxyamphetamine (PMA), a synthetic hallucinogen AUSTRALIA, 1997. 2 someone or something that is exquisitely perfect US, 1965. 3 a difficult situation, such as an exam, a hangover, etc US, 1987. 4 in harness racing, the position just behind and outside the leader. Because the horse in that position has to travel farther than horses on the inside and does not have the benefit of a lead horse breaking the wind resistance US, 1997. ► at the death in the finish. Figurative sense of a conventional 'end' UK, 1962. ► like death; like death warmed up feeling or appearing extremely unwell UK, 1939. ► to death 1 to the extreme; superlative UK, 1998. 2 frequently and ad nauseum UK, 1937 death adder; death adder man noun an unwelcoming man who lives a solitary life in the Australian outback. From the name given to several species of venomous snake found in Australia. Historically 'an outback gossip' was also known as a 'death adder' AUSTRALIA, 1951 death adders noun ► have death adders in your pockets to be stingy AUSTRALIA, 1944 death ball noun in cricket, any bowled delivery that takes a wicket UK, 1996 death benefit noun in poker, money given to a player to complete a bet US, 1996 death box; fun box noun in snowboarding and skateboarding, an improvised hollow platform such as a wooden or plastic box or barrel, from which to bounce the board US, 1995 death cookie noun in snowboarding, a rock hidden in snow US, 1995 death drinker noun a vagrant alcoholic UK, 2000 death drop noun butyl chloride when taken recreationally UK, 1984 death metal; deathcore noun a category of heavy metal music that draws on violent, blasphemous and misogynistic imagery UK, 1992 death mitten noun bags slipped over the hands of murder victims to preserve evidence US, 1992 death on call noun Battery C, 4th Battalion, 77th Infantry of the US Army. A gunship unit with the boast of 'kill by profession' US, 1990 death on truckers noun the US Department of Transportation. From the agency's initials: DOT US, 1971 death pen noun a designated pen with black indelible ink used in hospitals for filling out death certificates US, 1994 death rattle noun in cricket, the noise made when a batsman's wicket is hit by the ball UK, 1958 death rim noun any expensive car wheel rim. The rim is an invitation to crime and violence, hence the name US, 1995 death row noun a type of bet in an illegal numbers game lottery US, 1957 death seat noun 1 the front passenger seat of a car or truck. From the probability, actual or notional, that the passenger is the least likely to survive an accident US, 1975. 2 in a trotting race, the position on the outside of the leader. Derives from the difficulty of overtaking from such a position AUSTRALIA, 1982 death spiral noun a downward spiral of an aeroplane from which recovery is nearly impossible and as a result of which impact with the ground is inevitable US, 1990 death tourist noun a person who travels to a country where euthanasia is legal for the purpose of achieving a medically assisted suicide US, 2003 death trip noun 1 LSD enhanced with botanical drugs from plants such as Deadly Nightshade or Jimsonweed US, 1970. 2 heroin UK, 2002. 3 a fascination with death US, 1969 death watch noun attendance upon a man condemned to death. Hanging was institutionalised in C5 Britain; the death penalty was abolished in the UK in November 1965 – except for the crimes of treason, piracy with violence and arson in Royal Dockyards UK, 1950 death wish noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1986 deathy noun a death adder AUSTRALIA, 1951

deazingus noun a dingus, or eye dropper used in drug injecting US, 1973 deb noun 1 a debutante US, 1920. 2 a girl associated with a youth gang, either directly as a member or through a boyfriend. A lovely if ironic borrowing from 'debutante' US, 1946. 3 a depressant, sedative or tranquillizer tablet. From a slovenly pronunciation of 'deps' (depressants); also recorded in the plural US, 1975. 4 a tablet or capsule of amphetamine. A reversal of the chemical effect in the earlier usage; also noted as a plural UK, 2003. 5 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 debag verb to remove someone's trousers, often with humorous intention, always with some degree of force. From BAGS (trousers) UK, 1914 deball verb to castrate US, 1961 debaucherama noun an orgy. Combines conventional 'debauch' with a variation of the suffix- 'orama' (indicates largeness) UK, 2000

Debbie Chon noun an overweight soldier. From the Korean; Korean war usage US, 1982 debone verb to bend a playing card so that it can be identified later in another player's hand US, 1968 debriefing noun an after-flight hotel party attended by a flight crew and flight attendants US, 2002 debris noun marijuana seeds and stems remaining after cleaning US, 1971 debthead noun a prisoner who is continually in debt and, therefore, untrustworthy. A combination of conventional 'debt' with- HEAD (a person considered as a single attribute) UK, 1996 debtor's colic noun any feigned illness whereby a man can get into hospital, or remain sick in his cell, in order to avoid meeting his creditors UK, 1950 debts noun in prison, a placing (of an inmate) on report UK, 1996

debug verb 1 to clear an area of listening devices US, 1964. 2 to rectify faults of electrical, mechanical or operational nature; to remove faulty programming from a computer UK, 1945 debut verb 1 to subject a boy to his first homosexual experience UK, 1978. 2 to acknowledge your homosexuality US, 1964 decadence; deccadence noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1998 decaf noun decaffeinated coffee US, 1956 decaf adjective decaffeinated US, 1981 decapitation noun the assassination of a head of state. Media-friendly military jargon US, 2003 decapitation strike noun a military attack intended to kill (or render impotent) an enemy's leader US, 2003 decayed adjective drunk US, 1966 dece adjective exceptionally good, 'wonderful'. A shortening of 'decent', pronounced 'deece' UK, 1977 decent adjective 1 sufficiently dressed for standards of propriety, especially in the phrase 'are you decent?'. A specialised sense of 'decent', probably of theatrical origins UK, 1949. 2 good, pleasing, excellent US, 1979 decider noun of a sporting contest, the deciding factor: the final heat, the final set, the winning stroke, the winning run, the winning play. From racing, when a 'decider' is a heat run after a dead-heat. Generally used with 'the' UK, 1883 decimated adjective drunk UK, 2002 decision verb to win a boxing match by a decision of the judges as opposed to with a knock-out US, 1979 deck noun 1 a packet of a powdered drug US, 1916. 2 a packet of cigarettes US, 1923. 3 a gramophone turntable. A critical component of a DJ in the modern sense of the term US, 1997. 4 the ground UK, 1836. 5 in cricket, the pitch UK, 1995. 6 a pack of playing cards. In conventional use from late C16 until about 1720, then dialect and colloquial. In the early part of C20, usage was confined, more or less, to the underworld; from the end of World War 2 it was in common use in the UK and Australia and, by the 1970s, in general and widespread informal use. 'Deck of cards' was a UK number one hit for Max Bygraves in 1973 UK, 1948 deck verb to knock to the ground US, 1945 deck ape noun an enlisted sailor in the US Navy US, 1944 decked adjective 1 unconscious from abuse of alcohol or drugs US, 1961. 2 dressed stylishly US, 1972 decker noun a look AUSTRALIA, 1951

deckie noun a deck-hand. Nautical UK, 1913 deck monkey noun a deckhand US, 1941 decknician noun a disc jockey who is admired for skilful manipulation and mixing of music on turntables UK, 2003

decko noun ▶ see: DEKKO deck off verb to dress up TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1973

decks noun trousers UK, 1983 deck up verb to package a powdered drug for sale US, 1964 declare verb ▶ declare a gang (used of warring youth gangs) to agree to discuss a truce US, 1953 declare out verb (of the Canadian Armed Forces) to opt out of service, to resign a commission CANADA, 1959

decomp room noun the room in a morgue housing decomposed bodies US, 1983 decorate verb to pay for something at a restaurant or bar. Most commonly in the phrase 'decorate the mahogany' for buying drinks at a bar US, 1908 decorated with red roses adjective in the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Remembered as World War 2 usage US, 1999 decoy noun an undercover police officer whose appearance leads criminals to assume the officer is a promising victim US, 1981 dedo noun an informant. From the Spanish for 'finger', used by English speakers in the American southwest US, 1995 dedud verb to clear unexploded artillery shells from a practice range US, 1968 dee noun 1 a capsule of Dilaudid™, a pharmaceutical narcotic US, 1986. 2 a police detective. Variant spelling of D. AUSTRALIA, 1882 deeda noun LSD. Possibly New York slang US, 1967

dee dee noun the vagina US, 1998 deedee noun a drug (or dope) dealer. A pronounced initialism UK, 1997 deefa noun a dog. Playing on 'd for dog' NEW ZEALAND, 1998

deek verb to decoy an opposing player into making a wrong move CANADA, 1942 deemer noun a ten-cent piece. From the colloquial 'dime' US, 1926 deep adjective 1 filled with the specified number of referential objects. For example, 'four deep' would mean 'four people in a car' US, 1973. 2 serious, intense US, 1990. 3 (used of language) standard

BAHAMAS, 1982. 4 habitual. This seems to be used in the Black community only UK, 2000 deep! used for expressing approval UK, 2003 deep and meaningful adjective a serious conversation, generally about emotions and relationships AUSTRALIA, 1988 deep-dick verb (from the male point of view) to have sex US, 1997 deep end noun ▶ go off the deep end; go in off the deep end to become excited, angry, emotional, passionate, maddened. A figurative application of the deep end of a swimming pool UK, 1921 deep freeze noun solitary confinement US, 1958 deep house noun a sub-category of house music but with a mellower feel, often featuring profound, rolling bass lines and samples from jazz records UK, 1996 deep kimchi noun serious trouble. Based on the unflattering comparison of the Korean pickled delicacy with excrement US, 1998 deep magic noun in computing, an understanding of a technique in a program or system not known by the average programmer US, 1991

Deep North; deep north noun the far northern parts of the eastern state of Queensland. Modelled on US 'deep south', with identical connotations AUSTRALIA, 1972 deep-pocket adjective (used of a defendant in civil litigation) wealthy, possessing considerable financial reserves US, 1976 deep-sea diver noun a fiver (£5). Rhyming slang UK, 1980 deep sea fishing noun exploratory surgery US, 1994 deep serious adjective extremely critical, as bad as it gets. Vietnam war coinage and usage US, 1985 deep shaft noun strong, illegally manufactured whisky US, 1999 deep six verb to discard; to reject US, 1952 deep throat noun oral sex performed on a man in which the person doing the performing takes the penis completely into their mouth and throat. A term from the so-named 1972 classic pornography film US, 1991 deep throat verb to take a man's penis completely into the mouth and throat US, 1991 deep-water Baptist noun a member of a Baptist sect that practises full-immersion baptism US, 1949 deez-nuts me. The reference to 'these nuts' is an intimate, if crude, reference to yourself US, 1985 def adjective excellent, superlative US, 1979 def adverb definitely US, 1942 de facto noun a partner in a de facto relationship AUSTRALIA, 1952 defect noun a school prefect. A pun to delight the childish UK, 1961 deffo; defo adverb definitely UK, 2001 defiled adjective drunk US, 1997 definite adjective used as a meaningless embellishment US, 1985 def and dumb adjective a catchphrase that defines desirable qualities in a wife or mistress US, 1961

degomble verb to remove snow stuck to your clothes and equipment before going indoors ANTARCTICA, 1989 dehorn noun 1 denatured alcohol (ethyl alcohol to which a poisonous substance has been added to make it unfit for consumption) US, 1926. 2 a person who is addicted to denatured alcohol (ethyl alcohol to which a poisonous substance has been added to make it unfit for consumption) US, 1926

dehorn verb 1 to have sex after a long period of celibacy US, 1972. 2 to demote or discharge from employment US, 1946. 3 to cut someone's hair US, 1972

dehose verb to return a computer that is suspended in an operation to functioning US, 1991 dehydrate verb to become thirsty, especially for alcohol. Coined at around the same time as dehydrated foods became fairly common UK, 1946 dehydrated water noun the object of a prank errand for a new or inexperienced worker US, 1970 deja dit noun a sensation of having said something before; the consequent boredom. Adopted directly from French (already said), following 'déjà vu' UK, 1994 deja fuck noun the unsettling sensation that the person with whom you are now having sex is a former sexual partner US, 2002 deja vu all over again noun the same thing, once again, repeated. An assault on the language attributed to baseball great Yogi Berra US, 1995

deke noun a decoy US, 1950 dekko; decko noun a look. Ultimately from Hindi dekho (look!) Originally British military use dating from the Raj era. There is an 1854 example of 'dek' used in Anglo-Indian English, though no doubt the common Hindi imperative dekho! would have been in common use AUSTRALIA, 1957 delay verb in Quebec, a time limit, an extension CANADA, 2002

delayer noun a railway dispatcher US, 1946 delec adjective attractive. An abbreviation of 'delectable' NEW ZEALAND, 1998

delete verb to leave US, 1993

Delhi belly noun diarrhoea suffered by tourists US, 1944 deli noun a delicatessen US, 1954

Delia noun a recipe. From Delia Smith (b.1941), arguably the UK's most celebrated cookery writer and broadcaster UK, 2004 delicacies noun the testicles UK, 2002 delicate adjective ► in a delicate state of health; in a delicate condition pregnant. Now rare, but still understood UK, 1850 delicatessen book noun a betting operation where the odds are constantly cut US, 1947 delish; deelish adjective delicious UK, 1920 delivery boy noun in poker, any young, inexperienced, unskilled player US, 1996 delivery order noun a request that a certain type of car be stolen and sold to the requesting party US, 1983 dell verb to hit. English gypsy use UK, 2000 delo noun a delegate AUSTRALIA, 1961

delosis noun a pretty girl US, 1953 delouse verb to clear an area of listening devices. A pun on synonymous DEBUG UK, 1969 delph noun the teeth. Possibly from a play on Delft china UK, 2002

Delta delta noun a female Red Cross volunteer in Vietnam US, 1990

Delta dust noun marijuana grown in Vietnam. A subtle pun on the several scientific names for marijuana and its psychoactive component that include 'Delta 1' or 'Delta 9' US, 1991 delta sierra noun a stupid person. Using the phonetic alphabet for DS – DUMB SHIT or 'dog shit' US, 1987

Delta sox noun nylon socks that replaced wool socks for US Army troops in Vietnam in 1970. The army concluded that nylon socks were more suited for tropical wear, especially in areas such as the Mekong Delta, than were wool socks US, 1990 delts noun the deltoid muscles US, 1981 delurk verb to post a message on an Internet discussion group after previously observing without posting US, 1995 deluxe noun in circus usage, a box seat US, 1981 dem noun 1 a demonstration; also, as a verb, to demonstrate, especially how an article works UK, 1968. 2 a capsule of merperidine (trade name Demerol™), a synthetic opiate US, 1992

Dem noun a Democrat US, 1875 dem adjective their. West Indian and black English rendering of 'them' used ungrammatically or shortened from 'belonging to them' UK, 1994 dem pronoun them. West Indian and black English phonetic variation JAMAICA, 1868 demented adjective in computing, not functional and not useful. In computing, the condition resulting when two processes cannot proceed because each is waiting for another to do something US, 1983 demento noun a deranged person US, 1977 demi-god noun 1 a good-looking boy US, 1983. 2 a person recognised by the computing community as a major genius US, 1991 demmy noun a capsule of Demerol™ (merperidine), a powerful and habit-forming painkiller US, 1956 demo noun 1 a demonstration model or recording US, 1963. 2 an act of having sex in front of observers. Apparently this had a vogue during the 70s AUSTRALIA, 1971. 3 a political demonstration AUSTRALIA, 1904. 4 a demonstration of how something works or how an action or activity ought to be done UK, 1961. 5 demolition US, 1943. 6 a laboratory pipette used to smoke crack cocaine US, 1992 demob noun a release from conscription or other contract of military service. An abbreviation of officialese 'demobilisation'; hence 'demob suit' (clothes issued on return to civilian life), etc UK, 1945

demob verb to demobilise UK, 1918 demoiselle noun an odd-shaped pillar of clay or cemented gravel, caused by erosion. The word comes from the French, meaning 'young woman', and is likely to be suggested by the shape, or the shape as it appears to a plains rider who hasn't seen a woman for a long time CANADA, 1952 demolish noun crack cocaine UK, 1998 demolition party noun a party held on the last night of a lease for the purpose of destroying furniture, fixtures, etc NEW ZEALAND, 1987 demon noun a police detective, or, loosely, a police officer. Originally criminal slang. The suggestion in the Oxford English Dictionary Supplement (1972) that it is somehow extracted from Van Diemen's Land, a former name of the penal colony of Tasmania, seems tenuous at best AUSTRALIA, 1898 demon adjective 1 applied to someone, especially in cricket and other sports, who seems superhuman in action. Originally used of Australian cricketer Fred Spofforth, 1853–1926 UK, 1883. 2 excellent US, 1983 demon tweak noun 1 a motorcycle enthusiast who does his own tuning at home UK, 1979. 2 in motor racing, a highly clever modification which may or may not improve the car's performance US, 1980

demoto noun a person lacking motivation; a self-non-starter US, 1993 dems noun demolitions. Military UK, 1995 denari; denarli; dinarlee; dinali; denali noun money. Polari UK, 1914

Denis Law noun a carpenter's saw. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a Scottish footballer (b.1940) UK, 1992

Denmark noun ► go to Denmark to undergo a sex change operation. Homosexual usage; an allusion to the sex-altering operation performed on Christine Jorgensen in Denmark US, 1957 den mother noun an older, unofficial leader of a group of homosexual men US, 1997

Dennis the Menace noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the similarity between the red and black stripes on the comic book character's jumper and those on the tablet UK, 1996

Dennistoun Palais noun aluminium. Glasgow rhyming slang, on 'ally', formed from a venue in the Dennistown area of the city, used by local scrap-dealers UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 dental floss noun LSD UK, 2003 dental flosser noun someone who is considered to be worthless or despicable. Rhyming slang for TOSSER UK, 2003 dent for an E-flat bugle noun an imaginary item for which a novice musician may be sent. Military in origin, but remembered as a fool's errand enjoyed in the Boys' Brigade during the early 1960s UK, 1964 dentist noun in oil drilling, a cement worker US, 1954 dentist's friend noun in circus and carnival usage, any sweet US, 1981

Denver mud noun a patent medicine applied as a poultice US, 1970 dep noun 1 a deposition (a copy of a transcript of evidence). Usually in the plural UK, 1996. 2 a deputy UK, 1851. 3 a deputy prison governor UK, 1950. 4 in the theatre, a company representative of Equity (the actors' union) UK, 2001. 5 in Quebec, a corner store. A short form of the French word dépanneur, which is also used by anglophones and allophones as well as Quebec French speakers, and is often used to describe what in Ontario is known as a 'confectionery', and in south and central Texas as an 'icehouse' CANADA, 2001 depart verb in the language of fighter pilots, to accelerate through the plane's limits US, 1990 department of fishy things nickname Nova Scotia's Department of Fisheries and Oceans CANADA, 2002

Department of Holidays nickname the British Columbia Ministry of Transportation and Highways CANADA, 1989 department of the obvious noun a mythical agency that employs people to state the obvious US, 1991 departure lounge noun in hospital, a geriatric ward. Medical slang, using humour to cope with imminent death UK, 2002 depeditate verb in computing, to place text in a fashion that cuts off the feet of the letters US, 1991 depending on what school you went to a catchphrase used when two distinct pronunciations of a word are offered AUSTRALIA, 1977 depend on it!; depend upon it! be certain; used as an assurance that a statement is, or will be, true UK, 1738 depth bomb noun an amphetamine tablet UK, 1968 depth charge noun 1 a shot of whisky served in a glass of beer US, 1956. 2 a fig or a prune. Of Royal Navy and Royal Air Force origins; comparing an explosion in the deep, which is in the power of such military hardware, to the laxative effect of the fruits UK, 1943. 3 any food that is heavy or stodgy, such as dumplings. From the effects on your lower depths; originally recorded in prison use but soon in wider use UK, 1950 depth charging noun a system of playing blackjack based not on a count of the value of cards played but on the depth of the deck dealt US, 1991

deputy noun a married person's lover TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1975

deputy do-right noun a police officer US, 1980

der! you idiot! In origin representing a stalling articulation such as 'um' or 'er', implying that you need to spend time thinking about something that is obvious. Always said with a sarcastic tone AUSTRALIA, 1979

derange verb to bother, to trouble. From the French déranger CANADA, 2001 derby noun 1 oral sex US, 1969. 2 any sporting contest between traditional rivals UK, 1999 derby kelly; darby kelly; derby kel; derby kell; derby; darby noun the stomach, the abdomen, the belly. Rhyming slang for 'belly' UK, 1906 derel noun a person lacking in basic intelligence. An abbreviation of the conventional 'derelict' US, 1991 derelict noun a socially inept, slightly dim person US, 1979 derm; derem noun an intestine; usually in plural, guts. The phrases 'my derms are clapping together' and 'my derms are flapping together' are vulgarisms for 'hungry' SOUTH AFRICA, 1970

dermo noun dermatitis AUSTRALIA, 1948

dero noun a derelict AUSTRALIA, 1971

DEROS; deros verb to return to the US from combat duty in Vietnam. From the abbreviation for the 'date of estimated return from overseas' US, 1968

derrick apple; derrick fruit noun in oil drilling, a nut, bolt or piece of dried mud that falls off a derrick US, 1954 derrière noun the vagina. From French derrière (behind), a familiar euphemism for 'the buttocks', 'the behind', adopted here for a new location US, 1998 derro noun a derelict AUSTRALIA, 1972

derry noun a derelict house UK, 1978

Derry & Toms noun bombs. Rhyming slang, formed during World War 2 on the name of a London department store, which closed in 1973 UK, 1960

Derry-Down-Derry; DDD; three Ds noun sherry. Theatrical rhyming slang UK, 1960

'ders noun oral sex. An abbreviation of 'headers', itself an embellishment of HEAD US, 1982 desert cherry noun a soldier newly arrived in Kuwait or Saudi Arabia during the first Gulf war US, 1991 desert lamb noun kid goat's meat AUSTRALIA, 1969 desert rat noun any longtime resident of any desert area, especially, in modern usage, Las Vegas, Nevada US, 1907 desert rose noun a military urinal used in the desert UK, 2002 deserve verb ► deserve a medal said of a hard worker: to deserve some kind of reward for effort; also said in regard of an achievement, especially of some act, however trivial, that you would not like to have done (in either use, it is implicit that no reward or official acknowledgement of the act is likely) UK, 1961

desi noun someone from India US, 1996 designer adjective (used of pornography) relatively high-brow, designed for couples and first-time viewers US, 2000 designer drug noun a recreational drug synthesized to mimic the effects of another more expensive or unlawful drug US, 1996

desinness noun a recognisably Indian quality UK, 2006 desk commando noun a military support worker who does not face combat UK, 1958 desk cowboy noun a military or police support worker who does not face combat or street duty US, 1942 deskfast noun breakfast taken at your desk US, 1996 desk jockey noun an office worker US, 1953 desk piano noun a typewriter US, 1945 desk pilot noun a military or police support worker who does not face combat or street duty US, 1955 desk rage noun an outburst of enraged hostility within an office environment US, 2000 desk rider noun a military support worker who does not face combat; an officious bureaucrat US, 1966 desmadre noun a disaster. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1974

Desmond noun a lower second-class degree, a 2:2. A clever pun which may be considered rhyming slang, based on Archbishop Desmond Tutu (b.1930) UK, 1998. ► do a Desmond to undress, completely or largely, especially at a rock concert. From Desmond Morris, author of The Naked Ape US, 1983 desperado noun 1 a person who is down and out; an unemployed person scrounging a living from day to day AUSTRALIA, 1977. 2 a person who exhibits desperation in seeking sexual partners AUSTRALIA, 1987. 3 a desperate gambler US, 1961 desperado adjective desperate. A borrowed word used as an elaboration UK, 2001 desperate noun 1 a gambling addict AUSTRALIA, 1975. 2 a person who exhibits desperation in seeking sexual partners AUSTRALIA, 1979 desperate adjective very good. Largely dependent on a melodramatic delivery to impart the slang sense US, 1951 desperate adverb very CANADA, 1988

Desperate Dan noun a tan. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a comic strip hero who has appeared in the Beano since 1938 UK, 1992 desperate money noun in horse racing, money bet by someone who is in a long losing streak and is very anxious to win AUSTRALIA, 1989 despicable adjective worse than despicable US, 1975 des res a desirable residence. A cliché of estate agent jargon UK, 1986 dessert crack noun nitrous oxide. Small containers of nitrous oxide used in canned dessert topping are a prime source of the gas for young users US, 2002 dessie noun a desert boot UK, 1995 destat verb to get rid of a property's statutory tenants UK, 1963 destructo noun in surfing, a large and powerful wave US, 1978 det noun a detonator, 1962 detainer noun a railroad dispatcher US, 1946 detectorist; metal detectorist noun a person who, for recreation, operates a metal detector UK, 2002 dethrone verb to order someone to leave a public toilet to prevent homosexual activity. A royal image from the use of QUEEN. (homosexual) US, 1941 detox noun a facility where an alcoholic or drug addict can begin treatment with the detoxification process US, 1973 detox verb to undergo, or subject to, a process of detoxification US, 1972

Detroit diesel noun any General Motors engine US, 1971

Detroit iron noun a large, American car US, 1950

Detroit vibrator noun a Chevrolet big-rig truck US, 1971 deuce noun 1 two of anything, such as two marijuana cigarettes, two women, etc US, 1943. 2 a two-year prison sentence US, 1925. 3 two pounds or two dollars US, 1900. 4 in the restaurant business, a table for two US, 1935. 5 an act of defecation. From children's toilet vocabulary: NUMBER TWO (defecation) US, 2003. 6 in dice games, the point two US, 1950. 7 in pool, the two-ball US, 1878. 8 in card games, a two of any suit UK, 1680. 9 two dollars' worth of drugs. Originally a $2 package of heroin; with inflation other drugs became more likely to fit the bill US, 1992. 10 heroin. From DEUCE BAG; DEUCE (a two-dollar bag of heroin) UK, 1986. 11 two hundred US, 1998. 12 two hundred dollars US, 1973. 13 twenty dollars US, 1960. 14 in television and film-making, a 2000 watt spotlight US, 1990. 15 an arrest or conviction for driving under the influence of alcohol. California Penal Code Section 502 prohibits driving under the influence of alcohol, hence the 'two' reference US, 1971. 16 a 1932 Ford. A favourite of car enthusiasts, immortalised by the Beach Boys in their 1963 song 'Little Deuce Coupe' US, 1954. 17 a Chevrolet II car made between 1962 and 1967 US, 1993. 18 a small-time criminal US, 1992. 19 used as a substitute for 'the devil' or 'hell' UK, 1694. 20 the Delta Dagger fighter aircraft US, 1970. ► deuce of benders the knees US, 1947 deuce verb 1 to shear 200 sheep in a day. Hence, 'deucer' (someone capable of this feat) AUSTRALIA, 1950. 2 to back down from a confrontation US, 1950. 3 to supply someone with marijuana US, 1992 deuce and ace; deuce noun a face. Rhyming slang; dated and rare UK, 1925 deuce-and-a-half noun a two-and-a-half ton cargo truck. Military usage since World War 2 US, 1944 deuce-and-a-quarter noun a Buick Electra 225 US, 1968 deuce bag; deuce noun a two-dollar bag of heroin US, 1971 deuceburger noun a prison sentence of two years US, 1990 deuced adjective damned; confounded. Dated, but occasionally used with heavy irony UK, 1782 deuce-deal verb to deal the second card in a deck US, 1965 deuce-deuce noun a .22 calibre weapon US, 1990 deuce-deuce-five noun a Buick Electra 225 US, 1993 deuce-five noun a .25 calibre gun US, 2003 deuce gear noun a soldier's rucksack and other items carried in the field US, 1991 deuce out verb to withdraw from a situation out of fear US, 1949 deuce-point noun in a field patrol, the second soldier in line US, 1991 deuces noun 1 dice that have been altered to have two twos, the second two being where one would expect to find a five. Used in combination with FIVES, likely to produce a seven, an important number in craps US, 1974. 2 a double line US, 1990. ► deuces are in in firefighter usage, pay cheques are prepared and ready to be distributed. From a gong signal of 2–2–2 US, 1954 deuce up verb to line up in pairs US, 1990 deuceway noun an amount of marijuana costing two dollars US, 1979 devil noun 1 a barbiturate or other central nervous system depressant, especially Seconal™. A truncated form of RED DEVIL US, 1969. 2 the hallucinogen STP US, 1971. 3 a printer's apprentice or errand boy UK, 1683. 4 a white person US, 1980. 5 in craps, a seven US, 1993. ► devil me arse! used as an expletive. Of Anglo-Irish origins UK, 1984. ► devil of a an extreme (originally diabolical) example of something. May be used with 'a' or 'the' UK, 1767. ► devil take him!; devil take you!; devil take me!; devil take it! used for expressing anger, impatience, frustration. Often used with 'the' UK, 1548. ► go to the devil to fall into ruin. From about 1460, although it is recorded in Latin more than a hundred years earlier UK, 1460. ► go to the devil! used as an angry expression of dismissal. If not an exclamation, certainly imperative UK, 1859. ► how the devil!; what the devil!; when the devil!; where the devil!; who the devil!; why the devil! used as an impatient intensification of how, what, when, where, who, why. In early uses 'the Devil' was capitalised. 'What the devil' since about 1385. 'When the devil' since 1562. 'Where the devil', 1687. 'Who the devil', 1568. 'Why the devil', 1819 UK, 1385. ► little devil; young devil used as a form of address. Often in tones of exasperation, for instance, a wilful child; conspiratorial or playful to a (mischievous) adult UK, 1931. ► the devil is rolling his oats it is thundering CANADA, 1998. ► the devil made me do it! used as a humorous excuse for misconduct. A catchphrase made wildly popular by comedian Flip Wilson on The Flip Wilson Show (NBC, 1970–74). Repeated with referential humour US, 1970. ► the devil to pay; the devil and all to pay; the very devil to pay very unpleasant consequences to face up to. An echo of Faust UK, 1733 devil and demon; devil noun semen. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 devil bridle noun spittle dried around the mouth TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1951 devil dancing hour noun very late at night TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1971 devil devil adjective (used of rough country) country broken up into holes and hillocks. From Aboriginal pidgin for an 'evil spirit' AUSTRALIA, 1844 devil-dog noun a member of the US Marine Corps US, 1918 devil drug noun crack cocaine UK, 2003 devilfish noun in poker, a skilled player who plays poorly to mask his skill early in a game US, 1996

Devil's Asshole nickname an area in the Mekong Delta south of Sa Dec with a strong Viet Cong presence US, 1990 devil's bedpost noun in a deck of playing cards, the four of clubs UK, 1837 devil's dancing rock noun a large, smooth, flat stone found in a pasture or meadow US, 1963 devil's dandruff noun cocaine; crack cocaine. A simile for an 'evil white powder' US, 1981 devil's dick noun a crack cocaine pipe US, 1992 devil's dust noun 1 crack cocaine US, 1994. 2 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1992 devil's half acre noun a neighbourhood catering to vice US, 1959 devil's herb noun hashish (cannabis resin or pollen) UK, 1994 devil's luck; devil's own luck noun unusually good luck; occasionally, bad luck UK, 1891 devil snatcher noun larva of the dragon fly CANADA, 1955 devil's own adjective devilish; troublesome, difficult UK, 1729 devil's smoke noun crack cocaine US, 1994 devil's tar noun oil US, 1949 devil weed noun 1 stramonium, a narcotic herb. A plant that can be eaten or smoked for drug intoxication and hallucinogenic effect, and is sometimes mistaken for marijuana. It is variously known as known as 'jimson weed' (corrupted from Jamestown weed), 'yerba del diablo' (devil's herb), 'devil's apple' and 'thorn apple' (from the appearance of the fruit), 'angel's trumpet' and 'Gabriel's trumpet' (the flower). Native to south-western US, Mexico, Central America, India and Asia; an occasional weed in Britain US, 2001. 2 marijuana. Ironic, mocking those who condemn marijuana US, 1985

devo noun a deviant AUSTRALIA, 1990

dew noun 1 marijuana; hashish US, 1971. 2 rum that has been manufactured illegally TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► knock the dew off the lily; shake the dew off the lily (of a male) to urinate US, 1974

dewbaby noun a dark-skinned black male US, 1972

dew drop noun a drop of clear nasal fluid or mucus that hangs from the tip of the nose UK, 1984

Dewey noun a socially inept social outcast US, 1988

dewey; dooe; dooe; duey noun two. From Italian due via parleyaree into polari UK, 1937

DEWLINE noun the network of radar stations and airstrips for interceptor aircraft across Canada's North. An abbreviation of 'Distant Early Warning Line' CANADA, 1957 dex noun 1 Dexedrine™, a central nervous system stimulant US, 1961. 2 dextromethorphan (DXM), an active ingredient in non-prescription cold and cough medication, often abused for non-medical purposes US, 2003. 3 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From DECADENCE (MDMA) UK, 2003 ► see: ECSTASY dexedrine noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. An elaboration of DEX (MDMA) based on Dexedrine™, a branded amphetamine UK, 2003 ► see gloss at: ECSTASY dexie; dexi; dexo noun Dexedrine™, a central nervous system stimulant US, 1951

dexter noun a diligent, socially inept student US, 1985

DFA noun describes an imaginary effect employed in the recording industry. An initialism of 'does fuck all' UK, 2005

DFFL dope forever, forever loaded – a slogan of the Hell's Angels motorcycle gang that enjoyed somewhat wider popularity US, 1966

D for dunc; deer noun money, profits, extras, undeclared income. Rhyming slang for BUNCE UK, 1992

DFP noun in pornography, a scene in a film or a photography showing two men ejaculating on a woman's face; a double facial pop US, 1995

DFs noun DF118s, painkillers manufactured from synthetic opium, used recreationally UK, 1996

DH used as an exhortation while drinking. An abbreviation of 'down the hatch!' NEW ZEALAND, 1998

dhobi; dhobie; dobbie noun 1 a native Indian washerman. From Hindi dhobi or dhoby (a member of the 'Scheduled Castes' born to wash and press clothes) INDIA, 1816. 2 laundry, washing. From the verb sense; originally a military usage UK, 2002

dhobi; dhobie; dobbie verb to wash (your clothes). From Hindustani dhob (washing); originally a nautical usage, then general in all military services UK, 1929 dhobi dust noun any washing powder. Military; extended from DHOB (laundry) UK, 1984 dhobi mark noun a small laundry mark. Anglo-Indian INDIA, 2003

dhobi's itch noun a ring-worm infection of the armpit and groin in areas of high humidity or temperature. This 'itch' appears to derive not from DHOB (the washerman) but from DHOB (the laundry) as the condition was thought to spread via underwear which had been washed together UK, 1890

dhobi wallah noun a native washerman serving the military. Of Anglo-Indian military origin. An extension of DHOB (a washerman), possibly a combination of DHOB (laundry) and 'wallah' (a man – in relation to his occupation) INDIA, 1937 diablo noun LSD. The Spanish for 'devil' UK, 2003

diabolical adjective disgraceful. 'Possessed by the devil' in a weakened sense UK, 1958 dial noun the face US, 1842

dial verb 1 in a prayer group, to pray first. Not much language used by the religious qualifies as slang, but this certainly does US, 1990. 2 in foot-propelled scootering, to get a trick right UK, 2000. ► dial a traf to fart. When the spelling of each word is reversed the sense is revealed: 'laid a fart' US, 1998

DIAL adjective dumb in any language. Said of truly incommunicative hospital patients US, 1994

dial-a-winner noun a Dodge push-button automatic transmission US, 1968 dialed in adjective 1 in a state of concentration that excludes any and all distractions. Punning on 'connected'. May be reduced to its first element US, 1995. 2 belonging to the inner circle US, 1997

dialer noun a telephone that when called automatically calls another telephone number US, 1976

dial in on verb to understand what motivates someone else; to grasp their personality US, 1997

dial out verb to ignore US, 1967

dialtone noun a personality-free person US, 1990 diamond noun in a deck of playing cards, a diamond TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

diambista noun marijuana US, 1954 diamond noun 1 anything that is considered as the best, especially as an assement of personal qualities UK, 1990. 2 an amphetamine tablet scored with a diamond-shape UK, 2003. 3 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003. 4 a custom diamond-shaped car window US, 1980

Diamond noun the central square of an Irish town IRELAND, 1992

diamond adjective excellent UK, 1990 diamond cutter noun the erect penis. A later variation on the penis as a type of tool US, 1975 diamond dust noun crystallized ice in the air ANTARCTICA, 1958 diamonds noun 1 a type of bet in an illegal numbers game lottery US, 1957. 2 the testicles. An evolution from the common FAMILY JEWELS US, 1964

diamond season noun warm weather US, 1987

Diamond Street nickname 47th Street just west of Fifth Avenue, New York. Home to many diamond merchants US, 1982 diamond white noun a white Cadillac US, 1998

Diana Dors noun knickers, drawers. Rhyming slang, formed on the professional name of 'Blonde Bombshell' actress Diana Fluck, 1931–84. A humorous reference to women's underwear, perhaps by contrast with the enhanced and marketed sexuality that was Diana Dors UK, 1992 diaper noun 1 a sanitary towel US, 1980. 2 any winter covering on the front of a truck US, 1971. 3 a rubber insulating blanket used in overhead electric line work US, 1980 diaper dandy noun an athlete in his first year of college. Coined or popularised by sports announcer Dick Vitale US, 1993 diapers noun a flotation coat with between-the-legs button flaps issued by the National Science Foundation in Antarctica ANTARCTICA, 1991

diazzy noun a diazepam tablet UK, 2001

dibbi dibbi adjective stupid; worthless; insignificant UK, 1994 dibble noun an encounter with the police; the police; a police officer. Appeared in this sense during the 1990s; after Officer Dibble, the police character in cult television cartoon series Top Cat, Hanna Barbera, 1961 UK, 1994 dibbler noun the penis US, 1998

dibbly-dobblor noun an accurate, medium-pace cricket bowler; such a cricketer's delivery UK, 1997

dib-dabs noun a condition of anxiety, uneasiness, nervousness. A variation of 'abdabs' reported by Commander C. Parsons, 1984 UK, 1984 dibs noun 1 first right to, first claim on. Among the earliest slang a child in the US learns; derives from 'dib' (a portion or a share) which was first recorded in the UK in 1889 US, 1932. 2 money UK, 1807. 3 a living US, 1949. 4 a room, apartment or house US, 1993 dibs and dabs noun 1 small amounts US, 1960. 2 pubic lice. Rhyming slang for CRABS UK, 1961 dice; dick noun a dictionary. It has been suggested that this term was coined by, or within the family of, Scottish philologist and first lexicographer of the Oxford English Dictionary, Sir James Murray, 1837–1915; it would be nice if it were true. 'Dick', in the sense that someone who uses fine words is said to have 'swallowed the dick', is recorded in 1873 US, 1831 dice noun 1 in motor racing, a duel between two cars within the field of competitors US, 1962. 2 crack cocaine UK, 2003. 3 Desoxy™, a branded methamphetamine hydrochloride US, 1977. ► dice on the floor, seven at the door used in casino gambling to express the superstitious gambler's belief that if the dice leave the table and land on the floor during a game of craps, the next roll will be a seven US, 1974 dice verb 1 to disparage or insult effectively US, 1993. 2 to reject, to throw away. The probable derivation is from conventional 'dice' (to lose or throw away) AUSTRALIA, 1944. 3 to throw away; reject; discard AUSTRALIA, 1943 dice bite noun a wound on the hand of a gambler in casino craps when struck by tossed dice US, 1983 dice mob noun a group of two or more cheats in a dice game US, 1961 dicer noun 1 a hat US, 1887. 2 a fast freight train US, 1927. 3 a 'duel' between two drivers. Car racing drivers and commentators' use UK, 1984 dice with death verb to risk actual death or figurative demise UK, 1941 dicey; dicy adjective risky, uncertain UK, 1944 dicey on the ubble adjective balding. Used by Teddy Boys UK, 1958 dick noun 1 the penis US, 1888. 2 the clitoris US, 1964. 3 a man US, 1914. 4 sex with a man US, 1956. 5 a police officer, especially a detective; a private detective US, 1886. 6 a despicable person. Losing its taboo in the US, but still chancy. US, 1966. 7 a fool UK, 1553. 8 nothing, zero UK, 1925. 9 a look, a glance. A variation of DECKO; DEKKO UK, 1979. 10 during the Vietnam war, the enemy. From the Vietnamese dich (enemy) US, 1991 ► see: DIC. ► cut dicks; talk dicks to speak clearly and with an affected English accent VIRGIN ISLANDS, BRITISH, 1973. ► get your dick tender to have an emotional need to be with a woman at all times US, 1972. ► had the dick to be ruined AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► it's just a dick thing used as a humorous excuse for typical male behaviour. A catchphrase from the film Mo' Better Blues US, 1991. ► put dick (from the male point of view) to have sex US, 1973 dick verb 1 to exploit; to take advantage of; to harm. In the 1968 US presidential election, the bumper sticker 'Dick Nixon Before Nixon Dicks You' raised eyebrows US, 1964. 2 (from the male point of view) to have sex with US, 1942. 3 to look. A variation of DECKO; DEKKO UK, 1979. ► have your dick sucked to be fawned upon; to be flattered UK, 1993

Dick & 'Arry noun a dictionary UK, 1992

dick all noun nothing, nothing at all UK, 2005 dick around verb 1 to behave in a sexually promiscuous fashion US, 1969. 2 to make a mess of; to inconvenience US, 2002. 3 to pass time idly US, 1947

dickbrain noun a fool US, 1971 dick-breath noun used as a term of abuse US, 1972 dick cheese noun smegma CANADA, 2002 dick daks noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks. From DICK (the penis) and DAKS (shorts) AUSTRALIA, 2003

dick-dip noun SEX US, 1967 dick doc noun 1 a urologist US, 1994. 2 a military doctor or medic who inspects male recruits for signs of sexually transmitted disease US, 1964

Dick Emery noun memory. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a British comedian and comedy actor, 1917–83 UK, 1992 dicken!; dickin!; dickon! used to express disgust or disbelief. Perhaps from DICKENS! AUSTRALIA, 1894 dickens! used as an interjectional expletive to express surprise, impatience, etc, generally combined with how, what, where, etc. Euphemistic for 'the devil' UK, 1598 dicker noun 1 a look-out, a scout UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1995. 2 a dictionary. By application of the Oxford -ER UK, 1937

dickeroo noun a police officer US, 1945 dickey noun (of clothing, in the Canadian north) a top covering. The word comes from Eskimo atikie (a covering) CANADA, 1952 dickey adjective 1 of plans or things, tricky, risky, 'dicey'. Also spelt 'dischy' UK, 1984. 2 foolish NEW ZEALAND, 1998 ► see: UNCLE DICK dickey-bird noun 1 in oil drilling, a loud squeak caused by poorly lubricated equipment US, 1954. 2 the penis. An elaboration of DICKY in schoolboy use CANADA, 1968 dickey-dido noun the external female genital parts. Originally recorded (1887) as a word for 'a fool'; this sense survives in the bawdy song 'The Mayor of Bayswater' (to the tune of 'The Ash Grove'): 'One black one, one white one / And one with a lump of shite on, / The hairs on her dickey-dido hang down to her knees' UK, 1984 dick-eye noun used as an offensive term of address between males UK, 2003 dickface noun a contemptible fool US, 1975 dick-fingered adjective clumsy US, 1984 dick flick noun an action-oriented film that appeals to a male audience. An opposite and equal reaction to CHICK FLICK US, 2001 dickhead noun an inept, unlikeable person; an idiot. A satisfying embellishment of DICK (the penis). As a term of abuse this is often accompanied by, or even replaced with, a mime of the masturbation of a flaccid penis, gesturally sited in the centre of the forehead US, 1964 dickheaded adjective foolish AUSTRALIA, 1981

dickie noun the penis. Children's vocabulary US, 1962 dickie wacker noun a disrespectful teenage boy who shows off AUSTRALIA, 1985

dickjoke noun any coarse joke US, 1991 dickless noun a female police officer or detective. A shortened form of DICKLESS TRACY that plays on two meanings of dick – 'penis' and 'detective' US, 1984 dickless adjective used of men to intensify general abuse. Literally: 'without a DICK' (a penis) US, 1984 dickless Tracy noun a female police officer. A neat pun on DICK (the penis) and the popular comic book hero-detective Dick Tracy created by Chester Gould in 1931; a contemptuous suggestion that a female cannot be as effective as a male US, 1963 dickless wonder noun a person of either sex who lacks courage or conviction US, 1997 dick-lick noun used as a term of abuse US, 1984 dicklicker noun 1 a cocksucker in all its senses US, 1968. 2 a greyhound racing enthusiast. Used by horse racing enthusiasts AUSTRALIA, 1989

dicklicking adjective despicable US, 1978 dick mittens noun hands that were not washed after urination, 2001 dicknose noun used as a term of abuse US, 1974 dick off verb to waste time, to idle, to shun work US, 1947 dickory dock noun 1 the penis. Rhyming slang for COCK (the penis), not an elaboration of DICK UK, 1961. 2 a clock. Rhyming slang, based on the nursery rhyme 'Hickory dickory dock / A mouse ran up the clock' UK, 1961 dick partition noun a condom. Combines DICK (the penis) with a barrier UK, 1998 dick pointers noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 2003 dick pokers noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 2003

dickrash noun an annoying or despicable person; a jerk AUSTRALIA, 1996

Dick's hatband noun used in comparisons, especially as the epitome of tightness UK, 1781

Dick Shot Off noun the Distinguished Service Order, (a medal for bravery). Punning on DICK (the penis) UK, 1937 dick-skinner noun the hand US, 1971 dick-smacker noun a prison guard. Not kind US, 1984 dicksmith noun a US Navy hospital corpsman US, 1974

Dick Smith noun a drug user or addict who does not socialise with other users US, 1876

dickson! ▶ see: DICKEN

dicksplash noun an awkward or inept person, a fool UK, 2003 dick-stepper noun a clumsy oaf US, 1983 dick stickers noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 1996 dick-string noun a male's ability to achieve an erection US, 1965 dick sucker noun a homosexual male US, 1995 dicksucking noun oral sex performed on man US, 1977 dick-sucking adjective despicable US, 1972 dickswinging adjective used of an obviously arrogant person (regardless of gender). Office jargon that reflects the macho nature of the workplace UK, 2005 dicktease noun a woman who creates the impression of being more sexually available than she is. A variant of the more common PRICK-TEASER US, 1989 dick teaser noun a girl who suggests that she will engage in sex but will not US, 1962

Dick the Shit nickname Shakespeare's Richard III. A play on 'Richard the turd' in theatrical slang UK, 1985 dick togs noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks. From DICK (the penis) and TOGS (a swimming costume) AUSTRALIA, 2003

Dick Turpin noun thirteen. Rhyming slang, used by dart players; formed on the name of the infamous highwayman, born in 1706, hanged in 1739 UK, 1937 dickwad noun an unlikeable or despicable person US, 1989 dick-waver; dicky-waver noun a male exhibitionist US, 1973 dickweed noun a despicable, dim-witted person US, 1980 dickwhacker noun a fool NEW ZEALAND, 2002 dick-whipped; dick-whupped adjective dominated by a man. Formed as an antonym for PUSSY-WHIPPED (dominated by a woman) US, 1998 dickwipe noun a despicable person US, 1992 dickwit noun an idiot, a contemptible fool UK, 2001 dicky noun 1 the penis. An extension of DICK UK, 1891. 2 a windscreen on a motorcycle UK, 1979 dicky adjective 1 inferior; in poor condition or health; insecure; having an odd quality UK, 1959. 2 idiotic or annoying; appearing silly. That is, of, or befitting, a DICK(HEAD) NEW ZEALAND, 1982 ▶ see: DICKEY dickybird noun 1 a little bird. Childish. As in the traditional nursery rhyme, 'Two little dicky-birds sitting a wall, / One named Peter, one named Paul' UK, 1781. 2 a word; hence, a thing of little value, the smallest thing. Rhyming slang, most often given in full and usually in the negative context, 'not say a word', hence the second part of this sense. In the theatre, 'dickies' are an actor's script, 'the words' UK, 1932. ▶ not a dickybird nothing UK, 1975 dicky diddle; diddle noun urination. Rhyming slang for PIDDLE; used by juveniles, perhaps playing on DICKY (the penis) UK, 1961 dicky dirt; dicky noun a shirt. Rhyming slang; also note conventional 'dicky' (a detachable shirt front, since 1811), in turn influenced by obsolete slang 'dicky' (a dirty shirt, 1781) AUSTRALIA, 1905 dicky-dunking noun sex from the male perspective US, 1994 dicty noun a snob US, 1928 dicty adjective 1 excellent US, 1947. 2 arrogant, haughty. Also Spelt 'dichty' US, 1923 did noun a capsule of Dilaudid™, a pharmaceutical narcotic US, 1986 di-da, di-da, di-da used to extend an explanation or complaint, especially when reporting an instance thereof. Usually mocking; but also as an alternative to BLAH BLAH. When used by lyricists of pop songs it tends to have no meaning whatsoever UK, 1940 diddish adjective used to describe anything associated with traditional travellers, especially with regard to degrading or denigratory treatment. Used by late-1980s–early 90s counterculture travellers UK, 1999 diddle noun 1 an act of masturbation. From conventional 'diddle' (to jerk from side to side) US, 2001. 2 a swindle, a deception UK, 1803. 3 gin UK, 2003. ▶ on the diddle engaged in swindling. From DIDDLE (a deception), on the model of ON THE FIDDLE (engaged in a swindle) UK, 2001 diddle verb 1 (from the male perspective) to have sex US, 1870. 2 to masturbate US, 1934. 3 to swindle UK, 1806. 4 to cheat US, 1972. 5 in computing, to make a minor change US, 1983. 6 in computing, to work half-heartedly US, 1991. ▶ diddled by the dirty digit of destiny adversely affected by fate US, 1977

diddler noun 1 the penis US, 1969. 2 a child molester US, 1976 diddling noun petty cheating, sharp practice, trivial swindling, chronic borrowing UK, 1849 diddling Miss Daisy noun an act of female masturbation. After the 1989 film Driving Miss Daisy UK, 2004 diddly noun anything at all. An abbreviation of DIDDLY-SHIT US, 1964 diddlybopper; diddybopper; dittybopper; diddley bop; diddy bop noun a street thug US, 1958 diddly-dick noun nothing at all US, 1972 diddly-dum adjective fine, good UK, 1976 diddly-shit; diddly-squat noun anything or nothing at all US, 1955 diddums noun 1 used by adults for soothing and consoling babies and very young children; hence, a childish endearment UK, 1893. 2 used for offering heavily sarcastic mock-sympathy to an adult or older child and deride childish behaviour or for suggesting that such behaviour or attitude is childish. Adapted from the nonsense endearment used to soothe very young children. This nonsense is expandable: 'diddums doodums dumpling den' UK, 1893 diddy noun 1 a toilet. Perhaps originally a fanciful term used when speaking with small children. Also variant 'didee' AUSTRALIA, 1958. 2 the female breast or nipple. Recorded in use in Glasgow and Australia UK, 1991. 3 a fool; used as a mild insult. Glasgow slang, from the previous sense, and therefore a TIT UK, 1985. 4 a gypsy. A familiar diminutive of DIDIOT in all its variant spellings. Can be further reduced to 'did' UK, 1953 diddy adjective small. Usage popularised by Liverpool comedian Ken Dodd (b.1927) UK, 1965 diddy around; diddy about verb to fool around. From DIDDY (a fool) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

diddy bag; ditty bag noun a small bag issued to soldiers for carrying their personal effects US, 1947

diddy bop verb to take part in gang fights US, 1955 diddybopper noun a racially ambitious black person who rejects black culture and embraces the dominant white culture US, 1980 ▶ see: DIDDLYBOPPER diddy-dum slinger noun a radar operator US, 1947

Diddys noun in the entertainment industry, per diems. A back-formation, from per diem to the initials PD to the initials of rap singer P Diddy US, 2004 iddee noun a water-closet. Generally used with 'the' AUSTRALIA, 1967 didge noun price or cost. A corruption of 'digits' US, 1984 didgy noun a dustbin. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 didgy adjective 1 nervous, unsettled. Possibly from EDGY (nerves on edge) UK, 1999. 2 digital UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 didi; dee-dee verb to leave. From the Vietnamese word di (goodbye) adapted by US soldiers during the war and made into a verb US, 1964 didicoi; diddicoi noun gypsy, Romany, half-breed gypsy UK, 1853 didj; didg noun a didjeridoo (an Australian Aboriginal instrument) AUSTRALIA, 1919 didn't ougter noun a daughter. Rhyming slang UK, 1977 dido noun 1 mischief, a prank US, 1807. 2 a petty complaint filed against a police officer by a superior US, 1958 did you ever?; did you ever! would you believe it! UK, 1817 die verb 1 to want something very much UK, 1709. 2 in roller derby, to fall after an extended and dramatic fight US, 1999. ► die for a tie used as a humorous sobriquet for General MacArthur's prediction that the war in Korea would end in a stalemate unless he were given approval to attack China US, 1976. ► die in the arse; die in the bum to fail completely AUSTRALIA, 1976. ► die on the law on the railways, to work the maximum allowed by the Hours of Service Act US, 1990. ► die on your arse of a comedian, to fail to entertain UK, 2004. ► die the death of an entertainer, especially a comedian, to meet with a complete lack of response from an audience UK, 1984. ► die with your boots on to die while in action US, 1874. ► to die for spectacular, wonderful US, 1983 die; dye noun a diazepam (trade name Valium™) tablet, used as an anti-anxiety agent US, 1986

die before me! used for acknowledging that someone has said exactly what you said at the same time TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

Diefenbaker meat noun canned meat distributed to the poor during the years John Diefenbaker was prime minister (late 1950s-mid 60s) CANADA, 1987

Diefenbunker noun the secure fallout shelter for high Canadian government officials to use in case of national disaster CANADA, 1995

diener noun ► see: DEANER die on the floor, seven at the door; on the floor, hit the door in casino craps, used as a prediction that the next roll after a dice has bounced onto the floor will be a seven US, 1983 dies noun tablets of diazepam, an anti-anxiety agent with central nervous system depressant properties US, 1997 diesel noun 1 an aggressive, 'manly' lesbian. An abbreviation of DIESEL DYKE US, 1959. 2 a man with a great physique US, 1993. 3 prison tea. Probably suggestive of the taste or appearance UK, 1996. 4 heroin UK, 1996 diesel adjective projecting an aggressive and tough image. Originally applied to a lesbian type, the DIESEL DYKE, then to a broader field US, 1995 diesel digits noun channel 19 on a citizens' band radio, favoured by truckers US, 1976 diesel dork noun a large penis US, 1994 diesel dyke; diesel dike noun a strong, forceful, aggressive lesbian US, 1959 diesel fitter; diesel noun bitter (beer). Rhyming slang UK, 1992 diesel therapy noun the repeated transfer of a troublesome prisoner from prison to prison US, 1996 dieso noun a diesel mechanic. An Australian addition to the slang of the South Pole ANTARCTICA, 1967 diet pill noun an amphetamine tablet. From the drug's association with weight-loss US, 1972

diff noun 1 difference US, 1896. 2 a differential in a motor vehicle AUSTRALIA, 1941 diffabitterance noun used as a humorous replacement for 'bit of difference' US, 1921 difference noun 1 notice. Jocular; usually phrased as 'no-one took a blind bit of difference' UK, 2001. 2 any weapon used in a fight or crime US, 1950 different adjective out of the ordinary, special, unusual, recherché UK, 1912. ► different strokes for different folks different things please different people. Singer Syleena 'Syl' Johnson released the song 'Different Strokes' (J. Cameron and J. Zachary) with this line in it in 1967; Sly and the Family Stone's 1968 mega-hit 'Everyday People' put the phrase on the map US, 1966 differs noun difference. Anglo-Irish UK, 1959 diffy noun a car or truck's differential NEW ZEALAND, 1956 dig noun 1 a punch, a blow. Extends the conventional sense of 'poke' UK, 2001. 2 a jibe, an insult, a taunt UK, 1849. 3 an Australian or New Zealand soldier of either world war. An abbreviation of DIGGER. Commonly used as form of address to such a soldier. Later also a friendly form of address to any man, and now generally only used to men of an age to have fought in a world war AUSTRALIA, 1916. 4 a form of male address. A shortening of DIGGER AUSTRALIA, 1916. 5 an archaeological excavation, an archaeological expedition UK, 1896. 6 in cricket, an innings AUSTRALIA, 1966. 7 an injection of a drug UK, 2000. 8 in volleyball, contact with the ball below the waist US, 1972. 9 a fisherman's stretch or 'area' of water AUSTRALIA, 1963. 10 a drag racing event US, 1993 ► see: DIG IN THE GRAVE dig verb 1 to like, to appreciate US, 1950. 2 to understand US, 1934. 3 to bother, to concern AUSTRALIA, 1958. 4 to inject a drug intravenously, especially heroin UK, 1996. 5 in handball, to hit a low ball before it strikes the floor US, 1970. 6 in surfing, to paddle energetically US, 1963. ► dig a drape to buy a new dress. Teen slang, reported by a Toronto newspaper in 1946 CANADA, 1946. ► dig for gold to pick your nose US, 2003. ► dig horrors to be suffering; to live with trouble GRENADA, 1975. ► dig out your eye to swindle; to cheat TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1935. ► dig the man a neat ditch in oil drilling, to perform any job well US, 1954. ► dig with the left foot be a Catholic IRELAND, 1951. ► dig with the right foot to be of the same religious persuasion, in Northern Ireland a Protestant UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1997. ► dig with the wrong foot to be a Catholic CANADA, 1968

dig-away noun a festering sore TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1989

Digby chicken noun a smoked, salted small herring. Digby is a fishing port on the west (Fundy) shore of Nova Scotia CANADA, 1995

dig down verb to demolish BARBADOS, 1965 digger noun 1 a goldminer AUSTRALIA, 1849. 2 an Australian or New Zealand soldier of either world war. Also extended to soldiers fighting in other military conflicts such as the Korean and Vietnam wars. Originally applied only to infantry soldiers of World War 1 who spent much time digging and maintaining trenches. A term of high approbation AUSTRALIA, 1916. 3 by extension, a term of male address AUSTRALIA, 1920. 4 an undertaker US, 1945. 5 a person who buys a large number of tickets to a popular entertainment and resells the tickets to a broker US, 1927. 6 a member of the Digger hippie counterculture support-network. Named for a mid-C17 English sect that practised agrarian communism US, 1966. 7 a pickpocket, especially a clumsy one US, 1931. 8 a face-first fall US, 1993. 9 a solitary confinement cell US, 1992. 10 a drag racing car US, 1993. 11 the grade 'D' US, 1968

diggety used in various combinations for expressing surprise or pleasure US, 1928 diggidy noun marijuana UK, 2001 digging for worms noun varicose vein surgery. Medical slang, obvious imagery UK, 2002 diggings noun lodgings US, 1837 diggity noun heroin UK, 2003

diggys noun digital scales UK, 1999 dig in verb 1 to eat heartily UK, 1912. 2 from a standstill, to accelerate a car suddenly, making the tyres squeal on the road US, 1951 dig in the grave; dig noun a shave. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1931 digit noun a number chosen as a bet in an illegal policy bank lottery US, 1973 digital manipulation noun (of a female) masturbation. A simple pun using computer technology US, 2001 digithead noun a person whose enthusiasm for mathematics or computers is never hidden US, 1994 digits noun a telephone number US, 1995 digits dealer noun an operator of an illegal numbers policy lottery US, 1982 dignity noun the vagina. A political coinage US, 1998 dig out noun help getting out of a difficult situation IRELAND, 1995 dig out verb 1 to work cheerfully and with a will; to make a real effort. Military usage UK, 1987. 2 to taunt, to insult UK, 1998. 3 in trucking, to start fast US, 1971 digs noun 1 lodgings, be it a room, flat, or house. An abbreviation of the earlier (1830s) 'diggings'. In the UK theatrical 'digs' have a long and colourful history with most venues still providing a 'digs-list' for touring players UK, 1893. 2 a job US, 1973 dig up; dig out verb to research and discover, or find and obtain UK, 1611 dig you later used as a farewell US, 1947 dik adjective 1 stupid. Derived from its literal Afrikaans sense as 'thick' SOUTH AFRICA, 1978. 2 tired of something or someone. Often in the expression 'to be dik of' SOUTH AFRICA, 1986. 3 heavy, beefy, big, fat, powerfully built. From Afrikaans SOUTH AFRICA, 1970 dikbek noun a sulky or surly person. From Afrikaans for 'thick beak' SOUTH AFRICA, 1970 dike noun stolen brass or copper sold as scrap US, 1980 ▷ see: DYKE dike verb in computing, to remove or disable something. Derived from the sense of 'dikes' as 'diagonal cutters used in electrical work' US, 1991 dilberry noun a fool NEW ZEALAND, 1952

Dilbert noun 1 in poker, a player with a strong grasp of the mathematics and probabilities associated with the game but a poor set of playing skills US, 1996. 2 a blunder US, 1944 dilbert verb to disabuse an employee of work-place optimism. From the experiences of Dilbert the eponymous anti-hero of the Dilbert comic strip US, 1996

dildo noun a despicable, offensive or dim-witted person US, 1960

DILF noun a sexually attractive father. A gender variation of MILF (a sexually appealing mother); an acronym of 'dad I'd like to fuck' US, 2003 dill noun 1 a fool. Back-formation from DILLY (foolish) AUSTRALIA, 1941. 2 the penis AUSTRALIA, 1988 dillberries noun excreta that cling to anal or pubic hair. The original spelling was 'dilberries' UK, 1811 dill-brain noun a simpleton AUSTRALIA, 1975

dill-brained adjective foolish AUSTRALIA, 1975

dill-dock noun a dildo US, 1949 dillhole noun an easily disliked person US, 1997 dilligaf do I look like I give a fuck? Collected as police slang US, 1999 dill piece noun the penis US, 2001 dillpot; dillypot; dill noun a fool. Rhyming slang for TWOT, possibly from DILLY (silly) AUSTRALIA, 1941 dilly noun 1 an excellent or remarkable thing or person. Usually used in a sarcastic sense US, 1908. 2 a capsule of Dilaudid™, a synthetic morphine used by heroin addicts trying to break their habit US, 1971

Dilly nickname Piccadilly, an area of central London. The area around Piccadilly Circus was a popular location for street-walkers and polari-speaking male prostitutes UK, 1936 dilly adjective silly, foolish. Possibly from DILLPOT (a fool) or, more likely as the first recording of 'dilly' predates 'dillpot' by 35 years, simple rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1905 dilly bag noun a bag, generally small, for carrying odds and ends.

From dilly a traditional Australian Aboriginal woven bag, from the Australian Aboriginal language Yagara AUSTRALIA, 1906 dilly-bags adjective much, plenty, many. An elaboration of BAGS AUSTRALIA, 1953 dilly boy noun a young male prostitute. The DILLY (Piccadilly Circus) is (perhaps was) renowned as a centre for male prostitution UK, 1979 dilly-dally verb to dawdle; hence to waste time. A reduplication of conventional 'dally' (to loiter) UK, 1741 dillyzy noun the penis. A variation on 'dilly' (penis) US, 1999 dim noun the night, twilight US, 1944 dim adjective unintelligent. An antonym for the intellectually bright UK, 1924 dimba noun marijuana from west Africa. A variation of DJAMBA UK, 1998

dimbo noun ▷ see: DIMMO dime noun 1 ten dollars US, 1958. 2 one hundred dollars US, 1988. 3 one thousand dollars US, 1974. 4 ten years; a ten-year prison sentence US, 1967. 5 a pretty girl. A product of a one-to-ten scale for rating beauty, with ten being the best; thus an updated way of saying 'a ten' US, 2002. ► on a dime precisely, suddenly US, 1996 dime verb to betray, to inform on US, 1970 dime-a-dip dinner noun a fundraising meal US, 1967 dime a dozen adjective used of anything in very plentiful supply US, 1930 dime bag; dime noun a packet of drugs sold for ten dollars US, 1970 dime-dropper noun a police informant US, 1966 dimelow; dinelow; dinelo noun a fool, an idiot UK, 1900 dime-nickel noun a 105mm wheeled cannon capable of shooting shells at a high angle US, 1991 dime note noun a ten-dollar note US, 1938 dime paper noun ten dollars worth of a powdered drug, especially heroin US, 1972 dime special; dime noun crack cocaine US, 1998 dime-stacking noun a system of keeping track of drinks not rung up on a bar's cash register, enabling the bartender to calculate the amount that can be safely embezzled at the end of the shift US, 1992 dime store noun 1 a store selling a variety of small items US, 1938. 2 a small casino or gambling establishment with low-stakes games US, 1953 dime's worth noun the (variable) amount of heroin that is sufficient to cause death UK, 2002

dimmo; dimbo noun a stupid person CANADA, 1977

Dimmo; Dimo noun a Greek. From the pronunciation of 'Demo', short for Demosthenes, a very common given-name among Greeks UK, 1961 dimp noun a cigarette-end. Originally military, then vagrants UK, 1940 dimple noun a dent on a car's body US, 1997 dimps noun a small amount of money, tobacco or other prison currency UK, 1996 dimwit noun a slow-witted fool. Extends from DIM (not very bright) US, 1921 dimwitted adjective stupid, slow. The quality of a DIMWIT US, 1940

Dinah noun dynamite or nitroglycerin US, 1949 dinarly; dinarla; dinaly; dinah; dinarlee noun money. Ultimately from Latin dinarii into Italian or Spanish, via lingua franca to parleyaree; or, perhaps Latin dinarius, into Persian and wider Arabic dinar (various coins), via gypsy; thence general Cockney usage and adoption as part of the polari vocabulary UK, 1851 din-din noun dinner; a meal. Children's vocabulary UK, 1905 din-dins noun a meal. A variation of DIN-DIN UK, 1920 dine noun dynamite US, 1992 dine verb ► dine at the Y; eat at the Y to perform oral sex on a woman. The Y is an effective pictogram for the groin of a woman US, 1971 dine and dash verb to leave a restaurant without paying your bill US, 1997 dine in verb in prison, to eat in your cell rather than communally. Hence the derivatives 'diner-in' and 'dining in' UK, 1950 ding noun 1 the penis US, 1965. 2 the buttocks. A shortening of DINGER AUSTRALIA, 1957. 3 a party, especially a wild party. A shortening of WINGDING AUSTRALIA, 1956. 4 marijuana US, 1954. 5 a dent, scratch, scrape or rip US, 1945. 6 the expenses incurred in operating a carnival concession US, 1985. 7 a mentally unstable person. A shortened form of DINGBAT US, 1929. 8 a quasi-coercive request for money US, 1982

Ding noun an Italian; a Greek AUSTRALIA, 1940

ding verb 1 to physically beat another person. This meaning is attributed by the Oxford English Dictionary to dialectal use in East Anglia UK, 1688. 2 to dent, scratch, scrape or rip US, 1968. 3 in circus and carnival usage, to borrow US, 1981. 4 to reject US, 1965. 5 to wound US, 1968. 6 to kill. Vietnam war usage US, 1991. 7 to name for a duty or responsibility. Military UK, 1984 dingage noun damage to a surfboard or a surf-related injury US, 1991 ding-a-ling noun 1 the penis. A pet-name; 'dangle' (penis, also conventionally 'to hang down'), compounds with the nursery word 'ding-dong' (the ringing of a bell), to give an image of testicles as bells and penis as a dangling bell-rope. Originally black usage, the success of Chuck Berry's 1972 recording of a twenty-year-old song made this term widely accessible US, 1952. 2 a fool US, 1935 ding-a-ling adjective foolish, crazy US, 1959 dingbat noun 1 an odd, foolish or eccentric person US, 1879. 2 used as a (euphemistic) replacement for any noun the user cannot or will not name. Perhaps this sense is the inspiration for the selection of symbols that comprise the Dingbats typeface US, 1923. 3 a daredevil motorcyclist UK, 1979. ► go like a dingbat go fast UK, 1967. ► mad as a dingbat extremely mad; very angry. A reference to delirium tremens AUSTRALIA, 1942

dingbats noun delirium tremens NEW ZEALAND, 1911 dingbats adjective 1 crazy, mad, delusional AUSTRALIA, 1925. 2 stupid, foolish AUSTRALIA, 1950

ding-ding noun a crazy person US, 1970 dingdong noun 1 the penis US, 1944. 2 a sing-song. Rhyming slang for 'a song' UK, 1960. 3 a gas-powered railway coach used on a branch line US, 1945. 4 a heated quarrel UK, 1922. 5 a party. Extended from the sense as 'a sing-song' UK, 1936 ding-dong verb to telephone US, 1973 ding-dong adjective 1 of top quality, great, terrific AUSTRALIA, 1953. 2 (of a fight, competition, etc) hard fought AUSTRALIA, 1924 ding-dong bell; ding-dong noun hell. Rhyming slang, used originally by World War 2 Royal Air Force UK, 1961 dinge noun 1 a black person. Derogatory, from conventional 'dingy' (dark) US, 1848. 2 a member of any dark-skinned race. Adopted from the US meaning 'a black person'. Note, also, that during World War 2 Royal Air Force bombing crews used 'the dinge' 'for the blackout' UK, 1934 dinged adjective concussed, in a confused mental state. Pronounced with a hard 'g'. From the conventional (if archaic) use (to hit) UK, 1970 dinged up adjective battered AUSTRALIA, 1979

dinge queen noun a white homosexual man who finds black men attractive; a black homosexual man US, 1964 dingy noun 1 the backside or anus AUSTRALIA, 1943. 2 an extraordinary thing or person. An abbreviation of HUMDINGER US, 1809. 3 a railway yardmaster US, 1929. 4 a sniper US, 1972. 5 a burglar alarm, especially an intentionally visible one US, 1931 dinghy noun 1 a motorcycle sidecar UK, 1979. 2 the penis BAHAMAS, 1982

dingle adjective (of weather) good ANTARCTICA, 1989 dingleberries noun 1 the female breasts UK, 1980. 2 the splattered molten particles near a weld US, 1974 dingleberry noun 1 a glob of dried faeces accumulated on anal hairs. Although this sense is not the earliest recorded sense of the word, it is probably the original sense US, 1938. 2 a despicable person US, 1924. 3 a military decoration US, 1953 dingleberry hone noun in car mechanics, a hone (a tool used to enlarge and smooth the inside of a hole) that uses a silicon carbide ball attached to spring-like wires that flex US, 1993

dinglebody noun a foolish, simple person US, 1957 dingle-dangle noun the penis UK, 1937 dinglefuzzy noun used in place of a person's name which has been forgotten US, 1975 ding list noun in female college students' slang, a notional list of boys whom the keeper of the list does not like US, 1963 dingnuts! used for registering annoyance or frustration as a euphemism for 'bollocks!'. An elaboration of NUTS! UK, 2000 dingo noun 1 a cowardly, treacherous or despicable person. From 'dingo' the Australian native dog, to which the attributes of cowardice and treachery have long been incorrectly applied by white people AUSTRALIA, 1869. 2 an Australian NEW ZEALAND, 2002. ► turn dingo on to betray someone AUSTRALIA, 1945 dingo verb 1 to behave in a treacherous or cowardly manner AUSTRALIA, 1935. 2 to cancel, especially to cancel a date or romantic assignation. Teen slang UK, 2003

dingo's breakfast noun an act of urination and a good look round; no breakfast at all AUSTRALIA, 1965 ding string noun a cord attached to a surfer and his surfboard. The cord has the effect of reducing damage to the board after the surfer falls off US, 1991 ding team noun a scout and sniper working together US, 1991 dingus noun 1 the penis US, 1888. 2 an artificial penis US, 1957. 3 used for identifying a thing, the correct name of which escapes the speaker or is not important in context; a gadget, a contraption US, 1876. 4 an eye-dropper used in makeshift drug-injection equipment US, 1973 ding ward noun a hospital ward for the mentally infirm US, 1981 dingy noun a police van US, 1970 dingy adjective eccentric, odd US, 1907 dink noun 1 a person from South Asia; especially, in later use, a Vietnamese person. Possibly Australian rhyming slang, formed on CHINK (a Chinese person). It was adopted by the US military in Vietnam in 1967 AUSTRALIA, 1938. 2 a partner in a relationship that can be defined as 'double (or dual) income, no kids', that is a couple with two jobs and no children; or as an adjective applied to the couple. An acronym US, 1987. 3 a clueless, unaware person US, 1962. 4 the penis US, 1888. 5 in volleyball, a tap of the ball after a faked hitting of the ball downward with great force US, 1972. 6 a lift on a bicycle or, formerly, a horse AUSTRALIA, 1934 dink verb to give someone a lift on a bicycle or, formerly, a horse. British dialect had dink (to dangle a baby) and this may be the origin, but it is hardly conclusive AUSTRALIA, 1932 dink adjective genuine; true; honest. Abbreviation of DINKUM AUSTRALIA, 1980

dink around verb to idle or waste time US, 1978 dinki-di; dinky-die adjective genuine. An intensified variation of DINKUM, often associated with nationalistic values AUSTRALIA, 1918

dinkie; dinky noun a partner in a relationship that can be defined as 'double (or dual) income no kids (yet)', that is a couple with two jobs and no children; also an adjective applied to the couple US, 1986 dinkie dow noun marijuana. Originally used in the Vietnam war to mean 'off the wall' (crazy) – which was ascribed to marijuana, locally-grown or imported by the soldiers. The US servicemen went home in 1975 and took the word with them US, 1968 dinkied up adjective smartened up, made lively UK, 1981 dink pack noun a six-pack of beer. The word 'dink' is so close to 'dinky' that it seems to refer to the six-pack as less than a 'real' box of beer: a twelve or a two-four CANADA, 1993 dink tank noun a condom. Combines DINK (the penis) with an appropriate container UK, 1998 dinkum adjective 1 serious AUSTRALIA, 1962. 2 real, genuine. Originally meaning 'work', or 'an allotted amount of work', 'dinkum' comes from the Lincolnshire and Derbyshire dialects of Britain. The phrase FAIR DINKUM was recorded from north Lincolnshire in 1881 and first recorded in Australia in 1890. The conjecture that it is from Cantonese dim kum (real gold), said to have been introduced by Chinese miners during the gold rush (1860s), cannot be true since it fails to explain how a Chinese mining term could have made its way to the British midlands AUSTRALIA, 1905. 3 honest, upstanding AUSTRALIA, 1962 dinkum adverb really, truly, honestly AUSTRALIA, 1915

dinkum Aussie a person who embodies all those things seen as characteristically Australian AUSTRALIA, 1920

dinkum oil noun reliable information AUSTRALIA, 1915 dinky noun 1 an expensive car. Wealthy humour, based on Dinky Toys UK, 1980. 2 an old, dilapidated car. From the older, more common meaning (a kite) TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1986. 3 an electric tram with controls at each end US, 1923. 4 a small railway engine used for yard switching US, 1905

dinky adjective 1 small, unassuming US, 1895. 2 neat, spruce, dainty UK, 1788. 3 of music, pleasant, easy-listening UK, 1976. 4 wildly enthusiastic, crazy US, 1969. 5 fair; honest AUSTRALIA, 1941 dinky dau adjective crazy. From the Vietnamese for 'off the wall'. Vietnam war usage US, 1965 dinky-di; dinky-die; dinki-di adjective real; genuine; true; honest AUSTRALIA, 1962 dinky dows noun marijuana. Vietnam war usage US, 1992 dinky inky noun in television and film-making, a low watt spotlight US, 1990 dinners noun the female breasts US, 1933 dinny noun the vagina BAHAMAS, 1982 dinnyhayser noun an excellent thing or person. From boxer Dinny Hayes NEW ZEALAND, 1998 dinnyhayzer noun a heavy punch; a knockout blow. Commemorates the pugilist Dinny Hayes AUSTRALIA, 1907 dinosaur noun 1 any person who is old or considered to be out of date, or both US, 1970. 2 an older heroin user US, 2002. 3 any computer that requires raised flooring and a dedicated power source US, 1991 dinosaur juice noun petrol, gasoline US, 1976 dinosaurs noun a type of LSD UK, 2003

dip noun 1 a pickpocket US, 1859. 2 a short swim UK, 1843. 3 a foolish person US, 1932. 4 diphtheria; a patient suffering from diphtheria and, therefore, classified by disease. Medical UK, 1961. 5 crack cocaine US, 1994. 6 a member of the Diplomatic Service UK, 1968. 7 a cigarette that has been dipped in embalming fluid UK, 2003. 8 from a male perspective, a swift act of sexual intercourse UK, 1976. 9 an injection of a narcotic US, 1959. 10 a pinch of chewing tobacco; the chewing tobacco itself US, 1997. 11 a light. Hence 'dips!' (lights out) UK, 1947. ► on the dip engaged in pickpocketing US, 1949 dip verb 1 to pick pockets UK, 1857. 2 to display an inappropriate interest in another prisoner's business US, 1976. 3 to eavesdrop US, 1987. 4 to fail in the commission of a crime, especially theft or robbery AUSTRALIA, 1975. 5 to hurry US, 1997. 6 to swerve through traffic on a bicycle BERMUDA, 1985. 7 to use chewing tobacco US, 2001. 8 to leave US, 1993. ► dip south to search your pockets for money NEW ZEALAND, 2002. ► dip your left eye in hot cocky shit! get stuffed! AUSTRALIA, 1972. ► dip your lid to raise one's hat as a polite gesture. Although no longer in common use since the wearing of hats went out of fashion after World War 2, it is still used occasionally AUSTRALIA, 1915. ► dip your wick to have sex UK, 1958

dip-dunk noun an unpleasant person, especially one who is not in the know US, 1992 diphead noun a social outcast US, 1975 diplomacy noun deception TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1938 diplly noun a socially inept outcast US, 1965 dip out verb 1 to come off worse; to miss out on an opportunity; to fail UK, 1987. 2 to back out of AUSTRALIA, 1952. 3 (used of a member of crack cocaine-selling crew) to remove small amounts of crack from the vials for sale, for later personal use US, 1994. 4 on a bird-watching trip, to fail to see the object of the quest UK, 1977 dipper noun a pickpocket UK, 1889 dipping noun the act of picking pockets UK, 1882 dippy adjective foolish, unstable, silly US, 1899 dippy dog noun a deep-fried battered frankfurter on a stick AUSTRALIA, 2003

dipshit noun a person of no consequence and no intelligence US, 1962 dipshit adjective offensive, inconsequential, lacking in intelligence US, 1968 dip shop noun in the used car business, a small finance company with very high interest rates that will offer loans to customers who might not otherwise qualify for financing US, 1975 dipso noun a person who suffers from an uncontrollable urge to drink. An abbreviated 'dipsomaniac' UK, 1880 dipso adjective drunk UK, 2003 dip squad noun a police unit that targets pickpockets. Formed on DIP (a pickpocket) UK, 1977 dipstick noun 1 the penis US, 1973. 2 an inept fool, an idiot. A euphemistic DIPSHIT; possibly punning on the synonymous sense of PRICK. In the UK, usage was popularised by BBC television situation comedy Only Fools and Horses, first broadcast in 1981 US, 1963 dipstick verb to test the abstract qualities of someone or something. From the device used to measure the depth of oil in a car's engine; thus a play on 'take the measure of' UK, 2003

dipsy noun a gambling cheat US, 1950 dipsy-doodle noun 1 a zig-zag motion. From baseball jargon US, 1989. 2 a long, end-around-end skid US, 1962 dipwad noun an inept outcast US, 1976 dire adjective objectionable, unpleasant. A trivialisation of the conventional sense UK, 1836 direct action noun a political act, especially a violent one, that may lead to arrest US, 1968

dirge noun a Dodge truck US, 1971 dirk noun 1 a knife or improvised cutting weapon US, 1950. 2 a socially unacceptable person US, 1964 dirt noun 1 a man or group of men who will prey upon homosexuals US, 1927. 2 gossip, criticism, rumour US, 1844. 3 heroin. Slightly less judgmental than 'shit' US, 1973. 4 marijuana US, 1995. 5 a tobacco cigarette US, 1971. 6 a trump card, especially when played unexpectedly UK, 1945. ► down in the dirt (used of flying) close to the ground US, 1987. ► have the dirt on someone to know some scandal about someone or something; to have the news about someone or something UK, 1984. ► in the dirt in trouble. Euphemistic for IN THE SHIT UK, 1964 dirt adverb very UK, 1821 dirtbag noun 1 a despicable or offensive person US, 1941. 2 a prisoner with poor personal hygiene US, 1989 dirtball noun a dirty, despicable person US, 1974 dirt bike noun a motorcycle designed for off-road use US, 1970s?

dirtbird noun a contemptible individual. From the skua and its habit of forcing other birds to regurgitate their stomach contents IRELAND, 1996 dirtbox noun the anus; the rectum UK, 1984 dirtbud noun a despicable person US, 1998 dirt chute noun the rectum US, 1971 dirt-dobber noun a farmer; an unsophisticated rustic US, 1947 dirt farm noun the mythical source of gossip US, 1980 dirt grass noun marijuana of inferior quality US, 1971 dirties noun work clothing US, 1954 dirt nap noun death US, 1981 dirt road noun the anus and rectum US, 1922 dirt surfer noun a member of the counterculture who has abandoned any pretence of personal hygiene or grooming US, 1994

Dirt Town nickname McMurdo Station, Antarctica ANTARCTICA, 2003 dirt-tracker noun a member of a touring sports team who is not selected for the major events NEW ZEALAND, 2001 dirt weed noun low quality marijuana US, 1997 dirty noun ► do the dirty to have sex US, 1968. ► do the dirty on someone to trick or otherwise treat someone unfairly UK, 1914 ► see: DIRTY DICK

dirty verb ► to dirty your Christmas card in horse racing, to fail dramatically and suffer a great loss of reputation AUSTRALIA, 1989 dirty adjective 1 guilty US, 1927. 2 in possession of drugs or other contraband US, 1927. 3 in urine testing, containing drug metabolites US, 1990. 4 infected with a sexually transmitted infection US, 2003. 5 angry, upset, annoyed AUSTRALIA, 1972. 6 in betting on horse racing, said of a day of races that has produced wins for gamblers and losses for bookmakers AUSTRALIA, 1989. 7 descriptive of electricity with unstable voltage that causes problems with computers US, 1991. 8 of an aircraft, with undercarriage down and flaps suitably aligned in order to fly as slowly as possible UK, 1979 dirty adverb very, extremely; a general intensifier, especially of adjectives of size UK, 1894 dirty air noun in motor racing, air turbulence on the race track US, 1980 dirty anal noun a scene in a pornographic film or a photograph depicting anal sex where traces of faeces are visible on that which is being inserted anally US, 1995 dirty and rude adjective nude. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 dirty arm noun a drug addict's arm showing the scars and infections resulting from intravenous drug use US, 1992 dirty barrel noun the genitals of a person infected with a sexually transmitted disease US, 1967 dirty basing noun crack cocaine. The drug is cheaper and less pure than FREEBASE cocaine UK, 1998 dirty beast noun a priest. Glasgow rhyming slang UK, 1988 dirty bird noun Old Crow™ whisky US, 1970 dirty boogie noun a sexually suggestive dance US, 1969 dirty case noun in hospital usage, an operation in which the surgeons discover an infection US, 1980 dirty-dance verb to dance in an explicitly and intentionally sexual manner US, 1994 dirty daughter noun water. Rhyming slang. One of several terms that have 'daughter' as the common (dispensable) element UK, 1961

Dirty Den noun a pen. Rhyming slang, formed on the popular nickname of a character in BBC television's EastEnders; the villainous Dennis Watts, who appeared in the first episode, broadcast 19th February 1985, was nicknamed by the tabloid press UK, 1992 dirty Dick; the dirty noun a police station, a prison. Rhyming slang for NICK UK, 1992

Dirty Dicks noun a ward for sexually transmitted diseases in a military or other service hospital. A pun on DICK (the penis) CANADA, 1984 dirty-dirty nickname the southern United States US, 1999 dirty dish noun fish. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 2002 dirty dishes noun evidence planted by police or investigators to incriminate someone US, 1982 dirty dog noun a despicable or untrustworthy person; a lecher UK, 1928 dirty dog nickname the Greyhound Bus Lines US, 1997 dirty dupe noun in television and film-making, a crude, black and white, working print US, 1990 dirty end of the stick noun an unfair position to be in, or inequitable treatment UK, 1924 dirty girl noun an operating theatre nurse who is not deemed sterile and who is available for tasks that do not require disinfecting US, 1980

Dirty Half Mile nickname a section of the Sydney inner-city suburb of Kings Cross noted for prostitution and vice AUSTRALIA, 1934 dirty laundry noun embarrassing information US, 1982 dirty leg noun a woman with loose sexual mores; a common prostitute US, 1966 dirty leper; dirt noun pepper. Rhyming slang, probably suggested or informed by the appearance of ground black pepper UK, 1992 dirty look noun a look of contempt or strong dislike UK, 1961 dirty mac; dirty mackintosh noun used as a generic description for any man who habitually resorts to sex-shops, strip-clubs and the purchase of 'top-shelf' publications UK, 1975 dirty mac brigade noun a notional collection of sex-oriented older men UK, 1987 dirty mack verb to speak insults and slander US, 1999 dirty money noun 1 money that is the proceeds of crime, especially money that can be traced. Dirty Money (Un Flic) is a crime drama in which a policeman targets a drug-smuggling operation, directed by Jean-Pierre Melville, 1972 UK, 2003. 2 extra pay for very dirty work. An employment issue UK, 1987 dirty movie noun a sexual or pornographic film US, 1969 dirty old man noun 1 a lecher; especially a middle-aged or older man with sexual appetites considered more appropriate in someone younger. Given impetus in the UK in the late 1960s – early 70s by television comedy series Steptoe and Son UK, 1932. 2 any homosexual man older than the homosexual male speaker US, 1964 dirty on adjective angry with AUSTRALIA, 1965 dirty pool noun unfair tactics. From the game of pool US, 1940 dirty Sanchez noun an act of daubing your sex-partner's upper lip with a 'moustache' of his or her faeces. This appears to have been contrived with an intention to provoke shock rather than actually as a practice, although, no doubt, some have experimented. The use of a Mexican name merely suggests the shape of a drooping moustache US, 2003 dirty side nickname the eastern coast of the US US, 1976 dirty smoke noun marijuana UK, 2002 dirty stack noun in a casino, a stack of betting tokens of different denominations US, 1983 dirty stop-out noun a person who spends more time than expected away from home in pursuit of pleasure. A jocular cliché when the stress on 'dirty' is admiring; may have an admonishing tone if used by parents, or if 'stop-out' is alone or combined with a harsher adjective UK, 1906 dirty thing noun a person who behaves amorously, or flirts saucily or unsuitedly, especially with heavy innuendo. Originally used by adolescent girls or amorous boys UK, 1961 dirty thirty noun 1 in the Vietnam war, a US soldier who had killed 30 enemy soldiers US, 1991. 2 the US Air Force pilots who served as co-pilots with Vietnamese Airforce crews in 1963 and 1964 US, 1990 dirty tricks noun secret tactics that are generally considered to be unfair US, 1963 dirty tyke noun a bike. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 dirty up verb 1 to render an entertainment (radio, television, film, book, play, etc) more sexually titillating UK, 1974. 2 to modify a recording to make it sound more 'authentic' or 'raw' US, 1983 dirty water noun ► get the dirty water(s) off your chest (of a male) to ejaculate, either with a partner or as a sole practitioner UK, 1961

dirty weekend noun a romantic or sexually adventurous weekend (away from home) spent with your lover; or with your partner or spouse but without your children UK, 1963 dirty work noun in a strip or sex show, movements made to expose the vagina US, 1971 dirty work at the crossroads noun illegal activity, especially if concealed US, 1938

DIS noun death while in the saddle, or engaged in sexual intercourse US, 1979 dis; diss verb 1 to insult in a competitive, quasi-friendly spirit, especially in a competitive rap battle US, 2000. 2 to show disrespect, to disparage US, 1982. 3 to release (from prison). An abbreviation of 'discharge' US, 1990 disappear verb to kill someone and dispose of the corpse in a manner that assures it will never be discovered. As a transitive verb, a favourite term – and practice – of right wing death squads and organised criminal enterprises US, 1964 dischuffed adjective displeased, offended; insulted. Military usage UK, 1987 disco noun 1 an event where a DJ plays recorded music for dancing. The ubiquitous post-wedding-breakfast or after-dinner entertainment; probably derives from the mobile discothèques which proliferated in the 1970s to take advantage of the then-fashionable disco scene UK, 1964. 2 a venue for dancing to recorded music. Abbreviated from 'discothèque' US, 1964. 3 by extension, a genre of dance music US, 1964 disco adjective 1 out of date, out of fashion, out-moded US, 1993. 2 acceptable, good. From the film Pulp Fiction US, 1995 disco biscuit noun 1 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. A heavily ironic identity for a fashionable drug; 'disco' as a nightclub for an earlier generation that didn't have ECSTASY and hence, is considered extremely unfashionable, plus 'biscuit' in the conventional sense of 'a basic supply (ship's biscuit) which can sustain life'. In short 'MDMA brings life to clubs' UK, 1996. 2 the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™, a tablet of methaqualone. From the popularity of the drug in the 1970s disco scene US, 1993

disco brick noun a kilogram of cocaine UK, 2001 disco burger noun a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996 disco dancer noun 1 an opportunist. Glasgow rhyming slang for CHANCER UK, 1988. 2 cancer. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1983

disco dose noun a mild dose of LSD US, 1995

disco dust noun cocaine UK, 1999

disco gun noun a Walther PPK pistol UK, 1995

disco move noun any manoeuvre executed by a novice surfer US, 1991

discon noun the criminal charge of 'disorderly conduct' US, 1963 disco queen noun a male homosexual who frequents discos. The title of a 1978 song by Paul Jabara glorifying the energy of the song's hero US, 1979 disgustitude noun the state of being disgusted US, 1990 dish noun 1 an attractive female UK, 1909. 2 the buttocks, the anus. Polari UK, 1965. 3 gossip, especially when disparaging, salacious or scandalous. From the verb sense US, 1976. 4 on Prince Edward Island, an undefined amount of alcohol CANADA, 1956. ► put on the dish to apply lubricant to the anus in preparation for anal sex UK, 2002 dish verb to gossip, to disparage. Originally 'dish the dirt' or 'dish out the dirt' US, 1941. ► dish soup to sell cocaine US, 1995. ► dish the dirt; dish it to gossip indiscreetly or with slanderous intent US, 1926

DI shack noun the quarters where drill instructors live and the on-duty instructor works US, 1991 dish bitch noun a television journalist who, when on location, relies on satellite communication for incoming information which is then included in that journalist's report UK, 2005 dis-head; diss-head noun a person who will not conform and show respect. Combines DIS (to show disrespect) with -HEAD (an enthusiast) US, 2000 dishlicker noun a dog, especially a racing greyhound AUSTRALIA, 1983

dishonourable discharge noun ejaculation achieved through masturbation US, 1964 dish out verb 1 to distribute. Originally military and therefore used of food or medals UK, 1931. 2 to dispense (abuse) US, 1908. ► dish it out when fighting or arguing, to attack with punishing force US, 1930. ► dish out the gravy; dish out the porridge of a judge, to deliver a severe sentence of imprisonment UK, 1950 dish queen noun a male homosexual who takes special pleasure in gossip US, 1970

dishrag noun a person or thing of no importance US, 1906 dish rags noun in poker, poor cards US, 1996 dishwasher noun a railway worker who cleans engines in a roundhouse US, 1946 dishwater noun poor quality beer AUSTRALIA, 1972

dishwater diarrhoea noun a notional disease that plagues those reluctant to wash their dishes US, 1969 dishy adjective sexually attractive. From DISH (an attractive person) UK, 1961 disinfo noun disinformation UK, 1976 disk drive noun the vagina UK, 2001 dismant noun a bit of previously-used electrical or mechanical equipment. From 'dismantle' SOUTH AFRICA, 1974

dismo noun a fanatic surfing enthusiast who never actually surfs US, 1997

Disneyland noun a prison with relaxed rules that ease the difficulty of serving a sentence US, 1992

Disneyland nickname 1 the Pentagon; military headquarters in Vietnam. A critical assessment of reality and fantasy in the military leadership US, 1963. 2 the brothel district near An Khe, Vietnam, near the 1st Cavalry Division base US, 1966

Disneyland-on-the-Rideau nickname National Defence Headquarters, on the Rideau Canal in Ottawa CANADA, 1995 disobey verb ► disobey the pope 1 to masturbate. While this may be another ecumenical variation of BASH THE BISHOP (to masturbate), it is certainly a literal reaction to the Catholic view of onanism. It is also theoretically possible to 'please the pope' UK, 2001. 2 to have sex. Here the use of frowned-upon contraception seems to be implied US, 2001 dispatchers noun in a dice game cheating scheme, improperly marked dice UK, 1811 dispersal noun in prison, the system of managing Category A prisoners by sending them to one of six high-security prisons rather than concentrating them all in one maximum-security facility UK, 2000 distress verb to impregnate outside marriage TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 dis war noun an exchange of quasi-friendly insults as part of a rap battle; a war of words. Extended from DIS (to show disrespect) US, 1995 dit noun a tale, a yarn. Origin unknown AUSTRALIA, 1942 ditch noun 1 the sea; the ocean; the Atlantic Ocean; the English Channel. Generally used with 'the' UK, 1841. 2 the antecubital vein inside the bend of the elbow, often used for injecting drugs US, 1968. 3 the Tasman Sea NEW ZEALAND, 2002. 4 inferior marijuana, especially from Mexico. From DITCHWEED UK, 1998 ditch verb 1 to reject, discard, abandon; to elude US, 1899. 2 to release (from prison). An abbreviation and corruption of 'discharge' US, 1990. 3 in an emergency, to bring an aircraft down in the sea UK, 1941 ditchweed noun marijuana of inferior quality that grows wild in roadside ditches, especially in Mexico US, 1982

ditso noun an absent-minded, somewhat dim person US, 1976 ditso adjective absent-minded, somewhat dim US, 1987 dit-spinner noun a person adept at telling stories, anecdotes or the like AUSTRALIA, 1967 ditto I agree; the same goes for me US, 1981 ditto-head noun a fan of radio entertainer Rush Limbaugh. Limbaugh conditioned his callers to begin conversations on the radio with a simple 'Dittos from [hometown]' instead of gushing admiration for him US, 1992

dity adjective upset, nervous US, 1978 ditz noun an absent-minded, empty-headed person US, 1982 ditzy; ditzy adjective (usually of a woman) scatterbrained, silly US, 1973 div noun a fool; a disagreeable individual. Abbreviated from DIVVY (a fool) UK, 1983 dive noun 1 a disreputable establishment US, 1867. 2 an intentional loss in a sporting event US, 1916. ► take a dive to deliberately lose a boxing match or other sporting contest US, 1942 dive verb to lose a contest or competition intentionally, especially in boxing. From the image of a boxer diving towards the mat, feigning a knock-out blow US, 1921. ► dive for pearls to work washing dishes in a restaurant US, 1957 dive-bomb verb to jump into water in a tucked position in order to make a large splash AUSTRALIA, 1980 divebombing noun an act of picking up dog ends from the pavement. Vagrants' use UK, 1980 divel a bissell used by Nova Scotians of German descent as a mild oath CANADA, 1999 diver noun 1 a pickpocket UK, 1611. 2 a hang glider US, 1992

Diver nickname Charles Jaco, CNN reporter in Saudi Arabia during the US war against Iraq in 1991. Because of Jaco's athletic dives off camera when a missile attack alert was announced US, 1991 divhead noun a fool; a disagreeable individual. Elaboration of DIV UK, 1997 dividends noun money US, 1977 divider noun a marijuana cigarette that is shared among several smokers UK, 2001 divine adjective pleasant, 'nice'. A trivial use of the conventional sense UK, 1928 divine blows noun energetic sex TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

Divine Brown noun ► go Divine Brown; go Divine to perform oral sex. Rhyming slang for GO DOWN (ON); aptly formed on the professional name of a Los Angeles prostitute who enjoyed some minor celebrity when, in 1995, she was apprehended performing just such a service for film actor Hugh Grant (b.1960) UK, 1998

Divine Miss M nickname Bette Midler, American singer born in 1945 US, 1982 diving board noun in electric line work, a work platform board US, 1980 diving gear noun a condom US, 1990 diving suit noun a condom AUSTRALIA, 1984

divoon adjective lovely, delightful. A humorous elaboration of 'divine' US, 1944 divorce noun in the usage of organised pickpocket gangs, the loss of a crew member to jail US, 1949 divot noun a toupee. Borrowed from golf's 'sliced piece of turf' UK, 1934 divvie noun a person with instinctive knowledge. Probably from 'diviner' UK, 1978 divvies noun 1 used for claiming a share of something that is being divided US, 1958. 2 divination UK, 1947 divvo noun a fool. A variation of DIVVY UK, 1997

divvy noun 1 a share or portion; a dividend US, 1872. 2 a fool UK, 1989 divvy adjective daft, foolish, idiotic. From DIVVY (a fool) UK, 1979 divvy up verb to divide into shares. A phonetic abbreviation of 'divide' US, 1876 divvy van; divi-van noun a police van. From 'divisional van' AUSTRALIA, 1982 dixie noun 1 (especially in Victoria and Tasmania) a small cardboard ice-cream container AUSTRALIA, 1941. 2 unnecessary body action BARBADOS, 1980

Dixie nickname the southeastern United States US, 1859

Dixie cup noun 1 the traditional navy white hat, symbol of the American sailor since the C19 US, 1973. 2 a woman who speaks with a southern accent US, 1977. 3 a female Red Cross worker in Vietnam US, 1990. 4 a person who is considered to be utterly dispensable, who is used and then discarded US, 1997 dixie lid noun a child, a kid. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

Dixie Trail noun anal sex facilitated by Dixie Peach hair dressing as a lubricant US, 1968

DIY adjective do-it-yourself, especially of household maintenance or repair. A colloquial abbreviation UK, 1955

DIYer noun a do-it-yourself-er, a person who tends to do his own household repairs and maintenance UK, 1984

Diz nickname Dizzy Gillespie (1917–1993), a jazz trumpeter instrumental in the creation of bebop US, 1961 dizz noun 1 an odd, absent-minded person US, 1963. 2 marijuana UK, 2003 dizz verb sleep; to sleep. A Royal Navy variation of ZIZZ, perhaps in combination with 'doze' UK, 1945 dizzy adjective scatterbrained US, 1878 dizzy limit noun the utmost AUSTRALIA, 1916 dizzy three noun a C-47A Skytrain plane, also known as a DC-3, most commonly used to transport people and cargo, but also used as a bomber and fighter US, 1975

DJ noun 1 men's formal evening wear, a dinner jacket UK, 1967. 2 an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. An allusion to the Department of Justice, home to the FBI. Sometimes spelt out as 'deejay' US, 1935 dj; deejay noun a disc jockey US, 1950 dj; deejay verb to work as a disc jockey US, 1985 djamba noun marijuana. A West African word, now in wider usage US, 1938

DKDC I don't know, I don't care. Combining a lack of intelligence with apathy US, 1997

DL noun ► on the DL down low, discreetly US, 1996

DM's noun Dr Martens™ heavy-duty boots. An abbreviation of the brand name. The boots were designed for industrial use and subsequently adopted as fashionwear, initially by skinheads and bootboys, then as a general fashion item for either sex UK, 1998

DMT noun dimethyltryptamine, a hallucinogenic drug US, 1971

DMZ noun any place between two opposing factions or social forces, controlled by neither yet ceded by neither. Originally a military term – 'demilitarised zone' – for an area dividing North and South Korea US, 1976

DNF in motorcycle racing, did not finish a race US, 1970s do noun 1 a party or social function UK, 1824. 2 an action, deed, performance or event UK, 1960. 3 a person considered in terms of their sexual performance or willingness AUSTRALIA, 1950. 4 a dose of drugs US, 1971. 5 in craps, a bet on the shooter US, 1974. 6 a hairdo US, 1966. ► do the do to have sex US, 1993. ► do your do to prepare your hairdo US, 1995

DO noun in hot rodding, dual overhead camshafts US, 1948 do verb 1 to kill UK, 1790. 2 to charge with, or prosecute for, or convict of a crime UK, 1784. 3 to use up your money, especially to squander AUSTRALIA, 1889. 4 to assault, to beat up UK, 1796. 5 to injure (a part of the body) AUSTRALIA, 1963. 6 to rob UK, 1774. 7 to swindle, to deceive, to trick UK, 1641. 8 to have sex with UK, 1650. 9 to perform oral sex upon someone US, 1963. 10 to consume, especially an alcoholic drink UK, 1857. 11 to use drugs US, 1967. 12 when combined with a name (of a very recognisable person or group) that is used as a generic noun, to behave in the manner of that person or group of people, as in, for example, 'do a Lord Lucan' (to disappear mysteriously) UK, 1934. 13 to visit as a tourist or pleasure-seeker UK, 1858. 14 to suffice, to answer its purpose US, 1846. ► be doing of to be doing something. Often in a question, such as 'What are you doing of?' UK, 1853. ► do cards to steal or forge credit cards UK, 1996. ► do it 1 to have sex IRELAND, 1923. 2 to defecate; to urinate. Euphemistic UK, 1922. ► do someone like a dinner to overcome someone completely in a fight or competition; to vanquish. Punning on the phrase 'dinner's done' (dinner is ready) AUSTRALIA, 1847. ► do the Harold Holt; do the Harold to decamp. From rhyming slang for 'bolt'. Harold Holt (1908–67) was an Australian prime minister whose term of office was cut short when he went ocean swimming one afternoon and presumably drowned – his body was never recovered AUSTRALIA, 1987. ► do the thing to have sex US, 1968. ► do your bit to do your share and so contribute to the greater good, especially in times of trial or conflict UK, 1902. ► you'll do me/us you are entirely suitable for a task; we are more than happy to be supporting you. Used as a cry of encouragement and support AUSTRALIA, 1952

DOA noun 1 a more than usually dangerous variety of heroin. From the acronym DOA (dead on arrival); DEAD ON ARRIVAL (heroin) UK, 1998. 2 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. The abbreviation is for DEAD ON ARRIVAL – the results of a PCP overdose US, 1993

doable adjective sexually attractive enough as to warrant the speaker's gift of having sex US, 1997 do as you like noun a bicycle. Rhyming slang for 'bike' UK, 1960 doat noun someone or something fit to be doted on IRELAND, 1975 dob noun a small lump or dollop, usually applied to butter, jam, cream, etc. Originally dialect UK, 1984

DOB noun a lesbian. An abbreviation of 'daughters of Bilitis' US, 1982 dob verb to inform on someone AUSTRALIA, 1955 dobber noun 1 a despicable person UK, 2002. 2 an informer; a telltale AUSTRALIA, 1955. 3 a fool, an idiot. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1996. 4 the penis. Also 'dob' US, 1974

dobber-in noun an informer; a telltale AUSTRALIA, 1958 dobbing-in noun informing AUSTRALIA, 1994 do bears shit in the woods? yes; a nonsense retort used as an affirmative answer to a silly question, often sarcastic. Often mixed with the synonymous 'Is the Pope Catholic?' to achieve DOES THE POPE SHIT IN WOODS? US, 1971

dobie noun a Doberman Pinscher dog US, 1981 dob in verb 1 to inform against someone; to tell on someone AUSTRALIA, 1954. 2 to contribute funds AUSTRALIA, 1956 do-boy noun a male who does whatever his girlfriend tells him to do US, 2001 doc noun 1 a doctor US, 1840. 2 a document. Originally a military use, especially in the plural, for 'official documents of identity or record' US, 1868. 3 in computing, documentation US, 1991 docco noun a documentary UK, 2000 doc in the box noun a walk-in medical clinic US, 1994 dock noun ► in dock 1 of a motor vehicle, being serviced or repaired UK, 1984. 2 in hospital, or otherwise unable to carry on as usual due to injury or medical treatment UK, 1785 dock asthma noun in a trial, the shocked gasps given by the accused as accusations are made or proved. The gasps are ironically considered as symptoms of a notional disease UK, 1977

docker noun a partially smoked cigarette that has been thrown away or extinguished for use later UK, 1966 docker's ABC noun ale, baccy (tobacco), cunt, a worker's shopping-list in the spirit of 'wine, women and song', especially well used in Liverpool UK, 1961 docker's hankie noun the act of clearing the nostrils by blowing the contents onto the ground UK, 1979 dockie noun a dockside worker AUSTRALIA, 1935 dock monkey noun a worker who loads and unloads trucks US, 1939 dock walloper noun 1 a worker who loads and unloads trucks US, 1971. 2 a thief who steals cargo before it has been unloaded or passed through customs US, 1986

doco noun a documentary AUSTRALIA, 1996

Docs noun Dr Martens™ footwear US, 1993 doctor noun 1 (used of children) the exploration of each other's genitals US, 1966. 2 a male with a large penis. Homosexual usage US, 1964. 3 an expert US, 1990. 4 a bookmaker who declines to take a bet, telling the bettor he will 'get better' AUSTRALIA, 1989. 5 a person who sells illegally manufactured alcohol US, 1960. 6 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Possibly punning on the degrees MD and MA UK, 1998. 7 (especially in Western Australia) a refreshing wind coming after a period of stifling weather. Preceded by a placename to form proper nouns for commonly occurring winds of this type, such as the Albany Doctor, Esperance Doctor, Fremantle Doctor, etc AUSTRALIA, 1870. ► go for the doctor to race a horse at top speed AUSTRALIA, 1969 doctor verb 1 to falsify, to adulterate, to tamper UK, 1774. 2 in cricket, to illegally tamper with the condition of the ball to the bowler's advantage UK, 1996 doctor and nurse; doctor noun a purse. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

Doctor Blue; Dr Blue noun used in hospitals as a code announcement that a patient is in cardiac arrest US, 1973

Doctor Cotton; Dr Cotton adjective rotten. Rhyming slang UK, 1932

Doctor Crippen; Dr Crippen noun dripping (melted fat used like butter). Rhyming slang, formed on the name of the celebrated murderer Dr Hawley Harvey (1862–1910) UK, 1961

Doctor Dre; Dr Dre adjective homosexual. Rhyming slang for GAY, formed from the stage name of hip-hop performer and producer Andre Young (b.1965) UK, 2003

Doctor Feelgood; Dr Feelgood noun 1 heroin UK, 2002. 2 any doctor who specialises in energy-giving injections US, 1973

Doctor Jekyll and Mister Hyde; Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde noun the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™ US, 1985

Doctor K; Dr K nickname Dwight Gooden (b.1964), a right-handed pitcher (1984–2000) with an immortal early career and an acceptable mid-career. In the shorthand of baseball scorekeeping, a 'K' is a 'strikeout', and 'Doc' Gooden had many US, 1986

Doctor Legg; Dr Legg noun an egg. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a minor character in the BBC television soap opera EastEnders UK, 1998

Doctor Livingstone, I presume a catchphrase greeting used for any fortuitous or unexpected meeting. Adopted from Henry Morton Stanley's greeting, in 1871, to African explorer David Livingstone UK, 1891

Doctor Pepper; Dr Pepper noun one of the several surface-to-air missile patterns used by the North Vietnamese against American aircraft during the Vietnam war. Missile approaches from the ten o'clock, two o'clock and four o'clock positions; 'ten-two-and-four' was a Dr Pepper slogan US, 1990 doctor shopping noun the practice of visiting multiple physicians to obtain multiple prescriptions for otherwise illegal drugs. A common practice of drug addicts and suppliers of drug addicts US, 2003

Doctor Thomas; Dr Thomas noun a black person who rejects black culture and takes on the culture of the dominant white society. An elaboration of the common UNCLE TOM, coined long before Clarence Thomas became the prototype of the concept US, 1980

Doctor White; Dr White noun 1 a drug addiction US, 1959. 2 cocaine US, 1986

Doctor Who; Dr Who noun a prison warder. Rhyming slang for SCREW (a prison warder), based on a time-travelling television hero first seen in 1963 UK, 1996 docu noun a documentary film or television programme. As a prefix, such as in 'docudrama' (a documentary drama), 'docu' has been conventional since 1961 UK, 2003

docy noun the female breast BAHAMAS, 1982

Doc Yak noun a doctor whose reputation is less than sterling. From a syndicated comic strip that last appeared in 1935 US, 1956 do-dad noun in American football, a blocking strategy in which offensive players cross over and block each other's defensive opposite US, 1966 doddle noun an objective achieved with ease; in sport, an easy win or a simple victory. Probably from 'dawdle' or 'toddle', implying a 'walk-over', which is consistent with its earliest use in racing circles, but possibly from Scottish 'doddle', a lump of homemade toffee (hence something desirable and easily acquired). It is recorded with the meaning 'money very easily obtained' in Scotland in 1934 UK, 1937

doddle verb to achieve; to win something very easily UK, 1963 dodge noun a scam, a swindle UK, 1638. ► on the dodge in hiding from the police US, 1976

Dodge noun ► get out of Dodge; get the hell out of Dodge to leave, usually with some haste. A loose allusion to the Wild West as epitomised by Dodge City, Kansas, and the seriousness of an order by the authorities to leave town US, 1965 dodge verb ► dodge the column to shirk, to avoid your duty, work or responsibility. Originally military UK, 1919

dodge adjective dubious UK, 2006

Dodge City nickname an enemy-controlled area south of Da Nang, the scene of heavy fighting in November 1968; anywhere in Vietnam with a strong Viet Cong presence US, 1969 dodger noun 1 a small advertising leaflet US, 1879. 2 a shunting truck UK, 1970. 3 bread AUSTRALIA, 1897 dodger adjective excellent, fine AUSTRALIA, 1941 dodgy noun an informer. From the adjectival sense as 'unreliable', perhaps shortened from 'dodgy geezer' or similar UK, 1996 dodgy adjective 1 of doubtful character or legality; dubious. Popularised in the 1960s by the comedian Norman Vaughan as a catchphrase, with an accompanying thumbs-down gesture. The thumbs-up opposite was 'swingin!' UK, 1961. 2 risky UK, 1898. 3 stolen UK, 1861 dodo noun 1 a fool US, 1898. 2 an aviation cadet who has not completed basic training US, 1933

do down verb to get the better of someone, financially or otherwise; to harm someone's reputation by spreading gossip or rumour UK, 1937

doe noun a woman UK, 1909 doer noun 1 an energetic person who gets on with the job; a person who tackles problems or setbacks with good humour AUSTRALIA, 1902. 2 the person responsible for a specific crime, especially a murder US, 1992. 3 in horse racing, a horse as a performer – either good or poor UK, 1948 doer and gone; doer 'n' gone adjective very far away. From Afrikaans for 'far away'; a synonym for HELL AND GONE SOUTH AFRICA, 1972 does Rose Kennedy have a black dress? yes; a sarcastic nonsense retort used as an affirmative answer to a silly question AUSTRALIA, 1987 does she? used as a euphemism for 'does she (or, is she likely to) have sex?' UK, 1969 does the Pope shit in the woods? yes; a nonsense retort used as an affirmative answer to a silly question, often sarcastic. The result of combining synonymous DO BEARS SHIT IN THE WOODS? and 'Is the Pope Catholic?' UK, 1997

dof adjective stupid, idiotic, muddled SOUTH AFRICA, 1979

doffie noun a stupid, idiotic or muddled person SOUTH AFRICA, 1991

do-flicky noun any small tool the name of which escapes the speaker BARBADOS, 1965

do for verb to beat severely, to kill UK, 1740 dog noun 1 an unattractive woman or man. Originally used by men of women which, in the UK, has remained the predominant sense US, 1937. 2 a sexually transmitted infection US, 1962. 3 a informer to the police or, in prison, to the prison authorities AUSTRALIA, 1848. 4 a prison warder AUSTRALIA, 1919. 5 a traitor AUSTRALIA, 1896. 6 used as a general form of friendly address (without any negative connotations). A rare positive use of 'dog', synonymous with 'man', possibly influenced by rap artist Snoop Doggy Dogg (Calvin Broadus, b.1972). Also Spelt 'dogg' and 'dawg' US, 1995. 7 a freshman, or first-year college student US, 1947. 8 the grade 'D' US, 1964. 9 a cigarette-end. A shortened DOG END UK, 1935. 10 a marijuana cigarette US, 1997. 11 in sports betting, the underdog US, 1975. 12 in poker, a worthless hand US, 1988. 13 in horse racing, a racehorse with little value US, 1840. 14 in pool, a difficult shot US, 1993. 15 in horse racing, a sawhorse used to keep horses away from the rail during a workout on a muddy track US, 1976. 16 in poker, the fourth player to the left of the dealer US, 1988. 17 a sausage; a hot dog. Derives from the belief that dog meat was used as a sausage filler; this led to a hot sausage in a roll being called a 'hot dog'. In a fine example of circular etymology 'hot dog' now abbreviates to 'dog', and 'dog' is once again a sausage; most consumers are no longer concerned about dog meat UK, 1845. 18 the foot US, 1962. 19 a piece of paper money TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1986. 20 an F86-DC aircraft US, 1956. 21 a failure of a song or film US, 1929. ► dog tied up an unpaid debt AUSTRALIA, 1905. ► it shouldn't happen to a dog a catchphrase used to complain about the manner in which a human has been treated. Thought to be of Yiddish origin US, 1968. ► it's a dog's life used of a meagre existence. A catchphrase, generally used by someone enduring such a life UK, 1969. ► like a dog watching television in the position of doing something you do not understand US, 2003. ► on the dog on credit US, 1978. ► put on the dog to assume a superior, upper-class attitude US, 1865. ► run like a dog to run or perform slowly AUSTRALIA, 1996. ► the dog dead there is nothing more to say on the subject BARBADOS, 1965. ► the dog has caught the car a person (or group of people) who has achieved a goal and is now at a loss for what to do next US, 2003. ► turn dog to become a police informer AUSTRALIA, 1863

Dog noun the Greyhound bus line. A fixture in American travel until a crippling strike in the 1990s; variants include 'Grey Dog' and 'ol 'Grey Dog' US, 1974 dog verb 1 to avoid work; to work slowly US, 1955. 2 to studiously ignore US, 1987. 3 to abuse or harass US, 1992. 4 in motor racing, to follow another car very closely, hoping to distract or weaken the resolve of the driver ahead US, 1965. 5 of a male, to have sex with a partner who is kneeling on all-fours and entered from behind UK, 1937. 6 to perform sexually for money US, 1989. 7 to betray AUSTRALIA, 1896. 8 in pool, to miss a shot that should be made US, 1984. 9 to play truant. Extended from a variation of 'dodge'. With variant 'dog it' UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 10 to hunt dingoes. Variant: to wild dog AUSTRALIA, 1910 ► see: DOG IT dog adjective referring to the prison authorities, generally seen as officious and corrupt by prisoners AUSTRALIA, 1978

dogan noun an Irish Roman Catholic CANADA, 1965 dog and bone; dog noun a telephone. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 dog and boned; doggo adjective drug-intoxicated. Rhyming slang for STONED UK, 1998 dog and cat noun a mat. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 dog and duck noun a fight. Rhyming slang for RUCK (a fight). Possibly formed on the name of a pub where fist-fighting was prevalent UK, 1992 dog and pony show noun an elaborate presentation US, 1957 dog and pup; dog noun a cup (a drinking vessel or a trophy). Rhyming slang UK, 1992 dog-ass noun a despised person US, 1959 dog-ass adjective 1 shoddy, inferior US, 1953. 2 despicable US, 1953 dog bait noun during a mass prison escape, a prisoner left by others to attract the attention of the tracking dogs US, 1972

dogball noun in a deck of playing cards, an eight US, 1996 dog-behind verb to beg for a favour TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

dogbone noun 1 the weapon panel in the cockpit of an F-4 Phantom aircraft US, 1984. 2 in electric line work, an EHV yoke plate US, 1980 dogbox noun 1 a type of small and basic compartment in a railway carriage AUSTRALIA, 1905. 2 a truck's gear box US, 1971. ► in the dogbox in trouble, especially with one person NEW ZEALAND, 1953 dog breath noun 1 a contemptible person; used as a term of abuse US, 2000. 2 bad-smelling breath US, 1944. 3 cigarette smoke US, 1996 dog catcher noun any fast truck. The suggestion is that the truck is fast enough to pass a Greyhound bus US, 1971 dog clutch noun an involuntary locking of the vaginal muscles, imprisoning the penis (penis captivus). Common in dogs, not so common in humans, but common enough for a term to describe it US, 1967 dog cock noun chub sausage NEW ZEALAND, 1998 dog collar noun 1 a white clerical collar UK, 1861. 2 a choker necklace UK, 1903 dog-dance verb to give the impression that you are following someone very closely BARBADOS, 1965 dog-dancing noun useless or exaggerated activity CANADA, 1967 dog days noun a woman's menstrual period US, 1960 dog do noun dog faeces US, 1979 dog doody noun dog excrement. Variation on DOGGY DO; euphemistic US, 2001 dog driver noun a police officer. Insulting or contemptuous UK, 1977 dog-eater noun a member of the Sioux Indian tribe US, 1963 dog eat your shame! used for expressing complete disgust TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1958 dog end noun 1 a contemptible person UK, 2002. 2 a cigarette-end. A corruption of 'docked end' (a partially smoked cigarette that is pinched off – 'docked' – and saved for later use) and still found as 'dock end' UK, 1935 dog-ender noun a prisoner who rolls new cigarettes from the unsmoked remains of others UK, 1996 dog-eye noun ► keep dog-eye to keep a look-out. From the verb DOG-EYE (to scrutinise) UK, 2001 dog-eye verb to scrutinise carefully US, 1912 dogface noun 1 an ugly person; used as a general term of abuse US, 1849. 2 a low ranking soldier US, 1930 dog-faced adjective despicable US, 1962 dog fashion; doggie fashion adverb sexual intercourse from behind, vaginal or anal, heterosexual or homosexual UK, 1900 dog finger noun the index finger US, 1926 dog food noun 1 Italian sausage US, 1996. 2 heroin US, 1992 dogfuck noun a despicable person US, 1993

dogfuck verb to have sex from the rear, homosexual or heterosexual, vaginal or anal US, 1980

dogger noun 1 a person who engages in al fresco sexual activities such as exhibitionism or voyeurism; especially of sexual activities (with multiple partners) in parked vehicles, generally in the countryside. When police approached 'doggers' (before they were so-named), the usual excuse offered was 'walking the dog' UK, 2003. 2 a truant. From DOG (to play truant) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 3 a hunter of dingoes AUSTRALIA, 1890 doggers noun multi-coloured swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 1963

Doggett's noun ► on the Doggett's on the scrounge, cadging. Derives from COAT AND BADGE (to cadge) which has, in the past, been used as 'Doggett's coat and badge'. Doggett's Coat and Badge Race, founded by Thomas Doggett, an Irish actor, in 1715, is the oldest annual sporting event in Britain, a boat race from London Bridge to Chelsea contested by Thames' watermen. The race and the slang are both very much alive UK, 1960 doggie noun 1 an infantry soldier. A shortened DOGFACE US, 1937. 2 an enlisted man in the US Army US, 1945. 3 a greyhound racing enthusiast AUSTRALIA, 1989

doggie cop noun a police officer working with a trained dog US, 1983 doggie pack noun a US Army combat field pack. Used derisively by US Marines during the conflict in Vietnam US, 1982 doggie pouch noun a small ammunition pouch used by the infantry US, 1971 doggie straps noun rucksack straps. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 dogging noun 1 al fresco sexual activities such as exhibitionism or voyeurism; especially of sexual activities (with multiple partners) in parked vehicles, generally in the countryside. Originally used of the act of spying on people having sex in parked vehicles UK, 1998. 2 the hunting of dingoes AUSTRALIA, 1947 doggins noun in the illegal production of alcohol, liquor sweated out of used barrel staves US, 1974

doggo noun a sled dog handler ANTARCTICA, 1995

doggo adjective 1 lying prone, playing dead UK, 1893. 2 of a car's interior, of poor quality UK, 1981 ► see: DOG AND BONED doggone adjective used as a mild, folksy euphemism for 'damn'. Multiple variants. Usually used with a conscious folksy effect in mind UK, 1826 doggy noun 1 the penis BAHAMAS, 1982. 2 a railways' platelayer UK, 1970

doggy bag; doggie bag noun 1 a bag in which uneaten food from a restaurant is packed and taken home US, 1947. 2 a condom UK, 1998 doggy do noun dog excrement AUSTRALIA, 1995 doghole; doghole mine noun a small mine employing less than 15 miners US, 1943 doghhouse noun 1 in trucking, the engine covering in the driving compartment US, 1971. 2 a brakevan (caboose), or the observation tower of a brakevan US, 1897. 3 the front fender, bonnet and grille of a car US, 1934. 4 a small tool shed US, 1918. ► in the doghouse ostracised; in disfavour. Alluding to an outside kennel. Commonly used of a man being ostracised by his wife for some misdemeanour US, 1926

doghhouse cut noun a manner of cutting a deck of cards in which a section of cards is moved from the centre of the deck to the top, leaving the bottom cards undisturbed US, 1967

dogie noun heroin US, 1969 dog in the manger noun a person who selfishly refuses to give up something that he does not want UK, 1573 dog it; dog verb 1 to refuse to pay a lost bet or a debt US, 1950. 2 to back down from a confrontation or situation for lack of courage US, 1979 dog juice noun inexpensive alcohol, especially wine US, 1980 dogleg noun in oil drilling, a radical change in direction of drilling US, 1954 dogleg verb to make an angled detour, to take an angled route. Originally, perhaps, used in aviation UK, 1984 dog license noun a Certificate of Exemption to allow an Aboriginal to buy a drink in a hotel. This term derives from the Blackfellows Act, also known as the Dog Act AUSTRALIA, 1959 dog meat noun 1 a person who is certain of defeat or death US, 1977. 2 an inept, worthless person US, 1908 dog mouth noun bad breath experienced upon waking up. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 do-gooder noun a well-intentioned person who believes in and supports charity. The term suggests both a naive and a slightly cloying sense of self-righteousness US, 1927 dog out verb 1 to keep a look out UK, 1966. 2 to criticise harshly US, 1986

Dogpatch nickname a neighbourhood of bars and shops near the Da Nang US Air Base during the Vietnam war. Dogpatch was the stereotypical Appalachian town in Al Capp's Li'l Abner comic strip, which was very popular in the US during the Vietnam war US, 1975 dog pile noun the pile of skiers or snowboarders produced when one falls while dismounting from a lift US, 1990 dogpile verb 1 to jump onto someone or onto a group of people US, 1945. 2 to post many critical comments in response to a posting on an Internet discussion group US, 1995 dog-piss adjective inferior, shabby US, 1971 dog puncher noun a driver of sled dogs CANADA, 1964 dog race noun in horse racing, a race featuring cheap racehorses US, 1951 dog-rob verb to acquire through scrounging or pilfering US, 1919 dog-robber noun 1 an officer's assistant US, 1863. 2 a person assigned the most menial of tasks, especially the acquisition of difficult-to-acquire goods and services US, 1974. 3 in the film and television industries, a person whose job it is to find difficult-to-find goods for props US, 2002. 4 during the Vietnam war, someone assigned to the rear area as seen by someone in combat US, 1991 dog-rough adjective disorderly; prone to rowdiness; unsophisticated UK, 2002 dogs noun 1 the feet; shoes US, 1914. 2 in circus and carnival usage, the legs US, 1981. 3 a safe's tumblers US, 1949. ► go to the dogs to be slowly ruined UK, 1619. ► the dogs greyhound racing UK, 1927 dog's abuse noun very harsh abuse (that you would only give to a dog) IRELAND, 1998 dog's age noun a very long time US, 1836 dog's bait noun a huge amount US, 1933 dog's ballocks noun in typography, a colon dash (:-) UK, 1961 dog's balls noun no money at all FJI, 1993. ► stick/stand out like dog's balls to be obvious AUSTRALIA, 1986 dogsbody noun a worker who is given the tedious menial tasks to perform, a drudge. Originally military or naval UK, 1922 dog's bollock noun an article of little or no value UK, 1997 dog's bollocks; dog's ballocks; the bollocks noun anything considered to be the finest, the most excellent, the best. Derived from the phrase 'It sticks out like a dog's ballocks' said of something that the speaker considers obvious, hence the sense of 'someone or something that sticks out from the rest'. Often abbreviated in speech to 'the dog's' UK, 1989 dog's breakfast noun an unmitigated mess AUSTRALIA, 1934 dog's cock; dog's prick noun in typography, an exclamation mark (!) UK, 1961 dog's dick noun a mess, a disgusting mess. A variation of DOG'S DINNER (a mess) UK, 2003 dog's dinner noun 1 used as a comparison for someone who is smartly dressed, stylishly or formally-attired. Variants of the comparison include 'dolloed up like a dog's dinner'; 'done up like a dog's dinner'; 'dressed up like a dogs dinner'; and 'got up like a dog's dinner' UK, 1936. 2 a mess, a disgusting mess UK, 1997 dog's disease noun influenza or gastro-enteritis or malaria or a hangover, etc AUSTRALIA, 1890 dog's eye noun a meat pie. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1988 dog shift noun a work shift in the middle of the night US, 1977 dogshit noun 1 anything or anyone considered to be worthless or disgusting US, 1968. 2 Italian sausage US, 1996. 3 the epitome of feeling wretched or ill UK, 1999

dogshit adjective worthless or disgusting US, 1967 dog show noun in the military, an inspection of the feet US, 1949 dog's lipstick noun the uncircumcised penis when erect. From an image of the head of the penis extending beyond the protection of the foreskin in a manner reminiscent of a lipstick protruding beyond its decorative protective casing; the reference to a dog is open to interpretation UK, 2003 dog's lunch noun a physically repulsive person US, 1964 dog soldier noun a common soldier US, 1950 dog squad noun undercover police AUSTRALIA, 1967

dogster noun a member of the Mongrel Mob, a New Zealand prison gang NEW ZEALAND, 2000 dog's tooth noun truth. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 dog-style; doggy style noun a sexual position in which the woman or passive male kneels and the man enters her from behind US, 1957 dog's vomit noun disgusting food AUSTRALIA, 1966 dogtag noun 1 an identity disc US, 1918. 2 a prescription for a narcotic, possibly legal or possibly forged or illegally obtained US, 1959 dog-tucker noun a person or animal that consistently fails and is deemed worthless. From an earlier, literal sense of the word as 'a sheep to be slaughtered for dog meat' NEW ZEALAND, 1999 dog turd noun a cigar US, 1969 dog wagon noun 1 a bus or van used to transport prisoners from jail to prison US, 1952. 2 a lunch counter; a diner US, 1900 dog-wank adjective worthless UK, 2000 dogwash noun a task that is not particularly important but is pursued instead of a more demanding, more important task US, 1991 dog watch noun a work or guard shift in the middle of the night US, 1901 dog water noun colourless seminal fluid US, 1965 dog with two dicks; dog with two choppers; dog with two cocks; dog with two tails used as a simile for being delighted or very pleased. Generally in phrases: '... as a dog with...' or 'like a dog with...'. 'A dog with two choppers' is first recorded in 1950; 'a dog with two tails' is noted by the Oxford English Dictionary in 1953 UK, 1950s doh! used for registering frustration when things fail to turn out as planned, or at the realisation that you have said something foolish. Popularly associated with, and a catchphrase of, Homer Simpson in the television cartoon The Simpsons (since 1987) UK, 1945 doight! used for expressing distress. A wildly popular catchphrase verbalization from The Simpsons television cartoon US, 1994

doily noun a toupee US, 1952 do in verb 1 to kill UK, 1905. 2 to injure UK, 1905. 3 to exhaust. Thus DONE IN (exhausted) UK, 1917. 4 to defeat, to beat AUSTRALIA, 1916. ► do yourself in to commit suicide. A personalised variation of the first meaning UK, 1999 doing a party noun a tactic employed when performing a three-card-trick: a confederate of the card sharp pretends to be winning so as to encourage the unsuspecting to stake heavily UK, 1977 doings noun 1 used as a collective noun for unspecified necessities. Generally as 'the doings' UK, 1919. 2 excrement UK, 1967 doink noun a socially inept, out-of-touch person US, 1968 do it! used as an exhortation to experience life rather than analyse it US, 1968 do-it fluid noun alcoholic drink. Based on the observed effect of alcohol on sexual inhibition US, 1980 do it now! a catchphrase in jocular or semi-irrelevant use. Originally a business slogan; first recorded in this use in 1927 but dating from no later than 1910, and still common in 1965 AUSTRALIA, 1927 do it the hard way! used in derision to an awkward worker who is struggling with a task. Often preceded by 'that's right!' and occasionally completed with 'standing up in a hammock' CANADA, 1961 do-it-yourself noun masturbation UK, 1960 do-it-yourself kit noun a steam locomotive or locomotives. As an ironic contrast to diesel technology. Coinage is credited to Mr Bill Handy, a train driver UK, 1970 dojah noun marijuana US, 2004 dole noun ► on the dole in receipt of unemployment benefits UK, 1925. ► the dole unemployment benefit; the local offices from which unemployment benefit is managed UK, 1919 dole bludger noun a person habitually living off social security payments. A term of high opprobrium, often applied contemptuously to any recipient of the dole with the implication that employment could be found by anyone if they so desired AUSTRALIA, 1976 dole-on-sea noun a seaside resort with few visitors and high unemployment. Formed on THE DOLE (unemployment benefit) UK, 2003 doley noun a person in receipt of unemployment benefit AUSTRALIA, 1953 doll noun 1 a young woman US, 1840. 2 a very attractive person of any sex that you find attractive US, 1963. 3 used as a term of address US, 1949. 4 a barbiturate capsule; an amphetamine capsule or tablet. Coined by Jacqueline Susann, author of Valley of the Dolls US, 1966. 5 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 dollar noun 1 five shillings. Dating from those happy days when the rate of exchange was US$4 to £1 UK, 1848. 2 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996. 3 money UK, 2000 dollar nickname Route 100 in eastern Pennsylvania US, 1977 dollar ride noun an orientation flight on a military aircraft US, 1975 dollars noun a type of bet in an illegal numbers game lottery US, 1957 dollars to doughnut adverb at very high odds, indicating a high degree of certainty US, 1984 dollop noun a lump; hence, in a figurative sense, a clumsy individual; a formless mess – ‘a dollop of custard’. From an earlier sense (a tuft of grass) UK, 1812 dollop; dollop out verb to share out a formless mess. From the noun sense UK, 2000 doll's eyes noun eyes rolling upward, suggesting neurological depression US, 1989 doll shop noun a brothel US, 1990 doll's house noun a prison. Most likely inspired by the toy and not the Ibsen play UK, 1996 doll up verb to dress up, to refine US, 1906 dolly noun 1 the vagina. In the C19, a ‘dolly’ was a ‘penis’, possibly from a ‘child’s dolly’ (a toy a girl might play with); equally, it could derive from ‘washing dolly’ (a device plunged in and out of wet laundry). The etymology here is likely to be the former: ‘Can I play with your dolly?’ UK, 2001. 2 an attractive young woman. Very much a word of its time UK, 1906. 3 a homosexual who lives in the suburbs UK, 2003. 4 a lesbian prisoner’s lover NEW ZEALAND, 1999. 5 a very feminine fashion style of the 1960s UK, 1968. 6 a capsule of Dolophine™, known generically as methadone US, 1954. 7 in cricket, a simple catch. Possibly of Anglo-Indian origin. Reduced from ‘dolly catch’ UK, 1904 dolly verb to interrogate AUSTRALIA, 1975 dolly adjective attractive, pretty, nice. Polari UK, 1964 dolly bag noun the cloth bag carried by female prisoners UK, 1996 dolly bird noun an attractive young woman UK, 1964 dolly boy noun a youthful, attractive homosexual male prostitute. An evolution from DILLY BOY UK, 1979

Dolly Cotton adjective rotten. Rhyming slang UK, 1931 dolly dimple; dolly adjective simple. Glasgow rhyming slang. Current in English prisons February 2002 UK, 1988 dolly flapper noun a railroad pointsman US, 1946 dolly mixtures noun the cinema, the movies. Rhyming slang for ‘the pictures’ UK, 1992 dolly-over-teakettles adverb head-over-heels US, 1982

Dolly Parton noun in craps, a roll of two ones. Dolly Parton is a talented and popular American country singer and songwriter with big hair and big breasts; the single dots on the two dice suggested to someone her breasts US, 1983 dolly sweetness noun a pretty girl US, 1947 dolo noun methadone. A shortened form of Dolophine™, a protected trade name for methadone US, 1986 do lo adverb secret. An abbreviation of DOWNLOW US, 1999 dolphin noun 1 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996. 2 a flaccid penis US, 1995. ► wax the dolphin of a male, to masturbate US, 2002 dolphin ball noun in pinball, a ball that stays in play for a relatively long period without scoring many points US, 1977

DOM noun an older homosexual who is attracted to younger men and boys; a dirty old man US, 1966 dom adjective 1 sexually dominant US, 1989. 2 stupid, dumb. An Afrikaans word in the South African English colloquial vocabulary SOUTH AFRICA, 1942 dom; domme noun 1 a dominatrix US, 2002. 2 the dominant performer in a pornographic sex scene US, 2000. 3 a sexual dominant in sadomasochistic sexual relationships US, 1989. 4 a person’s room, apartment or house. A shortened variant of the more common DOMMY US, 1959 do me a favour; do me noun a neighbour. Rhyming slang. Like many next door neighbours the rhyme is not quite perfect UK, 1998 do me a favour! used for expressing disbelief and refutation of a point or suggestion just raised UK, 1958 dome dolly noun a hat US, 1947 do me good noun a Woodbine cigarette. Rhyming slang that evolved during World War 1, and survived in mid-C20 as an expression of defiance when cigarettes were scientifically linked with cancer UK, 1960 domes noun LSD US, 1980 dome slug noun in Antarctica, a support personnel assigned to the geodesic dome at the top of the American Scott-Amundsen base ANTARCTICA, 2003

domie noun dory-mate (short form) CANADA, 1999

Dominican Dandy nickname Juan Marichal (b.1937), a high-kicking, overpowering pitcher (1960–75). From the Dominican Republic, and ‘a fastidious dresser’ US, 1968 domino noun 1 a black and white capsule containing a mixture of central nervous system stimulants and depressants US, 1971. 2 a 12.5 mg tablet of Durophet™, an amphetamine US, 1971

domino verb to stop or finish US, 1953 domkop noun a fool. From Afrikaans dom (stupid) and kop (head) SOUTH AFRICA, 1910 dommo noun one who performs well. Applied to skateboarding, surfing and snowboarding US, 1997 dommo verb to perform well; to dominate US, 1990 dommy; dommie noun a home. From ‘domicile’ US, 1943

Dom P noun Dom Perignon champagne UK, 2002

doms noun dominoes UK, 1982 don verb ► don the beard to perform oral sex on a woman AUSTRALIA, 1971 don; don man noun a respected leader. Ultimately from Spanish Don (an honorific), via gangster use. West Indian, hence UK black UK, 2000 dona; donah; donna; doner noun a woman, especially a girlfriend. Polari, from Spanish doña or Portuguese dona (a woman) UK, 1959 dona juana noun marijuana. A Spanish ‘Lady Jane’ US, 1986 dona juanita noun marijuana. A Spanish ‘Lady Jane’ US, 1938

Donald Duck verb to have sexual intercourse. Rhyming slang for FUCK AUSTRALIA, 1983

Donald Duck; donald noun 1 an act of sexual intercourse. Rhyming slang for FUCK AUSTRALIA, 1983. 2 by extension, a ‘fuck’ in all other senses. Rhyming slang, from the Disney cartoon character UK, 1992. 3 luck. Rhyming slang, from the Disney cartoon character UK, 1979

Donald Duck adjective exhausted. Rhyming slang for FUCKED UK, 1988

Donald Duck Navy noun the anti-submarine fleet of the US Navy US, 1947

Donald Duck suit noun the blue uniform of sailors in the US Navy US, 1972

Donald Peers; donalds noun the ears. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of popular singer and recording artist Donald Peers, 1909–73 UK, 1984

Donald Trump noun an act of defecation. Rhyming slang for DUMP, based on celebrated US businessman Donald Trump (b.1946), possibly an extravagant play on New York landmark Trump Tower UK, 2002

donar noun a steady girlfriend US, 1993 don dada noun a very important person. Rasta patois for 'TOP DOG, highest of all dons' JAMAICA, 2003 donder; donner noun used as an abusive term of address or reference, a bastard. From Afrikaans donder (a scoundrel) SOUTH AFRICA, 1969 done and dusted adjective 1 completely finished UK, 2001. 2 beaten up UK, 1950 done deal noun an agreement that has been reached. Folksy, a hint of the American South US, 1990 done-done adjective over-cooked BAHAMAS, 1982 done in adjective tired out, exhausted UK, 2001 done thing noun whatever is considered to be the correct etiquette. Always with 'the' UK, 1961 done up adjective dressed up UK, c20 dong noun 1 the penis US, 1900. 2 a thing of no worth UK, 1991 dong verb to punch or hit AUSTRALIA, 1916 donga noun 1 (especially in South Australia) natural bush wilderness AUSTRALIA, 1967. 2 a temporary dwelling AUSTRALIA, 1900. 3 a water-course AUSTRALIA, 1902. 4 a sleeping area. An Australian contribution to the language of the South Pole ANTARCTICA, 2003

dongce noun the penis UK, 2001 donger noun the penis AUSTRALIA, 1971

dongle noun 1 a security scheme for a commercial microcomputer program US, 1991. 2 any small device designed to add functionality to a computer, often plugged into a USB port US, 1997. 3 an electronic key that hangs on a cord around the neck UK, 2001 don jem noun marijuana UK, 1998 donk noun 1 a donkey US, 1868. 2 a racehorse. An abbreviation of 'donkey' NEW ZEALAND, 1952. 3 large, protruding buttocks. A term often associated with celebrity Jennifer Lopez US, 2003. 4 an engine US, 1942 donkey noun 1 a black person US, 1857. 2 a manual labourer US, 1932. 3 a fool UK, 1840. 4 (especially in South Australia) a lift on a bicycle AUSTRALIA, 1981. 5 a resident of Guernsey (in the Channel Islands) according to those on Jersey UK, 1991. ► pull your donkey (used of a male) to masturbate US, 1990 donkey verb (especially in South Australia) to give someone a lift on a bicycle AUSTRALIA, 1981 donkey days noun a very long time BAHAMAS, 1982 donkey deep adjective enthusiastically engaged NEW ZEALAND, 1998 donkey dick noun 1 a man with a large penis; a large penis US, 1980. 2 sausage; unidentified pressed meat US, 1968. 3 the flexible spout attached to the opening of a container US, 1990. 4 a large electrical cable connector US, 1990. 5 a prolonged, insatiable erection due to extended heroin use US, 1997 donkey doctor noun a mechanic who works on donkey engines US, 2003 donkey jammer noun the operator of a donkey (auxiliary) engine CANADA, 1953 donkey-lick verb to defeat convincingly AUSTRALIA, 1890

donkey punch noun during homosexual anal intercourse, a sharp blow given by the active partner to the passive partner's kidneys. The sudden pain from the blow causes a clenching of the buttocks and tightening of the rectal passage, thereby enhancing the pleasure of the penetrating participant UK, 2005 donkey-puncher noun the operator of a donkey engine US, 1920 donkey's ages noun a very long time. A variation of DONKEY'S YEARS UK, 1984 donkey shins thank you. Intentionally butchered German US, 1990 donkey sight noun an imprecise but easily manoeuvred manual sight on a tank's main gun US, 1990 donkey style adjective (used of sex) anal US, 2002 donkey's years; donkeys' years; donkeys noun a very long time. A pun on the length and sound of a 'donkey's ears' UK, 1916 donkey vote noun a vote made by simply filling out a ballot paper in the order the candidates are listed in AUSTRALIA, 1964 donkey work noun difficult, menial labour UK, 1920 donko noun a lunchroom or tea room at a workplace NEW ZEALAND, 1976 donks noun a very long time. An abbreviation of DONKEY'S YEARS, but it is worth noting the similarity to synonymous YONKS UK, 1995 donner; donder verb to thrash, to beat up SOUTH AFRICA, 1916 donnie; donny noun a fracas. An abbreviation of DONNYBROOK NEW ZEALAND, 1960 donniker noun 1 a toilet US, 1937. 2 the penis US, 1951. 3 a railway brakeman on a freight train US, 1932 donniker location noun a poor location on a carnival midway US, 1985

Donniker Sam noun a man who begs for money in a public toilet US, 1981 donny noun a fight AUSTRALIA, 1969

donnybrook noun a riot, a tumult UK, 1852

Don Revie noun an alcoholic drink, especially beer. Rhyming slang for BEVVY (an alcoholic drink, especially beer), formed from the name of football manager Don Revie, 1927–89, and probably coined during his tenure in charge of the England team (1974–78) UK, 1998 don't noun in craps, a bet against the shooter US, 1950 don't ask, don't tell used as a humorous, if jaded, reminder that some things are best left unknown. An adage coined to describe the official approach to homosexuals in the US military under the Clinton administration; a soldier would not be asked about his or her sexual preference, but would be expected not to reveal their homosexuality US, 1993 don't be rude noun food. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 don't call us, we'll call you used as a catchphrase that is generally understood to be a polite, or not-so-polite, rejection of an application for employment. Adopted from the world of entertainment where it is traditionally supposed to signal the end of an unsuccessful audition US, 1968 don't-care-damn adjective entirely indifferent GRENADA, 1976

don't-care-ish adjective apathetic, indifferent US, 1927

don't come the raw prawn do not attempt to dupe me. Military slang from World War 2. The literal meaning of this phrase has not been satisfactorily explained. 'Prawn' has been used in Australia since C19 to mean 'fool', so a 'raw prawn' could mean a 'naive fool', and if 'come' is to be understood as 'to act the part of', the phrase would imply trying to dupe someone by feigned ignorance. Some have defined 'raw prawn' as 'something far-fetched, difficult to swallow', if this is so, then 'come' would mean 'perpetrate', which is also possible AUSTRALIA, 1948

don't come the uncooked crustacean do not attempt to dupe me. Rare variant of DON'T COME THE RAW PRAWN AUSTRALIA, 1971 don't do anything I wouldn't; don't do anything I wouldn't do used jocularly, as good advice, often as parting advice, and often in a sexual context. Occasionally the sentiment is changed to 'don't do anyone I wouldn't do' UK, 1984 don't do that, then in computing, used as a stock response to a complaint that a certain action causes a problem US, 1991 don't give me that! I don't believe you! UK, 1984 don't go there!; don't even go there! used for expressing a lack of interest in pursuing a topic US, 1993 don't hold your breath! don't expect anything to happen; anything that is expected is unlikely to happen for a long time, if at all US, 1971 don't let today be the day! used as an all-purpose, very serious threat US, 2002 don't mean nothin' used as an all-purpose reaction to any bad news among American soldiers in Vietnam US, 1990 don't sleep! don't kid yourself! US, 2002 don't spend it all at once! used as a jocular injunction given when handing over a very small sum of money UK, 1977 don't-talk-about conjunction not to mention TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

don't tense! relax! US, 1951 don't work too hard! used as a jocular admonition by, for instance, a worker going on holiday to workmates left behind UK, 1984 doo noun a skidoo, used for transport over ice and snow ANTARCTICA, 2003

doob; doub noun an amphetamine pill or other central nervous system stimulant UK, 1969 doobage noun marijuana US, 1985 doober noun a marijuana cigarette US, 2000 doobie; dooby; doob; dube noun 1 a marijuana cigarette. The earliest identification is as 'Negro slang for a marijuana roach'. A belief persists that the term was spawned from the 1950s American children's television show, Romper Room, in which children were urged to be 'good do-be's'. Alternative spelling with a 'u' for 'dubee' and 'dubbe' US, 1967. 2 a pill UK, 2002 doobie-head noun a smoker of marijuana in cigarette-fashion, 1999 doobious adjective under the influence of marijuana. A play with the conventional 'dubious' and DOOBIE (a marijuana cigarette) US, 1986 doobry noun used as a replacement for any noun that the user cannot or does not wish to specify UK, 1950s dooby noun marijuana UK, 2000

dooce verb to be dismissed from employment for the contents of a 'blog' (an on-line diary), website or other shared journal. Named after www.dooce.com; established in 2001 by Los Angeles website designer Heather Armstrong, who is credited with coining the word, and who, in 2002, was fired from her job for publishing stories about her workmates on her website US, 2005 doocing noun dismissal from employment for the contents of a 'blog' (an on-line diary), website or other shared journal. From the verb sense US, 2005

doodackie noun an object the name of which escapes or is not important to the speaker NEW ZEALAND, 1999 doodackied up adjective dressed up NEW ZEALAND, 1947

doodad; dodad noun a trivial or useless object US, 1877 doodads noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle AUSTRALIA, 2001 doodah noun 1 used as a replacement for any noun that the user cannot or does not wish to specify. Employed to comic effect by the Bonzo Dog Doo Dah Band, formed in 1965. The 'doodah' was dropped as success beckoned UK, 1928. 2 the vagina US, 2001. 3 semen UK, 2003 dooder noun the female breast BAHAMAS, 1982 doodle noun the penis. Children's vocabulary US, 1980 doodle verb 1 to have sex US, 1957. 2 to play music in a whimsical, relaxed manner US, 1955 doodle-a-squat noun in circus and carnival usage, money US, 1981

doodlebug noun 1 in oil drilling, any mechanical or electrical device claimed as a tool to find oil US, 1924. 2 any small vehicle, such as a small tractor that pulls dollies in a warehouse US, 1935 doodlebugger noun in oil drilling, a person who claims divine powers in locating oil US, 1936 doodle-gaze verb to stare at a woman in a lingering, lustful fashion US, 1990 doodles noun the testicles. Combines the genital sense of DOODLE (the penis) with the vague sense (a small nameless article) US, 2007 doodly noun anything at all US, 1939 doodly-squat noun 1 nothing at all US, 1934. 2 low grade marijuana US, 1979 doo-doo noun 1 excrement, literal or figurative. Also as 'do-do'. A child's euphemism; by reduplication of 'do' or 'doo' (excrement) US, 1948. 2 trouble US, 1989 doody; dooty noun excrement. Childish US, 1969 doof noun 1 dance music AUSTRALIA, 1998. 2 a dance music aficionado AUSTRALIA, 1998. 3 a party open to the public, often announced and cited clandestinely, featuring drugs, music and sensory overload AUSTRALIA, 2002. 4 a slow-witted person, a fool. Originally a Scottish dialect word US, 1971 doof verb to hit someone UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 doofah; doofer noun a thing, a gadget, an unnamed article. Probably from the sense that such an article will 'do for now' UK, 1945 doofball noun an inept social outcast US, 1977 doofer noun a dance music aficionado AUSTRALIA, 1998 doofing noun dance music AUSTRALIA, 1997 doofus; dufus noun 1 a dolt, a fool US, 1955. 2 in caving and pot-holing, an inept cave. A specialist variation US, 2004 doohickey noun an object the exact name of which escapes the speaker US, 1914 doojigger noun an object the name of which escapes the speaker US, 1927

dook noun 1 in the gambling game two-up, a throw of heads three times in a row AUSTRALIA, 1966. 2 a hand AUSTRALIA, 1924. 3 a fist AUSTRALIA, 1977. 4 (especially in Western Australia) a playing marble. Has the short vowel of 'book' and may be spelt 'doog' AUSTRALIA, 1965

dook verb 1 to pass or hand over something secretly AUSTRALIA, 1915. 2 to pay a bribe or gratuity AUSTRALIA, 1945. ► dook them in the gambling game two-up, to throw heads three times in a row AUSTRALIA, 1966 dooker noun a member of a criminal enterprise whose job is to distract the authorities by creating a diversion US, 1956 dookie; dookey; dooky; dukey noun 1 excrement. Children's vocabulary US, 1969. 2 a paymaster. Carnival usage, without variant spellings US, 1960

Dookie nickname a student, alumni or supporter of Duke University US, 1990 doolacky noun a thing; a thingumabob AUSTRALIA, 1950 doolally; doolali; doolally tap; doodle-ally; doodally; tapped adjective 1 mad. From the obsolete noun 'doolally tap' (a form of madness). Deolali (a military sanatorium in Bombay) corrupted and abbreviated as 'doo-lally' plus Hundustani tap (fever) UK, 1925. 2 extremely drunk. Extends from the previous sense UK, 1943. 3 in a state of sensory confusion. A compound of all senses: 'mad', 'drunk' and 'broken' UK, 2001 doolander noun a powerful blow UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

dooley noun 1 a privy; an outdoor toilet US, 1968. 2 heroin US, 1994 doolie noun a fool UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 doolin noun a Roman Catholic. From Mickey Doolin, the quintessential Irishman NEW ZEALAND, 1959 doo-mommie go fuck your mother. A phonetic approximation of the Vietnamese du ma (fuck your mother) US, 1991

DOOM pussy mission noun a night bombing run flown by US bombers over North Vietnam. The DOOM came from the the Da Nang Officer's Open Mess, the 'pussy' referred to the relative lack of danger in a night mission US, 1991 doom tube noun the hollow of a wave that does not offer a surfer the ability to leave the hollow US, 1991

doomy adjective very depressed and discouraged; dismal UK, 1968 door noun 1 a supplier of drugs CANADA, 2002. 2 a capsule of Doriden™, a trade name for glutethimide, a sedative US, 1992. ► from the door from the outset US, 1967 doorbell noun the nipple of a woman's breast US, 1973 doorcard noun in seven-card stud poker, a player's first face-up card UK, 2003 door-hugger noun a girl who sits as far away from her date when he is driving as possible US, 1966 door jockey noun a doorman US, 1956 doorknob noun 1 a socially inept person US, 1994. 2 a shilling. Pre-decimal rhyming slang for BOB (a shilling) UK, 1961 doormat noun 1 a person who is easily manipulated by others UK, 1883. 2 a toupee US, 1952. 3 in surfing, a bodyboarder, that is a surfer who lies down on the surfboard. Derogatory SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 door pops noun dice that have been altered so that they will score a 7 or 11 more frequently than normal US, 1950 door-pusher noun a girl who stays as close as possible to the passenger door while riding in a car on a date US, 1959

doorshaker noun a night watchman US, 1942 doorstep noun ► not on your own doorstep a piece of folk-philosophy (often as an injunction): do not get sexually involved with anyone close to home, or at work UK, 2003 doorstep verb of a journalist, to wait near a subject's door in order to obtain an interview, a photograph, etc UK, 1981 doorstep sandwich noun a sandwich that uses two very thick slices of bread IRELAND, 1989 doorstop noun in computing, broken or obsolete equipment US, 1991 door whore noun 1 someone employed to welcome clubbers to a club but who actually enforces a strict exclusion policy based on the club's style requirements UK, 1999. 2 a restaurant hostess US, 1995

doos noun a despicable person SOUTH AFRICA, 2004

doosey noun heroin UK, 2003 doosh noun the face. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 do out of verb to swindle someone out of something UK, 1825 doover noun 1 a thing; a thingumabob. Originally in World War 2 services slang. Suggested origins include (1) a variant on DOOFAH, (2) from Yiddish, a variant of Hebrew davar (a thing), and (3) extracted from HORSES DOOVERS. The first two are much more likely than the last AUSTRALIA, 1940. 2 the penis. From the sense as an 'unnamed thing' AUSTRALIA, 1971 do over verb 1 to beat someone up UK, 1866. 2 to swindle or take advantage of AUSTRALIA, 1952. 3 to frisk, to search through someone's clothing or property UK, 1984. 4 to have sex with someone AUSTRALIA, 1948

dooverlackie; doovilackie noun a thing; a thingumabob AUSTRALIA, 1987 doowally noun an idiot, a person with a less than first-class grip on reality. Glasgow slang, perhaps related to DOOLALLY (mad) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 doo-wop noun a musical style popular in the 1950s, featuring nonsense syllables sung in close harmony US, 1969 doozer noun 1 anything that is large or outstanding CANADA, 1975. 2 an exceptional example or specimen US, 1930

doozy adjective an extraordinary example of something US, 1916 dop noun 1 the head. From Afrikaans dop (an empty vessel) SOUTH AFRICA, 1978. 2 any brandy. From Afrikaans doppe (husks of grapes) SOUTH AFRICA, 1896. 3 a short drink of any spirits, a tot; the act of drinking. Variant 'doppie' SOUTH AFRICA, 1996 dop verb to drink (alcohol). From Afrikaans dop (a drink) SOUTH AFRICA, 1977 dope noun 1 a drug, drugs, especially if illegal US, 1900. 2 marijuana SOUTH AFRICA, 1946. 3 heroin US, 1891. 4 information, especially confidential information US, 1902. 5 a stupid fool UK, 1851. 6 money. Teen slang SOUTH AFRICA, 2003. 7 in oil drilling, a lubricant US, 1954 dope verb 1 to use recreational drugs US, 1889. 2 in the used car business, to hide a car's mechanical flaws US, 1968 dope adjective 1 stylish, excellent, best. A word that defines and sneers at society's failures; this common hip-hop usage, credited to rap-pioneer Chief Rocker Busy Bee, rejects the negative and promotes the positive in the 'bad-as-good' way US, 1981. 2 dull. Teen slang SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 dope! used for expressing approval UK, 2003 dope cake noun a baked confection which has marijuana or hashish as a major ingredient UK, 2002 dope corner noun a street corner where drugs are usually sold US, 1992 dope daddy noun a drug dealer US, 1936 dopefied adjective amazing US, 2000 dope fiend noun a drug addict US, 1895 dopehead noun a regular drug user US, 1903 dope house noun a house or building where drugs are bought and used US, 1968 dope kit noun the equipment needed to prepare and inject drugs US, 1973 dopeman noun a drug dealer US, 1974 dope off verb to fail to pay attention; to fall asleep US, 1918 dope on a rope noun in the language of hang gliding, a paraglider pilot US, 1992 dope out verb 1 to become, or spend time, intoxicated on recreational drugs US, 1970. 2 to discover, to ascertain, to comprehend; to work out US, 1906 dope pull noun an addict's need for drugs US, 1997 doper noun a drug user US, 1922 dope rope noun a cord attached to a surfer and his surfboard US, 1991 dope sheet noun 1 a leaflet or pamphlet offering 'inside' tips on horse betting US, 1900. 2 in the television and film industries, a running report on shooting kept by an assistant director UK, 1960 dope slope noun a beginner's ski slope US, 1963 dope smoke verb to smoke marijuana US, 1980 dopester noun a person who analyzes the past performance of racehorses and athletic teams in order to predict future performance US, 1907 dope stick noun a cigarette US, 1904 dope up verb to use drugs US, 1942 dopey adjective 1 dull-witted, foolish US, 1903. 2 sleepy, lethargic, dull; half-asleep under the influence of drink, medicinal or recreational drugs US, 1896

dopey; dopie noun a drug user or addict US, 1929 dopium noun opium; heroin US, 1942 dor; door; dorie noun a capsule of glutethimide (trade name Doriden™), a hypnotic sedative and central nervous system depressant US, 1986 doradilla noun marijuana. The Spanish zoological name for a 'wagtail' US, 1973 do-rag noun a scarf worn on the head after a hair treatment process US, 1970 dorcas noun used affectionately as a term of endearment. The Dorcas Society is a charitable society founded in the early C19, taking its name and biblical inspiration from the charitable nature of Dorcas recorded in Acts ix, 36. The original slang use, now obsolete, was as 'a seamstress who worked for charity'; that spirit is invested in this polari usage as 'one who cares' UK, 2002 dordy! used for registering surprise. English gypsy use, from Romany dawdi UK, 2000 do-re-mi; dough-rey-me noun money. Extends from DOUGH (money), punning on 'do-re-mi/doh-ray-mi' in the 'tonic sol-fa' system of music. Most strongly associated with Woody Guthrie's 1937 song '(If You Ain't Got the) Do Re Mi' US, 1926

dorf noun a social outcast US, 1967

Dorian love noun homosexual love and/or sex. From Oscar Wilde's portrait US, 1987 do-right noun a favour US, 1986 do-right adjective righteous, diligent US, 1936 do-right boy noun a police officer US, 1970 do-righter noun a person who does not use drugs US, 1970

Doris noun 1 a woman. From the slightly old-fashioned female name UK, 2001. 2 a police van BARBADOS, 1965

Doris Day noun 1 homosexuality. Rhyming slang for GAY, formed from the name of American singer and actress Doris Day (b.1924), perhaps as a knowingly ironic reference to Rock Hudson, a famously closeted homosexual, with whom she co-starred on several occasions UK, 1992. 2 a way. Rhyming slang which reduces to 'doris' UK, 1992 dork noun 1 the penis US, 1961. 2 a socially inept, unfashionable, harmless person US, 1964 dork verb to act in a socially inept fashion US, 1990 dorkbrain noun an inept outcast US, 1974 dorkbreath noun used as a term of abuse US, 1974 dorkus noun a fool. An embellished DORK US, 1979 dorky adjective odd; out of step with the rest; without social skills. From DORK US, 1970 dorm noun a dormitory UK, 1900 dormie noun a student living in a dormitory; a person with whom you share a dormitory room US, 1966 dorm rat noun a person living in a dormitory US, 1963 dorm rot noun a bruise on the skin caused by a partner's mouth during foreplay; a suction kiss US, 1970 do-room noun a room where drugs are used, especially injected US, 1974

Dorothy noun a tyre. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of Welsh torch-singer Dorothy Squires, 1915–98, always used in a reduced form UK, 1992

Dorothy Dixer noun a pre-arranged question put to a Minister in parliament for which he or she has a prepared answer. Named after Dorothy Dix, a popular US question-and-answer columnist AUSTRALIA, 1963

dory plug nickname a member of the Royal Canadian Navy CANADA, 1995 dose noun 1 a case of a sexually transmitted infection US, 1914. 2 a curse, a spell BAHAMAS, 1982. 3 an amount or quantity of something UK, 1607. 4 a four-month prison sentence. In earlier use (1860) as 'three months' hard labour' UK, 1996. 5 a single experience with LSD US, 1967. 6 a dolt US, 1969. ► like a dose of salts very quickly, and effectively. From the laxative properties of Epsom Salts; especially as 'go through something like a dose of salts' UK, 1837 dose verb 1 to introduce a drug, especially LSD, into a host substance; to give a drug to someone without their knowledge US, 1957. 2 to share drugs US, 1997. 3 to ingest; to take a dose of US, 1971. 4 to infect another with a sexually transmitted disease US, 1918 dosed up adjective infected with a sexually transmitted disease US, 1969 dose of the shits noun 1 a case of diarrhoea AUSTRALIA, 1979. 2 a bad mood AUSTRALIA, 1973 doses noun LSD CANADA, 2002 dose up verb to pass a sexually transmitted infection to someone else US, 1950 dosey-doe verb to dance, literally or figuratively. From a basic call in American square dancing US, 1961 dosh noun money. Possibly a combination of 'dollars' and 'cash'; there are also suggestions that the etymology leads back to DOSS (temporary accommodation), hence, it has been claimed, the money required 'to doss', or Scottish dialect doss (tobacco pouch, a purse containing something of value) – note, too, that tobacco is related to money via QUID. US 'dosh' didn't survive but in mid-C20 UK and Australia the word was resurrected, or coincidentally recoinced US, 1854 dosh verb to give UK, 1999

doss noun 1 sleep US, 1894. 2 a waste of time UK, 1998. 3 an easy thing to do UK, 1999. 4 an attractive female US, 1968. 5 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 doss verb to sleep in temporary accommodation, usually on an improvised bed – floor, sofa, etc. Sometimes embellished to 'doss down' UK, 1744 doss about; doss verb to waste time UK, 1935 dossbag noun 1 a sleeping bag. Gulf war usage UK, 1991. 2 a lazy or idle person UK, 2003 dosser noun a homeless person, a vagrant. Originally, 'one who frequented a DOSS HOUSE', now applied equally to one who sleeps rough UK, 1866

doss house noun a very cheap lodging-house; a shelter for the homeless UK, 1889 dossier noun in Quebec, a project. This word is an example of French CANADA, 2002

doss joint noun an establishment providing cheap, basic sleeping quarters AUSTRALIA, 1969

dossy adjective daft UK, 1958 dot noun 1 LSD; a dose of LSD US, 1967. 2 the anus US, 1964. 3 the clitoris US, 1964. 4 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Remembered as late 1970s usage US, 2000. 5 in hot rodding, a taillight US, 1958. ► off your dot out of your senses UK, 1926. ► on the dot exactly punctual UK, 1909

Dot nickname Dorchester, Massachusetts US, 1997 dot verb 1 to drop a small amount of LSD on a piece of paper US, 1970. 2 to have anal intercourse. From DOT (the anus) UK, 2002. 3 to hit someone, to strike UK, 1895 dot-and-dash noun 1 money. Rhyming slang for 'cash' UK, 1962. 2 a moustache. Rhyming slang, for, in all probability, TASH (a moustache) and based on the morse code for 'A' UK, 1992 dot ball noun in cricket, a bowled ball from which no runs are scored. From the dot that is recorded in the scorebook UK, 1984 dot-bomb noun a failed dot-com business US, 2001 dot con artist noun a criminal who operates an Internet-based fraud. A play on the Internet business domain and generic 'dot com' US, 1999

Dot Cotton adjective rotten. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a character played by actress June Brown in BBC television's EastEnders UK, 2003

Dot Cottoned adjective drunk. Possibly (imperfect) rhyming slang, 'Dot Cotton' for 'pissed rotten', from the character Dot Cotton, played by actress June Brown, in BBC television's EastEnders – the character is known for tipsiness UK, 2002 dot, dot, dot used to imply what happened next, and then, etc. A verbalisation of the written narrative device ... that is often used in romantic fiction to draw a veil over moments of intimacy UK, 2003 do tell! used for expressing doubt. Ironic, sarcastic or mock-incredulous US, 1891 dot head noun an Indian or Pakistani. Offensive. From the caste mark which Hindu women wear on their foreheads US, 1982 dot man noun a Department of Transportation functionary who inspects trucks at motorway stops. Based on the agency's initials: DOT US, 1976 dot on the card adjective definitely, no doubt UK, 1999 dots noun sheet music. From the look of written music US, 1927 dotty adjective eccentric, senile UK, 1885 double noun 1 a street UK, 1937. 2 a pimp with more than one prostitute working for him US, 1987. 3 in gambling, a bet on two different events in which the total return on the first selection is automatically staked on the second UK, 2001. 4 a twenty-dollar note. An abbreviation of DOUBLE SAWBUCK US, 1966. 5 a lift on a bicycle or, formerly, a horse AUSTRALIA, 1947. ► on the double swiftly. From military use for 'marching at twice the regular speed' UK, 1865 double verb to give someone a lift on a bicycle or, formerly, a horse AUSTRALIA, 1950. ► double in brass to perform two or more tasks at once. A term from the theatre, where an actor might play a brass instrument in the orchestra while not on stage acting US, 1963 double adverb very much. Often used as an intensifier UK, 1958 double 8 noun in the television and film industries, 16mm film UK, 1960 double ace noun in dominoes, the 1–1 piece US, 1959 double adaptor noun 1 a male who both gives and receives anal sex AUSTRALIA, 1987. 2 a bisexual. Scamto youth street slang (South African townships) SOUTH AFRICA, 2005 double-aught buck noun double-O (.32 calibre) buckshot used in police shotguns US, 1982 double bag verb to use two condoms at once US, 1989 double-bagger noun an ugly woman US, 1982 double bank noun to ride as a second person on a horse, or later, a bicycle AUSTRALIA, 1876 double bank verb to double the number of animals pulling a load AUSTRALIA, 1867 double-barreled adjective extreme US, 1867 double-bass noun a sexual position in which a man, having entered a woman from behind, simultaneously applies manual stimulation to her nipples and clitoris AUSTRALIA, 2002 double belly buster noun in poker, a hand that requires two cards to make a five-card sequence US, 1978 double-blue noun a pill containing both amphetamine and barbiturate UK, 1978 double bubble noun 1 an amount that is twice as much, especially money. A rhyming play on 'double' UK, 1999. 2 overtime at double rate UK, 2005. 3 a water pipe with two channels, used for smoking marijuana US, 1998. 4 cocaine in a smokable form. Marketed as being twice as potent when inhaled US, 1993. 5 in prison, interest demanded on an advance of drugs, tobacco or any other form of prison currency. With variant 'double back' UK, 1996. 6 a very attractive girl. Teen slang US, 1951 double buffalo noun fifty-five miles an hour. The US five-cent piece features an engraved buffalo US, 1976 double carpet noun 1 in betting, odds of 33–1. Dubious accounting 'doubles' the odds from a CARPET (3–1) UK, 1967. 2 in prison, a sentence of six months. Literally, 'twice a CARPET' (three months) UK, 1996 double century noun in motor racing, 200 miles per hour US, 1965 double cheese noun in pool, the situation when either player can win with one shot US, 1993 double cherry drop noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996 double-choked adjective extremely disappointed or disgruntled, utterly disgusted UK, 1965 double click your mouse; double click verb of a female, to masturbate. An allusion to manipulation of the clitoris AUSTRALIA, 2003 double-clutch verb 1 to partake of more than your share of a marijuana cigarette being passed around a group US, 1980. 2 to move quickly; to do anything quickly US, 1968. 3 to grab someone in the crotch and the buttocks BAHAMAS, 1982 double-clutcher noun used as a humorous euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1967 double-clutching adjective used as a jocular euphemism for 'motherfucking' US, 1964 double-column verb to pass another vehicle and stay in the passing lane US, 1982 double cross noun a double-scored tablet of amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1971 double-cunted adjective possessing a slack and distended vagina US, 1980 double damn defo adverb very definitely, certainly. An intensification of DEFFO; DEFO UK, 2003 double dare; double dog dare verb to challenge someone to do something US, 1945 double deuce noun a .22 calibre gun US, 1994 double-diamond lane noun the right or slow lane on a motorway. Named for the logo of the McLean Truck Line, believed to have the slowest trucks in the industry US, 1976 double dibs! used as a strong assertion of a claim of rights to something US, 1947 double-digit fidget noun the anxiety felt by US troops in Vietnam with less than 100 days left before leaving Vietnam US, 1991 double-digit midget noun a soldier with less than 100 days left in their tour of duty US, 1969 double dime noun twenty US, 1969 double dime note noun a twenty-dollar note US, 1961 double dink verb to give someone a lift on a bicycle or, formerly, a horse AUSTRALIA, 1941 double-dip verb 1 to date both sexes US, 2002. 2 to dip a piece of food into a shared sauce or relish after taking a bite US, 1993 double dipper noun a bisexual US, 1997 double-dipping noun payment by two different sources for the same work or reason. Slang from the ice-cream parlour, where the 'double dip' cone had two scoops of ice-cream US, 1986 double dome; green double dome; green single dome noun LSD US, 1994 doubledome noun an intellectual US, 1943 double-door verb in pool, to beat someone quickly. The image is that the defeated player has no sooner walked in the front door than he is walking out the back door US, 1990 double dooring noun an act of criminal fraud perpetrated on a hotel, in which the fraudster arrives in the manner of a legitimate customer but departs by the back door leaving the account unpaid UK, 1996 double duke verb to arrange a deck of cards so that two players will be dealt good hands US, 1977 double Dutch; Dutch noun unintelligible speech. Double Dutch is also a secret language in which words are disguised to prevent understanding by outsiders UK, 1876 double eighty-eights; double 88s best wishes; warm wishes US, 1976 double fever noun fifty-five miles an hour. From FEVER (five) US, 1976 double fin noun ten dollars or ten years US, 1949 double-fisted adjective large, imposing US, 1853 double fives noun a hand slap of both hands used for a greeting or for expressing appreciation of that which has just been said US, 1977

double-gaited adjective bisexual US, 1927 double harness noun marriage AUSTRALIA, 1885 double-hatted adjective serving in two positions simultaneously US, 1990 double-header; doubleheader noun 1 an event where two acts share the headline UK, 2002. 2 an activity engaged in twice in a row on the same day, especially sex US, 1977 double infinity noun in poker, a pair of eights. Turned on its side, a figure eight is an infinity symbol US, 1996 double-jointed adjective exceptional US, 1974 double L noun a telephone. An extrapolation from 'landline' US, 1976 double loaded adjective carrying a large amount, especially of stolen property UK, 1956 double net noun in betting, odds of 20–1. Literally, 'twice a NET' (10–1) UK, 1991 double nickel noun 1 fifty-five; five-fifty US, 1990. 2 a ten-year prison sentence US, 1998. 3 fifty-five miles an hour, the speed limit imposed throughout the US by the federal government in 1974 US, 1976 double nickels noun in craps, a roll of ten made with a pair of fives US, 1999 double nuts noun double zero US, 1981 double-o noun a close examination US, 1913

Double-O nickname rock musician Ozzy Osbourne (b.1948) UK, 2002 double O's noun Kool cigarettes US, 1981 double packer noun a member of the Hell's Angels who is prone to take a girlfriend with him on excursions US, 1966 double rock noun crack cocaine diluted with procaine UK, 1998 double rough noun a prison sentence of 50 years US, 1990 double rush verb to deliver in an expedited fashion. Bicycle messenger slang, used as the title for a short-lived television comedy (CBS, 1995) US, 1995 double saw noun a twenty-year jail sentence US, 1976 double sawbuck; double saw noun a twenty-dollar note US, 1931 double sawski noun a twenty-dollar note US, 1953 double stacked noun paramethoxyamphetamine, PMA. A drug that is difficult to distinguish from MDMA (ECSTASY) UK, 2001 double stacks noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy US, 2002 double stack white Mitsubishi noun an extra thick tablet of paramethoxyamphetamine, PMA, etched with the Japanese car manufacturer's logo, easily confused with MDMA US, 2000 double-stakes-about noun in gambling, a type of conditional bet UK, 2001 double taps noun in betting, odds of 15–8. From the TICK-TACK signal for the odds UK, 1991 double time adverb very much, greatly, absolutely. Variation of BIG TIME (entirely) with DOUBLE as the intensifier UK, 1994 double ton noun 1 in cricket, a batsman's score of 200 runs or more in one innings UK, 1995. 2 in motor racing, 200 miles per hour US, 1993 double tre noun six US, 1998 double trouble noun 1 a capsule of sodium amobarbital and sodium secobarbital (trade name Tuinal™), a combination of central nervous system depressants US, 1967. 2 any combination of drugs US, 1990. 3 a member of Alcoholics Anonymous who is seeking treatment for a second psychological disorder. Those who succeed are known as 'double winners' US, 1990 double ups noun vials of crack cocaine US, 1992

Double Willie noun a stagehand who is paid at the doubletime rate for working through meal and rest breaks US, 1973 double yoke noun crack cocaine. Perhaps this is a reference to the 'yoke' of addiction, punning on the contents of an egg UK, 1998 double-yolker noun 1 a fool. Prison usage NEW ZEALAND, 1999. 2 a ewe carrying twins NEW ZEALAND, 2002 double zero; zero zero; zero-zero noun a high grade variety of hashish from Morocco; generally, marijuana UK, 1996 double zero rocky noun cannabis resin UK, 1999 doubting Thomas noun a perpetually sceptical person UK, 1877 douche noun a shower. Vietnam war military usage US, 1991 douche verb 1 to take an enema before or after anal sex US, 1972. 2 to reject someone's application for membership in a fraternity, sorority or club US, 1968 douche bag noun 1 a despicable person; a socially inept person US, 1945. 2 a promiscuous woman prisoner US, 1992. 3 in trucking, the windscreens was container US, 1971. 4 a shower kit. Vietnam war military usage US, 1991

douched adjective exhausted US, 1968 douche job noun a wash or steam cleaning of a truck US, 1971 douche kit noun a shaving kit US, 1970 douche out verb as a prank, to flood the floor of a room by pouring buckets of water under the crack of the door US, 1967 doucher noun an annoying, unlikeable person US, 2004 doudou noun used as a term of endearment. From French Creole, ultimately from French doux (sweet) UK, 1998 dough noun 1 money US, 1851. 2 an American infantryman. Korean war usage; shortened from the earlier DOUGHBOY US, 1951 doughball noun a fool. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 doughboy noun 1 a soldier in the infantry. Many inventive, but unproved, explanations for the term's coining can be found US, 1847. 2 a catering employee on a television or film set US, 1997 dough dolly noun on Prince Edward Island, a slice of bread cut off for breakfast after rising overnight CANADA, 1988 doughfoot noun an infantry soldier. World War 2's answer to the DOUGHBOY of World War 1 US, 1943 dough-gods noun dumplings on top of a stew CANADA, 1987 dough-head noun a fool. From the thick consistency of conventional 'dough' US, 1838 doughnut noun 1 a tightly driven full circle, typically executed by young drivers who leave tyre marks from the sharp turns and acceleration US, 1960. 2 a tyre; in motor racing, a fat, treadless tyre US, 1922. 3 a traffic roundabout UK, 1981. 4 an undersized, often illegal, steering wheel US, 1980. 5 any material produced to be played on the radio which leaves a silent space in the middle for information provided by the announcer US, 1980. 6 the anus AUSTRALIA, 1985. 7 the inside of a round, hollow wave US, 1988. 8 a fool, a crazy person. Probably abbreviated from DOUGHNUT HEAD; possibly newly coined, combining conventional 'dough' to suggest a thick consistency and NUT (the head); or, possibly, an elaboration of 'nut' (a crazy person). Also spelt 'donut' UK, 2001 doughnut verb 1 to cluster around a speaker, voicing support. When television cameras were introduced in the House of Commons in 1989, their focus was exclusively on the speaker. To give the impression of support of, or even interest in, what was being said, other MPs would cluster around – 'doughnut' – the speaker, muttering words of support UK, 1992. 2 to win a game without your opponent scoring US, 1971 doughnut bumper noun 1 a lesbian US, 1997. 2 an aggressive, dominant lesbian US, 1992 doughnut dolly; donut dolly noun a female Red Cross volunteer in Vietnam. Vietnam war usage. From the practice of Red Cross volunteers serving doughnuts and coffee to the troops US, 1968 doughnut head noun used as a term of abuse suggesting an empty head US, 1977 doughnut six; donut six noun the leader of a group of female Red Cross workers in Vietnam. 'Six' was radio code for a unit's commander US, 1990 dough-pop verb to hit hard US, 1972 dough-roll noun a wife US, 1972 dough-roller noun 1 a baker US, 1920. 2 a wife or female lover US, 1929

Douglas Hurd; douglas noun 1 a third-class university degree. This rhyming slang, based on Britain's former Foreign and Commonwealth Secretary, succeeded a THORA UK, 2000. 2 a turd. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the English Conservative politician (he was Foreign Secretary 1989–95) and novelist, Lord Douglas Hurd (b.1930) UK, 1992 dougla tonic noun any liquid poison. In Trinidad, suicide by Indians is associated with poison TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

Douk noun a Doukhobor, a member of a Russian fringe religious sect with settlements in Western Canada. The Doukhobors were known for taking off all their clothes when brought to court CANADA, 1962 do up verb 1 to inject an illegal drug US, 1952. 2 to apply a tourniquet before injecting a drug intravenously US, 1970. 3 to beat up. A variation of DO UK, 1959

douse verb ► douse the glim to turn off the lights US, 1945 dove noun 1 a five-dollar note US, 2002. 2 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, identified by an embossed dove-based motif. Various known, often depending on their appearance, as 'love dove', 'double dove' or 'white dove' UK, 1992

Dover boat noun a coat. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

Dover harbour noun a barber. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 doves noun crack cocaine US, 1993 dowager noun an elderly, usually affluent, homosexual man US, 1941 do what? what are you saying? UK, 1998 down noun 1 any barbiturate or central nervous system depressant US, 1971. 2 a dislike or antipathy AUSTRALIA, 1835. ► have a down on to hold something or someone in low esteem AUSTRALIA, 1828 down verb 1 to finish a drink UK, 1922. 2 to sell stolen goods US, 1967 down adjective 1 excellent; loyal; fashionable US, 1946. 2 willing, prepared, eager US, 1944. 3 aware of the current social fashions and opinions; being or feeling a part of a general or specific social scene. A narrowing of the earlier UK C18 sense (wide-awake, suspicious, aware); modern use is mainly black or trendy US, 1944. 4 (of surf conditions) flat US, 1977. 5 depressed UK, 1610. 6 in custody; imprisoned US, 1927. ► down on opposed to; holding a low opinion of something US, 1848. ► down to 1 responsible for UK, 1970. 2 because of, attributable to UK, 1958 down adverb 1 down to or down at AUSTRALIA, 1911. 2 to hospital BARBADOS, 1965. ► get down to inject (a drug) into a vein US, 1969 downalong adjective in Barbados, of or pertaining to the other British West Indies islands BARBADOS, 1965 down and dirty adjective 1 highly competitive, no holds barred US, 1988. 2 descriptive of the final card in a game of seven-card stud poker. It is dealt face-down and it greatly affects the chances of a hand winning US, 1988 down and out adjective homeless; without money US, 1901 down beat noun ► on the down beat declining in popularity US, 1947 downblouse noun a type of voyeurism devoted specifically to seeing a woman's breasts looking down her blouse US, 1994 downer noun 1 a circumstance that depresses; a depressing experience. From DOWN (depressed) US, 1967. 2 a barbiturate or other central nervous system depressant US, 1965. 3 an animal being led to slaughter that is too sick or crippled to walk into the slaughterhouse. This sense of the word began to enjoy great popularity in the US in late 2003 with the publicity surrounding Mad Cow Disease in US cattle US, 1991. ► have a downer on to hold something or someone in low esteem AUSTRALIA, 1915 down for mine adjective willing to stand up for your group US, 1989 down hill adjective during the second half of a prison sentence US, 1950 down home noun 1 jail, especially the Manhattan Detention Pens US, 1982. 2 the US federal penitentiary in Atlanta, Georgia US, 1992. 3 a relatively specific place in the Maritime Provinces CANADA, 1988 down home adjective exemplifying the essence of black culture US, 1982 downhomer noun a person who identifies closely with his maritime roots CANADA, 1988 downie noun a central nervous system depressant US, 1966

Downing Street noun in various games, the number ten. From 10 Downing Street, the official address of the British prime minister UK, 1943 download verb to defecate. Application of computer terminology to the toilet bowl US, 2001 downlow adjective secret. Black usage UK, 1990s down on your Mamas and Papas adjective in dire financial straits. Rhyming slang for DOWN ON YOUR UPPER; formed on a 1960s' US pop-group UK, 2004 down on your uppers adjective in dire financial straits. When the upper of a shoe is worn down, a person might as well be walking barefoot US, 1963 downpressor noun an oppressor. Rasta patois JAMAICA, 1982 down south noun, adverb 1 below the waist; the genitals US, 1982. 2 Antarctica ANTARCTICA, 1913. 3 the US federal penitentiary in Atlanta, Georgia US, 1992. ► it's raining down south experiencing the bleed period of the menstruation cycle US, 1999. ► it's snowing down south your slip is showing US, 1955 downstairs noun the genital area, especially of a female UK, 2002 down the banks noun a reprimand; a piece of your mind IRELAND, 1968 down the block adjective in prison, in the punishment cells UK, 1978 down the drain; down the drains noun the brain; brains. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 down the drain adjective lost, wasted, failed UK, 1930 down the food chain adjective to be less important in the hierarchy of a business or social organisation, further down the chain of command. An allusion to the natural organisation of species, each being the food source for the next one up the biological chain UK, 1999 down the gurgler adjective hopelessly lost AUSTRALIA, 1982 down the hatch! used as a drinking toast, as a descriptive precursor to taking a drink and as an encouragement to take medicine US, 1931 down the mine adjective said of the nose of a surfboard that has knifed below the ocean surface AUSTRALIA, 1964 down the pan adjective lost, wasted, failed. A variation of DOWN THE DRAIN UK, 1961 down there noun, adverb the genitals. A precious if unmistakable euphemism US, 1995 down the road adjective in prison UK, 1982 down the steps adverb used to denote a sentence to imprisonment UK, 1956 down time noun in prison, free time. Adopted from industry, where the term means that machines aren't working, hence free time for workers UK, 1996 down to the ground adverb thoroughly, extremely well UK, 1867 down to the rivets adjective (used of brake pads or a clutch) extremely worn US, 1992 downtown noun 1 heroin US, 1983. 2 in pool, the foot end of the table US, 1993. 3 during the Vietnam war, the airspace above Hanoi, North Vietnam US, 1967 downtowner noun a member of the US embassy staff in Vientiane, Laos. Used with more than a trace of derision by US troops in the field US, 1991 down trip noun any unpleasant, uninspiring experience US, 1967 down trou noun the voluntary lowering of your trousers NEW ZEALAND, 1984

Down Under; down under noun Australia AUSTRALIA, 1915

Down Under; down under adverb in Australia AUSTRALIA, 1886 downy noun a bed. A reference to the 'down' found in bedding US, 1843 dowry noun a great deal, a lot. Probably from the value of a traditional bride's dowry UK, 1859 doxy; doxie noun a woman; a girlfriend. Originally, in C16, 'a beggar's trull' (the unmarried mistress of a beggar). Beginning in C19 it took on a softer and broader sense UK, 1530

Doyle Brunson noun in hold 'em poker, a ten and a two as the first two cards dealt to a player. Poker player Doyle 'Texas Dolly'

Brunson won the World Series of Poker two years in a row with this hand US, 1982

D'Oyly Carte; d'oyly noun 1 a fart. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the opera company, founded in 1875, that specialises in presenting the works of Gilbert and Sullivan. One of various backstage names for the opera company is 'The Oily Fart' UK, 1992. 2 the heart. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 do you kiss your mother with that mouth? used as a rejoinder to profanity US, 1992 do you know something? used as a gentle if meaningless introduction to what might otherwise come over as unlikely, unkind or abrupt. As an example: 'Do you know something? I rather like you.' UK, 1974 do you like the taste of hospital food? used as a jocular threat of violence UK, 1995

do you want some? used as a challenging invitation to violent conflict UK, 2001 dozens noun a game of ritualistic insult US, 1915 dozer noun 1 marijuana UK, 2003. 2 a bulldozer US, 1942 dozey adjective slow; stupid AUSTRALIA, 1972

dozo noun a dolt NEW ZEALAND, 1998

dozy adjective stupid; lazy. Military coinage UK, 1999

DP noun 1 double penetration. In the pornography industry, this usually refers to a woman who is being penetrated simultaneously in the vagina and anally, viewers of American pornography have been obsessed with this type of double penetration since the 1990s. Technically, it refers to two objects or body parts inserted into the same rectum or vagina simultaneously US, 1997. 2 a displaced person UK, 1945. 3 Dr. Pepper™ soda. A drink favoured, and hence a term heard, mostly in the southern US US, 1966

DPP noun a vagina simultaneously penetrated by two penises. An abbreviation of 'double pussy penetration' US, 2000

D.P.Q. noun a dumb passenger question CANADA, 1989

DPs noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks. An initialism of DICK POINTERS or DICK POKERS AUSTRALIA, 2003 drab noun a pretty girl, especially one who is new in town US, 1947 drack noun an unattractive woman AUSTRALIA, 1960

drack adjective 1 dreary; dull; awful; unpleasant. Possibly derived from Dracula, but others have suggested it is an alteration of DRECK AUSTRALIA, 1944. 2 (of a woman) unattractive AUSTRALIA, 1949 dracs noun the canine teeth. Dracula, according to Hollywood at least, has overlarge pointed canines for puncturing the skin of his victims UK, 2001 draft beast noun a student who studies hard in preparation for exams TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

drafty noun draught beer US, 1969 drag noun 1 anything or anyone boring or tedious US, 1863. 2 a conventional, narrow-minded person US, 1947. 3 an unattractive girl US, 1955. 4 a transvestite UK, 1974. 5 female clothing worn by men; male clothing worn by women. A term born in the theatre, but the non-theatrical sense has long dominated. He or she who wears 'drag' may or may not be a homosexual UK, 1870. 6 any kind of clothing UK, 1959. 7 clout, influence US, 1896. 8 a street or road, especially a major urban street UK, 1851. 9 a car. From earlier senses 'as a coach', 'a cart', 'a wagon and a van'. English Gypsy use UK, 1935. 10 a freight train, especially a slow one US, 1925. 11 an inhalation (of a cigarette, pipe or cigar) US, 1904. 12 a marijuana cigarette UK, 1978. 13 the soldier at the very rear of a group of soldiers on patrol. From the older term 'drag rider' (1888) for the cowhand riding at the rear of a herd US, 1991. 14 a sentence of three months' imprisonment AUSTRALIA, 1877. 15 a confidence game in which a wallet is dropped as bait for the victim US, 1958. ► the drag a several-block area near Independence Square, Port of Spain, Trinidad TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1984

drag verb 1 to bore or annoy US, 1944. 2 to wear clothing of the opposite sex US, 1970. 3 to compete in a drag race, a quarter-mile race from a standing start US, 1950. 4 in poker, to take (chips) from the pot as change for a bet US, 1967. 5 in poker, to take the house percentage out of a pot US, 1988. 6 to rob vehicles UK, 1970. 7 to lead on, to entice US, 1981. ► drag the chain to be slow to perform some task; to lag behind. Metaphorically referring to Australia's convict era when prisoners were chained together, but originally in use amongst shearers and only recorded long after chain gangs were a thing of the past AUSTRALIA, 1912. ► drag your anchor to lose control of yourself and drift towards trouble. Clearly understood nautical origins US, 1963 drag-ass adjective tired, lazy US, 1952 drag back verb to re-imprison a convict released on licence UK, 1996 drag ball noun a dance dominated by men dressed as women US, 1957 drage; droge; droje; draje noun any kind of clothing. Affected variations of DRAG UK, 1992 dragged adjective annoyed, depressed US, 1952 dragger noun a thief who steals vehicles or their contents UK, 1956 draggin' wagon noun 1 a tow truck, especially a military tow truck. Also known as a 'dragon wagon' US, 1945. 2 in drag racing, a fast car US, 1968 draggy adjective boring, tedious US, 1868 drag it! let's hurry up! Teen slang US, 1951 drag king noun a woman who impersonates a man, especially one who performs in a male persona US, 1995 drag mag noun a magazine targeted at transvestites US, 1972 dragon noun 1 the penis. Originally in the phrase 'water the dragon' (of a man, to urinate) UK, 1891. 2 heroin US, 1961. 3 an ugly or unpleasant woman. A variation of the conventional sense of 'an aggressive woman', often as 'old dragon' UK, 1992 dragon drawers noun brightly coloured men's underpants TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

dragonfly noun an A-37 aircraft, used in the Vietnam war largely as a close air-support fighter for ground forces US, 1985 dragon lady noun 1 an aggressive, ruthless, ambitious woman. Her traits make a man a leader; from a comic strip character who along with being ruthless etc. is from the Far East US, 1952. 2 an armoured cavalry assault vehicle US, 1991

Dragon Lady nickname Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu, sister-in-law of South Vietnamese President Diem. Madame Nhu, married to Diem's brother, established herself as Vietnam's unofficial First Lady. She supported the abolition of divorce, birth control and abortion, and closed a number of nightclubs US, 1991 dragon rock noun a mixture of crack cocaine and heroin. A combination of DRAGON (heroin) and ROCK (crack) UK, 2002 dragon ship noun any of several US helicopter gunships equipped with Gatling guns during the Vietnam war US, 1967

Dragon's Jaw nickname the Thanh Hoa railway and road bridge, spanning the Song Ma River three miles north of Thanh Hoa, the capital of Annam Province, North Vietnam US, 1974 drag queen noun a man, usually but not always homosexual, who frequently or invariably wears women's clothing. From DRAG (women's clothes when worn by men) and QUEEN (an effeminate homosexual man). The social conditions that prevailed when this term was coined allowed for less obvious and glamorous cross-dressing US, 1941 drags noun drag races, a series of quarter-mile events where the cars start at rest and achieve extremely high speeds US, 1963 drag show noun a performance by men dressed as women US, 1959 drag squad noun the unit providing rear-guard security behind a larger body of soldiers US, 1991 dragster noun a person who regularly asks for a puff on others' cigarettes US, 1963 dragula noun a transvestite who only appears at night. A compounding of DRAG (female clothing worn by men) and Dracula (a legendary creature of the night) UK, 2003 drag up verb 1 to dress in women's clothes UK, 2002. 2 to quit a job US, 1930 drag weed noun marijuana US, 1949

Drain noun ► the Drain the Waterloo and City underground railway UK, 1970 drain verb (used of a ball in pinball) to leave play at the bottom of the playing field US, 1977. ► drain the dragon (used of a male) to urinate AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► drain the main vein (used of a male) to urinate US, 1989. ► drain the radiator to urinate US, 1977. ► drain the train (used of a male) to have sex US, 1984. ► drain the vein to urinate US, 1968. ► drain the weasel (used of a male) to urinate US, 1990. ► drain your crankcase (used of a male) to urinate CANADA, 2002 draino! used by a golfer to celebrate a long putt falling into the hole US, 1997

drain pipe noun in poker, a conservative player who slowly but surely accumulates winnings, draining money from other players US, 1996 drama mama noun an elaborately effeminate male SINGAPORE, 2002 drama queen noun someone who creates an unnecessary or excessive fuss. Originally gay usage UK, 1990

drammer damner noun a harsh theatre critic US, 1952

drape noun 1 clothing; a man's suit US, 1938. 2 the sag of a suit favoured by zoot suiters and their fellow travellers US, 1954

drape verb to dress, to attire US, 1942. ► drape the shape to get dressed US, 1962 drape adjective said of a stylized, baggy men's suit favoured by zoot suiters US, 1967 draped adjective adorned with a lot of gold jewellery US, 1995 drapes noun bell-bottom pants US, 1970

drape shape noun a baggy, loose-fitting style of clothing popular in the 1940s US, 1955 drat! used as a mild expletive. From 'God rot!' UK, 1815 dratted adjective damned UK, 1845 draw noun 1 a winning bet with a bookmaker UK, 2000. 2 marijuana; a marijuana cigarette UK, 1987. 3 a cigarette AUSTRALIA, 1955. 4 in pool, backspin applied to the cue ball US, 1866

draw verb while injecting a drug, to pull blood into the syringe to verify that the needle has hit a blood vein US, 1971. ► draw dead in poker, to draw cards into a hand that cannot win US, 1990.

► draw the crabs 1 to attract the enemy's attention; to draw fire AUSTRALIA, 1918. 2 to attract unwanted attention AUSTRALIA, 1988.

► draw the crow to get the worst job or the worst share of something AUSTRALIA, 1942. ► draw water (of the sun) to exhibit long vertical lines in the sky. Said in Nova Scotia to be a sign of approaching rain, it occurs also in New England, where it is said to be a sign of clear weather CANADA, 1942 draw down on verb to draw out and point guns at US, 1974 draw drapes noun the foreskin of an uncircumcised penis US, 1979 drawers noun sex US, 1969 drawing room noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 drawings noun 1 information; gossip, news US, 1968. 2 plans for a course of action US, 1990 draw up verb to inject a drug intravenously. Derives from the initial act of drawing up blood into the syringe to mix with the narcotic before re-injection UK, 1998 dread noun 1 a Rastafarian. From the distinctive dreadlocks hairstyle worn by Rastafarians JAMAICA, 1976. 2 a black person. From the previous sense; prison usage UK, 1996 dread adjective 1 difficult, hard, impossible; used to ascribe negative qualities to any situation. West Indian and UK black UK, 1977. 2 frightening UK, 1996 dreaded adjective 1 of hair, in dreadlocks UK, 2003. 2 fashionable, popular, in style US, 1998 dreaded lurgi; the lurgi; the lergy; lerg noun any malaise or minor ailment. The 'dreaded' variation is a direct quotation from The Goon Show, which was originally broadcast on BBC radio in 1951. So much in the world of the Goons was 'dreaded'. The 'lurgi' found a currency among school-children where it was further applied to notional illnesses and any vaguely unpleasant or unclear disease that another could be accused of carrying UK, 1954 dreadfully adverb exceedingly. Often used to imply or intensify a pejorative sense UK, 1697 dreadlocks noun the long, bundled strands of hair worn by Rastafarians JAMAICA, 1960

dreads noun dreadlocks, a Rastafarian hairstyle in which the hair is not combed or brushed, forming matted clumps or 'locks' US, 1977 dream noun 1 an appealing, attractive member of whatever sex attracts you US, 1895. 2 opium US, 1929. 3 cocaine UK, 1998 dreamboat noun 1 a sexually attractive person US, 1944. 2 a well-maintained, large luxury car US, 1945 dream book noun a book that purports to interpret dreams, suggesting numbers to be played in an illegal lottery based on symbols in the dreams US, 1963 dream cube noun a sugar cube impregnated with LSD UK, 1983 dream dust noun any powdered drug US, 1957 dreamer noun 1 a motorist who thinks that he can outrun a police car. Police humour US, 1962. 2 morphine or a morphine addict US, 1992. 3 a blanket US, 1973 dreamers noun sheets for a bed US, 1945 dream gum noun opium; heroin US, 1934 dreamland noun sleep or an unconscious state US, 1908 dream number noun in an illegal number gambling lottery, a bet based on the bettor's dream, either directly or as interpreted by a dream book US, 1949 dreams noun heroin. From earlier, obsolete sense as 'opium' UK, 2003 dream sheet noun a list created by a soldier of the places where he would like to be shipped. Rarely realised US, 1971 dream stuff noun marijuana US, 1949 dream team noun any group made up from the best in the field US, 1942 dream ticket noun an 'ideal' pairing, especially of politicians for the purposes of election. Originally applied to Richard Nixon and Nelson Rockefeller as running mates for the 1960 US Presidential election. Adopted in the UK during the 1980s, reflecting a new, more American style of political presentation US, 1960 dream tobacco noun marijuana UK, 2003 dreamy adjective very attractive, beautiful, desirable US, 1941 dreck noun 1 excrement; worthless trash. From the Yiddish and German for 'dung' IRELAND, 1922. 2 heroin UK, 2002 drecky adjective rubbishy, trashy, shitty. From DRECK (excrement, trash) UK, 1979 dreece noun three units of anything US, 1950 drenched adjective drunk US, 1926 drepsley soup noun (among Canadian Mennonites) a broth soup with dumplings CANADA, 1998 dress down verb to dress up. Often intensified with 'for a motherfucker' US, 1984 dressed adjective armed US, 1973 dressed up like a preacher adjective overdressed, flashily dressed US, 1991 dresser noun a car or motorcycle with every possible accessory US, 1992 dress for sale noun a prostitute US, 1979 dress in verb to exchange the clothes worn upon arrival for prison-issued clothes US, 1976

dressroom lawyer noun an actor who is quick to recognise and address wrongs by theatre management UK, 1952 dress out verb to exchange prison clothing for street clothes upon release from prison US, 1976 dress-tail noun a woman as a sexual object TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 dress-up noun an unconvincing drag queen (a man dressed as a woman) UK, 2002

dressy casual adjective of style or fashion, informal yet smart and/or expensive US, 1999

drib noun an unskilled poker player US, 1967 dribble noun small, weak waves US, 1991 dribble verb 1 to cause a car to bounce up and down by use of hydraulic lifts. To 'dribble' a basketball is to bounce it, hence the transference here US, 1980. 2 to meander, to walk US, 1960 dribs and drabs noun public lice. Rhyming slang for CRABS UK, 1992 drift verb to leave US, 1853 drill verb 1 to have sex from a male perspective. From the imagery of a long hard tool opening a hole UK, 2000. 2 to inject (a drug) US, 1970. 3 to shoot (with a bullet); to kill by shooting UK, 1720. 4 to interrogate US, 1995. 5 to kick, throw or bowl a ball, directly and forcefully, to score a goal with a forceful kick AUSTRALIA, 1998. 6 in pool, to make a shot in an emphatic and convincing manner US, 1993. 7 to walk, to move US, 1953. ► drill for vegemite to have anal sex. From Vegemite™, a popular type of black and salty spread made from yeast extract AUSTRALIA, 1985 drill down verb to examine or investigate something in depth; to narrow the focus of an investigation and its results. A figurative sense of the conventional use UK, 2001 driller noun a poker player who bets very aggressively US, 1988 drink noun 1 a bribe UK, 1977. 2 a profit UK, 1997. 3 a large body of water, especially an ocean US, 1832. ► in the drink in pool, said of a cue ball that falls into a pocket US, 1990 drink verb ► drink eight cents to drink to excess TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► drink from the furry cup to perform oral sex on a woman. Probably coined by comedian Sacha Baron-Cohen (b.1970); his influence on late C20 UK slang is profound UK, 2001. ► drink porridge to serve a prison sentence. A figurative use of 'drink' combined with PORRIDGE (imprisonment) UK, 2000. ► drink the Kool-Aid to be persuaded, to follow blindly. From the 'Jonestown massacre', 1978, a mass murder and suicide administered through the agency of cyanide in branded soft drink Kool-Aid™ US, 1987. ► drink with the flies to drink alone when at a public hotel or bar AUSTRALIA, 1911. ► you would drink it through a shitey clout applied to anyone who appears to be so thirsty, or desperate, that no obstacle will hinder the taking of a drink. Glasgow slang formed on 'shitey' (faeces-covered) and Scottish dialect clout (a hoof) or, more likely, clout (a rag) UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 drinkee noun any alcoholic drink. A jocular mock pidgin US, 1969 drinker noun a public house; an after-hours drinking club (generally unlicensed) UK, 2001 drinkerama noun a party organised around the consumption of alcohol US, 1968

drinker's hour noun 3am US, 1984 drinking voucher; green drinking voucher noun a currency note, especially a £1 note. Jocular UK, 1982 drinky; drinkies noun a drinking session, a drinks party. From the nursery usage UK, 1983 drinkypoo; drinki-poo noun any alcoholic drink. Baby talk, thought to give alcohol an innocent demeanour US, 1983 drip noun a person lacking in social skills, fashion sense or both; a simpleton, a fool US, 1932. ► the drip the payment of money owed in instalment payments AUSTRALIA, 1989

drip verb to complain UK, 1987 drip and suck verb to intubate a hospital patient with intravenous and nasogastric tubes US, 1994 drip drop noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2000 drip dry; drip verb to cry. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 dripper noun 1 an old prostitute. One who is 'no longer controller of her emissions' UK, 1970. 2 an eye dropper, used in an improvised method of drug injection US, 1953 dripping adjective cowardly, ineffectual. An upper-class exaggeration of WET (ineffectual) from conventional 'dripping wet' (soaked) UK, 1982 dripping toast noun a host. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 drippy adjective mawkish, overly sentimental, insipid US, 1947 drippy dick noun an unspecified sexually transmitted disease US, 1990

drippy faucet noun the penis of a man with a sexually transmitted infection that produces a puss discharge US, 1981

dripsy noun gonorrhea US, 1981 drive verb 1 to walk US, 1956. 2 to lift weights US, 2000. 3 to borrow (a radio). From CAR (a radio) US, 2002. ► drive a desk to do office-work; to operate a sound-desk. Usually with a derogatory or a disappointed tone. After FLY A DESK UK, 1999. ► drive the bus to vomit US, 2001. ► drive the porcelain bus to kneel down and vomit into a toilet bowl. The image of the bowl's rim being held like a steering wheel UK, 1998. ► drive them home to snore. From C18 'drive pigs to market', and its later variant 'drive the pigs home' UK, 1997. ► drive wooden stake to irrevocably and permanently end (a project, a business, an idea) US, 1974 drive-by noun 1 a drive-by shooting, where shots are fired from a moving car US, 1992. 2 a silent, smelly fart US, 2001 drive-by verb to shoot someone, or into a crowd, from a moving car US, 1992 drive call noun in a telephone swindle, a high-pressure, follow-up call to the victim US, 1985 drive dark verb to drive without headlights at night US, 1992 driver noun 1 an amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1990. 2 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003. 3 a pilot UK, 1942. 4 in poker, a player whose aggressive betting is dominating the game US, 1996. 5 the leader of a prison clique. Back formation from CAR (a clique) US, 1989 drive-time noun the hours of the morning and afternoon weekday commute, prime time on radio US, 1982 drive-up noun a fresh arrival at prison US, 1990 driveway noun a scenic road, often in a city, landscaped and planted CANADA, 1958

drizzles noun diarrhoea US, 1943 drizzling shits noun dysentery US, 1980

dro noun marijuana grown hydroponically US, 2002

droge; droje noun ► see: DRAGE drogle noun a dress. Gay slang UK, 2002

droid noun a low-level employee who is blindly loyal to his employer US, 1980

drome noun in circus and carnival usage, a motordrome US, 1981 drone noun 1 a sluggard, a tedious person UK, 1529. 2 in hospital usage, a medical student US, 1994

drone cage noun a private railway carriage US, 1946 droned adjective simultaneously intoxicated on alcohol and marijuana. A blend of 'drunk' and 'stoned' US, 1997 droner noun a boring, spiritless person; an objectionable person US, 1943 drongo noun 1 a fool; a hopeless individual. Originally Royal Australian Air Force slang for 'a recruit'. Said in an early RAAF source to be named after the '(spangled) drongo' (a large clumsy flying bird), but drongos are not particularly large (smaller than a pigeon), and while they are somewhat aerobatic and erratic flyers they are certainly not clumsy. Otherwise it has been suggested that it is an allusion to a racehorse named Drongo which gained notoriety for never winning a race and was used as a character in satirical political cartoons in the Melbourne Herald in the 1920s, which may be true despite the gap of 20 years AUSTRALIA, 1941. 2 a new recruit to the Royal Australian Air Force AUSTRALIA, 1941 drongo adjective foolish AUSTRALIA, 1945

dronk adjective drunk. From Afrikaans SOUTH AFRICA, 1983

dronkie noun a drunkard. From Afrikaans dronk (drunk) SOUTH AFRICA, 1969 droob noun a hopeless individual. A connection with US 'droop' (an obnoxious person) is highly suspect as there is nothing to suggest that this uncommon Americanism was ever known in Australia AUSTRALIA, 1933 droog noun 1 a ruffian; a henchman. Derives from the sense as 'friend' in the novel and play A Clockwork Orange by Anthony Burgess (1917–93) and the subsequent film by Stanley Kubrick (1928–99); combined to some degree with DRONE (a tedious person) AUSTRALIA, 1967. 2 a good friend US, 1971 droogs noun drugs. An affected mispronunciation UK, 2001 drool noun nonsense; drivel. Punning on conventional 'drive!' and 'dribble' US, 1900 drooling the drool of regret into the pillow of remorse used as a humorous comment on a person who has not performed up to their expectation. Coined and popularised by ESPN's Keith Olberman US, 1997 droolin' with schoolin' adjective said of an overly diligent student. Teen slang, now thought to be obsolete US, 1944 drool value noun sexual attractiveness AUSTRALIA, 1996 droop noun a socially inept person US, 1932 droop-snoot nickname the supersonic airliner Concorde. After the fact that the plane's nose could be lowered. Borrowed from an earlier (1945) description of any aircraft with a downward-pointing nose UK, 1984 droopy adjective dispirited, dejected, sulky US, 1955 droopy-drawers noun 1 a person, especially a child, with trousers that are too large on a comic scale US, 1931. 2 a slovenly or incompetent person. Jocular UK, 1939 drooth; drouth noun a great thirst; a thirsty person; a drunk. From a dialect variation of 'drought' UK: SCOTLAND, 1911 drop noun 1 in espionage or a criminal enterprise, a place where goods, documents or money is left to be picked up later by a confederate US, 1922. 2 a place where stolen goods or other criminal material may be temporarily stored US, 1922. 3 a bribe UK, 1931. 4 in horse racing, a cash-handling error that favours the racetrack US, 1982. 5 the place where players who are invited to an illegal dice game are told where the game will be held US, 1964. 6 the ingestion of a drug US, 1975. 7 LSD. From the verb sense (to consume drugs), especially as 'drop acid' UK, 1998. 8 an attractive woman. Mimicking the language of wine connoisseurs AUSTRALIA, 1957. 9 the act of execution by hanging. Derives from: 'the new drop; a contrivance for executing felons at Newgate, by means of a platform, which drops from under them'. The condemned prisoner would then 'drop' to the end of a rope. Also recorded as 'the last drop' UK, 1958. 10 an orphan US, 1970. 11 in a casino, the amount of money taken in from betting customers US, 1935. ► get the drop on someone; have the drop on someone to get, or have, an advantage over someone. Originally, and still, 'to be quicker drawing a gun than your opponent' US, 1867 drop verb 1 to swallow, to ingest (a drug). A favourite word of the LSD culture, but popular for other drugs of abuse before and since; if used without a direct object, almost certainly referring to LSD US, 1961. 2 to kill, especially by shooting. In various uses and combinations 'drop' means 'to die' or 'to finish'. This variant is pro-active UK, 1726. 3 to bribe UK, 1956. 4 to release a music recording UK, 1991. 5 to lose (especially money). An example of C19 flash slang that has survived UK, 1676. 6 to cash a forged cheque UK, 1956. 7 to give money UK, 1974. 8 to break off a romantic relationship with someone AUSTRALIA, 1962. 9 to perform oral sex on a woman US, 1997. 10 to fart AUSTRALIA, 1987. 11 to knock down with a punch AUSTRALIA, 1954. 12 in pool, to hit (a ball) into a pocket US, 1993. 13 to cause a car to suddenly drop almost to the ground by use of hydraulic lifts US, 1980. 14 to include a tune in a sequence of recorded dance music UK, 2002. ► drop a banger to blunder; to make a mistake, especially one of some consequence. From BANGERS (the testicles); a variation of DROP A BOLLOCK UK, 1961. ► drop a bollock; drop a ballock to make a mistake, especially one of some consequence. Derives from DROP A BRICK (to make a mistake) combined with BOLLOCKS (the testicles) UK, 1942. ► drop a bomb; drop one 1 to fart UK, 1998. 2 to defecate US, 2001. ► drop a bombshell to reveal a great and shocking surprise UK, 2002. ► drop a brick to make a faux pas UK, 1923. ► drop a bundle to give birth NEW ZEALAND, 1948.

► drop a clanger to make a mistake, especially in a social context. A variation of DROP A BOLLOCK, based on CLANGERS (the testicles) UK, 1942. ► drop a deuce to defecate. From the children's toilet vocabulary: NUMBER TWO (defecation) US, 2003.

► drop a dime to make a telephone call, especially to the police to inform on someone. From the days when the price of a call from a pay phone was a dime US, 1966. ► drop a goolie to make a mistake. A figurative use of GOOLIES (the testicles); a direct equivalent to DROP A BOLLOCK UK, 1961. ► drop a jewel; drop jewels to create rap music or lyrics US, 1991. ► drop a lug to confront someone about their conduct; to insult US, 1973. ► drop a name to inform on a criminal or suspect US, 1990. ► drop a nickel to become involved in something US, 1953. ► drop a sprog to give birth. Combines 'drop' (to give birth, usually of an animal) with SPROG (a baby) UK, 1987. ► drop an oar in the water to make a mistake. From rhyming slang, OARS AND ROWLOCKS for BOLLOCKS; this is an elaboration and variation of DROP A BOLLOCK UK, 1998.

► drop beads to unintentionally disclose your homosexuality US, 1970. ► drop bottom to set the bass levels on a car stereo system at a high level US, 2003. ► drop foot to dance without restraint JAMAICA, 1996. ► drop off the twig to die AUSTRALIA, 1974. ► drop science to explain, to educate, to make sense US, 1992. ► drop some iron to spend money US, 1987. ► drop someone in it to get someone blamed and into trouble. Euphemistic DROP IN THE SHIT UK, 1991. ► drop the bucket on someone to expose someone's misdeeds; to get someone into trouble. The 'bucket' is a full sanitary bin, in other words, to 'put someone in the shit' AUSTRALIA, 1950. ► drop the hammer 1 at the start of a drag race, to release (engage) the clutch in a sudden and forceful move US, 1965. 2 to accelerate US, 1976. ► drop the hook to arrest US, 1953. ► drop the kids off to defecate US, 2003. ► drop the kids off at the pool to defecate UK, 2002. ► drop them of a woman, to readily remove her knickers as a practical necessity for sexual activity, and thus said to be symbolic of a woman's sexual availability UK, 1984. ► drop trou as a prank, to lower your trousers, bend over and expose your buttocks to the world US, 1966. ► drop your bundle to lose one's composure; to go to pieces AUSTRALIA, 1847. ► drop your candy to make a serious mistake US, 1908. ► drop your guts to fart AUSTRALIA, 1978. ► drop your handbag to fart. A variation on DROP YOUR GUTS. Royal Navy slang UK, 1989. ► drop your lunch to fart AUSTRALIA, 1985 drop-dead adverb extremely AUSTRALIA, 1997 drop dead! used as a contemptuous expression of dismissal; go away! UK, 1934 drop-down noun in horse racing, a horse that has been moved down a class or down in claiming price US, 1990 drop edge of yonder noun a near-death condition US, 1939 drop gun noun a gun that is not registered and not capable of being traced, and thus placed by the police in the vicinity of someone whom they have shot to justify the shooting US, 1987 drop-in noun 1 in computing, characters added as a result of a voltage irregularity or system malfunction US, 1991. 2 a temporary visitor AUSTRALIA, 1982 drop in verb in surfing, to start a ride on a wave already occupied by another surfer or other surfers AUSTRALIA, 1985 drop it! stop!, especially as an injunction to stop talking or fooling UK, 1847 drop-kick noun 1 the vagina. Formed as an extension of rhyming slang, 'punt' for CUNT AUSTRALIA, 1983. 2 by extension from the previous sense, a fool, especially an annoying or contemptible fool AUSTRALIA, 1986. 3 by extension, something that is frustrating or annoying AUSTRALIA, 1992 droplifting noun an act of secretly placing your own CDs in the display racks of a music retailer UK, 2003 drop off verb to go to sleep UK, 1820 drop-out noun a person who has withdrawn from formal education or mainstream society. Usage is conventional but the company that the word keeps gives it the aura of unconventionality UK, 1930 drop out verb to withdraw from school, college, university or mainstream society US, 1952 dropper noun 1 a gambler who can be counted on to lose a lot of money US, 1963. 2 a criminal who cashes a forged cheque UK, 1956. 3 a paid killer US, 1962

dropper verb to inject a drug intravenously UK, 1998 dropping noun the criminal act of passing forged cheques UK, 1956 dropping! in foot-propelled scootering, a warning shout used when a jump has gone wrong UK, 2000 drop-short noun an artillery soldier AUSTRALIA, 1954 dropstick noun pickpocketing. West Indian slang UK, 1977 dropsy noun a cash bribe, or other money the taxman doesn't know about. The money is 'dropped' in the pocket or hand UK, 1930 drop-the-hanky noun a pickpocketing scheme in which the victim is distracted when an attractive woman member of the pickpocketing team drops a handkerchief or other small object which the victim stoops to recover US, 1954 drop-top noun a car with a convertible roof US, 1973 drop your cocks and pull up your socks! used for awakening a sleeping man or men. A variation of HANDS OFF COCKS – FEET IN SOCKS! Originally used by drill instructors to military recruits US, 1962 drove adjective very angry US, 1992

Drover's Guide noun an imaginary publication that is cited as a source of rumours AUSTRALIA, 1959 drown verb 1 in oil drilling, to contaminate a well with flooding salt water US, 1954. 2 to lose heavily gambling US, 1974 drowning noun the criminal act of gaining entry to a property with the intent to commit theft by claiming to work for a water supplier UK, 1998 drown-proofing noun in navy training, an exercise involving extended periods of treading water, especially while restrained to some degree US, 1987 drowsy high noun a central nervous system depressant. From the effects of intoxication UK, 1998 druck steaming adjective drunk. What a druck is or why it should be steamed is a mystery that defeats sober logic UK, 2002

'druff noun dandruff UK, 1996 drug; drug; drugged adjective displeased, annoyed US, 1946 drug-fuck noun a drug-addict, a junkie UK, 2002 drug-fucked adjective incapacitated from taking drugs AUSTRALIA, 1991 drugged adjective patently stupid US, 1991 druggie; druggy noun a drug user, abuser or addict US, 1966 druggo noun a drug user or addict AUSTRALIA, 1989

drughead noun a drug addict; a serious abuser of narcotics US, 1968 drug monkey noun a heavy user of drugs UK, 2003 drugola noun 1 a bribe in the form of drugs given to encourage play of a particular record on the radio US, 1973. 2 bribes paid to police by drug dealers US, 1997 drugstore cowboy noun a young man who loiters in or around a drugstore for the purpose of meeting women US, 1923 drugstore dice noun inexpensive shop-bought dice, not milled to casino-level tolerances US, 1962 drugstore handicap noun in horse racing, a race in which drugs have been given to enhance performance US, 1948 drugstore race noun in horse racing, a race in which a number of the horses involved have been drugged for enhanced or diminished performance US, 1960 drug up adjective dragged up (poorly brought up). Deliberately illiterate to mimic its context UK, 1984 druid noun 1 the promoter of a drag racing event US, 1965. 2 a priest IRELAND, 1958 druid dust noun a narcotic herb that, when smoked as a marijuana substitute, produces a gentle euphoria. Druidism is an ancient religion associated with Wales and Stonehenge in the county of Wiltshire; the latter especially is particularly popular with people who are probably marijuana smokers UK, 1999

druk verb to stab SOUTH AFRICA, 1972 drum noun 1 a place of business or residence, a house, a home, a flat, etc UK, 1846. 2 by extension from the previous sense, a brothel AUSTRALIA, 1879. 3 by extension, a cell UK, 1909. 4 a safe US, 1912. 5 reliable information; inside information AUSTRALIA, 1915. 6 in horse racing, reliable inside information AUSTRALIA, 1989. 7 the face. Rhyming slang, from 'drum 'n' bass' (an electronic music genre) UK, 2001. ► run a drum (of a racehorse) to run a winning race, as tipped or expected. Used in negative contexts AUSTRALIA, 1933 drum verb 1 to steal from unoccupied premises. Probably from an earlier sense (not recorded until 1933) 'to reconnoitre for the purposes of theft by knocking – drumming – on the door of a targeted premises' UK, 1925. 2 to inform someone about something AUSTRALIA, 1919. 3 to drive a vehicle at speed UK, 1981 drum and fife; drummond noun 1 a wife. Rhyming slang UK, 2003. 2 a knife. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 drummed out of the Gestapo for cruelty adjective unduly authoritarian, especially when applied to a senior police officer UK, 1999 drummer noun 1 a housebreaker, especially one who steals from unoccupied premises; a confidence trickster who poses as a door-to-door salesman or similar UK, 1856. 2 a poker player who plays only with good hands or good odds favouring his hand. A play on the operative adjective of TIGHT used to describe such a player US, 1988. 3 a railway yard conductor US, 1946 drummie noun a drum-majorette SOUTH AFRICA, 1972 drumming noun daylight-theft from empty premises. From DRUM (to steal from empty premises) UK, 1956 drumstick noun a leg, especially a shapely female leg UK, 1770

d-runk adjective drunk US, 2001 drunkalog noun in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, a long story recounted at a programme meeting, dwelling on the addiction and its manifestations rather than recovery US, 1998 drunkard noun a passenger train running late on a Saturday night US, 1977 drunk as a cunt adjective very drunk. Presumed to date from a late C19 variation of the traditional folk song 'Seven Drunken Nights': 'Oh, you're drunk, you're drunk, you stupid old cunt / You're drunk as a cunt can be' UK, 1984 drunk as a lord adjective being in a state of drunkenness. One of the more notable similes for 'drunk' UK, 1796 drunk as a skunk adjective very drunk. Derives not from the characteristics of a skunk but, most likely, simply from the rhyme; or possibly as a slurring of DRUNK AS A CUNT. Widely known UK, 2002 drunk as a thousand dollars adjective very drunk CANADA, 1989 drunk as Chloe adjective very drunk. The identity of the apparently besozzled Chloe is a mystery AUSTRALIA, 1892 drunk as Cooter Brown adjective very drunk US, 1953 drunkathon noun a session of excessive drinking UK, 2003 drunk bumps noun small bumps delineating lanes on motorways and roads. So named because of their role in alerting drunk drivers that they are straying out of their lane US, 1992 drunken adjective (used of a wink in tiddlywinks) behaving unpredictably US, 1977 drunken forest noun in the permafrost area of northern Canada, trees tilted in many directions by natural forces and not held by their shallow root systems CANADA, 1957

drunkie noun an alcoholic UK, 1861 drunkometer noun any device used to measure a motorist's blood alcohol content US, 1962 drunk tank noun a jail cell where drunk prisoners are detained US, 1947 drunk wagon noun a police van used for rounding up public drunks US, 1970 druthers noun a preference US, 1870 dry noun 1 an instance of an actor forgetting the lines UK, 1945. 2 a politician who espouses economic caution, especially a Conservative under the leadership of Margaret Thatcher. Coined as an antonym for WET (a middle-of-the-road politician) UK, 1983. ► on the dry in a state of refraining from drinking any alcohol US, 1957. ► the Dry the dry season in Australia's tropical north AUSTRALIA, 1908 dry verb of an actor, to forget your lines during a performance UK, 1934

dry adjective 1 of a heavy drinker or alcoholic, doing without alcohol, not drinking, nor under the influence of alcohol UK, 2002. 2 without money US, 1942

dry adverb in a simulated manner US, 1975 dry as a dead dingo's donger adjective extremely dry, extremely thirsty, parched. That is, as dry 'as the penis of a dead dingo' (a native dog living in arid regions) AUSTRALIA, 1971 dry as a kookburra's kyber adjective extremely dry, parched AUSTRALIA, 1971 dry as a Pommy's towel adjective extremely dry, extremely thirsty, parched. From the notion that English people do not wash, a stereotype long held in Australia AUSTRALIA, 1987

dry as a whore's cunt on Sunday morning adjective extremely dry, especially of exploratory oil drillings US, 1985 dry balls noun an ache in the testicles from sexual activity not resulting in ejaculation BAHAMAS, 1982 dry bath noun in prison, a strip search UK, 1933 dry clean verb to wash your body with just a face cloth TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

dry clean Methodist noun a Christian belonging to a church that does not practise full-immersion baptism US, 1970 dry drunk noun a person who behaves like an alcoholic even though they are abstaining from drinking. A term used in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous US, 1998

dry Dutch courage noun drugs US, 1987 dry-eye adjective concealing any emotional reaction BAHAMAS, 1982 dry-fire; dry-snap verb to practise shooting a pistol without live ammunition US, 1957 dryfoot noun in a Nova Scotia fishing village, a person who never goes fishing CANADA, 1985 dry fuck noun sex simulated while clothed US, 1938 dry-fuck verb 1 to stimulate or pantomime sexual intercourse while clothed US, 1935. 2 to penetrate a vagina or rectum without benefit of lubricant US, 1979 dry goods noun clothing US, 1851

drygulch verb to ambush US, 1930 drygulcher noun an outlaw who would hide in small canyons and ambush travellers US, 1930 dryhanded adjective inordinately proud, snobbish US, 1947 dry heaves noun non-productive vomiting or retching US, 1991 dry high noun marijuana US, 1977

dry hole noun a military operation based on poor intelligence and producing no results US, 1990

dry hoot noun a marijuana cigarette rolled tight and not lit but sniffed CANADA, 2002 dry-hump verb to simulate sexual intercourse while clothed US, 1964 dry lay noun sexual intercourse simulated through clothing US, 1951 dry out verb 1 to undergo a course of treatment designed to break dependence on alcohol US, 1908. 2 to detoxify from heroin addiction US, 1966 dry root noun 1 an act of simulated sexual intercourse while clothed AUSTRALIA, 1979. 2 sex without the benefit of lubrication NEW ZEALAND, 1998

dry-root verb to simulate sexual intercourse while clothed AUSTRALIA, 2000 dry rub noun body contact, implicitly sexual US, 1950

dry run noun 1 a trip to court in which nothing happens US, 1997. 2 a false alarm US, 1959 dry shite noun a boring individual IRELAND, 1995

dry snitch noun a person who unintentionally or indirectly but intentionally betrays or informs on another US, 1989

dry-snitch verb to betray or inform on someone either unintentionally or indirectly but intentionally US, 1967 dry up noun to inject a drug intravenously. Probably a variation of DRAW UP UK, 2003 dry up verb to stop talking. Often used as an imperative US, 1853 dry water noun in Nova Scotia, an area formerly covered by water but silted in CANADA, 1999

D/s noun in Sado-masochistic sex, domination and submission US, 1995

D's noun Dayton tire rims US, 1997

DT noun 1 a police officer on a street crime beat US, 1985. 2 heroin UK, 2003

DTK adjective handsome, dressed sharply. An abbreviation of 'down to kill', 'down' meaning 'ready' and 'kill' in the figurative sense US, 1967

d to d adjective door to door UK, 1985

D town nickname 1 Dallas, Texas US, 1998. 2 Denver, Colorado US, 1986

DTR noun a conversation in which two people define their relationship US, 2002

DTs noun 1 delirium tremens, the withdrawal symptoms of an alcohol or drug addiction US, 1857. 2 a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks. Standing for DICK TOGS AUSTRALIA, 2003 du noun used as a term of address in male-to-male greetings. An abbreviation of the already short DUDE US, 2000 dual noun a person who is willing to play either the sadist or masochist role in a sadomasochism encounter US, 1979 dual sack time noun time spent sleeping with someone US, 1946

Duane Eddys noun cash money. Rhyming slang for READIES, formed from the name of US guitarist Duane Eddy (b.1938) UK, 2004

dub noun 1 the last part of a marijuana cigarette that is possible to smoke US, 1989. 2 a cigarette, especially when used to extend a marijuana cigarette US, 1975. 3 a car wheel rim. Usually in the plural US, 2002. 4 the Western Hockey League in Canada CANADA, 1991. 5 a twenty-dollar note. An abbreviation of DOUBLE SAWBUCK US, 1981. 6 an incompetent and inferior person US, 1887

Dub nickname someone from Dublin IRELAND, 1996

dub verb 1 to have sex with US, 1997. 2 to close, to lock up. Prison use, from the obsolete sense (a key) UK, 1753. 3 to criticise, or otherwise dismiss, in speech. Teen slang UK, 2003 dubber noun a cigarette US, 1975

dubbies noun the female breasts US, 1966 dubbo noun a fool. From the country town Dubbo, seen as a place of country bumpkins AUSTRALIA, 1973

dub-dub-dub noun the World Wide Web (www). A spoken shortening UK, 2003 dub dub dub verb to contact or use the internet. By ellipsis of each initial in the conventional abbreviation for World Wide Web UK, 2005 dubes noun a central nervous system stimulant UK, 1983

dubich noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1997

Dublin noun any neighbourhood populated by large numbers of Irish immigrants US, 1963

dubs noun twenty dollars; something sold for twenty dollars US, 2001

Dubya nickname George W. Bush, 43rd President of the US. A deliberately Texan pronunciation of 'W', necessarily included in his name during the presidential campaign of 1999 and 2000 to differentiate him from his father George Bush, 41st President of the US US, 1999 ducat noun in prison, a written order given to a prisoner for an appointment US, 1926

ducats noun money US, 1866 duchess noun 1 a wife. An affectionate title, adopted from 'the wife of a duke' (the highest hereditary rank of nobility), originally given to costermongers' wives, perhaps in relation to the coster-royalty of Pearly Kings and Queens. May be a shortened form of DUCHESS OF FIFE, or extended from DUTCH (a spouse) UK, 1895. 2 a girlfriend US, 1945. 3 a female member of a youth gang US, 1993. 4 a comfortably-off or grandly well-appointed homosexual man UK, 2002

duchess verb to treat as a VIP AUSTRALIA, 1956

Duchess of Fife noun a wife. Rhyming slang; often suggested as the origin of DUTCH (a wife) and/or DUCHESS UK, 1961

Duchess of Teck; duchess noun a cheque. Rhyming slang, formed from the title of Her Serene Highness Princess Victoria Mary ('Princess May') of Teck (1867–1953), queen consort of George V, or from her mother, Princess Mary Adelaide, who was entitled Duchess of Teck from 1871. The husband, DUKE OF TECK, serves the same purpose in slang UK, 1960

Duchess of York noun pork. Rhyming slang, not recorded until after Sarah ('Fergie') Ferguson (b.1959) became Duchess of York in 1986 UK, 1992 duck noun 1 in cricket, a score of zero/nought. A shortening of the original term 'duck's egg' which derived from the shape of 0 written in the scorebook UK, 1868. 2 an unrelentingly gullible and trusting person; an odd person. Prison usage US, 1848. 3 in pool, a shot that cannot be missed or a game that cannot be lost US, 1990. 4 an attractive target for a robbery US, 1965. 5 a stolen car discovered by police through serendipitous checking of number plates. An abbreviation of SITTING DUCK US, 1970. 6 a portable urinal for male hospital patients US, 1980. 7 a prison sentence of two years. Probably from the shape of 2 US, 1990. 8 in a deck of playing cards, a two US, 1988. 9 a surfer who lingers in the water, rarely catching a wave US, 1991. 10 an admission ticket for a paid event. An abbreviation of DUCAT US, 1945. 11 a firefighter. New York police slang US, 1997. 12 inexpensive wine. An abbreviation and then generic use of Cold Duck, a sparkling red wine that was extremely popular in the 1960s and 70s US, 1972. 13 used as a term of address, usually an endearment. Also used in the plural since 1936 UK, 1590 duck verb 1 to avoid US, 1864. 2 in pool, to miss a shot or lose a game intentionally to mislead an opponent as to your true ability US, 1993. ► duck a date in circus and carnival usage, to fail to perform as scheduled US, 1981. ► duck and dive to avoid or evade, especially with regard to legality or responsibility; to dodge work, to shirk; hence, to avoid regular employment but make a living nevertheless. Rhyming slang for SKIVE (to avoid or evade) UK, 1960. ► duck arse when smoking, to wet the cigarette end with saliva. Probably a back-formation from DUCK'S ARSE, changing 'duck' from 'a bird' to a verb UK, 1968

duckbill noun an experimental 12-gauge shotgun tested by US Navy SEALs in Vietnam US, 1991

duck bucket noun in poker, a poor hand that wins a pot, especially a pair of twos US, 1996

duck butt noun 1 a short person US, 1939. 2 a hair-style popular in the early 1950s, in which the hair was tapered and curled on the nape of the neck like the feathers of a duck's tail US, 1955 duck butter noun smegma or other secretions that collect on and around the genitals US, 1933 duck day noun the day when a member of the US armed forces is honourably discharged. An allusion to the US armed forces insignia designating honourable discharge known as the RUPTURED DUCK US, 1946 duck-dive verb in surfing, to push the nose of the surfboard down under a breaking wave US, 1988 duck egg noun a fool. Possibly from the cricketing term which derives from DUCK (zero) UK, 2003 duck factory noun an area of marsh where ducks nest CANADA, 1964 duck-fucker noun a lazy person US, 1986 duckhouse noun ► one up against your duckhouse something to your detriment; one against you AUSTRALIA, 1933 duck out; duck out of verb to avoid responsibility; to fail to attend a meeting. An elaboration of DUCK (to avoid) UK, 1984 duck plucker noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1976

duck rest noun a poor night's sleep BARBADOS, 1965

ducks noun money. An abbreviation of DUCATS US, 1997

ducks and drakes noun delirium tremens. Rhyming slang for SHAKES AUSTRALIA, 1967

ducks and geese noun the police AUSTRALIA, 1966 duck's arse; duck's ass noun 1 a hairstyle popular in the early 1950s, especially among Teddy Boys; the hair was tapered and curled on the nape of the neck like the feathers of a duck's tail. Also widely known by the initials DA, and occasionally by the euphemistic 'duck's anatomy' UK, 1955. 2 a cigarette end that is over-moistened with a smoker's saliva UK, 1993. 3 an informant. Rhyming slang for GRASS (an informant), probably formed during the 1950s when the 'duck's arse' hairstyle was in fashion UK, 1950s. ► tighter than a duck's arse very drunk or drug-intoxicated. An oddly mixed metaphor UK, 2002 duck's disease; ducks' disease; duck-disease noun shortness of stature, especially applied to short legs. A humorous reference to an anatomical characteristic of ducks UK, 1925 duck's guts noun 1 trouble BARBADOS, 1965. 2 something superlative AUSTRALIA, 1979

duck shoving noun the passing of a problem on to another NEW ZEALAND, 1984

duck's nest noun in oil drilling, a brick-lined hole under a boiler that enhances combustion US, 1954 duck soup noun an easy task; a cinch US, 1902 duck suit noun a brown and tan camouflage suit, not dissimilar to the suit worn by a duck hunter, issued to US special forces in Vietnam. The colours were not particularly suited for Vietnam and the suits were largely rejected by the troops US, 1953 duck tail noun 1 a hair-style popular in the early 1950s in which a boy's hair was tapered and curled on the nape of the neck like the feathers of a duck's tail US, 1943. 2 an unruly South African youth SOUTH AFRICA, 1959

Ducky nickname Le Duc Tho (1911–1990), North Vietnamese politician, who declined the 1973 Nobel Peace Prize which he won jointly with Dr Henry Kissinger of the US US, 1991

ducky adjective attractive, good US, 1901 ducky; duckie noun used as a term of address. Originally in general use, especially by women; from mid-C20, usage by men is often affected, implying homosexuality UK, 1819 duct noun cocaine. An abbreviation of C-DUCT US, 1986 dud noun a worthless or unsuccessful person or thing, a failure. Originally, 'an unexploded bomb or shell' UK, 1915 dud verb to fool or deceive; to swindle AUSTRALIA, 1970

dud adjective worthless, useless, unsatisfactory UK, 1903 dud bash noun an unsatisfying sexual partner AUSTRALIA, 1967

dudder noun a swindler; a con artist AUSTRALIA, 1988

dude noun 1 a regular fellow. In the US, the term had this vague sense in the hippie culture, and then a much more specific sense in the 1970s and 80s US, 1883. 2 used as a term of address, young male to young male US, 1945. 3 a railway conductor US, 1946

Dude nickname Lenny Dykstra (b. 1963), a hard-playing and hard-living center fielder and leadoff hitter in baseball (1985–1996) US, 1989

dude adjective well-dressed BAHAMAS, 1982

dude up verb to dress up US, 1899

Dudley noun a beginner gambler US, 2003

Dudley Do-Right; Dudley Dogooder noun the epitome of a sincere, moral, upstanding citizen, despised by those who live on the fringes of the law. From a cartoon feature Dudley Do-Right of the Mounties first aired in 1961 as a segment on the Rocky and Friends Show US, 1990

Dudley Moore; dudley noun a sore, hence any kind of uncomfortable skin condition. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a British actor, comedian and jazz-musician, 1935–2002 UK, 1992 dudly; dudley adjective (used of a boy) extremely boring. Valley girl slang US, 1982 dud root noun an unsatisfying sexual partner AUSTRALIA, 1985 duds noun 1 clothing UK, 1307. 2 fake drugs. From DUD (a worthless thing) UK, 1996 due noun the residue left in a pipe after smoking crack cocaine US, 1989 due adjective of a professional criminal, considered likely to be arrested whether or not actually responsible for the crime in question UK, 1996 due-back noun something that is borrowed, such as a cigarette, with an expectation of a ultimate return of the favour US, 1951

Duesie noun a Duesenberg car US, 1965 duff noun the buttocks, the rump. Although first recorded in the UK, modern usage began in the US in 1939 UK, 1840. ► up the duff pregnant. Perhaps from 'duff' (pudding) AUSTRALIA, 1941 duff verb to escape US, 1963 duff adjective no good, inferior, useless UK, 1953 duffel drag noun the final morning of a soldier's service in Vietnam US, 1991 duffer noun 1 a doltish old man. In recent times, the term has come to take on an emphasis on age UK, 1730. 2 an incompetent, a person of no ability. Possibly from Scots doofart (a stupid person) UK, c.1730

Duff's Ditch noun the Red River floodway, built 1962–68 when Duff Roblin was Premier CANADA, 1987

duff up verb to beat up, to assault someone UK, 1961 duffy noun 1 a spasm feigned by a drug addict in the hope of eliciting sympathy from a physician US, 1973. 2 a doltish old man. A variation of DUFFER UK, 2002 duffy; duffie verb to leave quickly. A simpler version of TAKE IT ON THE ARTHUR DUFFY US, 1945 duggy adjective dressed in style US, 1993

dugongs the female breasts UK, 1985

Dugout Doug nickname General Douglas MacArthur (1880–1964) of the US Army US, 1982

duh noun an offensive, despicable person; a clumsy person; a socially awkward person. From the expression of disgust at someone's stupidity SOUTH AFRICA, 1976 duh! used for expressing disgust at the stupidity of what has just been said. A single syllable with a great deal of attitude US, 1963 duh-brain noun a stupid person. Extended from duh UK, 2006 duji; doogie; doojie noun heroin US, 1960 duke noun 1 a regular fellow; a tough guy US, 1939. 2 poor quality tobacco issued by the State of California to prisoners. Named after former California Governor Deukmejian (1983–91) US, 1989. 3 in card games, a hand (of cards) US, 1967

Duke noun 1 a Ducati motorcycle UK, 1979. 2 a socially inept person US, 1983

Duke nickname 1 Edwin Donald Snider (b.1926). Snider played center field for the Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodgers baseball teams of the 1950s and was the most powerful hitter in the Dodgers' line-up. He was more formally known as the 'Duke of Flatbush' US, 1969. 2 the film actor John Wayne, 1907–79 US, 2001 duke verb 1 to fight with fists US, 1935. 2 to give US, 1973. 3 to allow US, 2001. 4 to fool; to deceive US, 1975. 5 to have sex US, 1993. 6 to short-change someone by palming a coin given as part of the change US, 1981

duke breath noun bad breath US, 1993

duked out adjective dressed up US, 1938

Duke of Argyle noun a file (a tool). Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Duke of Argyles; the duke noun haemorrhoids. Rhyming slang for 'piles' UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

Duke of Kent noun rent. Rhyming slang, no earlier than C20 UK, 1932

Duke of Kent adjective bent (in all senses). Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Duke of Montrose noun the nose. Glasgow rhyming slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

Duke of Teck; duke noun a cheque. Rhyming slang UK, 1960

Duke of York noun 1 a cork. Rhyming slang UK, 1931. 2 talk. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 3 a fork. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 duke on verb to give US, 1967

duker noun a person inclined to fight US, 1979 dukes noun 1 the hands; fists. The singular is 'duke', or variant 'dook', which is probably rhyming slang, formed on DUKE OF YORK for 'forks' (the fingers) US, 1859. 2 cut-off blue jean shorts. An abbreviation of DAISY DUKES US, 1996 duke shot noun any method by which a carnival game operator allows a customer to win a rigged game US, 1985 duke's mixture noun 1 a person of mixed race US, 1961. 2 a random conglomeration US, 1914 dukey noun 1 a brown paper lunch bag. Chicago slang US, 1986. 2 in the circus, a lunch prepared for circus workers on long train journeys between towns US, 1980. 3 in circus and carnival usage, a meal ticket or book of meal tickets US, 1981 ► see: DOOKIE dukey rope noun a gold chain necklace US, 1989 dukey run noun in the circus, a long train ride between shows US, 1980 duky noun an operator of a DUKW barge ANTARCTICA, 1966 dull and dowdy adjective cloudy. Rhyming slang, that can refer to poorly conditioned beer as well as the weather UK, 1992 dull as arse adjective very boring, extremely dull UK, 2002 dullsville noun the epitome of a boring existence US, 1960

Dullsville, Ohio noun anywhere other than Las Vegas US, 1985 dumb as a mud fence adjective very stupid US, 2004 dumb ass noun 1 a stupid person US, 1958. 2 stupidity US, 1972. ► eat up with the dumb ass very stupid US, 1984 dumb-ass; dumb-assed adjective stupid, foolish. From the noun sense US, 1957 dumb as two short planks adjective used to describe someone who is very stupid CANADA, 1989

dumbbell noun a stupid person US, 1918 dumb blonde noun a stereotypical (perhaps mythical) blonde-haired, sexually attractive woman who is not especially intelligent US, 1936 dumb bomb noun a bomb that must be dropped accurately. Back formation from 'smart bomb' US, 1991 dumbbutt noun a dolt US, 1973 dumb cake noun in Newfoundland, a cake baked and eaten by unmarried women in silence CANADA, 1998 dumb cluck noun a fool AUSTRALIA, 1948 dumb crooker noun a social misfit US, 1963

Dumb Dora noun an empty-headed woman US, 1922 dumb down verb to simplify the content of something so that it can be understood by the general uneducated public US, 1933 dumb dust noun cocaine or heroin US, 1986 dumbfuck; dumb-fuck noun a despicable, stupid person US, 1950 dumbjohn noun a person of no importance, especially a military cadet US, 1951 dumbo noun a dolt, a fool US, 1932

Dumbo noun during the war in Vietnam, a C-123 US Air Force provider US, 1989

dumbshit noun an imbecile US, 1967 dumbshit adjective stupid US, 1967 dumb sock noun a dolt US, 1932 dumbwad noun an imbecile US, 1978 dum-dum noun 1 a soft-core bullet that expands upon impact UK, 1897. 2 a simoleon US, 1937. 3 Demerol™, a central nervous system depressant US, 1984 dummies noun 1 in horse racing, spurs approved for racing AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 imitation drugs US, 1995 dummkopf noun a dolt; a fool. German for 'dumb-head' US, 1809 dummy noun 1 a fool; a mentally retarded person UK, 1796. 2 a mute US, 1962. 3 a representative of a corrupt police officer in insurance fraud UK, 1956. 4 a feigned injury or illness US, 1992. 5 a substance other than narcotics sold as narcotics US, 1992. 6 a solitary confinement cell in prison NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 7 a train that transports railway workers US, 1946. 8 a wallet. From an earlier use as 'a pocket-book' UK, 1958. 9 the penis US, 1950. ► beat your dummy (used of a male) to masturbate US, 1977. ► on the dummy quiet US, 1971 dummy verb to pack marijuana into a rolled cigarette butt US, 1965 dummy-chucker noun a swindler who pretends to be the victim of accidents US, 1963 dummy dust noun 1 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1977. 2 cocaine US, 1992 dummy flogger noun a masturbator US, 1985 dummy oil noun Demerol™, a branded central nervous system depressant US, 1988 dummy stick noun a bamboo stick used to carry baskets on each end, carried across the shoulders US, 1965 dummy up verb to stop talking; to be quiet US, 1928 dump noun 1 the buttocks US, 1973. 2 an act of defecation US, 1942. 3 an unpleasant place or location US, 1899. 4 in a smuggling operation, the place where the goods to be smuggled are assembled US, 1956. 5 a ticket returned unsold to a theatre by a ticket agency US, 1981. 6 a large, unprocessed amount of information US, 1991. 7 a hospital patient who is transferred from one hospital or nursing home to another US, 1983. 8 a mortuary. Gallows humour from the Vietnam war US, 1991. 9 a fall from a surfboard, usually caused by a wave's impact US, 1964. ► take a dump 1 to defecate US, 1942. 2 to lose a game intentionally, especially for the purpose of taking advantage of spectator betting US, 1955 dump verb 1 to beat; to kill US, 1960. 2 to assault US, 1951. 3 to break off a romantic relationship with someone AUSTRALIA, 1967. 4 to derive sexual pleasure from sadistic acts US, 1957. 5 in bowling, to release the ball with the fingers and thumb at the same time US, 1969. 6 to fall from a surfboard; to be battered by a wave while bodysurfing AUSTRALIA, 1967. 7 in motorcycling, to fall to the ground with the motorcycle US, 1973. 8 in hot rodding and drag racing, to damage a component partially or completely US, 1965. 9 to lose a game intentionally, especially for the purpose of taking advantage of spectator betting US, 1951. 10 in horse racing, to bet a large amount on a horse just before a race US, 1951. 11 to lose a large sum of money gambling in a short period US, 1980. 12 to vomit after injecting heroin or a synthetic opiate US, 1968. 13 to complete an illegal drug sale by delivering the drug US, 1995. ► dump it out to defecate US, 1990. ► dump the clutch in drag racing, to engage the clutch in a quick and forceful manner US, 1970. ► dump your load to ejaculate NEW ZEALAND, 1998

dumper noun 1 a toilet UK, 2003. 2 an athlete who dumps a game, intentionally losing US, 1951. 3 a person who takes sexual pleasure from sadistic acts US, 1957. 4 an uninspiring, boring experience UK, 1983. 5 a large and dangerous wave that breaks suddenly AUSTRALIA, 1920 dumpy; dumpy noun the smallest size (340ml) bottle of beer. From the squat shape SOUTH AFRICA, 1966 dumping noun a beating in the context of sadistic sex US, 1957 dumping table noun a blackjack table in a casino where players have been consistently winning US, 1991 dumping noun a fool, a dunce UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

dump off verb (used of a casino dealer) to overpay a bet made by a confederate US, 1985 dump out verb (of a casino employee) to lose intentionally as part of a scheme with a gambler or gamblers US, 1977 dumps noun the female breasts US, 2001. ► down in the dumps depressed, melancholy UK, 1714. ► the dumps melancholy. Often in phrases 'in the dumps' and 'down in the dumps' UK, 1714 dump stroke noun in pool, the minuscule adjustment to a shot that a player makes when intentionally missing a shot US, 1990 dump truck noun 1 a court-appointed public defender US, 1984. 2 a car filled with lesbians US, 1970. 3 a prisoner who does not hold up his end of a shared task or relationship US, 1989 dummy noun a latrine AUSTRALIA, 1945 dummy adjective (used of waves) weak, erratic US, 1988 dun noun a male friend US, 2002 duncey adjective stupid TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1962 duncy; duncey adjective foolish, stupid BARBADOS, 1965 dundus noun an albino. West Indian and UK black patois UK, 1994 dune coon noun an Arab. Very offensive US, 1984 duner noun a person who enjoys driving dune buggies in the desert US, 1974 dungarees noun battle fatigues. Marine Corps usage in World War 2 and Korea US, 1979 dung beetle noun used by bookmakers for describing a person who thrives on blather or bullshit AUSTRALIA, 1989 dunge noun a dent IRELAND, 1997 dungeon noun a nightclub catering to sado-masochistic fetishists US, 1996 dunger; dunga noun the penis NEW ZEALAND, 1998 dungout noun an utter failure NEW ZEALAND, 1995 dungpuncher noun the male playing the active role in anal sex AUSTRALIA, 1985 dung-scuffer noun a cowboy. A euphemism for SHITKICKER US, 1974 dunk verb to humiliate in any context US, 1999

dunka noun a large posterior US, 2002

Dunkirk noun work. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 dunky; dunkey noun a condom UK, 1997

Dunlop tyre; dunlop noun a liar. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 dunnies noun a toilet block AUSTRALIA, 1933 dunnit? doesn't it? A phonetic slurring UK, 1984 dunno; dunna; dunnow don't know; I don't know. A phonetic slurring UK, 1842 dunny noun 1 a toilet. A shortening of dunniken, from British dialect and cant. Thought to be a compound of 'danna' (excrement) and 'ken' (house). Before the age of septic tanks and flush toilets the 'dunny' was a wooden outhouse standing far back from a dwelling. The spelling 'dunnee' seems only to have been favoured by Barry Humphries in his Bazza MacKenzie comic strip AUSTRALIA, 1933. 2 the vagina BAHAMAS, 1982. 3 money JAMAICA, 2000 dunny budgie noun a blowfly AUSTRALIA, 2003 dunny can noun a sanitary bin AUSTRALIA, 1962

dunny cart noun a vehicle for collecting sanitary bins AUSTRALIA, 1963 dunny diver noun a plumber NEW ZEALAND, 2002

dunny documents noun toilet paper AUSTRALIA, 1996

dunny man; dunnyman noun a man employed to empty sanitary bins AUSTRALIA, 1962 dunny paper noun toilet paper AUSTRALIA, 1987

duns noun money JAMAICA, 1982 dupe noun a duplicate US, 1891 dupe verb to duplicate US, 1912 duper noun a duplicating machine, such as a mimeograph US, 1982 duppy noun a ghost BARBADOS, 1965

duppy and the dog noun a crowd made up of everyone you can think of BARBADOS, 1980

duppy tucks noun clothes burnt by an iron BARBADOS, 1965

Durban noun marijuana from the Durban area of South Africa SOUTH AFRICA, 1997

Durban brown noun brownish marijuana, said to have been grown in Natal Province, South Africa UK, 2002

Durban poison noun a variety of marijuana SOUTH AFRICA, 1996

durn adverb used as a folksy variation of 'darn' or 'darned', a euphemism for 'damned' US, 1958 durog noun marijuana. A variant of DUROS, punning on 'drug' US, 1977

durong noun marijuana. A variation of DUROG and DUROS UK, 2003 duros noun marijuana. The Spanish masculine noun duro is a five-peseta coin; the anglicised plural puts a cheap price on the drug US, 1971 durry noun a cigarette. Origin unknown. It has been suggested that it is extracted from Bull Durham™, a brand of tobacco, but this is drawing a long bow indeed AUSTRALIA, 1941 duss verb to kill. West Indian and UK black pronunciation of DUST (to kill) UK, 1994 dust noun 1 a powdered narcotic, especially cocaine or heroin US, 1916. 2 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. An abbreviation of ANGEL DUST. US, 1977. 3 inexpensive cigarette tobacco given free to prisoners US, 1967. 4 the powdered malted milk used in soda fountain malt drinks US, 1946. 5 money UK, 1607. 6 a small amount of money TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987. 7 the condition of being doomed or finished US, 1994. ► on the dust working as a refuse collector UK, 1999 dust verb 1 to beat UK, 1612. 2 to shoot; to kill US, 1972. 3 to leave US, 1945. 4 to use and become intoxicated with phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1989. 5 to combine marijuana and heroin for smoking US, 1986. 6 in horse racing, to administer a drug to a horse before a race US, 1951

dustbin noun a gun turret UK, 1990

dustbin lid; dustbin noun 1 a child. Rhyming slang for 'kid'; rarely, if ever, singular. May be reduced further to 'binlid' UK, 1960. 2 a Jewish person. Rhyming slang for YID UK, 1979 dust-biter noun during the US war against Iraq, an infantry soldier assigned to front line duty US, 1991 dust bunny noun a cluster of dust that accumulates under furniture US, 1966 dust-eater noun the last vehicle in a military convoy US, 1986 dusted adjective 1 drug-intoxicated. Originally of cocaine, then less and less discriminating US, 1959. 2 drunk US, 1966 dusted out; dusted adjective under the influence of phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1983 duster noun 1 a metal device worn above the knuckles so that, when punching, it both protects the fist and lends brutal force to the blow. An abbreviation of 'knuckleduster'; from DUST (to beat) UK, 1999. 2 an M-2 anti-aircraft tank armed with twin Bofors 40mm guns. The tank was designed for anti-aircraft combat, but the North Vietnamese did not operate in the air, so the M-2 was used on the ground, where it was quite good at DUSTING [killing] enemy soldiers US, 1969. 3 a user of phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1967. 4 in oil drilling, a hole that produces no oil. It may produce salt water, but it is still dry US, 1898. 5 the inner door of a safe US, 1949. 6 the buttocks US, 1946 duster verb to punch someone using a knuckleduster UK, 2000 dusters noun the testicles US, 1967 dust hawk noun a horse driven in sulky races CANADA, 1971

dusties noun old gramophone records of out-of-fashion songs US, 1972 dust it verb to leave hurriedly TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990 dust of angels noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994 dust-off noun medical evacuation by helicopter. Vietnam war usage US, 1967 dust off verb 1 to kill US, 1940. 2 to evacuate (the wounded) US, 1971. 3 in hot rodding and drag racing, to defeat in a race US, 1965 dust puppy noun a cluster of soft dust that accumulates on the floor US, 1943

dusts noun brass knuckles US, 1993 dust-up noun a fight; a disturbance; an engagement with an enemy. Military coinage; the image of dust raised in a physical conflict UK, 1897 dusty noun an old person, thought to be aged 70 or more. Upper-class society use UK, 1982 dusty adjective under the influence of phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1998 dusty and cleaning noun a surgical scraping of the uterus. A back-formation from the technical term D & C (dilation and curettage) US, 2003

Dusty finish verb the conclusion of a professional wrestling match in which the original referee returns from having been knocked out to overrule a victory declared by a second referee. Refers to Dusty Rhodes, a wrestler who often finished his matches in this dramatic fashion US, 2000 dutch noun ► in dutch in trouble US, 1851

Dutch noun 1 a spouse, especially a wife. Usually as 'old Dutch' and preceded by a possessive pronoun. Albert Chevalier (1861–1923) explained the derivation as 'old Dutch clock', likening a wife's face to a clock-face, or punning on CLOCK (a face). The etymology is uncertain, but often confused with DUCHESS (a wife) and DUTCH PLATE (a friend) UK, 1889. 2 suicide US, 1915 ► see: DOUBLE DUTCH, DUTCH PLATE dutch verb ► dutch a book in an illegal betting operation, to accept bets with odds and in a proportion that guarantees the bookmaker will lose money regardless of the outcome that is being bet on US, 1911

Dutch verb in hot rodding and car customising, to paint elaborate pinstripes or flames on the car body in the style of 1950s customiser Kenneth 'Von Dutch' Howard US, 1993

Dutch adverb paying your own way US, 1914

Dutch act; Dutch route noun suicide US, 1902

Dutch auction; Dutch sale noun a mock-auction or sale where goods are sold at nominal prices; especially an auction where the price is slowly decreased until the first bid is made and the lot is sold; in a multiple lot sale the highest bidder wins the right to purchase at the lowest bid price UK, 1859

Dutch bath noun a cursory washing of the body using little water US, 1953

Dutch book noun in a bookmaking operation, a horse race in which the odds are such that the astute bettor can bet on any horse and win US, 1912

Dutch cap noun a diaphragm or pessary US, 1950

Dutch clock noun a speed recording device on a railway engine US, 1943

Dutch courage noun courage induced by drink UK, 1826

Dutch door action noun bisexual activity US, 1997

Dutch dumplings noun in homosexual usage, the buttocks US, 1987

Dutch fuck noun the act of lighting your cigarette from one that another person is smoking. Often accompanied by the catchphrase: 'Hold it close to mine and take the draws down slowly' UK, 1948

Dutch girl noun in homosexual usage, a lesbian. A painful pun alluding to Holland's flood control US, 1987

Dutchie noun a Dutch person UK, 2000

Dutch leave noun an absence without permission US, 1898 dutchman noun 1 any after-the-fact alteration of a flawed work process US, 1859. 2 in oil drilling, the shaft of a screw that remains in a hole after the head has been sheared or twisted off US, 1954.

3 a drug dealer US, 1992

Dutchman nickname Norm Van Brocklin (1926–83), quarterback for the Los Angeles Rams during their glory days (1949–57) and then for the Philadelphia Eagles (1958–60) US, 1960

Dutchman's fart noun a sea-urchin UK, 1980

Dutch Mill nickname the infiltration surveillance centre at Nakhon Phonom, Thailand. Sensors along routes of North Vietnamese infiltration into South Vietnam broadcast to an orbiting aircraft which relayed the signals to the US base at Nakhon Phonom, Thailand. Because of the distinctive shape of one of its antennas, the installation was called Dutch Mill US, 1986

Dutch nickel noun a hug or quick kiss US, 1949

Dutch oven noun a prank performed by farting in a shared bed and then holding the unfortunate victim under the sheets AUSTRALIA, 1983

Dutch Owl noun a Dutch Owl™ cigar re-made to contain marijuana US, 2003

Dutch pegs noun the legs. Rhyming slang UK, 1923

Dutch plate; Dutch noun a friend. Rhyming slang for MATE, which had some currency in the 1960s and 1970s, mainly in its shortened form. Sometimes, and easily, confused with DUTCH (a spouse, especially a wife) UK, 2002

Dutch rod noun a Luger pistol US, 1949

Dutch rub noun a playground torture consisting of rubbing the head of a boy restrained in a headlock with the restrainer's knuckles US, 1930

Dutch sea wife noun a simulated vagina, used for masturbation by males US, 1957

Dutch straight noun in poker, a hand with five cards sequenced by twos, worth nothing but not without its beauty US, 1963

Dutch treat noun an arrangement in which each person pays their own way US, 1887

Dutch uncle noun a person given to pedantic lectures UK, 1838 dutty adjective 1 dirty. West Indian and UK black patois pronunciation UK, 1994. 2 used as a personal compliment. Derived from dirty UK, 2005 duty noun a duty officer US, 1957 duty dog noun the officer acting as prison governor when the governor is absent UK, 1996 duvet day noun an unofficial day off work that is taken for no good reason. In August 2004 'duvet days' were discussed as employee incentives UK, 2003 duw duw! used for registering frustration, exasperation, or sympathy. Pronounced 'jew jew'; a reduplication of Welsh duw (god) used widely, and without especial reference to its religious significance, by non-Welsh-speaking South Walians UK: WALES, 2002

dux adjective smart Fiji, 1993

DV noun a Cadillac Coupe de Ville car US, 1980

dwaddle verb to waste time, to dawdle US, 1950

dwang noun a short piece of timber inserted between wall studs NEW ZEALAND, 1988. ► in the dwang in trouble. From Afrikaans for 'constraint' SOUTH AFRICA, 1994 dwarf noun the butt of a marijuana cigarette. Crush That Dwarf, Hand Me the Pliers was a Firesign Theatre play about the life of Everyman George Tirebiter, punning, as was the fashion of the time, on marijuana use US, 1970

dweeb; dweebie noun a socially inept person US, 1985 dweeby adjective foolish, inept, out of touch with current trends US, 1987 dwell verb ► dwell the box to be patient UK, 1956

DWI adjective poorly dressed. 'Dressed without instructions', a play on the usual meaning of the initials, 'driving while intoxicated' US, 1997

dwid noun a social outcast US, 1988

dwim noun in computing, a command meaning 'do what I mean' US, 1983 dwindles noun the condition of an older hospital patient who is fading away US, 1981 dyam adjective used as an intensifier. A West Indian and UK Black patois variation of 'damn' UK, 1994 dye party noun a gathering to tie-dye an assortment of clothes for personal use or sale US, 1994 lying on its arse adjective failing. The image of sitting down to wait for death and decay UK, 2001 dynin' holy dynin' used as a curse or oath, especially in Nova Scotia. Unlike a number of the maritime sacrilegious curses, this one is often used to express surprise CANADA, 1999 dyke; dike noun 1 a lesbian, especially a 'mannish', aggressive one. Safely used by insiders, with caution by outsiders US, 1931. 2 a toilet UK, 1923. 3 dipipanone, an analgesic opiate used for recreational narcotic effect UK, 1996 dyke daddy noun a male who prefers and seeks the friendship of lesbians US, 1991

dykey adjective overtly lesbian, mannish US, 1964 dykon noun a person or image seen as inspirational to lesbians. A variation on 'gay icon', combining DYKE (a lesbian) and 'icon' (a devotional image) UK, 1999 dynamite noun 1 powerful alcohol or drugs US, 1919. 2 nitroglycerine tablets prescribed to cardiac patients US, 1975. 3 any amphetamine, methamphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1980. 4 cocaine US, 1959. 5 a blend of heroin and cocaine US, 1937. 6 something that is very good US, 1902. 7 in an illegal betting operation, money that one bookmaker bets with another bookmaker to cover bets that he does not want to hold US, 1951. 8 a fight. Rhyming slang. May be abbreviated to 'dyna' UK, 1992 dynamite verb to stop a train suddenly US, 1977. ► dynamite the brakes in trucking, to make a sudden, emergency stop US, 1951 dynamite adjective excitingly excellent US, 1922 dyn-no-mite! used for expressing strong approval. A stock laugh-line catchphrase used by the character J.J. Evans, played by Jimmie Walker, in the 1970s situation comedy Facts of Life US, 1978 dyno noun 1 heroin, especially if nearly pure. An abbreviation of 'dynamite' US, 1969. 2 alcohol US, 1962. 3 a dynamometer (an instrument used to measure engine power) US, 1954 dyno adjective excellent. An abbreviation of DYNAMITE US, 1962 dyno- prefix dynamic US, 1992

dyno-pure noun especially pure heroin. An elaboration of DYNO UK, 2002

Dyson noun an act of mutual oral-genital sex. Dyson™ is the brand name of a vacuum cleaner that introduced 'dual-cyclone' technology which, it is claimed, provides improved suction; 'Dyson', as a sex-act, stresses the dual functionality of such suction. This is not the first use of a vacuum cleaner as a sexual simile: Electrolux™, another major brand, at one time used the slogan 'Nothing Sucks Like An Electrolux' which, unsurprisingly, led to its use as an epithet for 'a fellatrix' UK, 2001

Ee

E noun 1 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Generally from the initial letter of ECSTASY, specifically in reference to any MDMA tablet stamped with the symbol UK, 1995. 2 dismissal, rejection. An abbreviation of ELBOW UK, 1994. 3 in poker, the fifth player to the left of the dealer US, 1988

E verb to take MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the noun use UK, 1996

e- prefix electronic; in practice, mainly applied to communication by computer. A back-formation from 'e-mail', used in such constructions as 'e-address' and 'e-government' US, 1996

each-way all each-way noun in multiple and accumulator betting, a method of settling each-way bets by dividing the total return from one stage of a bet into equal parts to be wagered on the next stage UK, 2001 eager beaver noun an annoyingly diligent and hard-working person US, 1943 eagle noun ► the eagle flies; the eagle screams; the eagle shits used for expressing payday. Often used with 'when' US, 1918 eaglebird noun 1 the winner of any long-odds bet, such as the double zero in roulette US, 1992. 2 in horse racing, a long-shot winner that nobody has bet on US, 1947 eagle day noun pay day. On pay day, it is said that THE EAGLE FLIES/SCREAMS, hence this term US, 1941

E and E noun evasion and escape. Korean war usage US, 1982

E and E verb to avoid combat duty. From the accepted 'escape and evasion'. Military use in Vietnam US, 1979

E and T; ET noun in craps, a one-roll bet on eleven and twelve. The bet was originally known as 'E and T'; with the popularity of the film E.T., the terminology quickly changed US, 1983 ear noun 1 a citizens' band radio antenna US, 1976. 2 a person who is not a part of the criminal underworld but who reports what he hears to those who are US, 1964. 3 a police officer SOUTH AFRICA, 1973. 4 on a playing card, a bent corner used by a cheat to identify the card US, 1950. ► keep your ear to the ground; have your ear to the ground to be alert to whatever is happening UK, 1920. ► on your ear 1 easily UK, 1956. 2 extremely drunk IRELAND, 1991 ear angel noun a very small, nearly invisible speaker in a television announcer's ear by which others can communicate with the announcer while on air US, 1997 earballs noun listeners to commercial broadcasting US, 1999 ear banger noun a person who enjoys the sound of his own voice US, 1942 earbash noun a conversation; an unwanted lecture; a tirade AUSTRALIA, 1951

earbash verb to talk to someone at length; to bore someone with speech AUSTRALIA, 1944

earbasher noun an incessant talker; a bore AUSTRALIA, 1941

earbashing noun 1 an insistent barrage of chatter; constant nagging AUSTRALIA, 1945. 2 a harsh reprimand NEW ZEALAND, 1984

ear bender noun an overly talkative person US, 1934 earbobs noun large, dangling earrings US, 1986 ear candy noun 1 music that is pleasant, if not challenging US, 1984. 2 a platitude US, 1991 earcon noun an artificial sound that is representative of an action or content. A contrived piece of jargon awkwardly derived from 'icon', its visual equivalent, and slowly creeping into everyday usage UK, 1988 earful noun a reprimand, especially when robust or lengthy US, 1911 earhole noun the ear. By synecdoche AUSTRALIA, 1934. ► on the earhole; on the ear'ole on the scrounge. Extends the sense of 'earhole' (whatever you can hear) to 'whatever you can pick up' UK, 1998

earhole verb 1 to eavesdrop, to listen in on someone's conversation UK, 1958. 2 in motorcycle racing, to bank the motorcycle to an extreme degree in a turn, bringing the driver (and the driver's ear) close to the ground US, 1965

earie noun ► on the earie alert, informed US, 1980 ear job noun sexual talk on the telephone US, 1978

earl verb to vomit. A rhyme with HURL US, 1978

Earls Court noun salt. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of an area of west London UK, 1992 early bird noun a word. Rhyming slang UK, 1937 early doors noun women's knickers, panties, etc. Rhyming slang for 'drawers'; probably since late C19 when 'early doors' was current for a theatrical performance and it was a time when women actually wore 'drawers' UK, 1979 early doors adverb early on, especially in relation to a sporting contest. Originally applied to admissions to old time music halls; later used, with almost catchphrase status, by football commentator Ron Atkinson UK, 1998

early electic noun used as a humorous description of a mix of design or decorating styles US, 1980 early foot noun in horse racing, speed in the initial stages of a race US, 1960 early morn noun the erect penis. Rhyming slang for HORN UK, 1992 early o'clock noun shortly after an activity has started TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1983

early opener noun a public hotel that opens early in the morning to cater for shift workers AUSTRALIA, 1981 early out noun 1 a separation from the armed forces that is earlier than anticipated US, 1991. 2 in American casinos, an early dismissal from work due to smaller than expected numbers of gamblers US, 1980 early riser noun a prisoner who is about to be released. Discharge from prison usually occurs early in the day UK, 1996 early shopper noun in horse racing, a bettor who places a bet as soon as the betting windows open AUSTRALIA, 1989 early shower; early bath noun an ejection from an athletic contest NEW ZEALAND, 1978

ear-moll verb to listen in; to eavesdrop UK, 1984 earn noun an amount of money earned, especially earned illicitly AUSTRALIA, 1977

earn verb to make a dishonest profit UK, 1977 earner noun 1 a job that pays; something that generates income UK, 1970. 2 any circumstance that criminals can turn to profitable advantage UK, 1977. 3 a member of an organised crime enterprise who produces high profits, however unpleasant his character may be US, 1995. 4 money earned, especially money from an illicit source or corrupt practice UK, 1970 earnings noun proceeds from crime SOUTH AFRICA, 1974 ear'ole noun in betting, odds of 6–4. From the TICK-TACK signal used by bookmakers UK, 1991 ears noun a citizens' band radio receiver. Citizens' band radio slang; usually phrased 'put your ears on', 'have your ears on', etc US, 1976. ► be all ears to listen with close attention UK, 1865. ► get your ears raised to have your hair cut US, 1954. ► have your ears flapping; keep your ears flapping to listen, especially to make an effort to keep up with what is going on UK, 1984. ► pull ears in the language of paragliding, to intentionally collapse both tips of the wing to increase speed US, 1992. ► put the ears on to attempt a controlled roll of the dice US, 1963. ► your ears are burning applied to a sensation that somebody is talking about you. Known in many variations since C14 UK, 1984 ear sex noun a sexually-oriented telephone conversation with a person working for a telephone sex service US, 1984 earth noun a marijuana cigarette BAHAMAS, 1982. ► the earth a great expense UK, 1924

Eartha Kitt; eartha noun 1 faeces; an act of defecation; (as a plural) diarrhoea. Rhyming slang for SHIT, formed on the name of popular singer Eartha Kitt (b.1928) UK, 1992. 2 the female breast. Rhyming slang for TIT UK, 2001 earthless adjective used as a non-profane negative intensifier BARBADOS, 1965 earthly noun ► no earthly; not an earthly no chance whatever UK, 1899 earth mother; earth mama noun a woman who eschews makeup, synthetic fabric, and meat US, 1980 earth pads noun shoes. Teen slang US, 1947 earthshake noun an earthquake JAMAICA, 2003 earth to used as a humorous suggestion that the person named is not in touch with reality US, 1977

earwig noun an eavesdropper; a lookout man UK, 1950 earwig verb 1 to eavesdrop. A poor pun on 'to hear' UK, 1927. 2 to understand, to realise. Rhyming slang for TWIG UK, 1992 ease verb to leave US, 1947 easel noun a motorcycle's prop stand UK, 1979 ease off verb to urinate UK, 1970 ease on verb to leave with a parting gesture US, 1959 ease up verb to have sex US, 1993

easie; easy noun a latex girdle NEW ZEALAND, 1991

east and west noun 1 complementary doses of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, and amphetamine, both in powder form, inhaled via different nostrils. 'East' is signified by E (MDMA), 'west' extends from an initialism of WHIZZ (amphetamine) UK, 1996. 2 the female breast. Or simply 'east west' UK, 2001. 3 the breast or the chest, hence the upper body. Rhyming slang UK, 1923. 4 a vest. Rhyming slang; in pickpocket usage US, 1949

East Anus nickname the town of East Angus, Quebec CANADA, 1977

Easter bunny noun money. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

Easter egg noun 1 a message hidden in a computer program's object code US, 1991. 2 an icon or hidden process on the menu of a DVD that, when selected or followed, leads to hidden features US, 2002. 3 the leg. Rhyming slang UK, 1998. ► on the Easter egg begging, scrounging. Glasgow rhyming slang for ON THE BEG UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

East Ham adjective nearly mad. On the map of the London Underground East Ham is 'one stop short of Barking'; playing on BARKING (raving mad) UK, 2001

Eastie nickname East Boston, Massachusetts US, 1979

East India Docks noun 1 any sexually transmitted infection. Rhyming slang for POX, formed from the name of one of the docks of east London UK, 1992. 2 socks. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

East Jesus; East Jesus Nowhere noun the outback US, 1961

East Jesus, Arkansas noun a fictitious place, difficult to find and peopled with uneducated and poor people US, 1994

East Los nickname east Los Angeles, California US, 1974

eastman noun a pimp US, 1911

East Overshoe noun the mythical town in Maine which is the home to fools and idiots US, 1975

Eastside player noun crack cocaine US, 1994 easy noun 1 in craps, a point made by a combination other than a matched pair. From the fuller 'easy way' US, 1996. 2 in poker, the fifth player to the left of the dealer. A name based on the scheme of 1 = A, 2 = B, etc US, 1988 ► see: EASIE easy verb to silence or kill US, 1992 easy adjective 1 sexually accessible UK, 1699. 2 having no preference when given a choice AUSTRALIA, 1941. ► easy on the eye pleasing to look at; good looking, especially of women UK, 1936 easy 1 used as a greeting. Noted in current UK use US, 2003. 2 used as a warning UK, 1996. 3 used as a farewell. Hawaiian youth usage; often accompanied by a hand gesture, wiggling the hand from the wrist emphasising the thumb and little finger. Noted in current UK use US, 1972 easy as ABC adjective very easy. A simplicity noted by Shakespeare, 'then comes the answer like an Absey booke', 1595 UK, 1970 easy as apple pie adjective very easy. Variation of EASY AS PIE AUSTRALIA, 1984 easy as damn it adjective very easy. Recorded by Partridge in the 1st edition of his Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English and still familiar. Other variations noted at that time include 'easy as pissing the bed' and 'easy as shelling peas' UK, 1937 easy as falling off a log; easy as rolling off a log adjective very easy. Mark Twain used 'easy as rolling off a log' in 1880 US, 1880 easy as kiss my arse adjective very easy. Recorded, with the euphemistic variation 'easy as kiss my ear', by Partridge in the 1st edition of his Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English UK, 1937 easy as kiss my eye adjective very easy. Euphemistic variation of EASY AS KISS MY ARSE UK, 1984 easy as pie adjective very easy US, 1964 easy as shaking drops off your john adjective very easy. Masculine use; JOHN THOMAS; JOHN (the penis) UK, 1984 easy as winking adjective very easy UK, 1937 easybeats noun a team or opponent which is easily defeated. Punning on The Easybeats, an Australian 1960s rock group AUSTRALIA, 1990 easy chair noun in a group of three or more trucks travelling on a motorway, the middle truck US, 1976

easy go noun an unstrenuous prison job US, 1983 easy greasy noun an icy road US, 1976 easy, greasy! take it easy! Teen slang US, 1955

Easy Hall noun a notional place of great comfort and ease BARBADOS, 1980 easy like kissing hand adjective very easy TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

easy mark noun a person who is easily persuaded US, 1915 easy meat noun someone who can be seduced, or made a victim; something that is easy to achieve. The original sense is 'a sexually available woman' UK, 1961 easy-peasy adjective very easy, very simple. A childish reduplication of 'easy', occasionally taken further as 'easy-peasy, lemon-squeezy' UK, 1976 easy rider noun 1 a pimp US, 1914. 2 a guitar. From an earlier use as 'a compliant sexual partner' UK, 1949. 3 a type of LSD identified by a design based on the 1969 film Easy Rider UK, 2004. 4 cider. Rhyming slang, reducing to 'easy' UK, 2002 easy street noun a comfortable, affluent situation for little expenditure of effort US, 1897 easy way noun (used of an even-numbered point in craps) scored in any fashion other than a pair US, 1974

eat noun eating US, 1993

eat verb 1 to perform oral sex US, 1916. 2 to swallow. Used especially in the context of ingesting LSD US, 1970. 3 (of tobacco) to chew CANADA, 1961. 4 to bother US, 1892. 5 to accept a monetary loss US, 1955. ► be able to eat an apple through a bird cage to have buck teeth AUSTRALIA, 1998. ► could eat the hind leg off a donkey applied to someone who is very hungry. A variation of 'eat a horse', on the model of TALK THE HIND LEG OFF A DONKEY UK, 1961. ► eat a horse and chase the rider/jockey to be very hungry AUSTRALIA, 1972. ► eat a shit sandwich to accept humiliations as punishment. A variation on EAT SHIT UK, 1997. ► eat a stock to buy undesirable stock to maintain an order market in the stock US, 1988. ► eat asphalt to crash while riding a motorcycle, bicycling, or taking part in any recreational activity on the street US, 2002. ► eat bad food to get pregnant TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1974. ► eat cards in blackjack, to draw more cards than you normally would in a given hand in order to learn more about what cards are remaining unplayed. The card-eater takes a short-term loss in hope of a long-term big win US, 1991. ► eat cheese to curry favour US, 1968. ► eat concrete to drive on a motorway US, 1971. ► eat crow to be forced to accept humiliation. According to legend, a British Army officer tricked then forced an American to eat a crow that the latter had shot US, 1877. ► eat cunt to perform oral sex on a woman US, 1972. ► eat dick to perform oral sex on a man US, 1988. ► eat dim sum to take the passive role in anal intercourse. Rhyming slang for TAKE IT UP THE BUM UK, 2003. ► eat dirt to fall on your face. A literal consequence US, 1998. ► eat face to kiss in a sustained and passionate manner US, 1966. ► eat for breakfast to vanquish, outdo, overcome AUSTRALIA, 1970. ► eat from the bushy plate to engage in oral sex on a woman. Probably coined by comedian Sacha Baron-Cohen (b.1970); his influence on late C20 UK slang is profound UK, 2001. ► eat it 1 to suffer an accident, especially a fall. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982. ► eat it 2 in surfing, to lose control and fall from your surfboard US, 1991. ► eat lead to be shot US, 1927. ► eat like a horse to have a very large appetite UK, 1971. ► eat plastic (used of a hospital patient) to be intubated US, 1994. ► eat pussy to perform oral sex on a woman US, 1965. ► eat raw; eat raw without salt to defeat or destroy mercilessly TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► eat razor blades to speak harshly and offensively. Collected in 1972 BARBADOS, 1972. ► eat sausage to perform oral sex on a man NEW ZEALAND, 1984. ► eat shit 1 as a condition of subservience, to do something disagreeable or humiliating. May be varied to 'eat crap' US, 1930. ► eat shit 2 in surfing, to lose control of a ride and fall off your surfboard US, 1991. ► eat someone's lunch to thrash; to exact revenge US, 1968. ► eat the cookie while surfing, to be pounded fiercely by a breaking wave US, 1997. ► eat the crutch off a low-flying emu to be very hungry AUSTRALIA, 1985. ► eat the floor to throw yourself to the floor of a car US, 1981. ► eat the ginger to play the leading role in a play US, 1952. ► eat the head off, eat the face off to verbally abuse or attack IRELAND, 2003. ► eat your gun to commit suicide by gun US, 1997. ► eat your hat used for expressing a certainty that such and such will not happen. Very occasionally taken literally as 'a wager against fate' UK, 1837. ► eat your own dog food to make use of whatever product or service you provide US, 2003. ► eat in' ain't cheatin' used as a jocular assertion that oral sex does not rise to the level of adultery or infidelity. A maxim that enjoyed sudden and massive appeal in the US during the President Clinton sex scandals US, 1994. ► I could eat a baby's bum through a cane chair I am extremely hungry AUSTRALIA, 1985. ► I could eat a scabby horse between bedrags I am very hungry UK, 1981. ► I could eat that; I could eat that without salt a catchphrase that is used of an attractive girl or young woman. An unattractive girl may inspire the opposite: 'I couldn't eat that'; on the other hand, girls wishing to express desire may use: 'he could eat me without salt'. The sense is occasionally exaggerated as: 'I could boil up her knickers and drink the gravy' UK, 1951 ea-tay noun marijuana. Pig Latin for 'tea' US, 1938 eat chain! used as an insult along the lines of 'drop dead!'. An abbreviation of 'eat a chain saw!' US, 1997 eat dick! used as a dismissive retort UK, 1982 eater noun a person who eats marijuana US, 2001 eat flaming death! used as an overblown expression of hostility US, 1975 eat fuck! used as a dismissive retort. A variation of 'eat shit!' US, 1979 eating tobacco noun chewing tobacco US, 1901 eat me! used as a somewhat coarse expression of defiance. The taboo component is fading if not faded US, 1962 eat my shorts! used as a humorous declaration of defiance US, 1979 eat out verb to perform oral sex, usually on a woman US, 1966 eats noun food, a meal UK, 1782 eat shit and die! used as a powerful expression of dislike or disapproval US, 1986 eat the apple, fuck the Corps used as a defiant yet proud curse of the marines by the marines US, 1976 eat-up stop noun a roadside restaurant or truckstop US, 1976 eat up verb (used of a wave) to overcome and knock a surfer from the surfboard US, 1965 eat what you can and can what you can't used for urging someone to be frugal and conservationist CANADA, 1989 eau-de-cologne noun 1 a telephone. Rhyming slang. Sometimes corrupted to 'the odour' or 'odie' UK, 1961. 2 a woman. Rhyming slang on polari 'palone' (a woman) UK, 1937

e-ball noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy US, 1992

Ebenezer Goode noun the personification of the culture surrounding MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1992

e-bomb noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003

E-brake noun a vehicle's emergency brake US, 2003 ecaf; eek; eke noun the face. Back slang used in polari, especially in the abbreviated forms UK, 1966

e-car noun an electrically powered car UK, 2003 eccer noun an abbreviation for (homework) exercise. This term makes use of the suffix -ER which is especially common in Dublin Hiberno-English and is used at the end of abbreviated names IRELAND, 1991

eccy; ec noun economics US, 1924 echo noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the international phonetic alphabet, E (MDMA) is ECHO, also playing on the first syllable of ECSTASY (MDMA) UK, 1996

echo verb to repeat what was just said US, 1967

'eck-as-like in answer to a rhetorical question, certainly not, it is very unlikely. A Yorkshire-ism, often used in bad impressions of a northern accent; not recorded, surprisingly, until 1979 UK, 1979 ecker; ecky noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy; a tablet of MDMA. Based on the first syllable of ECSTASY (MDMA) UK, 2002 eckied adjective intoxicated with MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From ECKY; ECKIE (ecstasy) UK, 1996 ecky; eckie noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy; a tablet of MDMA. Plays with the first syllable UK, 1995 ecky-becky noun a poor white person BARBADOS, 1965 ecnop noun a person who lives off prostitutes' earnings, a ponce. Back slang UK, 1956 eco- prefix used to signify an association with environmental issues. An abbreviation of 'ecology/ecological' US, 1969 ecofreak noun a radical environmentalist US, 1970 eco-freako adjective overly devoted to ethical ecological principles UK, 2004 ecology freak noun a devoted environmentalist US, 1984 econ noun economics US, 1976 econut noun a zealous environmentalist US, 1972 ecoporn; eco-porn noun aesthetically pleasing pictures of ecological subjects, especially when of no scientific or environmental value; used derisively of any advertising that praises a company's 'green' record or policies US, 1985 ecowarrior noun a person who is especially active in any political struggle or violent action against forces that are seen to threaten the environment or balance of nature. Formed on 'eco', a widely used abbreviation of 'ecology/ecological'. The natural enemy of the

'ecowarrior' is the 'ecoterrorist', a term first recorded in 1988 UK, 2002 ecstasy noun methylene-dioxymethamphetamine, MDMA, a mildly hallucinogenic empathogen and/or entactogen, a drug of empathy and touch. Easily the most recognisable slang name for this widely popular recreational drug; it derives from the senses of well-being and affection felt by users. The illegal status of the drug has encouraged a great many alternative names; some are generic (E is probably the most widely known), and some serve as brand names. Originally synthesized by German pharmaceutical company Merck some time before 1912. Since the 1980s the drug has been inextricably linked with RAVE culture US, 1985

E'd; E-ed; E'd up; E-ed up adjective intoxicated with MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Under the influence of E (ecstasy) UK, 2001

Eddie Grundies noun underwear. A variation of GRUNDIES, formed from the name Eddie Grundy, a popular character in the BBC radio soap opera The Archers UK, 2002

edelweiss noun a type of marijuana developed in Holland UK, 2003

e-deuce noun an M-14 automatic rifle US, 1977

Edgar Britt; Edgar noun an act of defecation. Rhyming slang for SHIT. In the plural, used for 'diarrhoea' AUSTRALIA, 1969

Edgar Britts; Edgars noun a bad mood, anxiety, fear. Rhyming slang for THE SHITS AUSTRALIA, 1983 edge noun 1 in gambling, a statistical advantage, usually expressed as a percentage US, 1977. 2 antagonism; a tension arising from mutual dislike UK, 1979. 3 a knife, used or intended for use as a weapon US, 1972. 4 an urban area with bars, nightclubs, and prostitution US, 1979. ► on edge very tense, nervy, anxious UK, 1870. ► on the edge in gambling, out of funds; broke US, 1963

Edge City noun a notional place where people live on the edge of danger US, 1970 edged adjective angry US, 1982 edge note noun a fifty pound (£50) note. Prison slang UK, 2002 edge work noun the alteration of dice by rounding off the edges to affect the roll US, 1950 edgy adjective 1 nervous, irritable, tense UK, 1837. 2 leading a trend. Probably from 'cutting-edge' US, 1976. 3 in the used car business, said of a car that needs body work US, 1968

Edinburgh fringe noun the female pubic hair; the vagina. Rhyming slang for MINGE UK, 2002

Edison noun in horse racing, a hand battery used illegally by a jockey to impart a shock to his horse US, 1947

Edison medicine noun electric shock therapy. Alluding to Thomas Edison, a central figure in the early history of electricity; not a common phrase, although not for lack of cleverness US, 1990

Edmonchuk nickname the city of Edmonton, Alberta CANADA, 1998

Edmundo Ros; edmundo noun a boss. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of Trinidadian band-leader Edmundo Ros (b.1910) who, from 1940, brought Latin American rhythms to Britain UK, 1998 edna! watch out!; be quiet! Rhyming slang, 'Edna May', based on 'way'; originally used for 'on your way' or 'on my way', now an imperative. Based on the name of actress and singer Edna May (May Edna Pettie), 1878–1948 UK, 1960

Ednabopper noun a fan of Dame Edna Everage. Coined by Barry Humphries, the man behind the Dame AUSTRALIA, 1991

Edna Everage; Edna noun a drink. Rhyming slang for 'beverage'; based on the 'Housewife Superstar' character created by Australian comedian and satirist Barry Humphries (b.1934) UK, 2002

Edsel; Flying Edsel nickname the US Air Force F-111 aircraft. An allusion to the single greatest failure in American car manufacture US, 1972 educated currency noun in horse racing, bets placed on the basis of what is believed to be authentic, empirical tips US, 1951 educator noun in the circus or carnival, the Billboard weekly newspaper US, 1980

Edward noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Early phonetic alphabet for E (predating 'E easy' and 'E echo') UK, 1998

Edward Heath; Ted Heath; Edwards; Teds noun the teeth. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a former UK prime minister, 1970–74, and Conservative party leader, who was famously caricatured with a toothy grin UK, 1972 eed-way noun marijuana. Pig Latin for WEED US, 1938

eejit; eedjit; idjit noun an idiot. Phonetic spelling of Irish pronunciation; earlier variations include 'eediot' and 'eegit' IRELAND, 1955 eel noun 1 an untrustworthy or otherwise despicable person. Adapting the 'slippery character' sense to more general derogatory usage; possibly, also, a disguised reference to a HEEL (a dishonest, untrustworthy person) UK, 2001. 2 a spy or informer US, 1956. 3 the penis. From a perceived resemblance US, 1968 eels noun in electric line work, insulated line hose used for covering up lines during work US, 1980 eels and liquor; eels noun one pound (£1). Rhyming slang for NICKER, formed from the name of a classic dish of London cuisine UK, 1992 eensy-weensy adjective very small. A rarely heard variant of 'teensy-weensy' US, 1978 eeoo-leven noun in craps, an eleven US, 1985 eez noun SEX BERMUDA, 1985

eff; F used as a euphemism for 'fuck' in all its different senses and parts of speech. Originally purely euphemistic, but soon a jocular replacement for FUCK UK, 1929 eff and blind verb to swear; to pepper discourse with obscenities. A combination of two euphemisms: EFF (FUCK) and BLIND (BLOODY) UK, 1943

eff and jeff verb to swear; to pepper discourse with obscenities. A variation of EFF AND BLIND UK, 2004 effect noun ► in effect; in effect mode relaxed, in-control, unstressed US, 1998 effed up adjective used as a euphemism for 'fucked up' US, 1971 effe noun a person, a fucker UK, 1966 efficient adjective ► get efficient to smoke marijuana US, 1997 effing; effin'; f-ing adjective used as an intensifier; a euphemism for 'fucking' UK, 1929

eff off verb used as a euphemism for 'fuck off' UK, 1945 effort noun a specific article that is not accurately named. Originally public school usage UK, 1925 efink noun a knife. Back slang UK, 1859 egad! used as a mild oath. Possibly 'ah God'. Generally considered to be obsolete from later C19 but survives in ironic usage UK, 1673 egg noun 1 a person. From 'bad egg' (a rascal) UK, 1864. 2 a fool, especially an obnoxious fool. Possibly derived from YEGG (a criminal) US, 1918. 3 a white person who associates with, and takes on, the culture of south Asians. The egg, like the person described, is white on the outside but yellow on the inside US, 1997. 4 a novice surfer AUSTRALIA, 1963. 5 a person who is trying to bet his way out of debt and, predictably, failing AUSTRALIA, 1989. 6 a bookmaker who refuses a bet. From the bookmaker's claim 'I've already laid it' AUSTRALIA, 1989. 7 a railway police officer US, 1977. 8 a billiard ball US, 1988. 9 a bomb US, 1950. 10 a theatrical failure US, 1952. 11 crack cocaine US, 1994. 12 a short surfboard with a round tail and a round nose, extremely common in the late 1960s and early 70s AUSTRALIA, 2002 egg verb to perform poorly US, 2002 egg; green egg; wobbly egg noun a capsule of branded tranquilliser 'temazepamTM'. From the appearance UK, 1996 egg and spoon; egg noun 1 a black person. Derogatory, rhyming slang for coon. Subject to some politically correct confusion with earlier 'good egg' (an expression of approval, hence 'good person', 1903) UK, 1992. 2 a procurer of prostitutes, a pimp. Rhyming slang for HOON (a pimp) AUSTRALIA, 1975 eggbeater noun 1 a single-rotor helicopter. Coined well before the war in Korea, but used extensively by US forces in Korea US, 1936. 2 a twin-engine training plane US, 1946. 3 an oldish, not very powerful motor car. An affectionate usage UK, 1981. 4 a small outboard motor for a boat US, 1942. 5 a paddle skier. The skier sits on a small bulbous canoe and paddles into the surf using paddles. His whirring repetitive paddling motion, especially when gaining speed to catch a wave, resembles an eggbeater SOUTH AFRICA, 2003. 6 a bad head-over-skis fall while skiing US, 1963 egg breaker noun in electric line work, a guy strain insulator US, 1980 egg crate noun in hot rodding and car customising, a grille design with a cross hatch US, 1993 egg flip noun in horse racing, useful information about a horse or race AUSTRALIA, 1966

egghead noun 1 an intellectual, often a scientist; a very smart person US, 1918. 2 a bald person US, 1907 egghead brigade noun forensic scientists. Police use, from EGGHEAD (an intellectual, often a scientist) UK, 1971

eggheaded adjective 1 intellectual yet lacking common sense US, 1956. 2 bald US, 1920 egg in a hole noun a slice of bread fried with an egg in a hole cut out of the middle CANADA, 1995 egg on your face noun humiliation or embarrassment CANADA, 1964

eggplant noun a black person US, 1934 egg roll noun 1 an idiot AUSTRALIA, 1985. 2 a beginner surfer AUSTRALIA, 1991

eggs noun the testicles US, 1976

eggshell blonde noun a bald person AUSTRALIA, 1977

eggsucker noun 1 a sycophant US, 1838. 2 in electric line work, an insulated line tool formally known as a grip-all stick US, 1980 egg-sucking adjective despicable US, 1845

eggy adjective 1 unpleasant, tasteless UK, 1978. 2 annoyed, angry. Possibly a phonetic variation of 'aggravated' UK, 1961

Eglinton Toll; eglinton noun the anus; by extension, the buttocks. Glasgow rhyming slang for ARSEHOLE, formed from an area of that city UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

egoboo noun favourable words, praise US, 1982

Egon Ronay; egon noun an act of defecation. Rhyming slang for PONY (PONY AND TRAP), imperfectly formed from the name of a celebrated food critic UK, 1998 ego surf verb to search for mentions of your name on the Internet US, 1997 ego trip noun any activity that is motivated by self-importance US, 1967 egregious adjective very bad. Conventional English rendered slang by attitude and drawn-out pronunciation US, 1991

Egypt noun a neighbourhood populated largely by black people US, 1979

Egyptian noun a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003

Egyptian queen noun in homosexual usage, an attractive black man. An incorrect racial label US, 1987

eh used after a positive statement without any suggestion of questioning. Usage after virtually every positive statement a speaker makes is characteristic of many speakers of both New Zealand and northern Australia AUSTRALIA, 1956

eh? do you agree? CANADA, 1945

E-head noun a habitual user of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Combines E, the familiar shorthand for ECSTASY (MDMA) with +HEAD (a user) UK, 1999

Eiffel Tower; eiffel noun 1 a shower. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 2 a good look. Rhyming slang and homophone, EYEFUL UK, 1992 eight noun 1 heroin. 'H' is the 8th letter of the alphabet, and there is the phonetic connection to 'H' US, 1997. 2 one-eighth of an ounce of a drug US, 1974. 3 an eight fluid ounce beer glass; a serving of beer in such a glass AUSTRALIA, 1972 eight and out noun in pool, a win achieved by sinking all eight balls in a single turn US, 1993 eight ball noun 1 one eighth of an ounce US, 1988. 2 a discharge from the US Army for mental unfitness. From the regulation AF 600–208 US, 1968. 3 Old English 800™ malt liquor US, 1992. 4 a dark-skinned black person. The 'eightball' in billiards is black US, 1919. 5 a conventional, staid, unsophisticated person US, 1970. 6 a mixture of crack cocaine and heroin US, 2001. ► behind the eight ball in a difficult position. From a tactical disadvantage when playing pool US, 1932 eight-charge noun eighty pounds of gunpowder in a satchel US, 1991 eighteen noun an eighteen gallon keg of beer AUSTRALIA, 1918 eighteen-carat adjective first-class, excellent. From the 'carat' which is used to classify the weight of diamonds and other precious stones, generally considered to be a measurement of quality UK, 1880 eighteen pence noun sense, common-sense. Rhyming slang UK, 1932 eighter from Decatur noun in craps, a roll of eight US, 1950 eight miler noun a distracted driver who drives for several miles with a turn signal flashing US, 1971 eight-pager noun a small pornographic comic book that placed well-known world figures or comic book characters in erotic situations US, 1961 eight-track noun an eight-lane motorway. A borrowing from the name of the 'eight-track' tape player popular in the 1970s US, 1977 eighty noun eighty dollars worth of crack cocaine US, 2003 eighty-deuce nickname the 82nd Airborne Division, US Army US, 1991 eighty-eight noun a piano. From the 88 keys on a standard piano US, 1942 eighty-eighter noun a piano player. Drawn from the number of keys on a piano US, 1949 eighty-eights best wishes; love and kisses US, 1934 eighty-five noun a girlfriend US, 2001 eighty niggers and two white men nickname the 82nd Airborne Division, US Army. During the Vietnam war, it was perceived that the 82nd Division enjoyed an above-average black population US, 1984 eighty-one mike mike noun an 81mm medium extended-range mortar, found in the mortar platoon of an infantry battalion US, 1991 eighty-six; eight-six noun an order barring a person from entering a bar or other establishment US, 1943 eighty-six; eight-six verb to eject, to bar from entry US, 1955 einal used as an exclamation of pain or as a cry of sympathy for someone else's pain. Pronounced 'aynah!' SOUTH AFRICA, 1913

Einstein noun used as an ironic nickname for someone who has mastered basic logic. Albert Einstein (1878–1955) is the one modern scientist, it seems, that everyone has heard of UK, 1997

Einstein's mate noun an especially unintelligent person. An ironic comparison UK, 1977

Eisenhower noun a shower. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the 34th US President, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, 1890–1969 UK, 1992 eke noun cosmetics; a room used when applying makeup. Derived from polari backslang ECAF (the face), and used within homosexual society UK, 1984 ek sê; ek se; ekse used as an emphatic affirmation of a statement. From Afrikaans ek (I) sê (say), probably a shortening of ek sê vir jou (I'm telling you) SOUTH AFRICA, 1959 ekusen o'clock noun in the morning SOUTH AFRICA, 2003

El noun an elevated railway. Chicago, New York and Philadelphia are major cities with an El US, 1906. ► the El the boys' reformatory at Elmire, New York US, 1950

Elaine noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. A personification of the drug by elaboration of E (MDMA) UK, 2003 elbow noun 1 a dismissal or rejection UK, 1971. 2 a pound (0.45kg) of marijuana. A phoentic rendition of the abbreviation 'lb' (pound) US, 1997. 3 in electric line work, an underground cable terminator US, 1980. ► on the elbow freeloading, on the scrounge. Playing, perhaps, with ON THE EARHOLE UK, 1977 elbow-bending noun immoderate consumption of alcohol US, 1934 elbow-bending adjective drinking to excess US, 2002 elbow cake noun in the Gaspé region of Canada, a hot biscuit CANADA, 1998 elbow grease noun hard manual labour; effort UK, 1672 elbow-lifting noun drinking, especially as part of a drinking session UK, 1961 elbow list noun a list, often notional, of despised things or persons UK, 1983 elbow-tit verb to graze or strike an unknown female's breast with your elbow US, 1974

El Cid noun LSD. A punning play on the first letter of LSD and the second syllable of 'acid' (LSD), giving the name of a legendary Spanish hero UK, 2003

El D; LD noun 1 a Cadillac El Dorado car US, 1970. 2 Eldorado™ fortified wine UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

elderberry noun an older homosexual man UK, 1979 elder days noun in computing, the years before 1980. A conscious borrowing from Tolkien US, 1991 el diablito noun a mix of cocaine, heroin, marijuana and phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. The Spanish 'little devil' offers a more elaborate recipe than EL DIABLO US, 1998 el diablo noun a mix of cocaine, heroin, and marijuana. Spanish el diablo (the devil) UK, 1998

El Dog noun a Cadillac El Dorado car US, 1975 electric adjective 1 used as a superlative; marvellous, strange, sudden UK, 1977. 2 augmented with LSD US, 1967 electric bookmaker noun a bookmaker who is regularly shocked by the results of the events bet on AUSTRALIA, 1989 electric cure noun execution by electrocution US, 1950 electrician noun a person who provokes or accelerates a confrontation US, 1998 electric puha noun marijuana, especially New Zealand-grown. Puha is the Maori name for 'wild sowthistle' NEW ZEALAND, 1989

electrics noun a vehicle's electric circuitry UK, 1946 electric soup noun 1 a mixture of metholated spirits and cheap red wine UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 2 Eldorado™, a fortified wine sold in Scotland UK: SCOTLAND, 1983

Electric Strawberry nickname the 25th Infantry Division, US Army. The Division's insignia is a green taro leaf in a red circle, suggesting a strawberry US, 1991 electro- prefix when applied to a musical style, involving synthesizers. As well as the examples listed as headwords, the following styles have been recorded: 'electro-baroque', 'electro-boogie', 'electro-bossa', 'electro-death', 'electro-dup', 'electro-funk', 'electro-goth' and 'electro-noir' UK, 2003

Electrolux noun a person gifted at performing oral sex on men. From the branded vacuum cleaner and its advertising boast – 'Nothing sucks like an Electrolux' UK, 2001 electros noun electrical equipment employed for sexual stimulation, especially when advertised by a prostitute UK, 2003 elef noun eleven; in betting, odds of 11–1. A shortening and slovening of 'eleven' UK, 1991 elef a vier noun in betting, odds of 11–4. A phonetic slurring of ELEF (11) and 'four' UK, 1991 elegant adjective 1 (used of a homosexual male) polished, effete US, 1949. 2 in computing, simple yet extremely efficient US, 1990 elegant sufficiency noun used as an indication that enough has been had to eat. A jocular mocking of genteel mannners which has, perhaps, become a cliché UK, 1984 elephant noun 1 heroin UK, 1996. 2 marijuana UK, 2003. 3 a high-ranking Naval officer. US naval aviator usage US, 1986

Elephant and Castle noun 1 arsehole, in anatomic and figurative senses. Rhyming slang, based on an area of south London UK, 2002. 2 a parcel. Rhyming slang UK, 1959 elephant bag noun in the usage of forest fire fighters, a large canvas bag used for dropping cargo from aeroplanes US, 1959 elephant bucks noun a large amount of money AUSTRALIA, 1994 elephant ear noun in electric line work, a high-strength strain insulator US, 1980 elephant gun noun 1 any powerful rifle US, 1918. 2 an M79 grenade launcher. Vietnam war usage. It is a single-shot, break-open, breech-loading, shoulder-fired weapon US, 1964. 3 a surfboard designed for big-wave conditions US, 1963 elephant intestines noun the cotton tubes used by the Viet Cong to carry rice in the field US, 1990 elephant juice noun the drug etorphine, a synthetic morphine 1,000 times more potent than morphine AUSTRALIA, 1989 elephant motor noun the Chrysler Hemi engine. Huge displacement and power US, 1993 elephant pill noun the large orange anti-malaria chloroquine-primequine pill taken once a week by US troops in Vietnam US, 1980

Elephants' Graveyard nickname the Boston Naval District headquarters US, 1971 elephant snot noun in car repair, gasket sealant, usually referring to Permatex™ sealant, a trademarked product US, 1992 elephant's trunk; elephant trunk noun a drunk. Rhyming slang US, 1977 elephant's trunk; elephant trunk; elephant's; elephants adjective drunk. Rhyming slang, influenced by the pink elephants that only drunks can see UK, 1859 elephant tracker noun a railway detective US, 1968 elephant tranquilizer; elephant noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 2004 elevator noun 1 in trucking, a hydraulic lift on the back of a trailer US, 1971. 2 a false cut of a deck of playing cards US, 1991 elevator jockey noun an elevator (lift) operator US, 1951 eleven noun 1 a stunningly gorgeous woman who swallows semen after oral sex. An elaboration of the 'perfect TEN' AUSTRALIA, 1985. 2 in a deck of playing cards, a jack or knave US, 1996 eleven bang-bang noun an infantry soldier. 11-B was the numerical MOS code assigned to an infantry soldier US, 1980 eleven bravo noun an infantry soldier US, 1991 eleven bush noun an infantry soldier US, 1970 eleven-foot pole noun an imagined device for touching someone whom another would not touch with a ten-foot pole US, 1975 eleven from heaven noun a roll of eleven in a craps game US, 1957 elevenes noun mid-morning refreshments; a mid-morning break from work, generally for refreshments but also used as an opportunity for cigarette smoking. Originally Kent dialect, extended from 'eleven o'clock'; late C19 workmen also had 'fourses' UK, 1887 eleventh commandment noun any rule which is seen as a mandatory guideline on a par with the Ten Commandments. A term probably coined by Ronald Reagan and applied to his adage that no Republican (except him) should disparage another Republican. Eventually applied, often jocularly, to many different situations. For example: the mythical commandment but very real criminal code – thou shalt not get caught US, 1975 eleventh gear noun in trucking, neutral, used for conserving fuel when coasting down a hill US, 1971

elf noun a technical market analyst US, 1986

el fabuloso! used for expressing strong approval NEW ZEALAND, 1998

el foldo noun an utter, relentless collapse US, 1943

Eli nickname Yale University; a Yale student; a Yale sports team US, 1879

Eli Lilly noun morphine. From the drug manufacturer's name US, 1955 eliminate verb to kill a person. Originally jocular, but no longer UK, 1937 elite adjective in the world of Internet discussion groups, offering the illegal US, 1997

Elizabeth Regina noun the vagina. Rhyming slang, formed from Queen Elizabeth UK, 2003

Elizabeth's corner noun gossip AUSTRALIA, 1989 elk river noun in poker, a hand with three tens US, 1968

Elky noun a Chevrolet El Camino pickup truck, manufactured from 1959 until 1987 US, 1993

-ella suffix used to feminise a noun and thus create a derogative sense US, 1979

elle momo noun marijuana laced with phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. The etymology is uncertain; it looks French, sounds Spanish and is possibly a play on American 'mom' UK, 2001

ellie noun an elephant seal ANTARCTICA, 1990

Ellis Day noun LSD. Almost a homophone UK, 2003

Ely and Castle nickname the Elephant and Castle district of south London UK, 1976

Elmer noun in circus and carnival usage, an unsophisticated, gullible local US, 1926

El Producto noun oil. Texan US, 1980s

El Ropo noun any cheap cigar. Mock Spanish US, 1960

Elsie Tanner noun 1 a spanner. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a character in the television soap opera Coronation Street, played, from 1960 to 84, by actress Pat Phoenix, 1923–86 UK, 1992. 2 a single instance or example of something. Glasgow rhyming slang for 'wanner' UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

El Smoggo; El Stinko nickname El Paso, Texas. A tribute to the city's air quality US, 1970 el tee noun a lieutenant. From the abbreviation 'Lt' US, 1978 elton noun a toilet. A play on JOHN (a toilet) and musician Elton John (b.1947) UK, 1977

Elton John; elton noun deception; an act intended to trick or deceive; a tale intended to deceive. Rhyming slang for 'con', formed from the name of popular musician Sir Elton John (Reginald Kenneth Dwight) (b.1947) UK, 1998

elvis noun LSD UK, 2003

Elvis noun a poker player who is nearly broke but manages to stay in a game far longer than one would predict. Like Elvis Presley, the poker player refuses to die US, 1996

emag noun a game. Back slang UK, 1873

E-man noun a police officer assigned to the Emergency Service Unit. New York police slang US, 1997 embalmed adjective very drunk US, 1934 embalmed beef noun canned beef. A term most strongly associated with profiteers during the Spanish–American war; mostly historical use US, 1898 embalming fluid noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1992 embroidery noun the punctures and sores visible on an intravenous drug user's body US, 1973 embugger verb to hinder, to hamper. Military UK, 1995 embuggerance noun any unforeseen hazard that complicates a proposed course of action. Originally military. 1995 emby noun in carnival usage, a gullible player US, 1985

EM club noun an enlisted men's club US, 1977

Eme noun the Mexican Mafia, a Mexican-American prison gang. From the Spanish pronunciation of the letter 'M' US, 1990 emeffing adjective used as a euphemism for 'motherfucking' US, 1958 emergency gun noun an improvised method to puncture the skin and inject a drug US, 1973

emergency handout noun in prison, the consequent act of separating an imprisoned mother from her baby when, for disciplinary reasons, the parent is removed from the mother and baby unit – the baby is therefore handed out into local authority care UK, 1996

Emma Chisit? how much is it? The most famous and well-remembered piece of STRINE. The story goes that a visiting English writer, Monica Dickens, was autographing copies of her latest book in Sydney and a woman handed her a copy and asked in her best Australian accent 'How much is it?'. Monica Dickens took the book and wrote: 'To Emma Chisit' and signed her autograph below AUSTRALIA, 1965

Emma Freud noun a haemorrhoid. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of journalist Emma Freud (b.1961), daughter of Sir CLEMENT FREUD, whose name serves a synonymous purpose UK, 1997

Emma G noun a machine gun. A formation built on the initials MG US, 1949

Emma Jesse noun an emergency brake US, 1971

Emmerdale Farm; emmerdale noun the arm. Rhyming slang, formed from the title of a UK soap opera, broadcast since 1972, later changing its name to Emmerdale UK, 1998 emmet noun a holiday-maker or tourist in Cornwall. Derivative. Emmet is a dialect word for 'ant'; in Cornwall the holiday-makers obviously swarm and get everywhere UK, 1978

emptyhead noun an idiot UK, 2001 empty nest noun a home in which the children have all grown and gone away US, 1973 empty suit noun a person of no substance US, 1980

emu; emu bobber noun a person who picks up tickets at a racecourse in the hope of finding an unclaimed win. From the emu, a large, flightless Australian bird related to the ostrich, with long legs and a long neck, that bends to pick things off the ground AUSTRALIA, 1966

emu-bob verb to pick things up off the ground, such as litter or kindling AUSTRALIA, 1926

emu bob; emu parade; emu patrol; emu stalk; emu walk noun a patrol by a group of people over a certain area of ground for the purpose of searching or cleaning the area AUSTRALIA, 1941 enchilada noun ► the whole enchilada all of something. Popularised in the US during the Watergate scandal of 1972–1974 US, 1966 end noun 1 the area where you are born, or where you live and/or are well-known UK, 2005. 2 the best; an extreme UK, 1938. 3 a share or portion US, 1887. 4 the penis US, 1957. 5 money US, 1960. ► the end something or someone that tests you to the end of your endurance UK, 1938

endo noun 1 in mountain biking, an accident in which the cyclist is thrown over the handlebars; the course the cyclist follows in such an accident; a mountain biking trick in which the front brake is sharply applied thus forcing the back wheel to come up off the ground US, 1996. 2 in motor racing, an end-over-end flip US, 1976. 3 a backwards fall off a surfboard US, 1988. 4 in the television and film industry, any stunt in which a vehicle goes through the air end-over-end US, 2003. 5 marijuana US, 1997 end of enough said, no more. End of story UK, 2001 end of discussion used as a humorous, if stock, indication that there is nothing more to be said on the subject at hand US, 1987

end of story used as a way to indicate that all that needs to be told has been told, all that needs to be said has been said. Often jocular US, 1996

end of the line noun the absolute end, the finish of something US, 1948 end of the road noun the finish of something UK, 1954 end of watch noun death US, 1983 ends noun 1 money. An abbreviation of DIVIDENDS (money) US, 1997. 2 cash in hand US, 2001. 3 a rich customer of a prostitute US, 1987. 4 the hair. Possibly by back-formation from 'split-ends'. Recorded in use in contemporary gay society UK, 2003

endsville noun 1 the end US, 1962. 2 the best US, 1957. 3 the worst US, 2003

Eno nickname 1 the Northern Structure prison gang. Spanish for the letter 'N' used by English speakers in the American southwest US, 1995. 2 a member of the Nuestra Familia prison gang US, 1950 enema queen noun a male homosexual with an enema fetish US, 1969

Enema Sue; Enema Zoo nickname New Mexico State University. A cheerful play on the initials NMSU US, 1970

energizer noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1986 energy powder noun amphetamine UK, 1996 enforcer noun a criminal who uses violence or intimidation to enforce the will of a criminal gang US, 1929 en fuego! used as a humorous observation that somebody is performing very well. Coined and popularised by ESPN's Dan Patrick; probably the most widely used of the ESPN-spawned catchphrases US, 1997

Engelbert Humperdinck; englebert noun a drink. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of singer Engelbert Humperdinck (Gerry Dorsey) (b.1936) who came to popular fame in the mid-1960s UK, 1998 engine noun ► on the engine (used of a racehorse) well in front in a race US, 1994 engineer noun the first active participant in serial sex with a single passive partner. From 'to PULL A TRAIN' (to engage in serial sex) US, 1975 engine room noun 1 the forward pack on a rugby union team NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 2 the rhythm section of a band TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990. 3 the mid-boat rowers in an eight-person racing shell US, 1949

England noun ► go to England to have a baby in secret TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1960

English noun in pool, spin imparted on the cue ball to affect the course of the object ball or the cue ball after striking the object ball US, 1869

English-Channel eyes noun bloodshot eyes from exposure to cigarette and/or marijuana smoke. From photographs of swimmers staggering out of the water having crossed the Channel, their eyes bloodshot US, 1979

English method noun the rubbing of the penis between the thighs of another boy or man until reaching orgasm. More commonly known in the US as the 'Princeton Rub' US, 1987

English muffins noun in homosexual usage, a boy's buttocks US, 1987

English return noun dead silence after what was supposed to be a funny joke US, 1951

English vice noun flagellation US, 1956 enin noun nine; in betting, odds of 9–1. Backslang UK, 1859 enin to rouf noun in betting, odds of 9–4. A combination of ENIN (nine) and ROUF (four) when, if used alone, each word signifies more than the number itself UK, 1991 enit? don't you know? One of the very few Native American expressions used in a slangy sense by English-speaking Native Americans US, 1988 enjoy! used as a benediction by restaurant waiters, and then mimicked in other contexts US, 1995 enjoy the trip?; enjoy your trip? a catchphrase readily delivered to anyone who stumbles or trips over something. Often phrased

'did you enjoy the trip?', sometimes elaborated 'send a postcard next time!' UK, 1974 enlisted swine noun an enlisted soldier US, 1986

Enoch noun a coloured immigrant child. By ironic transference from Enoch Powell, 1912–98, a noted opponent of immigration into the UK. Recorded as being used by white primary-school children, but the example was surely set by a parent UK, 1979

Enoch Powell; enoch noun 1 a towel. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of British scholar and politician, Enoch Powell 1912–98 UK, 1992. 2 a trowel. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 enough pronoun ► can never get enough to be sexually insatiable UK, 1974. ► have had enough to be tipsy, drunk. A not entirely honest form of words – the implied sense is 'to have had more than enough' UK, 1937 enthuse verb to be enthusiastic, or create enthusiasm in others US, 1827 entjie; endjie noun a cigarette, especially the stub of a cigarette that may be saved for later; a marijuana cigarette. Formed on Afrikaans end (end), 'entjie' is pronounced 'ayn-chee' SOUTH AFRICA, 1946 entrepreneur noun a computer- or Internet-business entrepreneur. A play on NERD UK, 2003 entry noun ► up your entry appropriate to your taste or requirements UK, 1980 envelope noun 1 a condom US, 1964. 2 an aeroplane's performance limits US, 1990

Enzed noun New Zealand AUSTRALIA, 1915

Enzedder noun a New Zealander AUSTRALIA, 1933

EOT adjective dead US, 1998

ep noun an episode. A broadcasting abbreviation in wider currency US, 1915

EPA nickname East Palo Alto, San Mateo County, California. A black ghetto surrounded by Silicon Valley wealth US, 2000 epic adjective excellent, outstanding US, 1983 epidoddle noun epidural anaesthesia US, 1994 eppie scoppie noun a tantrum UK, 1995

eppis noun nothing US, 1966 eppo noun an attack, an outburst IRELAND, 2003 eppy noun a display of temper UK, 1988

Eppy nickname Brian Epstein (1934–67), manager of the Beatles UK, 2001 eppy adjective epileptic UK, 1988 epsilon noun a very small amount US, 1983

EPT nickname El Paso, Texas US, 1974

EQ; EQs noun an equalizer, the device which controls the tonal quality of domestic and professional sound-reproduction equipment UK, 2002 equalizer; equaliser noun a gun or any object that can be used in a fight. Not without irony US, 1899 equator noun the waist US, 1948 equipped adjective 1 stylish and fashionable US, 1972. 2 armed, equipped with a weapon UK, 1996

-er; -ers suffix used to create a slangy variation of a conventional, generally abridged, word. By this process, the word 'indigestion' becomes, in its simplest form, 'indigesters'; 'football' becomes FOOTER and 'rugby football' becomes 'rugger'. Now known as the 'Oxford -er(s)', it began at Rugby school in 1875 (Oxford English Dictionary), but this origin has been disputed and claimed for Harrow School. Usage migrated via Oxford University into general (upper-)middle-class slang, and Royal Navy Service UK, 1875 eradication squad; 'radication squad noun a unit of armed police UK, 1994

-erati suffix when added to a type or cultural interest, creates a fashionable group with a common identity or interest. On the model of 'literati'; better-known uses include 'liggerati' (hangers-on), 'niggerati' (successful members of black society) UK, 1990 erdie; erdy noun an unimaginative, conventional person. From German erde (earth, the Earth, the ground) UK, 1974

'ere; here said when passing a marijuana cigarette US, 2001

erecstasy noun a recreational drug cocktail of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, and Viagra™ (a branded drug that enables a male erection). A conflation of 'cause' and 'effect' IRELAND, 2003

erector noun a semi-erect penis UK, 1999

-ereemo suffix used as a meaningless appendage. Jocular, maybe just for fun UK, 1997

-er -er suffix a doer (of the verb). Jocular repetitious use of the agent suffix '-er'. Normally only one 'er' is used for a compound verb, thus 'wash up' becomes 'washer-up'. Then, added to both parts of the compound, 'washer-upper'. And sometimes, for comic effect, with a third '-er' added to the new compound as a whole, 'washer-upperer'. This last especially used by children AUSTRALIA, 1964 erie noun ► on the erie engaged in eavesdropping US, 1950

E-ring adjective high-ranking. Military usage. Refers to the 'E-ring' of the Pentagon where high-ranking officers work US, 1986

-erino suffix used as a suffix to create humorous variants understood from their base US, 1890s erk! used for expressing disgust AUSTRALIA, 1981

erk; irk noun a contemptible person. From a military use as 'a serviceman of low rank' UK, 1959 erky adjective mildly disgusting; unpleasant. From ERK! (an expression of mild disgust). The suggestion that it derives from 'disparateerk' (a naval rating) is mere clutching at straws AUSTRALIA, 1959

ernie noun a fool, especially one who does not concentrate. Snowboarders' slang US, 1995

-eroo suffix used as a meaningless embellishment; also used to intensify US, 1931

-erooni; -eroony suffix used as a decorative intensifier US, 1966

Eros and Cupid adjective stupid. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 erp verb to vomit US, 1968

errie noun an aeroplane UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

Errol Flynn noun the chin, in senses anatomic and figurative. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the swashbuckling film actor, 1909–59 UK, 1961

Erroll Flynn noun spectacles. Rhyming slang for BINS UK, 1992

Ervine noun a police officer US, 1992

esclop noun a police officer. Back slang, however the 'c' is not pronounced, and the 'e' is generally omitted, thus, 'slop' UK, 1851 escort service noun a prostitution business operating euphemistically under the guise of providing an escort, not a prostitute US, 1982 ese noun used as a term of address to a young male; an aware, street-wise young man. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1950 eskimo noun 1 in oil drilling, a worker from Alaska or Montana US, 1954. 2 a Jewish person US, 1989

Eskimo ice cream noun a mixture of tallow, berries and fish CANADA, 1962

Eskimo Nell; eskimo noun a bell (a telephone call). Rhyming slang, formed from the heroine of a famously bawdy ballad UK, 1998

Eskimo pie noun the vagina of a frigid woman US, 1977

Eskimo roll noun a manoeuvre used by surfers to pass through a wave coming at them by rolling under their surfboard US, 1977

Eskimo salad noun moss from a caribou stomach, prized as food by Eskimos CANADA, 1948

Eskimo sisters noun women who have at some point had sex with the same man. Used as the title of a 2002 play by Laine Paull US, 1994

esky noun a portable cooler for food and drink in the form of an insulated oblong box with a flat lid. Proprietary name; from 'eskimo' with a '-y' suffix. A quintessential item of Australian suburban life AUSTRALIA, 1953

Eskey noun an Eskimo US, 1978

Eskey lid noun a small bodyboard used for surfing. Used derisively AUSTRALIA, 1996

Eskey ladder noun a bodyboarder AUSTRALIA, 1996

esnortiar noun cocaine. Of Spanish origin UK, 2003 esong noun the nose. Back slang UK, 2002 esra; esrar; esar noun marijuana. A Turkish word now in wider usage US, 1982 esroch noun a horse. Back slang UK, 1859 essence noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy US, 1998 essence adjective beauty, especially when ascribed to a woman UK, 1987 essence of magic mushrooms noun psilocybin or psilocin, usually in powder or capsule form UK, 1999

Essex girl noun used as a stereotype for jokes, an Essex girl is brash, vulgar, trashy, sexually available, deeply unintelligent and, allegedly, from Essex. Derogatory. Essex girl jokes such as: 'Q: What do you call an Essex girl with two brain cells? A: Pregnant' have been in circulation since the 1980s UK, 2001 establishment noun the dominant power in any society UK, 1955 esthole noun an enthusiastic supporter of the est human growth movement. An appropriate play on 'asshole' US, 1997 estuffa noun heroin. From border Spanish for 'stuff' (a drug, especially heroin) US, 1984

ET noun in drag racing, the elapsed time of a particular quarter mile sprint US, 1963 ► see: E AND T e-tard noun a person whose life has been adversely effected by excessive use of MDMA US, 2001 etch-a-sketch verb to manually stimulate both of a sex-partner's nipples. A similar action is required to operate an Etch-a-Sketch™, a children's toy drawing machine NEW ZEALAND, 2002

etched adjective drunk UK, 2002

E Team noun in the language of hang gliding, expert fliers from Lake Elsinore, California US, 1992 eternal care noun in hospital, intensive care. Medical slang, darkly humorous UK, 2002

ethanolic noun a drunkard US, 1978

Ethiopian paradise noun in a racially segregated cinema, the balcony US, 1900

Ethy meat noun a black woman as a sex object. An abbreviation of 'Ethiopian', a racial rather than national label US, 1987

E-tool noun an entrenching tool with an extendable telescopic handle and folding blade US, 1976

e-type noun a person with a professional or recreational interest in electronics UK, 2003

Euan Blair; Euan noun Leicester Square. Rhyming slang, recalling an incident in July 2000 when Prime Minister Blair's 16-year-old son Euan was found 'drunk and incapable' in Leicester Square UK, 2002 euaned adjective very drunk. Pronounced 'you-and'. From 6th July 2000: Prime Minister Blair's 16-year-old son was arrested for being 'drunk and incapable' UK, 2002

euchre verb to ruin or destroy US, 1853 eucy; eucy oil noun eucalyptus oil AUSTRALIA, 1977

euphoria noun a combination of mescaline, crystal methadine and MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003

Europe noun ► go Europe to vomit BERMUDA, 1985

Eurotrash noun rich foreigners living in the US. Taki Theodora-copulos popularised the term in society columns written for Vanity Fair and the Spectator US, 1987 eva noun a pill marked with E on one side and A on the obverse, sold as MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, actually containing a mixture of MDMA and amphetamine UK, 2002

evac noun an evacuation US, 1954

evac verb to evacuate US, 1944

Eve noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. A play on ADAM, itself almost an anagram of MDMA US, 1985 evening breeze; sweet evening breeze noun cheese. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 evening glass noun calm surf conditions in the evening after the afternoon wind has diminished US, 1978

Evening News noun a bruise, especially a love-bite. Rhyming slang, formed from the title of a London evening newspaper that ceased publication in 1980 UK, 1992 even shake; fair shake; good shake noun a fair deal US, 1830 even steven; even stephen; even stevens; even stephens adjective even, equal. 'Steven' adds nothing but the rhyme US, 1866 everafters noun consequences UK, 2002 everclear noun cocaine UK, 2002 ever hear more!; ever see more! used as an expression of surprise TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 everlastin joob-jooob noun a fool, an idiot; a contemptible person. Glasgow rhyming slang for TUBE, formed on an improbable-sounding sweet UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 ever-loving adjective used as an intensifier US, 1919 ever such adjective used to describe a great or fine example UK, 1803

Everton toffee; everton noun coffee. Rhyming slang UK, 1857 every crab from the bush everyone CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985 every home should have one a catchphrase generally applied to common objects, babies and non-material things. Thought to have been an advertising slogan in the 1920s UK, 1974

every man and his dog everyone AUSTRALIA, 1979

every man jack noun absolutely everyone UK, 1828

Every Minute Sucks noun work with an Emergency Medical Service unit. New York police slang; back-formation from the initials EMS US, 1997 everything-but girl noun a woman who will engage in any and all sexual activity short of intercourse US, 2002 everything in the garden's lovely! a catchphrase used to exclaim: all is well, all goes well UK, 1910 everything is everything used for conveying that all is well when asked how things are going US, 1968 everything's drawing everything's going well, thank you! Nautical origins, suggesting that all sails are set and there is a following breeze US, 1963 everything that opens and shuts noun everything possible AUSTRALIA, 1960 every which way adverb in every manner or direction US, 1824 every which way but in every manner or direction except the correct one. A specific refinement of EVERY WHICH WAY UK, 1984 eve teasing noun an act of a male outraging the modesty of a female in a public place by indecent speech or actual and unwanted physical contact INDIA, 1979 evil noun 1 a look of contempt or strong dislike UK, 2005. 2 a man with a body piercing through his penis. New Zealand prison slang NEW ZEALAND, 2000 evil adjective 1 mean-spirited, inconsiderate US, 1939. 2 excellent UK, 1999. 3 in computing, not designed for the speaker's purpose US, 1991

evo noun the evening AUSTRALIA, 1977

Ev'o'lene, the Nevada Queen noun in craps, the number eleven US, 1985 ex noun 1 a former lover or spouse. The prefix 'ex-', like those so-named, stands alone US, 1929. 2 exercise, games UK, 1947. 3 in target shooting, a bullseye. From the notion, perhaps, that 'X marks the spot' US, 1957. 4 a car's accelerator TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1971 ex!; exie! used for expressing enthusiastic approval. Contractions of EXCELLENT! used by Glasgow schoolchildren UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 exacta noun in horse racing, a bet on first and second place US, 1991 exacto! exactly. Mock Spanish. US, 1991 exacts noun mundane, easily obtained facts about a person, gathered by an investigator US, 1997 excellent adjective impressive, amazing. Conventional English turned slang by the young. Stress is on the first syllable, which follows something close to a glottal stop, the 'l' is lazy US, 1982 excellent! used for expressing enthusiastic approval US, 1989 excellent behaviour! used for registering approval UK, 2000 excess leggage noun a more than usual display of a person's legs UK, 2004

Exchange & Mart noun a prostitute. Rhyming slang for TART, formed from the title of a weekly publication (published every Thursday since 1868) devoted to advertisements from people wishing to buy, sell or barter the widest range of goods or services UK, 1992 excitement noun sexual intercourse; the penis IRELAND, 1997 ex-con noun an ex-convict, a former prisoner. Also recorded in the UK US, 1906 excruciate verb to aggravate, to irritate, to anger UK, 1997 excuse me? regarding a statement just made, used as an expression of disbelief, either of the content of the statement or of the fact the statement has been made at all UK, 2003 excuse-me; 'scuse-me; bo-excuse-me; ooscuse-me noun an educated, middle-class person. Township slang; contemptuous SOUTH AFRICA, 1963 excuuuuse me! used as a humorous admission of error. Made wildly popular by comedian Steve Martin during frequent appearances on NBC's Saturday Night Live in the 1970s and 1980s. Repeated with referential humour US, 1977 exec noun 1 a corporate executive UK, 1896. 2 an executive military officer US, 1898 executive services noun sexual intercourse, as distinct from masturbation, when advertised as a service offered by a prostitute UK, 2003 exercise verb ► exercise the ferret (from a male perspective) to have sex AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► exercise the one-eyed trouser snake (of a male) to urinate. Based on ONE-EYED TROUSER SNAKE (the penis) UK, 2000 exes noun 1 expenses, out-of-pocket costs. Also known as 'ex's', 'exs' and 'x's' UK, 1864. 2 six; in betting, odds of 6–1. Backslang. Also variant 'exis' UK, 1951 exes and a half noun in betting, odds of 13–2. In bookmaker slang EXES is 6–1, here the addition of 'a half' increases the odds to 6½–1 or 13–2 UK, 1991 exes to fere noun in betting, odds of 6–4. A combination of EXES (six) with a corruption of 'four' UK, 1937 exes to rouf noun in betting, odds of 6–4. A combination of EXES (six) and ROUF (four) UK, 1991 exfil noun exfiltration (the act of withdrawing troops or spies from a dangerous position). Military UK, 1995 ex-govie adjective in the Australian Capital Territory, descriptive of a dwelling, formerly owned by a government department but now privately owned AUSTRALIA, 1988 exiticity noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 exo verb to equip an off-road vehicle with an external safety cage. From 'exoskeleton' US, 1972 exo adjective excellent AUSTRALIA, 1990

expat noun an expatriate, a person from the UK living overseas US, 1961 expect verb ► expect a flood to wear trousers that are too short TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993 expedite verb ► expedite into eternity to die US, 1994 expendable adjective describes casualties of war whose loss is anticipated and considered acceptable as the price of success. A military and political term borrowed from accounting UK, 1942 expensive care unit noun a hospital's intensive care unit US, 1989 expensive scare noun in hospital, intensive care. Medical slang UK, 2002 experience noun an experience of using LSD or mescaline UK, 1978 explorers' club noun a group of LSD users. Another 'LSD-as-travel' metaphor US, 1967 expressions noun profanity BARBADOS, 1965 exsqueeze me! excuse me! US, 1953 extra noun 1 in the coded language of the massage parlour, sex US, 1996. 2 in the language surrounding the Grateful Dead, an extra ticket for that day's concert US, 1994 extra adjective of behaviour, unnecessary or extreme UK, 2005 extra adverb very NEW ZEALAND, 2002 extract verb ► extract the michael to make fun of someone; to pull someone's leg; to jeer; to deride. A 'humorous' variation of TAKE THE MICKY, probably on the model of the synonymous EXTRACT THE URINE UK, 1984. ► extract the urine to make fun of someone; to pull someone's leg; to jeer; to deride. A 'humorous' euphemistic variation of TAKE THE PISS UK, 1948 extra-curricular activities noun adulterous sexual play, especially sexual intercourse UK, 1984 eye noun 1 desire, an appetite US, 1934. 2 a person who is not a part of the criminal underworld but who reports what he sees to those who are US, 1964. 3 a private detective US, 1930. 4 a hand-held mirror used by a prisoner to see what is happening down their cellblock US, 1992. 5 an automatic timing light on a drag racing track US, 1970. 6 a railway track signal US, 1946. 7 the anus US, 1990. ► I will in my eye used for registering refusal IRELAND, 1993. ► my eye! all my eye! my eye and Betty Martin! used for registering disbelief UK, 1842. ► the Eye 1 a metal detector US, 1967. 2 the US Federal Bureau of Investigation. From 'FBI' to 'eye' US, 1997

eyeball noun 1 a meeting between two shortwave radio operators who have only known each other over the radio US, 1976. 2 a visual observation US, 1951. 3 the identification of a criminal by a witness to the crime US, 1992. 4 a favoured child or pet TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1986. 5 a truck or car headlight US, 1977 eyeball verb 1 to see, to stare, to identify in a police line-up US, 1901. 2 to stare aggressively. After EYEBALL TO EYEBALL (descriptive of an aggressive confrontation) US, 1996

eyeball palace noun a homosexuals' bar where there is a lot of looking and not much touching US, 1964 eyeball queen noun a male homosexual who looks but does not touch US, 1964 eyeballs noun ► to the eyeballs to the maximum of capacity, absolutely full, totally UK, 1933 eyeballs, come back here! used by a clever boy for expressing approval of a passing girl US, 1955 eyeball-to-eyeball adjective on the verge of a hostile confrontation. A variation of conventional 'face-to-face' US, 1953 eyeball-to-eyeball adverb in direct, face-to-face confrontation US, 1953 eyeball van noun a police van equipped for surveillance US, 1988 eye black noun mascara UK, 1952 eye bleeder noun powerful, green marijuana US, 1997 eye candy noun an extremely attractive person, regardless of their character or intellect, regardless of their sex, regardless of their sexual orientation US, 1984 eye doctor noun the active participant in anal sex. From EYE (the anus) US, 1949 eye! eye! eye-eye! look out!; also used as a warning that a prisoner is under surveillance; or as an injunction to be vigilant UK, 1950 eye fiddle noun an ugly person. From the Irish aghaidh fidil (a face-mask made from coloured paper) IRELAND, 2000 eye-fuck verb to look at with unmasked sexual intentions US, 1916 eyeful noun a good look at something UK, 1899 eye-game verb to exchange flirtatious looks TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 eyeglasses noun used as a warning by an orchestra conductor to the musicians that a particularly difficult passage is coming up US, 1973 eye in the sky noun 1 surveillance stations or cameras in casinos concealed above two-way mirrors on the ceiling US, 1961. 2 a police helicopter US, 1992 eye job noun cosmetic surgery around the eyes US, 1996 eyelash noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for SLASH (urination) UK, 2000 eye-opener noun 1 a strong drink, especially early in the morning US, 1817. 2 a drug addict's first injection of the day US, 1959. 3 any drug that acts as a central nervous system stimulant BAHAMAS, 1982. 4 the active participant in anal sex US, 1949 eyes noun ► keep your eyes peeled; keep your eyes skinned to be extra-observant. 'Keep your eyes skinned' predated 'peeled' by 20 years US, 1833. ► the eyes in craps, a roll of two. An abbreviation of SNAKE EYES US, 1999 eye's front noun a contemptible fool. Rhyming slang for CUNT, formed from the military command 'Eyes front!' UK, 1974 eyes like cod's bollocks noun protuberant eyes UK, 1961 eyes like piss-holes in the snow noun deeply sunken or squinting eyes (whether naturally, or as a result of illness, or – most commonly – as a symptom of a hangover) UK, 1970 eyes of blue adjective true. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Eyetalian noun an Italian or, an Italian-American AUSTRALIA, 1900

Eyetalian adjective Italian. A spelling that follows pronunciation UK, 1962

Eyetic noun 1 an Italian or Italian-American. Originally army use in World War 1 US, 1919. 2 the Italian language. Derogatory, if not intentionally so UK, 1925

Eyetic adjective Italian UK, 1925

Eyeto noun 1 an Italian AUSTRALIA, 1941. 2 the Italian language AUSTRALIA, 1957 eye trouble noun 1 a tendency to stare. Prison usage NEW ZEALAND, 1999. 2 extreme fatigue US, 1971 eye up verb to look something or someone over, especially to appraise someone as sexually desirable US, 1957 eyewash noun 1 nonsense UK, 1930. 2 intentionally deceptive words or actions US, 1917. 3 tear gas US, 1992

ey up; ey-up used as a greeting; used as a means of directing attention to something. A northern English dialect phrase in wide use UK, 1977

E-Z adjective easy. Phonetic American spelling US, 1996

e-zine noun a low-budget, self-published magazine made available over the Internet. A combination of 'e-' (a prefix, denoting electronic) and ZINE (a FANZINE, a magazine for and by fans) US, 1998

Ff

F noun 1 oral sex. An abbreviation of FRENCH used in personal advertising US, 1987. 2 in poker, the sixth player to the left of the dealer US, 1988

F adjective in the written shorthand of the Internet and texting, in a homosexual context, feminine. Short for FEMME UK, 2004

F ▶ see: EFF

F2F face-to-face, in Internet or texting shorthand UK, 1996

F-40; Lilly F-40; forty noun an orange-coloured 100 mg capsule of secobarbital sodium (trade name Seconal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1977 fab adjective very good, excellent; used for registering general approval or agreement. A shortening of FABULOUS (very good, etc.); hugely popular usage in the 1960s, in part thanks to The Beatles. Subsequently in and out of vogue, surviving between times as irony. The cult science fiction television programme Thunderbirds (1964–66) used 'F. A. B.' as an acknowledgement but otherwise meaningless catchphrase; the 1999 UK re-run coincided with a vogue revival US, 1957 fabbo adjective fabulous; excellent. From 'fabulous' AUSTRALIA, 2003 fabe adjective very good, excellent. An affected elaboration of FAB UK, 1967 fabel adjective very good, excellent, lovely. An elaboration of FAB UK, 2002 faboo adjective fabulous US, 1999 fabric noun clothing in general US, 1972 fabulicious adjective good and good tasting. Usually used to describe a sexually appealing man US, 1997 fabulous adjective used as a clichéd term of praise US, 1997 face noun 1 makeup UK, 1946. 2 pride, self-esteem, confidence, reputation, standing UK, 1876. 3 a known criminal US, 1944. 4 in racecourse gambling, a bettor who is believed to have useful information regarding the likely outcome of a race. A bookmakers' usage UK, 2001. 5 a leading member of the Mod youth fashion movement UK, 1964. 6 in professional wrestling, a wrestler who is designed by the promoters to be seen by the audience as the hero. Short for BABYFACE US, 1990. 7 a professional pool player who is well known and recognised, making it impossible for him to make a living betting with unsuspecting amateurs US, 1990. 8 a stranger; any person US, 1946. 9 used as a term of address UK, 1891. 10 oral sex US, 1968. 11 in betting, odds of 5–2. From the TICK-TACK signal used by bookmakers UK, 1991. 12 a clock or watch US, 1959. ▶ between the face and eyes where a blow or shocking news hits US, 1975. ▶ feed your face; stuff your face to eat, especially to eat hungrily or in an ill-mannered way UK, 1939. ▶ in your face adversarial, confrontational US, 1976. ▶ off your face drunk or drug-intoxicated. Variation of OFF YOUR HEAD UK, 2001. ▶ your face (and) my arse a catchphrase response to a smoker's request, 'Have you got a match?' UK, 1984 face verb to humiliate US, 1983. ▶ face the breeze in horse racing, to be in the position immediately behind and outside the leader US, 1997 face! used as the stinging finale to a deliberate insult. Youth slang US, 1979 face-ache noun used, generally, as a disparaging form of address. Harsher when used behind someone's back UK, 1937 face as long as a wet Sunday noun used for describing an expression of depression or sadness CANADA, 1984 face bubble noun in motorcycling, a plastic shield attached to the helmet to cover the face US, 1973 faced adjective 1 drunk US, 1968. 2 under the influence of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy US, 1998. 3 embarrassed, humiliated. Youth slang US, 1993 face-fart verb to burp NEW ZEALAND, 1982 face-fucking noun oral sex, from an active perspective US, 1996 face fungus noun whiskers, men's facial hair UK, 1907 face job noun cosmetic surgery designed to alter your appearance US, 1982 face lace noun whiskers US, 1927 facelift noun in the used car business, the procedure of turning back the miles on the mileometer (odometer) US, 1997 face like a bag of arses noun an ugly face. A variation of FACE LIKE A BAG OF SPANNERS UK, 2003 face like a bag of spanners noun a hard and rough face, mostly used when describing a woman. Recorded as used by a man describing his mother-in-law UK, 1975 face like a bulldog noun an ugly face, mostly applied to a girl or woman. Embellishments abound, such as 'face like a bulldog chewing a wasp' or 'face like a bulldog licking piss off a nettle' UK, 2003 face like a dyin' calf noun a morose, sorrowful look CANADA, 1988 face like a leper licking piss off a thistle noun an ugly face, mostly applied to a girl or woman UK, 2003 face like a slapped arse noun a very miserable-looking countenance UK, 1999 face-off noun an ejaculation of semen onto a lover's face US, 2003 face-plant noun a face-first fall; in snowboarding, a face-first fall into the snow US, 1984 faces and spaces noun joint consideration of equipment and personnel for the field and non-field positions. Military usage US, 1986 face-shot noun an air-to-air guided missile US, 1991 face time noun time spent in a meeting or conversation with an important or influential person; time spent on television US, 1991 face train noun serial oral sex, from the point of view of the provider US, 2001 facety adjective rude, arrogant JAMAICA, 1943 face-up massage noun an erotic massage CANADA, 2002 face-welly noun a gas mask. Conventional 'face' combined with 'welly' (a protective rubber boot). Royal Air Force use UK, 2002 facey adjective indicating criminal qualities. From FACE (a known criminal) UK, 2000 fachiva noun heroin UK, 2003 facial noun 1 ejaculation onto a person's face. Depictions of the act in pornographic films and photographs promise great pleasure to the recipient US, 1993. 2 in rugby, an aggressive rubbing of the face of a tackled opponent NEW ZEALAND, 1998 facking adjective used as an intensifier. A variant spelling of 'fucking' based on London Cockney pronunciation UK, 2001 factoid noun a fact, especially when superfluously or gratuitously given UK, 2003 factor noun in horse racing, a horse who is contending for the lead in a race US, 1960 factory noun 1 a police station UK, 1891. 2 the equipment needed to inject drugs US, 1971. ▶ the factory the theatre. Jocular usage by actors UK, 1952 factory driver noun in motor racing, a driver officially representing a car manufacturer US, 1980 fac-U nickname during the Vietnam war, the forward air controller training facility in Phan Rang. The FAC from 'forward air controller', the U from 'university', and the combination from a sense of mischief US, 1942 fade noun 1 a departure US, 1942. 2 a black person who tries to lose his identity as a black person and to assume an identity more pleasing to the dominant white society US, 1970. 3 a white person US, 1972. 4 a haircut style in which the sides of the head are closely cut and the top of the head is not. Also heard as a 'fadie' US, 1989 fade verb 1 to leave, to disappear US, 1899. 2 to idle; to waste time US, 1968. 3 to match the bet of another gambler; to bet against another gambler's success US, 1890. 4 to buy part of something US, 2004. 5 to deal with, to handle US, 1972. ► fade a beef to cause a complaint or criminal charge to be removed US, 1976 fadeaway noun in hot rodding, a design feature that blends the front fender back into the car body US, 1954 fade away verb to become quiet US, 1947 faded adjective 1 drunk US, 1998. 2 drug-intoxicated US, 1998 fade-out noun a disappearance US, 1918 faff about; faff around verb to mess about; to waste time on matters of no importance. An apparent euphemism for FUCK but originally British dialect faffle with the same sense UK, 1874 fag noun 1 a male homosexual. Shortened from 'faggot' US, 1921. 2 a cigarette, a cigarette butt UK, 1888. 3 a despicable, unlikeable person. No allegation of homosexuality is inherent in this usage US, 1982 ► see: FAG PACKET

fag around verb (of presumptively heterosexual male friends) to joke around or engage in horseplay US, 1997 fag-bag verb to rob a homosexual man US, 1977 fag-bait noun an effeminate boy or young man US, 1974 fag bangle noun a homosexual man who accompanies a heterosexual woman. Derives from the purely decorative effect of the relationship UK, 2002 fag factory noun 1 a place where homosexuals gather. Formed on FAG (a homosexual) US, 1949. 2 a prison, especially one with a large homosexual population US, 1992 fagged out; fagged adjective exhausted UK, 1785 fagging noun male homosexual anal-intercourse US, 1996 faggish adjective effeminate, blatantly homosexual US, 1958 faggot noun a male homosexual US, 1914

Faggot Flats nickname a neighbourhood in Los Angeles, south of the Sunset Strip and north of Santa Monica Boulevard US, 1969 faggot road noun a road topped with sapling bundles CANADA, 1956 faggotry noun male homosexuality; male homosexual practices US, 1970 faggot's lunch box noun a jock strap, an athletic support US, 1964 faggot's moll noun a heterosexual woman who seeks and enjoys the company of homosexual men US, 1969 faggoty; faggotty adjective obviously homosexual US, 1927 faggy adjective effeminate, blatantly homosexual US, 1949 fag hag noun 1 a female cigarette smoker. Teen slang, formed on FAG (a cigarette). Noted by a Toronto newspaper in 1946, and reported as 'obsolescent or obsolete' in 1959. This sense of the term is long forgotten in the US but not the UK US, 1944. 2 a woman who seeks and enjoys the company of male homosexuals. Formed on FAG (a homosexual). At times now used with derision, at times with affection US, 1965 fag-hater noun a person with a pathological dislike for homosexuals US, 1979

Fagin noun 1 a leader of thieves. After the character created by Charles Dickens in Oliver Twist, 1837 US, 1976. 2 in pool, a person who backs a player financially in his bets US, 1990 fag loop noun a loop on the back of a man's shirt US, 2001 fag mag noun a magazine marketed to homosexuals. A compound of FAG (a homosexual) and MAG (a magazine) UK, 2003 fag moll noun a woman who keeps company with homosexual men US, 1973 fagola noun a homosexual US, 1961 fag out verb to go to bed US, 1968 fag packet; fag noun a jacket. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 fag roller noun a criminal who preys on homosexual victims US, 1962 fag show noun in the circus or carnival, a performance by female impersonators US, 1980 fag tag noun a loop on the back of a man's shirt US, 1980 failure to float noun drowning or near drowning US, 1994 failure to fly a tag applied to failed suicides. Medical slang UK, 2002 fainits!; fain II; fains!; fain it!; faynights!; fainites! used to call a playground truce. Schoolchildren's use, probably from conventional 'feign' (to pretend) hence 'to shirk', 'to evade'; often used in conjunction with a fingers-crossed gesture, the middle finger twisted over and around the forefinger, in the traditional sign of the cross, hence the call for truce may actually be a plea for sanctuary derived from conventional 'fen', corrupted from French fend (to forbid); note also 'forfend' (to protect) as in the phrase 'Heaven forbend' UK, 1870 fainting fits; faintings noun the female breasts. Rhyming slang UK, 1972 faints noun in the illegal production of alcohol, low-proof distillate US, 1974 fair adjective 1 (used of a gang fight) without weapons US, 1965. 2 absolute; total AUSTRALIA, 1960 fairbank verb in a gambling cheating scheme, to let a victim win at first, increasing his confidence before cheating him US, 1961 fair bollix noun a fair deal, a just proportion. Variation of FAIR DO'S IRELAND, 2000 fair buck noun used as a plea for fair treatment NEW ZEALAND, 1998 fair cow noun an annoying person or circumstance AUSTRALIA, 1904 fair crack of the whip noun fair treatment, equal opportunity. To give someone a 'fair crack of the whip' is to deal fairly with that person AUSTRALIA, 1929 fair crack of the whip! be fair! AUSTRALIA, 1924 fair dinks adverb honestly AUSTRALIA, 1983 fair dinkum adjective 1 displaying typical Australian characteristics, such as honesty, directness, guts, sense of humour and the like AUSTRALIA, 1937. 2 real; actual AUSTRALIA, 1937. 3 serious; in earnest AUSTRALIA, 1934. 4 fair; honest; equitable AUSTRALIA, 1947. 5 true; genuine AUSTRALIA, 1908 fair dinkum adverb 1 honestly, really; seriously, in all truth. First recorded in 1881 from the dialect of north Lincolnshire as an exclamation equivalent to 'fair play!', in which usage it had a brief life in Australia from 1890 to 1924 (Australian National Dictionary) AUSTRALIA, 1894. 2 totally; properly, well and truly AUSTRALIA, 1918. 3 fairly AUSTRALIA, 1947 fair do's; fair dues noun fair and just treatment. A plural of 'do' as action (deeds), sometimes confused with 'dues' (requirements) without substantially altering the sense UK, 1859 fair enough noun a homosexual. Rhyming slang for PUFF (a homosexual); probably coined as an elaboration of FAIRY (a homosexual) UK, 1992 fair enough! used for expressing agreement UK, 1926 fair fight; fair one noun a fight between members of rival gangs in which weapons or at least lethal weapons are forbidden US, 1950 fair fucks noun credit, merit IRELAND, 1992 fair go noun an act or instance of just treatment; a fair or reasonable opportunity AUSTRALIA, 1904 fair go! 1 be fair! AUSTRALIA, 1938. 2 this is true! NEW ZEALAND, 1976 fair go? indeed? NEW ZEALAND, 1961 fair go, spinner! in the gambling game two-up, used as a call signifying that the coins are to be tossed AUSTRALIA, 1945 fairies noun ► away with the fairies day-dreaming, possibly drug-intoxicated; mentally deranged; out of this world IRELAND, 1996 fair play! used for expressing appreciation. Probably from the Welsh chwarae teg, used as an expression of approval by English-speaking Welsh UK, 2001 fair shake noun ► see: EVEN SHAKE fair suck of the pineapple! used for registering surprise or complaint. A humorous variation of FAIR CRACK OF THE WHIP AUSTRALIA, 1971 fair suck of the sauce bottle! be fair! AUSTRALIA, 1972 fair suck of the sauce stick noun fair treatment, equal opportunity AUSTRALIA, 1971 fair to middling adjective average, especially in reply to an inquiry about your health or situation UK, 1889 fairy noun 1 a male homosexual US, 1895. 2 an avionics tradesman in the Royal Air Force UK, 2002 fairy dust noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1993 fairy hawk noun a criminal who preys on homosexuals US, 1988 fairyland noun 1 any roadside park. So named because of the belief that homosexuals congregate at roadside parks in search of sexual partners US, 1971. 2 a colour light multiple aspect gantry (a railway signal) UK, 1970 fairy loop noun a cloth loop on the back of a man's shirt US, 1970 fairy powder noun any powdered drug US, 1992 fairy story; fairy noun a Tory (Conservative); a Tory politician. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 fairy wand noun a cigarette holder US, 1963 fake noun 1 in a magic act, a piece of equipment that has been altered for use in a trick US, 1981. 2 a swindler; a confidence man UK, 1884. 3 a medicine dropper used by an intravenous drug user to inject the drug. At times embellished as 'fakus' US, 1973. 4 an erection UK, 2002 fake verb 1 to deceive UK, 1859. 2 to falsify for the purposes of deception UK, 1851. 3 to make, to do UK, 2002. 4 to hit. Polari UK, 1933. 5 to play music by ear US, 1926. ► fake it usually of a woman, to pretend to experience an orgasm during sexual intercourse US, 1989. ► fake it till you make it in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, used as a slogan to encourage recovering addicts to modify their behaviour immediately, with their emotional recovery to follow US, 1998 fake adjective used in combination with a noun to denote an artificially constructed article, e.g. 'fake hair' for a wig UK, 2002 fake bake noun a suntan acquired in an indoor tanning booth US, 1991 fake book noun a book of chords used by musicians who improvise off the basic chords US, 1970 fakement noun 1 personal adornment such as jewellery or makeup. Extends an earlier theatrical sense as 'face-paint' UK, 2002. 2 a thing; used of something the name of which escapes you UK, 2002 fake out verb to bluff, to dupe US, 1949 fake riah; fashioned riah noun a wig. A combination of FAKE or 'fashioned' (made/artificial) and RIAH (the hair) UK, 2002 fakes noun breast implants US, 1997

fakie noun 1 in foot-propelled scootering, a travelling backwards manoeuvre, usually performed with only the rear wheel in contact with the ground UK, 2000. 2 in skateboarding, a travelling-backwards manoeuvre UK, 1996 fall noun an arrest and/or conviction. In the US often formed as 'take a fall', in the UK 'get a fall' US, 1893 fall verb 1 to be arrested US, 1873. 2 of police and shop detectives, to arrive AUSTRALIA, 1975. 3 to come; to go US, 1943. 4 to become pregnant UK, 1722. ► fall into the bottle to become a drunkard US, 1990. ► fall off a mango tree to be extremely naive TRINIDAD

AND TOBAGO, 1991. ► fall off the roof to start the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1973. ► fall on the grenade in a social situation, to pay attention to the less attractive of a pair of friends in the hope that your friend will have success with the more attractive member of the pair US, 2002 fall about verb to laugh immoderately UK, 1967

Fallbrook redhair noun marijuana purportedly grown near Fallbrook, California US, 1992 fall by verb to visit US, 1965 fall down verb to fail at something US, 1899 fallenatnite noun used as a mock scientific name for a stone CANADA, 1989 fallen off the back of a lorry; fell off a lorry; off the back of a lorry adjective stolen (not necessarily from a vehicle). A pretence at discretion which advertises a conspiratorial acknowledgment of an article's ill-gotten provenance; well known in the latter half of C20 UK, 1977 fall for verb 1 to be greatly attracted by someone or something, to fall in love with someone; in a less positive sense, to be taken in by someone or something US, 1903. 2 to become pregnant UK, 1968 fall guy noun a person who is set up to be blamed for a crime. From FALL (an arrest/a conviction) US, 1904 fall in verb 1 to join; to stay US, 1952. 2 in horse racing, to barely hold off challengers and win a race AUSTRALIA, 1989 fall into verb to acquire by chance or without effort US, 1946 fall money noun money placed in reserve by a criminal for use if arrested US, 1893 fall on verb to become pregnant UK, 1976 fall out verb 1 to be overcome with emotion US, 1938. 2 to lose consciousness due to a drug overdose US, 1959 fall partner noun a confederate with whom you have been arrested US, 1969 falls noun ► over the falls said of a surfer carried over the breaking edge of a wave US, 1964 fall scratch noun money set aside to cover expenses incurred in the event of an arrest US, 1969 fall togs noun conservative, traditional clothing worn by a seasoned criminal on trial to improve his chances with the jury or judge US, 1962 fall up verb to go to US, 1952 false! used for expressing doubt about the truth of the matter just asserted US, 1989 false alarm noun the arm. Rhyming slang, always used in its full form to avoid confusion with 'falses' and FALSIES (breast enhancements) UK, 1992

falsie basket noun crotch padding worn by males to project the image of a large penis US, 1957 falsies noun pads that aggrandise the apparent size of a girl or woman's breasts US, 1943 falsitude noun a lie US, 2001 falsy noun a chipped marble TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 fam noun 1 the hand. English gypsy use UK, 1699. 2 a family. Also recorded in the US AUSTRALIA, 1996 family noun a group of prostitutes and their pimp US, 1969. ► in the family way pregnant UK, 1796 family adjective homosexual US, 1994 family jewels noun the male genitals US, 1922 family pot noun in poker, a hand in which most of the players are still betting at the end of the hand US, 1990 family reunion noun in trucking, a meeting of several drivers for one company at a truck stop US, 1971 family-style adjective (used of parts in a manufacturing plant) stored together US, 1955 famine noun a lack of availability of an addictive drug US, 1992 famous dimes noun crack cocaine US, 1994

Famous Fourth nickname the Fourth Army Division, US Army US, 1991

famous last words a catchphrase used as an expression of doubt regarding the certainty of whatever has just been promised UK, 1948 fan noun 1 the preliminary touching of a targeted victim by a pickpocket *US, 1958. 2 crack cocaine *US, 1993 fan verb to beat; to spank UK, 1785

fanac noun an activity for a serious fan US, 1978

fananny whacker noun a person who cheats at marbles by encroaching over the shooting line AUSTRALIA, 1977

fananny whacking noun cheating at marbles by edging your hand over the shooting line AUSTRALIA, 1985 fan belt inspector noun an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigations. A back formation from the initials FBI US, 1971 fancome noun a convention put on by fans US, 1976 fancy noun a man's dress shirt with a coloured pattern US, 1986 fancy verb 1 to desire, to wish for, to want *UK, 1598. 2 to desire sexually; to find sexually attractive. From the more general sense, 'to desire'; the sexual shadings were evident by Shakespeare's time. It slipped into current usage towards the end of C19 UK, 1635. ► fancy the muff off; fancy the tits off; fancy the pants off to find a woman extremely desirable. Intensification of FANCY (to desire) by specifying MUFF (the vagina), TIT(S) (the female breasts) or 'pants' (underwear) UK, 2000. ► fancy your chances; fancy your chance to presume that your charm or skill will suffice to achieve success UK, 1962. ► fancy yourself to have too high an opinion of yourself (probably). Shortened from the conventional 'fancy yourself as' or 'fancy yourself to be something' *UK, 1866 fancy!; fancy that! used as an exclamation of surprise. Often as an imperative; however, when spoken disinterestedly, it may be used to quench another's excitement UK, 1813 fancy boy noun in poker, a draw in the hope of completing a hand that is extremely unlikely US, 1967 fancy Dan noun an elegant, conceited man US, 1943 fancy-Dan adjective pretentious US, 1938 fancy man noun a man who lives off the earnings of a prostitute or several prostitutes; a male lover UK, 1811 fancy pants noun a dandy; a pretentious, superior, self-important person US, 1934

Fancy Pants nickname Anthony Joseph 'A.J.' Hoyt (b.1935), a stock car racing driver who dominated the sport in the US during the 1950s and 60s. Derived from Hoyt's fastidious dressing habits, alluding to a Bob Hope film of the era US, 1999 fancy woman noun a kept mistress; a female lover. Often used of a man's woman friend to disapprove of an implied immorality UK, 1812 fandabidozi! wonderful! A catchphrase coined by comedy double-act The Krankies; it has some (mainly ironic) currency. Seen, in 2004, as the slogan on a tee-shirt and the message on a greetings card UK, 1978 fan dancer noun a sexual dancer or striptease performer who employs a large fan in her dance. Most famously exemplified by Sally Rand (real name Harriet Helen 'Hazel' Gould Beck), who popularised the style at the 1933 Chicago Century of Progress World Fair US, 1936 fangangee adjective overdressed or otherwise assuming an air of superiority TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

faned noun the editor of a single-interest fan magazine US, 1982

fanfic noun further stories and adventures for characters in familiar television programmes and films written for pleasure by fans of the original, especially widespread on the Internet. From 'fan fiction' US, 1998 fan fuck noun a heterosexual pornographic film in which male fans of the female pornography star are selected to have sex with her US, 2000 fang noun 1 a bite *AUSTRALIA, 1988. 2 eating *AUSTRALIA, 1957. 3 a drive taken at high speed. From FANG (to drive fast) *AUSTRALIA, 1970

fang verb 1 to drive fast. Said to be from Juan Fangio, 1911–95, Argentine racing car driver, but since the 'g' in Fangio is pronounced as a 'j' some question is thrown over this origin *AUSTRALIA, 1969. 2 to yell furiously *US, 1962

fang down verb to eat AUSTRALIA, 1996

fang man noun a man who is a hearty eater AUSTRALIA, 1982 fangs noun musical ability. An outgrowth of 'chops' US, 1958. ► put the fangs in to ask for a loan of money AUSTRALIA, 1919 fan key noun the command key on a Macintosh computer. From the symbol on the key, which can be seen to resemble the blades of a fan US, 1997 fanner noun 1 a pickpocket. Likely a variant of FINGER *US, 1950. 2 a fan dancer *US, 1981 fanners in a child's game, pronounced to ward off another child's claim to half of something. The game, under the name 'halfies' or 'halvers', is listed in the Oxford English Dictionary as 'very old' CANADA, 1987 fanny noun 1 the vagina. A popular female name, possibly combined with the vulvic symbolism of a fan-light (a loosely triangular opening). It is worth noting that John Cleland's The Memoirs of Fanny Hill features a sexually active heroine; however its publication in 1749 is about a hundred years before 'fanny' came to be used in this sense UK, 1879. 2 a woman objectified sexually. From the previous sense UK, 1997. 3 the buttocks US, 1919. 4 a story, lies UK, 1933 fanny verb to talk glibly, especially to talk until a crowd has gathered. Recorded in use among market traders UK, 1949 fanny about; fanny around verb to waste time, to idle UK, 1971

Fanny Adams; sweet Fanny Adams; sweet Miss Adams; sweet FA; FA; fanny noun nothing at all. From the brutal and maniacal murder, on 24th August 1867, of 8-year-old Fanny Adams, at Alton in Hampshire. Parts of her body were found over several days in different parts of the rural countryside. Upset with the tinned mutton that they were being served, British sailors in 1869 began to refer to the tins as containing the butchered contents of 'Sweet Fanny Adams'. It evolved into a suggestion of 'fuck', or 'nothing', and has been used in that sense in the C20 UK, 1914 fanny batter noun vaginal secretions UK, 2002 fannyboo noun the vagina. Childish elaboration of FANNY (the vagina) US, 1998

Fanny Cradock; Fanny Craddock noun a haddock. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of Fanny Cradock, 1909–94, still remembered as the intimidating (now iconic) presenter of 1950s and 60s television cookery programmes; the second version, as recorded by Ray Puxley in 1992, is a popular misspelling of her name UK, 1992 fanny fart noun an eruption of trapped air from the vagina, usually during sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1987 fanny farter noun a woman who can execute fanny farts AUSTRALIA, 1987

fanny-flaps noun the vaginal labia UK, 2003

Fanny Hill noun a pill, especially 'the pill' (a contraceptive). Rhyming slang, formed from the title of John Cleland's erotic novel The Memoirs of Fanny Hill, 1749. Presumed to be a 1960s' coinage as Cleland's classic was controversially republished at the same time as the contraceptive pill was being introduced UK, 1992

Fanny Hill nickname the Los Angeles County women's jail US, 1981 fanny lips noun the vaginal lips; the labium majora or minora. A combination of FANNY (the vagina; the vulva) and the conventional translation of 'labium' UK, 2002

fanny merchant noun a glib talker UK, 1998 fanny on; fanny verb to talk with the intention to persuade or deceive UK, 1949 fanny pelmet noun a very short skirt UK, 1995 fanny quack noun a gynaecologist. A combination of FANNY (the vagina) and QUACK (a doctor) UK, 1999

fanny rag noun a sanitary towel AUSTRALIA, 1985 fan on verb to decline an offer US, 1997 fanoogie; fenugie noun during the Vietnam war, a soldier freshly arrived in Vietnam. A back formation from FNG (FUCKING NEW GUY) US, 1991 fantabulosa; fabulosa adjective wonderful. Arch elaborations of 'fabulous' UK, 1967 fantabulous adjective very good. A blend of 'fantastic' and 'fabulous'. Contemporary UK gay usage US, 1958 fantasia noun 1 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996. 2 DMT (dimethyltryptamine), a powerful but short-lasting hallucinogen UK, 2004 fantastic adjective excellent, almost excellent, very good, merely good US, 1929 fantastic buy noun in poker, a card drawn to make a strong hand in a heavily bet situation US, 1988 fantasy noun the recreational drug GHB. Coined, no doubt, as an attractive marketing brand; it also stresses GHB's relation to FANTASIA (ECSTASY) US, 1999 fantidylsastic adjective great. A teenage invention of the 1960s NEW ZEALAND, 1998

fanzine noun an inexpensively self-published magazine devoted to such topics as hobbies, music, film and politics. A combination of 'fantasy' and 'magazine'; originally a magazine produced for science fiction fans but adopted by and produced by fans of any topic imaginable US, 1949

FAQ noun frequently asked questions. A real-life acquisition from the Internet, where FAQ files were created as a resource of informative and regularly updated information; gently punning on 'fact'. On-screen the acronym is both singular and plural; in speech the plural is generally indicated by the addition of an 's' US, 1989

FAR noun a hard and fast rule US, 1991 far and near noun beer. Rhyming slang; glossed as C19, but remains a familiar term, perhaps because of its neat reversal with NEAR AND FAR (a bar) UK, 1960 farang noun a foreigner. Vietnamese, borrowed by US soldiers US, 1949 farbulous adjective used approvingly of up-to-the-moment followers of fashion and the trendy clothes they wear; used disapprovingly of wardrobe items worn by historical re-enactors that post-date the intended period. A blend of FAR OUT and fabulous UK, 2005 fare noun a prostitute's client. Both heterosexual and homosexual usage UK, 1959 fark 'fuck', in all its senses. The word 'fuck' as filtered through the Australian accent AUSTRALIA, 1971 farm noun ► back to the farm laid off due to lack of work US, 1946 farmer noun an unsophisticated person US, 1864. ► I could eat a farmer's arse through a hedge used as a declaration of great hunger UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

Farmer Giles; farmers noun haemorrhoids. Rhyming slang for 'piles'. Used in Australia and the UK UK, 1955 farmer's set noun in dominoes, the 6–4 piece US, 1964 farmer tan noun a suntanned face, neck and lower arms US, 1996 farm out verb to delegate to another UK, 1862 farmyard confetti noun nonsense. A probable play on BULLSHIT; a later variation of COW(YARD) CONFETTI and FLEMINGTON CONFETTI AUSTRALIA, 1973 far out adjective 1 excellent, innovative, creative, daring. Originally a jazz term with an emphasis on 'experimental', and then in general use with a more general meaning US, 1954. 2 drug-intoxicated US, 1961 farstinkener; fushtookanah adjective stinking. From German to Yiddish US, 1983 farsighted adjective said of a restaurant waiter or waitress who is intentionally ignoring a customer signalling for service US, 1995

far south noun Antarctica ANTARCTICA, 1881

fart noun 1 an anal emission of gases. From Chaucer in 1386 through to the present day UK, 1386. 2 an unlikeable, even contemptible person UK, 1891. 3 used as a symbol of contempt UK, 1685. ► a fart in a thunderstorm something of negligible worth or impact UK, 1989. ► a fart in a windstorm a fuss made over something unimportant. Several variations on, including 'fart in a whirlwind' 1963 CANADA, 1963. ► like a fart in a trance listless, distracted, indecisive UK, 1985. ► the farts an attack of flatulence UK, 1998 fart verb to produce an anal emission of gases, to break wind UK, 1250. ► fart the Star-spangled Banner to do everything that is required and more. An ironic claim to super-capability, usually made in addition to a list of everything ordinarily required US, 1998. ► fart through silk to live a life of luxury and ease US, 1927

fart about verb to waste time foolishly UK, 1900 fart along verb to dawdle UK, 1998

fart around verb to waste time US, 1931 fart arse noun a fool, a useless person. Contemptuous UK, 2000 fart-arse verb to spend time unproductively; to idle AUSTRALIA, 1971

fart-arse about verb to waste time very foolishly. An intensification of FART ABOUT UK, 1984

fart blossom noun a despicable person US, 1938 fartbreath noun a despicable person US, 1974

fart-catcher noun a male homosexual UK, 1967

fart noun 1 a person who farts UK, 1580. 2 the anus AUSTRALIA, 1992

fart-face noun a despicable person US, 1938 farthead noun a despicable person US, 1962

farthole noun a despicable person or thing US, 1972

fart hook noun a worthless, useless person US, 1973

farting adjective trifling, contemptible, insubstantial UK, 2001 farting spell noun 1 a moment, a pause UK, 1998. 2 a loss of temper. From the previous sense (a moment) via 'to have a moment' (to experience a short-lived change of equanimity) UK, 1998 fart-knocker noun 1 a despicable person US, 1952. 2 an incompetent blunderer. Used with humour and often affection US, 1952 fartleberries noun 1 haemorrhoids. From an image of faecal remnants that cling to anal hair. Royal Navy slang UK, 1989. 2 small pieces of faeces clinging to anal hairs. Also variant 'fart-o-berries' UK, 1785

farts noun ► the farts an attack of flatulence UK, 1998 fart sack noun 1 a bed US, 1992. 2 a sleeping bag US, 1943 fartsucker noun a despicable person UK, 1891

farty adjective flatulence-inducing UK, 1975

fascinoma noun a medical case that is unusual and thus interesting US, 1994 fascist; fascistic adjective descriptive of a computer program with security walls or usage policies that the speaker finds excessive US, 1991 fascists noun the police. Used by late 1980s–early 90s counterculture travellers UK, 1999

fash adjective fashionable AUSTRALIA, 1988

fa'sheezy ► see: FO'SHEEZY fash hag noun a follower of fashion. Modelled on FAG HAG (a woman who seeks the company of gay men) UK, 2003 fashion casualty noun someone in the thrall of clothes-designers' more ridiculous excesses. A variation of FASHION VICTIM UK, 1999

fashionista noun someone who dictates, or is in the vanguard of, trendiness UK, 2001 fashion victim noun someone in the thrall of fashion designers' more ridiculous excesses; often applied, loosely, to someone who is conspicuously expensively dressed UK, 1984

fash mag noun a fashion magazine UK, 2002

fash pack noun a loose categorisation of pre-eminent people in the fashion industry. Modelled on RAT PACK and subsequent gangs, real and imagined UK, 2002 fast adjective overly concerned with the affairs of others TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► as fast as lightning over Cuba very fast CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985. ► faster than the mill-tails of hell moving very, very fast CANADA, 1999. ► get fast in a criminal enterprise, to cheat a partner out of money or goods US, 1987. ► so fast he's goin' like greased lightning' thru a gooseberry bush used for indicating great speed. Note the alliteration – goin', greased, gooseberry – which is often characteristic of Nova Scotia slang CANADA, 1988 fast adverb in gambling, betting large amounts without fear of loss US, 1974 fast and out of place adjective emphatically over-concerned with the affairs of others TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

fast bird noun in Vietnam, a high-speed attack jet aircraft US, 1991 fast buck noun money that is easily earned, especially if done so illicitly US, 1949 fast burner noun a person who is advancing quickly through the ranks. US Air Force usage US, 1986 fast-count verb to shortchange US, 1949 fastened up adjective imprisoned UK, 2000 fast in noun 1 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003. 2 amphetamines UK, 2003 fast lane noun a lifestyle showing no regard for the future US, 1976 fast-mouth adjective fond of talking TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

fast mover noun in Vietnam, a jet aircraft US, 1972 fast one noun a trick intended to deceive or defraud, usually in the phrase 'pull a fast one' US, 1923 fast pill noun in horse racing, a stimulant given to a horse US, 1947 fast sheet setup noun an apartment or motel that caters to prostitutes and their customers US, 1969 fast shuffle noun a swindle; a deceptive act US, 1930 fast stuff; fast; go-fast noun amphetamines, speed UK, 1996 fast-talking Charlie noun a Jewish person, or someone who is thought to be Jewish US, 1980 fast time noun daylight saving time CANADA, 1953

fat noun 1 an erection AUSTRALIA, 1941. 2 a fattened cow or bull ready for market AUSTRALIA, 1888. 3 used as a euphemism in place of 'fuck' BERMUDA, 1985 fat adjective 1 good US, 1951. 2 wealthy UK, 1699. 3 (used of a fuel mixture) too rich. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2001. 4 (used of a part in a dramatic production) demanding, challenging, rewarding US, 1973. 5 when said of a military unit, over-staffed. Vietnam war usage US, 1977. 6 (ironically) slim; little. Especially in the phrases 'fat chance' and 'fat hopes' AUSTRALIA, 1938. 7 out of fashion, old-fashioned UK, 1980 fat Albert; Bert nickname any exceptionally large aircraft, especially a Boeing 737, a Lockheed C-5A Galaxy or a Lockheed C-130 Hercules. The Boeing 737 was first manufactured in 1967: The Lockheed C-130 was delivered into service in 1970. The first Lockheed C-5A was delivered in late 1969 US, 1994 fat and wide noun a bride. Rhyming slang, from a playground variation of 'Here Comes the Bride' UK, 1992

Fat Arse Brigade noun collectively, the older women who support the People's National Movement party in Trinidad TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1977 fat-arsed adjective broad-bottomed; hence, wealthy UK, 1937 fat ass noun a fat person US, 1931 fat-ass adjective of impressive dimensions US, 1993 fatback adjective lacking sophistication, rustic US, 1934 fat bags noun crack cocaine UK, 1998 fat bastard noun an overweight person UK, 1988 fat boy box noun a box with enough packaged food to last several days in the wilderness US, 2000

Fatboy Slim; Fatboy noun a gym. Popney rhyming slang, based on the stage name of musician and DJ Norman Cook (b.1963). Popney was contrived for www.music365.co.uk, an Internet music site UK, 2001 fat cat noun 1 a wealthy, powerful, prominent individual US, 1925. 2 an overpaid company director. A specifically British usage of the more general US term UK, 1971 fatcha noun the face. Polari, from Italian faccia UK, 2002 fatcha verb to shave, to apply cosmetics. From the noun sense as 'the face' UK, 2002 fat chance noun no chance at all US, 1908 fat city noun success, wealth US, 1964

Fat City nickname 1 Ottawa, Ontario, Canada's capital city. The name derives from the huge largess of taxpayer funds the city gets for museums, the Tulip Festival, the winter canal skating season, and so forth CANADA, 2001. 2 the headquarters of the Military Assistance Command Vietnam, located in Saigon US, 1991 fat devil noun a good-looking woman US, 1978 fat farm noun a facility where people go to lose weight through a regime of exercise and proper diet US, 1969 fat grrrls noun a young, radical faction of the 'fat acceptance movement' US, 1995 fat guts noun nuts (the fruit). Rhyming slang, possibly deriving from an effect of over-indulgence UK, 1992 fathead noun 1 a fool US, 1842. 2 a black person's hair style in which the hair stands out from the head TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

father adjective excellent BARBADOS, 1965

fatherfucking adjective used as a variant of 'motherfucking' US, 1963 father's day noun the day each month when fathers appear in court to make child support payments US, 1973

Father-Son-Holy Ghost house noun a style of three-storey terraced house consisting of three rooms stacked vertically US, 1970 father's t'other end noun a room built on the end of the house. The odd word 't'other' is a shortened form of 'the other' much used in southwestern Nova Scotia CANADA, 1999 father time noun 1 a criminal judge who is inclined to give long sentences US, 1950. 2 a prison warden US, 1949 fatigue noun teasing; good-natured insults TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1904

fat jabba noun ► see: JABBA fat lip noun a fist blow to the mouth US, 1944 fat lot noun (ironically) little or none UK, 1892 fatmouth verb to insult, to taunt, to tease, to trade barbs US, 1962 fat-mouthed adjective loud-mouthed US, 1952 fat one noun 1 a substantial marijuana cigarette UK, 1996. 2 a generous line of powdered cocaine, 2002 fat pants noun wide-legged trousers TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1999

fat pappy noun a large marijuana cigarette US, 1999

Fat Pill noun (among Canadian forces personnel) a sweet snack CANADA, 1995 fat pockets noun wealth US, 1997 fat rat noun the US Army's five-quart collapsible water bladder US, 1990 fat-rat adjective easy, privileged US, 1983 fats noun fatigues, the military work uniform US, 1990 fatso noun an obese person; used as a common nickname or rude term of address for an obese person US, 1933 fat stuff noun a fat person US, 1926 fat talk noun excessive boasting TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 fatten verb in poker, to increase a bet US, 1963 fatty noun 1 a fat person, often as an offensive name-calling, sometimes as a nickname UK, 1797. 2 an extra-large marijuana cigarette. Also variant 'fattie' US, 1969 fatty adjective used of a pornographic categorisation that displays obese performers UK, 2002 fat zero; big fat zero noun nothing at all, none UK, 1976

faubourg; fauxbourg noun in Quebec, a suburb or a part of a city keeping the old name; a large indoor shopping complex. From the French for 'false town', this term is in use in Montreal to designate the area known as the Faubourg de Melasse (where ships loaded molasses) and the Faubourg, a complex of shops and boutiques in the centre of town CANADA, 1967 faucet nose noun the condition experienced by surfers who have water forced up their nose while being pummelled by a wave US, 1991 faunch; fawnch verb to complain vociferously US, 1911 fausty adjective unpleasant, distasteful. High school usage US, 1961 faux-hawk noun a hairstyle in which a central section (running from front to back) is grown longer/higher than the hair on the rest of the head. Pronounced 'fohawk'; this is a play on the 'mohawk' haircut (which this style approximates) and 'faux' (fake, artificial). Footballer and style-icon David Beckham sported the style in the summer of 2002 US, 1996 fauxmosexual noun a homosexual who behaves in the manner of a conventional heterosexual. A compound of 'faux' (fake) and 'homosexual'; as an aural pun only the first consonant is changed UK, 2003

fav noun in horse racing, the horse with the shortest odds to win a race. An abbreviation of 'favourite' US, 1960 fave; fav adjective favourite. A term with a definite teen magazine flavour US, 1921 fave rave noun a notably favourite person or thing, especially with relation to the creative arts US, 1967 favourite; favourites adjective excellent UK, 1943 fawmy noun a ring. English gypsy use, from earlier fawny UK, 2000 fawnty noun a car in a poor state of repair. In Glasgow this is a humorous 'brand name' UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

fax noun facts UK, 1837 fay noun a white Caucasian US, 1927

fay adjective 1 homosexual US, 1928. 2 white, Caucasian US, 1927

Fayette-Nam nickname Fayetteville, North Carolina, home of Fort Bragg and the US Special Forces US, 1987

faygeleh noun a male homosexual. Yiddish, literally 'little bird' US, 1968

faze verb to surprise, to disconcert US, 1830 fazool noun one dollar US, 1979

f beep beep k 'fuck' in any use INDIA, 2002

FBI noun 1 fat, black and ignorant. Used in ritualistic insults US, 1971. 2 used for describing people of East Indian origin. An initialism for 'fat-belly Indian', 'fat-bottom Indian', 'fine-boned Indian', or any number of similar constructions TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. 3 an informer. UK black prison slang UK, 2002. 4 a Filipino. An abbreviation of 'full-blooded Ilocano'. Ilocano is a dialect spoken in the Philippines; among Hawaiian youth, the term applies to any Filipino, no matter what dialect, if any, they speak US, 1982

F bomb noun the word 'fuck', especially when used in a setting where such profanity is not expected US, 1988

FDAM noun an occasion for ostentatious dress. For 'First Day at (the) Marina' CANADA, 1995 fear noun ► put the fear of God into to terrify UK, 1905 fear in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, used as an acronym for an addict's choices – fuck everything and run, or face everything and recover US, 1998 fearful adjective used as general intensifier UK, 1991 fearfully adverb very, greatly. Dated but still familiar, especially in the works of P. G. Wodehouse UK, 1835

Feargal Sharkey noun a black person. Rhyming slang for DARKY, formed from the name of a (white) Irish singer born in 1958 UK, 1998 feasty adjective excellent. Teen slang US, 1958 feather verb 1 in hot rodding, to operate the accelerator in a controlled, light manner US, 1965. 2 in horse racing, a light jockey US, 1951. 3 in pool, to only barely glance the object ball with the cue ball US, 1990 feather and flip noun a bed; sleep. Rhyming slang for KIP UK, 1934 featherbed verb to create work rules that require employment of workers who have no real tasks or not enough real tasks to justify their pay US, 1921

featherfoot noun a racing car driver who uses a light touch on the throttle during turns to control the engine speed precisely US, 1993 feather hauler noun a trucker with a light load, especially one of dry freight US, 1971

featherhead noun a superficial, silly and/or dim-witted person US, 1868 feather merchant noun 1 a civilian employee of the military; a civilian US, 1941. 2 a timid, conservative poker player US, 1996 feather plucker noun 1 a sharp practitioner. Rhyming slang for 'clever FUCKER' UK, 1964. 2 an objectionable person. Rhyming slang for FUCKER, generally used only in a jocular or affectionate way UK, 1961 feathers noun 1 a bed US, 1899. 2 body hair, especially fine hair or pubic hair US, 1966. 3 sleep US, 1977. 4 in darts and Bingo (also House and Tombola), the number thirty-three. Also variant 'fevers' UK, 1977. ► make the feathers fly to cause uproar, to disturb the status quo US, 1825 featherwood noun a white woman. Formed with the more common PECKERWOOD in mind US, 1989 feature noun 1 an act of sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1972. 2 in carnival usage, the rigged game that a particular operator operates best US, 1985 feature verb 1 to have sex. Popularised by the Barry McKenzie cartoon strip AUSTRALIA, 1965. 2 to take note of, to pay attention to US, 1958. 3 to approve of US, 1952. 4 to give an appearance; to look like BARBADOS, 1965 feature creature noun a computer programmer who enjoys adding features to programs US, 1991 featured dancer noun a sex club performer whose appearance at the club is advertised and who travels from club to club US, 2000

-features suffix used, when combined with an appropriate (generally genital) noun, as an unflattering nickname. In 1909 it was sufficient to call someone 'features'. Contemporary examples, found during a cursory search of the Internet on 8th October 2003, include 'bollock-features', 'cunt-features', 'prick-features', and 'twat-features' UK, 2003 fecal freak noun a person who derives sexual pleasure from eating the faeces of others US, 1971 feck verb 1 to steal IRELAND, 1989. 2 'fuck', in all senses and derivatives. Scarcely euphemistic; widely popularised by Father Ted, a Channel 4 situation comedy, 1995–98 IRELAND, 1989 fecked adjective drunk. A variation of FUCKED IRELAND, 2002 fed noun 1 an agent of the federal government US, 1916. 2 a police officer AUSTRALIA, 1966. 3 a member of the Royal Air Force police. Adopted from the sense 'a member of the FBI' UK, 2002 federal adjective excellent US, 2004 federal court noun a floor manager in a casino or cardroom US, 1996 federales noun the federal government. From the Spanish US, 2000 federation noun a noisy, tumultuous gathering. An allusion to the attempt in 1876 by John Pope-Hennessy to create a Confederation of the Windward Islands, which resulted in riots BARBADOS, 1965 fed ex noun a person who has served time in a federal prison.

Punning on the name of an express delivery business US, 1997 fedlercarp! used as a non-profane oath. Used by spacecraft pilots, especially Lt Starbuck, on the US television series Battlestar Galactica (ABC, 1978–80), and briefly in popular speech US, 1979 fed up adjective bored, disgusted, tired of something, miserable UK, 1900 fee noun coffee US, 1966

feeb noun 1 a person who is feeble, in spirit, mind or body US, 1911.

2 an agent of the US Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI); the FBI US, 1985 fee-bee noun in craps, a five. Almost certainly a corruption of the more common PHOEBE US, 1968

feebee noun an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) US, 1942 feed noun 1 a meal, especially an excellent and lavish one UK, 1808.

2 the chords played by a jazz band during a solo US, 1970. 3 a comedian's foil UK, 1952 feed verb 1 in pinball, to put a coin into the machine US, 1977.

2 when gambling on a slot-machine, fruit machine or one-armed bandit, to put a coin or coins into the machine's slot US, 1996. 3 in a jazz band, to play a chord background for a soloist US, 1961.

► feed rice to speak plainly UK, 1989. ► feed the monkey to sustain a drug addiction US, 1970. ► feed the ponies to bet on horse racing US, 1997. ► feed the pony to manually stimulate the vagina. Possibly related to Smack the Pony, a television comedy-sketch programme mainly written and performed by women, first broadcast in 1999 UK, 2002. ► feed the warden to defecate US, 1996. ► feed with a long spoon to be very careful in dealing with someone TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► feed your face to eat US, 1968. ► feed your head to use psychoactive drugs. A phrase immortalized by Jefferson Airplane in the 1967 song 'White Rabbit', with Grace Slick's commanding vocal of 'Remember, what the dormouse said/ Feed your head, feed your head' US, 1970 feed bag noun a container of drugs US, 1992 feeder noun 1 a comedian's foil UK, 1952. 2 a hypodermic needle and syringe US, 1959 feeding time at the zoo noun a period of great disorder and disruption AUSTRALIA, 1944 feel verb 1 to understand US, 2002. 2 to agree with US, 2004. 3 to approve of or enjoy US, 2003. 4 to fight with someone. Literally, 'to feel the blows of an opponent' UK, 2000. ► feel it to feel good, to enjoy something US, 2001. ► feel no pain to be drunk US, 1955

feeler noun 1 a finger UK, 1831. 2 in poker, a small bet made for the purpose of assessing how other players are likely to bet on the hand US, 1967. 3 a citizens' band radio antenna on a truck US, 1976 feel fine; feel noun nine, especially nine pounds (£9). Rhyming slang UK, 1992 feeling noun marijuana UK, 2003 feeling fine noun mutual, simultaneous oral sex between two people. Rhyming slang for 69 UK, 2003 feel up verb to fondle someone sexually US, 1930 feely; feele; feelier; fellia; feely-omi noun a young man, a boy. Polari, originally with the more general sense as 'children'; from Italian figlie (children). A distinction is sometimes made whereby 'feele' is defined as a 'child' and 'feely omi' as 'a young man (sometimes specifically an underaged young man)' UK, 1859

feen verb to look at nude pictures US, 1976

feep noun the electronic alert sound made by a computer terminal US, 1981 feet noun ► get your feet muddy to get into trouble, especially with the criminal law UK, 1977. ► have two left feet to be clumsy when moving, especially when dancing UK, 1915 feet and yards; feet noun playing cards. Rhyming slang; always plural UK, 1992 feh! used as a declaration of disapproval or disgust. Yiddish, although the Yiddish etymology is not at all clear US, 1990 feisty adjective aggressive, spirited, lively US, 1896

felch verb to suck semen from another's anus and rectum US, 1972

felcher squelcher noun a condom intended for anal intercourse UK, 1998

Felix the cat noun a type of LSD. Presumably identified by an image of the cartoon hero created by Otto Messmer in 1919 UK, 2003 fella; page 3 fella noun an attractive male model; applied in a wider derogatory context to imply that a handsome exterior masks a deeply unintelligent personality. Derives from the use of topless models on page 3 of UK tabloid newspaper, the Sun UK, 2003 fellah; fella; feller noun 1 a male animal UK, 1978. 2 a man. An affected or lazy pronunciation of 'fellow'. 'Feller' since 1825; 'fellah', originally associated with affected and aristocratic speech, since 1825; 'fella' (and variations) since 1934 UK, 1931 fellowship noun a group activity involving a shared vice. Word play with the conventional, religious usage US, 1986 fellow traveller noun 1 a person who sympathises with a cause without being a full-blown member of the cause. Originally applied only to communist sympathisers; translated from the Russian US, 1936. 2 a flea UK, 1966 felony noun a girl under the legal age of consent US, 2004 felony shoes noun expensive training shoes. Favoured by urban youth, often involved in, and more often associated with, crime US, 1978 felony sneakers noun expensive trainers favoured by urban youth US, 1979 female unit noun a girlfriend. A cheap imitation of 'parental unit' US, 1984 femalia noun those parts of the female body that have a sexual resonance US, 1996 femdom noun a female sexual dominant, a dominatrix; female domination as a sexual subculture US, 1989 fem grem noun an unskilled female surfer. An abbreviation of 'female GREMMIE' US, 1995

feminazi noun a feminist. A popular term with, and probably coined by, US radio entertainer Rush Limbaugh who uses the term in order to marginalise any feminist as a hardline, uncompromising man-hater US, 1989 femme adjective 1 blatantly effeminate US, 1963. 2 female UK, 2003 femme; fem noun 1 a young woman US, 1871. 2 in a homosexual relationship, the person who plays the passive, 'feminine' role US, 1934 femme looker noun in circus and carnival usage, an attractive female US, 1981 femme queen noun an overtly effeminate male homosexual US, 1963

femmi adjective feminist UK, 2000

femmo adjective feminist AUSTRALIA, 1993 fence noun a person who trades in stolen goods UK, 1698. ► go over the fence to escape from prison UK, 1996. ► sit on the fence to be impartial, neutral or waiting to see who wins UK, 1887. ► take the fence (used of a bookmaker) to fail to pay off a winning bet US, 1947 fence verb 1 to purchase, receive and/or store stolen goods UK, 1610. 2 to cheat in a test US, 1955 fenced adjective irritated, angry US, 1982 fence hanger noun in motor racing, a spectator, usually female, who is more interested in the participants in the race than in the race itself US, 1980 fence painting noun a scene in a pornographic film or a photograph of oral sex performed on a woman in a fashion designed to maximize the camera angle, not the woman's pleasure US, 1995 fence parole noun a prison escape US, 1990 fence rider noun in motor racing, a driver who moves through the turns on the outside of the curve, nearest the fence US, 1980 fence-to-fence adjective in carnival usage, in control of all the activities in an engagement US, 1985 fencing noun a trade in, or the act of dealing in, stolen property UK, 1962 fender noun a new employee. Like a fender absorbing the impact of a collision, the new employee absorbs the wrath of the supervisor US, 1955 fender bender noun a minor car accident US, 1962 fenderhead noun a dolt US, 1975

Fenian noun an Irish catholic. From the American-Irish 'brotherhood' for the support of the revolutionary overthrow of the English government in Ireland UK, 2000 fen-phen noun a combination of fenfluramine and phentermine, used as a diet drug and/or central nervous system stimulant US, 1996 feral noun a person holding strong environmentalist views and living an alternative lifestyle AUSTRALIA, 1994 feral adjective 1 aggressive; wild AUSTRALIA, 1994. 2 living a low-technology, alternative, environmentally-friendly lifestyle AUSTRALIA, 1994 ferdutz adjective (among Nova Scotians of German descent) used to describe someone who is confused CANADA, 1999 fe real; for real adjective + adverb genuine; honestly, genuinely; credibly US, 1956 fern noun a female's pubic hair US, 1981 ferret noun 1 the penis. A celebration of the animal's talent for exploring holes AUSTRALIA, 1971. 2 a member of the security services engaged to 'sweep' for and remove electronic bugging devices UK, 1977. 3 a beret. Royal Air Force use a deliberately poor rhyme UK, 2002. ► give the ferret a run (of a male) to engage in sexual intercourse. Also variant 'exercise the ferret' AUSTRALIA, 1968 ferry dust noun heroin. A play on magical 'fairy dust' UK, 1998 ferschluggner adjective used as a mildly profane intensifier. A Yiddish term US, 1955 fer shur; fur shur adverb certainly. A staple of the Valley Girl lexicon, often used as an exclamation US, 1982 ferstay verb to understand CANADA, 1987 fertilize verb ► fertilize the vegetables to feed or medicate neurologically depressed hospital patients US, 1985

fess; fess up verb to confess US, 1840

-fest suffix a gathering together of, or a concentration of, or an event celebrating the modifying noun with which it combines. Abbreviated from 'festival' US, 1865 fester adverb exceedingly. A euphemism for 'fucking' AUSTRALIA, 1982 festivity noun a drinking party US, 1955 festy adjective disgusting; dreadful; awful AUSTRALIA, 1996 fet noun amphetamine UK, 1996 fetch verb 1 to deliver (a blow). A conventional usage from C12 that slipped into the colloquial register sometime around late C19 or early C20 UK, 1958. 2 in computing, to retrieve and import a file from an Internet site to your computer US, 1995 fetch up verb to arrive, especially to arrive eventually US, 1858 fe true; for true; feh true adverb honestly, truly. West Indian and UK black patois, 'for true'. Also used as an exclamation and intensifier UK, 1994 fetschpatz noun (among Ontario's Mennonites) a dumpling CANADA, 1998 fever noun 1 five. An intentional corruption of FIVE US, 1985. 2 in craps, a roll of five. Sometimes embellished to 'fever in the South' US, 1950. 3 in a deck of playing cards, any five US, 1951. 4 a $5 note US, 1961. 5 an enthusiastic interest or, perhaps, mass hysteria UK, 1885 fewer clucker noun used as a humorous euphemism for 'clever fucker' NEW ZEALAND, 1998 few noun 1 a few alcoholic drinks AUSTRALIA, 1903. 2 any short jail sentence US, 1949

fews and twos noun very little money US, 1948 fey adjective effeminate US, 1952

Fezzer noun a Ford 'Fiesta' car. Essex use UK, 2003

fezzie noun a festival UK, 2002

FFF verb to find, fix, and finish. A military axiom for dealing with the enemy; the 'fix' is to fix in position, while to 'finish' is to kill US, 1990

FHB family hold back! A directive to family members to take guests into account when serving themselves AUSTRALIA, 1983

fid noun a British worker in Antarctica. Originally an acronym of 'Falkland Island Dependencies Survey' ANTARCTICA, 1952 fiddle noun 1 a swindle, a deception; in later use, used mainly of petty fraud UK, 1873. 2 a one-pound note; the sum of one pound; (more generally) money AUSTRALIA, 1988. 3 in pickpocket usage, a coat US, 1943. 4 a radio US, 1971. ► on the fiddle engaged in swindling or petty-fraud UK, 1961 fiddle verb 1 to swindle UK, 1590. 2 to falsify a personal statement of expenses, or corporate accounts and finances; to fraudulently amend examination or election results. A specialised use of the general sense (to swindle) UK, 1970. ► fiddle with yourself to masturbate US, 1969 fiddle and fire noun in the car sales business, a radio and heater US, 1953 fiddle bitch verb to potter aimlessly CANADA, 1989 fiddledeedee; fiddley noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for PEE or WEE. Presumably coined with some euphemistic intent, yet 'to go for a fiddley' seems, somehow, a more ambiguous option UK, 1992 fiddlefart around verb to waste time doing little or nothing US, 1972 fiddlefuck verb to waste time US, 1949 fiddler noun 1 a bookmaker who will only take small bets UK, 1991. 2 a paedophile. Prison usage NEW ZEALAND, 1999 fiddler's elbow noun the right-angled sharp turns in country roads CANADA, 1950. ► in and out like a fiddler's elbow applied to anything or anyone that enters and exits a given situation with unusual rapidity, especially, of a male's enthusiastic thrusting during sexual intercourse UK, 1994

fiddler's fuck noun a notional item of no value US, 1961 fiddlers three; fiddlers noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for WEE or PEE, formed from the lyrics to the traditional nursery-song, 'Old King Cole. A variant of FIDDLEDEEDEE UK, 1992 fiddlesticks! used as an all-purpose cry of frustration. Considered inoffensive, although it is possibly a pun on 'penis', via 'sword', the Shakespearean 'fiddlestick', although the bawdy pun itself is not made by Shakespeare UK, 1600 fiddle noun a one-pound note; the sum of one pound. Short for FIDDLEYDID AUSTRALIA, 1941 fiddle noun a one-pound note; the sum of one pound. Rhyming slang for QUID. This lasted briefly after the introduction of decimal currency (1966), and was used to denote the comparative sum of $2 AUSTRALIA, 1941 fiddly bits noun chrome embellishments on a motorcycle saddle bag and seat. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2001 fidlet noun a British expeditioner recently arrived in Antarctica ANTARCTICA, 1967 fido! used for suggesting that a group overcome an obstacle. An abbreviation of 'fuck it, drive on' US, 1983 fido dido noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the borrowed image of Fido Dido, a fashionable cartoon youth of Spanish origin, imprinted into the tablet as a brand logo UK, 1990s fi-do-nie noun opium US, 1954 field verb to work as a bookmaker AUSTRALIA, 1960 field circus noun in computing, field service US, 1991 fielder noun a bookmaker AUSTRALIA, 1936 fielders noun a rum ration carried on a field trip AUSTRALIA, 1972 field goal noun in pool, a shot in which the cue ball passes between the object ball and another ball, touching neither. An allusion to American football, in which a field goal is scored when the ball is kicked between the goalpost uprights US, 1900 field nigger noun a black person who does not curry favour from white people and thus is afforded no degree of privilege US, 1970 field of wheat noun a street. Rhyming slang, with a deliberately ironic inversion of its original sense UK, 1859 fields noun ▷ see: STRAWBERRY FIELDS field scarf noun a necktie. Marine Corps usage in World War 2 and Korea US, 1940 field-strip verb 1 to disassemble; to take apart US, 1947. 2 to break tobacco loose from a smoked cigarette and disperse it in the wild without leaving a trace of the cigarette US, 1963 fiend noun 1 a person who habitually or compulsively indulges in narcotics, especially morphine and cocaine. Modern usage is generally ironic, except when politicians and tabloid newspapers need a headline US, 1887. 2 a person who smokes marijuana when alone. Marijuana use is considered to be a communal activity hence a solo-smoker is the subject of criticism. Used ironically in this context UK, 1998. 3 an enthusiast. From the sense as 'addict' US, 1884 fiend verb 1 to cause a car to drop suddenly, almost to the ground, by use of hydraulic lifts US, 1980. 2 when arresting an unruly person, to use a choke hold US, 1987 fiendish adjective excellent US, 1900 fiend on verb to show off; to better US, 1980 fierce adjective very, very good US, 1994 fife and drum noun the buttocks UK, 1960

fifi bag noun a home-made contraption used by a masturbating male to simulate the sensation of penetration US, 1969

FIFO fit in or fuck off. An acronym from the world of office jargon where it may be seen as general advice regarding Human Resources policy UK, 2005 fifteen and two; fifteen-two noun a Jewish person. Rhyming slang; Partridge suggests the term originates in scoring for the card game cribbage US, 1984 fifteen fucker noun a military disciplinary reprimand US, 1989 fifteen minutes of fame noun the brief period of celebrity that Andy Warhol saw as an element of pop culture US, 1997 fifth noun ▷ take the fifth to listen to a fellow alcoholic recount their worst misdeeds without comment or judgment US, 1990 fifth gear noun a state of intoxication US, 1968

Fifth Street noun in seven-card stud poker, a player's third face-up card (the fifth card dealt to the player) UK, 2003 fifty noun 1 a serving of beer that is half new and half old. A shortening of FIFTY FIFTY AUSTRALIA, 1965. 2 a .50 calibre machine gun US, 1977 fifty-dollar lane noun in trucking, the inside passing lane. A name based on the fine at the time on many motorways for trucks who used the inside lane US, 1976 fifty-eleven noun a mythical large number US, 1970 fifty-fifty noun 1 oral sex followed by anal sex. Largely supplanted by HALF AND HALF US, 1947. 2 in the television and film industries, a shot of two actors facing each other, each taking up half the screen US, 1977. 3 a serving of beer that is half new and half old AUSTRALIA, 1972 fifty-fifty! give me half of what you are consuming! FIJI, 2002 fifty-five noun in craps, a roll of two fives US, 1974 fifty-mission cap noun a cap similar to that worn by bomber crews during World War 2 US, 1956 fifty-one; one fifty-one noun small pieces of crack cocaine sprinkled in a tobacco or marijuana cigarette US, 1994 fifty PSI finger noun (among Canadian armed forces personnel) a finger poked into someone's chest to emphasise a point forcefully CANADA, 1995 fifty-two noun in craps, a roll of five and two – a seven US, 1973 fifty-two/twenty club noun US military veterans who were entitled to benefits of $20 a week for a year after World War 2, making a life of bohemian leisure possible US, 1946 fig noun 1 hardly anything at all UK, 1400. 2 an effeminate male. An amelioration of FAG US, 1963. 3 (of chewing tobacco) a plug CANADA, 1862 figary; fegary noun a fanciful mood; stylish clothing; whimsical ideas or notions; an impulsive decision IRELAND, 1984

figging adjective used as a euphemism for the intensifying 'fucking' US, 1999

Fightertown USA nickname the Miramar Naval Air Station, Miramar, California US, 1990 fighting drunk adjective in a state of drunken intoxication that prompts aggressive behaviour. Also used as a noun UK, 1937 fighting fifth noun any sexually transmitted infection. Rhyming slang for 'syph' (syphilis) UK, 1992

Fighting Hannah nickname the U.S.S. Hancock. An aircraft carrier that saw service in World War 2 and Vietnam US, 1945

Fighting Irish nickname the athletes of Notre Dame University US, 1962 fighting lager noun a lager of more than average strength UK, 2002

Fightlink nickname a Dublin night bus IRELAND, 2003 figjam noun a boastful person AUSTRALIA, 1996 figjam! stop boasting! AUSTRALIA, 1996 figmo; fuigmo noun fuck it, got my orders; fuck you, I got my orders. Korean and then Vietnam war usage. Descriptive of a somewhat defiant attitude. The sanitised version is FIGMOH: 'finally got y rders home US, 1957 figmo chart noun a record which a soldier kept of the number of days remaining until he was rotated home from Korea or, later, Vietnam US, 1966

fig-skin family noun distant relatives whom you rarely see TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1999

figure noun a number to be bet upon in an illegal lottery or numbers game US, 1967 figure verb ▷ it figures; that figures it is reasonable or understandable; it works out as expected. A figurative use of the arithmetic sense US, 1952

figure of eight it verb (a notional action) to tighten the vagina UK, 2002

figures noun an illegal lottery in which winners are those who have bet on a number chosen by some random method. Best known as 'the numbers' or 'policy racket' US, 1967 fiji noun a member of the Phi Delta Gamma college fraternity US, 1963

Fila cunt's trainer noun a Fila™ sport shoe. An aural pun on 'feeler'; UK prison slang UK, 2002 file noun a pickpocket UK, 1665 file verb 1 to throw away. Office irony US, 1982. 2 to dress up. An abbreviation of 'profile' US, 1989 file 13 noun an office waste-paper basket US, 1942 file 17 noun the rubbish (trash) US, 1989

filet noun an attractive female US, 1989 filiome noun a young man, especially an underage participant in homosexual sex. A combination of FEELY (a boy) and OMEE (a man) UK, 2002 fill verb ▷ fill a blanket to roll a cigarette US, 1949. ▷ fill the bill to fulfil requirements, to meet the need US, 1880. ▷ fill your boots 1 to do whatever it is you want very much to do, but are hesitating over. This phrase is used to encourage in Nova Scotia. It has been suggested that it derives from either the pursuit of fish while wearing high-top wading boots or the effect on the bowels of extreme enjoyment after restraint CANADA, 1999. 2 to have as much of something as you want or need; to do some activity to its limit UK, 2003 filled adjective 1 (used of a woman) shapely US, 1997. 2 of a car's body, repaired with glass fibre UK, 1968 filled-in adjective pregnant AUSTRALIA, 1955 filler pig noun in a carnival, a woman hired to entertain customers outside a side show before the featured talent appears US, 1960 fillet noun cocaine. A metaphor alluding to the drug's high cost and status US, 1993 fillet of cod; fillet noun an unpleasant individual. Rhyming slang for sod (a contemptible man) UK, 1979 fillet of plaice; fillet noun a face; the face. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 fill in verb 1 to temporarily replace someone at work US, 1930. 2 to beat up UK, 1948. 3 to make pregnant AUSTRALIA, 1955 fillings noun loose tobacco US, 1950

Fillmore noun a potent mixture of alcoholic beverages US, 1993 fills noun dice which have been weighted for cheating US, 1950 fillum; filum noun a motion picture. Representing a widely decried but nonetheless common enough Australian pronunciation of 'film' with two syllables; also commonly used and understood in Ireland, Scotland, the north west (particularly Liverpool) and the north east (Newcastle) of England AUSTRALIA, 1932 fill up verb in poker, to complete a desired hand by drawing cards US, 1951 filly noun 1 a young woman UK, 1614. 2 in poker, a hand consisting of three of the same suit and a pair. Conventionally known as a 'full house' US, 1951

filly adjective pretty UK, 2002

film noun underwear FUJI, 1992

filth noun 1 the police; the CID UK, 1967. 2 a very attractive person US, 1997 filth adjective great; excellent; brilliant AUSTRALIA, 1996

filthiness noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle BAHAMAS, 1982 filth merchant noun a man driven by his sexual appetites UK, 2001 filthy noun a look of disdain IRELAND, 2003 filthy adjective 1 excessive, especially unpleasantly so UK, 1733. 2 upset, extremely angry AUSTRALIA, 1992. 3 great; excellent; brilliant AUSTRALIA, 1987. 4 attractive, fashionable, stylish US, 1993 filthy dirty adjective very dirty. The usage of FILTHY as an intensifier, also duplicating the conventional senses of 'filthy' and 'dirty' has caused this cliché to verge on hyphenated single-word status UK, 1843 filthy great adjective very large. The usage of FILTHY as an intensifier; here also the play on synonymous 'dirty' has caused this cliché to verge on hyphenated single-word status UK, 2003

Filthy McNasty noun a dirty, rude person US, 1969 filthy rich adjective very wealthy. The usage of FILTHY as an intensifier has caused this cliché to verge on hyphenated single-word status UK, 1940

filum noun ▷see: FILLUM

fimps noun in craps, a roll of two fives US, 1968

fin noun 1 a five-pound or five-dollar note UK, 1868. 2 a five-year prison sentence UK, 1925. 3 a US Navy diver who is not qualified for SCUBA diving. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 finagle verb to obtain in a manipulative manner US, 1922 final noun the moment in a confidence swindle when the victim is left to discover his loss US, 1969 final curtain noun in carnival usage, death. The obituary section in the Amusement Business magazine is named 'Final Curtain' US, 1985 finale-hopper noun a young man who goes to a dance without a partner, cutting in on another's partner at the end of the evening in the hope of leaving the dance with her US, 1922

final gallop noun the hastening pace of lovemaking that climaxes at orgasm UK, 1970 financial adjective having ready cash; solvent AUSTRALIA, 1899

finders keepers said to signify that the person who finds an object is entitled to keep it. First recorded as 'findee keepe, lossee seekee' in an 1825 Gloss of North Country Words. The full phrase, known by every UK and US child, is 'Finders, keepers / losers, weepers' UK, 1856 find them, fool them, fuck them, forget them used as a formula for male relationships with females. The earliest form is 'find, feel, fuck and forget'; also known as the 'four F method'. Multiple variants exist US, 1966 fine adjective 1 sexually attractive US, 1944. 2 in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, fucked-up, insecure, neurotic and emotional US, 1998. ▶ fine as May wine excellent US, 1964 fine adverb ▶ cut it fine; run it fine to succeed by a very narrow margin UK, 1871 fine and dandy noun brandy. Rhyming slang UK, 1971 fine and dandy adjective splendid, excellent US, 1910 fine how-d' ya do noun a dilemma, a problem US, 1946 finest *noun the police. Used with irony, alluding to the popular phrase identifying a city's policemen as 'the city's finest citizens'. In 1875, New York began to claim it had the 'finest police force in the world', a phrase borrowed from the claim of General Joseph Hooker during the US Civil War that he commanded 'the finest army on the planet'. In the early C20, New York began to refer to its fire department as 'the bravest' and the police simply as 'the finest' *US, 1914 finest kind noun the very best US, 1981 fine stuff noun marijuana that has been cleaned and trimmed, also marijuana in general US, 1955 fine thing noun a sexually attractive female IRELAND, 1991 fine tuner noun in car repair, a sledge hammer. Facetious US, 1992 fine up verb (of weather) to improve CANADA, 1990 fine weather noun a pretty girl US, 1947

f-ing adjective ▷see: EFFING fingee noun a new member of personnel, especially one who is not wished for or welcomed. Derived, loosely, from 'fucking new guy' US, 1990 finger noun 1 a gesture of contempt, the index finger raised from a fist with the palm inwards as the hand jerks upward suggesting an intimate destination. Often accompanied with an invitation to 'spin on it' or the elliptical 'oliver!' (OLIVER TWIST). US, 1961. 2 an unpopular individual. Metropolitan Police slang UK, 1970. 3 a pickpocket UK, 1925. 4 a marijuana cigarette. From the shape UK, 2001. 5 an individual banana in a bunch CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985. 6 a citizens' band radio antenna US, 1976. ▶ get your finger out; pull your finger out; take your finger out; pull it out to stop time-wasting and start doing something useful. Often used as a semi-exclamatory injunction. Probably 'out from up your arse' but there is no need to say so UK, 1959. ▶ have your finger up your arse to be doing nothing UK, 1964. ▶ lift a finger; move a finger to make the slightest effort, usually applied in a negative sense to a lack of effort UK, 1936. ▶ on the finger on credit US, 1951. ▶ put the finger on to identify; to name; to inform on somebody US, 1924. ▶ put your finger on to identify or explain exactly UK, 1973 finger verb 1 to identify; to name; to inform upon somebody US, 1930. 2 to digitally stimulate/explore the vagina or anus as a part of sexual foreplay UK, 1937 finger and ring adjective very close TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 finger and thumb; finger noun 1 a mother UK, 1992. 2 a companion, a friend. Rhyming slang for CHUM UK, 1961. 3 a drum. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 4 the buttocks. Rhyming slang for BUM UK, 2002. 5 rum UK, 1851 finger artist noun a lesbian US, 1970

fingerbang verb to insert a finger or fingers into a partner's vagina or rectum for their sexual pleasure US, 1990 finger bowl faggot noun a wealthy, ostentatious, homosexual male US, 1965 finger cot noun a latex covering used by a doctor on his finger when examining a rectum or vagina US, 1973 finger flip verb in skateboarding, to perform a jump during which the board moves laterally through 360 degrees UK, 2003 fingerfuck noun the manual stimulation of another's vagina or anus US, 1971 fingerfuck verb to insert a finger or fingers into a partner's vagina or rectum. Plain-speaking former US President Lyndon Johnson (1963–1969) was said to have said 'Richard Milhouse Nixon has done for the United States of America what pantyhose did for finger-fucking' UK, 1793 finger-fucker noun a person who fingerfucks US, 1969 finger horse noun in horse racing, the favourite US, 1951 finger in the pie noun an involvement in an activity, especially a share in the profits of something UK, 1659 finger job noun 1 digital stimulation of the vagina or anus US, 1963. 2 an act of betrayal US, 1974 finger lid noun marijuana UK, 2003 finger line noun a line-up in which crime victims or witnesses attempt to identify the criminal(s) US, 1976

finger louse noun a police informer US, 1956 finger man noun 1 a person who provides criminals with inside information to aid a robbery or other crime US, 1930. 2 a professional killer US, 1930 finger poker noun a game of poker bet on credit US, 1951 fingerprint noun in poker, a player's signature move US, 1996 fingerprint verb in trucking, to manually unload a trailer US, 1971 finger-puppet audition noun an act of masturbation UK, 2003 fingers noun a piano player US, 1973. ► have your fingers in the till to steal from your employer or place of work UK, 1974. ► the fingers a gesture (the forefinger and the middle finger are extended to form a V shape, the palm turned in towards the gesturer) that is used to insult or otherwise cause offence, especially when made in conjunction with threatening or abusive language e.g. 'fuck off!' or 'up yours!' with which the sign may be considered synonymous UK, 2003

Fingers nickname used as a pickpocket's nickname US, 1949 fingers crossed! used for expressing hope. Describes the action – the middle finger twisted over and around the forefinger – that doesn't always accompany the words. A basic prayer, representing the sign of the cross, although the Christian God is mostly forgotten in familiar and superstitious usage. The gesture, but not the term, may also accompany the swearing of an oath, or may represent friendship and sexual contact UK, 1924 finger sheet noun in horse racing, a publication giving the entries and odds for a day's races US, 1951

fingersmith noun 1 a pickpocket UK, 1823. 2 a thief BARBADOS, 1965 fingers to fingers used as an oath and pledge. The original pledge was heard on the US television comedy The Life of Riley (NBC, 1949–58); the full pledge, used by the Brooklyn Patriots of Los Angeles fraternal group, was 'Fingers to fingers, toes to toes, if I break this pact, break my nose'. On the comedy The Honeymooners (CBS, 1955–56), the toast version used by the fraternal order of Raccoons was 'Fingers to fingers, thumbs to thumbs, watch out below, here she comes' US, 1950 finger tip noun in the car sales business, power steering US, 1953 finger tips noun someone adept at masturbating others US, 1990 finger-walk verb with one hand, to roll a coin over and through the knuckles US, 1981 finger wave noun 1 a digital examination of the rectum, either as part of an prostate examination or a drug search US, 1962. 2 a gesture with the middle finger, usually interpreted to mean 'fuck you!' US, 1976 finfy noun a new arrival in Antarctica. A pronunciation of FNG or FUCKING NEW GUY ANTARCTICA, 2003 finif noun 1 a five-dollar note. From the Yiddish finif (five) US, 1859. 2 a prison sentence of five years US, 1904. 3 in dice games, a five on one die US, 1950 finish verb ► finish on the chinstrap in horse racing, to win a race easily under restraint US, 1951 finishing school noun a reformatory for juvenile delinquents US, 1976 finito the end, no more. Italian finito (finished). The elaboration 'finito, Benito' adds an Italian name – thus stressing the word's Italian origin UK, 1975 fink noun 1 an informer US, 1902. 2 a non-union job or worker US, 1917. 3 in circus and carnival usage, a broken piece of merchandise US, 1981

fink verb to inform on US, 1925 fink-and-fort it adjective used of a London working-class accent. A phonetic representation of 'think and thought it' UK, 2001 fink book noun the record of a longshoreman's or seafarer's employment. The books were used by employers to punish labour activists and enforce non-union conditions in the workplace US, 1934

fink out verb to betray, to inform US, 1962

finky adjective disloyal, cowardly US, 1948

Finlay Quay adjective homosexual. Rhyming slang for 'gay', formed from the name of a singer who enjoyed notable success in the late 1990s UK, 2003

finny adjective (used of a hand or foot) deformed BARBADOS, 1965

Finsbury Park noun an arc light. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of an area of North London UK, 1992 finski noun a five-dollar note US, 1952

fin-up noun a prison sentence of five years to life US, 1962

FIP noun a scene in a pornographic film or a photograph of a man pretending to ejaculate inside a vagina or rectum. An initialism for 'fake internal pop-shot'; used in softcore pornography US, 1995 fir noun marijuana US, 1984 fire noun 1 matches or a cigarette lighter US, 1959. 2 a detonator UK, 1956. 3 a sexually transmitted infection NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992. 4 a combination of crack cocaine and methamphetamine UK, 1998. 5 a running car engine. Usually in the context of a comment such as 'your fire went out' when a motorist shuts off his engine US, 1962. 6 a car heater NEW ZEALAND, 1998. ► I wouldn't spit on him (her) if he (she) was on fire; I wouldn't piss on him if he was on fire I detest him (her) UK, 1979. ► on fire (used of a homosexual) patently, obviously. As in FLAMING US, 1994 fire verb 1 to light up a cigarette or a marijuana cigarette. Literally 'to apply a flame' US, 1950. 2 (of a mechanical device) to start up. Also 'fire up' as a variant US, 2000. 3 to inject a drug intravenously US, 1936. 4 to dismiss from employment. A pun on 'discharge' US, 1887. 5 to destroy by arson US, 1957. 6 to ejaculate UK, 1891. 7 to play a sport exceedingly well; to be 'on fire' AUSTRALIA, 1977. ► fire a leak to urinate TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► fire one to have a drink BARBADOS, 1965. ► fire the acid to drink rum JAMAICA, 1998. ► fire the ack-ack gun to smoke a cigarette dipped in a heroin solution US, 1969 fire alarms noun arms (weaponry); the arms. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 fire-and-forget adjective (used of a missile) guided automatically US, 1991 fire away verb to commence, to start. Generally as imperative or invitation UK, 1775

fireball noun 1 an extremely energetic person US, 1949. 2 in pinball, a ball that leaves play without scoring any points US, 1977. 3 a tracer bullet US, 1962. 4 a short but intense use of artillery in the Vietnam war US, 1991 fire bomber noun an aircraft for fighting fire CANADA, 1961

firebug noun 1 an arsonist; a person with a pathological love of fire US, 1872. 2 in poker, a player who bets and plays in a reckless fashion US, 1996

fireburner noun a zealot US, 1972 firecan noun a type of radar system in a military aircraft US, 1999 firecracker noun a secret fragmentation artillery shell used on an experimental basis in Vietnam. The formal name was Controlled Fragmentation Munition, or CoFraM US, 1991 fired adjective excited, eager, sexually aroused US, 1968 fired up adjective enthusiastic, 1999 fire-eater noun a ferociously brave person US, 1808 fire engine noun corned beef served in a tomato sauce over white rice BAHAMAS, 1982 firefighter cute adjective describes an attractive young man. Teenspeak, post-11th September 2001 — the day firefighters became 'American heroes' US, 2002 firefly noun a helicopter equipped with a powerful search light, usually teamed with several gunships in the Vietnam war US, 1991 fire in the hole! 1 used as a warning that an explosive is about to be detonated US, 1986. 2 in the illegal production of alcohol, used as a warning of approaching law enforcement officials US, 1974 fire into verb to approach with an intent to seduce UK, 1995

fireless cooker noun a gas chamber US, 1962 fireman noun in a group smoking marijuana from a pipe, the second person to smoke SOUTH AFRICA, 2004 fireman's noun horse races. Rhyming slang, from 'fireman's braces' AUSTRALIA, 1989 fireman's hose; fireman's noun the nose. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 fire on verb 1 to excite sexually US, 1969. 2 to punch someone US, 1973 fire pie noun a red-headed woman's pubic hair and vulva US, 2003 fireplace noun in hot rodding, the grille on the front of a car US, 1958 fireproof adjective invulnerable UK, 1984 fire-rage noun an argument BARBADOS, 1965

fire track noun an armoured personnel carrier or tank equipped with a flame-thrower US, 1991 fire up verb 1 to light a pipe, a cigar or a cigarette UK, 1890. 2 to light and smoke a marijuana cigarette US, 1962. 3 to inject drugs UK, 1996. 4 to enthuse UK, 1986 firewater noun 1 strong alcohol. A term associated with Native Americans, often pronounced with an ambiguous accent approximating an accent used by Indian actors in old cowboy films US, 1817. 2 GBL, a drug that is nearly identical in molecular structure to the recreational drug GHB US, 1999. 3 spruce beer, and also, phosphorescence in salt water CANADA, 1950 fireworks noun 1 a great disturbance; dramatic excitement UK, 1889. 2 an exchange of gunfire US, 1864. 3 a police car with flashing lights US, 1976. 4 roadside flares warning motorists of an accident or other problem ahead US, 1962

firey; fire-ie; firee noun a firefighter, especially of bushfires AUSTRALIA, 1996 firing line noun ► in the firing line in danger of dismissal from employment; applied more widely to any who are identified as those who will be blamed or held to account UK, 1961 firm noun 1 a gang of football hooligans. A business-like self-description, adopted from professional criminals UK, 1999. 2 a criminal gang. From the conventional sense as a 'business' UK, 1969. 3 a squad of detectives, especially a close-knit group. A humorous adoption of the 'criminal gang' sense UK, 1977. 4 a criminal set-up between a police officer or officers, especially CID, and a criminal gang UK, 1970. ► on the firm as a constant arrangement, steadily UK, 2001. ► the firm the British royal family. Monarchy seen as a business is a notion very much in tune with the ethics of the late 1980s UK, 2001 firm up verb to form into a gang UK, 2000 first aid noun 1 a blade (as a weapon); a razor blade. Rhyming slang; thought to be inspired by the catchphrase threat: 'Can your wife [or mum] do first aid? Well get her to stitch this up' UK, 1992. 2 a small shop that sells, amongst other commodities, patent medicines BARBADOS, 1965 first aid kit; first aid noun the female breast. Rhyming slang for TIT, usually plural UK, 1992 first base noun 1 in teenage categorisation of sexual activity, a level of foreplay, most commonly referring to kissing. The exact degree varies by region and even by school US, 1928. 2 in blackjack played in American casinos, the seat immediately to the dealer's left US, 1985 first cab off the rank noun the first in a series AUSTRALIA, 1966

first call noun in Antarctica, the first ship to arrive at the South Pole each season ANTARCTICA, 2003

first class adjective extremely good UK, 1879 first dollar noun in television and film-making, the first money generated after release US, 1990

first drop noun in cricket, the 3rd position in the order of batting UK, 1960

First Fleeter noun a person, or a descendant of a person, who arrived on the first fleet of ships to bring British colonists to Australia in 1788. A great deal of pride is associated with this lineage in Australia AUSTRALIA, 1826 first horse nickname the First Cavalry Division, US Army US, 1968

first Louie noun a first lieutenant US, 1991

first off adverb as a beginning US, 1880 first-of-May noun 1 an inexperienced worker. A circus word, based on the start of the circus season US, 1961. 2 a newcomer to a circus or carnival US, 1926

First of the First noun the First Battalion of the First Regiment, US Marine Corps. Korean war usage US, 1982 first pig noun a first sergeant, the most senior non-commissioned officer in the US Army US, 1975 first reader noun a railway conductor's trainbook US, 1946 first sergeant noun your wife US, 1976

first shirt noun a first sergeant in the US Army US, 1969 first sleeve noun a first sergeant US, 1956

first soldier noun a first sergeant in the US Army US, 1946 first suck of the sauce bottle noun first in a queue AUSTRALIA, 1971

first today and last tomorrow in horse racing, said of an inconsistent performer US, 1951 fish noun 1 the vagina UK, 1891. 2 a woman, usually heterosexual UK, 1891. 3 a male homosexual. Prison slang JAMAICA, 2002. 4 a prisoner who has recently arrived in prison US, 1864. 5 a lover NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992. 6 a person. Always suffixed to an adjective UK, 1722. 7 a fool UK, 2000. 8 a heavy drinker US, 1990. 9 a drug addict who supports his habit by pimping US, 1955. 10 in poker, an unskilled player who is a likely victim of a skilled professional US, 1996. 11 in on-line poker, the weakest player in the game, 2003. 12 in cricket, a weak batsman TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990. 13 a poor chess player US, 1971. 14 in oil drilling, any object inadvertently dropped down a well US, 1954. 15 a Plymouth Barracuda car US, 1976. 16 a torpedo US, 1948. 17 a dollar US, 1950. 18 in electric line work, a glass strain insulator US, 1980. ► have other fish to fry; have bigger fish to fry to have other business, or other things to do or achieve UK, 1660 fish verb 1 to dance in a slow and sexual manner, moving the body but not the feet US, 1952. 2 in gin, to discard in a manner that is designed to lure a desired card from an opponent US, 1965. 3 in poker, to stay with a bad hand in the hope of drawing the only card that can possibly make the hand a good one US, 2003. 4 to use a prison's plumbing system to pass a note from cell to cell US, 2000. ► fish for food to gossip US, 1947. ► fish on the half-line in the Maritime Provinces, to fish for half of the catch as wages CANADA, 1983. ► fish or cut bait; fish, cut bait or go ashore make up your mind! The shorter, two-option phrase is more popular today than the longer original US, 1860 fish used as a euphemism for 'fuck', a cry of despair, surprise, rage, resignation; an abbreviated euphemism for 'fuck off', a cry of disbelief. Often lingering on the 'f' before pronouncing the 'ish' so that a disguised intention is made obvious UK, 1998 fish and chip; fish noun 1 the lip, lip (impudence). Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 2 a gratuity. Rhyming slang for 'tip' UK, 1992 fish and chips noun in poker, a group of unskilled players with a lot of money to lose US, 1996 fish and shrimp noun a pimp. Rhyming slang US, 1935 fish and tank noun a bank. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 fishbelly noun a white person US, 1985

fishbite noun the condition that exists when someone pulls your trousers or underpants forcefully upward, forming a wedge between buttock cheeks US, 1990

fishbowl noun 1 a room in HMP Wormwood Scrubs where prisoners meet their visitors UK, 1996. 2 the area in a prison where newly arrived prisoners are housed US, 1992

fish bull noun a new and young prison guard US, 1984 fish-burner noun a sled dog. An extension of the early C20 'hay-burner' (horse) US, 1967 fish cake noun five dollars US, 1985 fishcunt noun used by adolescent boys as a derisory term for any girl of similar maturity. Describes an olfactory and physical difference between the genders UK, 1997 fish-eater noun a Roman Catholic. From the largely forgotten practice of abstaining from eating meat on Fridays US, 1980 fisherman's daughter; fisherman's noun water. Rhyming slang. One of several terms that have 'daughter' as the common (dispensable) element UK, 1888

fisherman's dinner noun a steak CANADA, 1989 fish eye noun an expressionless stare. From the appearance US, 1941 fish eyes noun tapioca US, 1918 fish fingers noun said of fingers that have been used to stimulate a woman's vagina AUSTRALIA, 1985 fish frighteners noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 2003 fish gallery noun the area in a prison where newly arrived prisoners are kept US, 1962

fishhead noun a person from Southeast Asia US, 1971 fish-hook noun 1 in a deck of playing cards, any seven US, 1967. 2 in a deck of playing cards, a jack or knave US, 1981 fish-hooks noun problems NEW ZEALAND, 2002

fishies noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy US, 2002 fishing expedition noun a litigation tactic of requesting a broad range of probably irrelevant information in the hope of discovering something helpful US, 1874 fishing pole noun any contrivance fashioned to pass or retrieve items from cell to cell US, 2001 fish line noun in a prison, a string used to pull objects from one cell to another US, 1989 fishmonger noun a lesbian. Conventionally 'one who deals in fish' (Oxford English Dictionary), playing on FISH (the vagina) UK, 2002 fish 'n' chip mob noun anyone who is considered socially wanting due to lack of breeding or hereditary privilege. Patronising upper-class usage; originally military for any regiment considered socially inferior UK, 1982

fisho noun an angler AUSTRALIA, 1971

fish queen noun a homosexual male who spends a great deal of time in the company of heterosexual women US, 1941 fish scale noun crack cocaine. From the appearance US, 1989 fish scales noun cocaine US, 2002

fishskin noun a condom US, 1936 fishtail verb to cause the rear of an aeroplane or car to swerve from side to side US, 1927 fish tank noun 1 a holding cell for newly arrived prisoners. A wonderful pun with independently formed terms US, 1962. 2 a bus UK, 1981 fish wife noun a married male homosexual's wife US, 1971 fishy adjective inducing suspicion US, 1840 fist city noun a physical fight US, 1930 fister noun a person who inserts their hand into another's vagina or rectum for sexual gratification US, 1999 fist fuck; fist verb to insert your lubricated fist into a partner's rectum or vagina, leading to sexual pleasure for both US, 1972 fist-fucker noun 1 a practitioner of fist fucking US, 1972. 2 a frequent, obsessive masturbator US, 1962 fist-fucking; fisting noun 1 the practice of inserting the hand (and part of the arm) into a partner's anus (or vagina) for the sexual pleasure of all involved. Predominantly gay usage but also found in heterosexual practice US, 1972. 2 masturbation UK, 1891 fist it! be quiet! US, 1994 fist sandwich noun a punch in the mouth US, 1982 fit noun 1 the equipment needed to inject a drug. A shortened form of OUTFIT. Also recorded in England US, 1959. 2 an outfit of clothing US, 1972. ► have a fit; have forty fits to lose your temper, to become very angry UK, 1877 fit adjective sexually attractive. Originally a black term, now in wider usage; coinage is obviously informed by the conventional sense as 'healthy' UK, 2000. ► are you fit? are you ready? UK, 1984 fit 'n' furry adjective used as a description of a hirsute, sexually attractive man UK, 2003 fit; fit up; fix up verb to ensure that someone is convicted of a criminal charge, often by nefarious means; to frame AUSTRALIA, 1882. ► fit just like a smack on the lips (of a raincoat) to be the perfect size CANADA, 1988. ► fit where they touch; fits where it touches applied to loose or ill-fitting clothes UK, 1932 fit and spasm noun an orgasm. Rhyming slang, formed on appropriate imagery UK, 2003 fit as a fiddle adjective in good health or condition UK, 1616 fitbin noun the vagina UK, 2001 fit fanny noun a sexually attractive woman or women UK, 2003

FITH adjective demented, stupid. From 'fucked in the head' AUSTRALIA, 1987 fitness noun sexually attractive young women. From FIT (sexually attractive) UK, 1994 fitted adjective 1 falsely incriminated UK, 1998. 2 well-dressed US, 2003 fit to adjective at the point of doing something; likely to do something UK, 1585 fit to be tied adjective very angry, furious US, 1894

five noun 1 a slap of the hand in greeting US, 1959. 2 five pounds UK, 2001. 3 an amphetamine tablet US, 1993. 4 a five-year prison sentence UK, 1958. 5 Chanel No. 5™ perfume US, 1994. ► come and take five to make a short visit GRENADA, 1976. ► get your five to attain the highest rank in the Canadian civil service CANADA, 1995. ► give five to shake hands or to slap hands in a greeting US, 1935. ► take five to take a short break US, 1929 five and dime noun in poker, a hand with a five and a ten and three other unpaired cards in between US, 1968 five and two noun used as a formula for the services of a prostitute – her fee and the room fee US, 1970 five-by-five; five-by adverb loud and clear US, 1954 five by two noun a Jewish person AUSTRALIA, 1984

five-card Charlie noun in casino blackjack games, a bonus paid to a player who draws three cards and still has a total count of 21 or less US, 1996

five-cent paper noun five dollars' worth of a drug US, 1971 five-digit disco noun an act of female masturbation UK, 2004 five finger noun a thief, especially a pickpocket US, 1932 five-finger verb to shoplift US, 1919 five-finger discount noun theft by shoplifting US, 1966 five-fingered chequebook noun acquisition by shoplifting NEW ZEALAND, 1994

five-fingered Mary noun a man's hand as the means of masturbation US, 1971 five-fingered widow noun (of a male) the hand as a masturbatory tool; masturbation UK, 1977 five fingers noun a five-year prison sentence US, 1992 five hundred club noun the notional association of all those who have been in Antarctica for more than 500 consecutive days ANTARCTICA, 2003 five-knuckle shuffle noun masturbation US, 1972 five-K rig noun a 5000 watt public address system UK, 1985 five-o noun fifty US, 1983

five o'clock follies noun during the Vietnam war, the daily military press briefings US, 1966 five o'clock shadow noun fast-growing, dark facial whiskers, which give the appearance of needing a shave by late in the afternoon. President Richard Nixon was known and ridiculed for his US, 1937 five of clubs noun the fist. Often used in constructions such as 'I dealt him the five of clubs' US, 1947 five-oh noun the police; a police officer. From Hawaii Five-O, a police television series that aired from September 1968 to April 1980, featuring an elite four-man police unit US, 1983 five on the sly; five on the soul side noun a mutual slapping of palms as an 'inside' greeting US, 1980 five-pinner noun a bowler in a five-pin game CANADA, 1957 five-pound word noun any profanity. From the fine that one might receive for using profanity BAHAMAS, 1982 five-r noun 1 a five-pound or five-dollar note US, 1843. 2 in craps, the number five US, 1985 five-r-finger noun money. Derived from shoplifting and pickpocketing UK, 1996 five-r, five-r, racetrack driver noun in craps, the number five US, 1985 fives noun 1 dice that have been altered to have two fives, the second five being where one would expect to find a two. Used in combination with DEUCES, likely to produce a seven, an important number in the game of craps US, 1974. 2 the fifth landing or floor level in a prison UK, 1996. 3 the fingers US, 1973 fives! used to reserve your seat as you briefly leave the room. The promise inherent is to be right back – in, let's say, five minutes US, 1996 fives-a-pair noun fifty-five miles an hour. The near-universal speed limit on US roads from the mid-1970s until the early 90s US, 1976 fives artist noun an expert at a shortchanging scheme using a five-dollar note US, 1953 five-six-seven noun collectively, Chevrolets manufactured in 1955, 1956 or 1957. Five-six-seven clubs exist in several North American cities, dedicated to the restoration and preservation of 1955, 1956 and 1957 Chevrolets, Corvettes, Pontiacs and Chevrolet and GMC trucks US, 1993 five-spot noun 1 a five-dollar note US, 1892. 2 a five pound note. Adopted directly from the previous sense UK, 1984. 3 a prison sentence of five years US, 1901 five-square adverb loud and clear US, 1956

five thousand US ▷see: 5000 five to four adjective sure, certain. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 five-to-lifers noun a pair of shoes issued to prisoners by the state. Purported to last at least five years US, 1989 five to two noun a Jewish person. Rhyming slang for 'Jew' UK, 1932 five twenty-nine noun a jail sentence of one day less than six months. The maximum sentence for a misdemeanour charge in some jurisdictions US, 1953

five watter noun UK ▷see: 5 WATTER five-way noun a powdered-drug cocktail of cocaine, heroin, flunitrazepam and methamphetamine ingested nasally whilst also drinking alcohol. Probably applies to any mix of five recreational stimulants UK, 2002

five will get you ten used for an expression of confidence in the assertion that follows US, 1990

fivezies noun in poker, a pair of fives US, 1988 fix noun 1 an injection of a drug, especially heroin US, 1936. 2 by extension, what a person craves or needs US, 1993. 3 an illegal arrangement US, 1948. 4 a well-thought-out plan with criminal intent AUSTRALIA, 1975. 5 trouble, a difficult position US, 1834. 6 in the slang of pool players, proper position for the next shot or shots US, 1970. ▶ get a fix on to make a plan of action US, 1955

fix verb 1 to inject or otherwise ingest a drug, especially heroin US, 1936. 2 to prepare US, 1725. 3 (with connotations of coercion or violence) to deal with someone, or settle a situation, or exact revenge UK, 1961. 4 to falsely incriminate. Also variant 'fix up' US, 1790. 5 to neuter (an animal), to castrate US, 1970. 6 to have sex with Fiji, 1992. ▶ be fixing to do something be preparing to do something; be about to do something US, 1971. ▶ fix someone's pipe in the usage of counterculturalists associated with the Rainbow Nation gatherings, to give someone marijuana US, 1997. ▶ fix your bones to use drugs, especially while suffering withdrawal pains US, 1992

fixed adjective situated US, 1958 fixer noun 1 a person who can solve problems informally US, 1972. 2 a person who takes care of legal problems encountered by a circus or carnival US, 1900. 3 an agent working for the police UK, 1996

fixit noun a criminal enterprise in which cars are given new identities UK, 1972 fix or repair daily noun a Ford truck; any Ford vehicle. A back formation from the initials FORD. Contemporary UK motor trade slang US, 1971 fix up verb to arrange a (romantic) introduction and meeting on someone else's behalf US, 1930

fix up ▷see: FIT; FIT UP fizgig; fizzgig verb to work as an informer AUSTRALIA, 1985

fizgig; fizzgig noun a police informer. Also spelt with 'ph' AUSTRALIA, 1895 fizz noun any sparkling wine UK, 1864

fizzed adjective gently drunk UK, 1999 fizzer noun 1 a failure; a dud. From the sense as 'a dud firework.' AUSTRALIA, 1957. 2 in the military, a charge of misconduct UK, 1935. 3 a police informer. From FIZGIG AUSTRALIA, 1943. 4 the face. A variation of PHIZOG used in Glasgow UK: SCOTLAND, 1996

fizzler noun a failure NEW ZEALAND, 1984

fizzog noun ▷see: PHIZOG fizzy boat noun a small but loud motorboat NEW ZEALAND, 1998

flab noun fat, flabbiness, obesity UK, 1923 flabbergast verb to astound, to utterly confuse UK, 1772. ▶ my flabber is gasted; never has my flabber been so gasted I am astounded or astonished. Jocular phrases formed on the verb FLABBERGAST (to astound). The second form is particularly associated with British comedian Frankie Howerd, 1917–92 UK, 1984 flabby labby noun unusually pronounced vaginal labia US, 2003

flack noun a publicist; a spokesperson US, 1939 fladanked adjective drug-intoxicated US, 1997

fladge; flage noun flagellation UK, 1948 flag noun 1 a criminal gang's lookout US, 1949. 2 while injecting a drug into a vein, the flow of blood up into the syringe, indicating that the vein has been pierced US, 1989. 3 a variable which changes value when a certain condition is reached US, 1991. 4 in gambling, a wager of 23 bets consisting of four selections UK, 2001. 5 the grade 'F' US, 1968. 6 the ground floor of a tiered prison cellblock US, 1992. 7 a one-pound note AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► have the flags out to experience the bleed period of the menstrual cycle AUSTRALIA, 1968. ► have your flag in port to experience the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1966. ► the flag is up; the red flag is up experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1980

flag verb 1 to label or categorise someone US, 1992. 2 in the military, to make an entry on a soldier's record which will prevent further promotion US, 1970. 3 to give a student in college a notification of academic deficiency US, 1968. 4 to display or wear prominently (a handkerchief or other symbol of sexual taste) US, 1896. 5 to wear an article of clothing signifying gang membership US, 1995. 6 to arrest US, 1927. 7 to fail (a test or course) US, 1965. 8 to skip, as in missing a class US, 1997 flag country noun in the US Navy, the area where an admiral works US, 1991 flag day noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1968 flag football noun a friendly, non-competitive game of poker. In the US, flag football is played with a tame set of rules which forbid most of the physical contact associated with the game US, 1996 flagging adjective said of a woman experiencing the bleed period of her menstrual cycle US, 1954 flag-off noun a commencement INDIA, 2004

flag off verb to start, to commence. From the use of a flag to signal the start of a race INDIA, 2004 flagpole noun the erect penis. Especially in the phrase 'properly saluting the flagpole' (oral sex) US, 1922

flag's up! in circus and carnival usage, used for conveying that a meal is ready US, 1981 flag unfurled noun the world. Rhyming slang, replacing the earlier sense (man of the world) UK, 1992 flag up verb to draw attention to, to advertise UK, 2002 flag-waver noun 1 a rousing, patriotic song or performance US, 1937. 2 in horse racing, a horse that flicks its tail up and down while racing US, 1951 flah verb to have sexual intercourse. The word appears to be most commonly used in Cork IRELAND, 2003

flahulach adjective generous IRELAND, 1967

flail verb to surf awkwardly US, 1990

flak noun abuse, criticism. From the original sense (anti-aircraft fire) US, 1963 flake noun 1 cocaine US, 1961. 2 the shavings off a solid mass of crack cocaine US, 1983. 3 an unreliable, unstable person US, 1959. 4 the planting of evidence on a suspected criminal US, 1973. 5 in the Maritime Provinces, a wooden rack for drying fish CANADA, 1963 flake verb 1 to plant evidence on a suspected criminal US, 1972. 2 to fall asleep; to pass out. Often used as the variant 'flake out' US, 1955 flake artist noun a police officer inclined to plant evidence on a suspected criminal US, 1973 flaked adjective unconscious. A shortening of FLAKED OUT US, 1959 flaked out adjective exhausted, unconscious US, 1958 flake of corn noun an erection (of the penis). Rhyming slang for HORN UK, 1992 flake off verb to go away US, 1957 flake off and die, dude! used as an all-purpose insult US, 1988 flake out verb to collapse UK, 1942 flakers adjective 1 drunk to the point of passing out NEW ZEALAND, 1978. 2 tired, exhausted UK, 1987

flakie noun ► take a flakie; throw a flakie to have a fit of temper. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

flak shack noun a military hospital or hospital ward where soldiers suffering from war-related psychological problems are treated US, 1944

flak trap noun a tactic used by the North Vietnamese in which anti-aircraft fire is withheld from the area of a downed US aircraft until the rescue aircraft get near US, 1955 flaky adjective inattentive, distracted, unreliable. Partridge suggested a connection between the adjective and cocaine, which was 'flaky' in nature US, 1959

flam noun a deceptive front UK, 1632

flam verb to swindle, to fool, to deceive UK, 1637 flamage noun incendiary rhetoric used in a computer posting or internet discussion group US, 1991 flame noun 1 a cigarette lighter US, 1994. 2 an insulting or aggressive e-mail or Internet discussion group posting. The collective noun is FLAMAGE US, 1983 flame verb to post insulting personal attacks on others posting messages on an Internet bulletin board or in an Internet discussion group, or to send an insulting personal attack by e-mail. From an earlier sense of simply 'insulting', in the absence of any computer technology US, 1981 flamebait noun a message posted in an Internet discussion group for the express purpose of soliciting insulting messages US, 1995 flame bath noun the dropping of 55-gallon drums of combustible liquids from a utility helicopter, followed by flares that ignite the fuel US, 1970 flame cooking noun the process of smoking freebase cocaine by placing the pipe over a flame 2002 flamefest noun a protracted exchange of insulting and inflammatory messages on an Internet discussion group US, 1995 flame-out noun 1 in hot rodding and motor racing, a complete failure of the ignition system while the car is operating US, 1965. 2 an empty petrol tank US, 1960

flamer noun 1 a blatant and conspicuous homosexual US, 1948. 2 an alcoholic drink which is set on fire in the glass (after the flames have been extinguished the fumes are inhaled before the drink is swallowed); an alcoholic drink which is set alight in the drinker's mouth in the hope that swallowing puts the flame out UK, 2001. 3 an Internet user who posts vitriolic, insulting messages in Internet discussion groups US, 1983. 4 a pistol US, 1997

flamethrower noun 1 in hot rodding and drag racing, an ignition system that has been greatly enhanced US, 1958. 2 a diesel truck with flames showing on the smokestack from an incorrect fuel-to-air ratio US, 1971. 3 a cigarette dressed with cocaine and heroin UK, 1998 flame war noun a virulent exchange of insulting messages in an Internet discussion group US, 1995 flaming adjective 1 (used of a homosexual) patently, obviously US, 1941. 2 used as an intensifier UK, 1895 flaming asshole noun a truly despicable person US, 1968 flaming coffin nickname a DH-4 bomber aircraft US, 1919 flaming end noun a remarkable and pleasing thing or person UK, 1983 flaming fury noun a toilet built over a deep pit in the ground, the contents of which are periodically set alight AUSTRALIA, 1960 flaming hell! used for registering surprise, anger, amazement, etc. A euphemism for FUCKING HELL! rather than a literal elaboration of 'hell' UK, 1984 flaming Nora! used as a euphemistic replacement for 'flaming hell!'. Coined for the racial tension situation comedy Love Thy Neighbour, 1972–76. The Coronation Street character Jack Duckworth, since 1979, also uses the television-friendly term, hence its wider currency UK, 1979 flaming onion nickname the Ordnance Corps of the US Army. From the flaming grenade insignia US, 1944 flaming piss pot nickname the Ordnance Corps of the US Army. From the flaming grenade insignia US, 1980 flaming well adverb damned well AUSTRALIA, 1955

Flanagan & Allen; flanagan noun a gallon (of motor fuel). Rhyming slang, formed from the names of music hall comedians

Bud Flanagan, 1896–1968, and Chesney Allen, 1894–1982, who worked together as a double act and as part of the Crazy Gang UK, 1992 flange noun 1 the vagina AUSTRALIA, 1996. 2 the outer lips of the vagina AUSTRALIA, 1985

flange verb to walk along UK, 2002

flange-head noun a Chinese person US, 1949 flanger noun in target shooting, a shot that strikes outside a close group of shots on the target US, 1957 flanker noun a trick, a swindle, a doublecross. Originally military; usually as ‘do/play/pull/work a flanker’ UK, 1923 flannel noun empty and pretentious talk UK, 1927 flannel verb to flatter; to deceive UK, 1941 flannelmouth noun a loudmouth; an insincere, silver-tongued talker US, 1981 flannel-mouthed adjective thick-tongued, especially as the result of drinking to excess US, 1973 flannel panel noun in a magazine, a list of who did what in that edition UK, 2002 flannie noun a flannelette shirt AUSTRALIA, 1996 flanngo noun a flannelette shirt AUSTRALIA, 1996

flanngo adjective made from flannelette AUSTRALIA, 1987 flap noun 1 a disturbance or crisis UK, 1916. 2 the mouth AUSTRALIA, 1960. 3 the ear. As a plural it is often the nickname for men with large ears UK, 1977. 4 strands of hair that a semi-bald man may cultivate and style to lay over his naked pate UK, 1992. 5 a cheque. Underworld and prison use AUSTRALIA, 1955 flap verb 1 to be agitated; to panic, to dither UK, 1912. 2 while surfing, to make awkward flapping arm motions trying to gain your balance US, 1991. ► flap skin to have sex US, 1990

flapdoodle noun nonsense UK, 1833 flapjacked adjective drunk US, 2002

flapjaw noun a person who talks incessantly US, 1950 flapper noun 1 the penis in a flaccid state US, 1980. 2 the ear US, 1933. 3 a radio antenna US, 1976 flapper steak noun a pig’s ear sandwich US, 1947 flapper track nickname an unofficial greyhound race track often used so that dogs could get a ‘kill’ to sharpen their appetites before an official race IRELAND, 1977 flapping track noun a small, unlicensed dog racing track UK, 1977 flaps noun 1 the female breasts US, 1972. 2 the vaginal lips; the labia majora or minora. Although there is some evidence of ‘flap’ meaning ‘the vagina’ in C17, it is long obsolete; this sense is a shortening of the synonymous PISS FLAPS UK, 2002 ► see: FLAP flare noun a type of scratch (a manipulation of a record to create a musical effect) that cuts out the middle of a sample. Named after DJ Flare who invented the move in the late 1980s US, 2002 flared adjective 1 drunk CANADA, 1965. 2 angry US, 1993 flare kicker noun the crew member who operates an airship’s flare dispenser US, 1997 flares noun flared trousers US, 1964 flash noun 1 a sudden onset of drug-induced effects US, 1946. 2 LSD US, 1994. 3 any central nervous system stimulant UK, 1983. 4 illicitly distilled alcohol. Used by British expatriates in Saudi Arabia UK, 1981. 5 a revelation; an epiphany; a satori US, 1924. 6 in a striptease show, the stripper’s entrance onto the stage US, 1945. 7 a large number of small-denomination banknotes with a large-denomination note showing, giving the impression of a great deal of money UK, 1996. 8 inexpensive, showy jewellery US, 1927. 9 an inexpensive carnival prize that is so appealing that people will spend great sums trying to win it US, 1927. 10 a suit of clothes US, 1950. 11 the appearance of wealth or success US, 1975. 12 a know-all. Used in borstals and detention centres UK, 1978. 13 in horse racing, a last-minute change in odds US, 1951. ► bit of flash ostentation, a superficial show UK, 1962 flash verb 1 to exhibit as naked a part or parts of the body that are usually clothed UK, 1893. 2 to show off UK, 1754. 3 to show UK, 1754. 4 to display official credentials UK, 1976. 5 while dealing blackjack in a casino, to briefly and unintentionally expose the down card US, 1980. 6 to display prizes in a carnival game in order to attract customers US, 1966. 7 to vomit US, 1968. 8 to vomit after injecting heroin or while withdrawing from heroin use US, 1957. 9 to inhale glue or industrial solvents for the psychoactive effect US, 1970. 10 to remember an event from the past in a sudden and powerful manner. An abbreviation of ‘flashback’ US, 1984. 11 to break light bulbs in their sockets, either as an act of vandalism or preparatory to a crime US, 1953. 12 to commit a social gaffe US, 1963. ► flash a brown to drop your trousers and expose your buttocks NEW ZEALAND, 1998. ► flash a joint to display prizes in a carnival game US, 1968. ► flash the ash used as a demand that someone offer a cigarette. A variation of CRASH THE ASH; probably arose in the 1950s but now rare UK, 1984. ► flash the cash to spend some money; to offer payment UK, 1999. ► flash the gallery; flash the range in prison, to use a small mirror to watch out for approaching guards while conducting some prohibited activity in your cell US, 1981. ► flash the hash to vomit US, 1965. ► flash your ass to commit a social gaffe US, 1968 flash adjective 1 ostentatious, showy UK, 1785. 2 impudent, cheeky UK, 1980 flashback noun a relapse into a hallucinatory drug experience long after the effect of the drug has worn off US, 1971 flash-bang noun an explosive device designed to deafen and blind without otherwise injuring US, 1999 flash cash noun a large, ostentatious bankroll US, 1979 flash cloth noun colourful draping used in a carnival concession US, 1985 flash dough noun counterfeit money US, 1949 flasher noun 1 a person with a psychopathological need to expose his or her genitals US, 1962. 2 a casino dealer who inadvertently reveals his down card US, 1991 flash flood noun in poker, a sudden sequence of good cards US, 1996 flash Harry noun an ostentatiously or expensively accoutred man. The character of Flash Harry created by George Cole (b.1925) in the St Trinians films (mid-1950s–mid-60s) is, perhaps, the most widely known popular usage – adding a shading of criminality to the meaning; Sir Malcolm Sargent (1895–1967), a conductor noted for his elegance and showmanship, is remembered by the nickname Flash Harry UK, 1964 flash house noun a room, apartment or house where amphetamine addicts gather to inject the drug US, 1970 flash mob noun a large crowd that materialises in a public place to perform a scripted action for several minutes before dissolving US, 2003 flash-mob verb to take part in a flash mob UK, 2004 flash mobber noun a participant in a flash mob US, 2003 flash money noun money, especially in a bankroll, intended for impressing, not spending US, 1970 flash on verb to think about with great intensity and focus US, 1968 flash paper noun paper that dissolves completely and quickly when exposed to water US, 1973 flash roll noun a large number of small-denomination banknotes with a large-denomination note showing, giving the impression of a great deal of money US, 1987 flash trash noun a gaudy, cheap woman US, 1992 flash up verb in circus and carnival usage, to add embellishments to a piece of clothing US, 1981 flat noun 1 a flat area for spectators in the centre of a racecourse AUSTRALIA, 1846. 2 in an illegal number gambling lottery, a bet that two digits will appear in the winning number US, 1949. 3 a police officer. Probably a shortening of FLATFOOT UK, 1966. 4 good quality tobacco, as opposed to prison issue tobacco AUSTRALIA, 1902. 5 a case of beer containing 24 bottles CANADA, 2007. 6 a conventional, law-abiding, boring person UK, 1753. 7 a smooth-sided subway (underground) carriage that lends itself to graffiti art US, 1997. 8 a credit card UK, 1977

Flat noun the season of flat horse racing UK, 1937 flat adjective 1 without money, broke. A shortening of 'flat broke' US, 1832. 2 (of a prison sentence) full, unqualified US, 1972. 3 (used of a bet) unvarying in amount US, 1978. ► that's flat; and that's flat used for emphasis or for concluding a preceding remark. An early usage (late C16) can be found in act 1, scene 3 of Shakespeare's Henry IV Part 1 UK, 1598 flat adverb completely US, 1962 flat-ass adverb absolutely US, 1948 flat-ass calm noun in lobstering, the condition of the sea when there are no waves and no wind US, 1978 flat-back verb to engage in prostitution. From the image of a prostitute having sex lying on her back US, 1967 flat-back; flat-bottom adjective possessing modest buttocks TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1971

flatbacker noun a prostitute of an undiscerning nature US, 1969 flat blue; flat; blue flat noun a tablet of LSD US, 1971

flatcatcher noun in horse racing, a horse that looks the part but evades actual achievement UK, 1948 flat-chat adverb as fast as one can go AUSTRALIA, 1981 flat chunks noun a combination of crack cocaine and benzocaine UK, 1998 flat dog noun bologna US, 1990 flatfoot noun a police officer, especially one assigned on foot patrol US, 1912

flatfoot verb to walk US, 1974

flatfooted adjective unprepared, unready, not 'on your toes' US, 1908 flat fuck noun sex without loss of semen US, 1982 flat-hat verb to fly very close to the ground at a high speed US, 1939 flat joint; flat store noun an illegal gambling operation where players are cheated as a matter of course US, 1914 flatkey noun a fifty-five mile an hour speed limit. A term borrowed from shortwave radio users (to depress the transmit switch) by citizens' band radio users, and then applied to the nearly universal road speed limit implemented in the US after the oil embargo of the early 1970s US, 1976 flatline verb to die. An allusion to the flat line on a medical monitoring device that indicates death US, 1981 flatliner noun 1 a dead person; a dead thing. From FLATLINE (to die). Flatliners is a 1990 film by Joel Schumacher in which five medical students experiment with the line between life and death US, 1998. 2 a mobile phone user who allows the phone's batteries to run down. A Manchester youth usage, from the sense 'a dead person', possibly, here, specifically 'brain dead' UK, 2003. 3 in poker, an unskilled and uninspired player. The moral equivalent of 'brain dead' US, 1996. 4 4-methylthioamphetamine, the recreational drug best known as 4-MTA UK, 2004 flat-out adjective absolute, complete US, 1959 flat out adverb as fast as possible AUSTRALIA, 1941 flat out like a lizard drinking adjective going or working as fast as possible AUSTRALIA, 1935 flat passer noun shaved dice used in cheating schemes US, 1997 flatroofer noun in the Maritime Provinces, a fishing boat with a reduced sailing rig for winter CANADA, 1955 flats noun 1 the lowest tier of cells in a prison US, 1976. 2 dice, the surfaces of which have been altered for cheating US, 1950 flat-spot verb (used of a car for sale) to remain in one spot without being driven or even moved US, 1992 flat-stick adjective very busy; at top speed NEW ZEALAND, 1972

flat-strap adverb as fast as possible AUSTRALIA, 2001

flatten out verb to serve a prison sentence completely US, 1976 flattie noun 1 a flat tyre AUSTRALIA, 1971. 2 a flat-heeled shoe, as distinguished from the high-heeled variety. Also as variant 'flat' UK, 1959 flat tire noun 1 a shoe that has been forced off a person's heel by someone walking behind them US, 2003. 2 a sagging breast US, 1997 flattop noun an aircraft carrier US, 1942 flatty noun 1 a member of an audience. Gently derogatory; extended by circus showmen from the (probably) now obsolete sense 'a rustic, an uninitiated person', first recorded in 1859 UK, 1933. 2 a person who works in a flat joint (an illegal gambling operation where players are cheated as a matter of course) US, 1981. 3 a uniformed police officer or a plain-clothes officer who is recognisable as a foot-patrol officer. A variation of FLATFOOT US, 1866. 4 a flat-bottomed boat AUSTRALIA, 1934. 5 a flathead fish AUSTRALIA, 1962 flat wheel noun a person with a limp US, 1977

flatworker noun a burglar who specialises in flats (apartments) UK, 1996 flava noun style, especially when unique. Also with more conventionally spelt variants, 'flavor' and 'flavour' US, 1982 flavour noun 1 in computing, a type or variety US, 1983. 2 cocaine US, 1995

flavourful adjective in computing, pleasing US, 1991 flavour of the month noun the latest, short-lived trend or fashion or relationship. Derivative, even contemptuous; originally conceived as a marketing strategy for ice-cream US, 1946 flavour of the week noun the latest, short-lived trend or fashion or relationship US, 2001 flawless adjective 1 flawed US, 1982. 2 handsome US, 1972 flea noun 1 someone who has refused to pay a debt AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 in American casinos, a gambler who places very small bets US, 1985. 3 in the car sales business, a customer determined to spend a small amount of money but buy an excellent car US, 1953. 4 in a hospital, an internist US, 1994 flea and louse noun 1 a house, especially one that is run down or unsalubrious. Rhyming slang UK, 1859. 2 a brothel, a whore house. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 fleabag noun 1 a low-cost, run-down motel, room, boarding house or apartment US, 1924. 2 a person dressed in old or dirty clothes; a smelly person UK, 2003. 3 a drug user CANADA, 1994. 4 a dishonest, disreputable carnival US, 1980 fleabag verb to nag. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 fleapit noun a shabby cinema UK, 1937

flea powder noun weak and/or diluted heroin US, 1956 fleas and itches noun motion pictures. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1967 fleas and lice noun ice. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 flea track noun a parting in the hair NEW ZEALAND, 1998

flea trap noun an inexpensive, shoddy hotel or boarding house US, 1942 fleder deder noun a handicap JAMAICA, 2002

Flemington confetti noun nonsense. A probable play on BULLSHIT, after the Flemington stockyards AUSTRALIA, 1941 flesh noun an actor who appears on stage US, 1981 flesh adjective in the music industry, appearing and performing live US, 1948 flesh agent noun a talent agent US, 1986 flesh-coloured highlights noun baldness. Jocular UK, 2001 flesh market noun an area where prostitution and other sex businesses thrive US, 1987 fleshmeet noun a meeting in the flesh of on-line correspondents US, 1996 flesh peddler noun an entertainer's business manager or agent US, 1935 flesh pit noun a bar or nightclub where people come in search of sexual partners US, 1991 fleshpot noun a brothel US, 1950 flesh torpedo noun the erect penis UK, 2003 fleshy flute noun the penis. Especially in the phrase 'playing a tune on the fleshy flute' (oral sex) US, 2001 flex noun cocaine UK, 2003 flex verb 1 to insult someone, to annoy, to frustrate UK, 2004. 2 to display power by a show of strength. From 'to flex your muscles' US, 1993. 3 to leave US, 1993

flex adjective flexible US, 1992 flexi-flyer noun in drag racing, a racing car with a long wheelbase with built-in flexibility to keep the wheels on the tracks US, 1968 flick noun 1 a film UK, 1926. 2 a photograph US, 1962. 3 rejection; dismissal. Short for FLICK PASS AUSTRALIA, 1982 flick verb 1 to reject AUSTRALIA, 1988. 2 to turn back or alter a car's mileometer (odometer) to increase resale value NEW ZEALAND, 1991.

 ► flick someone's switch to sexually excite someone. A play on TURN ON (to thrill) UK, 2003. ► flick your bean (of a woman) to masturbate. Fairly conventional use of 'flick' (to move with the fingers) applied to BEAN (the clitoris) UK, 2001. ► flick your Bic in trucking, to tap your brakes at night signalling to another driver. A borrowing from advertising for Bic™ cigarette lighters US, 1976.
 ► flick your wick to speed up, to hurry up NEW ZEALAND, 2002.
 ► flick yourself off of a woman, to masturbate. From the small movements necessary to manipulate the clitoris UK, 2005 flicker noun a film US, 1926 flick pass noun rejection; dismissal. Rhyming slang for arse. A 'flick pass' is a type of open-handed pass made in Australian Rules football AUSTRALIA, 1983 flicks noun the cinema UK, 1927 flid noun used as term of playground abuse. Derives from thalidomide, pronounced 'flidomide' UK, 1980

flier noun 1 in sports, a very fast start; in cricket, a swift rate of scoring at the beginning of a match. A shortening of conventional 'flying start', usually in the phrase 'off to a flier' UK, 1984. 2 in target shooting, a shot that strikes outside a close group of shots on the target US, 1957. 3 a prisoner who commits suicide by jumping or is murdered by being thrown from the top tier of a prison US, 1942.
 ► take a flier to leave US, 1914 flies noun ► and no flies as an exhortation to believe the statement to which it is appended UK, 1846. ► no flies on someone nothing at all wrong or amiss with someone AUSTRALIA, 1845 flight attendant noun a security guard at a rock concert, usually large and muscular, stationed at the barricades near the stage US, 1997 flight deck noun the female breasts UK, 1981 flightie noun a person who has relocated to the Highlands of Scotland from the urban realities of England in search of a rural dream. Derogatory. Probably from the verb 'to take flight' UK, SCOTLAND, 2004 flight lieutenant Biggles noun giggles. Rhyming slang, based (although wrongly ranked) on the flying-ace hero created by W.E. Johns in 1932 UK, 2002 flight lustre noun a mythical substance for which new recruits in the Canadian Air Force are sent to search CANADA, 1995 flight skins noun military flight pay US, 1945 flight time noun in motor racing, the elapsed time a car unintentionally spends in the air, usually upside down. Grim humour US, 1980 flik noun a song from which the lyrics have been changed for humorous consumption by science fiction fans US, 1991 flim noun a five pound note; the sum of £5. Originally an abbreviation of 'flimsy', adjective and obsolete noun use for the early, large white banknotes UK, 1870 flimflam noun 1 nonsense, pretentious or deceptive nonsense. In conventional use until late C19 UK, 1546. 2 a swindle involving a supposedly lost wallet supposedly found on the ground near the victim US, 1960

flimflam verb to shortchange, to swindle US, 1881

flimflam man noun a confidence swindler US, 1970

flimflammer noun a swindler who engages in the flimflam swindle (a swindle involving a supposedly lost wallet supposedly found on the ground near the victim) US, 1960

flimp verb to cheat, to swindle; in betting, to underpay or offer bets at below the odds. From an earlier sense of 'theft by snatching'; ultimately from west Flemish flimpe (knock, slap in the face) UK, 1925 flimsy noun any order written on thin, onion skin paper. The orders were written on 'flimsy' paper, hence the nominalisation of the adjective UK, 1889 fling noun a limited period devoted to self-indulgent pleasures, especially sexual; a short-lived sexual liaison UK, 1827 fling verb ► fling a dummy to die suddenly UK, 1981. ► fling baby to undergo an abortion TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

flinger noun 1 an impulsive poker player who is inclined to raise bets without regard to the quality of his hand US, 1988. 2 in target shooting, a shot that strikes outside a close group of shots on the target US, 1957 fling-wing noun a helicopter US, 1991

Flintstones nickname 1 the UK armed forces. The cartoon television series The Flintstones depicted a stone-age world in which C20 technology is comically replaced by prehistoric ingenuity. As a nickname used by the US military it reflects the outdated 'prehistoric' equipment and shortages of everyday supplies that force the UK forces to improvise and scrounge US, 2003. 2 a variety of LSD. Identified by a picture of the cartoon characters the Flintstones, created by William Hanna and Joseph Barbera in 1966; sometimes shortened to 'flints' UK, 1996 flip noun 1 a condition of mental instability US, 1953. 2 a person who has lost touch with reality US, 1952. 3 an LSD experience US, 1992. 4 in trucking, a return trip US, 1976. 5 a male homosexual who plays the passive role in sex US, 1992. 6 a police informer US, 1967

Flip noun a Filipino US, 1931 flip verb 1 to become very angry or agitated; to go temporarily crazy US, 1950. 2 to become enthusiastic and excited US, 1950. 3 to induce a betrayal US, 1980. 4 to betray, to inform on US, 1960. 5 to gesture. As used in FLIP THE BIRD (to raise the middle finger) UK, 1992. 6 on the railways, to step aboard a moving train US, 1977. ► flip a bitch to make a u-turn US, 2000. ► flip a trick (of a prostitute) to have sex with a customer. Far less common than to 'turn' a TRICK US, 1979.

 ► flip the bird to gesture in derision with a raised middle finger US, 1968. ► flip the bishop (of a male) to masturbate. Plays on FLIP as euphemistic FUCK and, conventionally, as a 'manipulation'. A variation of BASH THE BISHOP (to masturbate) UK, 2005. ► flip the bone to extend the middle finger in a rude gesture of defiance US, 1957. ► flip the grip to shake hands US, 1945. ► flip the lip to talk US, 1947. ► flip your gut to evoke sympathy or sadness US, 1997. ► flip your lid; flipflop your lid to lose emotional control US, 1961. ► flip your stick to move your penis during an all-cavity strip search US, 2002. ► flip your wig to lose your mental composure US, 1959 flip adjective pleasant, fashionable, popular US, 1955 flip euphemistic replacement for some noun and most verb senses of 'fuck' UK, 1956 flip act noun feigned insanity US, 1967 flipflap noun in circus usage, a back handspring US, 1981 flipflop noun 1 a sandal that is not bound to the foot, usually worn around a swimming pool. From the sound made when walking on concrete US, 1970. 2 a return journey US, 1976. 3 a traffic lane designed for turning around. Detroit usage US, 1997 flip-flop verb 1 to change positions on a political issue or issues in response to changing public opinion US, 1965. 2 (used of two homosexuals) to reverse sexual roles after sexual satisfaction is achieved by the active partner US, 1961. 3 to have sex with both men and women US, 1992. 4 (used of two homosexuals) a reversal of sexual roles US, 1972 flip-flopping noun changing positions on an issue or issues US, 1976 flip off! go away!; used as a euphemistic replacement for 'fuck off!' UK, 1956 flipped adjective smart, attractive US, 1955 flipper noun 1 the hand UK, 1812. 2 to a lineman in American football, the forearm US, 1967. 3 the ear US, 1905. 4 a temporary partial denture used to mask the absence of a single tooth or several teeth, especially with child actors. Technically known as a 'stayplate', it flips in and out of the child's mouth US, 1999. 5 a friend UK, 1970. 6 a criminal who informs on friends and associates to reduce his own sentence or to completely avoid charges US, 1997. 7 in the television and film industries, a section of set that can be easily replaced UK, 1960. 8 the game of pinball US, 1974. 9 in hot rodding, a hubcap US, 1958. 10 a turn signal in a truck or car US, 1976

flippers noun anchovies US, 1996 flipping adjective used as an intensifier. Since about 1940 the commonest of all euphemisms for FUCKING in the UK, as in the common exclamation of disgust 'Flipping 'eck!' (fucking hell!), often used unwitting of the term it disguises UK, 1911 flippy adjective eccentric, crazy US, 1965 flip-side noun 1 the reverse side of a vinyl record. From the action of flipping the disc over US, 1949. 2 the opposite of something. A figurative application of the earlier sense as 'the reverse side of a record' US, 1967. ► on the flip-side later on US, 2002 flip top noun 1 the top of a canned food or beverage that peels open without resort to an opening device US, 1955. 2 a truck cab that tilts up to expose the engine US, 1971 flip-wreck noun a habitual masturbator. Referring to the supposed damaging effects of masturbation AUSTRALIA, 1950 flit noun 1 an effeminate homosexual male US, 1935. 2 a discreet and hurried departure to avoid debts. Probably from MOONLIGHT FLIT UK, 1952. 3 any insecticide in a spray can. A generic use, from the trade name of an insecticide TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993 flitters noun tatters IRELAND, 1989

fliv verb in circus and carnival usage, to fail or to perform poorly US, 1917 flivver noun an old, worn car, especially a Ford car. The term was, by the early 1980s, chiefly associated with the early model Ford cars, and had thus become historical US, 1910 flix noun photographs. Possibly a variation of FLICKS (the cinema) US, 2002

flixy adjective easy FUJI, 1994

FLK noun a strange-looking child; a funny-looking kid. British medical slang US, 1961 flo noun 1 a variety of marijuana, 2001. 2 a young person CANADA, 1991 float noun 1 a customer's down payment, treated by the salesman collecting it as a short-term loan US, 1980. 2 a tyre US, 1976. 3 military duty on board a ship. Vietnam war US Marines usage US, 1991 float verb 1 in the gambling game two-up, to toss the coins so that they only give the appearance of spinning AUSTRALIA, 1945. 2 to eat after extensive drinking UK, 1983. ► float a log to defecate UK, 1985. ► float a sausage to the seaside to defecate into a sewage system. The phrase may have originated in the comic VIZ UK, 2002. ► float dice to drop dice suspected of having been weighted into a glass of water to see if they roll over on one side US, 1997. ► float someone's boat to please someone; to make someone happy US, 1984. ► float the gears to shift gears without using the clutch US, 1976 floater noun 1 a corpse found floating in a body of water US, 1890. 2 a particle of food floating in a bottled drink (having been washed into the bottle as it was being drunk from) UK, SCOTLAND, 1988. 3 in circus and carnival usage, a slice of imitation fruit floating on the top of imitation fruit juice US, 1981. 4 a meat pie served with pea gravy AUSTRALIA, 1915. 5 the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™ US, 1997. 6 a person who is temporarily assigned to one job or another™ US, 1909. 7 a migratory worker US, 1859. 8 a person who is a poor credit risk because of constantly changing employment US, 1975. 9 an early release from jail, usually with an order to leave town immediately US, 1914. 10 a river-rafting enthusiast US, 1997. 11 in the language of wind surfing, a sailboard that can support the weight of a person in the water US, 1985. 12 a big, buoyant surfboard US, 1964. 13 a pinball machine which is nearly level, lacking the playfield pitch needed for a good game. The fact that the playfield is nearly level makes it seem as if the ball floats on the playfield US, 1977. 14 in the gambling game two-up, a coin which does not spin properly and so is illegal AUSTRALIA, 1944. 15 in the television and film industries, a section of set that can be easily replaced UK, 1960. 16 a mistake UK, 1913

floaties noun (used by surfers) faeces floating in the sea US, 1991 floating adjective 1 moving; not settled in a definite place. Almost always applied to an illegal crap game that moves from location to location US, 1951. 2 drunk or marijuana-intoxicated US, 1938 floating chrome noun a commercial truck embellished with a lot of extra chrome US, 1971 floating shotgun noun a rocket-armed landing craft. Korean war usage US, 1982 float-out noun a jail sentence suspended contingent upon the criminal leaving town US, 1968 floats noun dice that have been hollowed out to affect their balance. Because most dice used in casinos are now transparent, the practice and term are almost obsolete US, 1950 flob verb to spit. Noted at a time when punks showed appreciation of their musical heroes by expectorating at the stage UK, 1977 flock noun a group of unskilled poker players US, 1996 flockatoo noun in Quebec's Gaspé area, an event at which people get happily drunk CANADA, 1992 flog noun 1 a prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1967. 2 an act of male masturbation AUSTRALIA, 1985

flog verb 1 to endorse, to promote, to sell UK, 1925. 2 to sell, especially illicitly UK, 1925. 3 to steal AUSTRALIA, 1962. 4 to go with much effort UK, 1925. 5 to have sex BAHAMAS, 1982. 6 in drag racing, hot rodding and motor racing, to push the car to its limit or beyond US, 1993.

► flog a dead horse to work hard to little or no purpose UK, 1872. ► flog the bishop (of a male) to masturbate. A variation on BASH THE BISHOP (to masturbate) using conventional 'flog' (to beat); note the synonymous 'flog your donkey' and 'flog your mutton' were coined at around the same time US, 1999. ► flog the infidel (of a male) to masturbate US, 2001. ► flog your chops to wear yourself out AUSTRALIA, 1968. ► flog your dong (used of a male) to masturbate US, 1994. ► flog your dummy (used of a male) to masturbate US, 1922. ► flog your guts out to wear yourself out UK, 1959 flogged adjective drug-intoxicated US, 1949 flogging adjective damned. Used as an intensifier. A euphemism for FUCKING AUSTRALIA, 1955 flog off verb to leave NEW ZEALAND, 1998 flog on verb to surf the Internet for masturbatory inspiration. Puns 'flog', the root verb of many terms for masturbation, with 'log on', IT jargon for connecting to the Internet NEW ZEALAND, 2002 flo is coming to town used as a code phrase for the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2002

Flo Jo nickname Florence Griffith Joyner (1959–1998), a sprinter whose style and speed dominated the 1988 Olympics US, 1988 flood verb 1 to experience the bleed period of the menstrual cycle, used especially of a heavy flow US, 1942. 2 (used of professional wrestlers) to rush into the ring or arena in large numbers US, 1992. 3 to wear trousers that don't reach the shoes US, 1998 floodgates noun ► floodgates open up the bleed period of the menstrual cycle commences US, 2001 floods noun long trousers that are too short or shorts that are too long US, 1982

flooeey adverb awry US, 1905 flookum noun in circus and carnival usage, an artificially flavoured and coloured 'fruit' drink; the syrup used to make the drink US, 1966 floor noun used as a figurative or notional description of the place where out-of-work workers wait for a job referral at a union hiring hall US, 1992. ► on the floor poor. Rhyming slang; also serves as a metaphor UK, 1960. ► take off the floor to remove a prostitute from service in a brothel US, 1978 floor verb 1 to confound, to puzzle UK, 1830. 2 to push a vehicle's accelerator to the floorboard US, 1953 floor box noun in hot rodding, a car with a manual transmission US, 1960 floorburners noun shoes US, 1972 floor lamp noun a woman actor with good looks but not blessed with acting ability US, 1973 floor liner noun the vagina. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 floor-pop noun in the car sales business, a customer who walks into the showroom US, 1966 floor whore noun an aggressive retail salesperson US, 2001 floor work noun in a strip or sex show, movements made on the floor simulating sexual intercourse, offering strategic and gripping views as the dancer moves her legs US, 1965

flooze noun a woman or girl US, 1952 floozy; floozy; floosie; floosy noun a woman, especially one with few sexual inhibitions; a prostitute US, 1902 flop noun 1 a place to spend the night US, 1910. 2 a house or garage where criminals escaping from the scene of a crime can safely hide themselves or store weapons, tools and stolen property, thus leaving their own homes uncompromised UK, 1977. 3 a drunk sleeping in public US, 1949. 4 a complete, dismal failure US, 1919. 5 a demotion US, 1973. 6 the denial of a release on parole by a prison parole board US, 1944. 7 an arrest, conviction and/or imposition of a prison sentence US, 1904. 8 in hold 'em poker, the first three cards dealt face-up in the centre of the table US, 1990. 9 in a dice game, a roll of the dice US, 1962. 10 the ear US, 1945

flop verb 1 to reside temporarily; to stay overnight US, 1907. 2 to go to sleep UK, 1936. 3 to fail completely US, 1900. 4 in police work, to demote in rank or assignment US, 1970. 5 in bar dice games, to shake the dice in the dice cup and then roll them onto a surface US, 1971 flop box noun a hotel room, a bedroom, lodgings. A variation of FLOP (a place to sleep) US, 1976 flophouse noun 1 an inexpensive, shoddy, tattered, dirty place to stay, catering to transients US, 1909. 2 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977

flop joint noun a flophouse US, 1928 flop on noun the penis that has become flaccid when an erection is to be preferred UK, 2003 flopper noun 1 the arm US, 1945. 2 a person who feigns having been struck by a car in hope of collecting insurance payments from the driver US, 1982. 3 a modified stock car in which the entire fibreglass body lifts from the front to gain access to the engine and driver seat US, 1993

flopperoo noun a failure US, 1971 flopper-stopper noun a brassiere. Jocular AUSTRALIA, 1984 flopping adjective damned. Used as an intensifier. A euphemism for FUCKING AUSTRALIA, 1969 floppy noun a black person. An insulting term that is likely to have been military slang in Rhodesia SOUTH AFRICA, 1978 flop sweat noun a panic associated with the possibility of failure, whether or not actual perspiration is involved US, 1966 flop trips noun in a game of on-line poker, a three-of-a-kind after the flop (the initial deal of three cards), 2003

Florida Hilton nickname the federal prison camp at Eglin Air Force Base, Eglin, Florida US, 1974

Florida snow noun cocaine US, 1994 floss noun 1 cotton candy. The spun sugar is known as 'candy floss' in the UK but not known as such in the US, making what would be a simple UK abbreviated form to be a piece of slang in the US US, 1960. 2 a thong-backed bikini bottom US, 1991 floss verb 1 to behave with ostentatious style and flair US, 2002. 2 to show off US, 1999. 3 to wear expensive clothes and jewels. Used by urban black youths UK, 2004 flossie noun a homosexual male UK, 1974 flossing adjective excellent US, 2001 flossy adjective 1 in circus and carnival usage, showy US, 1895. 2 excellent US, 2004 flotsam noun new or unskilled surfers in the water BARBADOS, 1977

flotty noun a hat that, by the inclusion of a little cork in a zippered pocket, is designed to float SOUTH AFRICA, 2000

flounder noun a native of Newfoundland US, 1949 flounder and dab noun a taxi. Rhyming slang for 'taxi-cab'; generally abbreviated to 'flounder' UK, 1865 flour mixer noun 1 a Gentile woman. Rhyming slang for 'shixa' (SHIKSE); employed by Jewish Cockneys UK, 1961. 2 a female shop assistant or domestic worker. A nuance of the rhyming slang for a 'Gentile woman' UK, 1977. 3 an inoffensive man, especially one who is a clerk. Extended from the previous senses which are specifically of a woman. UK, 1977 flow noun 1 the style in which a rap artist creates lyrics and/or performs. 'Flow' is a term used to express a quality of conventional poetry US, 1995. 2 money. An abbreviation of the conventional 'cash flow' US, 1997 flower noun 1 a male homosexual US, 1949. 2 marijuana UK, 1998. 3 in poker, a hand made up of cards of the same suit. Conventionally known as a 'flush' US, 1988 flower-bed verb to drive a truck with the right wheels on the hard shoulder of the road, kicking up dust US, 1969 flower child noun a participant in a 1960s youth movement promoting peace and love. Flower children used marijuana (FLOWER) and other drugs as an expression of their culture, and distributed ordinary flowers as symbols of their beliefs. In its first usage 'flower children' meant 'marijuana users'; the media adopted the more openly cultivated flowers as the image to sell US, 1967 flowered up adjective intoxicated on drugs, especially marijuana, possibly MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1999 flower flipping noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 flower key noun in computing, the comma key on a Macintosh computer US, 1991 flower patch noun a woman's vulva and pubic hair US, 1986 flower pot noun 1 an inexpensive, poorly made helmet. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2001. 2 a cot. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 3 in electric line work, a pad-mount transformer US, 1980 flower pot adjective hot, especially in the context of a hot (severe) reprimand. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 flower power noun the amorphous creed or philosophy of the hippie movement, based on drugs, sex, music, non-violence and a rejection of all things material US, 1967 flower-power suit noun a camouflaged combat-suit. An army term. 'Make love not war' shot through with irony UK, 1984 flowers; monthly flowers noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. From Latin fluor (to flow) via French fleurs (flowers); in conventional usage from C15 to mid-C19 UK, 2002 flowers and frolics noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for BOLLOCKS recorded as Anglo-Irish UK, 1960 flower sign noun fresh flowers by a hospital patient's bed seen by medical staff as a sign that the patient has a supportive family UK, 2002 flowers of spring noun used condoms in a sewage system US, 1973 flower tops noun marijuana. From the most potent part of the plant US, 1969 flowery dell; flowery noun 1 a room, lodgings, accommodation. Rhyming slang for 'cell' UK, 2002. 2 a prison cell. Rhyming slang UK, 1925 flox; floxy noun a homosexual man. A variation of 'mox' UK, 2003 floxxen noun a group of homosexual men. The plural of 'flox', recorded in contemporary gay usage UK, 2003 flu; 'flu noun influenza. A colloquial shortening UK, 1839 flub verb to botch US, 1916. ► flub the dub to masturbate US, 1922 flubadub noun a fool. From the name of a puppet on the Howdy Doody Show US, 1975

flube tube noun a cardboard tube filled with scented cloth that masks the smell of exhaled marijuana smoke US, 2003 flue noun 1 a room US, 1972. 2 a confidence swindle involving money in an envelope; the envelope used in the swindle US, 1969. 3 a prison warder. Rhyming slang for SCREW (a prison warden) UK, 1996. 4 the stomach US, 1946 fluey adjective characteristic of, or characterised by, influenza UK, 1969

fluff noun 1 a woman, especially an attractive woman of no further consequence than her sexual availability. Usually used with 'a bit of' or 'a piece of'. Combines the sense as 'pubic hair', with an image of 'fluff' as something of no consequence. Not kind UK, 1903. 2 the female pubic hair. An otherwise obsolete usage that survives in the term BIT OF FLUFF. UK, 1937. 3 an effeminate lesbian US, 1972. 4 to a homosexual who practises sado-masochism, a homosexual of simpler tastes US, 1985. 5 a mistake in the delivery of theatrical lines, also in broadcasting; a minor mistake when playing music. Originally 'lines imperfectly learned' UK, 1891. 6 in the television and film industries, a flubbed line of dialogue UK, 1960 fluff verb 1 to perform oral sex on a male pornography performer who is about to be filmed so that he will enter the scene with a full erection US, 1977. 2 to make a mistake in a theatrical performance, such as by mispronouncing or muddling words; likewise in broadcasting; also in musical performance, by playing the wrong note, etc UK, 1884. 3 to fart. Juvenile origins in New Zealand schoolboy 'fluffing contests' and US 'laying a fluffy'. Possibly from UK dialect fluff (a slight explosion), or 'fluff' (a mistake). UK usage is nursery and childish NEW ZEALAND, 1944. 4 to ignore; to discard US, 1959. 5 to fail (an examination) US, 1955

fluff and buff noun a fluff-dried battle dress utility uniform with buff-polished boots, the standard uniform of the US Airborne US, 1988 fluffed adjective 1 drunk US, 1904. 2 cocaine-intoxicated. A new use for the previous sense UK, 1999 fluffer noun in the making of a pornographic film, a person employed to bring the on-camera male performers to a state of sexual readiness. Extension of the conventional sense of 'fluff' (to make fuller or plumper) US, 1977

fluff girl noun a fluffer US, 1991

fluffie; fluffy noun an anti-globalisation activist with a belief in peaceful protest UK, 2001 fluff off verb 1 to dismiss, to reject US, 1944. 2 to evade work or duty US, 1962 fluff stuff; fluffy stuff noun SNOW US, 1976

fluffy adjective 1 light-hearted, non-serious UK, 2001. 2 in the theatre, unsure of your lines UK, 1952 fluid noun whisky US, 1843 fluids and electrolytes conference noun used in a hospital as humorous code for a drinking party to be held on hospital grounds US, 1989 fluke noun a stroke of luck, an accident. In the game of billiards a 'fluke' is a 'lucky shot' UK, 1857 fluke verb to do a thing well by accident UK, 1860 fluked out adjective drug-intoxicated US, 1952 fluke out verb to become drug-intoxicated US, 1958 fluking iron noun in fencing, an épée. A derisory term, suggesting that FLUKE (luck) rather than skill is required when engaging with such weapons UK, 1988 fluky; flukey adjective more by luck than design AUSTRALIA, 1867

flummox verb to perplex, to confuse US, 1834

flummy dumm noun in Newfoundland, a hunters' and trappers' bread CANADA, 1988

flunk noun a locked and fortified compartment within a safe US, 1928

flunk verb to completely and irrevocably fail an examination US, 1837 flunkey and lackey noun a Pakistani; any Asian or Afro-Asian immigrant, loosely, any native of the Indian subcontinent. Rhyming slang for PAKI UK, 1992

flunk out verb to leave an educational establishment as a result of failing your examinations US, 1920 flunky noun a person assigned to assist or perform menial jobs. In the US, originally a work camp waiter or assistant cook, and usually not quite as harsh as Partridge's 'parasite' or 'toady' UK, 1855 flunky verb to work as a low-level assistant US, 1968 flurry noun a flourish BARBADOS, 1965 flush verb 1 to draw blood back into a syringe. Drug users' term UK, 1978. 2 to leave work US, 1991. 3 to fail (a test or course) US, 1964. ► flush the john in a casino, to play slot machines US, 1979 flush adjective having plenty of money, especially as an exception to the rule UK, 1603 flush bucket noun in motor racing, a carburettor that feeds the engine more of the air/fuel mixture than it can use US, 1993 flute noun 1 the penis. Plays on the shape, informed by oral sex. Variations include 'flesh flute', 'living flute', ONE-HOLED FLUTE, SILENT FLUTE, SKIN FLUTE; also PINK OBOE; the sense compares with Romany haboia (a hautboy, an early oboe). There are arguable examples in A Midsummer Night's Dream, 1600 (or earlier) and Anthony and Cleopatra, 1606–7 of Shakespeare punning on 'flute' as 'penis'. In more general usage in the C18 UK, 1671. 2 a soda bottle filled with alcoholic drink US, 1971. 3 a car radio. From the language of car sales NEW ZEALAND, 1998 flute around verb to waste time, to be unresolved in action IRELAND, 1996 flute player noun a person who performs oral sex on a man US, 1916 fluter noun a male homosexual US, 1962

fluthered adjective completely drunk IRELAND, 1992 flutter noun a small bet. Originally meant 'a good try' UK, 1874 flutter bum noun a good-looking and popular boy. Teen slang US, 1955 flutter-finger noun in the usage of youthful model road racers (slot car racers), a person who fluctuates speed constantly US, 1997 fly noun an attempt; a try. Usually in the phrase 'give something a fly' AUSTRALIA, 1915. ► on the fly on the railways, said of a moving train that is boarded US, 1977 fly verb 1 to act cautiously US, 1965. 2 to sneak a look JAMAICA, 2003. ► be flying it to do extremely well, to make great progress. Used in the present participle only IRELAND, 1997. ► fly a desk of an aircraft pilot, to work in air traffic administration. Originally military UK, 1951. ► fly a kite 1 to tentatively reveal an idea as a test of public opinion UK, 1937. 2 to pass a worthless cheque UK, 1927. 3 in prison, to write a letter; to smuggle correspondence in or out of prison US, 1960. ► fly aeroplane to stand up SINGAPORE, 2002. ► fly by the seat of your pants to attempt any unfamiliar task and improve as you continue. From aircraft pilots' original use as 'to fly by instinct' UK, 1960. ► fly in ever decreasing circles until he disappears up his own asshole (among Canadian military personnel) to exhibit much ineffective activity while being anxious CANADA, 1995. ► fly light to work through a meal break US, 1946. ► fly low 1 to drive (a truck) at a very high speed US, 1971. 2 to act cautiously US, 1965. 3 to have one's trouser fly unbuttoned or unzipped CANADA, 1989. ► fly Mexican Airlines; fly Mexican Airways to smoke marijuana and experience euphoric effects. From FLYING (experiencing the effects of drugs) plus Mexico which has long been considered a major source of fine quality cannabis such as Acapulco gold. US, 1972. ► fly off the handle to lose your temper; to lose self-control US, 1843. ► fly right to behave in a manner appropriate to the situation US, 1984. ► fly the bean flag to be experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1954. ► fly the flag to appeal against a conviction in hope of a reduced sentence AUSTRALIA, 1975. ► fly the kite to defraud, to cheat, especially by passing a fraudulent cheque or by obtaining and dishonouring a credit arrangement UK, 1968. ► fly the mail to drive (a truck) very fast US, 1961. ► fly the red flag to experience the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1954. ► fly the rod to gesture with the middle finger, roughly conveying 'fuck you!' US, 1968. ► fly without a licence of a male, to have an undone trouser fly. Generally juvenile UK, 1977 fly adjective 1 good, pleasing, fashionable. A term which has enjoyed three bursts of popularity – in the swing jazz era of the late 1930s, the emergence of black exploitation films in the early 1970s, and with the explosion of hip-hop culture in the 1980s US, 1879. 2 cunning, devious; artful, knowing. From Scottish dialect fly (sly, smart) UK, 1724. 3 cunningly discreet. A slight variation of the previous sense UK, 2000. 4 in the youth trend for 'souped-up' motor-scooter, daring, dangerous, clever UK, 2004. 5 aware of what is going on; wise to criminal ways AUSTRALIA, 1882. 6 unreliable; dishonest TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

flybait noun 1 an unattractive girl US, 1947. 2 a corpse US, 1992 fly baker; fly bravo verb to experience the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. In the phonetic alphabet from 1941–56 'baker' was given for 'B', from 1956 to date 'bravo' is used; in naval signalling to fly the flag representing 'B' means 'I am taking on, carrying or discharging dangerous goods'; a large red flag is flown US, 1939 fly ball noun in handball, a shot played off the front wall before it hits the ground US, 1970 fly beer noun in the Maritime Provinces, beer of potatoes and hop yeast, and molasses or sugar and water CANADA, 1959 fly-blown adjective broke; penniless AUSTRALIA, 1853

flybog noun jam AUSTRALIA, 1920

flyboy noun 1 a military aviator US, 1937. 2 in drag racing, a hobbyist who confines their passion to weekend racing. Punning on the 1940s 'aviator' sense of the term US, 1965 fly-by noun a missile that misses its target and does no damage US, 1991 fly-by-night noun a person who is drunk. Rhyming slang for TIGHT (tipsy) UK, 1992 fly-by-night adjective unreliable; likely to disappear US, 1914 fly-by-nights; fly-be's noun tights UK, 1979 fly cemetery noun a currant pudding UK, 1963 fly chick noun an attractive woman US, 1945 flyer noun 1 a chance, a gamble, a risk. Originally a financial speculation. Also spelt 'flier' US, 2001. 2 a conversational line used to start conversation when seeking a sexual encounter US, 1972. 3 a person who threatens to or has jumped to his death US, 1987 fly-fishing position noun in fencing, an unconventional guard position used by some épéists. From the image of a fisherman casting UK, 1988 fly-fly boy noun a military aviator US, 1949

